

Season Animates Town and Countryside During Early Morning Hours — Science of Repairing Teeth — College Improvement — Ups and Downs.

The business district was aglow and agog with the opening of the pheasant season Thursday morning. A steady procession of automobile lights poured in from the south for an hour after 5 o'clock, and the streets were as animated as an average Saturday night.

Pheasants have been reported numerous, but hard to get on account of tall and heavy-folaged corn and thick undergrowth.

Painless Dentistry. Dentistry has become almost painless in truth—not a mere grandiose claim—and suffering over a tooth-pulling experience which used to be an excruciating ordeal, is now largely restricted to preliminary flights of the imagination.

Ease and Luxury. A visit to the new student-union building at the college reveals gratifying comfort and luxury. It has a spacious room for banquets and dancing, places for recreation, study and visiting.

Life's Vicissitudes. Life is hectic—that is, it is up and down. It has its lights and shadows. People do not know why they are here, nor exactly where they go when the earthly curtain descends.

Fond parents slave and pinch along to keep their descendants from hard work and gnawing want, not only for the prudences that they what they have, but fail in qualities essential to earn a livelihood.

Dates Are Announced. The district one-act play and speech contest will be held at the Wayne college February 20 and 21. The district music contest will be April 17 and 18.

Miss Lois Crouch, Wayne college librarian, was elected vice president for 1941-42 in the Nebraska Library association which held its 46th annual convention at Grand Island October 16 to 18.

To Present Recital At Wayne School

Gertrude Berggren

Donald Dame

The recital of Gertrude Berggren, contralto, and Donald Dame, tenor, who appear at the college auditorium Thursday evening, October 30, at 8 o'clock, has the distinction of being one of the few combinations of its kind in the country.

Ordinarily a tenor and a soprano are paired for joint performances, or else a baritone and a soprano make up a team. But Wayne music lovers who hear this combination will marvel at the beauty of the effects they achieve. Together they sing, among others, "Largo" from "Xerxes" by Handel; "The Gypsies" by Brahms; "O Lovely Night" by Ronald; and "Will You Remember" from "Maytime" by Romberg.

Miss Berggren is a native of Connecticut, a member of a family of singers (there are 10 in the family) who have considered that a home gathering is incomplete without a full round of Swedish and English songs and hymns. She is one of the regular staff singers of the N. B. C.

Mr. Dame is a native of Ohio, and a musical product of the Juilliard school in New York. He has recently been selected to sing the role of the Devil in the new American opera, "The Devil and Daniel Webster," by Stephen Vincent Benet and Douglas Moore.

Gusher Is Boon To Little Church

Civil War Veteran Takes First Plane Ride on 98th Birthday.

A little Baptist congregation in New York plans a real Thanksgiving service. The church was in deep repair, the minister had to leave because he was unpaid, the congregation of 300 dwindled to 10. Recently an oil gusher was found on the church yard. The $10 daily income will fix the church edifice, secure a minister and, it is hoped, build up the attendance.

Chandler Elliott, Civil war veteran, took his first plane ride on his 98th birthday.

A gray fox, exhibited three years in a New York museum, refused to take his freedom when set loose. The animal had to be pushed out and later it returned to a lair in the museum garden.

Clutching a handful of flowers, a little colored boy in the foyer of a Dallas hotel asked mournfully, "Is this here a convention or what? It looks like one but it don't buy like one. They all says they got plenty of flowers." It was a convention full right of Texas florists.

To satisfy the demand for grotesque-faced pumpkins for Halloween, an Ohio farmer has conceived the idea of growing the pumpkins in aluminum molds to give them the shape of such faces. The molds can be used on any bulbular growth.

Persons who attended the Hopi snake dance, supplication for rain, were unable to get home for a time because of the resulting deluge. A torrent 75 yards wide swept through the dry valley in Arizona.

Ira Stormes was a one-man convention. The 95-year-old Civil war veteran is the only G. A. R. survivor in Utah. At the encampment in Salt Lake he nominated, and elected himself commander.

Larry Stein, 11, learned in civics that the way to get things done is to go right to the top man with your case. When he and other youngsters were ordered not to play on the street, Larry wrote the city manager asking that a dump be converted into a playground. The request was granted.

L. E. Phillips, former Iowa farm boy who achieved wealth and fame through development of Oklahoma oil, has finally realized his lifelong ambition to see the Iowa state fair. When he and his two brothers were young they were so poor they could not have gone to the fair if it had been across the road. They went to Indian territory in Oklahoma and now own the Phillips Petroleum company.

In a New Mexico flood Mrs. McReynolds shared a tree with two rattlesnakes. When the snakes got too familiar she broke off the limb

Ministry students at the Baptist university must take their own medicine. Their sermons are recorded and played back to them so they can catch their own faults.

An English bulldog in Grand Island has learned to push tricycles for little boys of the neighborhood and they think it great sport.

Henry Peterson took a job as postoffice clerk in Denver in 1901 and everything went fine for 10 years. Then they wanted to promote him to supervisor and he refused. Every year officials tried to get him to take a better position and more pay but he declined. He was satisfied after seeing supervisors turn gray and get jump nerves from the responsibility.

Soldiers, enraged home from maneuvers, bathed in a creek and used so much soap that a nearby sawmill had to close down. The mill boiler was full of soapsuds and management was afraid of an explosion.

THURSDAY, October 16, 1941

IN HIS West Point Republican, Emil VonSeggern calls attention to a reported paper shortage and offers some sensible advice to Washington bureaus which, however, they will carefully sidestep.

THE STATE UNIVERSITY has been in the habit of granting a restricted number of so-called complimentary tickets for football games to newspapers in exchange for publicity.

THE TIMELY dissolution of different government organizations, set up to relieve depression distress, now supplanted by defense spending, is discussed in the interest of important economy by the Norfolk Daily News with this conclusion:

Limping defense production could be largely cured by stopping strike interference. There is every reason why labor organizations should join wholeheartedly in the movement to protect democracy.

The Omaha Journal-Stockman urges farmers to look out for proper housing of farm implements. "A tour of the country," says that newspaper, "affords ample evidence of carelessness and this loss amounts to many thousands of dollars every year."

Head of Nebraska safety patrol congratulates Wayne county over absence of fatal automobile accidents during September.

fatal automobile accidents during September. However, a record of twenty deaths due to motor vehicle traffic accidents in other parts of the state is emphasized.

We are in for an influenza epidemic of the proportions of the one that swept the country in 1916, according to the judgment of the American Public Health association which convened last week.

Omaha's Tribe of Yessir, scheduled to appear in Wayne tonight, puts on a very attractive performance, and it has the noble purpose of creating good will—something that needs cultivating everywhere.

Some careless disregard of farm property by pheasant hunters is reported. We are informed that some chickens were taken for pheasants at one place.

We suspect from Alf M. Landon's speech in Kansas City that he thinks eight years of dizzy and costly experimenting have not taught new dealers enough about economics to handle the present emergency efficiently.

Worth Working For. (Industrial Press Service) "This is your country and my country. All of us belong to it; all of us own it; all of us help run it."

In those words William S. Knudsen summed up the things that America is preparing to defend. Today our industry is turning out growing mountains of defense materials and we are girding ourselves for sacrifices so that we can preserve this "pretty good way of living."

Will It Be a Mirage? (Norfolk Daily News) A writer in the Omaha World-Herald reviews the government's experience with Nebraska's rehabilitation projects to lead up to his main question: "Will Mirage Flats be a mirage?"

The government's attempt to deal with farm rehabilitation has been a sad farce. It bought a thousand acres of Nebraska land and put farmers on small tracts with the mistaken notion they could earn their living.

When other projects failed because of incompetent and visionary administration, it was said that they were worth the cost for the experience gained. But government agencies don't seem to profit by experience.

The Mirage Flats irrigation project is likely to turn out one of these. This is just half the amount estimated to be necessary to produce good crops.

It doesn't look like it, but this will not discourage the planners who seem to be of a mind to ignore practical problems when they decide to get a spending program under way.

Everybody Happy. (Norfolk Daily News) Wahoo is talking about the boom that will come with the $25,000,000 defense plant, and the towns that didn't get the plant are pointing to the slump that will come as the aftermath when the plant closes.

WAHOO TO BOOM. Under the impetus of 25 millions to be spent in a government defense plant, the population of Wahoo will quickly multiply, and real estate prices will experience a large upswing.

The civil protection group is concerned with protection of civil liberties, maintenance of law and order and measures to guard against sabotage and subversive activities through the enforcement of law and the exercise of established police powers.

Housing, power and transportation work includes provision of housing, particularly for people of low income and for army and navy personnel, also provision of other buildings and structures, supervision of power production and transmission, facilitation of transportation on highways and at airports.

Industrial resources division will be concerned with industrial surveys; processing of mineral, petroleum and other non-agricultural materials; manufacturing operations; development and organization of necessary facilities for such processing and manufacturing.

Colonel Wilbur explained the need for preparation whether or not the occasion ever arises for the use of defense measures.

Mrs. Hahn urged women to realize that their important function is to maintain morale at home and among the troops. Men serve in camps, deservable letters and papers, contact with ministers and many other services that make them happier.

GRIM WAR. War is a grim monster. People accustomed to peace and to sense of security, bred by America's traditions, look aghast at the cruel slaughter and ruin abroad.

Gasoline Refund Law Is Violated

Omaha World-Herald, Oct. 11: "The first violation of the state's new gasoline refund law was reported today by John Ainlay, director of the motor fuels division and administrator of the act.

"Ainlay said William Lanspa, farmer near Brainard, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs in the Butler county court on the state's complaint charging him with filing a refund claim voucher requesting a refund on fuel not used solely for agricultural purposes. His permit to purchase refund fuel has been cancelled and cannot be renewed for a year.

"Each refund permit issued, Ainlay declared, contained a warning that if the user took advantage of the refund, he would be expected to comply with the law. Prosecutions for violations are necessary to insure successful operation, he stated."

Peter Anderson, 67, was crushed to death last Thursday afternoon when the corn sheller on which he was riding upset into a ditch three miles north of Pilger. A crew of workmen had to use spades to dig Mr. Anderson from beneath the heavy machine.

Anderson was riding on the side of a sheller drawn by a tractor driven by Wm. O'Brien, also of Pilger. The men were enroute to the Martin Willers farm to do shelling. O'Brien lost control of the tractor when something went wrong with the steering and the tractor pulled the sheller over. Anderson was unable to leap to safety.

National Defense Is Part of Program

Strengthening national defense has been one of the major objectives of the WPA program since its inception in 1935, according to a report provided by W. P. Canning. This agency, primarily involved in providing public work for unemployed, has constructed, enlarged or otherwise improved 550 airport landing fields, this being 85 per cent of all work done on American airports in the period.

In Nebraska, WPA has constructed one new airport and landing field, this at Grand Island. It has made improvements to five and additions to two. North Platte, Omaha, Lincoln, Alliance, Hastings and Fort Crook have had airport work done, and an emergency landing field was built at Clay Center.

Problem of Bugs Leads to Control

The problem of box elder bugs has led to many inquiries as to how to get rid of the pests. Douglas Tate of the agricultural college, says that no thoroughly practical and effective way of eliminating the bugs for good in any particular area is known. However, large numbers can be killed when they have collected in warm spots such as the south side of a building.

Kerosene spray or other strong insecticide sprayed on the bugs will kill them. When there is paint or vegetation which such sprays will damage a mixture can be used. This consists of a commercial household soap called "Dreft" which is mixed with water at the rate of 4 to 6 tablespoons per gallon of water. This mixture should be sprayed directly on the bugs. It acts slowly and the full effect may not take place for three or four days.

A leaflet entitled "Box Elder Bugs," by O. S. Baire can be obtained by sending a postcard request to the Entomology Department, College of Agriculture, Lincoln. The leaflet goes into detail concerning box elder control methods.

Has Tonsil Operation. Miss Marjorie Harrison had a tonsil operation Friday at a local hospital.

Flight Training To Be Explained

Public Is Invited to Hear Aviation Cadet Board Speak at College.

Opportunities for navy flight training open to college men will be explained at Wayne college October 31 at 9 p. m., by a traveling U. S. naval aviation cadet selection board, composed of Lieut. G. G. Price, USNR, a naval aviator, and Lieut. (jg) Frederic A. Speer, medical corps, USNR, an aviation flight examiner. A short movie, "The Battle," will be shown. The public is invited.

With the navy now operating on all oceans and seas from Ras El Adabiich on the Red sea to Thistil Fjord in Iceland and with the increasing importance of aviation in the fleet, it is the board's purpose to explain the opportunity existing for young men to qualify as pilots in the rapidly expanding aeronautical arm of the U. S. navy. This opportunity for flight training leading to a commission is open to men between the ages of 20 and 27 who have had, as a minimum, 50 per cent of the credits necessary to receive a degree, and who can pass a rigid physical examination.

Men selected for flight training in the navy start their aviation career at one of 15 reserve air bases where they spend two months under instruction in practical flying and in studying related aviation subjects. Men from Nebraska are first sent to the U. S. navy reserve air base located at Fairfax airport in Kansas City, Kan. After qualifying for solo and upon receiving 12 hours of solo flying, the flying students are sent to one of three reception centers for approximately one month.

These centers are located at Dallas; Texas; Atlanta, Ga., and New Orleans, La. Upon receiving their appointment as aviation cadets, the men are ordered to one of three air training schools located at Pensacola and Jacksonville, Fla., and Corpus Christi, Texas. While under instruction, the cadet receives $75 a month, complete uniforms, his food and quarters, and a $10,000 government life insurance policy on which the government pays the premiums. Upon graduation, cadets are commissioned ensigns in the U. S. navy reserve and are ordered to duty in one of the aviation squadrons with the fleet.

As an ensign, pay is $215.50 a month, including all allowances. In addition, a bonus of $500 is paid for each year on duty as an officer. Many young men who have completed their training in the navy now hold responsible positions with airlines and aircraft manufacturing companies. Each year the president commissions approximately 400 reserve officers in the regular navy and those officers can expect to make naval aviation a life-time career.

Lieut. Price is well qualified to represent the navy in this area. He was born in Missouri, attended Missouri and Southern California universities. Upon completing navy flight training in 1930, he was commissioned and assigned duty with a patrol plane squadron at San Diego. He instructed flying for a number of years, and then was a pilot for American airlines.

From Ponca Journal for October 15, 1885: The fiercest and most widespread prairie fire since the settlement of this area, is raging in Pierce, Wayne, Knox and Cedar counties.

As nearly as can be determined the fire started in Knox county, near the Santee reservation, crept over into Pierce county and west part of Cedar, down into Wayne and across into northern Pierce county.

A high wind the past 24 hours made the fire travel with unprecedented rapidity. Everything of light description in the way of the rushing flood of flame has been literally swept off like chaff on a threshing floor.

Students Compete In County Contest

Four Are to Be Chosen for Entrance in District Citizenship Event

Four students, two boys and two girls, from each high school in Wayne county will compete in the young citizens contest to be conducted by Supt. F. B. Decker for Wayne county in the district court room Saturday, November 1, beginning at 9 a. m. From this county two boys and two girls will be chosen as most outstanding and their papers will be checked with other county winners. Four are selected from each of 13 districts to go to Omaha for the state competition November 19 and 20. The state's 10 most outstanding young citizens will then be chosen. They will be honored at a banquet in the city and will be presented medals.

The 52 winners from the 13 districts will be provided free trips to Omaha with entertainment interspersing the examinations.

Patricia Bressler, Josephine Alford, Warren Nauks, and Kenneth Whorton, all of Wayne college high, were Wayne county's outstanding young citizens in last year's contest.

Health, intelligence and integrity are the basis for selecting winners in the contest.
