safely out of the fields. In some sections of the corn belt-particularly in Iowa-gattlering corn has been delayed by excessive moisture. Ideal elements have hastened the task in northeast Nebraska. The crop is found superior in quality as well as quantity. It is believed the average in Wayne county will run 50 bushels to the acres. Some report, 75 bushels. In any event, it is the most satisfactory corn yield within memory of oldest inhabitants. We have surmounted a dry cycle with spainfully lean years, and it

Pay THE OMAHA Journal-Stockman Debts sociation in urging people to get out of debt and on a sound footing for any unfavorable post-war reventualities. That newspaper quotes one resolution adopted by the association as fellows:

by the association as follows:

"Bankers are aiding the defense program by Joans for the prection of defense plants, and for the purchase of raw materials and the payment of wages in the defense, industries; Such Joanshave reached huge sums and continue to mount. This is a time for liberal lending for defense and for conservative lending for all other purposes. This is a time when in their own interest, people generally should be paying their debts instead of borrowing more."

The Journal-Stockman makes this con cluding comment:

luding comment:

"In other words, parti of the banker's job is to help people get out of debt, rather than into it, whenever possible. The tremendously increased burden of taxation, coupled with the rabid jump in the cost of living, makes it necessary for the average family to hold its debts to the minimum. The banks are following the policy of wistlom when they loan for all necessary purposes, but discourage borrowing which can be avoided."

Vewspaper

Consolidation
Journal and Sioux City Tribune have consolidated, and they will hereafter be issued from one plant, that of the Journal. The economy made possible by the combination will improve public service. The merger follows a practical trend in modern journalism.

AFTER more than six merger follows a practical trend in modern journalism.

The Journal was founded by the late Geo. D. Perkins April 19, 1870, and the Tribune was started by the late John C. Kelly January 1, 1880. The two publications braved the vicissitudes and survived the political and ibusiness rivalries of the years. With the passing of time, party lines in the realm of politics gave little ground for sharp disagreement. Personal journalism faded into a background of higher and finer public service.

The Journal will be issued mornings and Sundays, and the Journal-Tribune will be the title of the evening publication, Two working forces will be employed. Readers in four states who will gain by the union of effort, will be duly appreciative.

Prof. F. C. Blood of the college of business administration, University of Nebraska, stressed the essential of advertising in his talk, before members of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening. As a result of careful research, Prof. Blood drew the positive conclusion that businesses rise through persistent advertising or fail through lack of it. He also punctured the fallacy of holding merchandise because of rising prices rather than trying to sell it and keep the currents of trade flowing. Freezing stocks instead of selling them according to prevailing markets is specular.

Will Re Maywind

tion, not merchandising, and it invites loss in the long run. His speech emphasized what is needed to make a live, growing community. All left for business institutions to do is to put it into practice.

With the increasing demand for food supplies at home and abroad, agriculture is being asked to produce more. The secretary of agriculture who has abandoned the policy of scarcity, is quoted as saying: "I repeat—the risks are far greater if we produce too little than if we produce too much. We are going to take whatever risk there is in producing abundantly. If we do. I'm positive that the American people will not let us farmers down."

In addressing the annual meeting of the Taxpayers League in Lincoln Monday, Representative Coffee emphasized the American duty to "preserve our future security and our constitutional form of government." He pointed out the untenable situation which drafts boys at $21 per month and at the same time permits John L. Lewis to defy the government in its essential

Warm weather does not offer spund rea Warm weather does not offer sound reason to delay buying things needed for defense against biting cold that is certain to be introduced in true mid-western form before long. The merchandise market is moving in the wrong direction to give future advantage to one's pocketbook. Better to supply one's winter needs without delay regardless of the prevailing temper of the elements.

On the one hand, mere noise, dripping with petty self-seeking, does not constitute substantial public spirit. On the other hand, those who would wreck their community on the rocks of stinginess are not healthfully economical. Empty claptrap is more appealing but little more constructive than creaking tightwadism.

Little Finland is in a tough spot. It was overrun by Russia and joined the Nazis to even the score by reclaiming lost territory. In doing that it turned against democracy and its own ideas of free institutions. If it tries to escape the axis hold, the latter will swoop down on it. If it doesn't, it opposes its old-time friends.

If we can escape the tentacles of socialism and fortify traditional democracy, it would seem we would be comparatively free from dangers of fascism, nazism and communism after the war. The courage of alien isms should have dropped to an all-time low when the fighting finally stops.

Among resolutions adopted by the Tax-payers League, meeting in Lincoln, was one asking that "all activities of federal, state and local governments, not proven absolutely necessary, be discontinued." To that we give hearty approval:

Our grief over the attempted assassination of Mussolini is proportionate with his grief over the tragedy he has helped inflict on an innocent world. On the contrary, we share the feelings of those who have suffered through his tyranny.

In the course of time the city council should figure out a plan to improve the lighting in the business district. In fact, Main street from one end to the other should have better illumination.

peace and good will. With crop abundance and more prosperous conditions, human desires may be more easily satisfied. Even though in the midst of plenty, howevig, it will not be so easy to gratify the spirit as a world of trouble is contemplated. War and misery, do not harmonize, with lofty thoughts belonging to Christian faith. But in a conflict, between two opposing ideologies, we may well turn to Christmas as typifying freedom of body and soul, pressing to Christmas as typifying free-dom of body and soul, pressing closer to it as reflecting and cultivating the high hopes of our civilization. We will soon welcome a new year, and it is hoped slaughter and waste will end before the passing of an-other twelvemonth, that dicta-tors, out to destroy democracy, will be foiled, and that the blessed holiday of a year honce will be buoyed by universal peace.

Northeast Area ls Unsurpassed

P. H. Stephens Thinks Far Land in Region Is Best Of Investments.

Of Investments.

Northeast Nebraska is most fortunate in having loses soil which is some of the richest in the world, according to P. H. Stephens of Wichita, Kan, who was here last week-end visiting in the home of Mrs, Chas. Ash. This fertile soil, blown into the region to great depth in pre-historic times, is similar to an area in China which has for hundreds of years been looked to as a choige spot in the universe. The depth of fertile soil in thas area is almost unimeasurable, according to Mr. Stephens. Nin sorderegions soil is made by break-down of rocks and in such places a washing away of the top spil would, require a long-period of waiting while more disintegration of rocks took place. In northeast Nebraska, Mr. Stephens, states, fertility can the restored to subsoil by a couple of crops of clover.

Favors Conservation.

But Mr. Stephens does not recommend using up top soil. He layors conservation processes because they save moisture and because they save moisture and because cut down the productivity of the land. Such waste is a loss to the land. Such waste is a loss to the larmer and also reduces the value of the land. Erosion is the most secrous cause of the loss of larms by foreclosure, Mr. Stephens adds Mr. Stephens is directory of research for farm credit with the federal land bank in Wichita, Kan He studies the past and future of larm possibilities so as to determine the reserves needed by the institution which, Urrough its bonds, foms about 250 infilion dollars' worth of people's savings in These Indians were the most high-grey the civilized on the continent then.

A series of dry years forced clift dwelfers to abandon their homes before 1300. Since there was no agency to help them, they had to move, it is thought they went southwest and became the forefathers of the Navahos.

Tree rings, the best indicators of dry and normal years, show that drouth started in the Mesa Verderegron in 1276 A. D. and lasted 23 years. Histories indicate that this was the longest drouth in that region in 1,000 years. Other dry spells of varying length and severity have occurred at intervals since.

verity have occurred a since.

The interesting thing about this study, Mr. Stephens found, is that weather and growth of vegetation in the Colorado area had not changed maternally in 1,000 years. This leads to the conclusion that it will likely remain much the same in the next 1,000 years.

ing settlers reveal a long dry spell in about 1820, much like the one the past decade.

'These studies of Mr. Stephens indicate that the climate of the midwest has not changed and that the drouths of the 30's were not unprecedented. It is reasonable to expect that rainfall of the coming 50 years will be more like the past 10.

Land Best Investment.

Mr. Stephens concludes that land in this area is one of the best investments possible. He is confident that normal climate will be the rule. He also expresses the opinion that land owners will soon require soil and water conservation practices as a means of protecting their investments and as a way to help tenants make the most for themselves.

Project Is Delayed by Board of Education.

The Possibility of establishing an adult education class in Wayne after the holidays was considered by the board of education Monday evening, the board of education Monday evening, the board favoring the project providing interest is sufficient. The Chamber of Commence proposes to handle the setup, possibly offering training in retaining. The board acts only as a clearing house for the state department.

The matter of establishing defense training in the local school was considered but no action taken. Training in auto mechanics, wood, electrical and sheet metal work is proposed. Considering the fact that 15 hours of training must be given each week during evenings and, realizing the difficult of getting an instructor for such work, the board let the project drop for the present.
