

Of Disturbing Inconsistency — Norfolk Applauds College Advantages — Naturally Wants One of Its Own — Wayne Area Should Be Appreciative — Local Institution Moves Forward Encouragingly — Sun Spots and Magnetic Storms.

We are such a firm believer in the purifying and curative effects of publicity that we had accepted with pained approval the airing given by the World-Herald and others to the Wayne State Teachers' college's late, lamented temper. We have accepted purging in the spirit of Simeon Stylites and his devoted satellites of ancient Antioch, who roosted on high pillars for the good of their souls.

"And at the same time may we suggest, in a low and discreet tone, that those who broadcast the 'flaws' last spring that Omaha's 1941-42 school term might be reduced by four or six weeks were doing their home town something of a disservice?"

Even if the "broadcasting" were ill-founded, didn't it spur those responsible for Omaha's education to greater endeavors to pare down obligations and pave the way for customary school privileges? The "broadcasting" brought to light the effort and anxiety and cash required to keep intact needed advantages. People should know running a school is no snap financially or otherwise, and that this source of free training in free America entails much cost and careful figuring. Distressing publicity helps. We still believe in its corrective currents for others as well as for ourselves.

Norfolk's move to vote on a plan to establish a junior college calls from the Daily News high editorial appraisal of the value of such an institution to a community. Read what the News says:

"Midland college has been operating in Fremont twenty-two years and during that time, according to figures used in the Tribune, has contributed nearly five and a half million dollars worth of business to the city. During that time the city has contributed to the college less than 3 per cent of that amount, .0298 to be exact.

"Any institution which brings into a city the size of Fremont $250,000 worth of business a year is an asset that would be hard to duplicate. A factory that spread that amount of spending power in a community of 11,000 would be something to go after with all the energy the city promoters could summon.

"Yet the business that a college brings into a city is only a part of its value. It gives opportunities to the young people that many of them could not otherwise have. It adds prestige to the city, raises its standards of life, provides a valued service to the surrounding territory.

"Yes, a college is something that any city is fortunate to have."

Midland college, which is mentioned as a prosperity builder for Fremont, has, as we are informed, about one-third the enrollment found in the State Teachers' college at Wayne. The school here is the largest of the four similar institutions in the state. If a college means as much to a community financially and culturally as towns like Norfolk and Fremont manifestly believe, the one here is manifestly worth all-out efforts to safeguard and enlarge. Appreciation by centers like Norfolk and Fremont, applauding less than this town possesses, should stimulate realization and flanking support in Wayne and the outlying territory.

SIXTIETH YEAR

New Zoning Plan Gets Under Way

Property Owners Will Be Protected by Plan to Regulate Building.

To regulate and restrict the height, number of stories and size of buildings and other structures to govern the percentage of lot that may be occupied, to determine the size of yards, courts and other spaces, to designate the density of populations, to regulate the location and use of buildings, structures and land for trade, industry, residence and other purposes and to establish set-back building lines in residential districts.

These are the zoning regulations as defined by Nebraska statutes for cities the size of Wayne. The newly appointed zoning commission, E. J. Huntmer, A. V. Teed and J. C. Carhart, met Thursday and Friday with Engineer Douglas McKnight of Lincoln, and City Attorney H. D. Addison to start this new service protecting property owners. The last named gave an opinion on what the commission shall do and the matter is now being studied.

The zoning commission will in about two weeks present a preliminary report to the city council and will then call a public hearing. The commission will later present its final report to the mayor and council who will soon thereafter call a second public hearing. The zoning ordinance will then be passed and the mayor and council will designate a board of adjustments. In most cities the size of Wayne the mayor and council serve in this capacity. The board of adjustments has power to regulate the zoning ordinance. Both business and residence districts will be protected, and the ordinance will be flexible enough to provide for expansion of the city.

New zoning regulations will not be retroactive. They will apply only to the future.

Men whose terms of service expire, those who have reached the age of 28 years and those whose induction has caused hardship at home will soon be returning. The Selective Training act provided that former employers must re-employ inducted men unless this would work a hardship on them or unless circumstances have so changed that this is impossible.

Survivor of Ship Tragedy Speaks

Rev. Ralph Hult Tells Local College Group About Zam Zam Trip.

Afloat in the middle of the Atlantic ocean after being forced to abandon the Zam Zam, Egyptian ship which was torpedoed by the Germans April 17, was the experience Rev. Ralph Hult told of when he spoke at convocation at Wayne State Teachers college Tuesday morning.

The shelling of the Zam Zam happened early in the morning of April 17. The 140 American passengers on board were prepared for the happening, because a few days previously the captain of the Zam Zam had received an SOS message that a Norwegian freighter about 20 miles distant was being pursued by a German raider.

Rev. Hult said, "At first I did not realize what was happening. My impression was that huge waves were hitting the side of the ship. Then the nose sounded again a little ahead of where it had hit the first time. There was confusion everywhere. The passengers were all located in the lower part of the ship, and it was imperative that they reach the upper deck so they could be lowered to safety in the small life boats.

One of the corridors which led to the upper deck was blocked with debris resulting from the torpedoing. (Continued on Page Five)

Physical Health Needs Attention

Coach J. H. Morrison Would Provide Each Student With Training.

Coordinated development of both body and mind should be provided every school child. This belief, expressed by Coach J. H. Morrison in speaking to Kiwanians Monday, met with enthusiastic support of the group. The mind cannot be trained to best advantage unless it is supported by a healthy body. The coach believes that only by providing for physical welfare of students can education be well balanced. The school program, in his opinion, should revolve around a health program.

Mr. Morrison would institute his health program scientifically and with great care. He would have every school child submit to tests to determine his P. F. I., physical fitness index. Then he would provide a program of health habits, exercise and recreation that would develop strong bodies. Mental development would be more successful.

FASHION'S LATEST VOGUE ON DISPLAY LAST OF NEXT WEEK

THE AUTUMN style show in Wayne is set for Thursday night, October 2, and this week and next week the Herald will doubtless reveal the news of the latest in wearables. Unveiling windows and the fashion parade will make a strong appeal. Spectators will know how they will look toggled out in newest creations. People like to see and inspect fine wardrobes. Clothes do not make a man or woman, as we have been told since time immemorial, but they go a long way in bolstering up one's feelings. Good clothes not extravagantly showy, but sensibly neat — give one confidence in himself. Prices generally are on the upswing, and early buying would seem prompted by wise economy. The window shows and model exhibitions will be deservedly attractive.

Rites Conducted At Wayne Church

Heart Attack Suffered in New York Hotel Fatal to Frederick S. Berry.

Frederick S. Berry, jr.

Solemn requiem high mass was conducted Monday morning at 9:30 in St. Mary's Catholic church for Frederick S. Berry, jr., 31, who passed away in a New York hospital Monday evening, September 15, from a heart attack which he suffered a few hours earlier. Rev. Wm. Kearns was celebrant of the mass and officiated at funeral rites. Rev. Michael Quinn of South Sioux City, served as deacon of the mass, and Very Rev. Timothy O'Sullivan of Jackson, as sub-deacon. Cletus Sharer, Micky and Joe Gillespie and Billie Andersen were altar boys. Mrs. Helen Kearney Roost, director of the choir at Blessed Sacrament church in Sioux City, was soloist, and Miss Eulalie Brugger was organist. The large concourse of friends who gathered to pay tribute to deceased taxed the capacity of the church. A wealth of beautiful flowers, among them a wreath from the congressional library, was a silent expression of high esteem. The Beckenhauer service had charge of committal in Greenwood cemetery.

"His mind was with the masters," stated Rev. Kearns in characterizing the keen intellect and good habits of the young man. Among the numerous messages received by Mr. and Mrs. Berry, is one from Dean Foster of the University of Nebraska, who referred to Frederick as a "brilliant boy of the finest character." Mother Margaret of the Kappa Sigma fraternity said she has "never known a more splendid boy." In another message Mrs. Marjorie Ley Armstrong of Casper, Wyo., refers to Frederick as "the best pal and the best friend I ever had."

Suffers Heart Attack. Mr. Berry, who had had heart trouble since his youth, had been failing in health for some time. Those in charge of the congressional library at Washington, D. C., where he was employed, persuaded him to take a short vacation in New York City, with its abundance of fine plays, musical productions and art displays always enthranced him so he chose to spend a few days there. Monday last week was a sultry day in the city so Frederick was sitting in an easy chair in his room at the Dixie hotel reading, with books and note pads on the table beside him. He was smoking when he suffered a heart attack. Paper in the waste basket beside (Continued on Page Two)

America's greatest air show featuring Danny Fowlie of Minneapolis, and Jesse Bristow of Fort Worth will appear in Wayne, October 5 and 6, to present a program of spine-tingling aerobatics that has been leaving thousands of spectators across the country breathless with excitement. Rated as the light plane stunting champion of the world, Fowlie is actually a one-man act. Among the thrilling maneuvers executed by the Minnesota sky far ace: Landing and taking off from the top of a speeding automobile, inverted aerobatics at low altitudes and pick-a-back flight. This operation is executed by two planes which are joined together for the take-off; after circling the field, Fowlie takes off from the top of the other plane and performs a low loop in front of the grandstand. During his exhibition of inverted aerobatics Danny scores a new high, bringing spectators rearing to their feet as he eliminates his act by cutting ribbons while flying upside down only a few feet from the ground. It is the top act in air shows that won Fowlie's wings as the stunting ace of the world for relaxation. Fowlie is in Wayne today making final arrangements for the show.

Plans Proceeding For Anniversary

Two Former Pastors Among Speakers for Occasion At St. Paul Church.

Plans are progressing well for the special services, October 5 in observance of the 60th anniversary of St. Paul Lutheran congregation, Rev. G. Gieschen expects that a number of former residents will return for the occasion.

The pastor has prepared an anniversary souvenir booklet relating the history of the congregation from the first services at LaPorte and the organization of the little band in Wayne a year later. The booklet will also present a resume of the growth of the congregation and improvement of the church.

Among former pastors who have served the local congregation is Rev. M. L. Melick who was installed here June 20, 1886. As he could not provide German services, an amicable solution to the problem was concluded when some of the group organized the German Evangical church, now Our Redeemer's Lutheran. Rev. Melick was interested in the Lutheran academy which had been started in Homer in 1886 by Rev. C. Baird. This institution was moved to Wayne and Rev. Melick served as one of the faculty. He resigned as pastor in 1892.

When Rev. C. J. Ringer, father of Mayor M. L. Ringer, resigned in 1912 as pastor after serving St. Paul church more than 12 years, he was succeeded by Floyd E. Blessing, theological student from Acheson, Kan. He was ordained and came as pastor in 1914. Rev. Blessing's services were cut short by his sudden death September 20, 1915, at the age of 28 years.

Rev. J. H. Fetterolf succeeded Rev. Blessing, taking charge March 1, 1916. During his eight years of ministry the church continued in its steady growth. Rev.

Fetterolf resigned in 1924 to go to Mt. Carroll, Ill., where he is still located. He will be one of the speakers for the anniversary.

Besides Rev. Fetterolf, Rev. W. C. Heidenreich of Oshkosh, and Rev. J. C. Hershey of Fremont, will be here for messages.

a vertical dive of more than 400 miles an hour, he contradicts the popular performances 'figures' of 'aeronaual engineers. Experts contend that the plane and engine cannot stand the terrific strain to which they are subjected by the Lone Star state's famed cloud buster. In addition, Jesse is a nationally noted aerobatic pilot and has been awarded many trophies for his daring skill. At the recent Newark, N. J., air show which attracted half a million spectators he was presented with a wrist watch and trophy in recognition of his top flight performance and popularity. Other great air shows which featured the performances of Brislow and Fowle include Cleveland national air races, Miami all-American air maneuvers, Birmingham air carnival, Denver air show and Canadian national exposition held annually at Toronto, Ontario. Arrangements are now being made to have them appear in a proposed 'Good Will' tour of Mexico and South America.

Another great air champion on the program will include Jack Huber who will provide the ripcord thrills as he drops through space from an altitude of 12,000 feet before jerking open his parachute "just over the tree tops." Jack was faced with the "bug-a-boo" of having to open his emergency pack for the 13th time when his main chute failed to open during the recent exhibition at Toronto. He was approximately 300 feet from disaster when his emergency chute opened to drop him safely into the bay where speed boats picked him up. Huber also wrote aviation history at the Birmingham air carnival when he broadcast his impressions over the Ripley "Believe It or Not" program as he plunged earward before opening his "silk-umbrella."

These skilled fliers were featured at the huge air show in Sheldon, Ia. R. G. Fuchterth, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee sponsoring the show, is assembling a large group to arrange for this show which is more outstanding than any ever staged in this area.

Better Lumber For Less

THE KNOT-HOLE

Vol. 8 Wayne, Neb., Thur., Sept. 25, 1941 No. 32

"An exclusive vegetable diet," says a prominent dietitian, "will give you a trim figure."

"Lady, did you ever take a good look at a hippopotamus?"

"You can make a 'trim figure' out of this year's coal bill if you install a Will-Burt stoker in your heating plant. A stoker, you know, uses much of the coal that ordinarily goes up the chimney as soot and smoke. As a result, you burn less coal, yet get more heat."

Another big shipment of Glidden paint arrived last week. When you get ready to paint that barn or house, you'll want some of this good paint. Ask for it by name—say Glidden!

A fat negro bumped into a rather lean son of the dusky race. "From the looks of you," he said angrily, "there must have been a famine."

"And from the looks of you," replied the lean gent, "you is the guy what caused it."

Don't be caught with a lean coal bin when the first snow begins to fly. Call 147 and get your order in now for coal off one of the many cars coming in.

For that fall-fencing you can't beat cross-tied posts. They're straight and they won't rot, and they're moderately priced. You don't have to keep repairing fences when you use cross-tied posts.

Inspecting a pair of trousers in his shop in Athens, a tailor queried, "Europides?"

"Yes, sir," replied the waitress, politely. "Well, I declare," he remarked. "You don't look a day older."

"Are you the girl who took my order?" asked the impatient gentleman in the local cafe.

"Yes, sir," replied the waitress, politely. "Well, I declare," he remarked. "You don't look a day older."

Answered the customer, "Yes, Eumenides?"

The wise farmer is getting ready now fixing a place to store his corn. If you are going to need temporary cribs, get some of the new slat cribbing we have on hand. Do it now and be prepared.

Have you looked over your storm windows for broken glass and other repairs they may need? Or possibly you need new storm sash. If so, get them now so you can have them painted before time to put them on.

To Supply the World

THE Lincoln Journal gives Claude E. Wickard, secretary of agriculture, credit of having more practical sense than his predecessor, now vice president. Wickard is encouraging a plan to increase dairy products. Need of more things the farm produces is pressing, and the secretary is on the alert to meet the demand, beneficial alike to a hungry world and to farm endeavors. The Journal draws this conclusion: "Nebraska will share in this new prosperity for dairy products. Its farmers have not neglected dairying as a side line; in fact during the drought years, the cream checks were life-savers on many farms. The last printed figures show the state to be sixth in butter production and thirteenth in milk and egg production. Organization in recent years and careful grading have placed some of its products on the premium-paid list. "The big job of American farmers right now is to keep Britain fed. After Hitler has been removed, to that will be added the task of feeding the conquered countries. Hitler is not doing that now, and for the good reason that he cannot. Neither could he feed them if he won. In that respect the fact that we now have wheat enough for two years does not seem so perilous to prices as otherwise."

Grim War

PAGES of history reveal no more ruthless warfare than that now in progress. Cultivated genius enlarges and intensifies means of human slaughter and misery. Noncombatants are killed on suspicion. Cries of women and children in conquered countries make no impression on merciless war lords. One born into the world would seem entitled to a fair chance to make his way in peace and content. But he is cruelly stripped of these natural rights amidst flaming bombs, and deliberately imposed tortures. Survivors will suffer wrecked nerves added to irreparable loss of men and treasure. Reconstruction will be a bitter experience for all involved. What would General Sherman say of war if he were alive to look on today?

In his speech at Kearney, Congressman Joe Martin, national chairman, deplored undercurrents seeking adjournment of politics and promotion of a one-party system. The two-party arrangement with free discussion and an untrammelled ballot, has proved more representative and more nearly in accord with the popular welfare than any other kind tried in other countries. There are certain realignments as convictions change, but there must be no permanent surrender of one political group to another. That would eventuate into autocratic control—one-man government.

Coach J. H. Morrison of the college is more than a coach, as proved by his talk on physical education to Kiwanians Monday. He believes in building the body to support the mind, and he would encourage habits among the young looking to such attainments. He does not stress physical development for mere purposes of football, basketball or other forms of athletics, but for the broad objective of rounding out stronger manhood. His idea for a fixed physical education program in Nebraska ties scholastic aims to indispensable physical health.

The Nebraska corn husking contest will be held this year in an irrigated field near Franklin. It is said production will run 75 bushels to the acre. Outside of irrigation, it is believed Wayne county has the biggest corn yield in the state—bigger than the one in 1935 when the state contest was held here. It is suggested that when Wayne county decides to become a candidate for the state contest again, a desirable field should be selected and planted for the purpose in advance.

So much advice comes from circles, high and low, government sources and others, on how to be healthy and happily free from dangers that it would seem unnecessary to tax oneself with thinking or planning aside from keeping in shape to meet increasing costs. However, until one's earnings and possessions are reduced to nothing and he is permitted to go on relief, he cannot be free from pulsations of anxiety. That is the deadening content threatened by socialism.

The president has signed the new tax bill which is expected to raise $3,553,400,000, and another bill is reported in preparation to produce additional funds. By lowering exemptions it is believed about five million persons will contribute to income tax returns for the first time. New ways will be figured out to permit everybody to share in the increased burdens of government.

When a newspaper is condemned and commended for the same story by equally discerning individuals the conclusion is that the editor's judgment is not much at fault. It is a question of disagreeing viewpoints.

The autumn with moderate temperatures and with crops assured, would be the most agreeable time of the year if one could keep his mind off the near prospect of drifting snow and sub-zero weather.

The closing month is on record as one of the wettest Septembers remembered. Less than an inch fell during the same time a year ago. Heavy fall rains are needed to strengthen future promise.

The ocean's depths hold countless dead and innumerable piles of wreckage—the products of grim war which outrages both water and land.

The Record Speaks

"Streets paved with gold!" Years ago in foreign countries that phrase was used to express the amazement and envy that life in America inspired throughout the world. The blessings we Americans accept so casually were as incredible as that!

Here in America we need to remember that today—we need to remember that our freedom has enabled us to have an economic system that has given us more of the comforts and conveniences of life than any other people has ever had. In spite of that, however, there are many among us who cry that that system has failed—that regimentation can solve our problems and give us the greater efficiency that they say we lack.

Lack efficiency? The fact that we have earned for ourselves the highest standard of living in the world is sufficient proof to refute that charge. Yet today we have additional proof—our record of industrial production in the present crisis. We have set ourselves an enormous emergency job, and we are doing it in record time. Arms are flowing from our factories in quantities thought impossible only a short time ago.

The army's tank expert says our tanks are the best in the world, and we are producing them 10 times as fast as we were a year ago.

The R.A.F. has proved by use that our airplanes are unsurpassed, and our production is rapidly rising to the point where it will exceed that of all other countries in the world. The record in connection with ships, rifles, ammunition and every other requirement is similar.

The truth is that, working as free men, we have already outstripped in many phases of armament production Hitler with his government dictated economy. Hitler has been at it since 1935, and our big program was launched only in 1940. That is our record. To those who claim that we lack ability to perform—quickly—that record supplies the answer.

The Third Year of War

(Omaha Journal-Stockman) As the third year of World War No. II gets well under way Americans must study its situation as they are vitally affected. The conflict enters our everyday life more and more and we must be prepared to meet whatever lies before us. We want peace, we want freedom but these have always had to be bought and paid for.

It is difficult, the war still being in an indecisive phase, accurately to sum up what has taken place during this astonishing conflict—a conflict which may well, as Hitler has said, decide the history of the world for the next thousand years. But one thing seems undeniably true, says Industrial News Review, and that is that the forces which oppose Hitler have become tremendously stronger in the last year. After the evacuation of Dunkirk, it took an almost miraculous degree of optimism to give England a chance for victory. The best that most authorities hoped for was a negotiated peace, which would let some semblance of parliamentary government continue to live in parts of the Old World. Today Britain has at least an even chance for full and conclusive victory—and some experts think her chance is better than that.

The United States is playing a great part in this. We are slowly becoming, in the president's phrase, "the arsenal of democracy." The possibility of our actually going to war in Europe seems to lessen, rather than grow greater. As yet, at least, Britain and her allies have no need for additional manpower. What they need is munitions, and more munitions—aircraft and still more aircraft. Today Britain is carrying the war to the continent—and she is carrying it there partly with American bombers which can fly at 30,000 feet, above the range of anti-aircraft fire, and above the efficient fighting level for pursuit planes.

Some believe that the coming year will decide this war. Hitler is not only fighting a war on two fronts—something he always said he would avoid at all costs—he must face a third front, too. The third front is the growing underground anti-Nazi movement in the occupied countries. Reports filter out from Europe of sabotage, the assassination of Nazi troops and police, the slow-down of work in factories in occupied lands which have been forced to produce for Germany. Lately, the German authorities in the occupied areas have put into effect extremely stringent new rules designed to prevent anti-German activity of all kinds. But the underground movement continues and grows. It is said to be especially effective in France. Frenchmen who have escaped from Europe almost unanimously report that the overwhelming majority of French people pray for allied victory—and wait in grim silence for the day when they may be able to settle their long account with what they regard as the traitors at Vichy.

So, there is reason for hope as the third year of war begins. The allies may not yet have the strength of the Nazis—but allied power grows, and many are certain that German power, for all the areas it has conquered, all the resources it has gained, is dwindling. This may be the decisive winter in which one of the great pages of world history is written.

Joe Martin, who was chairman of the republican national convention at Philadelphia last year, and who is now chairman of the republican national committee, has been out on a tour of inspection, stopping in Nebraska last week, and journeying on to the Pacific coast. In his political reconnoitering, he may find presidential lightning flashing in his direction. It is recalled William McKinley was chairman of the Minneapolis convention that nominated Benjamin Harrison in 1892. Grover Cleveland defeated Harrison, and McKinley became the republican standard bearer in 1896 when he was elected. Chairman Martin may or may not have presidential aspirations. His peacemaking tendencies should help him. But in casting about for a running mate for whoever is named to head the ticket, the 1944 convention could look far and not find one who has more practical wisdom for leadership than Nebraska's Senator Hugh Butler. In all the essentials of a steady and constructive force he would contrast with the present incumbent like the sun at noonday with the moon in an eclipse.

Note

(Continued from Page One) the northern sky Thursday night, and which mystified some into fearing Hitler was coming. It is believed by those who think they know to be caused by relationship between sun spots and magnetic storms. The aurora does not occur often in this latitude. It is not explained whether the relationship which produces the resplendent aurora is friendly or unfriendly. We hope it is friendly because we have enough ugly things in the world to contend with without having the sun spots get mad at us.

DANGERS.

Economy in non-defense spending was stressed by National Chairman Joe Martin at the meeting of republicans in Kearney Saturday. He thinks a halt may be called to this extravagance during costly defense building by electing a republican congress next year. In the meantime an official investigation of non-defense spending is to be made as mentioned by Martin. Secretary Morgenthau has warned against dangers of inflation due to excessive use of government funds for unnecessary purposes. He does not believe in curtailing production and thus raising prices to a level that would invite peril. The need of the government to put its money into community projects everywhere passed with launching the defense emergency which demands more of everything with prices on the upswing. As long as defense work continues there will be no over-supply and no low prices. Dangers of unwieldy inflation to be avoided if possible revolve around needless appropriations which a forward-looking congress could prevent. Columnist Mark Sullivan advises Morgenthau to take the matter up with dizzy new dealers who are within the inner official circle.

"NAVY INTELLIGENCE"

"What sort of things do you teach the recruits to make in the U. S. navy service schools?" asked a visitor to the naval training station at Norfolk, Va. "Well, here is a sample of one of the most simple objects," replied an officer as he picked up a solid metal ash tray. "It is just an ordinary, standard machine part, but it's one of the projects that beginners are taught to turn out in the foundry and machine shop. It's made of scrap metal. Later it will be worked over into a series of other objects and eventually melted and the metal used again by the next class."

What happens if a sailor in the U. S. navy gets sick? There is a dispensary at every station manned by medical officers who give complete and efficient aid to anyone who is feeling ill.

Is there any insurance available to sailors in the United States navy? Yes, government insurance policies up to $10,000 are available to enlisted men.

How does the U. S. navy and the naval reserve decide what type of work a recruit is best fitted for? Before being assigned to duties, recruits are given the O'Rourke classification test which reveals their individual talents.

Who are the staff officers in the U. S. navy? There are four staff officer corps in the navy. They are: Medical officers, dental officers, supply officers and chaplains.

Is there such a thing as shore duty in the navy? Yes, but in most instances men are not assigned to shore duty unless they have been in the service for six years.

What is the "Medal of Honor" that is given to sailors in the U. S. navy? It is the highest individual award an enlisted man can receive. It is awarded by the president of the United States to the man who, in action involving actual conflict with the enemy, distinguishes himself conspicuously by gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of his own life.

If I have some specialized training must I serve as an apprentice seaman if I enlist in the U. S. naval reserve? No, any man with previous specialized training will be enlisted in a special naval reserve class and will receive petty officer's rating and pay.

Do seamen in the U. S. naval reserve receive the same pay as the seamen in the regular navy? Yes, the men in the naval reserve receive the same pay, food, entertainment, free medical and dental care, have the same opportunities for advancement and for training in skilled jobs as the seamen in the regular navy.

Does the sailor in the U. S. naval reserve wear a different uniform from that worn by regular navy sailors? No, there is no difference in the uniforms worn by the naval reservists and that worn by the regular navy seamen.

What are P. T. boats? P. T. designates the new type motor torpedo boats built in three experimental sizes, 59 feet, 81 feet, and 110 feet. These boats are capable of speeds in excess of 50 miles per hour and carry two or more torpedo tubes, depth charges, smoke-screen apparatus, and rapid fire anti-aircraft guns. These boats have not yet been incorporated into the fighting fleet in any great number.

What would happen if I enlisted in the U. S. navy and became sick? You would receive the finest medical care from trained navy doctors and surgeons absolutely free.

When do I get my first leave after I have completed your recruit training period.

Who pays for my meals and care when I am first sent to a U. S. navy training station? The navy furnishes you all transportation and meals.

If I attend a navy trade school, how many hours a week of school work will I have? Navy men in trade schools are given 32 hours of school work a week and about three hours of night watches.

Does a bluejacket have to pay for his own food and board out of his navy pay? No. The government gives you excellent food and board free.

Must my parents consent to my enlistment if I am under 21? Yes. All applicants must be at least 17 years of age and under 21 years of age they need the consent of their parents or guardian.

How did the term "out of his job" originate? In the days of sailing vessels, nationalities of boats could be distinguished by their type of sail. A Spanish ship had no jib, English ships had one jib and French ships usually two. The phrase was laxly used to apply ing and equipment. After four months he automatically becomes a seaman second class and his pay is raised to $36 a month.

There are four naval training stations where naval recruits are trained before going aboard ship or entering one of the trade schools. They are at Newport, R. I., Great Lakes, Ill., Norfolk, Va., and San Diego, Cal.

The days of sleeping in the swinging hammock are over, as far as the majority of Uncle Sam's sailors are concerned. Most of the new ships are outfitted with steel bunks which, when not used, fold against the casemate, or wall.

Sailors in the United States navy and naval reserve do not lack for reading facilities. Practically every ship is outfitted with a complete library where members of the crew can read for either relaxation or study.

Moving Toward a Vision. (Norfolk Daily News) For I dip into the future, far as human eye could see. Saw the Vision of the world, and all the wonder that would be; Saw the heavens fill with commerce, argosies of magic sails, Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales; Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rain'd a ghastly dew From the nations' airy navies grappling in the central blue; Far along the world-wide whisper of the south-wind rushing warm, With the standards of the peoples plunging through the thunder-storm x x x

Up to this point Alfred Lord Tennyson's vision of the world to be has been pretty well realized. Argosies of magic sails are dropping down from all parts of the world. The nations' airy navies are also raining a ghastly dew on the heads of helpless people, though it is doubtful if Lord Tennyson's mind could have conceived civilized people so depraved as to use the ships of the air to destroy whole cities by bombing. We have come that far. How about the rest of his prophecy? Till the war-drum throbb'd no longer, and the battle-flags were furled In the Parliament of man, the Federation of the world. There the common sense of most shall hold a fretful realm in awe, And the kindly earth shall slumber, lapt in universal law.

We haven't got to that happy point yet. Up to now we have done wonders in making machines to serve us, but we have put them to work serving our worse purposes. We have learned how to use our argosies of the air destructively much faster than we have been able to use them for wholesome purposes. We are even now putting bombers ahead of transport planes.

That is the fault of our civilization rather than of our engineers. We have developed our scientific side faster than our spiritual side. The reversal that we all hope for may come when this war ends. Our scientists may have learned by that time defensive tricks that will make our bombing planes useless. If they do they will be helping to realize the other vision of the poet, the organization of the world for peace. Our leaders have set a goal for a collective use of civilization's power to keep the fretful realms in line.

When the goal will be reached no one can say. It may be within a few years, perhaps in a century. But there is reason for faith that in spite of the discouragements of the last few years society is beginning to think along lines which will bring lasting peace.

In Fatal Accident. Roy E. Larsen, about 19, automobile dealer at Valley, was instantly killed Tuesday evening at midnight on Dodge street near Omaha when his car collided with a stock truck driven by Henry E. Wiegand of Peterburg, who was on his way to South Omaha market. W. J. Thomas, Wayne, had visited with Larsen at a car meeting in Omaha earlier that evening.

Washington, D. C., September 17, 1941. The Third district office and the people who work in the congressional library were shocked to learn of the death caused by heart failure of Frederick Berry, Jr., of Wayne. Frederick was a frequent visitor in the Third district office. He was employed in the congressional library where he was considered one of the most promising employees and where he held a very responsible position. He was not only very popular, but was considered one of the best posted young men in a library which contains more volumes than any other library in the world.

The Third district member returned to Washington Monday in time for the vote on the conference report on the tax bill. Members of the ways and means committee say the next tax bill is to total more than this new one which totals over 3 1/2 billion dollars and which will be felt by many million taxpayers next March.

The new lend-lease bill is expected to total over 5 billion dollars. Members of the committee on appropriations are working on that gigantic item now.

Clarence Cannon of Missouri is the new chairman of the house committee on appropriations. He succeeds Ed. Taylor of Colorado, who died recently. Cannon is considered a good friend of the farmer.

The Third district member has accepted requests from the army to attend at least one army maneuver next month and also is a member of the congressional group to review tests of new army equipment at Camp Belvoir which is located near Washington.

Members from farm and dairy states are holding a series of meetings in Washington to protest against importation of competitive farm products and also to protest against advantages given to margarine against butter.

Among visitors in the Third district office during the week were: Mr. and Mrs. James MacAleer of Norfolk; Misses Ora and Venetta Lund of Oakland; Mrs. William Coolidge of Sioux City, formerly of Norfolk; and Miss Bertha Frasse of Columbus.

Butter in Washington costs 47 cents a pound. Milk costs from 15 to 18 cents a quart. Eggs of good grade cost 56 cents. The clerks in stores here say the prices are changing so fast they can't keep up with the changes. Everything is upward.

The senatorial committee which has been investigating the gas and oil shortage seems to have blown up the "shortage" in its report. It finds that there is no gas drought, but rather a lack of the usual large surpluses and stocks on hand. At the same time the priorities administration refuses to approve the pipeline scheme which made its appearance about the time when the shortage was supposed to have happened. Such a pipe-line from Texas to Boston would have required 750,000 tons of steel and the services of thousands of workmen for six months or a year. There is a shortage of steel for naval and other war purposes and the priorities loss seemed to agree with the senate committee about their being no real shortage of petroleum products. Mr. Ickes, the oil czar, still insists that there is a real shortage, and declines to agree with the railway managers who state that they have idle tank cars in plenty to haul all the oil and gas the east may need. It rather looks as though there is a fight between the railways and some of the big oil companies involved somewhere in the middle, and congress may be called upon to do still more investigating of the matter.

The new automobile distance from Norfolk to Washington is 1,325 miles. This distance was registered on the Third district car during the present trip back. The trip was made via highway 81 to Sioux City, number 20 from Sioux City to Chicago, and number 30 from Chicago to the Turnpike in Pittsburgh.

The war department seems to be in something of an inside row as to who are army and who are not good army officers. Promotions go mostly by rule in the army, and seemingly some of those who want promotions have a poor idea of the worthiness of some of those who hold higher places. There may be other things involved. The army never is inclined to wash its linen before the public. But the department announces that it has plans for removing about 5,000 regular army, national guard and reserve officers on account of age. Some of these officers of long experience turn attention to the fact that Von Hindenburg was 74 when he became commander-in-chief of the German army in the first World war.

Secretary Morgenthau warns that sacrifices must be made to halt inflation. He says that taxes must be increased still more in order to curb spending. He advocates in addition to taxes, further curbing of installment buying, control of prices, and release of surplus farm products—all to prevent inflation. The new tax bill will be only a step in the direction Mr. Morgenthau feels should be followed. It seems odd that he should believe that the small spenders and the farmers are heading the country into inflationary ruin. Less than 10 per cent of national buying is done by installment purchasing, and the farmers who comprise 23 per cent of the population last year received less than 9 per cent of the national income. Furthermore, while practically all other commodities and wages have gone to and above 1922 levels, the highest in history, nearly all farm products are still much below the parity prices based on 1909-14 state of living. Apparently, Mr. Morgenthau and his army of treasury experts will have to look still further to find influences which are inflationary.

Many of the destroyers in the U. S. navy are named in honor of enlisted men who are remembered for outstanding acts of bravery. A record of the service rendered by the individual for whom a ship is named is emblazoned on a plaque mounted on the ship and a duplicate of each plaque hangs on the wall of Luce Hall in the United States naval academy.

In addition to the base pay received by enlisted men in the U. S. navy and naval reserve, men receive additional pay for certain types of work or honors received. For example, a seaman awarded the distinguished service medal, distinguished flying cross or navy cross, receives $5 extra a month; gun captains receive $10 to $5 a month extra; mail clerks, $10 to $30 a month extra; expert rifleman or expert pistol shot, $3 more a month; sharp-shooters, $1 extra per month; divers $10 to $20 extra each month, et cetera.

Uncle Sam's navy all seamen can buy cigarettes, candy and ice cream from the "canteen" at practically cost price.

A "Rookie" in the U. S. navy is called a "Boot." He is ranked as an apprentice seaman and receives $21 a month besides board, clothing and equipment. After four months he automatically becomes a seaman second class and his pay is raised to $36 a month.

There are four naval training stations where naval recruits are trained before going aboard ship or entering one of the trade schools. They are at Newport, R. I., Great Lakes, Ill., Norfolk, Va., and San Diego, Cal.

The days of sleeping in the swinging hammock are over, as far as the majority of Uncle Sam's sailors are concerned. Most of the new ships are outfitted with steel bunks which, when not used, fold against the casemate, or wall.

pedding, and with the bodies of two wounded men. When the group did reach the upper deck it was only to find some of the life boats had been wrecked during the explosion. It was necessary to pile the remaining boats full of people. The one in which Iev, Hult and himself was not water-proof, for as soon as it reached water it capsized. All the occupants of the boat had life-jackets and the water was warm so it was not physically uncomfortable, just the anguish of not knowing what was going to happen.

The party had not been in the water long when the German vessel which had torpedoed the Zam Zam approached and picked up the group. They were taken aboard the German vessel and given blankets and tea.

The following afternoon the Americans witnessed a terrifying scene. The ill-fated Zam Zam was blown up, cargo and all. The Germans had taken a few personal belongings from the vessel and returned them to the owners.

The American passengers were then transferred to another German vessel, and for 33 days the Americans spent the time as prisoners on this ship enroute the Atlantic. Finally on May 20, the vessel docked at a port in German-occupied France. The 138 American passengers, two wounded, were unable to leave, were permitted to leave the ship and to go to a hotel, and a short time later were allowed to sail for home.

Rev. Hult concluded by saying, "It was beautiful to see the Statue of Liberty again. A Jewish woman standing near me raised her moist eyes to the statue and said, 'This is a day I shall never forget. I was glad to leave Europe.'"

Christian Science Services

"Reality" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, September 28.
The Golden Text is: "Behold, I create new heavens and a new earth; and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind" (Isaiah 65:17).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth" (Colossians 3: 1, 2).
The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We must realize the ability of mental might to offset human misconceptions and to replace them with the life which is spiritual, not material. The great spiritual fact must be brought out that man is, not shall be, perfect and immortal. . . . Perfection underlies reality. Without perfection, nothing is wholly real" (pp. 428, 353).

Wildcats Preparing For Hard Tussle
(By Jugl Warner)
Wildcats of Wayne State, who topped Dakota Wesleyan in their curtain raiser last Friday night, face the tough, more experienced Coyote squad of University of South Dakota, Saturday afternoon on enemy grounds.
Coach Morrison summed the situation up in a few sentences: "With four weeks of hard practice the veteran-studded Dakota team will be a big favorite, but we will try to hold them to as few touchdowns as possible. Quite a few of the boys, in exit from our season opener were complaining of minor injuries or other ailments which will no doubt handicap our chances."
It is yet uncertain whether or not "Bud" Best and Jim Warren, veteran backs, will be in condition for the Wildcat-Coyote tussle, as both are still nursing wounds. Lineman Harold Fitch and Fullback Pete, Kozisek, both with leg injuries, are also doubtful of their limit to playing time.
To strengthen his backfield, Coach Morrison has moved Tackle Ed. Mandl to the fullback spot.

Has the Hired Man Left Us?
(Omaha Journal-Stockman)
The nation-wide complaint from farmers that hired help is scarce and unreliable has raised the question: What has become of the farm hand that stayed on the job the year 'round. These farm up-lifters and planners are always digging up something of this kind. Has the hired man, once a fixture on every farm and the center of most farm activities, passed permanently out of the picture or has he just changed his location and his job? Many farmers as well as other folks would like to be able to answer the question.
Reasons advanced for the apparent shortage of hired men are given as mechanized equipment, the draft and the luring away of farm help by higher wages in the cities. There can be no doubt that this is in large measure true; indeed, the trend has been going on for many years. At the same time, insists one leading farm writer, it is to be doubted that the hired man faces total extinction. Even the best of the machinery on farms needs somebody to look after it and operate it; the draft doesn't take a great proportion of the hired help, and your wise hired man knows that the city's high wages are usually a delusion.
If the time ever comes when there are no more hired men on our farms it will be too bad. The hired man, at his best, was a bucolic Admirable Crichton. He was hostler, farrier, milker, veterinarian, horticulturist, sheep shearer, poultryman, woodchopper, obstetrician and full of advice and opinions (some of them sensible) on all of earth's problems. He was seldom, except in novels, bothered very much by the starchy, disturbing dreams, the delusions of grandeur, the visions of vast accomplishment, which cause most men to have such a rough time of it through this brief tempestuous season known as life. There he was, patient, self sufficient and very nearly indispensable. It is probable that he is needed today almost as much as he ever was.
A saner view of the situation is that some day the mechanized farm will be the rule rather than the exception, the war will be over

Wildcats Preparing For Hard Tussle

(By Jugl Warner)
Wildcats of Wayne State, who topped Dakota Wesleyan in their curtain raiser last Friday night, face the tough, more experienced Coyote squad of University of South Dakota, Saturday afternoon on enemy grounds.
Coach Morrison summed the situation up in a few sentences: "With four weeks of hard practice the veteran-studded Dakota team will be a big favorite, but we will try to hold them to as few touchdowns as possible. Quite a few of the boys, in exit from our season opener were complaining of minor injuries or other ailments which will no doubt handicap our chances."
It is yet uncertain whether or not "Bud" Best and Jim Warren, veteran backs, will be in condition for the Wildcat-Coyote tussle, as both are still nursing wounds. Lineman Harold Fitch and Fullback Pete, Kozisek, both with leg injuries, are also doubtful of their limit to playing time.
To strengthen his backfield, Coach Morrison has moved Tackle Ed. Mandl to the fullback spot.

Pasture ridges, built by CCC camp cooperators with the assistance of camp technicians, have recently been constructed on the farms of Cliff Pennj EJA, Langenberg and R. D. Langenberg to aid in establishing permanent grass pastures. Concave or absorptive type pasture ridges was built. Usually ridges are planted to temporary pasture crop as rye or sudan for a season. This gives ridges a chance to become well packed prior to seeding of permanent grass and legume mixture. Recent heavy rains have packed ridges so the cooperators have already seeded these to permanent pasture crop. This type gives maximum water distribution with minimum dry space. Ridges do not interfere with tillage operations or mowing if done on the contour. These ridges can also be built by the farmer with implements on the average farm. A plow and disc are usually used. Owen Jenkins, CCC camp cooperator, is probably the first in Wayne county to build this type pasture ridge. He prepared almost 10 acres last spring, using contour tillage lines as guides. He made his ridges with a lister and gang plow. He blank listed in the fall to conserve rain and snow. In the spring he selected every third contour line ridge for permanent use. The adjacent lister ridge on either side was moved with the gang plow into the permanent ridge. The seedbed was then prepared and planted to sudan for 1941 crop year. Early in 1942 permanent pasture grass and legume mixture will be seeded. The ridge is uniform and the acreage produced a good stand of sudan. Chester Anderson, camp engineer, assisted Ellis Mohr build concrete pasture ridge on the farm operated by Mohr and under soil conservation agreement with the Wayne county district. Wayne High Wins
Over Pierce Team

Frank Sullivan's Eleven Is Easy Victor in First Game of Season.

Coach Frank Sullivan's Wayne high graders opened their 1941 season here Friday afternoon by scoring a decisive 30 to 6 victory over Archie McPherran's eleven from Pierce to take an early lead in the conference race.

The Blues started things off in the first quarter when Stull skirted left end for 65 yards and the first score, kicking the extra point. Breaking around right end in the second frame, Stull traveled 50 yards to give Wayne 13 points at the half.

Stull crossed the double line in the third quarter after racing 50 yards on an intercepted pass, and again when he smashed over from the 15-yard line. Kessler failed early in the fourth quarter after hitting the center of the line to break through for a 35 yard run. Harrison set up the scoring play of the game when he brought the ball to the 2-yard line on a brilliant run across the field. Stull went over for the score. Pierce's lone tally came in the 3rd period when a Wayne kick-off was taken on the 35-yard stripe and carried 65 yards through a broken field, to score the first points against a Sullivan-coached Wayne high team.

Coach McPherran's lads displayed a hard-hitting offensive that outwound the Wayne team 7 to 5. Weakness on the left side, however, gave Sullivan's backs the opportunities needed for their long touchdown runs.

Starting line-up for Wayne included Neokes and Harvey at ends, Bierman and Johnson at tackles, Greenwald and McPherran at guards, Tilton at center, Stull, Murray, Kessler and Harrison in the backfield.

Others who saw action were Strahan and Derry at end, Jensen and Larson at tackle, Gordon Johnson, Bob Meyer and Gordon Bressler at guard, Beale at center, Helgren, Bob Chan Meyer and Rod Love in the backfield.

At Stanton Friday, The Blues meet the strong Stanton team at Stanton this Friday for their first night game, returning to the Wayne field October 3 when they meet Hartington high under the college field lights.

Wildcats Take Season Opener

South Dakota Wesleyan Is Defeated by Wayne in Game Here Friday.

Wayne State's black and gold graders opened their 1941 campaign on the hill Friday evening by defeating South Dakota Wesleyan of Mitchell, 14 to 0, before a comparatively small opening game crowd. Both teams revealed a case of first game jitters, with fumbles and misplays being the rule rather than the exception.

Coach J. H. Morrison's Wildcats, however, showed greater superiority in their defensive play, repeatedly downing would-be Dakota runners behind the line of scrimmage and proving highly effective against the invaders' passing attack.

The Wildcats recovered a Dakota fumble on the visitors' 9, but failed to score. After an exchange of punts, however, Purtzger, Wayne back, intercepted a pass in mid-field and raced to the 1-yard line before being pulled down from behind. Kozisek plunged over on the third down, Fitch kicking the extra point.

Blocking a Wesleyan punt in the fourth period, Fitch and Webb recovered the ball in the end zone to give the Wildcats their second tally, with Fitch again converting on placement.

Wesleyan threatened once in the third period and again the fourth but an intercepted pass halted the first drive and stubborn Wildcat line stopped the visitors on the 5-yard marker in the latter.

Probably the most brilliant play of the evening, a quick kick by Wildcat Pennington, good for over 75 yards, sent the visitors back to their own 3-yard stripe. From this point on the Wayne team played almost entirely deep in Dakota territory.

Activity Booming In Oklahoma City, Resident Writes

Oklahoma City is described as a "beehive of activity" by Fritz K. H. Eickhoff of that place, formerly of Wayne. Will Rogers bomber plant five miles southwest is a city in itself; work is starting on a $13,000,000 air depot nine miles east; a new air training school is located 22 miles northwest; Wiley Post is north of the city; and the city field is being moved 10 miles northwest. A private field is under construction east of Oklahoma City, and it is rumored that a bomber assembly plant will be located there. Tulsa is building a large bomber plant and a powder plant in the northeast corner of the state. "Planes appear to be as numerous as flies in the sky."

The problem of getting materials is a real one. In oil field work, in which Mr. Eickhoff is employed, obtaining new pieces is practically impossible. Second-hand oil field pipe and supplies cost about as much as new and some even more. Every pipe and casing is cleaned, retreaded and dressed up for welding. To get a piece of welding rod, one must have a special order from the government. One electrical contractor told Mr. Eickhoff he may have to quit because of the difficulty of getting materials. A nail manufacturing plant in that vicinity did close for this reason.

Mr. Eickhoff has been watching with interest the development of oil in Nebraska. The company with which he is employed has some producing wells in this state. The Oklahoma City field, states Mr. Eickhoff, seems to be going down slowly. Books Accessioned At Wayne Library

"The Keys of the Kingdom," by A. J. Cronin, is one of the many interesting new books at Wayne library. It is Dr. Cronin's first novel in four years and is as dramatic as "Hatter's Castle," as moving as "The Citadel," more significant than either by reason of its theme.

"The Constitution of the United States," by James M. Beck, is revised, with additional material by James Truslow Adams. Since the book's original appearance it has stood as an eloquent exposition of the genesis, formulation and political philosophy of the American constitution.

Other new books are "The Sun Is My Doing," by Marguerite Steen, "The Grand Coulee Mystery," by Reed Fulton, "Wilma Rogers," by Sophia Engstrand, "Above Suspicion," by Helen MacInnes, "Sixteen Famous American Plays," "orphans of the Pacific," "The Philippines," by Florence Horn, "These Three Alone," which means know thyself, control thyself and give thyself, by Fred Taylor Wilson, "What Makes Sammy Run?" by Budd Schulberg, Webster's Quiz Kids Edition Dictionary.

The new international alvece books are "Teri Taru from Bora Bora," by Wm. S. Stone, "Pedro," by Marjorie Fleck and Karl Larson, "San Bao and His Adventure in Peking," by Marian Cannon, "The Blue Butterfly Goes to South America," by Ruth H. Hutchinson, "Manoel," by Claire Nelson Atwater and Theresa Kalab.

The library has also received two indexes, one for the Reader's Digest from 1935 to 1940, and the topical index to the National Geographic magazine.
