

Physician Closes Long and Helpful Life — Raising Sheep — Different Advertising Mediums — Doing the World's Work.

Dr. E. S. Blair, whose orderly and helpful life closed last week, had served this community for nearly a half century. He was active in his profession long ahead of present convenience of communication and travel, and he knew the hardships involved in looking after the sick in the outlying territory. Necessary delays in answering calls to the country intensified the physician's efforts and anxiety. Dr. Blair experienced all the hard trials of an early-day doctor in a rural community.

Dr. Blair was more than a physician looking after humanity's ills. His thoughts delved as deeply as possible into life's mysteries. Why and wherefore of an existence that must mean more than eating and drinking and quarreling and fighting turned his attention to the works of authors dealing with the soul's value and probable destiny. While he could not wholly solve carefully hidden psychic problems, as none so far has, his inquiring philosophy and sound reasoning led to anchoring his belief in absolute faith. In more than eighty years Dr. Blair had come to know life in all its many phases, and he passed into eternity convinced that this mortal existence is only the beginning and that death is but transition.

Dr. Blair, deep student with sympathetic understanding, contributed liberally to spiritual case as well as to physical health. Pioneer doctor, closest in point of service in this territory, he will be remembered with highest esteem.

As to Sources of Profit. Farmers entertain different ideas on what serves best for profit in their operations; and the disagreement results in a desirable distribution of advantages. If all were inclined to stress the same thing, some fields would be overdone while others would be neglected. Some go in for cattle, others for hogs and still others for sheep. Occasionally a farmer leans on horses, and makes a good profit raising colts. Whatever one likes, he seems to do best.

Hobert Auker, north of town, thinks sheep yield more profit in less time than any other animals on the farm. While he does not neglect horses, cattle, hogs and feathered creatures, he leans more heavily on sheep, in growing which his experience has been adequately rewarded. He added 270 Idaho lambs to his sheep flock recently, and they have just been sheared and put in better condition for fattening. A sheep puts on flesh faster if it does not have to be bothered by a heavy coat of wool. The fleece finds a good market, and at the end of ninety days, the animals are ready to be converted into mutton. Mr. Auker has a dog trained to keep the sheep within allotted precincts and see that they deport themselves in orderly manner.

In the vast inter-mountain range, care is taken to keep sheep and cattle separated. They don't get along well together, and especially if sheep trespass on ground preempted for cattle, owners of the latter become furious. In the old days violence was often resorted to in disputes over rights of the public range.

Consult Chamber Secretary. When any advertising or other scheme of doubtful wisdom comes along asking for support, the way to do is to request approval of the Chamber of Commerce which is pledged to investigate and pass judgment. That is one of the services included in a year's program for which the local district forks over certain simoleons monthly. Any call for cash that irritates the social or business order and seems to impose an unnecessary burden should be referred to the Chamber secretary who is employed to perspire his way out of such questions.

Greatest Pulling Power. In passing we will be pardoned for observing the advertising survey recently made by a motion picture magazine to determine relative advertising values. He found newspapers containing live news reader interest have far greater pulling power than any other form of advertising for theatres. Investigation covered the field of bills, window displays, bill boards, screen announcements and other mediums.

Rising to an emergency, Editor W. F. Crabb suggests in his Fairbury Journal that shellac will serve as a substitute for silk in covering the lower extremities, and that it will break the jaws of any ordinary jigger or mosquito. Short Work Hours. Some one quotes a left-wing economist as figuring out that "four hours' employment in one day, properly distributed, would do the world's work. If that theory could be translated into successful practice, how would society fare? How would the balance of twenty hours be spent? If one devoted time, free from his earning groove, (Continued on Page Four)

Ground Breaking Service Is Held

George Berres Turns First Shovel of Earth for New Church Here.

"An act of faith." Thus Rev. Walter Brackensick characterized the action of Grace Lutheran congregation to build a new, modern church edifice. Monday evening when ground-breaking services were conducted at the 9th and Logan site where a large number gathered for the occasion. Excavation for the new structure started Tuesday morning with about 20 men of the congregation present. "To the world at large the event taking place here is of little importance and significance," began Rev. Brackensick, "but to us, the members of Grace Lutheran church, this is a red-letter day for ushers in a new era. For years we have been getting along with cramped quarters in our services and Sunday school classes. But this ground breaking ceremony marks the beginning of a building program that will supply ample and suitable quarters for all our church activities for years to come."

"However, this ground-breaking ceremony means infinitely more than merely enlarging our borders," continued the pastor, "it is in reality an act of faith in the future of our country and the democratic way of life, both in our Missouri synod Lutheran church which has now entered upon the second century of sound doctrine and practice, faith in our youth who will carry forward the church's banner after we have passed on, and above all faith in that almighty God who has so signally blessed our labors in the past and who alone can be our refuge and strength in years to come."

"We are living in perilous times. We know not what the future will bring—whether prosperity or adversity, whether peace or war. But be not dismayed. We are confident that this work, begun in the fear of the Lord, will prosper because God is pleased to have His people rear houses of worship to the glory of His holy name and for the up-building of His spiritual kingdom here on earth. In this spirit and for this purpose we are undertaking this far-reaching task."

"Much work will still remain to be done after ground has been broken. But we are confident that Almighty God, who has instilled this faith in us to take this first step in our building program, will guide us to its completion and crown our efforts with success. All glory to Him! Let us, then, rise up and build! Amen."

Turn First Shovels. George Berres, senior member of the congregation and also senior member of the building committee, turned the first shovel of earth for the new structure. Others were turned by Mrs. Elmer Meyer, president of the Aid, Roy Langemeier, head of the men's brotherhood, Donald Meyer, president of the young people's society, Kurt Otto for Donald Echtenkamp, head of the Sunday school, and Alan Daniels for Mrs. A. M. Daniels, chairman of the choir.

The ceremonies opened and closed with hymns by the assembly. Scripture reading, "Gloria Patri," prayer, recitation of the "Creed," the Lord's prayer in unison and benediction were also included in the services.

Brock of Jonesboro, Ark., formerly of Wayne, has been appointed instructor in mechanical drawing at the Great Lakes training station at a salary of $3,120. James finished Wayne training school and college and taught at Culbertson, Neb., and Lake Forest, Ill. He was at the latter place two years and his supervisor recommended him for the new position. His duties started August 2. Dr. Brock likes his work in Jonesboro as head of the science department. He is also giving the ground work for the civil pilot training course.

IS ELECTED DELEGATE TO NATIONAL MEETING

Dr. L. J. Kilian of Wayne, Third district commander, was elected Nebraska delegate at large to the national convention of the American Legion at Milwaukee, September 14 to 18. Dr. Kilian attended the state convention at Hastings from Saturday until Tuesday evening. The state convention will be held at Omaha in 1942.

EARLY FAIR DATES SUIT CONVENIENCE AFTER BUSY TIME

WE SUPPOSE no dates selected for a county fair would be acceptable to everybody. If fixed to come after mid-September, they would be too late for some, while mid-August is considered too early by others. The earlier dates chosen for the Wayne county show this year follow the small grain harvest, and thus serve the convenience of the farm population. Schools will not be in session, and so there will be no need for a vacation to attend. It is a period of let-down in most activities, and would seem a proper time to hold the fair for undivided attention. Exhibits should be numerous and of high quality, and the entertainment program should be eminently satisfactory. The fair is a county institution, and it deserves united support.

Pioneer Doctor Of Wayne Dies

Services Are Conducted for Dr. E. S. Blair at Home Saturday Afternoon.

Dr. E. S. Blair 84, Wayne's last pioneer doctor, passed away Thursday noon at 12:30 at his home. He had been failing several months with heart trouble, and his condition was critical just a week.

Funeral rites were conducted Saturday afternoon at 2:30 from the home in which he had been so interested for nearly half a century. Rev. W. F. Dieking and the Redentorist service officiated. Rev. Dieking stressed Dr. Blair's sincere devotion to the physician's oath which pledges unselfish and conscientious service to mankind. He pointed out that Dr. Blair's daily life reflected the high ideals for which he always stood. Mrs. R. M. Carhart sang "Still, Still With Thee" and "Sometime We'll Understand." Committal followed in Greenwood cemetery.

Couple Married At Service Here

Miss Faye Lutt Becomes Bride Last Thursday of Kenneth Dunklau.

Miss Faye Lutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Lutt, last Thursday morning at 9 became the bride of Kenneth Dunklau, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dunklau, at a simple double ring ceremony performed by Rev. W. F. Most at Our Redeemer's parsonage. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mau, recently married sister and brother-in-law of the bride, were attendants.

The bride was gowned in coral brown street-length dress with gold trim and wore a shoulder corsage of lavender lilies. Mrs. Mau wore a blue street-length dress with black accessories. Her corsage was similar to the one worn by the bride. The men wore the conventional dark business suits, with pink carnation boutonnieres.

Teacher Shortage Is Reported Here

A serious shortage of rural teachers seems to be prevalent, according to Supt. F. B. Decker. Several vacancies still remain in Wayne county schools. Any wishing to teach are asked to see Mr. Decker as soon as possible. Ticket Sale Progresses. Season ticket sale for Wayne county fair is progressing well and closes Saturday evening. Get Gas Tax Fund. Wayne county's share of the July gasoline tax is $2,669.48. Treasurer J. J. Steele reports this divided as follows: Bridge fund, $533.90; county roads, $1,868.63; road districts, $266.95.

Plan For Zoning City Considered

Approval Is Expected Soon On Park Improvement North of Wayne.

Zoning of Wayne business and residence districts is being considered by the city council, the object of such a step being to protect property owners. Most cities have such an ordinance which designates the areas in which various types of business may be established. The matter was discussed by the council Tuesday and will be considered again at the next meeting. The clerk was instructed to get information regarding such a plan from other cities. The zoning would have to be done by a certified engineer and would cost about $150 to $200.

The transfer of $7,800 WPA funds from the athletic park to the new municipal recreation center north of town is expected to receive final approval in 10 days or two weeks, according to report given the council. The action is waiting now on final checking of plans for the new park.

Wayne's city ordinances are to be modernized and put into accessible condition by George E. Mann, Lincoln, who is here now compiling data.

Mrs. Claude Wright was reappointed to membership on the library board Tuesday for a term of six years.

Howard Mau was granted beer license.

Pelvis Fractured In Car Accident

Miss Selma Einung Suffers Injury as Machine Goes Over Into Ditch.

Miss Selma Einung of Los Angeles, sister of J. N. Einung of this place, suffered four fractures of the pelvis bone Friday morning about 9 when the car in which she was riding with her brother, Elmo Einung, and niece, Mrs. Bus Parmenter, also of Los Angeles, turned over on the Pilger-Schuyler road about 18 miles south of Pilger. Miss Einung is in a Wayne hospital where she will be obliged to remain at least six weeks. The others, who were unhurt, planned to leave Wednesday or today for the west after repairs were made on the car belonging to Mr. Einung.

The three California folks, who had been here for the funeral of Henry Einung of Hartington, started home from here Friday morning. All were in the front seat of the sedan and Mr. Einung was driving. Miss Einung, who is not used to gravelled roads in the west, had expressed a dread at making the sector between Pilger and Schuyler. Her brother said he would drive slowly and was doing so, not traveling over 40 miles an hour. Just over the crest of a hill was a road grader on the right-hand side of the highway. To avoid a collision, Mr. Einung applied the brakes and his car turned over onto the right side in a shallow ditch. The grader was traveling in the same direction as the car.

Miss Einung, who was on the right side of the seat, struck the arm rest in such a way that her pelvis was broken. She was not hurt otherwise. All remained in the car.

An ambulance and doctor from Clarkson rushed Miss Einung to Wayne for x-rays and she was then taken to the hospital where she is reported doing nicely.

Miss Einung is a governess in the home of David Boff, musical director for Twentieth Century Fox. She plans to resume her work in instructing the child in the family after her recovery. Mrs. J. N. Hill of Long Beach, another sister of the Einungs, will remain here while Miss Einung is recovering.

Brooks, president of the Chadron normal, was also introduced. Fred Andersen, controller, and Fred S. Berry each spoke briefly about early history of the state colleges. May Have Operation. F. L. Blair, who is in Rochester, expects to undergo a second operation there this Thursday. LABOR DAY. Returns thus far from the survey to ascertain the wishes of local business houses in regard to suspending usual activities in observance of Labor day, September 1, conducted by the Chamber of Commerce, show a majority in favor of the observance. In the absence of organized labor units in this territory, the favorable recognition will have to be conveyed by telepathic impact.

The Good family will go to Lincoln at close of college registration, and the Dr. Frank Gracy family will occupy their residence here for the year.

The retirement of Dean H. H. Hahn as head of the training school and his appointment to full college deanship was approved by the board. The appointment of Dr. Frank Gracy of Plattsburg, N. Y., to instruct in the art and speech department, Dr. Ray Bryan of Salina, Kan., to head the training school, and Miss Virginia Carper of Coal City, Ill., to be kindergarten supervisor in Wayne, met with favorable action by the board.

Miss Alice Robinson, dean of women at Chadron, was granted leave of absence until next May 31. Her duties will be taken by Miss Ruth Kelly, English instructor in the school. Clifford W. White, University of Oregon graduate, was appointed to replace Watkins.

Miss Janice Louise Felthouser of Lincoln, was elected English and debate instructor and has accepted. She takes the place of Miss Clara Chilson who goes to Sioux Falls.

At a special meeting the last of the week the board elected a principal but word has not yet been received from him. A teacher for 6th grade was also chosen but she had just accepted a position in Topeka. These two successors to C. B. Childs who heads Wakefield school and to Miss Helen Tassemyer, are yet to be announced.

Loses Left Arm In Auto Mishap

James Miller Has Member Amputated After Injury In Night Crash.

James R. Miller, who lives about five miles northeast of Wayne, suffered loss of his left hand after the member was badly crushed about 1:30 Monday morning when his pickup and a truck sideswiped on highway No. 20 about eight miles east of Laurel. Mr. Miller, who was not hurt otherwise, is reported doing well in a local hospital. Others in the accident were not injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller, with Ernest Bodenstead, Wayne, and Herman Ekeroth, Wakefield, in the back of their pickup, were returning home from South Sioux City, and Mr. Miller was driving west with his left elbow resting on the car door. A stock truck driven by Floyd Stubben, Creighton, was going east.

Patrolman Yost of Laurel, who investigated the accident, said Miller's arm was caught between the truck and pickup when Miller drove too close to the stock truck. Stubben, stopped and went back to investigate but the Miller car had driven on. The Wayne folks thought they could get the injured man to a hospital here. When they reached Dixon they realized the seriousness of Mr. Miller's injury and summoned a Laurel doctor. After the Wayne man received first aid, he was brought by ambulance to a local hospital.

Miller's entire forearm was mangled and the arm had to be amputated about four inches below the shoulder. Both machines were only slightly damaged by the impact.

Doors to Fire Hall Are Enlarged Here

The two narrow doors at the fire hall are being made into one 18-foot door so that fire trucks will have more clearance. With the two doors the clearance was only a couple of inches and this was thought to be dangerous.

Decrease Is Less Than Anticipated

A decrease in collegiate attendance smaller than was anticipated earlier in the national emergency was forecast in mid-July reports from 469 approved universities and colleges, according to Raymond Walters, president of the University of Cincinnati. Nearly one-half of the institutions reporting in this country-wide poll expect as many students or more for the coming academic year as last year. Although prospects are improved, there is almost certain to be a material decrease in the total collegiate enrollment, especially in state universities.

Light Rain Falls

Wayne received 2 of an inch of rain early Monday morning. The amount was heavier southeast, and no rain fell in the west part of the county.

Wealth of Region Combines With Talent To Produce Most Outstanding Entertainment Features.

IRRIGATION WOULD TURN UNCERTAINTY INTO SURE THING

TO BE SURE of sufficient returns on all crops during every year it would seem that Nebraska farmers will have to be able to resort to irrigation—irrigation from wells or running streams. Rainfall does not always come in time to prevent damage. Moisture is sectional. It falls on some areas and misses others. Rain at a critical juncture is too uncertain, and so bright prospects frequently prove disappointing. Some kind of irrigation as a safeguard would prevent a lot of worry.

Early Resident Dies at Winside

Mrs. Carrie Stamm Passes Away Early Wednesday Morning at Home.

Mrs. Carrie Stamm, resident of Wayne county nearly half a century, died suddenly at her home in Winside Wednesday morning about 3 o'clock, aged 80 years. Funeral rites in charge of Gaebler & Neely were not definite Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Stamm and her husband, the late Eric Stamm, sr., were natives of Sweden and came to this country in 1893, locating at Hoskins. Mr. Stamm died at Winside, February 19, 1935, several years after the couple had moved there from the farm.

Surviving Mrs. Stamm is one daughter, Minnie, now Mrs. Iver Andersen of Hoskins, and one son, Eric Stamm of Hoskins. There are several grandchildren and great grandchildren.

Plan Many Booths

The 17 women's project clubs will have booths demonstrating the six lessons which have been conducted the past year. The 30 clubs for 4-H young folks will have about 28 booths. Both these displays will be in the hall at the west edge of the grounds, the same location as last year. Prizes will be awarded down 15 places in the 4-H booths. Project club booths will be awarded ribbons but no prizes, though each receives $3 expense money. Mrs. Walter Chase, Stanton, judges August 17 for 4-H and project club booths. She will pass on the home economics 4-H project Monday. She also judges the 4-H style show, winners of which will be presented before the grandstand Tuesday evening.

Light Rain Falls

Wayne received 2 of an inch of rain early Monday morning. The amount was heavier southeast, and no rain fell in the west part of the county.

Exhibits at Wayne county fair August 17 to 20 promise to display a wealth of resources and rich talent, according to Agent Chet Walters who is in charge of this division of the festival. Saturday is entry day and all exhibits are to be in place by 9:30 Sunday morning. Those having livestock are urged to enter Saturday as judging in that department starts Sunday morning at 7:30.

Though some crops will not be matured sufficiently for satisfactory exhibits, all displays will face this same handicap. Good crops should, however, enable precincts to have outstanding displays. Eight precincts plan booths in agricultural hall. Harry Samuelson has charge for Sherman precinct, Levi Roberts for Deer Creek, Melvin Sabs and Alden Dunklau for Wilbur, Luther Bard for Logan, E. W. Lundahl for Hunter, Leonard Pospishil for Strahan, Dale Brugger, Owen Jenkins and Al Thomas for Chapin, Wm. Roggenbach and Paul Splitterger for Plum Creek. Placings awarded the booths depend on the number of classes filled and the total number of entries, so the chairman will all to help in these displays. The precinct displays will be judged Monday and Tuesday by O. J. Lohr, Ashland. Mr. Lohr will be in Burt county Sunday.

Also in the agricultural hall will be horticulture, farm produce, women's sewing, domestic products and fine arts. Mr. Lohr will judge the agricultural products, also the poultry and pet stock which will be housed in the usual hall. Mr. Lohr has served several years as judge. Mrs. James McEachen, Lincoln, who has been here previously, will judge fine arts, domestic products and sewing Monday.

Hog Department Large. In the livestock department, the hog display will be outstanding again this year. The barns are full, a tent has been added and an extension provided. Cattle and horse entries are good. The county has 59 baby beavers in 4-H clubs, and about 40 will be at the fair. County Agent K. C. Fouts of Seward, has several times previously, will pass on the livestock. He judges 4-H hogs the morning of August 17. Lawrence Buller, Plainville, former 4-H member with Mr. Fouts, and on the university judging team, going to Fort Worth, Kansas City and Chicago, helps judge stock. He will pass on cattle, horses and sheep the first morning. Both Fouts and Buller will judge calves that afternoon. With a fourth increase in 4-H club enrollment, a proportionate increase is expected in club stock exhibits.

Plan Many Booths. The 17 women's project clubs will have booths demonstrating the six lessons which have been conducted the past year. The 30 clubs for 4-H young folks will have about 28 booths. Both these displays will be in the hall at the west edge of the grounds, the same location as last year. Prizes will be awarded down 15 places in the 4-H booths. Project club booths will be awarded ribbons but no prizes, though each receives $3 expense money. Mrs. Walter Chase, Stanton, judges August 17 for 4-H and project club booths. She will pass on the home economics 4-H project Monday. She also judges the 4-H style show, winners of which will be presented before the grandstand Tuesday evening.

The county's champion 4-H demonstration team will be picked for a free trip to club week in Lincoln next spring. The winner also competes for state fair honors. Teams entered are the following: Donna Harder and Bonnie Kabisch, Sew'n So, hair shampoo; Helen Wylie and Phyllis Baird, Peppy Pals, sandwiches; Alan Daniels (Continued on Page Two)

Puerto Rico Is Interesting and Attractive Spot

Miss Virginia Troutman thanked her lucky stars one of her Puerto Rican pupils had spent a year in New York, when she went there to teach just a year ago with absolutely no training in Spanish. A Wayne county girl whose home is near Winside, Miss Troutman, having a two-year teaching certificate from Wayne State Teachers college, decided "if she was ever going to get out and see things now was the time." Her first step was securing information from the department of interior, after which she made application with the bureau of education in Puerto Rico. It was more than a year before she received her appointment and sailed from New York City August 10 with 20 other American teachers bound for schools in Puerto Rico.

Miss Troutman was sent to Arecibo, a seaside town of 15,000 inhabitants mostly by peoples of the West Indies race, which constitutes a mixture of Spanish, Negro and Indian blood. In her classes Virginia had everything from black to white and all the shades in between; Indian characteristics are predominant, however, and the Spanish influence evident.

The town, except for its three fine schools—intermediate, junior high and senior high—can boast nothing of the substantial splendor of a city that size here in the United States. Many living conveniences are lacking; sanitation is poor and play grounds inadequate. Only half the children of school age can afford to attend and it is necessary that all wear uniforms. Otherwise parents would send them to school barefoot and in rags.

More than a thousand students dressed alike in navy trousers or skirts and tan blouses make quite an impressive picture. The children have even less primitive ideas about amusements; they "are crazy about picture shows, of which there are four in Arecibo, baseball, basketball and modern dancing.

Miss Troutman's school had a good American ring to its name. It was called "Jefferson" and had an American superintendent. She was to teach the 6th grade. A new teaching plan had been instituted the term Virginia arrived. Children had two class sessions for each subject taught. That is arithmetic instruction in the morning by a Spanish native teacher was repeated in the afternoon in English by one of the American teachers. Pupils thus got a double dose of everything and it was sometimes difficult to get responses from them in a lesson they had already had in Spanish. They would contend, "they had already learned that!" It was even more exasperating to a teacher to say, "come here" and to be confronted by a blank little face that showed no understanding of the command. That's why the little boy with previous English training in a New York school was such a life saver. There was an official interpreter in the building but a juvenile version proved to be much more handy. Before the 10 months of school were over the children had no difficulty understanding Miss Troutman and she had picked up a smattering of their own jargon. She says the wealthier children who attend a Catholic school there, taught by American sisters, speak English very precisely and very well. Her children's English, though understandable, was a bit meagre in participles and verb tenses.

Living conditions, food and climate were all new experiences. The temperature stays at a comfortable 76 degrees the year round and nights are always cool. Miss Troutman believes she'll take a tropical climate any day to this summer's Nebraska heat.

Christmas was celebrated a little different there; one of the outstanding differences was enjoying a roast pig cooked whole over an open grate at a holiday picnic. Cooking wasn't the cleanest type but some of the dishes proved tempting. Virginia's favorite is ground meat soaked in olive oil and wrapped in banana leaves! Rice and beans are the staple foods. Sugar cane, pineapple, tobacco, bananas, oranges and grapefruit are principal crops. Tariff restrictions prevent marketing of citrus fruits in the United States, unless there is a crop failure here. News of a damaging freeze in United States citrus centers is good news to Puerto Ricans.

Newest single enterprise in Puerto Rico is taking care of American soldiers who have been "coming and coming" by the thousands since the first of the year. Large air bases have already been built on the island. Tourist trade was also better than usual due to fact that people had to be content with winter vacations on American islands. For a while the "S. S. America," biggest United States luxury liner, stopped there every week.

Miss Troutman took some interesting side trips. At Easter time she visited the Virgin islands and an interesting little island called St. Croix which appears to have a Danish influence. Religion there is Lutheran instead of Catholic, which prevails in most of the islands. The ironical island is a strange setting for a "little bit of Denmark."

Some of the American teachers liked living in Puerto Rico and some hated it. Miss Troutman was one of those who liked it very much. Although she will teach in Winside this year, Miss Troutman hopes to return to Puerto Rico before very long.

Pioneer Doctor Of Wayne Dies

course at Ann Arbor, Mich. He affiliated with Phi Delta Theta and had a few years ago been given recognition by the fraternity for 50 years' membership.

Dr. Blair started his practice of medicine in Sioux City 56 years ago. After six years there he went to Correctionville, Ia., where he remained three years. He then exchanged practice with a Wayne doctor and came here in 1894. He had practiced here since, though he had been less active in recent years.

Dr. Blair and Miss Ida Williams were married at Amboy, Ill., August 14, 1889, and the couple observed their golden anniversary two years ago today.

In addition to his practice, Dr. Blair was active in the community. He served as county physician in 1895, also in 1908 and 1909. For about 25 years he was secretary of the Methodist church board and for a long period he was pension examiner, his services being highly commended always. He had been on the library board and resigned this office 24 years ago when Mrs. Blair was named librarian. Dr. Blair also served on the school board.

Surviving Dr. Blair are his wife, two daughters, Helen, now Mrs. G. F. Hodgson of Sterling, Colo., and Alice, now Mrs. W. M. Hawkins of Heron Lake, Minn., and one son, Harold Blair of Lincoln. Mrs. Hodgson was unable to come to the rites because of illness. There are four grandchildren, Betty Hawkins, now Mrs. Jack Morgan of Lincoln, Billie Hawkins of Minneapolis, John and Sarah Ann Hawkins of Heron Lake. He leaves one sister, Mrs. C. S. Peters of Alhambra, Cal., one brother, William Blair of Oklahoma City, besides nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers were J. T. Bressler, Jr., A. T. Claycomb, P. L. Marsh, Dr. T. B. Heckert, Prof. O. H. Bowen and L. W. Ellis, the first three being fraternity brothers.

Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Hawkins, John and Sarah Ann of Heron Lake, Harold Blair and Mrs. Jack Morgan of Lincoln, and Dr. Dewey of Coleridge, were here from a distance for the rites. Dr. Hawkins and John left Sunday. The Lincoln folks went Sunday, and Mrs. Hawkins and Sarah Ann remained this week.

Alaska Vacation Trip Refreshing And Interesting

A 12-day ocean cruise to Alaska was the very interesting and refreshing vacation enjoyed by Mrs. Mae Young of this city, who embarked from Seattle July 18, with her sister, Miss Wilma Gildersleeve, and two friends from Omaha, and arrived home last Thursday. The group, who bought their tickets in Omaha, traveled the Great Northern railways out and stopped at Glacier National park, before sailing north from the Washington port on a "Northland" transport steamer. The S. S. North Coast was a combination passenger liner and freight carrier, which stopped at all the large fishing centers along the way and took on great loads of that product which now serves as the "gold" of Alaska. In the six-week "hauling" season, fishermen make from $800 to $1,000 a week. Mrs. Young was amused at the stubborn independence of the "unhired" fish loaders on the boat who would stop loading at an appointed hour and wait till the next day, even if they had only a half hour's more work at that particular port. This would delay the ship sometimes 24 hours in a rather odious port. In fact two more days were taken than planned on, a situation which was distressing to some easterners on the cruise who had budgeted their vacation time.

The steamer hugged close to the Canadian shore of British Columbia both ways, this being necessitated by its commercial activities. Only once did it venture out into the ocean proper and passengers sensed greater roughness, immediately, although Mrs. Young says their ship was supposed to ride more smoothly because of its very heavy cargo. The ship averaged only 12 miles an hour and at first she was bothered by the faster, lighter Canadian steamers that seemed to be forever passing up the American ship.

Juneau and Sitka, Alaska, were the northernmost points reached by the boat. The capital was moved from Sitka to Juneau in the 90's, and both cities, though over 5,000 in population and considerably higher up in a state of civilization and business sections, maintain a frontier atmosphere with their plank board streets and dwellings of log. Natives explain that pavement would buckle and a crack because of fact that the towns are built on a swamp and raise some times averages 120 inches a year.

This accounts for the "lush" aspect of their short growing season. It is not uncommon to see blue delphinium standing as high as the houses. The gardens are profuse in the residence section and characterized by great brilliancy and variety. Driving through these sections Mrs. Young was puzzled by the prevalence of washings hanging on front porches. She decided people were attempting to shelter the drying wash from constant drenching rains.

Historical significance of Alaska has a Russian flavor. At Sitka there is magnificent old "onion topped" church; at Juneau a hotel called the Baranoff, built in a sumptuous fashion reminiscent of the old czar days. Mrs. Young was also impressed by a Pioneer's Home for old people at Sitka where old frontiersmen are comfortably taken care of. Sheldon Jackson Presbyterian missionary school at Sitka was of particular interest to her, because for years in her church work here she had heard of and visualized the settlement. A point of great scenic interest was the famous Mendenhall glacier near Juneau. The vacationers traveled by car to the spot and it was then that Mrs. Young noticed the scarcity of good inland highways. People there still consider waterways the best mode of travel. For business airplanes are taking the place of the railways which hardly had a chance for development before the airways superseded them.

Alaska brings to mind at first mention totem poles and midnight suns. Asked about these two well-known characteristics, Mrs. Young told of passengers reading on deck till 11 o'clock in the evening and getting up at 4 to make short sight seeing trips in broadest day light. The totem poles have been commercialized beyond significance. They stand in front of every store building and many of the white people's homes. A totem pole really professes a "Darwinian" conception of life as the symbols are supposed to show the evolution of man from animal.

Coming back the ship stopped at Prince Rupert, a city in the Canadian province of British Columbia where the famous China shod, "Max Hultbroner's," is located. Although the party was not allowed to visit American naval bases on Puget sound and in the Alaska region, Mrs. Young was extremely aware of the vast amount of activity in defense preparations there. She became acquainted with a family from New Jersey going to Sitka to live where their father was a naval officer. The government is building a great number of small homes in that region to accommodate the influx of navy families.

Mrs. Young noticed the heat considerably on her return. Although the sun shone very hard and very long in Alaska, cool ocean air always necessitated a wrap at least part of the day. Seattle was suffering with the heat, temperature there being 106 the day she left. On her return Mrs. Young stopped to visit her daughter, Mrs. William Nelson of North Platte. She told how she had been surprised to read in a St. Petersburg, Alaska, paper that two Nebraska girls had been elected to teach there next year. One of them taught at Norfolk last year and was a friend of Mrs. Nelson who also instructed in Norfolk before her marriage.

Little Mr. Sherry Has Lucky Escape In Fall from Car

Though little Donald Daryl Sherry may feel that cement burns are not pleasant, he is a mighty lucky little fellow to have escaped without more serious injury Sunday when he fell from the Dan Sherry car.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherry were riding about town Sunday evening, Donald in the back seat of the car and Mr. and Mrs. Sherry in front, the latter holding the baby, Donald, who will be 3 in October, had been warned many times not to touch car door knobs. The parents had taken special precaution to lock both back doors of their sedan.

In his childish investigation Donald had evidently touched the lock so as to open the door. Mrs. Sherry saw him fall and tried to grab him. But the wind caught the door and pulled it open. Fortunately the car was going very slowly and Donald suffered only cement burns on the left side.

Perhaps Donald feels that he has had a double share of ill luck for he is just recovering from a gash on the head, the result of being cut by a nail when playing in the garage at home.

Growth in Silent City Keeping Pace With That in Town

The growth of Greenwood cemetery, Wayne's "silent" city at the west edge of town, has kept pace with the increase in the local population during the past 10 years. Wayne's population increased from 2,215 in 1930 to 2,769 in 1940, the average growth being 55.4 persons a year. Greenwood cemetery increased by 56 from April, 1940, to April, 1941. This average of over 50 has been maintained for the decade.

In the "silent" city are now buried 2,113, with 115 in the Catholic cemetery, 582 in the new addition and 1,416 in the original plot.

Though statistics are not definite, it is estimated that 560 burials were made in Greenwood between 1890 and 1908. Probably the heaviest toll was taken in 1917-18, during the influenza epidemic, when 88 joined the city whose souls now number about four-fifths the population of Wayne.

Planting of Wheat Is Under Consideration

Wheat supply, shortage of storage and crop failure are factors which the Wayne county AAA committee asks farmers to consider before planting wheat for 1942 harvest. Those planting within AAA allotments are not affected by marketing quotas, are eligible for AAA wheat loans, are better able to store grain on their farms and get the greatest benefits from crop insurance, according to T. P. Roberts.

Wheat marketing quotas have already been proclaimed for next year, states Clarence Bard. A quota is now in effect on 1941 wheat as a result of the 81 per cent approval voted in a referendum May 21. A date for the 1942 referendum will be set in the spring as soon as the condition of the 1942 crop can be determined.

Purpose of the marketing quota, Mr. Roberts explains, is to divide a limited market equitably among all growers and to protect wheat prices and income by keeping part of the surplus off the market until needed.

Home from Hospital.
Mrs. Val Darling left a local hospital Wednesday last week after recovering from a major operation. She is staying in the Mrs. Emma Denbeck home.

Friendly Neighbor Club.
Friendly Neighbor club met Friday afternoon in the Harry Kinder home. Plans were made for a booth at the fair and the annual picnic. The picnic will be held Sunday in the Wayne park. After contests, luncheon was served by the hostess.

Taken to Hawthorne.
G. Alvin Swinney was taken by Sheriff J. H. Pile Saturday afternoon to the men's reformatory at Hawthorne where he will serve one year in a suit filed by Russell Larson against the youth. Larson Saturday morning got a judgement for $82.40.

Lamb Club Meets.
Wayne lamb club met August 6 in the John Dunklau home with Walter Tolman, extension specialist from Lincoln, present. Mr. Tolman demonstrated how lambs should be blocked and shown, also how to make satisfactory blankets for lambs from old sacks. Discussion followed. Checks for wool were distributed to members of the Woolly Wilbur club. Mrs. Dunklau served luncheon.

Three Vacancies Will Be Filled

Third congressional district of Nebraska will be entitled to send two midshipmen to Annapolis naval academy and one to West Point military academy in 1942, according to Congressman Karl Stefan, who will make appointments to fill vacancies due to graduation. Nominations will be announced soon after next January.

Eligible candidates for these nominations, in addition to being actual residents of Third congressional district, must, in the case of the naval academy, be not less than 17 years of age and not more than 21 on April 1 of the calendar year in which they undertake to enter the academy. In case of the military academy candidates must not be less than 17 or more than 22. Candidates for the military academy become ineligible on the day they become 22 years of age.

To be eligible candidates must have graduated from high school or be assured of graduation not later than the spring of 1942. High school graduates who have also completed one or more years of college or university work will find the additional academic preparation of considerable value in meeting entrance tests and in pursuing the training following admission to either academy.

Mr. Stefan will make the nominations on a purely competitive basis and the preliminary competition will be initiated by a congressional designation examination conducted by the United States civil service commission October 4, 1941. This is solely an examination to determine the comparative qualifications of candidates for the purpose of enabling the congressman to make nominations of principals and alternates on the basis of qualifications. Nominees will subsequently be called upon to present themselves for physical and mental tests precedent to actual admission.

At all times between now and September 8, 1941, Mr. Stefan will be glad to receive written applications of young men who possess the above mentioned qualifications coupled with a desire to enter the naval or military academy. The initial application, which must be made by September 8, will be to participate in the competitive congressional designation examinations and each applicant should definitely state the academy of his choice.

All applications and requests for further information should be addressed to Karl Stefan, 1017 House office building, Washington, D. C.

Conservation Work Is Making Progress

Preparation for fall seeding on farms of cooperators and mapping further soil conservation work in Stanton and Wayne county districts are occupying attention of Winside CCC camp technicians and enrollees.

On the Herm. H. Fress farm one diversion terrace was recently constructed and waterways were bladed prior to seeding. One waterway is to be used for a future terrace outlet.

Waterways are being bladed and prepared for seeding to brome and alfalfa on the David Rees farm. On the Thomas McGuire and L. D. McGuire farms in Cumis county, operated by F. V. McGuire, waterways are also being seeded to brome and alfalfa after blading. Check dams were constructed in one gully on the L. D. McGuire place.

Paul Splittgerber is preparing waterways for seeding, these having been bladed by the camp. One small diversion ditch was constructed to protect a stock lane. Blading waterways before fall seeding is progressing on the Harry Albers farm near Altona.

The camp has made fence changes on the Thomas McGuire, L. D. McGuire, Paul Splittgerber, Wm. Willers and Herman Willers farms. The fence changes were made to improve contour tillage operations or to enclose land to be used for permanent brome and alfalfa pastures for farm stock.

Trees and shrubs planted by the camp are being weeded for the second time.

Nimble Thimble Fingers.
Nimble Thimble Fingers 4-H club met August 8 in the Paul Broeker home at Carroll with Donna Broeker and Marian Wacker hostesses. After a demonstration on the fit of a garment, dresses were judged. The club elected as officers for next year Marilyn Isom president, Eleanor Smith vice president, Dorothy Ann Rethwisch secretary-treasurer, Dottie Reed reporter. Guests were Mildred Kenny, Margaret Dalton and Mrs. Geo. Wacker.

Have Picnic Sunday.
A family picnic was held Sunday at the Wayne park honoring Mr. and Mrs. Obert Echtenkamp of Portland, Ore., who are leaving Saturday after visiting here two weeks. Other guests were W. H. Echtenkamp, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Echtenkamp and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Echtenkamp and family, the last of Belden, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Miller and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Racherbaumer and family, Mr. and Mrs. August Longe, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hageman, Mr. and Mrs. Amos Echtenkamp and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Echtenkamp and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Longe and family and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Longe and family.

Catch at Bemidji May Prove Winner In Fish Contest

A real fish story that's true comes home from Bemidji, Minn., where Supt. F. B. Decker, Dr. L. F. Perry, Charles Hager of Waterville, Kan., and Merle Lyon of Lincoln, spent last week. It seems that Bemidji is conducting a contest among fishermen this season. The four men found their luck extra good and on one occasion Mr. Decker landed a wall-eye pike that weighed 5 1/2 pounds. The usual weight for these fish is 2 to 3 pounds. Owner of the resort at which the men stayed entered the fish in the city's contest, which has not yet closed, and the catch was on display in Bemidji one day. Indications lead the party to think that the Decker fish may be a winner.

The vacationers spent one day in Canada, visiting International Falls, Fort Francis and crossing Rainy river by ferry. In Canada the men found that one easily determines that that country is at war. Posters about enlistment, etc., are prevalent, and newspapers play up war stories. Canadians are very optimistic.

The fact that many articles in stores are higher than in this country is also a likely result of the war. The men were looking for trinkets for their children and found that items that are usually 10c here are 15c and 20c in Canada. An interesting sight in International Falls is the vast paper industry. Miles and miles of pine, balsam and other woods cut and ready to be converted into paper, insulation and other paper products are unusual to view. Vast mills there turn out quantities each day.

The party visited Baxter Boe, formerly of Wayne, at International Falls and reports Mr. Boe nicely established in his own creamery. A new home just completed by the Boe family was shown the visitors.

The men spent most of the week at Pine Haven resort 10 miles north of Bemidji and arrived home Sunday.

The College Comptroller Fred As An Asset

Anderson of the state normal board, who was among members of that body introduced at the noon-day meeting of the Kiwanis club Monday, felicitated the community on possession of the college.

When Comptroller Fred mentioned the college as an asset to Wayne we wonder if his hearers involuntarily snatched this from the vernacular of the street: "Is he telling us?" Wayne knows the value of the college and knows how it happened to be brought here. Let us take a retrospective look.

J. M. Pile, human dynamo, who founded the old Nebraska college as a private institution, had passed away in 1909. The community then got behind a movement to persuade the state to buy the school. It was back in the legislative session of that year when Phil Kohl, then of Wayne, was a member of the state senate, that a bill was introduced in the house by Adam Pilger of Stanton, providing for purchase of the school. But for already having a state institution, Norfolk would have been a dangerous rival. Fremont, with a private school on its hands, looked on wistfully and threateningly.

The late Henry Ley, John T. Bressler and James Britton camped on the trail of the legislature during most of the session to flank Phil Kohl in pressing Wayne's claim. Finally the bill was passed with an appropriation of $70,000. An additional sum of $10,000 was needed to buy the school, and the amount was promptly contributed by the Wayne business district. It was said Governor Schallenberger was inclined to veto the measure, but was persuaded not to do so by Mr. Kohl and the other Wayne representatives.

The state has improved the property in accordance with the demands of the territory it serves, and benefits accruing to ambitious young persons must reasonably be accepted as justifying the investment. The sometimes too parsimonious policy of the legislature in making appropriations needed for maintenance hinders greatest possible development. The town, on the ground, knows what it has and how it was acquired.

Soon to Resume

SCHOOLS and colleges will soon resume for another year's study. Are teachers smart enough to break down barriers of misunderstanding between them and their student charges? The boy is perhaps the special problem. He thinks he doesn't care whether he learns or not. The teacher discerns an indifference which is unwittingly cultivated. The teacher grows to dislike his attitude. The chasm of ill will increases. Both are hindered and hurt. Remember, the most precocious and smilingly obedient student who is coddled may rank at the bottom in later life. The one who is seemingly backward and the butt of critical observations may be the fellow from whom teachers and fellow-students will need help in years to follow.

The knack of understanding human values and of knowing how to lead them to grow wholesomely transcends in importance any diploma equipment. It is no easy experience for a student of independent spirit to trail the command of teacher leadership whose aversion is clearly sensed. It is not difficult for an unbiased teacher of broad vision and noble intentions to turn a naturally rebellious disposition into one of mutually helpful compliance. In teacher fitness, common sense may well be stressed above proofs of scholarship.

Installment Buying

IT IS REPORTED that the president proposes to act on the basis of an old world war statute to curb installment buying in order to discourage using things needed for defense, to head off inflationary tendencies and to bolster up post-defense activities. It is apparently figured in the last reason that in holding back non-defense production, a stimulated demand for "consumers' durable goods" will follow war preparations and prevent a subsequent let-down in industry and labor. While extension of credit may have been abused at times, it is patent that many needed improvements and conveniences have been secured through the payment policy. Imposing such self-denial will unavoidably curtail the trade volume of small businesses and small industries not engaged in turning out war equipment. If they survive these restraints, they will enjoy the fruits of spirited buying when peace has been restored and industry and labor have come back to normal. In the meantime, they will try to look pleased.

Some preliminary side lights are being thrown on the republican senatorial contest next year, and danger of serious rifts in party leadership are hinted. It should not be forgotten that the republican party scored a majority position in this and neighboring states on account of disagreement over new deal policies, and no rival personal ambitions should be allowed to threaten well defined principles. Let those inclined to enter the hustings for political preferment do so in a spirit of friendly competition and without losing sight of or jeopardizing the real issues which will grow more instead of less vital to the foundation on which party success may rest secure.

Latest report concerning Senator Geo. W. Norris' political future is that he will run again to succeed himself—the next time as a democrat. For a long time he used the republican vehicle. The last time he ran as an independent. He evidently does not want to seem partial to any one means of conveyance.

While the Christian Science Monitor is for all possible assistance to Great Britain in its fight against nazism, it declares that the administration should deal frankly regarding the national menace and that "congress should exercise its full constitutional authority in the formulation of national policy."

In the trials and uncertainties of the period, Representative Joe Martin, republican house leader, raises his voice to save small businesses which he rightly regards of vital importance to the country.

Wages or salaries are high or low, according to viewpoints. It is not so much what one receives that counts, but how well he manages and how successful he is in keeping out of the red.

The Omaha Journal-Stockman observes that any well-balanced federal price-fixing program to prevent inflation would have to "include industrial wages as well as farm prices."

The nazi-communist conflict has also become a gigantic lying match—a contest in seeing which side can tell the biggest and most plausible falsehood.

Expressions of mid-summer animation: Making pledges and then breaking them; doing the wrong thing and then trying to dodge the consequences.

What Is Freedom?

The following, written by Miss Hazel Parker for the Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal, is regarded a classic in newspaper-circles:

From the archives of broken peace we are bringing out old words and dusting them off for use again as shining lanterns to lead us through the darkness of another war.

Words like freedom, justice and truth—all of them hard to define, none of them used more frequently than freedom.

You cannot say what freedom is, perhaps, in a single sentence. It is not necessary to define it. It is enough to point to it.

Freedom is a man hitting a gate latch at dusk and sitting for a while on the porch, smoking his pipe, before he goes to bed.

It is the violence of an argument outside an election poll; it is the righteous anger of the pulpits.

It is the warm laughter of a girl on a park bench.

It is the rush of a train over the continent and the unafraid faces of people looking out the windows.

It is all the howdys in the world, and all the hellos.

It is Westbrook Pegler telling Roosevelt how to raise his children; it is Roosevelt letting them raise themselves.

It is Dorothy Thompson asking for war; it is Gen. Hugh S. Johnson asking her to keep quiet.

It is you trying to remember the words to The Star-Spangled Banner.

It is the sea breaking on wide sands somewhere and the shoulders of a mountain supporting the sky.

It is the air you fill your lungs with and the dirt that is your garment.

It is a man cursing all cops.

It is the absence of apprehension at the sound of approaching footsteps outside your closed door.

It is your hot resentment of intrigue, the tilt of your chin and the tightening of your lips sometimes.

It is all the things you do and want to keep on doing.

It is all the things you feel and cannot help feeling.

Freedom—it is you.

No Longer "as Usual."

Unwelcome, but inevitable is the imposition of government restrictions upon installment credit for the purchase of consumers' "durable goods." The same description applies to a lot of other restrictions which the country's little people will be called upon to bear.

We are beginning, at last, to learn what it means when we say that the nation cannot make itself the arsenal of democracy and at the same time carry on "business as usual."

Installment buying of cars, washing machines, furniture, radios and refrigerators is one manifestation of "business as usual." It has become an accepted part of our economic life. There are incidental faults in it, of course, but likewise much good. We have built the world's mightiest industrial structure on a foundation of mass consumption; and installment buying is one of the factors which has encouraged that kind of consumption.

But now the task is not to encourage, but rather the opposite. Instead of making it easy to buy the government will make it difficult. The stream of purchasing power must be diverted from channels which bring it into competition with the government's demand for strategic materials.

So "business as usual" goes out the window. And as it goes, the people have a right to ask: What about government as usual? Shall it go right on rolling along? Shall the sacrifice of our ordinary ways apply everywhere except in Washington? What about the unchecked stream of non-defense expenditures, as large this year as they were before the emergency—is government to go on spending at the old rates, while it demands that its people steadily cut down?

AFTER THE WAR.

Mark Sullivan, columnist, expresses some fear of what may happen to America's free order after the war. He quotes Wendell Willkie as condemning the new deal's thirst for power in the name of an emergency, though calls attention to Willkie's unqualified support of the administration's foreign policy. Sullivan reflects the fear of others who would avoid a "post-war collective state." In trying to combat fascism, nazism and communism abroad, uneasiness is felt lest, in the stress of reconstruction, some alien system is fastened on this country. While the immediate need is powerful military resistance, our economic welfare reinforced according to fundamental lines should not be overlooked. New dealers had moved in the direction of more centralized control long before defense demands appeared for attention, and with present tendencies—piling up indebtedness and threatening inflation—we will have to be on guard to escape an enlarged bureaucracy of increased powers. In the confusion following the war we do not want to lose what we have been arming to defend.

to constructive thinking and recreation, he might not be harmed. If he put in extra free hours to toiling indifferently and to thought of nothing but joy-riding and high-galling, he would seriously impair the human fiber. Further, we have never heard of anyone scoring outstanding success by cutting down hours and curtailing production.

Deeds Are Recorded.

Hiseox, August 8 for $1 and other consideration, lots 16 and 17, block 12, North addition to Wayne. Pays Court Fine.

Melvin Kolessa, Bloomfield, paid a fine of $5 Tuesday after pleading guilty before Police Judge G. A. Lamberson to charge of intoxication.

LOCAL NEWS

Miss Louise Kimmel will attend a conference on vocational home-making in Lincoln August 18, 19 and 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Karnetz of Austin, Minn., came Sunday and visited until today with Mrs. Karnetz' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Detlof Bahde.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Karnetz of Austin, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Detlof Bahde and Miss Leona Bahde spent Monday evening in the Ernest Bahde home at Wakefield. They spent Tuesday in the Irving Bahde home at Fremont, also stopping at Cedar Bluffs to visit in the Peter Bahde and John Lukker homes.

Mrs. F. E. Gamble, who had been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Robert Dreibus in Los Angeles, and Elwayne Fleetwood and Aldo Molinari who had been spending the summer in the west, arrived home Saturday by car. Frank Gamble remained to attend school four weeks longer. Mrs. Gilmore Day of North Hollywood, accompanied them to visit her parents, the Eph Beckenhauers.

Mrs. C. T. Carlson and family plan to return next week from New York where Miss Theodora and Phillip are attending Columbia university. Mrs. Carlson tells that an interesting trip taken was to Rockefeller center the whole court in front of which has become a veritable desert garden of cacti sent by the Mexican government. Plants range from tiny ones like marbles to enormous columns nearly 30 feet high. Seals in the pool are a rather incongruous addition to the scene.

THE RAILROADS.

Railroad unions have made demands for increased pay in excess of what the roads can stand, according to a report following a recent conference. The wage boost asked would total "more than the railroads have ever had in net income in one year and twice as much as all the net income that the railroads have had in the last ten years," according to a statement by Fred G. Gurley, speaking for the conference committee. Mr. Gurley concludes: "It is conceded that there is an increase in railroad business at the present time, with some resulting increase in net income, due, however, almost solely to additional business resulting from changing world conditions and our supreme national defense effort. No one knows how long these conditions will continue and no one knows what the additional costs of operation will be in handling this additional business or how high taxes will mount. Certain it is that the earnings of the American railroad worker are now the highest that they have ever been and this in spite of the struggle which the railroad industry has had in order to survive."

Washington, D. C., August 5, 1941.

The house passed the new tax bill after striking out the provisions for mandatory joint income tax return of husband and wife. Those who favored joint returns say it may mean that the $325,000,000 of revenue that this method of return would have produced will have to come from other sources—probably from those in the lower income brackets. The bill has now gone to the senate where many amendments will be added and the house bill is expected to be materially altered by the time the conference stage is reached. The final vote on the bill is not expected for many more weeks.

House leaders notified members that as soon as the draft extension bill is out of the way, three-day recesses will be in order for a time. Many members are already packing up preparatory to going home or on vacations.

The price control bill is not expected in the house until after Labor Day. That is about the time members are expected to be back in Washington in the absence of emergency. In the meantime, all members are subject to immediate recall to Washington.

The president's veto of the agricultural extension appropriation bill brought gloom to members whose states are affected by the veto. It means about $50,000 to Nebraska and the curtailment of much of the 4-H club activities. Due to loss of population, quite a few states have been hit because the extension funds are apportioned according to population. The veto message has been referred to the committee on agriculture. The chairman and members of that committee are conferring on what to do. Members from states not affected are not interested and there is doubt if the veto can be overridden in the house.

It cost $248 for Albert Engel of Michigan to investigate costs of construction of 13 army cantonments. He is the member who told congress that out of an expenditure of $800,000,000, about $250,000,000 has been wasted through inefficiency and rackets. His figures have not been disputed thus far. Engel was representing the committee on appropriations in his investigation.

A leading member of the committee on military affairs tells his colleagues that he does not believe we will send another A. E. F. He believes our industries will win the war for Great Britain. When asked about the Japanese situation, however, he says that is something different. Here in Washington the far-east situation is believed to be a tinder box.

Washington stores experienced such increases in silk hosiery sales that it became necessary to limit sales to a small number of pairs per person in order to spread the supply over as many customers as possible. Americans who know Japan realize that if American women boycotted silk hose Japan would be ruined economically.

Winter is not far off. Food experts predict much starvation throughout the world. Humanity everywhere is going to need much of the food that the United States has in abundance at the present time.

Czechs in Washington are celebrating the recognition of the Czech committee of Dr. Benes in London. They feel this will give the Czech legation in Washington improved standing. Heretofore, the state department felt that it could only recognize representatives of the old Czech republic. The new action gives the Czech provisional government located in London opportunity to co-ordinate its American activities.

Miss Marion McGill of Tekamah, Neb., is back in Washington after a harrowing experience following the torpedoing of the Dutch steamer Maasdam late last June. Miss McGill is one of 15 Red Cross nurses taken out of the chilly waters of the north Atlantic when the steamer was sunk. Her roommate and another girl were drowned. Talking to the Third district member, Miss McGill said she needs rest badly and will remain here with her brother, Kenneth McGill, for about a month. In the meantime, she is writing of her experience while they are still fresh in her mind. Miss McGill was received by the queen of England, Prime Minister Churchill, Lady Astor and many other notables in England. It was her second visit to the country. She says that London is not damaged as badly as she expected it to be but other cities are badly wrecked. The morale of the English people is wonderful. Food is still available in fair quantities but she fears that too much material is being lost by torpedo sinking. She hopes that the United States will not have to send men to Europe to fight, but hopes sufficient material will keep going to England and that it will get there safely. This Nebraska girl who was rescued from an icy grave is writ-

The Golden Text is: "Bless the Lord, O my soul; and all that is within me, bless his holy name" (Psalms 103:1).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And Jesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, Hear, O Israel; The Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength; this is the first commandment" (Mark 12:29, 30).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Dost thou love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind? This command includes much, even the surrender of all merely material sensation, affection, and worship. This is the El Dorado of Christianity. It involves the Science of Life, and recognizes only the divine control of Spirit, in which Soul is our master, and material sense and human will have no place" (p. 9).

Exhibit at Fair To Feature Bromes

Brome grass will be featured in the Wayne county soil conservation district exhibit of the county fair. The entire display will be made up of samples of threshed and short brome grass from different farms. Several farmers have to date given materials for the exhibit and other producers will submit samples of threshed seed brome. The fair, Norman Dinklage furnished all the threshed short brome. Threshed samples are provided by R. S. McGuire, Geo. Langenberg, Bartels Land and Improvement Co., Morris Schroeder, Jim Nielson, Hans Blocker, Walter Fenske. One of the most interesting fields of brome found to date in the county is a field on the farm operated by Morris Schroeder near Hoskins. The field was seeded in 1898 by the grandfather of the present operator. At that time it was planted on rolling land to supplement a bluegrass-bottom land pasture. Since the first seeding, the field has been pastured continuously. During more recent drouth years the bluegrass has gradually died and been replaced by weeds. Seeds washed down from the hills onto the bottom land. These have taken root and this year, with periodic mowing of the weeds, the brome has taken over most of the bottom land. Mr. Schroeder did not realize the possibilities of seed production and has purchased seed for two other areas on the farm. This year for the first time a part of the pasture was fenced off for seed production. A surprising yield of 853 pounds of seed per acre resulted. Jim Nielson, also near Hoskins, has a field over 20 years old that is still producing heavily in both seed and pasture. Several other farms have stands of 10 years or longer. At later dates this fall reports will be published giving the experience of older brome producers in the county. All brome producers will be asked to register at the booth at the county fair. Effort is being made to complete a directory of brome producers by several agencies. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hager of Waterville, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Lyon and family of Lincoln, left for their homes Sunday evening after visiting in the Dr. L. F. Perry home. The men had been in Minnesota on a fishing trip.

Harvested Grass Makes Good Yield

Western wheat grass, recommended by the soil conservation service for newly seeded waterways and combined last week in Wayne county for the first time, was harvested by Clarence and Vernon Nelson on the Henry Peterson farm near Carroll. The yield on six acres, selected as best for seed, was 15 to 20 bushels to the acre.

Western wheat grass, according to CCC Camp Agronomist W. R. Harber, a native grass that has become dominant in some native pastures and meadows following drought years. Farmers' opinions vary as to its value for forage. The grass has about the same growing period as bromo but seems more drought resistant and forms a tougher sod than bromo. It is not palatable to livestock unless grazed early. The soil service recommends a mixture of wheat grass with bromo and alfalfa for newly seeded waterways.

Nelsons will clean the seed and secure purity and germination tests.

Thrill Features Booked For Fair

Outstanding Entertainment Is Provided in Annual Festival Program

Wayne county fair entertainment features for August 17 to 20 are packed with a variety of thrills, music and laughter to suit everyone's taste. Jimmie Lynch's Death Dodgers will play a return engagement. For a second time August 20 Wayne fair audiences will experience the excitement furnished by this high-gear, high-speed, raceway program which offers 22 events listed as follows: Precision driving, race of flaming death, blitz-crash, blazing slide for life, motor planing with a stock sedan, a deliberate crash roll over and the sensational dive bomber crash in mid-air. Whitey Face, star of the troupe and ex-Philadelphia fireman in all his daring stunts remains at the wheel of his stock sedan constantly. Fear of being pinned in the wreckage of an exploding car is unknown to him, although he has been pulled unconscious from one more times than he cares to admit, and has probably demolished more cars than can be found on most of the used car lots of average American communities.

Another pulse-quickening event offered this year is "Ricardo," who will balance precariously atop a 75-foot pole. A skillful acrobat, he is said to have the longest sway of any high act before the public. Kozak, famous wire artist, who had early training in Europe, will execute colorful feats such as pedaling an illuminated bicycle across the wire.

Ridiculous calamities ending in a joke will be furnished by the Randolph Trio whose falls provoke gales of laughter and whose talent for straight acrobatics has been converted to laughs worth a hundred thrills to persons who enjoy the humorous side of vaudeville the most.

Happy, Tom and Jerry offer another swift-moving performance with their acrobatic skating act. This lively good-looking trio was acclaimed enthusiastically by critics on the west coast where the troupe played recently.

"America Swings" is the large, colorful musical revue being featured this year on the grandstand program. Accompanied by a nine-piece band, the cast of this nicely paced production with smart costumes and routines is sure to win the quick approval of fair audiences.

Nationally known trampoline experts performing this year will be the Monroe Brothers. Here is another act combining thrills with fun for the Brothers mingle many novel stunts with their bounding routines. Humorous surprises galore characterize this act.

More Paint Used Centuries Ago

Four Huskies Required to Replace What Tiny Junk Man Hauls Off

Two hundred years ago the women of San Diego used more paint on their faces, wore longer hair and shorter skirts. They were Indians. And of course San Diego was no city then.

A junk collector, weighing 120 pounds, lifted onto a wheelbarrow a piece of steel weighing over 600 pounds. It took four husky policemen to replace the "junk."

Children under 70 will be admitted to the Sunset of Life picnic at Long Beach only when accompanied by their parents. Mrs. Margaret Legg, official hostess, is 91.

Four-year-old Johnny Robinson visualized his mother's washing machine as an army tank and clambered aboard. He flipped levers, pushed buttons until... The lid hopped down, the cylinder began to revolve and Johnny went "round and round." His muffled screams brought his mother running, but the machine's controls were jammed and Johnny went "round and round." Police came to the rescue; Johnny was unhurt, but only 50-0-0-0-0-0-0-0-0-0.

"Mighty hot night," thought Roy Dudgey as he sped along the highway with his truckload of hay. "It's hot for me," he exclaimed as he hastily pulled the truck off the highway and hot-footed it to the nearest telephone to call the fire department. Dudgey's hay was on fire.

Two brothers and a sister are planning to have a family reunion soon. They are Mrs. Cecil Harris, John LeGrand and Robert Leg-band. Mrs. Harris and John LeGrand have not seen Robert in 22 years. When they were very young their mother died. They were separated when they went to live with relatives. Robert did not even know he had a brother and sister until he started checking up on his birth records.

Roy Ledford, Oklahoma City taxi driver, felt uneasy when he permitted a passenger with a dog. "That'll be an extra fare for the dog," Ledford said, when he pulled up at the passenger's destination. "Keep the dog for yourself," was the fare's answer, as he stepped out of the car and walked away.

Exasperated because her key wouldn't unlock the car door, Mrs. Lorena Powers of Kansas City forced the ventilating section of the front window and unlocked it from the inside. Then the ignition key wouldn't work. While she was counting to 10 she spotted her car three stalls down.

Primary day in Waukegan, Ill., presents a tremendous problem for Mrs. Owen Kilbane, who must choose between her 35-year-old twin sons, both of whom are running for mayor. Harry is running on the republican ticket and Frank on the democratic. Agreeing on everything but politics, the brothers operate a tearoom and candy store.

Mrs. Gertrude Chamberlain of Kansas City, frustrated, a purse snatcher by screaming and dropping to the sidewalk—on top of her pocketbook. Her assailant ran, too, then fled. "If I'd had a nice long napkin," mused imaginative Mrs. Chamberlain.

Mrs. Mildred Fulkerson, with her car stalled on a crossing in front of an approaching train at Denver, stood at a safe distance and awaited the crash. The crash came, but it only loosened a front bumper and dented the fenders. Two men had hurriedly pushed the automobile almost out of the way and vanished before Mrs. Fulkerson could thank them.

The longest coffin made at Scranton, Pa., is only six feet six inches so the funeral of Lawrence Szypulski had to be postponed until a special one arrived from New York. It was six feet eight inches tall.

Vincent Kasil, 55, of Detroit, nervously paced the recorder's court bullpen while awaiting trial for intoxication. He began chewing paper. Some of it lodged in his throat. Ten minutes later he was dead, from suffocation.

The story of how a farmer had to cut off his wife's finger to save her hand came to light. Mrs. Iva Roseberry accidentally caught her hand in the power lift of a corn cultivator she was operating. It was impossible to release the hand without crushing other fingers so her husband took off one finger. The lady is recovering nicely.

How MANY TELEPHONE CALLS TO A TANK?

Nobody has ever counted the telephone calls that go into making a tank, but there are a great many.

The faster tanks and other defense equipment are produced, the more the telephone is used. In every step from mine to machine, the telephone helps get things done more quickly and efficiently.

The telephone's part in national defense goes beyond providing service for military establishments. Much of the tremendous demand for service has come from the many thousands of industries that are making military materials. Much of this is due to the general expansion of business and increased employment, particularly in larger cities.

We are meeting promptly and fully the enormous national defense needs for telephone service and at the same time taking extraordinary measures to minimize as much as possible the restrictive effect of defense needs upon telephone service generally.

Never stir 7-Up, nor fizz, nor shake. Drink from the bottle or pour gently on the side of the glass and enjoy a real thirst drink.
