A meeting of the Southeastern Nebraska Press association at Nebraska City Friday developed discussion of looming problems - wage and hour law, social security tax and labor union interference.

Mounting demands on rural publications as other comparatively small enterprises, in the way of so-called social security and other taxes, cause much concern.

Nebraska City is one of the oldest communities in the state. The Nebraska News-Press is Nebraska's oldest newspaper.

It is probable crops have been better in parts of northeast Nebraska this year than they have been in southeastern sections.

A comely Norfolk maiden distributed fresh blossoms in Wayne to advertise a flower show scheduled for this week.

The girl who aroused from semiconsciousness in an Indianapolis hospital, to exclaim that a room-mate of her family had just died, suggests telepathy or word from the spirit world.

Senator Speaks At Chapel Here

Special Armistice Service Is Conducted Tuesday At State College.

Wayne State Teachers college Tuesday morning gave a special, patriotic, armistice day program, featuring an address by William A. Crossland, senator for the 16th district of Nebraska.

Introducing the program was a number from the college band, the "Over There Fantasia," arranged by Ferdie Grofe.

Senator Crossland spoke on the theme, "Some American Traditions." The armistice of 1918, according to the senator, was merely an armistice and World War I failed to make the world safe for democracy.

Mr. Crossland singled out two American traditions for comment: The system of checks and balances in government and the right of free speech.

In speaking of the first tradition, the senator expressed himself as deploring the growth of federal power except in time of stress and emergency.

Winside Doctor Passes at Home

Rites for Dr. B. M. McIntyre Held Monday Morning at St. Mary's Church.

Prospects for a fine array of 4-11 baby beeves in Wayne county the coming year are good. Twelve of the young folks bought 13 Hereford calves which were selected for their last week by Leland Herman, Henry Willers and Agent Chet Walters who visited herds near Gordon and Irwin. The three went Wednesday and returned Saturday.

To avoid any possible partiality and to allow the young folks experience in picking calves, the beeves were auctioned to the 4-H members, Gus Harkens conducting the sale. The 13 calves weighed 5,650 pounds when bought. When they arrived in Wayne they weighed 5,220 pounds or had lost 7.61 per cent.

The men paid $758.30 for the calves at the ranches of Frank DeFrance of Gordon, and Lester and Dennis Hathorn of Irwin, where they were selected. Vaccination and trucking made the total cost $778.98. At the auction the beeves brought $803.30. The difference between $778.98 and $803.30 was prorated according to weight of the calves so that the boys paid the exact amount of the purchase price.

Eugene, Warren and Gordon Helgren, Marvin Baird, Melvin Johnson, Kenneth Splitzberger, John and Billie Suehl, Wendel Willers, Roy Greunke and his brother, and Gilbert Splitzberger were purchasers. Billie Suehl bought two calves.

DOUBLE-BARRELLED THANKSGIVING DAY TO END THIS YEAR

The president has announced that he will stick to his plan to observe Thanksgiving a week early this year, but will change back to the traditional date next year. Accordingly, November 20, next week, will be set apart for the federal government and its employees to feel thankful. Therefore, in order to reach Herald subscribers on time, next week's edition will be published Tuesday night and circulated Wednesday. Correspondents and advertisers should have their copy in one day earlier than usual. As past office forces, including carriers, will be working on November 27, when Nebraska observes the holiday, the Herald will be issued and distributed at the regular time. The prospect for harmony in fixing the Thanksgiving date on the part of national and state governments is encouraging. The present arrangement, due to a wild guess as to practicability, has proved a serious inconvenience. The return to normal will be one extra reason for thanksgiving.

Festoons Come For Decorating

The Chamber of Commerce Wednesday received two and a half tons of Christmas decorations for the business district. These will be placed on the fronts of business houses, on electroliers and across streets.

First Aid Class Gets Good Start

Red Cross first aid class, sponsored by the Parent-Teacher association and conducted by Red Cross instructors, met at the city school November 5 with 27 enrolled. Prof. K. N. Parke had charge and urges the enrollment of many more in this first aid work.

More and more classes of Red Cross first aid are being requested of chapters. It is easy to account for the heavy demand. Accidents are increasing in all categories. The Red Cross first aid courses are recognized as providing practical and thoroughly sound training for men and women so that they may be prepared in emergencies to care for those who have been injured. The training has a definite and important place in the great program of national defense.

Upwards of 2,500,000 persons have been trained in Red Cross first aid; it is one of the oldest services of the organization. Those who enroll are urged to work for the first aid certificate, but this is not compulsory.

First aid class will meet every Thursday night in the activities room at the high school building at 8 o'clock. The class is still open for those who wish to start their attendance at tonight's session. For the information of those who enrolled last week, the first aid books have been received, and may be secured from Mrs. L. F. Perry.

City to Furnish Holiday Prizes

Contract for Well at Park Is Let by Council at Tuesday Session.

Prizes for the annual pre-Christmas home lighting contest will be provided by the city, according to action taken Tuesday evening by the council. The lighting committee, with Carl Wright chairman, will make the selection. Judging will be done by the Chamber of Commerce.

City officials Tuesday let contract for digging the well at the new park north of town to Conrad Wegner of Stanton, for $337.50. Other bidders were F. W. Salmon of Wakefield, and Olson & Anderson of Oakland. The well will be sunk as soon as materials arrive. Though these are being delayed by defense activities, it is expected that supplies will come so that the work can be done this winter.

As soon as cold weather makes it necessary to close paving activities at the northwest edge of town, WPA labor will be transferred to the park. The city expects that one of the four blocks of paving is all that will be completed this fall. Cold halts such work, and WPA is allowed to continue but one project at a time now.

After WPA finishes paving work for the season, the men plan to move the club house from the former golf grounds to the new park site. They will also do some fine-grading and other work at the grounds. Seedlings will start early in the spring.

The council will call a public hearing on the zoning commission's report at the next regular meeting November 25.

Bids Are Opened On New Stadium

Contracts Will Be Approved By Architect Before Being Announced.

Wayne college building committee, in session here Tuesday, opened bids and let contracts for steel for the new stadium. These must be approved by Architect John Latenser, Omaha, before they can be announced.

The building committee includes Dr. J. T. Anderson, Dr. Walter Benjathack and Comptroller Fred W. Anderson, the last of Lincoln.

The old frame stadium at the college athletic field has been razed and the site is ready for the new structure. Due to the uncertainty of supplies and labor, the committee does not know whether work on the new stadium will start this fall or next spring.

born three sons, Harold, Walter and John. The first two named died when they were small boys.

Dr. McIntyre is survived by his widow, Catherine, and his son, John, both of Winside. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Delia Tucker and Mrs. Marilla Ackley of New Haven, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. H. T. McManus of Kansas City, Mo., and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Welch of Omaha, were out-of-town relatives here for the funeral services.

Pays Tribute to Doctor.
Attorney H. E. Siman, personal friend of Dr. McIntyre, pays tribute to Dr. McIntyre and his 35 years' service to Winside community as follows:

"While no star of destiny dangled over his cradle when he was born, Dr. McIntyre was imbued with the spirit of the pioneer and the builder, fabricating a nature of loyalty and faithfulness to his community and to his fellow man. He was ever sympathetic to those with cares—ever cheerful to those who were sad. Few indeed have had the courage and the fortitude to forget self and minister to others as did Dr. McIntyre, when he himself, for several years past, walked in the shadow of death, of which he was fully aware. Five years ago he learned that he was afflicted with an incurable malady, that his days were numbered and only a few months or at most a very few years remained to him. Yet, with the grim specter ever beckoning, he refused to give up or acknowledge defeat. These inherent qualities, which made him honored, respected and beloved by all who knew him did not, even when death's icy finger pointed, desert him. His sincere appreciation for such trivial service, as could be rendered, weeks and months before his death, will remain as memories, mitigating the sorrow of those who knew him best and upon whom, by the ties of blood, he had claims.

"He possessed a satisfying philosophy of life. He believed that wrapped up in a life of service and friendships, there was something more than just a beautiful conception. He did not subscribe to the theory that life is but a 'vale of tears' and heartaches and sorrows. He did not believe that man or woman, endowed with intellect and souls, with courage, convictions and conscience, should pass away his or her span of life profitless to himself and to his fellow man. He did not believe that mankind should reel off the years blinded to the beauty and grandeur of nature—with unseeing eyes looking upon the jewelry of the heavens and of the earth, ignorant and unmindful of his relations and his duties to his fellows.

"He was more than a physician. He was a naturalist. He loved birds and all animal life. He loved the flowers and vegetation that nature produces.

"He preferred to believe that there rests somewhere a supreme purpose; that a rich and bountiful nature has provided humanity with comforts and blessings of this life, surrounded each with others, mindful of help and assistance in their weakness and despair and misery and want, that even in circumstances limited there is simple opportunity for those noble attributes and qualities that ornament and beautify the life of such as he.

"Such was the philosophy of Dr. McIntyre. That he kept faith with his philosophy is testified to by the regard and esteem in which he was held by the people of his own community and those who knew him best. The marble which will mark his grave needs no other epitaph. He rests in peace, in the grandeur of his own simplicity. The wild flowers, that he loved so well, and the uncaged bird, and all that speaks of nature will gather around his grave."

try. She will get down to the heart of P. T. A. work in the leadership training she will bring here. Mrs. Pierce, as state president, will avail herself of the opportunity to observe the follow-up of last month's state convention when an expanded program covering a wide field of action in connection with the national emergency was adopted. The aim of the congress is that every child in the state be furnished with a food habit-forming chart and leaflets, "Every Day Eat This Way."

steel with steel. And voluntary enlistment in Red Cross work—through membership—will prove that we have the heart as well as the sinews to keep ourselves strong and free.

"The congress has charged our Red Cross with well-defined obligations to our soldiers and sailors, and to their families defending the home front. The vast expansion in our armed forces has increased the cost of this traditional Red Cross work more than we realize. For every member who supported these services to the armed forces two years ago, ten are needed today.

"Red Cross contributions to our national defense, extend far beyond the welfare problems of service men and their families. The Red Cross is playing a major role in civilian defense preparedness. Because of its long experience in community service through its 3,700 local chapters, the gigantic task faced by civilian defense coordinators can be more easily achieved. The organization's long established work in disaster relief, emergency first aid and other essential fields has played a large part in strengthening our home defense.

"Our citizens make possible this work, so important to our national unity, both through their membership dollars and voluntary participation in Red Cross services. This support must be increased very substantially this year. As chief executive of the United States and president of the Red Cross, I therefore strongly urge every American to enroll in the American Red Cross."

Peruvians Are Easily Swayed By Democracy and Dictatorship

Peruvians are easily swayed by changes in world events and their attitude toward the axis and democracy is by no means fixed, according to James C. Carey, former Wayne student who is teaching in Lima, Peru. Mrs. Carey, the former Wendell Malone, is also in the same school. Mr. Carey presents conclusions drawn from a teacher's standpoint with the reservation that they might change between the time they are written (October 14 and the time they reach the United States).

First of all there is an open-faced, clear-eyed scrutiny of the wares sold by the representatives of Germany and Italy. There are also many Japanese here but they are not in very good repute as a group. The average Peruvian is shopping around, looking for a bargain and he searches on the bargain counters of Germany just as he does on the United States basement departments. I will leave Italy out of the picture as her influence is not very strong in comparison. Already I see that there appears to be a comparison of German "fire sales" with United States hold-overs.

Looking at past records in this land there appears to be little difference. Most of the rating must be considered purely from business relations. Germany has built some cars, locks, guns, engineering and surveying equipment, as well as many other things for Peru. Her business representatives have probably as good or better an account book to open to the shopper. Yes, it is true the North American business men of 20 years ago did not worry much about trade-tion or San Francisco. The programs in English and the English news from Berlin do not sound very weighty to me but then too many countries have under-estimated the "Dr. Goebbels" and "Company" goals for me hurriedly to pass it by. What comes in Spanish doesn't worry me as it is too difficult for me to translate it, and the same is true for German programs.

"I work in a North American school. We are called 'The American School' and yet in various classes of history different boys stand up and bravely state that they want Germany to win the war. I always encourage them to speak their minds and to state their arguments. Usually their reasons rest most heavily upon economic factors. Many Peruvians have a blind faith in machines. Also there is great interest in a planned economy. Yes, there is a great interest in liberty, freedom, and the like but then it is a little difficult to eat. If this state exists in our schools then what exists in German schools, Italian schools, Peruvian schools, Japanese schools, and any other schools?

Also, I know several North American business men who openly state that Germany will win the war and that they think she deserves to win. "Hitler's and Mussolini's pictures may hang on home and store walls but then why not for Franklin D. Roosevelt is confidently smiling at me from the back wall of my study."

"The seeds of Hitler's 'pure race biology' seem to have fallen on rocky ground here for I see very little of it sprouting. But for what he has lost there he has made up by gaining momentum and enthusiasm by success after success. When he has the rest of the world under his thumb we will not oppose him here in Peru. In this land where sentiment and public feeling go up and down much faster than the thermometer there is no way of judging which stack of goods may be popular tomorrow."

"Manuel Prado, president of Peru, is a good friend of the United States and he is a far-seeing man who believes in western hemispheric solidarity but that does not mean that he is going to send his boys over to fight war for England or that he will be in a hurry to meet Adolf on the doorstep when the 'foes' pay a visit up north of the Rio Grande some bright day. Getting down to 'hard facts' yes, I think that the majority of Peruvians will throw in their lot with Uncle Sam if the two merchants should ever meet head-on. But in the present world struggle it is not numbers that bear the brunt of the attack. A few well-placed agents might be worth more than a few million friendly souls who really want no fight with nobody. And what could one or two men in control of the power and water resources do to New York City on some dark night (or even on a nice bright moon-lit night). When that answer is totaled then Peru always rests in the hands of a much smaller group of men, comparatively speaking than does the destiny of United States. There are no 'wooden horses'.

"The bargain season is just open and there will be a lot of competitors bending over backwards to make a sale before the spring line comes in. And by the way, Germany's attack on Russia caused even greater confusion down here than it did in our rich Uncle's own front yard."

Griffith accompanied Genevieve Lundak to Pierce Thursday and appeared in a musical program for a mother-daughter banquet. Miss Lundak spent the night in the Frank Griffith home.

At Shirley Sprague's. Mrs. Shirley Sprague entertained her Sunday school class of girls at a dinner Sunday.

National Weakness THOSE accustomed to laudering the national administration with encomiums...

Touching the need of overcoming apathy and welding the country together in one determined accord...

"It isn't Hitler's preposterous propaganda that is weakening American morale and unity. It isn't Lindbergh or Hoover or Wheeler or the America First organization..."

Education THIS being Education week, instituted under the influence of the American Legion...

We have a suspicion that the illiteracy which proved a handicap in World War No. 1 was contributed largely by the south where education has been comparatively neglected...

Dr. Dienst for Superintendent IF C. W. TAYLOR, who has served as state superintendent of public instruction faithfully for many years...

Dr. Dienst's qualifications are rooted in thorough training and broad experience. His Ph. D. degree was awarded by Columbia University...

The president's address at the grave of the unknown soldier on Armistice day did not minimize sacrifices that were relieved with cessation of hostilities...

Secretary Morgenthau proposes a fifteen per cent payroll tax in addition to the social security cost. It is reported that the attorney general has sent questionnaires to many advertisers...

employers for purposes of taxation. The greater the advertising, the greater the cash returns and the greater the tax possibilities.

As pointed out in a communication to the Herald, the present need is not for federal educational bureaus, but for strong leadership in usual school and college channels.

A railroad strike is now threatened, and if it is permitted, as it should not be, it would place a serious check on defense building.

It is probably true that a few active enemies are desirable as sources of stimulation and courage. It is probably a fact that no opposition, no adverse criticism denote no color and no vigor with consequent lack of worthwhile achievement.

The corn crop now being gathered around Wayne is reported the largest and best in over twenty years.

Government Competition Fatal

As the government enters more and more into private business in pushing our tremendous national defense program...

It is no tribute to the intelligence of American voters that a preponderant part of the debate surrounding the efficacy of public versus private undertakings, hinges on which can do a thing the cheapest.

The surest way to destroy the whole free enterprise system would be to place the nation's financial credit entirely in the hands of government.

They realize that it is not a question of promoting business. It is a question of retaining the right to do business in the traditional American manner.

Stimulating Devotion

The Triple-A Times, issued at Center, Knox county, presents the following Thanksgiving editorial which is a strong stimulant to love of free America:

"With Thanksgiving just around the corner the old practice of counting our blessings may not come amiss. Have you stopped to think about yours?"

"As Johnny and Mary started for school this morning, fortified with all the breakfast they would eat, each looking like a tub bear in his zipped-up snow suit...

"This evening Dad and Son will come from a day's cornhusking, tired and hungry, but privileged to enjoy a hearty meal, to listen to whatever radio program they desire...

"Then there is the home circle where we work a little and play a little, cry a little and laugh a little, but love a heap. No children are in community homes with Mother and Dad assigned to different places.

"A drive through the country today shows piles of yellow corn, many pigs munching greedily, and cattle growing fatter day by day.

CAPITALISM

Capitalism does not mean a system by which the poor are oppressed by the rich. It means freedom of private investment—liberty to engage in agriculture, business or manufacturing...

ENCOURAGING

Pressure on the government to stop unnecessary non-defense spending is gaining headway. Depending alphabetically designated bureaus are being reduced, and the time may not be distant when, as taxpayers profoundly hope, no community projects will be supported by federal appropriations.

CONGRESS AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C., November 3, 1941.

Chris Milius, president of the Nebraska Farmers Union, has been in town several days. Why Nebraskans have left home and how to bring back the population who have left, may be a subject which will be examined during a meeting of the select congressional committee on interstate migration at Hastings, Neb., Monday, November 21, and at Omaha, Tuesday, November 25.

Squash Valuable Source of Food

Squash is one of the vegetables that truly belongs to autumn's color scheme of brown, yellow and russet. The history of this vegetable closely parallels the discovery of the new world and the settlement of America. Early American colonists found that their Indian neighbors were cultivating squashes and pumpkins in fields of maize.

Squash is a good source of vitamin A, which helps protect against night blindness and aids the body in resisting infections, and vitamin B, which promotes growth and maintains good nerve health. The ideal temperature for keeping squash is about 55 degrees F., to retain its quality.

Good squashes have a bright clear color and are heavy for their size, have a hard rind and do not appear damp or water-soaked. Farmers have learned that however poetical the line when the "frost is on the pumpkin," that frost does nothing whatever to enrich the flavor of the squash or pumpkin and it greatly injures their keeping qualities.

Squash may be boiled or steamed. It should be washed, cut in pieces, seeds and stringy portion removed and boiled in salted water 20 to 30 minutes or steamed 35 minutes. Then drain, mash and season with salt, pepper and butter.

Appetizing baked squash may be prepared as follows: Cut squash in half or individual servings. Scrape out seeds and stringy portions. Place in shallow pan, sprinkle with salt and butter. Spread with honey and butter or brown sugar and butter or sprinkle with nutmeg if desired. Serve garnished with parsley.

Christian Science Services

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, November 16.

The Golden Text is: "As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy; and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly" (1 Corinthians 15:48).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God..." (Romans 8:14, 21).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When examined in the light of divine Science, mortals present more than is detected upon the surface, since inverted thoughts and erroneous beliefs must be counterfeits of Truth. Thought is borrowed from a higher source than matter, and by reversal, errors serve as waymarks to the one Mind, in which all error disappears in celestial Truth..." The more material the belief, the more obvious its error, until divine Spirit, supreme in its domain, dominates all matter, and man is found in the likeness of Spirit, his original being" (pp. 267, 97).

Stockpiles of Food for Peace

Here is what the U. S. Department of Agriculture means when it urges farmers to help produce "stockpiles of food for use after the war." The upper picture shows barrels of dried milk, just as good a year from now as today. The lower picture shows a warehouse filled with huge drums of cheese, even better with aging. These farm products, plus condensed milk, dried milk, cured pork, and canned meat and vegetables, constitute the stockpiles of defense food which, says Secretary Claude R. Wickard, will be needed by hungry Europe and "will exert the maximum influence at the peace conference table."

HEROIC ESCAPE DESCRIBED

Major-General John Hay Beith (center with the cigar), who writes under the pen-name of Ian Hay, is shown at the banquet of the Executives Club, Chattanooga, Tenn., with Mrs. S. Bartow Strang and Archie Palmer, president of the club. Gen. Beith is an American speaking four.

THE British War Office has just brought back across the Channel field calls the "Nine Days Wonder" Now that the story has been told—giving the details of what the world remembers as "The Miracle of Dunkerque," when, under constant artillery and machine gun fire and aerial attack, 30 per cent of the British Army was evacuated and made public what John Masefield called the "Nine Days Wonder" in this official manner. It is anticipated that Gen. Beith, soldier-author, in his future addresses here will emphasize the fundamental lessons learned in this campaign.

General Viscount Gort, Commander-in-Chief of the British Expeditionary Force in France and Belgium, in 1939-40, conceded "that the ascendancy in equipment which the enemy possessed, played a great part in the operations."

GENERAL, we shall have to buy gloves together.

Magic: Five Quarts Equals One

The magic of modern dairy industry makes it possible to shrink five quarts of fluid milk into one quart of dried milk. Add water and dried milk powder becomes fluid again. Dried milk is in great demand for export to friendly nations abroad. It takes little space in the holds of ships, stays sweet without refrigeration, and can be used as a substitute for fresh milk for children. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has placed dried milk high on the list of "defense foods" whose increased production is sought during 1941 and '42.

Biddy Goes to Work Early

America will need millions of eggs this winter, as part of the "defense food" production. Kathryn Hines, pretty 4-H club girl, shows Biddy that soldier hours will be expected. Many poultry producers follow this practice of turning on electric lights in laying houses early in the morning during winter months. The practice compensates for the fewer hours of daylight and gives hens a full day of eating and laying.

Radio Broadcast Arranged Today

National Education Week Is Observed with Open House At City School.

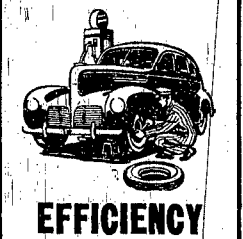

Wayne city school is this week cooperating in the national plan of observing Education week. One of the features is a radio broadcast from station WJAG, Norfolk, this Thursday afternoon at 3:45. "Education for a Strong America" is the theme. Students in Miss Theodora Carlson's English classes prepared the script. Much library research was done. Each student wrote a radio broadcast on the subject and the class then chose one which was outstanding and polished this for the program. Two boys and two girls will present the feature at Norfolk. A member of the faculty will accompany them. Open house Wednesday evening was another special feature for Education week. Patrons were invited to visit between 7:30 and 9. Teachers were in their rooms to meet guests and discuss school problems with them. Classroom displays were examined. Luncheon was served.

Patrons have been extended an invitation to visit school at any time this week. National Education week was instituted by the Legion at close of the first World war. Then it was found that ignorance and lack of physical fitness were responsible for so much loss that they determined to improve conditions. Figures showed that 20 per cent of the draftees then could not read. They were unable to understand and execute directions. Some 25 per cent were physically unfit, and the Legion realized the importance of providing a general physical welfare program for all. They figured that if all children learned the art of keeping physically fit they would continue this after school days.

Wichita Booming In Plane Building

Wichita, Kan., continues to boom because of defense industry, according to Mr. and Mrs. Byron Ruth and Frank Ruth who were here Saturday and Sunday. The Ruths have bought a new bungalow in Wichita, finding it easier to do so than to rent. A home costing about $3,500 requires a small down payment and rentals monthly sums. One who depends on renting finds places scarce and high priced.

Wichita has four large plane factories. One of them is being equipped to make wings and tails of the giant flying fortress and will soon manufacture the whole ship. Factories turn out from one to four planes a day, depending on the size. Frank Ruth drives 10 miles to the factory in which he is employed and at each new shift of workers a steady stream of cars fills the road from the plant to the city. One plant employed 21,000. Frank Ruth has been doing carpentry work with C. Classen, former contractor in Wayne. They are assisting in the great house extension going on in that city. In only a few weeks one new addition of 1,500 houses developed. By spring this addition will have 5,000 more homes.

Soil Conservation Work to Continue

Wayne county soil conservation district is a permanent organization and will not be abandoned because the Winside camp is moved, according to the local office. All farm agreements formerly supervised by the camp have been placed under the district and many of them will be rewritten to make district contracts.

The main difference as a result of the abandonment of the camp is that crews of laborers and equipment will not be available for work on farms. Farmers will assume the responsibility for hiring equipment for use on their places.

District technicians will assist in establishment of contoured, terraced or irrigated fields, gardens or orchards to promote greatest possible production of food in the defense program.

Married Thursday By County Judge

Carsten Petersen and Mrs. Agnes P. Kuhnshend of Wayne, were married Thursday by Judge J. M. Cherry. Frank Petersen and Harold Kuhnshend, sons of the couple, were attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Petersen and another son of Carsten Petersen were also present.

Goes to Mississippi. John B. VonSeggern was among the 15 men sent from Fort Leavenworth to the air corps replacement training center, Biloxi, Miss.

Has Knee Bruised By Car Wednesday

James Killion's left knee was badly bruised late Wednesday afternoon last week when he was accidentally struck by Art Engelbart's car. Mr. Killion had finished servicing the car at the Sturtz station and was putting some used Prestone in a container, standing between the car and the shelves at the east edge of the building. Mr. Engelbart's foot slipped from the clutch and the machine pinned Killion between the car and shelves. Mr. Killion was given X-rays and treatment. No bones were broken.

Security Program Helping Farmers

Though 49 Wayne county farm families are borrowers from the rehabilitation program carried on through FSA, additional loans could be handled, according to Ray L. Verzal, FSA supervisor for this county.

Regulations and qualifications to determine whether or not a farm family can borrow from FSA. But the main thing is the family's need for funds to put an effective farm plan into operation, the character and ability to follow such a plan and the inability to get necessary financing from other sources, according to Mr. Verzal.

FSA aims to put the farm family on a self-sufficiency basis. In line with the "food for freedom" demands, it emphasized the demand for more milk, eggs and meat, also for more gardens. The Wayne county office in the court house is open Saturday mornings.

Former Winside Family Spending Year in Alaska

Life in Alaska has some advantages and some trials, according to Mrs. Frank Gray, formerly of Winside, who writes to the Tom Dunn family here. Mr. Gray has been in Alaska since March, and Mrs. Gray, Shirley and Billy arrived there the first of September. The last three had been in Selah, Wash. They took the boat from Seattle and reached Seward, Alaska, in six days. They then went by train to Fairbanks. Mr. Gray met them there and took them six miles to a dairy and experiment station at College, just a mile from the university of Alaska.

The station at which Mr. Gray is employed is run by officers of the university. Mr. Gray had wanted to return to the states unless his family could be persuaded to go there. His wages were raised to $200 a month and the men agreed that Mrs. Gray could do the cooking for the hired help. There were six men when she arrived and only one will stay all winter. The men pay $25 a month for board. Fuel and lights are furnished.

Salaries in Alaska look extra good but things purchased are high. Mrs. Gray writes that milk is 25c a quart, cream $1 a quart, bread 25c a loaf, eggs 75c a dozen. Hair cuts for men are $1, permanents $12, finger wash and shampoo $2, and a dish of plain ice cream 25c.

The first snow was falling October 17, when Mrs. Gray wrote her letter. Days are about the same length as in the states now but they will soon be much shorter. Only a few hours of daylight mark the time in the winter, and in the summer it stays light all night. The weather reminds Mrs. Gray of North Dakota, cold and frosty each morning. Snow-covered mountains can be seen in the distance always.

Shirley attends school in Fairbanks and is in the 8th grade. The school bus stops for her at the farm. Mrs. Gray plans to buy her a fur parka like Eskimos wear, also "muck luks" or overshoes lined with fur.

Lots of Eskimos and Indians are to be seen in Alaska.

Mrs. Gray writes that the family will probably return home by next fall. Billy may come sooner as he does not like that region.

Record of Note Made by Players

Wayne High Is Victorious Over Randolph in Game Played Here Friday.

Wayne high's undefeated blues gave a repeat performance Friday when they trampled over the Randolph team 39 to 0 in the game played on the college field. This victory in the last game of the season placed the Wayne boys in top position in the northeast Nebraska conference.

During the past two and one-half years Wayne high has been undefeated, having 18 straight wins to its credit. Last year the players were unscored on. This year they piled up a total of 213 points in the seven games played while their opponents only managed to net 33.

Joe Kessler, playing fullback position, scored 19 of the 39 points, once scampering 69 yards to carry the ball over and then again 65 yards to accomplish a like feat. Bob Stull at left half, another standout for Wayne, scored the remaining 20 points. Don Harvey, right end, Rex Johnson, right tackle, and Jim Strahan, left end, are other whom Coach Frank Sullivan credits with outstanding performances.

Ten senior boys played their last game for Wayne high Friday. Joe Kessler wrote a brilliant finish to high school football, playing the most outstanding game of his career Friday. Rex Johnson, Don Harvey, Dwaine Tilton, Don McPherran, Don Greenwald, Duke Derry, Bob Meyer, Bob Harrison and Earl Larson are others who will not carry the ball for the blue and white again.

Munter looked good for Randolph. Until the Randolph boys met Wayne they had been defeated but twice.
