

Of College Alumni Return to Refresh Memories and Exchange Reminiscences...

We are inclined to envy those who have an alma mater to look back to for happy recollections.

The very ones who in their school days deviated from the path of Puritanism, now try to be severe in restraining youth.

College days in review shine like a comet at perihelion. Oldesters and others who try to make the grade without such training, have missed rich jewels in recollections that flow from college experience.

College Alumni Here in Reunion
daughter in college this summer. Mrs. Dudley told of earning her way through school by helping serve hungry students who emptied dishes almost faster than she could refill them in the old dining hall. She recalled the dismantling of the old building in which hung the bell that summoned students to classes and meals. Mrs. Dudley mentioned harmless fun the students used to promote, such as the "shirt tail parade."

Notes Advancement.
"If students don't have some fun now, they are missing part of their college life," stated L. Merle Miller of Cherokee, Ia., member of the class of 1924. In addition to the early "parade" story noted by Mrs. Dudley, Mr. Miller told that one of the early trips took the paraders to the chautauqua tent where the college group for a few minutes put on the program. Mr. Miller told of good times at "The Blackstone," the name given to old West hall. Mr. Miller noted the great improvement at the campus and expressed hope that the future may also bring the same degree of advancement.

Builders and Wreckers.
Lieut. Governor Wm. E. Johnson, serving as chief executive for a few weeks while Governor Griswold is out of the state, began his message by stating that the young women in school today look just as attractive and intelligent as they did when he was in school, and he added that this "eyesight and judgment are not impaired." In serious mood, Mr. Johnson mentioned that he classifies all people in two groups, builders and wreckers. The former are anxious to build and create so they may leave a record of bettering the world. The others, "curbstone critics," spend their time wrecking the good things created. The builder's accomplishment represents long, hard, constructive work. The wrecker destroys in a short time the efforts of the builder. The speaker urged all to be builders, thereby creating a better community, a stronger state and nation.

State Ideals High.
In opening his message, F. Valdemar Peterson, secretary to the governor, told that Hugo Srb, Wayne graduate who is clerk in the unicameral, had arranged for the trip to Wayne by Miss Elsie Ford Piper, Mr. Johnson, Mr. Peterson and himself and then Srb was unable to come. Nebraska politics is clean, Mr. Peterson began. In practically every instance men in public office in this state measure up to the high standards set up by teachers. This condition will exist, he explained, as long as teachers encourage high regard for government. Interest in public affairs and economics will make democracy function and thus save this type of government.

Mr. Peterson referred to recent rumors of unrest among college students. "Discontent is not new and it is not alarming," he stated. "Students have always been rebellious and it is well that they are discontented at times. This is the exuberance of youth which must be restrained but not crushed." Mr. Peterson expressed faith in the leadership that will guide youth to build the school.
Wayne college has wonderful traditions. It has the best physical plant of any school in the state, and it has been and is being served by some of the finest men and women in the profession. Mr. Peterson expressed the hope and the belief that the college can, through cooperation reach even higher goals.

Wayne Will Endure.
Miss Elsie Ford Piper of Lincoln, dean of women here for some years, told that she feels like she had lived through pioneer days in the Wayne school and that her "heart is here." She likened her feeling to that of Gracie Field who in Lincoln recently said "There will always be an England," and the audience joined in the ovation. "There will always be a Wayne," Miss Piper concluded.
Mr. and Mrs. Merle Wood of Fort Benton, Mont., and Raymond Reising of Hobbs, N. M., were introduced as having come the farthest distance.

The chapel program closed with a clarinet solo by Don Baker. Have Noon Luncheon.
Noon luncheon was served to alumni in the student-union. Mr. Beaman presided and introduced as mother-daughter combinations present Mrs. Dudley and (laugh-

Druckesky of Schuyler, Miss Belle Kraus of Phoenix, Ariz., World Whoolow of Fort Benton, Mont., Rhymond Reising of Hobbs, N. M., Miss Mildred Snyder of Peoria, Ill., Miss Esther Mac Ingham of Wauwatosa, Wis., John Hash of Colorado, Adlai Johnson of Genoa.

Greetings from Teachers.
Prof. Parke read letters of greeting from Miss Martha Pierce, Lincoln, and Miss Edith Stocking, North Bend, Miss Pierce, unable to come because of her father, urged Wayne alumnae "Keep 'em flying" for the country and college. Miss Stocking, who has not been well, sent greetings. Prof. Parke also mentioned messages from Maurice Phillips of Modesto, Cal., Miss Ida Anderson of Lincoln, Clemmie C. Smith of Omaha, Harry Shantz of Vallejo, Cal., and others. Mrs. Reba Smith Blakkob of Glendale, Cal., told of the third annual Wayne picnic planned at table 2, Sycamore park in Long Beach, July 20. About 300 are expected.

Among others here for the reunion were Mrs. Bitha Babcock Blake of Plainview, Mrs. Ruth Blake Wearne of Bloomfield, Mr. and Mrs. Adlai Johnson of Genoa, Mrs. Wilma Garwood Rees of Carroll, the Jensen sisters of Randolph.

Motion pictures of Wayne college activities were shown to alumni by Dr. H. D. Griffin, and visitors were taken on tours about the campus. Informal dancing in the evening closed the festivities.
Besides Mr. Beaman and Prof. Parke, officers of the alumni association are Sherm Terry, Creighton, Bill Steward, Wausa, Ia., W. Loy, Wayne. The homecoming committee included Prof. Dale, Miss Pearson, Mrs. Seaco, Mrs. Willard Witte and Mrs. Henry Reynolds.

THE FOOD WAY FOR DEFENSE

A VITAL PART of making America strong is to make Americans stronger... with the food they need. Vitally aware of this are the thousands of trained and experienced people who are engaged in the nation's great food industry—the farmers, who produce the food; the manufacturers, who process it; and the grocerymen, who distribute it—proudly working in the best way they know to supply the energy necessary to do the big job.

Newspaper Opinions IN TRYING to preserve itself, Russia of communist tint, is forced to lend strength to the position of free enterprise which it has for many years malignantly sought to break down and wipe out.

The Norfolk Daily News speculates on the new alignment, wondering whether the course of democracy will be helped or hindered by it.

Like most other newspapers, the World-Herald has no more confidence in Stalin than it has in Hitler.

We must bear in mind that, regardless of the exigencies of war and politics, these Stalinists hate the American way and are devoted only to communism.

In other words, if the democratic powers including the United States—hope to survive this new friendship which has been forced upon them, they will have to be on guard against insidious betrayal by their new "friends."

IN SPEAKING to Kiwanians Monday about some observations he had in Washington while attending the American Bar association institute, F. S. Berry, attorney, referred to the eagerness with which congressmen sought mid-western opinions concerning the war.

Mr. Berry deplored the delay permitted by the administration in starting defense work. If facts about the developing war machine in Nazi land were known in Washington with knowledge of the Hitler intention to encompass the earth with his ruthless totalitarianism, it is obvious that building of due defense should have been inaugurated long before a year ago when the first blitzkrieg subjugated independent countries.

Mr. Berry called attention to the leading part taken by lawyers and courts in developing free America, and the service now given by them in preserving what has long been enjoyed.

BOTH nazism and communism are equally abhorrent to the American way of life, and the clash between them at this time may serve the advantage of free governments everywhere.

The European situation grows more complex. Nations are forced to join others they do not trust. Treaties are indifferently broken. The word of a dictator is worth nothing.

If Great Britain presses its campaign with redoubled force while communism and nazism engage in a titanic struggle, democracy may gain superiority and safety regardless of the result in Russia.

A movement is reported on foot in Washington to extend government regulation over the farm business. The plan is to authorize labor and leasing standards, and to open the way for higher farm wages.

It would be a worthy achievement on the part of the police to capture and jail those responsible for setting off noisy torpedoes or other explosives during bed-time hours of the night.

Farmers have a way in dealing with strikes that is very effective. It is related that a farm group at Worthington, Minn., ended a meeting of union truckers and creamery workers, fishing out the organizer from St. Paul, putting him in his car and telling him to move on.

Effort and production are needed not only for immediate support, but to stimulate spirit, harden human fiber and strengthen character.

When Hitler takes over a country, he expresses the opinion that his victims do not know what they want or what would be good for them.

Small grain and corn are growing satisfactorily, and the former will soon be ready to cut. Fate of the corn will require another month to determine.

Dictators are rare birds. They have little intelligence, surpassing nerve and no conscience.

By following these suggestions of the health specialists:

- 1. Wear loose, thin clothes. 2. Bathe frequently. 3. Cut the calories. 4. Avoid alcoholic drinks. 5. Take moderate but not strenuous exercise. 6. Walk on the shady side of the street. 7. Acquire a coat of tan with discretion, with not more than a third of the body exposed at one time. 8. Keep your mind off the heat. 9. Add a little salt to the diet. 10. In air conditioned homes, inside temperatures should not be less than 15 degrees under outside temperature and in no case under 75 degrees.

The Unicorneral

It was not to be expected that a non-partisan legislature operating in a state under a two-party form of government could succeed. The idea was put across in Nebraska, partly because it was sponsored by Senator Norris, partly because a great many voters mistook political independence for a non-partisan attitude.

The WPA on Chickens

We'll say this for the Works Progress Administration, that when it goes after details in any project being investigated it goes the limit. It has just finished a report on the chicken industry, and if there is anything concerning chickens that it failed to find and put in its 55-page booklet nobody would know it.

The number of chickens on farms increased 36 per cent from 1909 to 1931, and by 1935 85 per cent of all farms produced chickens. By 1940 the chicken population of farms was 429 millions, worth 259 million dollars.

Chickens are most numerous in the corn states, and 27 per cent are found in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri and Iowa; with 19 per cent in Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska and Wisconsin.

Most farms produce poultry and eggs for home use alone, but there are large numbers of commercial producing farms, particularly near large cities.

And talking about eggs. In a recent year production totaled 38,225 millions, worth 548 million dollars.

What science has done for the chicken industry is told in detail, and management usurps the great proportion of the findings.

Some of the productiveness of the poultry yard, which has been stepped up in recent years, is accomplished by imposing on the hens. This is done by the use of artificial lights. Making the winter day longer stimulates feed consumption, which in turn increases the rate of laying.

How much good the WPA has done the chicken industry might depend on the number of people studying its findings, but it is questionable whether as many chicken growers will see the book as were persons involved in its preparation.

RESPONSIBILITY. Adults have large responsibility in developing restraint in young persons without destroying their initiative. The young man has a lot of energy that must find an outlet. He should not be told what he cannot do, but what he can do.

To Attend Convention

Miss Vera Kalal, Wayne graduate who teaches in Pender, leaves June 30 for Boston to represent Nebraska at the national convention of the visual education department of the N. E. A.

Books Accessioned At Wayne Library

More attractive children's books have been received at Wayne library. For the very small there are: "Sally Does It," "Stories to Begin With," "Billie Sutton's Buttered Biscuits," "Raspberry Patch," "Children of the Sea," about the friendship of a dolphin from Florida, and "boy of Naussau"; "The Whitefoot Mouse," a camera tale of his life; "April's Kittens," with drawings so real they enchant even grownups; "Beat Him When He Sneezes," the funny ideas in a little boy's mind; and "Fly Away Watchbird," Munro Leaf's etiquette book for children, similar to his popular sketches in Ladies' Home Journal.

Older children will enjoy: "Abe Lincoln Grows Up," condensed from first part of Carl Sandburg's clear cut biography for adults; "Little History of U. S.," march of time in technicolor; "Scorpion," a new Will James horse story; "Bride of Water," exciting history tale of the Panama canal; and "Mark Tidd in Italy," Clarence Budington Kelland's juvenile mystery. Three vocational books for youngsters are: "Famous American Flyers," "Heroes of Aviation" and "Your Career in Radio."

An adventure book for grown-ups is "I Witness," by Notmal Alley, an ace cameraman who covered Panay, and Dunkerque. In "The Time Is Now," by Van Paasens, this all-knowing correspondent answers a great many current questions of today. Lighter reading will be found in "Trousers Will Be Worn," playful satire of cafe society by the author of "I Lost My English Accent," and "The Fun I've Had," by Bayard Veiller.

GONE TOO FAR

The Saturday Evening Post warns organized labor that it is inviting loss of much that it has gained. Unions have won rights to strike and to dictate terms of employment altogether at variance with justice. The privilege to work in labor-dominated communities without union sanction was quite abolished. Organized labor, evidently tainted with communist leadership, has lacked the judgment to make reasonable concessions and behave in an orderly manner.

The house passed a bill "providing more adequate compensation for certain dependents of World War veterans." The measure follows substantially the policy now in effect with reference to veterans of the war with Spain and veterans of the Civil war. It provides that the widow of a veteran who served a minimum of 90 days, without children and who married the veteran prior to 1921, is entitled to compensation of $20 a month.

Certain influential members of the house never believed that the trees in our farm forestry projects lived and grew. Pictures of these trees on Nebraska farms that hung in the house lobby for a week, convinced these lawmakers that the plantings are successful, and their opposition has turned to approval.

Discussions in the house following the action of the military affairs committee in reporting a bill to authorize blanket deferments under the selective training and service act of registrants between the ages of 28 and 35 indicates that the house will pass the measure.

The much discussed Vinson bill which would provide a cooling-off period before strikes can be called in defense industries is scheduled to be debated Monday. Within a few days to come up under a wide-open rule which will allow all kinds of amendments.

Robert Hinckley, assistant secretary of commerce in charge of civil aeronautics, has just returned from England where he studied aviation. He went by plane and returned by ship. He tells friends: "I saw plenty to make me thank God that I live in the United States of America."

Closing of German consulates and German news agencies did not create the sensation in Washington that might have been expected. It is generally felt that it is materially short of breaking off diplomatic relations. Our consulates in Germany are still open, but those in Czechoslovakia and Poland are closed.

As the war comes closer home, many members have our situation sized up this way. We are at war with the axis powers economically. The passage of the lend-lease bill gave the president the right to aid belligerents anywhere.

Freezing of German funds in this country has long been expected. Members have been told many times in the not distant past that many New Yorkers were making plenty of money trading with axis powers.

A memorial service was held in the house last Wednesday. It was to pay tribute to the memory of four senators and nine representatives who have died during the past year.

It is going to cost 52 million dollars to run the District of Columbia government during the next 12 months. In that is included 6 million dollars which taxpayers in every state of the union contribute. Each year Maryland and Virginia members join together to keep an item in the bill for the free tuition of their students in district schools. That costs over 250 thousand dollars each year. The house

E. C. Oleson of Altus, Okla., has been in Washington with a delegation from his town. They are seeking national defense projects. They are one of many similar delegations that are here daily from every corner of the country.

defeated this plan in the bill just passed but the influential Virginia and Maryland senators will restore it when the senate gets the bill.

The farm credit administration report shows that in the Third congressional district, there were 2,786 active standard rehabilitation borrowers at the end of 1940. The average borrower earned a net income of $596 during the year, compared with $387 in the year previous. The typical borrower family increased its annual net income by 54 per cent.

David Lasser is working in the WPA administrator's office. He was charged by some members of the house with being a radical and that he led a march of some kind in Pennsylvania. There was no proof that he is a communist, but members were told he is among the thousands of radicals who are employed by the government in high places.

Foreign countries owe Uncle Sam $13,591,688,000. Great Britain owes nearly 6 billion not counting the new 7 billion lend-lease item and France owes over 4 billion. When the costs of military spending here in the first World war days are added and as these new pension bills are added to our old pension structure, the figures become very dizzy.

Under the lend-lease act, the president has filed his first report with congress as to expenditures authorized by him and those already allocated from the fund of

Band to Present Concert at Park
 Wayne municipal band, directed by K. D. Hanson, pianist for Friday at Bressler park follows: "Western Spirit," march, W. D. McCaughey. The band dedicates this number to the Wayne Chamber of Commerce. "Old Favorites," Julius S. Streedy. This is a selection of well known standard songs. "Enchanted Night," waltz, K. L. King. The composer played with the Bannum & Bailey circus for many years and he has rightfully dedicated this number to members of the circus show troupe. "Allanmoot," march, McCaughey. Accordion soloist, Melvin Meyer. Melvin will play selections of his own choosing. He will include several numbers including a Bohemian song, a waltz and a popular number or two. "The Pentagon," overture, Harold M. Johnson. This selection follows the older overture pattern and the classic mood and treatment of the 17th century have been conscientiously imitated throughout. "Miss Trombone," Henry Fillmore. A slippery rag. If you like those sad trombones, here tis. "Blue and Gold," overture, W. D. McCaughey. A light school overture arranged in an interesting manner. "19th Infantry," march. "Star-Spangled Banner."

Hotel at Missoula
 The ground floor features the increasingly popular arcade arrangement. Seven shops are located in the "Florence block." The arcades have interior show windows with entrances to the shops. The lobby, finished in polished marble and architectural bronze, is enhanced by a large fireplace with treatment extending to the ceiling. Four completely different, but connected restaurants open off the lobby. They are the main dining room in Grecian design with mirrors, the Redwood lounge, Zeplry room and coffee shop. A ballroom on the mezzanine will accommodate 300. Here also are sample rooms, committee rooms, beauty parlor and Mr. Stratton's office.
