

Brought by Rains Over Weekend — Editors in Summer Session at Schuyler — The National Game — Publicity — Window Dressing — Face Ahead — Acknowledgment.

Refreshing showers over the weekend followed a series of extremely hot days. The elements were free from killing hot winds but the heat wave hung on long enough to make people feel uneasy and fearful. Collection of recent drought years leads to suspicion of when terrific days are not frequently relieved by the moisture. Need of speed crop growth is appreciated and in the absence of blistering winds, the experienced agriculturist is not seriously alarmed. But last week's weather bore down with fierce intensity, and observers were beginning to think what had happened in previous years. The supreme importance of big crops encourages anxiety until the growing and maturing season is over.

Meeting at Schuyler. The highway from Wayne to Schuyler to attend a meeting of northeast Nebraska editors Friday revealed fields of ripened small grain shocked and ready for the thrasher, and waves of healthy-looking corn, unharmed by drought or grasshoppers and with only small strips south of Wayne and north of Schuyler showing the effects of hail. A few threshing outfits were in operation. Farmers cooperate in using one machine, and thus they have to take turns. As far as the eye could see from the 56-mile highway, the crops gave every assurance of yielding top abundance.

Because of its attractive park with swimming pool, golf course and air-cooled ballroom, Schuyler is an ideal place for any gathering on a hot day. Editors who braved the heat to attend were repaid by thoughtfully arranged comforts and generous hospitality.

At the evening banquet, President N. B. Moran of Randolph introduced Edgar R. Apking of the Schuyler Sun as toastmaster. He presented Mayor Lloyd L. Pospisil, Schuyler attorney, to welcome the group. His speech was more than an address of welcome. In faultless diction he emphasized the indispensability of a free press to a free country, and he expressed the hope that nothing would ever happen to impair such constitutional rights. H. H. Humphreys, editor and musician from Wisner, contributed some piano selections. Stuart Fetter, account executive with the Omaha advertising company of Bowell & Jacobs, spoke on the subject of advertising.

A great deal of credit belongs to Editor Apking of the Sun and to Editor Don H. Correll of the Colfax County Call and their office forces for the success of the meeting. Besides the writer, Wayne was represented by Secretary W. H. Swett of the Chamber of Commerce, Senator William Crossland, Warren Price and Don Wightman. Mr. Swett was accompanied by his family.

Baseball Brinks High. Baseball has long been known as the national game. It involves few or no perils, and it requires skill that fascinates the spectator. It should not be marred by any feeling beyond friendly rivalry among competing towns. When a team loses it should do so gracefully. When it wins it should accept victory without boasting. The game may help or hurt inter-community relationships, and it is too valuable to be allowed to hurt.

Letting the World Know. Publicity is a curative of evil and injustice, as well as an important acknowledgment of private and public service. Many persons and institutions are anxious to let the world know the favorable things they are doing, but they shrink like singed cats from publicity that might arouse adverse criticism.

Need of Real Merit. Window dressing is important, but it must have something of real merit behind it to insure against damaging disappointment. Doing more instead of less than expected pays large dividends.

On an Even Keel. Though wars and rumors of wars beset the world with increased risk and uncertainty, we should still keep our respective banks on an even, onward keel, striving for high objectives and cultivating a sense of humor which latter is needed to drive back the shadows.

Moved to Appreciation. We are inclined to congratulate the Herald's job department over the way it has handled good-sized booklets and magazines in the past few months. The Reclangle, English quarterly magazine of which Prof. J. Q. Owen is editor, Teachers College catalogue, telephone directory, booklet containing proceedings of the annual meeting of the Nebraska Funeral Directors' association, secured through the influence of Mortician William Beckenhauer of Wayne, booklet for the district firemen's convention.

Japanese Power Threat in East

Lecturer Here Predicts That Action in Siberia Is To Be Indicator.

Carvelth Wells, famous adventurer who lectured on the college campus Monday and Tuesday this week, warns that Japanese aggressiveness in the Pacific should solicit the gravest concern of the American nation. According to Wells, who spent a good deal of the year 1939 in the orient, the answer to a great many international problems and perhaps the end of the war, lies not in Europe but in the Pacific where Japan's next move will strike a decisive note in world affairs.

Asked if the United States had cause for fearing Japan, Wells responded with a most emphatic "Yes," adding that Japan had been growing stronger in the years since the beginning of the Chino-Jap war, and reference to her as a puppet power in the Axis is a misconceived idea of the American people.

"Japan's navy equals the combined power of British and American Pacific fleets, and she has five million men under arms who obey their emperor's commands with blind religious devotion," states Wells. "Strong action must be taken soon by the United States to impress Japan with the fact that we can do more than write her indignant notes," he said.

Wells was "enthusiastic over developments in our relations with Japan the past three days." He thinks "our decision Monday to freeze Japanese assets is the first right move to startle the Rising Sun empire." Next he would advocate an old-fashioned ultimatum to Japan for scaring her out of the Malay peninsula where eight strategic war materials are exported to America. He believes Japan would withdraw her troops from Indo-China if the United States firmly demonstrated her animosity. If this is not done, Wells fears a Japanese scheme for drawing this country unprepared into a major war. United States control of the seas will insure shipment of valuable defense materials here. Carelessness on America's part in allowing Japan to expand over the Asiatic coast, will soon result in more trouble for the United States and Great Britain. The latter should be released from responsibility in Singapore and Hongkong.

A true reflection of the Russo-German situation will be found in Japan's actions, Wells believes. She will court the country who is winning, and, being embarrassingly (Continued on Page Two)

Approval Expected In New Allotment

Additional Rural Lines Will Be Constructed When Word Received.

A new allotment of 169 additional miles for the Wayne and Pierce rural public power district is being considered by officials. Approval on the extension is expected within a week or two. The lines already cover 310 miles.

A recent survey of the 515 customers now receiving service shows that 382 or 95.5 per cent have electric irons, 370 or 93.4 per cent have electric radios, 190 or 48 per cent have electric refrigerators, 339 or 85.6 per cent have electric washing machines, 99 or 24.7 per cent have electric cream separators, 108 or 27.3 per cent have motors up to one horsepower.

Among the other appliances now in use in some of the rural places are vacuum sweepers, hot plates, toasters, water pumps, showers, brooders, poultry lighting, electric fence.

New Rural Truck Arrives in Wayne

The new Luvational special rural fire truck arrived in Wayne Tuesday afternoon. The truck will be on display today in Winside at the Northeast Nebraska Firemen's convention, and Wayne firemen will not take possession until Friday when it will be officially presented to them.

The truck will cost firemen $2,400, and they still hope to pay a reasonable share of the sum with funds collected by popular subscription. Of the $750 subscribed $633.50 has already been paid in. Those who pledged are urged to pay up as quickly as possible. If farmers would contribute an additional $300 to their subscription fund the $1,000 goal set for rural collections would be practically reached.

NUMBER THIRTEEN

INSECTS FLOURISH UNTIL FALL FROST COMES TO RESCUE

UNTIL killing frost puts flies, jiggers and mosquitoes to rest in the late autumn, these foraging insects will be a source of annoyance. Getting rid of them and putting up screens have modified the nuisance for households, though camping or picnicking parties are subjects of attack, increased as the season progresses. Feasting in the open, astride a log or parked on a grassy plot, with green leeks draped above and around, is a joyful experience until insect pests take note of exposed neck and leg surfaces and decide to perforate the same in their natural quest for nourishment.

Youth Is Located At Field in Texas

Douglas Canning, Wayne boy who has seven more weeks at Kelly field in Texas before he receives his wings and a commission, believes he may possibly be sent to Iceland although the boys are never told their destination until after graduation. Douglas' supposition is based on fact that majority of the last class which finished at Kelly was sent to Iceland.

Rites for Youth Held at Altona

Large Concourse of Friends Pays Tribute Sunday to Marvin E. Peters.

One of the largest funerals ever conducted in Wayne county was the service held Sunday afternoon at 2 at Altona Trinity church for Marvin Peters, 23, who died Thursday morning, July 24, about 5 o'clock from burns suffered the previous Tuesday in a gasoline explosion at Winside. Short rites preceded those at 1:30 from the home. It is estimated that at least 1,000 relatives and friends gathered to pay tribute to the youth, the church being filled to capacity and a large number being outside to attend the rites. Rev. Walter Beckensick officiated, and Hiscox service conducted committal in the church cemetery.

Late Tuesday afternoon last week Mr. Peters, employed by the Lage & Pfeil Construction com-

Case Is Appealed To District Court

A request for decrease in valuation of Wayne county farm land has been appealed to the district court by the Brown Land Co. The owners asked the board of equalization to cut valuations as follows: N 1/2 of SW 1/4 of 1-26-1 from $12,960 to $9,400; N 1/2 of SW 1/4 of 7-26-1 from $3,865 to $3,500; N 1/2 of 11-26-1 from $16,975 to $11,000; SW 1/4 of 18-26-1 from $7,345 to $5,600. The board lowered the valuation of N 1/2 of 11-26-1 from $16,975 to $15,375, leaving the others standing. The Brown company claims the valuations are in excess of the present worth of the property and appealed to the district court.

SMALL GRAIN CROP HEREABOUTS FALLS BELOW ESTIMATES

THRESHING is in progress and the yield runs somewhat below early estimates. We understand oats and barley have averaged 35 bushels to the acre south of town, and probably that return would not be far off in other parts of the county. Some complaint is made regarding oats, the crop being light and not up to the usual standard in quality. The oat crop is needed for feed, but is generally considered unprofitable to raise to sell. Barley is turning out better, and is always a good crop to raise for feed or market. While the small grain harvest ranks rather below expectations, results will not be seriously disturbing in view of the promise apparent in developing fields of corn.

Moisture Comes To Relieve Area

Substantial Showers Over Week-end, Wednesday Are Beneficial.

Substantial showers brought most welcome moisture and relief from heat in this vicinity Wednesday. Wayne received about the heaviest rainfall in the immediate area, .8 of an inch. Thrill Features Scheduled Here

Prizes Are Offered to Local Firms for Displays on Subject of Fair.

Jimmie Lynch's Death Dodgers, a thrill feature at Wayne county fair last year, returns for a one-day engagement this season with new features. They appear Wednesday, August 20, the closing day of the fair. That time has also been designated as Wayne day.

Lynch presents two hours of thrills and deliberate crashes in 1941 stock sedans. Among the 22 high speed sedans are precision driving, race of flaming death, blitz-crash, blazing air for life, motor planing with a stock sedan, deliberate crash roll over and the sensational dive bomber crash in mid-air.

It is in the roll over that Whitey Reece, one of the star pupils of the Dodger school, will risk his life as he speeds around the track and then catapults his car up and over a steep rampway, causing the rocketing vehicle to spill end over end and side over side down the straightaway. Reece, a former Philadelphia fireman, has wrecked many cars but refuses to wear more protection than a football helmet.

Another of the thrill features on the fair program is the great Ricardo, the man who balances precariously at the top of a swaying 75-foot pole. Timing, mechanical fault and high winds are dangers against which the aerialist must guard.

Kozak, famous wire artist, a performer in Europe for some years, will also be a fair feature. At night Kozak illuminates a bicycle which he rides across the wire.

Exhibits of livestock and produce also promise to be outstanding at Wayne fair. Entries are being made each day.

Premium lists have been mailed and any who failed to get copies may do so by seeing Agent Chet Walters or W. H. Swett.

The fair board, meeting last evening, completed plans for the season ticket sale. It was also decided to offer prizes of $7.50, $5.00 and $2.50, also fancy ribbon awards, for the best window displays advertising the fair. These will be judged before the fair opens.

pany, was unloading brick planks at the county yards in Winside. A truck belonging to Ulysses Schlueter, Fremont, stalled and he volunteered to help start it. The engine backfired, igniting a quantity of gasoline that had been used to prime the motor. The burning fluid was thrown onto Marvin, instantly igniting his clothing. Every effort was made to put out the fire but the blaze was extinguished only after the deceased had been badly burned about the chest, face and hands. He was rushed to a Winside doctor for first aid and then to a Wayne hospital. Every care was given him but he was unable to rally and passed away Thursday morning.

allied with both, is best informed today on the strength of each. He explained, "If Japan enters Siberia we can feel pretty sure Germany is conquering Russia."

Wells, however, thinks Hitler "missed the bus" when he declared war on Russia. Wells visited the Soviet in 1933, wrote a book "Kapoot" in which he described her army as best dressed, best fed in Europe. He says Russia isn't fighting for communism although Stalin is fairly popular at present. "When this war ends communism is going to make way for something better in Russia," he prophesied.

Carvelth Wells is optimistic about an armistice. Russia, he thinks, has a good chance of holding out till winter and she will resist through that season just as did England last year.

Wells feels that American defense is progressing rapidly. He says if Nazi aggression is staved off till this time next year the United States will be way ahead of her in production. Mr. Wells, who criticized the "American First Committee," thinks isolationist propaganda detrimental to morale. "People are misconstruing the idea to mean we can't win," he said. "Germany is going to fight much longer and much more obstinately than last time," he continued. "For she realizes that the outcome is so momentous."

The English-born American citizen commended a toughening period for American boys. He bemoaned plight of France, which he thinks has fallen never to rise again.

On England and the United States Wells said, "Contrary to 'Bundles for Britain' propaganda, we'll go to war for a principle, not for England. Supplies are all right, but sending men to Britain is illogical. Britain doesn't want to have to feed them in the first place. And another thing," said Wells, who has spent some time in South America, "we'll have to stand on our own two feet in this hemisphere."

Carvelth Wells makes a trans-continental lecture tour across the United States nearly every year. He says midwesterners aren't nearly as strong isolationists as they were a year ago. That is with the exception of the city of Chicago which is a very avid "American First" city.

On August 7 Mr. Wells will embark from New York for Trinidad and other American naval bases in the Caribbean.

Japan Threatens
THE PAST WEEK Japan has moved to the front in the conflict between democracy and totalitarianism. While it sides with nazism and fascism, where its sympathies naturally belong, it is apparently fearful of the consequence of an attack on Great Britain and the United States. Japan is cunning and treacherous, and it could violate any agreement without compunction. If it increases trouble for the democracies, it will do so because it thinks the axis forces will win. Restrictions on shipments to Japan are likely to lead it to hesitate and dodge the Hitler demands if possible.

The struggle between communism and nazism in Russia—two equally undesirable forms of government—weakens automatic elements for the final showdown between slavery and independence. The more Stalin slows up Hitler, the easier will be the task of uncoiling the tentacles of tyranny and reasserting the rights of free peoples. The greater the Russian resistance, the greater the hope of maintaining American aloofness from a declared war.

Ford ON HIS 78th birthday, Henry Ford, world's greatest industrialist, made some optimistic observations despite the terrible sacrifices of war. He said he had no fear of depression following the conflict, and expressed confidence in industry to find ways for increased employment.

Mr. Ford looks to new uses for farm products in manufacturing to stabilize production, employ labor and help agriculture. In that connection he said:

"Literally tens of thousands of articles and manufacturing parts now made from metals will be made plastically from materials grown on the farm. We've found more than 20 different elements in wheat, all of which can be used industrially. For example, wheat contains much starch. We use 30 tons of starch a day in making cores for castings."

The Christian Science Monitor mentions one experience in strike-ridden San Francisco. Sixty eating places have been closed on account of failure of employers and employees to harmonize differences over bargaining rights. The president's recent proposal for authority to control prices in the interest of defense plans may well be extended to comprehend wages and hours with due regard for an employer's ability to pay. It is clearly in line with the government's defense program to allow no unnecessary burdens on industry and business.

All nationalities have contributed to make America strong and independent, and no one who realizes advantages here enjoyed could give encouragement to any alienism. People came here to escape conditions that are now far worse than those they left, and to find in new homes opportunities that have become less and less in lands beyond the seas. They found what they came to find, and they are not likely to look indifferently on threats to their accustomed way of life.

Mussolini, Italian tyrant, had a birthday this week—58 years old, and apparently less cocky than he was ten years ago. It is recalled that his pompous atmosphere was thicker and his strut higher when he engaged in ruthless slaughter of defenseless Ethiopians. Since then his military prowess has so flattened out that he no longer has anything to brag about. But for the Nazi war machine the Greeks would have driven his vaunted army into the sea.

Kenneth Wherry, state republican chairman, has complained to Secretary of Agriculture Wickard that a Washington AAA official talked on war instead of on farm problems at a recent meeting in Fremont. Wherry quoted the official as saying 500,000 copies of the speech were being prepared for distribution, and the Nebraska inquired as to the printing and mailing cost.

A Charlestown, Ind., bulldog died of strong drink. He came home with his breath charged with beer. That was disquieting. Later he staggered home steaming with hard liquor. The owner gave him counteracting eggs and milk without avail. A reward has been offered for detection of the person or persons who got the dog drunk.

Secretary Ickes is quoted as saying he "doesn't want to ration gasoline," adding "I prefer the voluntary plan." "But," he concludes, suffering the bewilderment of doubt, "will it work?" He is probably fearful it will work.

The over-heated weather has been taking care of Turkish bath needs lately—saving cost and overcoming lack of inclination. Sweating is good for the human system, and it responds to the sun's rays without urging.

It is deeply regretted that in meeting defense costs the new deal lacks experience in making a dollar buy a dollar's worth. It is regretted that national leadership has not been trained to do things without waste.

Speaking of crop surpluses, the Omaha Journal-Stockman says that "whether in peace-time or in war a nation is better off with a surplus of food than a scarcity."

When Secretary Ickes unorks himself and speaks for publication, he reveals a dispiriting weakness in Washington's official family.

We Defend This Truth.
(Industrial Press Service)

What are we arming to defend? What is it that we Americans hold so precious that we are willing to accept great material and physical sacrifices if need be to make sure that it is not destroyed?

Not just the good land we have here, or the wealth of useful goods and products that private enterprise has spread among the people of this country. [Much as we value these, a better answer than that is needed. And Roy W. Moore, noted industrial leader, recently provided a sound definition of the heritage we intend to defend. Addressing the Commercial Law League of America, Mr. Moore described our American way in the following words:

"It is the way of liberty. It is the right of a man to think his own thoughts through, and to express them decently in print or by word of mouth. It is the right of assembly and petition. It is the right of protection against tyranny of unwise and edict as opposed to the due process of responsible law. It is the right to choose that device of relations with the Almighty Spirit of Life which best will nurture the individual's spirit. It is the right to choose those officers of governance who must truly represent the will and the conscience of the people, and to hold them to the responsibility of representation. "And it is the right of the individual to engage in any decent occupation of his choice, and to follow it where he wishes, and to reap as his reward such returns as are in decency earned by his skill, his ability, his energy, and his effort."

The words are moving because the force they describe is eloquent, too. Needing clear definitions of where we stand in the difficult world today, we can all find in the above words a goodly part of that larger truth in which all Americans believe.

PARTY PLEDGES.

Mark Sullivan, columnist, quotes from both the democratic and republican convention platforms of a year ago to the effect that armed forces would not be sent to fight on foreign soil. These pledges were repeated and emphasized during the presidential campaign. Sullivan directs his criticism at carelessness in making pledges without assurance that they can be kept. Candidates think too much of vote-getting and too little of the consequence of breaking promises. [The columnist quoted the platform affecting foreign policy which he proposed as a sample for the Philadelphia convention. In it he said in substance that in a very ticklish international situation, he didn't pretend to know what would happen, but that whatever did happen, the best interests of the United States would be stoutly upheld. Both party platforms tried to satisfy all groups.

tion at Winside, and the annual premium list of the Wayne county fair have been printed and delivered ahead of schedule. Good fortune followed all of the jobs in absence of errors. Uniformity of print and freedom from the accidental appearance of haunting slugs or quads made us appreciate the care taken by the fellows responsible for the work. And they did not just get under the wire with the finished products. Invariably they were ahead of time.

SIXTY YEARS AGO.

Wakefield is getting ready to celebrate the 60th anniversary of its founding. That town and Wayne came into existence the same year, 1881, when the railroad was built from Emerson to Norfolk. La Porte was started in 1869 and became the county seat with a court house erected in 1874 on a slightly hill top. La Porte was on the market for a railroad, and a grant for the purpose pointing in that direction was built. But the town's hopes blew up when the C. St. P. M. & O. surveyed its line some miles north and encouraged the launching of new towns. After Wakefield and Wayne had budded into being, La Porte lost the county seat. With the exception of the court house which could not be moved, La Porte's buildings were carted across the prairie and divided between Wakefield and Wayne. The court house was remodeled into a farm house. Many changes have taken place in 60 years, and few of the pioneers remain, but recalling the resolute spirit of the first settlers stimulates courage and hope. There is value in reviving memories of times when the country was new and hardships were many.

CONGRESS
KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C. July 29, 1941.
A group of members from middle-west states called on the OPM chiefs and asked for priority on more steel and lumber with which to build grain storage facilities. The chiefs said the members that national defense and lend-lease come first. But they promised some help in this storage and transportation emergency.

As the national defense program gets into full swing the shortage of metals becomes apparent. Already there is shortage of steel and zinc. Those who had scrap iron a few years ago could have made big money by holding it for these days.
The house passed a bill modifying the wheat marketing quota for the 1941 and subsequent crops for farms that harvest less than the normal production of the farm acreage allotment. This amendment changes the rule so that the penalties will apply only to that amount of wheat produced on the farm in excess of the normal production of the farm acreage allotment in the event the actual yield per acre of wheat on the farm is less than the normal yield per acre. It is one of the amendments which the department, the committee and the house felt would relieve hardship cases and eliminate most of the objections raised recently. A few more amendments are coming out of the committee. Some of them will be controversial. There is little thought now that the 49 cents penalty will be cut due to the feeling that this would tend to wreck the program.

Localities in Nebraska where the grain crop was short and where there is some storage space, may be called upon to store some of the surplus wheat. When space is available in big terminals the wheat will be transferred, according to the storage chiefs here.

Experts say we have about 380,000,000 bushels of carry-over wheat. The new crop is estimated here at about 975,000,000 bushels. It is a major problem to provide facilities for storing and moving this quantity of grain. Combines have outmoded old methods of harvest and have caused the probability of a rise in harvest time. Embargos on shipments to overcrowded points have already started. Storage on farms is very popular among the Washington chiefs.

Feed wheat unfit for human consumption and used for chicken feed is not in our marketing quota. Baltimore buyers say they are getting that grade of wheat from Canada cheaper than they can buy it here. Last year about 350,000 bushels came over. In four months this year nearly 650,000 bushels have already come and a good Canadian supply is reported. Farm district members are asking questions about that.

Warren Krebs of Humphrey, who recently graduated from Georgetown university here, is on his way to Trinidad, one of the outlying places where Uncle Sam is building a national defense base. Krebs has been employed as auditor by one of the private contracting firms. Young American civilians will now be found in many places throughout the western hemisphere, employed on defense projects.

Nebraska members are being asked who will succeed Judge Munger on the federal bench. That will be decided by the chiefs of the majority party. Many letters and telegrams are reaching Washington recommending certain lawyers for the post. Men high in Nebraska politics are now in Washington to get something about it.

Members of congress are burned up over statements made here recently by Col. Wedgwood of the British parliament. He is quoted as saying that "this is America's war and you are in it up to your necks. The trouble with you Americans is that you are afraid to assume responsibilities. In England all the best people go to parliament. They don't try to go into congress here." Wedgwood comes from the British crockery family.

A lot of English crockery and china are being advertised here now. Even some of the many British who are in our nation's capital think Wedgwood talked out of turn. They are glad he's going back home.
The house committee on buildings and grounds is investigating plans to decentralize non-defense activities. They want some of these activities sent into the middle-west and congress favors the plan. The situation regarding housing here is so serious that twenty people who have been asked to leave an apartment house because a government agency wants it for offices, have refused to vacate. Representatives from many states including Nebraska are here telling Uncle Sam that we have plenty of room for his offices.

The house passed without a dissenting vote the $287,000,000 de-brome seed and disc sufficiently to loosen the soil and at the same time leave a protecting cover of crop and weed residue. In the spring plowing, implements can be lifted to give the seedlings a chance and grass drains will replace gullies.

Fall plowing is practiced less and less as progressive farmers have learned that brome grass requires a firm, solid seed bed and that a protecting cover of stubble and weed residue on the surface of the land is good insurance. The amount of brome seed that has been harvested in Wayne county this year should not make its price prohibitive.

Christian Science Services
"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, August 3.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing" (Zephaniah 3:17).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him. But whoso keepeth his word, in him verily is the love of God perfected: hereby know we that we are in him" (1 John 2:4, 5).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Love inspires, illumines, designates, and leads the way. Bright motives give pinions to thought, and strength and freedom to speech and action. Love is priestess at the altar of Truth. Wait patiently for divine Love to move upon the waters of mortal mind, and form the perfect concept" (p. 454).

Care in Selecting Bromo Seed Urged

Only bromo grass seed that is tested and labeled should be bought, according to State Analyst R. C. Kitch. This warning was given to Dixon and Wayne county farmers so they may avoid seed containing hairy chess, commonly called cheat, and downy bromo. Both are annual grass weeds and their presence in seed greatly reduces the value of the crop for hay, pasture and seed production. Buyers can protect themselves by reading the label required by the Nebraska state seed law. This label should show the percentage of weed seeds as well as germination and other factors affecting the quality of the seed.

Along with the stories of famous American athletes sacrificing their careers for Uncle Sam, comes the news of a number of former Wayne State college football players who are scattered in camps from Kansas to the west coast. Joe Lindahl, 1941 graduate who won Little All American end honors for two years, is now out at the Portland air base in Oregon where he and Lester Knott, another Wayne player this past year, are members of a mechanized equipment ground crew. Joe was offered a position on an eastern professional football team and had planned to earn enough playing to work on his physical science master's degree at New York university. Chuck Wehrer, "W" club man who graduated in 1940, is at Tent City, Cal., large camp near March Field.

Edward Nitz, who played the past two years for Wayne, is at Ft. Riley, Kan., where he drives motorized equipment and holds an assistantship as recreational director. The boys who correspond with their former coach, J. H. Morrison, write favorable reports of their new experience.

Fred Murray, Wayne's star player of a season ago, passed through Wayne recently on his way to army camp. Word has been received that "Bud" Braasch of Norfolk, who lettered at Wayne last year, is also in the army.

SIXTIETH YEAR

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, JULY 31, 1941

NUMBER THIRTEEN

Carry Photographs In Sunday Edition

Photographs from Wayne and northeast Nebraska were prominent in the Sunday edition of the Omaha World-Herald. Front page of the rotogravure section carried scenes and harvest pictures taken along the Elkhorn valley by M. J. Hankins of Stanton, formerly of Wayne.

This section also devoted a page to pictures of Wayne's recent farmer-manager day.

In another part of the paper is a picture of John Lorenzen, Wayne county farmer, who is this year using contour planting. Two rows in one field of corn are 21 miles long, and Mr. Lorenzen estimates that it takes him six hours to cultivate the two rows with a tractor. Mr. Lorenzen reports contour farming a little harder the first year but finds he saved fuel costs and prevented water runoff. He farms 320 acres and has been on the same place 26 years.

The Smothers family are visiting relatives and friends in Nebraska points and Sioux City before going to Muscatine. Bus Line Hearing Held at Fremont

State Commission Will Take Action on Application in Near Future

Application of the Capitol Stage Lines company, Lincoln, to establish a bus line between Lincoln and Wayne is pending on a decision of the state railway commission. Hearing on the application was held before the commission at Fremont Friday. W. H. Sweet, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, attended to promote establishment of the service.

It is Mr. Sweet's opinion that Wayne may look forward in the near future to bus service between Wayne and Lincoln. Since the need has been indicated, he feels that other lines will investigate the situation.

Capitol Stage Lines offer this tentative time table for daily service: Bus leaves Wayne at 8 o'clock in the morning, arrives in Lincoln at 11:54, leaves Lincoln at 7:15 p. m., arrives in Wayne at 11 p. m.

Plans Are Arranged For Wheat Program

Plans of operating the 1942 AAA wheat program were made at a district meeting in Tekamah, Wayne county being represented by T. P. Roberts, C. A. Bard, L. E. Sellen, members of the local committee. Mrs. Gladys Roberts, farmer-fieldwoman, and Archie Wert, chief clerk in the county office.

Applications for 1942 all-risk wheat crop insurance are now being accepted by AAA committee members or at the county office. Efforts will be made to give every grower opportunity to sign for crop insurance before wheat is seeded or before August 30, whichever date is earlier.

Every farmer or landowner who has or expects to have an interest in 1942 wheat crop may file application. Notes, which mature August 15, 1942, enable the corporation to deduct the premium cost from the indemnity payment the farmer may receive in event of loss, from his AAA payment or from his wheat loan income. The grower may pay his note on or before maturity either in wheat or cash equivalent on the basis of the current market price of wheat the day he makes payment.

The Macy pop-wow is set for August 7 to 10.

Safety of Cousin Told in Message

A most welcome message telling of the safety of Miss Rachel Davies of Swansea, Wales, was received here by her cousin, Mrs. A. A. Welch, recently. Mrs. Welch had not heard word from Miss Davies since Christmas and was quite concerned about her. Miss Davies, who has retired after teaching 27 years in an academy, tells that Swansea has been bombed so much that the business district is destroyed. Her home was struck once but she happened to be away at the time. The bombs that are timed to explode some time after falling are most dreaded.

Miss Davies expresses appreciation of the material assistance being given by Americans.

Foods are plentiful in the Welsh city but variety is restricted.

Special Services Arranged Sunday

Churches of the Evangelical Lutheran synod of Missouri, Ohio and other states have been asked by the president, John W. Behnkne, to plan special services for repentance and prayer, next Sunday. The resolution to this effect was passed at the synodical convention.

In his call the president asks that August 3 be set aside for humiliation and prayer. He petitions all our people to assemble in their house of worship and all our pastors to preach timely sermons to lead us unto true repentance and faith. Let us search our ways and turn again to the Lord for the Lord will not cast us off forever; but though He cause grief, yet will He have compassion according to the multitude of His tender mercies, through the precious blood of Jesus Christ. Let us pray to God fervently for the president of our United States and for all others in authority that He may guide and direct them during these critical days and if He will, preserve for our land a just and honorable peace. May He who maketh wars to cease unto the end of the earth in His good providence speedily have mercy on all men and restore peace among men, that His gospel may again have free course everywhere and be preached to the joy and edifying of His people! In Jesus name, amen.

Congregations in this vicinity belonging to the synod are those of Rev. Walter Brackensick of Doxey and Altona; Rev. L. M. Doctor of Concord, Rev. F. C. Doctor and Rev. W. A. Gerdes of Wakefield, Rev. C. E. Frodricksen of Carroll, Rev. H. M. Hilpert of Winside.

Elected in College.

Pictured here are Glenville Meyer of Pender, and his grandfather, Rudolph C. Suhr of Anaheim, Cal. The young man was recently in with his first shipment of stock, eight Shorthorn cattle, seven of which sold at $10.50 and the other at $10. Mr. Suhr, at the present time visiting at Pender, shipped to the Sioux City market for many years before retiring and moving to the west coast state.

Pictured above left is H. C. Falk of Hoskins, a recent visitor to the Sioux City market. Mr. Falk raises hogs and feeds cattle, and has shipped to Sioux City for better than 20 years.

Concord Route To Be Retained

Order for Consolidation With Dixon Cancelled By Federal Office.

The federal post office order consolidating the Dixon and Concord rural mail routes July 31 has been cancelled, according to word from Senator Hugh Butler and Congressman Karl Stefan. Each point has one route, and the postal department a few weeks ago ruled that the two be combined into a 54-mile unit out of Dixon. Concord residents objected because of the disadvantages they saw would result in mail service. They appealed to Washington officials who secured the cancellation order.

In informing Paul Hart, Concord, of the action, Senator Butler writes that "after a strenuous afternoon's work I have succeeded in getting cancelled the order proposing consolidation of the rural routes at Dixon and Concord as of July 31. However, it is my opinion that they may arrive at a different conclusion following a further investigation, but, of course, I am not in a position to say definitely. You and all other friends of the Concord route must accumulate every bit of information and evidence that is possible to support your contention that the Concord route should be continued permanently."

Congressman Stefan writes to E. W. Huse that "you will be interested to know that the second assistant postmaster general has assented to withdrawal of the order for consolidation of the rural route at Concord with the route emanating from Dixon."

Earl Orent will serve temporarily as carrier out of Concord until an appointment is made. He succeeds Elmer Wilmarth, 60, bachelor carrier, who retires or pension July 31 after serving the Concord route 31 consecutive years.

Mr. Wilmarth began his duties as carrier at Concord January 2, 1910, and has never missed a day in carrying mail on his route, unless no mail arrived to carry. Aside from a few spills in horse and buggy days and being caught a few times in storms which required him to remain at a country home overnight, Mr. Wilmarth's experiences on the route have not been out of the ordinary.

Mr. Wilmarth, who came to Concord in 1886 from Sheldon, Ia., lives alone in a two-room cottage. After his retirement, his first plan will be to visit his mother, Mrs. H. A. Wilmarth, in Keyes, Okla.

Stock Is Shipped To City Market

Wayne vicinity shippers to the Sioux City market last week shared new seasonal highs in the "up and coming" market. Rude Longe of Dixon county, almost hit the $12.50 top with his 22 cattle, wt. 1,025, which sold for $12.15; two more, wt. 920, brought $10.75.

Two Wayne county shippers took advantage of the $11.35 peak price for hogs. Chris Peterson marketed 18, wt. 234, Hans Peterson, 13, wt. 203, Chas. Temme's 22 hogs, wt. 211, brought $11.25.

Representative sales on the market from Wayne and Dixon counties included the following shipments: Frank Loberg, Carroll, 2 steers, wt. 550, $9.25, 2 yearlings, wt. 665, $9.25, 5 yearlings, wt. 788, $10.25; Patsy Garvin, Dixon, 17 yearlings, wt. 813, $11, 2 yearlings, wt. 612, $10; M. R. Burgess, Dixon, 9 steers, wt. 1063, $11.25, 1 steer, wt. 690, $10.25; H. S. Baby Is Attended By Good Fortune In Fall at Home

Though not old enough to be conscious of her good fortune, Susan, 8-month-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. F. Perry, is a mighty lucky little miss and her mother is to be commended for good presence of mind in an emergency that saved Susan from possible serious results.

One morning recently Mrs. Perry placed little Susan on the bed with her sister, Nancy, while she was preparing to dress the baby. Mrs. Perry started down stairs to fix Susan's bottle. But before doing so she turned back, perhaps by intuition, to take another look at the baby.

Just as Mrs. Perry walked into the bedroom, Susan toppled over backward. She fell against a screen on a window adjoining the bed and plumped but as the screen gave way, Mrs. Perry lunged across the bed, grabbed Susan by one hand and pulled the baby back to safety after she had dangled like an acrobat some 12 feet above the ground.

The screen, which had been fitted tightly in the spring, had evidently become loosened by summer's heat. Dr. Perry has the screens so tightly nailed on now that he is quite sure the process of taking them off this fall is going to be a real task.

Susan had another narrow escape when she was 2 months old. She was lying in her bassinet in the bathroom when a wind blew out the heater and closed the door. Gas soon filled the room but members of the household discovered the trouble in time to prevent any injury to the baby.

Klamath Falls Is Real Boom Center Visitor Reports Like a few of the real boom towns left in the United States, Klamath Falls, Ore., has never known a depression. So explains Mrs. L. E. Priest, who arrived Thursday from that city to visit her mother, Mrs. Clara Horsham.

Mrs. Priest drove here alone and will leave August 20, stopping to visit in Rapid City, where she taught before her marriage. The city of Klamath Falls, although Mrs. Priest has been there only a year, seems like an ideal place to live. A bustling lumber town of 42,000, inhabited by good, hard-working Swedish people, Klamath Falls is a far cry from the little Indian and pioneer village E. W. Huse knew when he ran a paper there about 37 years ago.

Situated on large Klamath lake, just 60 miles from the California border, this city is scene of the great Western lumber mills, owned by the man whose son was kidnapped several years ago from a Seattle residence.

Besides its lumber mills the city can boast a thriving box industry and a reputation as a potato growing center. Expansion is constant. Plans are now underway for a large commercial airport and a new U. S. highway through there. Recently soldiers from Ft. Lewis, Wash., passed through Klamath on maneuvers from their base to King City, Cal. Mrs. Priest witnessed a Fourth of July parade staged by the army men. Large guns, mammoth army transport trucks and all types of munitions equipment were displayed in an impressive military march. Local inhabitants were extremely hospitable to the boys, entertaining them in their homes and with special street amusements.

Hoover and Wilson Taken Into Service

Woman Recovers Sight After Living in Darkness for Sixteen Years.

Herbert Hoover and Woodrow Wilson are in the army now. Iowa officials have inducted the two presidential namesakes into military service. Robert E. Lee is also among the youth registered for call.

An Iowa girl who was candling eggs scribbled on one, "Write to me," and signed her name. The girl, recently received a letter from a woman in England. The lady said she is 35, has no children and her husband is in war work.

Macon Henry went fishing and discovered he'd forgot and left his fish hooks at home. Oh, well. He'd go swimming anyway, and he plunged into Catawba river. Then he accidentally fastened his foot into a large pickle jar on the bottom of the stream. In the bottom of the jar were two catfish, each about nine inches long.

Mrs. David Galloway, 62, has recovered her sight after 16 years. She had been visiting her daughter and was returning to her daughter's home after a short trip. She heard voices on the platform and turned her head. Things began to take shape and she could see once more.

Although 2 1/2-year-old Edna Miller suffered only a few bruises and the loss of her front teeth when four cars of a freight train passed over her, she still considered it sufficient reason for a lusty brawl. Edna was playing between the tracks near her parental home when the train came along.

A New Haven man was arrested the other night for pulling a false alarm which brought out six pieces of fire apparatus and an assistant chief. Police said Hynes told him he ran the alarm because during an argument with his wife he became convinced he needed assistance quickly and in large numbers.

At Kansas City a foot of water covered a tavern dance floor. The 20 patrons, refugees from the deluge outside, peeled off their shoes and stockings and went right on with the rumba.

After digging Peggy, brown and white fox terrier, from under eight tons of coal, members of the Ralph Pugh family at Des Moines don't care to hear any more about putting coal in early on account of defense program. The dog was unharmed.

Just to prove Yankee ingenuity is not dead, Norbert Nordhus, 19, of Maryville, Kan., built a tractor from discarded automobile parts for only $70. Construction time was two weeks.

Though 7-year-old Patsy Wenzel never wanted a doll all her own, she wanted to enter a doll fashion show run by a welfare agency. So she dressed herself as she would have garbed her doll and told the judges about it. They gave her a special prize—a doll.

Electricity for Efficiency and Economy

Air Corps Period Is Extended for Youth

Llewellyn Whitmore, Wayne boy who has completed a two-year duty as air corps mechanic in the Philippines, writes that he will be required to spend another year there. August, 1942, is now the earliest he may return to the states.

Llewellyn is pleased with the time extension because "he hasn't seen everything yet." He and a buddy from Iowa had planned a trip to Borneo this summer but "the Japs got there first" and spoiled their vacation plans.

Llewellyn is completely mum about defense measures in the Asiatic fleet. His father thinks either the boys are not allowed to learn anything or at least, if they are, cannot write home interesting information.

Noted Traveler Relates Stories Of Experience

Carveth Wells, noted travel lecturer, described humorously to Kiwanians Monday his almost fatal experiences as a railway engineer in Canada and Malay; in the days before he found it "more profitable to talk about engineering than to practice it."

In 1909 Wells arrived in Canada and went to the province of Saskatchewan where he was to obtain a job with a railway crew. After a series of demotions he made the mistake of admitting his ability to draw. According to Wells, if an engineer accepts a draftsman's position he'll remain a draftsman the rest of his days. Fortunately, for America's lecture platforms, Mr. Wells' dreary future as a draftsman was cut short by typhoid. Recuperation on the Canadian prairie was followed by a journey to Portland to visit his brother, "who had forsaken a surgical career in England for a chain of butcher shops in Portland." Mr. Wells' "disgraceful" arrival in two pairs of trousers, moccasins, sheep skin and hair to his shoulders, was followed by a siege with the barber who was instructed to "shoot" the works.

After several months of parasitical existence on Wells' part, the brother made the disturbing inquiry, "How about a job?" An unsuccessful experience as a store detective in which Mr. Wells warned outright his first suspect that "she mustn't do such things," sent the adventurer back to the railway camp. He stayed long enough to realize that the laborers were earning more than the engineers and then he returned to England where he persuaded London university to give him an assistantship as lecturer on American railway engineering. Wells resigned that position when he found his former students earning more money than he had before he started teaching them.

Ignored repeatedly by crown agent officials from whom he sought a railway job in the colonies, Mr. Wells boldly presented himself to the Lord Chancellor of England, a man whose brother had sold apples to him as a lad in school. On this slight but valuable connection he was sent to the Malay peninsula where he helped construct the Singapore railway and causeway to the mainland, now being used to transport Australian troops to prospective battle lines there.

Another grave illness sent Wells to San Francisco and thence to Portland where his brother once more assisted in a costly recuperation and once more finally insisted, "How about a job?" It was then, after a short period in overalls as a ship yard worker, that Wells made a profitable and wise decision, choosing to preach instead of practice.
