Farm Prices Higher Than in Four Years

Lincoln, September 1 - Farm prices on August 15 reached the highest level in four years and for the fifth consecutive month registered gains. State-Federal Statistics A. E. Anderson said today. Since March, prices have advanced 26 points, his report on parity prices showed. Commodity prices were 38 points higher than a year ago and three points over prices on July 15. Wheat, hogs, cattle and calves led the rise with slight increases noted in prices of corn, rye, milk, and hay. Grain prices went four points over the previous month, due principally, Anderson said, to a six cent increase in wheat. Wheat averaged 91 cents compared with 85 cents in August, 1940. Corn and rye were up one and two cents to 63 and 44 cents, respectively. White oats and barley were both down two cents each. Meat animals showed a gain of five points. Cattle and calves prices advanced 50 and 40 cents, respectively, and were at the highest level for August since 1929. Hog prices were up 29 cents, but sheep and lambs declined 20 cents each. Dairy products, however, registered decreases, sagging five points below the July 15 figure. A slight decline in poultry products was also noted.

Many Kinds of Intemperance

BRUCE Barton says intemperance is not restricted to over-indulgence in alcohol. It also means any excess that upsets digestion, disturbs blood pressure and frays the nerves.

"To discover your private form of intemperance is a task that requires searching self-analysis. The old monastic habit of a periodic 'examination of conscience' would undoubtedly benefit the least and the greatest among us.

Even if the rich do not lose their possessions and suffer the pains of disappointment, they are no better off, no more content, than persons in moderate circumstances with less responsibility.

We are told that lawmakers have their ears close to the ground and listen carefully to the whisperings of public sentiment. Of course the judgment of a member of the house or senate should be more completely advised and more nearly in accord with the popular interest than that of persons who are not on the ground and who are unavoidably less conversant with the facts.

As to objections to opening the county fair Sunday, presented by contributors to today's Herald, we are wondering where proper observance begins or leaves off.

In his Labor day speech, President Roosevelt reminded labor unions of the hard sledding they would suffer if dictators could gain control. From the number of strikes that have interrupted production in defense-building industries, it is apparent that no group is more in need of being aroused to dangers than organized labor.

Excepting a comparatively small whining, self-pitying minority, Clare Booth, author, gives women credit for superior courage, determination and sympathy in war or in peace. In self-sacrifice, men may well be stimulated by examples set by members of the fair sex.

Attendance at the state fair is larger than it was last year—an evidence of improved conditions and better feeling. Also the entries are more numerous. Fair Secretary E. J. Millie said he concluded from talks with many farmers that agriculture has inspired new hope and courage.

Speaking of the resourcefulness and tough fiber of the American people, Jonathan Daniels says: "They are grand people in the stream of America. And the only people who should be afraid of them are those who have reason to fear their power."

It is inconceivable that nature or God would have in prospect for us a less desirable state than we would plan. In other words, we cannot reasonably figure that we are smarter than the Creator.

Totalitarian threats are not driving helpless subjects into battle for a better way of life. They are extending chains of dictatorship and trying to dominate the earth.

The reported number of dead and captured men and machines involved in the war in Russia would indicate that both sides are about exhausted.

The Goodrich Rubber company at Akron, Ohio, has been asked, with no answer, why rubber bounces. Why not for the same reason that iron doesn't bounce?

Labor Day. (Omaha Journal-Stockman)

Probably there is no nation-wide holiday so much observed and so little observed as Labor Day. It has come to be a day on which union labor goes on parade, holds picnics and listens to addresses by leaders and politicians. The day was originally designed to emphasize the dignity of all labor but it has gradually become a day particularly set apart for labor organizations, to set forth their power as well as their usefulness. It is a holiday peculiar to cities and industrial centers and neither observed nor appreciated in the smaller towns and rural districts. It is simply a union labor holiday but its importance grows as the nation becomes more and more industrialized. The real, deep significance of the day, however, must never be lost sight of.

The People Can Do It. (Norfolk Daily News)

Senator Byrd of Virginia is back in the tax discussion with a proposal, unpopular in congress, for a plan to cut taxes by reducing non-essential spending.

Let the budget bureau furnish estimates as to how savings of $1,000,000,000, $1,500,000,000 and $2,000,000,000 could be made, the senator urges.

"It is little short of outrageous," he argues, "to impose the burden of this tax bill upon the citizens of this country without at least a sincere attempt to reduce federal expenditures outside of essentially emergency items."

But every item of expense has become deeply entrenched and each has its support from groups of federal office holders whose pay depends on its continuance. Each, also, has its advocates among people who have an interest in it.

The only way, the senator rightly says, is to arouse the people to the danger of continued high spending, and this will be easier after the new tax bill has hit the pocketbook of the lower-bracket income group. They may wake up to the fact that they have an interest in federal economy, greater than in federal spending. When they realize this they may be able to make an impression upon congress.

Favors Slot Machine Tax. (Lincoln Journal)

Senator Clark of Missouri would tax slot machines out of existence. He suggested to the senate finance committee the other day that the taxing power be used to put them out of business. The senator told the committee of the prevalence of gambling on slot machines by school children in many cities. He especially made reference to the extent of slot machine gambling by juveniles in Kansas City. He led a fight before the committee to impose a tax of $200 per year on gambling machines of the slot variety. He would make the tax much lighter, ten dollars per year, on music boxes and games of amusement where the element of gambling does not enter. Among other things Senator Clark said:

"The racketeers who operate these machines won't dare fool with Uncle Sam. It will mean the end of the slot machine racket."

It has often been said that the power to tax is also the power to destroy. If that power can be used only against the things that are of no benefit whatever to society it may well be used. It is a dangerous weapon, however, to use wherever it affects legitimate business.

A distinction is made between merchandising and gambling machines. Many merchandising machines return value received for every coin deposited, and offer no unusual return. These, of course, are mere vending devices and have a place in merchandising. Slot machines have made millionaires by imposing a tax on those who believe they can win, even when the odds are against them. The odds are always against the customer when a gambling machine is operated. Otherwise it could not be operated at a profit.

Maj. Berry Makes a Point. (Omaha World-Herald)

"It has always been my feeling," said George L. Berry, president of the International Pressmen and Assistants Union, in his Labor day address in Omaha, "that there is an inescapable community of interest between the investor, management and labor because labor is compensated from the same source as investment and management, namely, the joint production of wealth."

Sometimes the point which Maj. Berry makes is a little hard to see. Perhaps the toiler, returning home from his hard day's work, reads in his evening paper that the parents of little Eleanor Van Snobb have just invested 30 thousand dollars or so in her coming-out party. Such items are very, very scarce — for riches have taken wings. But if something like that does happen naturally it gives the toiler something to think about as he fingers his day's pay. Is it fair? he asks himself. Is it even decent? Is that the way the world ought to be?

Maj. Berry knows the answer to such questions. It runs something like this: The American system of private enterprise, with all its faults and shortcomings, has produced the widest distribution of wealth, the highest standard of living, the largest field of opportunity ever enjoyed by any people on the face of the earth.

It isn't perfect or even close to perfection. There are a lot of heels in places of power and authority—both economic and political—and a lot of fine, hard-working people are getting a dirty deal. Correction and reform are needed, and probably always will be.

TAKES ISSUE. Nation's Business takes issue with one conclusion in Douglas Miller's book, "You Can't Do Business with Hitler," the one which assumes that America must, in order to match Hitler, have its lives planned and regulated. That magazine contends that while Hitler's helpless subjects have become mere robots, this country can win according to its traditional lines of freedom. Speaking of the way America has outdistanced its competitors, it says: "We grew great by being different. Our method now should be to think of something better than the Nazis have. Leaders seldom if ever surpass their originals. Even if we could, we must remember that like methods tend to yield like results. Do we want Nazi results?"

Hunting Season. Lincoln, September 2. With the hunting season coming up soon, Nebraska sportsmen can look forward to: 1. A longer pheasant hunting season, extending from October 16 to November 5, inclusive (last year's season lasted two weeks); 2. more birds than ever; 3. less restrictions on ducks.

Despite these factors, W. H. Lytle, game commission secretary, said he doubted that more birds would be killed.

"By opening the entire state to pheasant hunting with the exception of four counties—Johnson, Nemaha, Pawnee and Richardson—there will be no concentration of hunters," Lytle explained.

Pheasant hunting hours will be from sunrise until 4 p. m. instead of 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. as in 1940. Last year, too, 17 counties were closed to pheasants.

The daily bag and possession limit on pheasants will be five. A hen accidentally killed may be counted and put in the daily bag, he added.

The commission set the duck season from October 16 to December 14 and took canvasbacks and ruddies off the restricted list. Ten will be the daily bag limit and 20 the possession total except for headreds and buffleheads. These remain in the restricted class with a daily limit of three and possession limit of six.

There will be no open season on doves, jack snipes, muskrat or beaver and no closed season on fox, mink or skunk.

Other seasons include: Squirrel, October 1 to November 30, inclusive, 7 a. m. to 6 p. m., five daily bag, 10 possession. Raccoon and opossum, November 1 to February 1.

Geese, October 16 to December 14, inclusive, three daily, six possession. Blue geese, October 16 to December 14, inclusive, six daily, 12 possession.

Mixed geese limit, three blue geese, three of other kinds.

CORN LOANS. While most parts of Nebraska have escaped devastating drought this year, some sections are reported short of corn and in a position to be helped materially by Senator Butler's proposed corn loan program which was suggested but turned down in Washington a year ago when the state was in a far worse plight. It is understood the loan policy, as advocated by the senator, is being applied in some other states. As proposed, corn taken from storage and used on the basis of a loan, would get rid of old corn, steadily losing in quality, to be replaced by new corn which would be worth more on the market. The plan would not only help carry through livestock, but it would strengthen the government's stored values. It is hoped the senator can persuade the agricultural department to accept his idea as a source of relief to any Nebraska sections in need of corn this year.

ANENT WAYNE COUNTY FAIR

As to Wayne Fair. Editor Wayne Herald, Wayne, Nebraska. "What was wrong with the Wayne fair?"

"It began on Sunday, a day which should be held sacred, but which is fast becoming commercialized by fairs, shows and week-end trips.

"When a nation forgets God and His command to remember, and His Sabbath day to keep it holy, and in every way possible tries to make money on that day, that nation will follow the downfall of others which have done the same thing.

"The 4-H clubs are fine for our boys and girls, but I question the wisdom of their being required to be at the fair caring for their stock and having projects judged on Sunday instead of being in their place at church and Sunday school.

"Three days for a county fair should be ample, especially when the entertainment and exhibits are the same each day.

"Opening and entry day could be one with a strict rule that all entries be in place by noon of that day.

"Season tickets could be sold before opening day and exhibitors' tickets given out that day and a charge made at gate same as other days.

"If a special attraction is planned, have it the second day or other means might be used to make this the big day.

"People are going to come the first day to bring exhibits and the last day to take them home.

"And finally let us have these three days during the week. There are six days besides Sunday."

Sincerely, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Morris. County Fair Question. September 2, 1941.

Dean Editor: In last week's issue of your paper, following your comments about the small attendance during the opening days of the recent Wayne county fair, you invited suggestions of what may have been contributing factors. Has it occurred to those in charge of the fair, that the fact that it opened on Sunday had much to do with it?

In making the plans for this Sunday opening, undoubtedly the opinions of the many church people of Wayne and surrounding territory were ignored.

"While we lived at Fergus Falls, Minn., some years ago, following an ill-adviced suggestion of some ambitious promoter, the Otter Tail county fair, one of that state's largest, tried a Sunday opening. With most disastrous financial results to the fair, not only for that year, but several thereafter before the ill-will created had been overcome. They will have no more Sunday fairs.

A county fair is very much dependent upon local goodwill and interest to succeed. I know from conversation and contacts with members of my parish here in Wayne county, that the Sunday opening was an offense to them.

Revival Services Start in Wayne

R. B. McDougald

The Church of Christ, which was established by Christ on the first Pentecost after his crucifixion, is conducting revival meetings on the lot at 411 Main street, Wayne, with Evangelist Royal Spears of Butler, Mo., directing the singing and Evangelist R. B. McDougald of Oklahoma City, doing the preaching.

All are cordially invited to hear their families and friends to bring discussion on such subjects as: The Wonderful Christ, The Grandeur of the Church, Sowing and Reaping, The Grandeur of the Church, The Existence and Value of the Soul.

Services are to be conducted in Odd Fellow hall at 11 a. m. and 3 p. m. the first, second and third Sundays in September.

"Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

New Invention
The Acoustic Coupler is a new invention by Carl L. Haddorff and is used only in the Haddorff Vertichord piano.

Ernest Vogel, the exclusive dealer in this territory, will have one here as soon as possible. According to the letter received by Mr. Vogel the factory is completely sold out.

Mr. Vogel says he will put the Vertichord along side any other make of new form pianos and will demonstrate it to you, and you too will say it is America's finest new form piano.

In its price class it is America's largest selling new form piano.

Safety in the Home.

Have you ever had a fall that was caused by carelessness, a fall caused by falling over some object that had been left on the stairs, or perhaps a fall in a slippery tub. A great many falls happen in the home, especially to elderly people who aren't as steady on their feet and cannot see as well as when they were younger. Falls send thousands of people to the hospital every year and are the cause of many deaths.

Much can be done to prevent these accidents if the family will make an effort to rid the home of fall hazards, says Miss Rysph Douglas, extension specialist in home beautification who is well known to several women in Dixon county.

Many falls happen on stairs. This would indicate that a hand rail is needed and that the stairway be well lighted. Keep a flash light handy if the stairs are dimly lighted. Often painting the bottom step a shining white will enable persons using the stairs to know when they are at the bottom of the stairs. Train the family to keep the stairs clear. Toys, books, or any articles over which one may stumble are always accident hazards.

Two familiar dangers in the kitchen are food or water spilled on the floor and carelessness in climbing up to reach objects on high shelves. Wipe up immediately anything spilled on the floor. Provide a substantial kitchen ladder to reach the high shelf.

Small rugs in the living room may be anchored with a non-skid fabric or various rug anchors now on the market.

There are many other hazards that may be eliminated if the family becomes interested in making the home safe as far as accidents are concerned.

Tomato Canning.
Home-produced, home-canned food helps provide better diets with fewer dollars. One cannot have too many canned tomatoes. Raw tomatoes are one of the richest sources of vitamin C—a vitamin we need every day. Canned tomatoes put up the right way lose practically none of this valuable vitamin.

To can tomatoes is to pack them into glass jars or plain tin cans, then to process them in a boiling water bath. The water bath can be made out of a wash boiler or a bucket with a tight fitting lid. There must be a rack on the bottom so the water can circulate under the jars or cans, and the water can come up over the tops of the containers 1 to 2 inches. Count processing time after the water comes to a full rolling boil around the cans or jars.

Tomatoes preheated just to the boiling point, then packed hot in pint or quart jars or No. 2 or 3 tin cans need just 5 minutes processing in localities where the altitude is 1,000 feet or less above sea level. Packed raw, the processing time is 45 minutes for glass jar, 30 minutes for tin cans.

Salted or Dried Corn.
If you do not have a pressure cooker for canning corn, your safest bet is to put it up by salting or drying.

Salting corn is an excellent means of preserving sweet corn, if you do it properly. It has a fine flavor, color and texture. In fact, it rates first in flavor and appearance.

Here is a recipe for salted corn, recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Plunge ears of husked corn in boiling water and cook 8 to 10 minutes. Cool the corn. Cut it from the cob. Weigh it. Then pack it in stone jar, using alternate layers of corn and dry salt. Use 1 part salt to 7 parts corn by weight. Over the corn, place a heavy weighed cover, so the brine will come up to the surface. After 2 or 3 weeks, put the salted corn in clean glass jars and seal tightly.

You know one of the chief values of yellow corn is vitamin A. In testing corn that had been preserved by various methods, salted and dried corn kept vitamin A best.

Helps to House Plants.
Save egg shells, crush and put in a jar. Pour water into the jar with the shells and then use this water for house plants. It will make them grow beautifully.

At Recreation Center.
A program was arranged Friday afternoon when the summer park program closed. The staff treated children to popcorn candy and fruit nectar.

The city hall will be cleaned and made ready for the fall program soon.

All WPA workers enjoyed a holiday Monday.

Nebraska Nurse Has Narrow Escape

The harrowing experience of being on a ship that was torpedoed and of being rescued from the icy ocean will be related in memoirs to be written by Miss Marion McGill, Tekamah nurse, who is recuperating at the home of a brother in Arlington, Va.

Miss McGill was one of 15 Red Cross nurses enroute to help in England. After the Dutch ship on which they sailed was 10 days out of Nova Scotia, the steamer was torpedoed about 10:30 one dark, rainy night. Without excitement, the nurses donned life belts and within 20 minutes were in a life-boat. Shortly afterward waves washed the occupants into the sea. Miss McGill saw her roommate and other friends vanish. Rain, cold and darkness increased the terror of the situation. Almost exhausted from battling the elements, Miss McGill fought the lifeboat and climbed back in, thus saving her life.

In England, Miss McGill found the people wonderfully confident. She expresses hope that this country will be able to provide vast amounts of material but that American boys will not have to go abroad.

Creighton Fossils May Change History

The geological history of northeast Nebraska may be changed by recent unearthing of prehistoric bones southeast of Creighton. It is estimated that the fossils, deposited 16 feet beneath the surface, in greenish gray river sand, have been there 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 years. The bones have been classified as two types of horses, one about four feet tall, three sizes of rhinoceros, mastodon, camel, deer and rodents. The rhinoceros jawbone measuring 20 inches is the largest find. The fossil beds were first found when WPA workers were digging sewage ditches.

(Sioux City Radio Supplement)

Here are Paul Utemark, Jr., and son, Paul, III, of Wakefield. The day the above picture was snapped Mr. Utemark had a shipment of 38 1,142-pound steers on the Sioux City market that sold at $12. Here with him and his son was his father, Paul Utemark, sr., also of Wakefield, for over 50 years a patron of the Sioux City market. The elder man was pictured in the August 14 issue of the Supplement, shortly after he had also been in with steers that, too, brought $12.

Historic Significance Lends Interest to Travel in East

Historical tradition is one of the features making the east especially interesting to the traveler. The local events important in this nation's development as well as the setting for "history in the making" focus on the eastern seaboard. This as well as the many beauties of nature and the achievement of man provided an interesting 3,800-mile journey for Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Johnson, Rex and Jenese who arrived home Thursday from their three-week auto trip.

Though traffic is much heavier in the east than here, Dr. Johnson finds that one soon becomes adjusted to it and learns the rules of the road. Many highways have six and eight lanes and the fastest travel is on the inside lanes. Cars average 60 and 70 miles an hour, and some roads have a minimum speed, this usually 45 miles. When one wants to get off a many-lane highway, he works to the outside lane. Usually left turns are permitted except at designated places. In Washington, D. C., especially on Constitution avenue, Dr. Johnson found that between 4 and 6 p. m., during heaviest traffic, left turns at designated places will be discontinued temporarily. Highways are exceptionally good and well marked. Pennsylvania has a turnpike highway crossing the state, drivers on this paying fees to travel on this road which permits greater speed.

Attraction Roadside

After a brief stop at South Bend, Ind., to see Notre Dame university, the Johnsons went to Detroit where Rex had visited a week. They were impressed with highways through Michigan. Many trees line the main thoroughfares, and picnic tables are provided in the shade at convenient spaces along the route. In Detroit Dr. Johnson and his father and three brothers were together for the first time in their lives.

The Edison institute museum and village in Detroit are interesting places, visited by the Wayne folks. In the museum, owned by Henry Ford and named for his friend, Thomas Edison, is stressed the historical development of many things. Entire stores have been reproduced to show the progress of harness shops, millinery and clothing, dishes, furniture, barbering, etc. Ford's rotunda, in another part of the city, is a huge building, open to the sky, depicting the development of cars and the processing of materials. In the center is a huge revolving globe on which are designated the places furnishing products. The Johnsons liked Bell Isle park, the great recreation center between the Detroit river and Lake St. Clair. The resort is not commercialized.

Defense Causes Boom

The defense work has made Detroit boom. Sections of houses seem to go up overnight, and thousands live in trailer houses. The Johnsons drove by the huge Ford plant which appeared to be producing at full capacity. Permits to go through the plant can be obtained but some red tape is required on account of the precautions that must be taken.

Drive Through Canada

Leaving Detroit the Johnsons crossed the magnificent new bridge which affords a wonderful view of the city. In driving through Canada they chose the road that follows Lake Erie and avoids cities. They found Canadians very serious minded and greatly concerned about the war. Flags are used profusely on buildings and the American flag is given considerable prominence. Filling stations especially fly both flags. Many war posters are also in evidence in Canada. Pulling for victory, and keeping silent about war information are among the topics illustrated. The Wayne folks found no difficulty in crossing the border to or from Canada. Each person going to Canada is allowed $100 worth of goods duty-free if he returns within 48 hours. The traveler gets about $1.10 in Canadian money for $1 in United States currency. This difference is practically absorbed in the slight increase of prices in Canada.

Take Skyline Drive

Returning home the Johnsons took the beautiful skyline drive

Address Is Given By Dr. Victor West

Kiwanis Board Selects F. B. Decker Secretary Of Local Club.

Mexican people seem well-pleased with their new president, according to Dr. Victor West, even though they feel he stole the election. The country is definitely pro-ally, and the people expect the United States to protect them from invaders. Dr. West spoke to Kiwanians Monday noon at Hotel Stratton.

Dr. and Mrs. West found their recent trip to Mexico less expensive than former trips to San Diego and New York City and no farther than those cities. The absence of any signboard advertising along Mexican highways afforded a welcome relief from splashy American travel and made sight-seeing more enjoyable. The country seemed rather drab, however, to the Wests in comparison with some parts of the United States.

Supt. F. B. Decker was chosen secretary of the club Monday by the board to succeed N. F. Thorpe who went to Lincoln.

Home from Northwest

Miss Dorothy Steele, who arrived home last Thursday after spending two weeks in Oregon, reports that her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Steele, are enjoying the northwest. They are located near Monroe, Ore., on a fruit and nut ranch. Small grain, hay and vegetables are raised extensively in that region also. The three-month summer dry spell was coming to a close when Miss Steele was in the west and fall rains were starting. Mr. Steele lives in Portland and likes his position with the Standard Oil company. George Steele, Jr., just started working in the Boeing airplane factory in Seattle and reports the plant very busy. Miss Steele saw the Ed. Mordhaust and Alvin Deis families at McManville, the Mordhausts formerly living at Pierce and the others here.

"NAVY INTELLIGENCE"

Is it necessary to be a high school graduate in order to enlist in the Navy?

No. Navy enlistees need not be high school graduates. All applicants will be given an examination containing approximately 100 questions. A grade of 50 per cent or better in this examination is sufficiently high to pass the Navy educational standards. However, a high school education will be valuable to the seaman during his Navy enlistment.

If I enlist in the Navy or Naval Reserve will I be sent to a Navy Trade School?

All new recruits are sent to one of four Naval Training Stations and after a training period they may take examinations for entrance into Navy Trade Schools. Those recruits who pass their examinations with sufficiently high grades are sent to Navy Trade Schools before assignment to the fleet. While attending these schools, they will receive regular Navy pay and free schooling valued at $1500.

What is the greatest possible pay I can expect to earn during my first term of enlistment? It is possible to earn as much as $126 a month by the end of your first term of enlistment, and remember that your clothing, food, medicine and dental care are all supplied free.

After I have served my term of enlistment, what benefits do I get for re-enlistment?

Depending on your rate and length of service, you can get a cash bonus up to $300 plus 30 days leave with pay.

What does the term "ash can" mean in the Navy?

An "ash can" is a slang term applied to the death charge used to combat submarines. The average "ash can" is a container filled with approximately 300 pounds of T.N.T. and can be dropped overboard from a ship and so constructed as to explode at depths ranging from 25 to 300 feet. These are generally carried by the fast ships in the fleet, as a boat dropping a charge regulated to explode at 70 feet depth must move away from the explosion area at a speed of 25 knots or more. These "ash cans" are either rolled off the stern or shot from "y-guns" which hurl one right and one left simultaneously.

From Ponca Paper.

From Ponca Journal for September 8, 1881: An interesting runaway performance occurred in town. Geo. Mattison, accompanied by a friend, was coming into town in a wagon drawn by a pair of spirited horses. They were on the street leading to the Central house, when suddenly the horses took the notion into their heads to run away. Accordingly, they ran away. It was the liveliest specimen of running seen in this region for a year past. The horses flew over the ground like the wind, while George, hanging to the lines, came after them in the wagon. At the foot of the street near the hotel the horses made a turn and the wagon box came off and Mr. Mattison and his friend went to the ground. At this point fortunately the horses stopped. On gathering up the fragments it was found that nothing was broken. In 10 minutes the wagon was rigged back into shape, the harness was sound and the horses when they rested a short time were all right again. Mr. Mattison and his friend were shaken up a trifle but not injurious for good health. All is well that ends well.

Summer is ended but with the mercury at 95 in the shade, fires for warmth are not yet needed.

Photo of Check So Perfect That Recipient Cashes It As Original.

An elderly man asked a Texas depot agent the distance from Hossington to Osage City, Kan., and the rate in 1902. The reply was 172 miles and 3c. The man pushed $5.16 through the ticket window. "But it's only 12 a mile now," the agent protested. "That's all right. I made the trip in 1902 and I want to pay off now. Don't ask any questions," the man replied.

A Kansas resort decided to enforce the 10 p. m. curfew for spooners. But there's no time limit for fishing. Now the lake is lined with couples these nights—each with fishing poles.

A Minneapolis woman wrote to the government claiming that she had never received payment for NYA work she had done. To prove that she had the check, officials sent her a photograph of it. So perfect was the photo that the lady cashed this, thinking it was in payment for the account.

A Texas publicity secker asked a reporter why he hadn't made the headlines. The reporter promised to write a story about the man and a few hours later did. The publicity secker was found shot to death.

So convincing was the navy's advertisement for recruits that an Indiana paper almost had to suspend. The printer who prepared the advertisement enlisted, and he was the only printer in the shop. The navy granted him temporary deferment.

An Omaha judge has fines that "fit the crime." When an offender said he didn't have the amount assessed, the judge asked how much he did have. The reply was $5 and the fine was adjusted to absorb that sum.

To offset the high price of beef, hamburger joints in Wisconsin set down to enjoy venison at dinner. A game warden visited camp unannounced. The crew went back to eating beef after paying a $50 fine.

A New York policeman must measure a foot, 7 inches. Guy wants to be an officer and is only 5 feet, 5 1/2 inches so he started out to stretch. He stretched himself with a canvas sling, relaxed his bones, tried to get bees to sting his head to raise welts, and finally struck himself on the head with a wooden mallet. When he went to get measured he had gained 3/4 of an inch but still was 7 1/2 inches short.

"Imagine me, steering a Destroyer!"

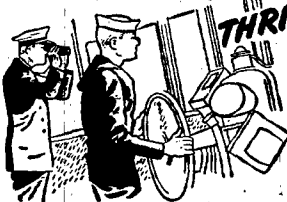

"And I've had two pay raises in only eight months! I'll say you can't beat Uncle Sam's Navy!"

YOU couldn't ask for a greater thrill than that which a fellow gets when he comes back home wearing a trim Navy uniform. The folks crowd around. They all want to know where you've been, what you've done. And man, do you have stories to tell!

GREATEST LIFE IN THE WORLD

You're proud. And you should be. For you've been leading the greatest life in the world. And it's a thrill to tell about it, too. A thrill to see the admiration in the eyes of the One and Only Girl as you tell about the first time you steered a Destroyer. Or handled a P.T. Boat at more than 45 miles per hour. Or stepped out in front of your shipmates to receive your first promotion.

And with that promotion came an increase in pay. And there were more to come. Second Class. First Class. And then Chief Petty Officer. Many might even go to Annapolis. Or to Pensacola with the flying cadets! Exciting? You bet, and fun too. Something doing all the time. Real he-man's stuff. Boxing. Baseball. Football. Swimming. AND MOVIES... previews, too!

ENROLL IN THE NAVAL RESERVE ... BE RELEASED AFTER THE EMERGENCY

The Secretary of the Navy has announced:—"All men now enlisting in the Naval Reserve will be retained on active Navy duty throughout the period of the national emergency, but they will be released to inactive duty as soon after the emergency as their services can be spared, regardless of the length of time remaining in their enlistment."

Remember—the regular Navy and Naval Reserve offer you the same travel, training, promotions, pay increases. Physical requirements are more liberal. Send coupon now!

LOOK WHAT THE U. S. NAVY AND NAVAL RESERVE OFFER YOU

- FREE TRAINING worth $1500. Nearly 50 trades and vocations to choose from.
- GOOD PAY with regular increases. You may earn up to $126 a month.
- EACH YEAR you are entitled to a generous vacation period, with full pay.
- GOOD FOOD and plenty of it.
- FREE CLOTHING. A complete outfit of clothing when you first enlist. (Over $100 worth.)
- FREE MEDICAL CARE, including regular dental attention.
- FINEST SPORTS and entertainment any man could ask for.
- TRAVEL, ADVENTURE, THRILLS. You can't beat the Navy for them!
- BECOME AN OFFICER. Many can work for an appointment to the Naval Academy or the Annapolis at the Air at Pensacola.
- FUTURE SUCCESS. It's easy for Navy trained men to get good-paying jobs in civil life.
- LIBERAL RETIREMENT-PAY for regular Navy men.

FREE TRAINING WORTH $1500

And all this time you're taking care of your future! The Navy said, "Pick a trade—we can make you an expert." And they gave you nearly 50 skilled trades and vocations to choose from: Radio expert, machinist, welder, aviation mechanic, dental technician, electrician—to mention a few.

Yes, training that would be worth $1500 to you in one year's time. Training that will assure you of a well-paid job in civil life. Yet you get paid while learning—get your keep and a complete outfit of clothing free.

Where else in the world are there such opportunities for thrill, for fun, for a future as in Uncle Sam's Navy?

Get this FREE booklet

Mail coupon for your free copy of "Life in the U. S. Navy." 24 pages, fully illustrated. It answers all your questions. Tells what your pay will be... promotions and vacations you can expect... how you can retire on a life income. Describes how you can learn any one of 45 big-pay trades from aviation to radio... how you may become an officer. 27 scenes from Navy life showing sports and games you may play, ships you may be assigned to, exciting ports you may visit. Tells enlistment requirements and where to apply. If you are between 17 and 31 (no high school required), get this free book now. No obligation. Ask the Navy editor of this paper for a copy. Or telephone him. Or mail him the coupon. You can paste it on a penny postal card.

WEAR THIS BADGE OF HONOR! If after reading the free booklet you decide to apply for a place in the Navy, you will receive this smart lapel-embellish. It is a badge of honor you will be proud to wear.
