

Of January 12, 1888, is to be reviewed at meeting in Lincoln — Nothing Since Has Equalled the Severity of the Storm of Fiftyfour Years Ago — Federal Restraints Bringing People Down to Earth — Banishing the Fire Demon.

It seems there is a "Blizzard of 1888 Club" and that its next annual meeting is to be held at Hotel Lindell in Lincoln on the storm's anniversary, January 12. Selection of the Lindell for the meeting was due respect to age, as that hotel was the popular headquarters for statesmen and politicians in the early days.

Many examples of heroism were reported. We heard of only one experience in which the teacher, a green young man, told his pupils to "skedaddle" under the storm descended, and he took to safety for himself without apparent thought of what might happen to his charges.

The fact we were careful never to reach school ahead of time served our advantage on this one occasion. The blizzard came while we were still at home, and we used the storm as an excuse to let our educational evolution suspend for the afternoon.

As has often been told, the forenoon of January 12, 1888, was mild and sunny. Like the Japs, the storm crept up and launched its attack without warning about noon. The balmy air was suddenly whipped into a terrific gale, becoming filled with driving snow and charged with icy cold.

Returning to Fundamentals. It looks like return to fundamentals in a way not within the calculations of even fundamentalists. Federal restraints on automobile and tire purchases cause a change in habits that cannot be talked down or lightly brushed aside.

Fire Hazards. When we heard the spacious, modern Bentback hospital, in course of construction, was on fire New Year's night our soul sank into our feet.

And this reminds us that destructive fires have been few and far between in this community in recent years. To improved heating facilities and greater care in handling them may be attributed the reason.

Hearing Is Fixed For Zoning Plan

Commission Makes Its Final Report to Council at Meeting Monday.

Public hearing on the final report of Wayne zoning commission is called for January 20 at the auditorium, the principal issue being whether or not the intersection of 7th and Main and the east half of the block north of Wayne hospital shall be included in the business district.

The commission, A. V. Teed, J. C. Carhart and E. J. Huntemer, made its final report Monday evening to the city council. A public hearing was called that evening but since none appeared and since the issues are of such importance, the council set January 20 for the final hearing.

The zoning commission designates the residence area, as all that within the corporate limits of the city not in the business or industrial zones.

The business zone is designated as follows: North 125 feet of blocks 1 and 2, Spahr addition, this being south of the college campus where the greenhouse, Whitmore and O'Connor stores are located; west half of block 12, North addition, this being on Main street from Wm. Beckenhauer's north to the Surtz station; block 9, Crawford & Brown addition, this being the block in which the library is located; also blocks 4 and 5, east half of blocks 11, 12 and 13, south half of block 14, south half of blocks 15, 19, 20 and 21, east half of blocks 22, 27 and 28, and 150 feet east and 150 feet west of Main on south of the railroad tracks, all in original town.

The industrial zone is designated as all the area within the corporate limits south of the railroad tracks except that described as being in the business zone.

After the final report was made, the question was raised about including in the business district the area one-fourth block each direction from the 7th and Main intersection, also the east half of block 23, College Hill addition, this being from the Al. Dragon property north to the Victor station. The commission favors including these areas in the residence district except for businesses already established.

War Emergency Drive Is Explained

A patriotic investment periodically for every firm and every wage earner in America on every income day is the objective of the United States treasury department which is instituting an effective means of raising funds for the war emergency. No one is asked to give anything but each is asked to trade money for the best investment in the world today—United States defense bonds and stamps.

This explanation of the war financing plan was presented Monday evening by County Chairman R. L. Larson to members of his committee who are as follows: Publicity, E. W. Huse; banking, Rollie W. Ley; education, F. B. Decker and J. W. Litherland; churches, Rev. C. L. Eads; insurance, Wm. McEachen; women's organizations, Mrs. S. A. Lutgen; service and professional, A. V. Teed; agricultural and livestock, Albert Watson; retailers, A. L. Swan; fraternal, Frank Korff; employees, E. E. Fleetwood; speakers, W. H. Swett; veterans, Floyd Conger.

Each of the sub-chairmen will appoint helpers to assist in the program. After studying the present situation and comparing it with that which existed at the time of the first World War, the treasury department emphasized three factors as follows: First, the present will be a long war and will thus need different financing from the former war; second, the present campaign will use the good and discard the errors of the previous financial drive; and third, a steady supply of funds, not a spasmodic one, will insure successful maintenance of the fighting program.

Chairman R. L. Larson Tells Committee Heads About Financing Plan.

Mrs. Lutgen will contact every woman's organization and an honor roll will be established for groups entering 100 per cent into the defense plan. The roll will be published by February 1. Schools and other units will likely follow the plan to have all enter into the financial program.

In the speakers' division, it is planned to have persons available to give two or three minute talks on defense savings for gatherings. Mr. Swett has on his committee W. R. Scribner, Carroll, H. E. Siman, Winside, Frank Phillips, Hoskins, Isador Kuhl, Sholes, W. A. Crossland, Wayne. A speaker will be secured for the farm bureau meeting Friday evening. Mr. Scribner will speak to Carroll Lions club next Tuesday. Any groups wishing speakers may contact Mr. Swett.

Mr. Huse has named on the publicity committee all editors of the county, F. J. Dimmel, Winside, Ismael Hughes, Carroll, and R. J. Kingsley, Wayne.

Defense Leaders Are Chosen Here

TOUGH WEATHER IS RULE SINCE START OF THE NEW YEAR

NEW YEAR'S day was no occasion for joy rides or other outdoor pastimes. Christmas day the weather showed pronounced symptoms of change to real winter, and New Year's introduced the old-time variety—snow and piercing cold. Many who had arranged to spend the day with friends, did not venture out, deeming discretion the better part of valor, or home without scheduled social amenities safer and more comfortable than involuntary judgment in cold snowbanks. The mercury flirted with zero Friday and Saturday and dropped to 20 below by Sunday morning. Enough happened in the way of weather around and since the first of the year to discourage any previously entertained idea that severe winter was planning to take a recess ease up on inhabitants by reason of sundry other burdens. Results have been colder and more fuel consumption.

County Council Is Formed With Five Divisions of Activity Outlined.

Defense activities in Wayne county are being organized under leadership of R. M. Carhart, chairman, who has appointed W. R. Scribner, Carroll, Norris Weible, Winside, M. L. Health, welfare and consumer interest is the title of the committee headed by Mr. Theophilus. The responsibilities of the group to be named by him are maintenance of physical fitness, education, recreation, maintenance of quality of consumer goods and services, protection against unwarranted price raises, nutrition and sanitation.

Mr. Swanson leads the committee on housing, power, transportation and communications. His group will deal with defense housing, power, water, fuel, all phases of communications, zoning and transportation.

Mr. Weible heads the committee on agriculture, industry and labor relations. He and his appointees will be responsible for protection of farm and livestock interests, protection of small business interests, development of defense industries, labor training and supply, and labor relations.

Mrs. R. W. Ley, former chairman, declined a position on the board. She will continue in Red Cross work but asked to be relieved of responsibilities of leadership. Mrs. E. W. Huse, former chairman, had previously made the same request. Both have served for many years.

Officers were empowered to appoint committee chairmen as needs of the emergency arise. The chapter will organize to push to successful completion the war fund drive for $1,800. Voluntary subscriptions are far short of reaching the goal.

Racherbauer of Wayne, was accidentally killed about 2:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon when he was struck by a rock which broke loose and fell onto him in a clay mine in which he was working. Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday at the Lutheran church in Rosebud.

The young man and four of his brothers were employed in clay mines in Rosebud vicinity. The mines are deep holes, the pits often extending 100 feet below the surface.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Racherbauer and family and Frank Schultz, uncle of deceased, had gone to Rosebud December 20 to spend the holidays. Racherbauer, four sisters, Ida and Clara in St. Louis, Mrs. Louis Meyer in Bay, Mo., and Mrs. John Helmer in Rosebud, and six brothers, Walter, Emil, Otto, Louis and Chester in Rosebud, and William here. THE KNOT-HOLE

Vol. 8 Wayne, Neb., Thur., Jan. 8, 1942. No. 41

Chief: "Did you shave this morning?"
Fireman: "Yes sir."
Chief: "Well, next time stand closer to the razor."

You don't have to stand closer to the fire to get plenty of heat if you are burning Pinnacle Lump in your heating plant. Pinnacle gives you all the heat you want, when you want it. Try a ton and be convinced.

Right now is the time when you would really appreciate an insulated attic. Insulation can be put in any home. It won't take long to get that attic-insulated either. Ask us for details and really live in comfort the balance of the winter.

"Do you know who was the first electrician?"
"No, who?"
"Adam. He furnished spare parts."

In Sixth Grade.
At the Christmas program sponsored by the Busy Bee club before vacation, six mothers and two grandmothers were guests. Richard Bressler, vice president and program chairman, announced each number. Two numbers were very closely related to the geography and history units. One group of the pupils had a panel discussion about Christmas customs in other lands, particularly those in the countries about which the pupils studied in geography. A second group dramatized "A Homesteader's Christmas," the story of a pioneer's family in Wisconsin in 1847. A third group read articles telling about the probable origin of some of the Christmas customs here.

The study of dinosaurs and other giant reptiles is proving very fascinating. Several pupils are making clay models; others are drawing pictures of a typical scene during the age of reptiles. Original stories are also based on this unit.

The children who are learning about measurements of weight, were weighed and measured Tuesday.

With Grade Four.
An original play was presented Friday morning before vacation. In the first scene Santa Claus was greatly upset because war has interfered with his getting materials for toys. At Mrs. Santa's suggestion he broadcast a request for children all over the world to collect old toys. In scene two a group of girls had arranged a party to which they brought toys they had gathered. At the party Ruth Anne Gates recited the Christmas story from the Gospel of Luke. The children sang an original carol telling the story of the angels and the shepherds. Santa came for the toys as agreed. In scene three Santa's helpers sang as they worked and gratefully received the toys Santa brought, making them over to look like new.

The songs composed for the play were Gay Christmas Time, Song of Light, Busy Brownies, Dolls, Santa's Choo-Choo. Mrs. Santa Claus was played by Rita Kirwan. Santa was played by Rita Kirwan. Santa was played by Rita Kirwan.

THOUGH engaged in a hopeless defense of France against nazi aggression, former French premiers and other leaders are to go on trial January 15 charged with taking France into the war. The maximum penalty is life imprisonment. What a bald mockery of justice! Compelled to fight to safeguard the country they were sworn to protect, and finally overwhelmed by the nazi machine, aided by internal traitors, these French leaders, now in prison, must face punishment for doing what the mailed fist of totalitarianism had done. It is the crazy policy of dictator gangsters to accuse others of doing the very things of which they are themselves guilty.

Hitler did everything he could do to avoid peace, and he finally succeeded. He provoked hostilities with nations that did not want war and were not prepared for it, and then he came forth with the specious plea, the manufactured whine, that he was acting in defense. Japan follows the same pattern of fraud. Its leaders will claim they were fighting for their lives when they spanned thousands of miles of ocean to descend on unsuspecting Pearl Harbor in a surprise attack. It is the vicious technique of Tartarus' chief devil. The same evil spirit is manifested in trying to wreak vengeance on former French officers.

SOME Washington leaders, among them Senator Norris, are quoted in favor of maintaining costly non-defense projects in order to support morale. The World-Herald questions the soundness of that position, expressing itself in part as follows:

"We don't think that is the attitude of America. We don't think it is actually and honestly the attitude of the men quoted above. We simply fear that their thinking has become a little careless, and that they haven't kept abreast of their people, or of the times.

"True, the unemployed must be fed during the period of change-over from peace business to war business. That is an inescapable cost of war. But to keep able-bodied men working through the coming year on the old style 'projects' and in all the old-time 'agencies,' that would be unimaginable folly."

PROLONGING the life of tires, consistent with the national program, is another reason for careful driving, as pointed out by the Lincoln Journal. A motorist is not sure he will be hurt or killed by reckless driving, but he knows fast driving will hasten wear on his tires and that an accident would wreck them. The Journal comments:

"Every driver now has a more direct and tangible interest in safe driving campaigns than ever before because of the tire rationing program, state safety officials say. It is the responsibility of every driver to protect the tires on his car against damage. If a tire is ruined as the result of an accident it cannot be replaced with a new one. It might even result in complete loss of the car as far as being able to drive it is concerned."

AMERICA is a composite of all nationalities and all colors. They or their forebears came here to enjoy a land of freedom and opportunity, and their judgment has been more than justified by events abroad in the last few years. Citizens may disagree over politics or religion, but they are in accord in defending their families and firesides. Recent treachery with evident design to overthrow democratic institutions, has acted like magic in intensifying American unity and American resentment. People are up in arms. They are eager to make every necessary sacrifice to settle now and for all time with those who would supplant the American constitution with liberty-destroying dictatorship.

In his speech to congress Tuesday, President Roosevelt said the unavoidable large cost of the war means cutting out luxuries and other non-essentials and buying bonds and paying taxes. He will find people willing to accept all sacrifices incident to war needs, and consistently we believe they would endorse action to remove all useless bureaus and stop all unnecessary non-defense spending which latter is no longer required, as previously ordered, to relieve unemployment during the economic depression.

We had become a wasteful people. Frugality not only produces competence when competence is most needed, but it promotes desirable self-discipline. The person who thinks he is secure today may be flat tomorrow. Material fortunes are variable and uncertain. Hard, persistent endeavor with provident habits are good for both the mind and body. It should not require a war to learn self-control and self-abnegation, though it will largely bestow such wholesome byproducts.

The rabbit hunt proposed to Kiwanis members to raise funds for underprivileged children did not pan out well. It is noted that most Kiwanians have passed the period of vigorous youth which stimulates a quest for wild game. In Cedar county one settlement killed 500 rabbits in one day, and sold the lot for $125, which amount was donated to the Red Cross. Both meat and pelts are marketable. Besides, 500 rabbits will quit eating farmers' grain.

Buying defense stamps and bonds is a sound investment as well as an essential contribution to prosecution of the war. Small as well as large purchases are earnestly invited. A flood of bond purchases at one time is not considered so desirable as a steady stream of purchases with no cessation as long as the emergency lasts. Everybody will want to share in carrying the load by as large and frequent bond purchases as circumstances will permit.

Solidarity and oneness of purpose of the United States will not be allowed to be disturbed by subversive elements nor by false accusations carelessly aimed at loyal citizens of foreign birth. The FBI proposes to act both to weed out dangerous aliens and to protect citizens against unfounded suspicions or charges.

Mayor M. L. Ringer suggests as a policy for the conservation of war necessities that people double-up in taking trips to Omaha, Lincoln, Sioux City or other points. He proposes that the public be informed in advance of intended trips with announcement of the number who could be accommodated.

Fellows who breathe hot and cold simultaneously, who haven't vision enough to sense their own contradictions, who accuse falsely and then plead for tolerance and unity are probably paranoiacs who would do great harm if they were not accurately appraised and properly catalogued.

Though making necessary sacrifices during the war with inevitable curtailment of personal privileges, care will be taken by sound statesmen and an alert populace to restore the advantages of a free democracy after victory has been won.

The Norfolk Daily News philosophizes in this way: "There is this to say about government restrictions: They will stop a lot of worrying. We know now that we are not going to get that car we can't afford."

Many acts of heroism on the part of members of the American army, navy and flying corps show qualities inherent in the products of a democracy.

Some one truly says "the spirit of freedom is still the strongest power on earth," and that is the spirit the allies are fighting to preserve.

Sometimes when a fellow hesitates he is not fishing around for the truth but for a plausible story to disguise the truth.

Something to Remember

(Industrial Press Service) What will happen to America after the war? How will we meet our rising government debt, change our economy back to a peace-time basis and continue with our job of making America into the best place to live in the world?

Such problems are causing grave concern in the minds of many Americans at the present time. In a recent speech, Dr. Robert G. Sproul, president of the University of California, pointed out some facts that should reassure us on these points.

After the war, he said, "the land and its resources will still be here; all of the knowledge of mankind from the beginning of history to the present will still be ours. . . . Such adjustments as we may have to make in our social and economic scheme will not destroy our democracy as long as we preserve inviolate its central and fundamental principle of respect for and recognition of the dignity and worth of the individual."

That concept of the individual has always been one of the foundations of our freedom. Because of it we are able to work where we please, save our money or spend it, worship as we wish and enjoy all our other liberties. Whatever happens in the months to come, we must remember that and let nothing destroy it.

Advertising a Modern Necessity

(Omaha Journal-Stockman) It is refreshing to note that intelligent research not only defends the use of advertising but it points out that, in these modern times, judicious and persistent advertising is essential to success and progress.

After years of investigation, study and observation Professor Neil Borden of Harvard university is out with an exhaustive treatise on the subject. He finds that advertising has helped to raise the level of real income by contributing to the maintenance of a dynamic, growing economy. Advertising and aggressive selling, he said, have helped to bring a tremendous expansion of new and improved products upon which technological development and increasing investment have depended.

"The evidence shows that advertising use is accompanied by certain dangers, particularly those attending the tendency of business men to compete in advertising and thus to bring into price a large amount of selling costs, but on the other side of the ledger are important off-setting contributions," he said.

"Advertising's outstanding contribution to consumer welfare comes from its part in promoting a dynamic, expanding economy. Advertising's chief task from a social standpoint is that of encouraging the development of new products."

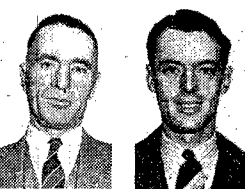

Advertising makes it possible to create a demand for new products and build up enterprises which not only afford employment but contribute to the welfare of the human race.

The greatest improvement in the standard of living has been coincidental with the growth of advertising.

Manufacturers and business firms who advertise their merchandise and keep their names before the public during the war period will not only be in a strong position afterward but will help to preserve the system of private enterprise.

IN CRISIS

There is sound reason not to become panicky during the war emergency. Adjustments will be made to new requirements as rapidly as possible—in time with least disturbance to the usual order. An all-out determination and effort to win an early and conclusive victory engross official circles and occupy the minds of all Americans. Naturally and inevitably some confusion exists and some mistakes will be made, but retreating the war will be removed as the most expedient course is revealed. Economists advise persons outside of military service to handle affairs as usual, strengthening themselves in that way better to answer the obligations to government. One cannot help men in arms by lying down, neglecting customary business and trying to escape responsibility. Keeping the currents of private endeavor or as well as defense activities spurred to meet demands is highly essential in the present crisis.

Hobbies Featured In Chapel Program

A hobby program presented at the Wayne college auditorium Tuesday morning was arranged by Lyle Seymour and Beryl Nelson, the two student members of the convocation programs committee. Gwendolyn Krajcick, Scribner, gave two tap dances. Genevieve Lundak, Pierce, assisted at the piano.

Elvaughn Johnson, McLean, exhibited a pheasant which he himself had mounted. Speaking of taxidermy as his hobby, Mr. Johnson explained the process of mounting a bird.

Vina Wagner, Salix, Ia., demonstrated her hobby of acrobatic tumbling. Arline Gross, Clarkson, assisted in these tumbling acts.

Robert Rodgers, Osmond, performed a number of acts in trick-rope.

Mrs. Howard Hanscom, Wayne, spoke of weaving as her hobby. She gave a brief history of weaving; also exhibited some pieces of weaving taken from an Indian grave and thought to be from 3,000 to 5,000 years old; showed some examples of pattern weaving; and demonstrated the operation of a table loom.

NEXT ELECTION. Senator Taft, republican of Ohio, and Senator Tydings, democrat of Maryland, have expressed in late interviews the belief that party affiliations will have little bearing on next November's election, that the war will brush aside local issues and that the quality of candidates will largely determine support. All congressional seats and 34 senatorial places are to be filled. Whatever may be the disagreement over local issues, members of all parties are united on prosecution of the war to the limit and defeat of enemy nations in the shortest possible time. Senator Norris of Nebraska, is among those whose terms expire, and while he has said he would not run again, some predict he may be persuaded to change his mind. Most state and county offices will have to be filled next November, and it will not be long before candidates will come to the surface and express their willingness.

Neighborly Policy Will Be Important

The good neighbor policy, which has always been practiced by farmers, will be a vital part of the rural life for the duration of the war, according to a report received by T. P. Roberts from A. K. Chestem, AAA state chairman. The war calls for an increased willingness to trade labor and machines for the common good. Only in this way can farm families meet the difficulties arising from labor and machine shortage and provide abundance of milk, eggs, pork, beef and vegetables that Americans will need. Reports needs for farm machinery should be ordered now. If a farmer fails to get the ordered parts within a reasonable period, the difficulty should be reported to the defense board.

Highlights from Message. Washington, January 6. Highlights from President Roosevelt's message to congress on the state of the union:

The spirit of the American people was never higher than it is today. The union was never more closely knit together, this country was never more determined to face the solemn tasks before it.

Japan's scheme of conquest goes back half a century. x x x It was a plan which included subjugation of all the peoples in the Far East and in the islands of the Pacific, and the domination of that ocean by Japanese military and naval control of the western coasts of North, Central and South America.

Similar policy of criminal conquest was adopted by Italy.

But the dreams of empire of the Japanese and Fascist leaders were modest in comparison with the gargantuan aspirations of Hitler and his Nazis. x x x Those plans provided for ultimate domination x x x of the whole earth and all the oceans on it.

The act of Japan at Pearl Harbor was intended to stun us. x x x We have not been stunned. x x x The mood of quiet, grim determination which here prevails bodes ill for those who collaborated to murder world peace.

That mood x x x expresses the will of the American people to make very certain that the world will never so suffer again.

The stars and stripes will fly again over Wake and Guam; x x x the brave people of the Philippines will be rid of Japanese imperialism and will live in freedom, security and independence.

The militarists in Berlin and Tokyo started this war. But the massed, angered forces of common humanity will finish it.

The world is too small to provide adequate "living room" for both Hitler and God.

We must keep him (the enemy) far from our shores, for we intend to bring this battle to him on his own home grounds. American armed forces must be used at any place in all the world where it

WOMEN FROM RURAL HOMES ENTER ARMY SERVICE

Women as well as men on the farms and in the villages and small towns of the country are forging to the front in America's united war effort. The 2,000,000 men in our Army are not only supported by the patriotic civilian work of an increasing number of women and girls who are rendering efficient service in their home communities, but thousands of wives, sisters and sweethearts of the men in combat forces are enrolling for active duty. Those now engaged in full time activities are members of the Army Nurse Corps, Reserve Nurses, hostesses in the various cantonments and dietitians in the hospitals and food consultants in the War Department and the camps.

Four-H Clubs have furnished ideal training for many young women now serving in auxiliary branches of our Army, according to a recent announcement by authorities in Washington. Conspicuous among the 4-H Clubbers now working for Uncle Sam is Mrs. Meryl P. Stone, designated as an associate of Miss Mary Barber, food consultant to the Secretary of War. It is Mrs. Stone's job to assist with menus for the soldiers in the camps and in the field. She will sample the "chow" and will be available for conferences at the Army Bakers and chefs schools.

Mrs. Stone declares that the foundation for her present post was laid during her 4-H Club days in her home town of Black Earth.

MRS. MERYL P. STONE

Washington. (That quaint name, by the way, comes from the dark, rich soil in the valley of the Wisconsin river.) A 4-H Club flourished in her community and Mrs. Stone was one of its active members. Under her leadership the Black Earth organization won honors at county fairs for skill in sewing. After high school Mrs. Stone entered the University of Wisconsin to major in home economics. Following her graduation she served an internship as a future dietitian at the University of Michigan and established a training course in dietetics for student nurses at a Detroit hospital.

While at the University she joined the staff of a large commercial concern and continued her work in preparing recipes and balancing their caloric contents for hotels, schools, hospitals and other institutions. Romance and marriage came for the former Wisconsin 4-H Club girl and last summer with her lawyer husband, she moved to Washington, where she continued active in her chosen field.

The story of her career is not unlike that of many other women on duty for our Army, as shown by the files of the War Department. Four-H Club girls recruited from various sections of the country have answered the call to service and are giving the Government the benefit of their skill, thrift and efficient training. As home demonstration agents, many young women from rural communities are strengthening the civilian forces, and in other fields they have shown resourcefulness and initiative in their patriotic efforts for the nation's defense.

seems advisable to engage the forces of the enemy x x x in the Far East x x x on all the oceans x x x in the British Isles.

This time we are determined not only to win the war, but also to maintain the security of the peace which will follow.

Enough Food Well Distributed. (Omaha Journal-Stockman) At no time has there ever been any serious doubt as to the ability of the American farmer to feed this nation and its fighting forces in the present war. Producers hardly appreciate, however, the important part that is played by processors, transporters, wholesale and retail agencies in storing these farm products and distributing them as needed.

War is producing shortages in many fields, but food isn't one of them. As the president recently said, "There is enough food for all of us and enough left over to send to those who are fighting on the same side with us."

The fact that an abundance of food exists in this country, however, isn't all there is to the question. The great majority of consumers live considerable distances away from food producing areas. They are dependent upon the agencies of distribution to bring them food at the lowest possible price. And here is where we American are extremely lucky. This country's food retaining system is unequalled in the world.

American merchants are fully aware of the problems of the times. They are aware of the great responsibility that they must discharge if the consumer is to be protected. The principal food chains have adopted a four-point pledge which is indicative of what food distributors are doing. First, they will maintain efficient, economical distribution. Second, they will avoid speculation and unjustified price increases. Third, they will maintain adequate stocks of food products at all times and recommend substitutes when shortages develop. Fourth, they will cooperate fully with the government, producers and consumers.

A great many independent stores have subscribed to similar pledges of public service. And if work of this kind is to achieve full success, consumers themselves must do their part. Waste must be reduced to a minimum. The fact that we have plenty of food is no excuse for needlessly dissipating it. Excessively large buying makes for price increases and consumer hysteria. Buy normally and get the most for your dollar.

Retailers in other fields, where serious shortages exist, are also doing their utmost for consumers. It is to the great credit of retailing that there have been practically no cases of profiteering. Your merchant is doing his full part to help ease the strains and dislocations that war inevitably produces.

Promote Safety And Make Study More Interesting

Within what distance can an automobile stop when traveling at 60 miles per hour? Who are better drivers, men or women? What is the cost per day to operate a car? What is the velocity of a car in feet per second traveling 50 miles per hour? An article, "Safety Education Needs to Be Met Mathematically," written by Principal Milton Beckman of Wayne city school and appearing in the December issue of the national magazine, School Science and Mathematics, shows how mathematics can be made interesting and definitely practical by answering such questions.

From books and pamphlets students gleaned the following: In a car going less than 40 miles an hour chances of being killed are one to 44, but if the car is traveling over 40 miles the chances are one to 10; if an automobile makes 18 miles a gallon at a speed of 35 miles, it travels 13 miles on a gallon at 50 miles and 10 miles to the gallon at 60 miles; if speed is increased from 35 to 65 miles, 13.2 hours are saved on 1,000 miles but the cost is $1.20 per hour more; striking an object at 25 miles an hour damages a car as much as driving of a two-story building, and striking it at 50 miles damages it as seriously as dropping eight stories; a car can make only one-fourth as sharp a turn at 50 miles an hour as at 25 and one-ninth as sharp a turn at 75 as at 25.

These led students to work out interesting tables on "reaction distance" and "braking distance" for drivers. If one's reaction time is 1-8 second, he can stop a car in 3 and 2-3 feet at 20 miles, 7 and 1-3 feet at 40 miles, 11 feet at 60 and 14 and 2-3 feet at 80. One whose reaction time is 1 second, stops a car in 29 and 1-3 feet at 20 miles, 58 and 2-3 feet at 40 miles, 88 feet at 60 miles and 117 and 1-3 feet at 80 miles.

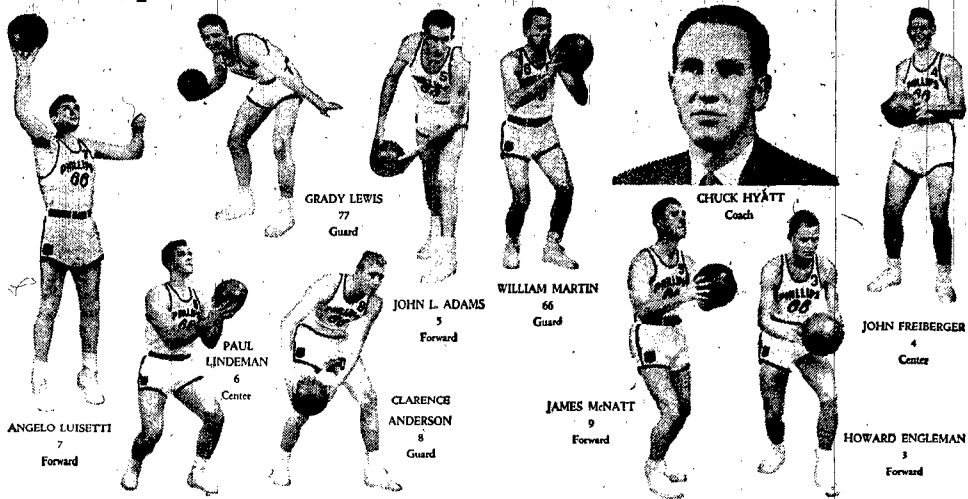

The table on braking distance shows that a car going 20 miles an hour can be stopped by brakes in 19 and 5-9 feet, one at 40 stops in 78 and 2-9 feet, one at 60 stops in 176 feet and one at 80 stops at 312 and 8-9 feet.

Braking and reaction distances combine for the total stopping distance. In this table the students found that one driving at 20 miles an hour stops in 41 and 5-9 feet; at 40 miles he stops in 122 and 2-9 feet; at 60 miles he stops in 242 feet; and at 80 miles he stops in 400 and 8-9 feet.

CONGRESS AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Our sincere wishes for a happy and victorious New Year!

We enjoyed a very short vacation between sessions during which time we spent a few days at home. We only got to see a few of the many people we wanted to see, due to so many calls at the office and the short time.

It is necessary to leave home New Year's day in order to be back for the opening of the next session of congress.

So far as Uncle Sam is concerned—this war is going to be won by a united people without interference from any of the large number of foreign "free-movement" organizations which have crowded our country. Ever since the war in Europe started many foreign political leaders have come to our nation's capital, opened offices and started in the business of collecting money all over our land and sending out voluminous amounts of mail. With many of these "free-movements" Uncle Sam and the American people sympathized, but all have not had our interests at heart. But Uncle Sam is now at war and he does not want these foreign "free movements" to detract the attention of the American people from the main issue—that of winning this war for the people of the United States. So, if you are an American citizen and belong to any sort of foreign "free-movement" organization such as the "Free French," "Free Belgium," "Free Austria," etc., Uncle Sam feels you ought to resign and let the foreigners run their own business and we will run our business.

Uncle Sam knows pretty much about these organizations. All of them are registered with the state department but that does not mean that they have the "green" light from the government. That is merely a minor check on them. But the sign is out now to all Americans to be on our guard against anything foreign and alien which in anyway would impede the colossal job of winning this war for the United States of America. So serious is the government about these foreign "Free-Movement" organizations that the following official statement was issued by the department of state:

"The military occupation by axis powers of many areas and countries in Europe has led to the destruction of a number of governments and to domination by the axis over a number of other governments.

"As a result, political leaders assuming to represent the peoples of such countries, or various groups in them, have been coming to the U. S. in increasing numbers. It seems advisable to make clear the attitude of this government towards them and towards their political activities in the United States.

"The United States is composed of citizens from many national backgrounds. Despite a natural interest in their country of origin, all Americans of whatever background, owe, and have an undivided allegiance to the United States. This is in no way inconsistent with the pride which they naturally take in the cultural, artistic and spiritual contributions made to American life by citizens of their national background, and made to civilization by the countries from which they or their ancestors may have come. The government of the United States does not look with favor on any activities designed to divide the allegiance of any group of American residents between the United States and any foreign government, in existence or in prospect. The first concern of the United States must always be the unity of the country, based on the American way of life and the ideal of liberty many times invoked since its first statement in our Declaration of Independence.

"In harmony with the basic principles of liberty, the people of the U. S. do have a sympathetic interest in movements by aliens in this country who desire to liberate their countries from axis domination.

Many letters are now being received from people in our district who have not completed their naturalization. Letters also come from some who have not yet started their naturalization plans. Some of them come from Germany and other countries with which we are now at war. Some come from Czechoslovakia, Poland and other countries with which we are not at war. Some of these aliens are now termed "enemy-aliens" and some are termed "friendly-aliens." During war time our government has strict rules which all aliens must observe. The so-called "enemy-aliens" come under severe rules and regulations which were issued following the recent proclamation by the president having to do with the conduct of such aliens. There are also suspension of naturalization proceedings in many instances.

The department of justice is now active regarding the conduct of "enemy-aliens" and the various agencies of the department of justice can give them full information about what their conduct must be. The officials of our various courts can give these aliens further information about the new rules about naturalization. Uncle Sam has now registered over five million aliens. The immigration department which is now in the department of justice has cordoned all of these cards and agents of the department have been active for many weeks investigating our alien population.

As soon as congress passed the resolutions declaring that a state of war existed between the U. S. and Japan, Germany and Italy, it

New Year Storm

Sub-Zero Wave Is Brought
To Territory on High Wind Over Holiday.

New Year's plunged this area into the most severe storm of the winter with snow packed into drifts and the temperature dropping below zero. The high wind, which started blowing New Year's eve, continued throughout the holiday. Drifts tied up all forms of travel. By evening Thursday the wind began to subside. Friday found everyone digging out and before nightfall that day railroad tracks and main roads were cleared. Sub-zero temperature continued over the weekend.

Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and Illinois were visited by the storm which was reported worst of the season. Snowfall varied from four to eight inches. Winds packed the snow in hard drifts, blocking mainly east and west roads in this area. Temperature varied from 10 to 15 below zero. Scottsbluff had this state's coldest reading, 23 below, Friday.

The Norfolk-Sioux City train did not run Friday but the Bloomfield and Crofton branches did. It is thought the main line train was cancelled because it is a motor. The branch lines use steam engines. A plow covered the main lines and branches Friday, and trains were practically on schedule again Saturday.

Buses were cancelled New Year's day. They ran Friday but were late. Saturday they were on schedule.

Mail trucks were annulled for New Year's and were late Friday. They resumed normal schedules Saturday.

Rural and city mail deliveries were suspended Thursday because of the New Year's holiday. Rural routes went out Friday and got part of the distance around. They were practically back to normal Saturday.

Plows had all main highways cleared of snow by Friday evening. County plows worked night and day after the wind subsided. They cleared rural mail routes first and then worked on other roads.

Workers used trucks to haul banks of snow from the business district Friday and Saturday, taking the snow to the park where the moisture will benefit trees. Telephone lines were not damaged by the storm excepting a few breakers were reported resulting from the high wind. Stalling traffic did, however, make the calls exceptionally heavy.

A number of people were delayed temporarily on trips. Tom Dunn was obliged to remain in Nebraska City over the storm period. Several who went to Norfolk New Year's eve were obliged to spend the holiday there. Some teachers and students were delayed briefly in returning to their duties.

Rationing of Tires Is First Step Taken by Defense Council in State.

Rationing of articles needed for defense was explained to county defense chairmen and rationing boards of Third region Wednesday last week by J. T. Bressler, Jr., regional chairman who had been in Lincoln the day previous to get instructions from state officials. Rubber is the first article placed on the rationing basis, making tires the chief subject of concern at present. The object of the whole setup is to distribute the tires available to those performing services that are most essential. Cars used by doctors, nurses, veterinarians, police, firemen, ice and coal dealers, garbage men, plumbers and electricians, ambulances, mail cars and trucks used to deliver supplies to market are placed in the most essential category.

Plan for Protection.

Civilian defense organization has been set up, explained Mr. Bressler, to protect life and property and to safeguard morale. Twenty classifications of work are planned and the cooperation of everyone will be asked. First aid, home nursing and such training will be conducted through the Red Cross; police protection, through the sheriff; safeguarding against fire hazards, through the fire chief, etc.

The rationing board will organize to distribute available supplies to suit the best interests of all. Rationing is never popular, explained Mr. Bressler, but the defense organization is appealing to the patriotism of individuals to assist in meeting the emergency. Members of rationing boards will be sworn in as federal agents. Each board sets up its offices and designates the days and hours when it will function. Wayne county office will be in a basement room of the post office. Mr. Bressler urged all boards to serve the convenience of the public as much as possible. If the public can best be served with two or three offices, boards are advised to provide these. All work without pay and no rent funds are furnished. It may be possible to secure services of a secretary through WPA or NYA. Mr. Bressler explained the state officials advise borrowing unused files from some public office for the board. Franked envelopes are used by the sworn federal officials and this is the only allowance for expense.

Ration Tires First.

Quotas will be sent from state headquarters at Lincoln to county boards. Rubber is the first commodity rationed and the quota for the month is one tire for each seven registered commercial vehicles. One-fourth of the monthly allotment should be rationed each week. A surplus can carry over from one week to another through a single month, but any surplus at the end of the month goes back into the state supply and is part of the total allotted for the next month. The state board plans to maintain a "kitty" of eight per cent to take up any possible inequalities.

January Quota Set.

The January quota for Nebraska is 1,125 tires for passenger cars, motorcycles and light trucks and 942 tubes for these, also 2,655 tires and 2,220 tubes for trucks and buses. Of this total, Wayne county will get 8 tires and 7 tubes for passenger cars, motorcycles and light trucks, 17 tires and 14 tubes for trucks and buses. Dixon county quota is 9 tires and 8 tubes for cars, cycles and light trucks, 17 tires and 14 tubes for trucks and buses.

Procedure Explained.

The rationing board designates which tire dealers shall serve as inspectors for those making application for tires, and Mr. Bressler advised the board to appoint all reputable firms to do so. The procedure is outlined as follows:

1. Individual company or corporation makes application to designated dealer and presents tires to be replaced for inspection.

2. Dealer then rules whether tire is unsafe or can be retreaded. If unsafe garage makes affidavit.

3. Purchaser presents this affidavit to local rationing board.

4. Rationing board either approves or rejects.

5. If approved, purchaser presents certificate to dealer along with old tire.

6. Dealer uses certificate to obtain new tire from manufacturer.

The rationing board decides on two points:

1. Determine if the request for tire comes within eligible classification.

2. Decide whether purpose for which tire is to be used is more important than other requests.

Appeals from decision of local officials may be taken to the state board whose authority is final in determining needs.

Dealers Are Inspectors.

The board met Monday and designated all tire dealers in Wayne county as inspectors. Until the local office is opened, applications for tires may be filed with any member of the rationing board.

Tire Is Complete Unit.

A tire unit is a casing and tube, Mr. Bressler explained. Inspectors and the board will decide on whether an applicant needs one or both. Any tire with less than 1,000 miles of travel is designated as new. Second-hand tires can be traded freely. One who gets a new tire must turn in his old one whether or not he receives anything for the old one. Some sizes of tires are designated as obsolete and these can be bought without applications, Mr. Bressler explained. These do not affect the county quota. The county quota does not designate the size of tires allotted for the month. A quota of 25 tires a county 25 casings and 25 tubes.

Policies to Follow.

Health and safety are the principal factors for determining need in rationing tires. In general the policy will be to supply trucks used to deliver to markets rather than those delivering to the ultimate consumer. Mr. Bressler explained that this means that farmers or others using a truck exclusively to take stock or produce to markets will be given preference. But a truck used partially for such delivery and also for other travel will not have priority. A car used for mail delivery has preference but is not eligible if the car is also used for family travel. An effort will be made to supply tires for farm tractors needed in producing food, Mr. Bressler explained. A trucker from another county, heading a tire while here, may apply with the local board whose members contact the driver's home board and supply the need if deserving. The tire furnished is charged against the trucker's home quota.

Applications cannot be filed ahead of actual need, and certificates approved for purchase of tires are good only for 30 days.

An inventory of tire stocks on hand December 31 was taken from all dealers. These will be figured in the quotas.

Officials Appointed.

Chairmen of the council of defense for counties of Third region are the following: Wayne, R. M. Carhart; Wayne, Dixon, Morse Kingsbury, Ponca; Burt, Glen Robertson, Lyons; Cedar, Louis Rubie, Hartington; Cumpp, Cammer Zarek, West Point; Dakota, Geo. Japanese Attack On Pearl Harbor Told by Witness

The early morning attack by the Japs at Pearl Harbor December 7 is described by Mrs. Hyland Hughes as a dramatic scene of planes flying very low, followed by exploding bombs and great clouds of black, oily smoke.

Hyland and Francis Hughes, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hughes of Bloomfield and grandsons of Mrs. Matt Jones, are both in Honolulu. Hyland is employed at the army quartermaster depot at Fort Armstrong, and his wife is employed in the federal building.

"Our home is in a civilian housing project adjacent to the large air base, Hickam field, which houses the flying fortresses and the big army bombing planes. We are accustomed to seeing these big planes take off just behind our house, about three or four blocks away, and fly low over the house when they go out for maneuvers and practice. They have always gone out into the wind in the same direction. When they land, they come in from the other side.

"The morning of December 7 we were awakened shortly before 8 o'clock by the familiar droning noise, but on looking out of the window we saw an olive-drab plane flying low, about 40 or 50 feet off the ground, in the opposite direction. This plane had two large red circles painted on the underside of each wing. Seconds later we heard bombs falling and saw great clouds of black, oily smoke up over Pearl Harbor, which lies immediately on the other side of Hickam field. Then smoke came up from Hickam field, and a neighbor ran by shouting that one of the hangars was burning, with the bombers still inside. Machine gun bullets from the planes were scudding by all over the yard.

"We turned on the radio, but the power, which comes from a plant at Hickam field, was off. We have no telephone. We went outside and about a dozen neighbors to see what they were going to do. Some were loading household goods in their cars. We hurriedly packed a couple of bags, picked up our silver flatware, got in our car and started down town.

"The traffic was not too thick to get through and we arrived safely at a friend's house on the Panohu school campus, having stopped to buy gasoline at a filling station where attendants were apparently unaware as yet that anything unusual had happened. After unloading our few possessions, we drove down to our offices.

"A bomb fell in the Iolani palace grounds, just across the street from the federal building, Monday morning. Windows and walls shook and we wondered if we were next. The officials said we'd better get out so I left my letter in the typewriter and drove down to Fort Armstrong and joined Hyland who was busy ordering supplies assembles at various army warehouses to be sent to army posts, schools and police department. These supplies included mattresses, beds, cots, lanterns, first aid kits, clothing and other equipment. I answered the telephone and ran errands. I heard a rumor that parachute troops were landing and were attempting to sabotage the water supply. Kaimuki residents were on the alert and 'handed' them. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon, after being without food all that time, the soldiers brought coffee and sandwiches which met with great enthusiasm from all workers.

"Schools have been closed indefinitely and all Panohu buildings were turned over to the army and Red Cross. Other Hickam residents, who had been evacuated shortly after we left, were housed and fed there. A first aid station was set up in another building.

Mrs. Hughes, an impartial law-guards are stationed everywhere. One must show his identification papers and be very explicit about his plans before being allowed to go about. Grocery stores are open from 10 to 2 and women stand in line to get supplies.

People on the islands are in good spirits and are carrying on as usual, concluded Mrs. Hughes.

Former Resident Heads Arkansas P. E. O. Chapter

Mrs. W. W. Vaught, formerly Elsie Ringer of Wayne, is president of Arkansas state chapter of P. E. O. A story of her life achievements appears in the January issue of the P. E. O. Record. She has been a member of the Arkansas state board since 1935.

Mrs. Vaught is a daughter of Mrs. Susanna Ringer and sister of M. L. Ringer of this place. Her father, the late Dr. Calvin J. Ringer, was a pioneer Lutheran minister in Nebraska. Six generations ago the family, always Lutheran, brought to this country Henry Melchior Muehlenberg to establish the Lutheran church in America. This year in the old Trappe church near Philadelphia will be celebrated the 200th anniversary of his arrival. Mrs. Vaught plans to attend as a special guest.

Born in the year of the "great blizzard," Mrs. Vaught's earliest impressions include hearing conversations about that memorable storm. Her father served St. Paul church in Wayne while she was in high school and college. Afterward she taught in Wayne city school and was then appointed county superintendent. During the eight years that she supervised the 84 schools in the county, her white team and top-buggy became a familiar sight in the fall and spring. Then she not only learned to know the children well, but she cultivated a fondness for flowers, a liking which has developed into a garden hobby.

After her marriage in 1915 to W. W. Vaught, the couple went to Julesburg, Colo. There Mrs. Vaught was graduated from the American Institute of Banking. In 1926 Mr. Vaught became auditor with the U. S. treasury department and was assigned to the Oklahoma City office. The Vaughts live at a hotel in Fort Smith during the winter and at "Dogwood," their home in the Boston mountains, highest range of the Ozarks, during the summer.

Notice to Parents. Officials advise that if an air raid should come while children are in school, parents should see to their own safety. Stay home, go to a refuge and stay away from windows. Do not try to reach the school as no good and perhaps great harm could be done by such action. In an air raid, first rule is to stay off the street and get under cover. Stay indoors as on the street there is risk of falling shell fragments, racing cars and fire apparatus. Do not try to telephone. Wires must be kept clear for wardens, police and fire department. Using the lines might prevent an urgent message from getting through. These rules are given as serving the best interest of parents and children.

Frederick Schincke, jr., 15, died Christmas day at Emerson. He had leakage of the heart.

Miss Virginia Gerkins of Randolph, and Pvt. Harry Gosch of Pierce, were married December 18. The bride had attended Wayne college.

Give Instructions to Follow During Raid

Instructions to teachers, pupils and parents, to be used during air raids, have been prepared by the U. S. office of civilian defense. According to word received by Supt. F. B. Decker, all should become familiar with these even though the rules do not now and may never apply in this region. They are summarized as follows:

In response to air raid sounds—howling sirens—sound the school alarm in a special way, perhaps short rings; have classes leave rooms in order as in a fire drill and go to air raid shelter; do not permit any to leave the building; do not allow any to return to classrooms until the all-clear signal is given; do not send pupils home.

Protective measures require organization, planning, training and drill. Orderly marching to shelters under designated leaders is first. Chance of direct hits on any individual is very small but caution must be taken to guard against the blast of nearby high-explosive bombs, incendiaries and falling fragments. Get away from windows and doors. Large inside halls of most schools are suitable for air raid refuge. Halls on top floors should not be used. The cellar is suitable provided there are plenty of exits and provided any windows can be protected by layers of sandbags. Select the most protected places in the building, be sure to provide enough capacity for everyone without crowding and be sure of more than one exit. The refuge should have easy access to drinking water and toilet facilities.

Morale Very High in Pacific Area, Passengers State

"Morale in Honolulu is very high and everybody is 'good and mad,'" according to 26 passengers who arrived in San Francisco on the Pan American clipper, states a report in an issue of the Oakland Tribune sent to Mrs. Warren Price by her mother.

The clipper made the overnight flight from Honolulu to San Francisco "just like every other trip." Interviewing of the passengers was not permitted, but the captain did remark that the "blackouts in Hawaii are very black."

J. B. Cooke, airport manager at Wake island, was among passengers and commended the wonderful bravery of marines there. Donors of blood in Hawaii are so numerous that it is impossible even to take their names, the paper comments.

Hospitals in San Francisco are being evacuated as much as possible so as to provide for care of war needs. Where possible to care for patients at home, these are transferred to their homes. Some are being sent to hospitals in Salt Lake City and other points.

Complete directions for action during air raids are contained in the paper. Signals for warning and "all clear" are explained. Then rules are given as follows: Stay at home and turn out all house lights. When bombs fall, lie down on the floor away from the path of flying glass or other fragments. Normally the basement is a safe place to be. Motorists should pull into the curb, turn out lights, get under cover and lie down. Stay off the streets and crowded places. If incendiary bombs fall on your home, cover them with dry sand. Keep sand bags in your home. Keep gas hose attached to faucet if possible. Play only a fine spray of water on bombs as a jet or splash will explode them. Fill your bathtub and all buckets with water under raid conditions in the event water mains are broken. Locate the nearest fire alarm box and use it instead of a telephone. If there's a gas attack, go to the room in your house with the least number of doors and windows; paste paper over the windows, stuff cracks in doors and windows with rags.

Start Training Early. Start training now, the officials warn. Don't wait for the final plan. Drill pupils to behave on an air raid alarm just as they do on a fire alarm. Hold drill every few days until they are thoroughly accustomed to it. Keep up the morale of pupils so that if a raid occurs they will have experience in keeping occupied. Organize first aid training for selected groups, and organize fire defense training for fire guards.

Nearness of Danger. To the question of how close is the danger, school officials say they don't intend to be caught napping again anywhere or anytime. "It can't happen here" is the slogan. "Don't rush around. Don't worry. But act. Read the precautions and apply them to your school. Then take the necessary action today."

Notice to Parents. Officials advise that if an air raid should come while children are in school, parents should see to their own safety. Stay home, go to a refuge and stay away from windows. Do not try to reach the school as no good and perhaps great harm could be done by such action. In an air raid, first rule is to stay off the street and get under cover. Stay indoors as on the street there is risk of falling shell fragments, racing cars and fire apparatus. Do not try to telephone. Wires must be kept clear for wardens, police and fire department. Using the lines might prevent an urgent message from getting through. These rules are given as serving the best interest of parents and children.

Take Protective Measures in West During Emergency

Residents and officials of Oregon are taking protective measures now that war has been declared, according to accounts printed in the Oregon Journal printed at Portland, Ore., sent by Elmer Lundberg, formerly of Wayne.

Health officials urge that adults be vaccinated for various major diseases, which may break out because of shifting populations and collapse of the water system. All persons wandering about the streets during the late evening or early morning hours are to be stopped and checked.

Police are continuing on 12-hour schedules with no days off and are continuing to train auxiliary forces. During one week some 2,000 volunteers were taken into the ranks of the Veterans Guard and Patrol and have been given intensive training.

The fire department checked the city's business houses to see if they could meet the requirement of a 10-minute blackout in so far as their display of advertising signs and show windows were concerned. The rule is that 5 p. m. is lights out for neo signs and 6 p. m. for show windows. It was suggested that small business firms install outside switches plainly marked "blackout switch" which a watchman can turn at once.

Unique Record in Amateur Radio Is Made by Sergeant

At Bellows field, Wiamanalo, T. H., Staff Sgt. Henri W. Wasson, son of Mrs. E. C. Rhoades of Wayne, is the owner and operator of the amateur station K6UNP and creator of the Hawaiian Haywire network of stations located in Hawaii, Honolulu, Kahaui, Maui, Lihue, Kauai and a unit in Wake island. The network is maintained by a break-in system which is known to ham operators as the round robin.

Sgt. Wasson established his unique network while with the 15th group at Wheeler field early last year. One night as he made two-way experiments with Lt. L. M. Lattig, owner of a similar set, owners of sets in cities mentioned above joined proceedings one by one, starting with Wahiawa and concluding in the wee hours with the entrance of the Wake island signal.

From far out in the Pacific, this isolated operator told many amusing tales of Wake island's "gooney birds." Sgt. Wasson contacts this station at regular intervals and relates all the latest choice happenings to the news-starved Wake islanders.

The Wayne boy has been operating via the amateur route continuously since 1932. After setting up his station in Oahu, his greatest distance contact has been with a station in Bar Harbor, Maine, which reception is considered excellent for a receiver, built, maintained and operated by one man.

Christian Science Services

"Sacrament" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, January 11.

The Golden Text is: "Let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth" (1 Corinthians 5:8).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "By one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one Spirit" (1 Corinthians 12:13).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbooks, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Our church is built on the divine Principle, Love. We can unite with this church only as we are newborn of Spirit, as we reach the Life which is Truth and the Truth which is Life by bringing forth the fruits of Love, casting out error and healing the sick. Our Eucharist is spiritual communion with the one God, our bread, which cometh down from heaven, is Truth. Our cup is the cross. Our wine the inspiration of Love, the draught our Master drank and commended to his followers" (p. 35).
