About Nebraska And Nebraskans

No woman has ever been elected to state office in Nebraski, unless a membership in the legislature is counted. Several women have been elected to the legislature. Lowa has had a woman secretary of state for years. Texas and Wyoming have had women governors. A woman is one of the utility commissioners of Michigan. Two women have sat in the United States schate, and several have teen representatives in congress. A cynic has declared that the reason lawoman cannot be elected in Nebraska is that the women are so jealous they will not support a woman for state office. Can it betrue?
