

Successor to Mayoralty Came up Hard Way — Practical Experience Fits Him for Municipal Leadership in Field of Athletics — Gardeners Making Plans — Christian Example — Essential Production — Too Much Luxury and Ease — Falsely Stated Objectives.

Like M. L. Ringer, who proposes to retire from the mayoralty after serving ten years, Herman Lundberg will be elected to the place, having his vision set on duty with self-effacement and without listening for popular acclaim. Herman's early life was no snap, and he met requisites to success; with stout resistance to easy convenience. He arrived from Sweden in 1899, and started as a hired boy on a farm near Wakefield. Working full time at farming in the summer, he was able to earn enough to attend school during winter months. He was a student in the old Nebraska college in 1902 and 1903, and in the latter year the late President J. M. Pile got him acquainted with the late Henry Ley who introduced him to the banking business. Herman has been at his post in the State National Bank of Wayne successor to the State Bank of Wayne for thirty-nine years. He knows the value of work and frugal habits. He believes in progress within the bounds of wise economy. He has had much experience in municipal affairs, and he will make an acceptable successor to Mayor Ringer.

Coach Morrison's Idea. Cutting the fanfare and sharp nervous tension out of athletics, modifying the feverish quest for victories and accepting Coach J. H. Morrison's idea of widening the circle of health benefits, during and after the war, would assuredly contribute to sturdier student groups. To attain the greatest good for the greatest number, the goal must be more than just victory over an opposing team.

Victory Gardens. Victory gardens are gaining popular attention. Seed selections are being carefully made, and time for planting different varieties will be fully followed. The experienced gardener will be rewarded if he manages to escape insect pests and damaging elements. The fellow who has not learned from either theory or practice the science of horticulture, will harvest a lot of valuable physical development. By delving into rich soil and contemplating possibilities thereof, he will gain a wholesome appreciation of what our enemies are trying to take away from us. Any productive garden is a "victory garden." A garden is a high and noble aim even if it is not outstandingly successful.

Virus of Hate. Cultivating hatred does not seem necessary in making and executing plans to smash the enemy, and it is quite out of line with Christian ideals. When Christ fired the money changers out of the temple he did not fly into a rage and express feelings of vengeance. We can overcome an enemy juggernaut and put them where they belong without filling and weakening our nervous systems with mental poison. Enemy warriors are driven by huge, relentless machines, and they do not know they are trying to demolish the world's best and most helpful friend. They cannot find out until superior forces crush their wickedly designing leadership and restore a peaceful social order. We may defeat those who would destroy our free way of life without allowing our thoughts to imitate those of savage adversaries.

Gloomy Predictions. We do not like to hear people qualify the war effort by suggesting that we may lose. Failure is unthinkable, and we cannot fail if production does not let us down. Armed forces are ready to strike decisive blows, but they must have adequate supplies. These can be furnished if strikes and slow-downs are not permitted.

Penalties for Overindulgence. The person who is able to gratify every material want, who has no handicaps to overcome and who has had no bitter experiences cannot rise to full appreciation of the best things in life. Pain and disappointment are friendly and helpful. A bequest of the will and talent to work and achieve is far more to be desired than an inheritance of material fortune, or the coddling protection of a soft berth.

Tojo Pretends Peace. Japan's Tojo assures the Nipponese that they are fighting for world peace—he really means for the conquest and subjugation of self-governing peoples everywhere. The axis idea of peace is to enslave humanity and snuff out the light of liberty. Its purpose is to convert individuals into chattels, and rule without reason or mercy. Tojo's idea of peace would be democracy's idea of hell.

Patrolman to Come. One of the highway patrolmen will be at the court house in Wayne Thursday afternoon, March 28, to pass on requests for drivers' permits.

Capacity Crowds Attend Services

New Grace Lutheran Church Is Dedicated in Wayne This Week Sunday.

Despite inclement weather and muddy roads, an estimated crowd of fully 2,000 worshippers, filling all pews, chairs in aisles, narthex and ante-rooms, packed Grace Lutheran church three times last Sunday at the occasion of its dedication. Besides many local visitors, the guests came from Laurel, Wakefield, Concord, Winslow, Norfolk, Columbus, Fremont, Wisner, Beemer, Pilger and other surrounding towns.

At a brief service in the frame chapel, Rev. Walter Brackensick, pastor, delivered the address, emphasizing what should be left behind as the congregation leaves the old house of worship, viz., all indifference and lukewarmness toward God's world and the Sacraments, all forsaking of themselves together and all lethargy in regard to doing the Lord's work in the church. He encouraged members to take with them into the new church all the spiritual blessings which God has showered upon them in the past. At the conclusion of this farewell, the congregation marched slowly in a body to the new church at the door of which the customary preliminary dedication exercises were held. The worshippers then filed into the new church.

Rev. H. Hopmann of York, first resident pastor of Grace church, delivered the morning sermon, basing his remarks on the text: "Blessed are they that hear the word of God and keep it." The speaker encouraged the members to be faithful in their living examples and thus be living examples to others. "We must not fail in this. A church is only an empty shell unless the people employ it for the purpose for which it was erected," Rev. Hopmann stated.

Following dinner, served by ladies of the church in the spacious basement, afternoon services were held. (Continued on Page Five)

Official Favored By State Board

Governor Has Not Replied To Proposal to Retain Present Comptroller.

Nebraska state normal board, meeting in Lincoln Monday, refused to back down on its reappointment of Fred W. Andersen as comptroller for teachers' colleges. In a report to Governor Dwight Griswold, the board recommended that Andersen be retained in the office.

Griswold and the board have differed over the retention of Andersen as comptroller with the executive refusing to sanction the selection. The governor's approval is required by the appropriations bill which created the office paying a salary of $3,000 annually.

A special committee, including Edwin Cries of Chadron, and Edgar Ferneau of Auburn, was appointed to work out the problem. In their report Monday the two stated as reported by the Lincoln Journal, that they had interviewed six candidates and found none of them to be qualified. The committee recommended that Andersen be retained and the board adopted the report.

"The office requires the services of a first class business agent, as well as those of an auditor and an accountant. Those of a professional educator are not required. Persons having the necessary qualifications are hard to find, due to present conditions," the committee reported.

The governor said he had no comments to make after Crites and Ferneau had conferred with him. Fred Andersen, formerly a member of the board, has served as comptroller since 1935. E. L. Randall, Kearney, was elected vice president of the board, and Alvin E. Johnson, Omaha, new member, was chosen secretary. Dr. Walter Bentback, Wayne, is president. Dr. J. T. Anderson and Dr. Bentback went from Wayne to the board session.

Park Development Is Obstructed By Plans Due to War

THE WAR has interrupted development of the proposed park north of Wayne but it will no doubt be realized in due time. Overlooking the town, the site is very desirable, and in coming years it can be made into a popular recreation center. But a federal appropriation for its improvement now, or for any other non-essential project seemed wholly at variance with the drive for funds to prosecute the war. Keeping up any unnecessary government spending at a time when the supreme urge is to buy stamps and bonds and support the Red Cross, in the all-out war effort, appeared badly inconsistent. Raising grain instead of chasing golf balls will fit into the present program for national security, and after safety has been re-established, the properly equipped park may emerge to add a source of beauty and comfort to the community.

Cases Assigned For Jury Trial

Winslow Village Well Case Among Actions Coming Up Before Court.

District court jury is called to Wayne next Monday to hear three cases. The damage action of Margaret K. and Wm. Walter Moore against the Wayne County public power company, the county and injunction suit of A. B. Carlson against Edwin and Anna Stalder and the recovery action of Frank H. Medelman against the village of Winslow are set for trial.

In the first case, Margaret K. and Wm. Walter Moore, trustees under the will of Clara Moore, deceased, filed action against the power company May 6, 1940, seeking $2,000 for loss of 70 valuable trees which were cut to provide right-of-way for electric lines along the NE 1/4 of 34-26-2, which is a farm north of Winslow. The petition charges that the loss of trees destroyed protection to stock and took away the beauty afforded by these and that fences were also damaged. F. S. Berry aided Perry W. Morton are attorneys for plaintiff, and H. E. Friseman, C. A. Sorensen, C. J. Ofofot, Sr., Connally & Stryker for defendants.

A. B. Carlson's suit against Edwin and Anna Stalder, filed January 7, 1942, charges that defendant failed to keep an agreement to purchase a farm lease. Plaintiff, owner of W 1/2 of NW 1/4 of 1-27-2, agreed January 22, 1941, to lease (Continued on Page Five)

Press Convention To Be in Lincoln

E. W. Huse to Preside Over Two-Day Program in City This Week.

Many editors and publishers are expected to be in Lincoln Friday and Saturday for the 69th annual Nebraska Press association convention at which E. W. Huse, president, will officiate. Stewart Harral of Oklahoma university, and Major Don A. Starry of Washington, will be principal speakers. Fred W. Hill of Hamburg, Ia., Edwin Abels of Lawrence, Kan., Dr. Leo Christensen and J. Harold Hamill of Lincoln, are others on the program. "The editors will discuss 'The Problems of Newspapers in Wartime.'"

The press group is invited to the university to hear a correspondent who spent 11 years in Japan. Governor Dwight Griswold will entertain past presidents at breakfast, and Mrs. Griswold plans a tea for women. Wayne Herald staff plans to attend the Friday evening banquet.

Finley Helleberg Gets High Honor

Wayne Prep Senior Chosen To Represent Nebraska In National Group.

Finley Helleberg, popular Wayne prep senior, was given the high honor of being chosen as state senator from Nebraska to the National Student Congress to be held at Madison, Wis., from April 27 to 30. The National Student Congress holds an annual meeting and is made up of outstanding high school students in the United States. The meeting is sponsored by the National Forensic League but works in conjunction with boys' and girls' state organizations of various states.

Finley is a member of the National Forensic League but received his appointment as senator because of his participation in the Cornhusker boys' state at Lincoln last spring. Sessions of the student congress will be held in the senate and assembly of the Wisconsin state capitol. Because of the international situation, all legislation in the congress will center on the war effort and therefore the usual committees will be replaced by the following: Military and naval affairs, taxation, war production, civilian economy and post-war world organization. In all probability Finley will be a member of the committee on post-war world organization.

As a senator, Finley will be able to introduce two bills to the congress. Representatives may introduce only one bill. Consideration of the bills in committee and by the houses will follow congressional procedure closely. Experienced legislative officials of Wisconsin and other states will give valuable assistance in the senate and assembly by that a (Continued on Page Five)

Democratic Way Now Threatened

Wayne Branch and Guests Hear Talks on Crisis Facing Americans.

The world's highest type of civilization, that which has developed in the United States within the last 150 years, is at stake in the present world war, warned Val Peterson of Lincoln, in addressing Wayne branch of A. A. U. W. and guests Thursday evening at the college student-union. The present conflict will determine whether democracy will survive. Young men are sacrificing their lives to preserve this heritage. Still plants are producing at only 25 per cent of capacity the planes and other equipment which these men must have in the struggle against axis countries that have been training and arming for years. Japan has been preparing for this conflict for 25 years. Hitler has concentrated on the war effort at least eight years and Mussolini 15 years.

Hitler ridicules the legislative system which provides representative government. Mr. Peterson explained, because it avoids concentration of power as in a dictatorship.

Mr. Peterson mentioned that most congressmen are 50 per cent politicians, 40 per cent "messenger boys" and 10 per cent legislators. With terms of only two years, these officials spend (Continued on Page Five)

Congressmen Kept Too Busy Choring To Consider Laws

ADDRESSING the Wayne branch of AAUW in the college Student-Union building Thursday night, Val Peterson, secretary to the governor, said, in referring to affairs in Washington, D. C., which he visited recently in company with Don Wightman, that congressmen put in only a fraction of their time in considering and discussing proposed laws. He said they devote much time to research for constituents and in answering their numerous queries. He pointed out that it is often no easy job to gather from the labyrinth of departments and jungle of documents the information desired. Congressmen are elected every two years, and they try to keep themselves in tune with voters in home districts. He indicated that their public services suffer some interference through unbusiness opportunities in the next election. Costs involved in being a congressman led Val to suggest that a practical pension system would be the humane way to receive into private ranks old-time members on their retirement without cash surplus and without hope of profitable employment. The late lamented and discredited pension plan was railroaded through at the wrong time to arouse anything but a storm of protests.

Urges Readiness To Meet Crisis

Every Individual Needs to Cooperate in Preparing For War Emergency.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a ton of cure." This paraphrase of an old adage was stressed by Walter Roberts of Lincoln, coordinator of civilian defense for Nebraska, in addressing Wayne county chairman and committee members Tuesday afternoon at the city hall. Mr. Roberts urged all not to feel that "it can't happen here." He sees the need to prepare for remote possibilities and then to trust that these do not happen.

It is better to be prepared for situations that never happen than not to prepare and find that they do happen, Mr. Roberts continued. In the process of preparing for the remote, civilian morale is maintained. All thus take part in the war effort.

Mr. Roberts complimented local progress. Registration for volunteer services, rationing, victory gardens, salvaging, first aid and nursing classes, guarding airport, fire protection, defense sales, coordinating labor supply and demand are among these activities.

Mr. Roberts and Verden Petersen, also of Lincoln, stressed the need for victory gardens in rural areas and towns. The large percentage of commercially grown vegetables contracted by the government for service men, the extra demand on shipping facilities and the scarcity of tin make it advisable for every family to have a good garden, they explained. Such gardens furnish an important source of food through the summer and also provide supplies for home canning.

Mr. Roberts explained that air raid training and other defense steps will be taken soon. "Let us do everything we can to be ready," he urged.

Several chairmen reported and round table discussion followed. J. T. Bressler, Jr. is district chairman and Ralph M. Carhart county chairman of defense activities.

The girls will take part in organized recreation, relays, folk dancing, games, swimming and stunts. As is the custom, 20 girls of each high school from numerous towns have been invited to spend the day here. The towns invited are Allen, Beemer, Reider, Blodgett, Dixon, Emerson, Hartington, Homer, Hoskins, Laurel, Margaret, Melon, Newville, Osmond, Pender, Pierce, Pilger, Ponca, Randolph, Rosalie, Stanton, South Sioux City, Wakefield, Walthill, Wausa, Wayne, Wayne Prep, West Point, Winslow and Wisner. Play day was planned by the pageantry class under the direction of Mrs. E. D. Carlson and girls from her classes in physical education are responsible for teaching the various activities.

August W. Koch Is First Affected

Men in Third Registration Will Be Classified by Tuesday Drawing.

In the third selective service lottery at Washington, D. C., Tuesday, the first number drawn affecting Wayne county was 411, belonging to August W. C. Koch of Winslow. This was the fourth selection made St. Patrick's day, the first three being too high to apply here. (These were 3485, 2859 and 4301 whereas Wayne county's highest number is 628.)

Among the first 100 numbers drawn, only seven apply here. The 26th number drawn, which was 176, belongs to Richard Adolph Bauer, Wayne. Others in the first 100 in order are Ernest Duane Junc, Carroll, with 606, Carl Charles Sellon, Randolph, with 339, Henry Edmund Longe, Wayne, with 129, Oakley Reed, Carroll, with 547 and Eddie Gathje, Wayne, with 244.

All men between 20 and 45, who registered in February, were affected by Tuesday's drawing and their classifications will be determined by the order the numbers were pulled at Washington. While no definite answer is possible regarding the time this third group of men will be called to service, Brigadier General Guy N. Henninger states that "indications are that the earliest third registration inductions may be expected in May." In most counties, however, induction calls for third registration men probably will not come until even later. The general explained that induction of third registration men will not in any way halt or check inductions from the first two registrations.

He emphasized that before any members of the third registration are called for induction, their classifications must be cleared. Questionnaires for classification are being sent out to new registrants. (Continued on Page Five)

To Grow Barley On Park Grounds

Mayor M. L. Ringer Leases Municipal Site This Season For Crops.

Wayne's new park site a mile north of town will be seeded to barley this season, the land having been rented this week to George Fredericks. Because of the emergency, WPA labor is available this spring for converting the site into a park. Also to cooperate in the drive for greater production, Mayor M. L. Ringer leased the land for the season.

Country club members met Monday evening to discuss the matter. Some wanted the city to proceed with making the golf course. After the Country club was advised that the land had already been leased, it was asked that some small grain be seeded instead of corn. This would more nearly maintain the golf course contour which had been arranged. Mr. Fredericks agreed to seed the plot to barley.

School Total High For Defense Sales

Pupil Average in County Is Expected to Reach Seven Dollars.

Defense stamp sales in Wayne county schools have reached $6,641.51 as of March 1, according to Supt. F. B. Decker. With one town school and six rural districts yet to report, Mr. Decker thinks the total will be $7,000.

As the school enrollment is about 1,000, the per pupil average is about $7. Purchases are 100 per cent in 72 of the 78 rural districts and parochial schools. Two town schools have also bought 100 per cent. These being Hoskins and Winslow.

Influence of Art On Religion Told

Conceptions Are Inspired By Attempts to Picture The Invisible.

"Influence of Art on Religion" is the subject of the message given by Dr. Frank Gracy for Kiwanians Monday at Hotel Stratton.

All admit the great influence religion has had on art, began Dr. Gracy, but not so many recognize how art has influenced religion. Early religious teachers realized the significance of visual figures to represent the invisible. The Jews withheld from this longest, adhering to the Biblical command not to make graven images. The Greeks loved beauty and made images of all their gods beautiful.

When the illiterate were to be taught, crude pictures were used to represent the invisible. After Emperor Constantine was converted, the Christians began to develop art to represent religion. Jesus was conceived in two types. One pictured him as a severe judge, the other as a kind, but frail and effeminate character. The latter has been handed down. Today this picture of Christ still influences the conception. Making Christ appear as a man of physical strength was attempted in the picture of Ben Hur. There the strong arm of a carpenter is handing a cup of water to Ben Hur.

Since the illiterate could not read the inscriptions, they instead read the character by art expressions. Because of this, features became standardized. Michael Angelo was the first to represent God. He pictured him as the creator. Santi Raphael liked to paint the beautiful so he chose women and children with religious theme. For this reason he and his students produced many madonnas. Faces in his art became more real.

In Babylonia artists represented power by the bull or eagle. When the wings of the eagle were depicted on a man, the angel conception developed.

Often art led to wrong conceptions in religion. Dr. Gracy pointed out to show the shepherds, the poor people, and the wise men, the rich, going to Christ. Painters showed both in the same picture where a couple of years elapsed between the visits of the two. They pictured David as very small and Goliath very large, though David was a man of 6 feet. In the Last Supper, the disciples are shown sitting at a table whereas they were actually reclining. The artist pictured the Holy Spirit as a dove and this conception clings.

So the speaker showed that the work of artists has greatly influenced religious conceptions.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Victor West, H. E. Siman president.

W. V. Lanford of Minneapolis, Red Cross officer here Monday with Dave Theophilus, Major T. E. Gillaspie, here Monday conferring with H. E. Siman and the selective service board. District Judge A. E. Wenke of Stanton, and Dr. Gracy were guests.

School Men Hear Senator Jeppesen

At the meeting of the Four-County Schoolmen's club at Wayne college last Thursday, Senator L. M. Jeppesen of Hubbard, explained to the members the origin, organization and workings of the legislative council which is concerned with taxation and education.

This council was organized during the first session of the unicameral legislature, and is composed of 15 members, three from each congressional district. The first two councils had all their meetings at Lincoln and confined themselves to trying to figure out the unfinished business of importance that had been left in the preceding session and what new business of importance was to come before the next session.

The present council decided to go before the public by holding meetings in various parts of the state and giving the people opportunity to express their ideas as to problems and suggested solutions. Meetings have been held at Kearney, Hastings and Lincoln. One has been suggested for northeast Nebraska, with Norfolk or Wayne as proposed places.

The council is divided into five committees, each with a specific task: Assessment of real and personal property, assessment of intangible property, collection of property taxes, administration and support of public instruction, administration and support of the University of Nebraska and the state normal schools.

Although these meetings have been held, Mr. Jeppesen stated that no concrete suggestions have been made to the council up to the present time. It is very evident that the council is desirous of hearing from various groups and interests. Schoolmen are endeavoring to work out a plan to be presented for the betterment of education in the state.

Still in the Air
TWO MEMBERS of the state normal board, acting as a committee, reported at a meeting of the group (the first of the week that they could not find anyone qualified for comptroller of teachers colleges to succeed Fred Andersen, whose appointment by the board some months ago failed to receive the necessary approval of the governor as provided by the legislature in making an appropriation for the office.

Six applicants were surveyed with due regard for all essential points, but in despair committee members threw up their hands and pleaded for retention of the present incumbent. The board directed the committee to report to the governor. This was done. The question is now up to the chief executive.

If continuance of the present incumbent is legal without endorsement of the governor, then the requirement imposed by the legislature in making the appropriation is as worthless as a verminiform appendix. If the legislature had a purpose in tying up its appropriation with gubernatorial endorsement, it should at least feel mad over the way the matter has been handled.

The committee complained that prevailing conditions operated against appearance of enough candidates—only six—to make an acceptable choice. In commiserating with board members in their futile quest, and realizing the growing scarcity of man power, we would suggest that the report of the late planning board be taken from its graveclothes long enough to salvage a number of recommendations that could serve well during and following the war emergency.

The one-board idea—that is, to consolidate supervision of the university and teachers colleges—would save a lot of talent for other work. Another happy thought that was included in the legislative massacre of the board's report would be to dismiss all college presidents, so they could be absorbed into other useful channels, chucking the whole caboodle of college presidencies into the comptroller system. The problem of leadership could be thus easily solved according to the board committee's appraisal.

Farm Help
THE DEMAND for increased food products places farming in a category with industry and the armed forces, and therefore deferring essential farm labor is consistent with the all-out war effort. It is not always easy to visualize the proper niche in which each may contribute best and most, but it does not make sense to strip the farmer of necessary help and at the same time ask him to surpass all former production records. Appreciation of three-fold needs is developing, and it is hoped agriculture will find adequate man-power to meet growing needs.

A late report from the office of emergency management, taking into account local, soldier and foreign demands, makes this plea:

"The war is spreading inland from the coastal cities and industrial areas until now it has arrived at the farms and towns of the central west. Our war effort, which is nearing the $100,000,000 a day mark, calls for the farmer to grow more foodstuffs and to save and sacrifice. It asks for factories to turn out more and more weapons. It demands that both farm and factory produce as never before in

Air Raid Alarm Sounded at Night Proves Mask Need

A night air raid experience is described by Pete Petersen in March in a letter he writes from Red Hill, Honolulu, to his family in Wayne.

"About midnight the boys were coming off the swing shift and there was not much use of trying to sleep so I thought I might just as well get up and argue for a while about the Japs' coming over here again. I don't believe they will but my friend, Bill Johnson, differs with me. And I always lose my argument to him. Bill is certain. He knows about what the Japs are coming in and I believe he sleeps with his shoes on. Well, he won his argument. It was about gas masks. I haven't taken the trouble to go and get one. One can get a mask about a block from where we live but I figured I didn't need one. Bill had been telling me about the danger of not having one and I went to bed wishing there was some way I could get even with him.

"It seemed I had just gone to sleep when that throaty siren began its wailing and a marine shouted, 'Get to the tunnel.' It was awfully dark in my room and I was trying vainly to find my shoes. Most of all I was trying to find a light. Just then I stuck my head in the door and in the most sarcastic tone yelled, 'your gas mask, darling.' "Finally I got some clothes on, took my shoes in my hand and was about the last guy out. The first thing to do when you get out is to listen for those Jap planes. Well, there so a little bunkhouse I decided to go farther, but that changed my mind that time I knew something and it was uppers on the face and almost when I met that marine again. He was chasing some other fellow but he stopped long enough to ask, in sharp language, where I was going. 'Gosh,' I asked, 'how do you get to the tunnel?' My, that fellow knows some awful swear words. My ears are still burning. But he took after the other fellow so I finally got my uppers and then went outside. I looked to see if that marine was around but everything was still and dark.

"Just then I heard the noise of an airplane high in the sky. No doubt about it. It was the tunnel for me. About half way I felt the earth tremble and heard a loud boom and that put more speed in my feet. Then another boom and I think I left off running and took to flying. Just about that time I saw that marine again. In fact, I went by him. I heard him say something about 'wise guys' but then I made the tunnel and didn't stop until I was way back. The first person I saw was Bill Johnson and he said, 'My, my, Pete, but you're getting to be a coward.' To which I replied, 'If you don't believe the Japs are out there go and see.' Then Bill said, 'You must have been afraid you'd bite yourself as I see you have your teeth in your hand.' About all I could do was to give him a dirty look.

"The all-clear was given and we went back to our rooms. So far nobody knows what it was all about. But one thing I know, I'm going to get a gas mask. And the next time I'll have my shoes handy, and I'm going to ask the marine which road to take. I'll be leading the parade. Maybe I can get my hair to stay down sooner. Guess my friend, Bill, is right."

Disquieting lack of agreement between the president and Attorney General Francis Biddle appears in matters of partisan policies. Just recently the chief executive emphasized the importance of laying aside politics for the duration, and about the same time Attorney General Biddle declared, according to Time magazine, that new dealers should not suspend politics, but keep up the fight for liberalism. He is quoted as saying that the new deal has been successful "because it is a political party tied up with the labor movement under an able leader." In coddling labor leaders in the face of obstructive strikes and foreign dangers, and in trying to cultivate party disagreements, Biddle is altogether out of line with leaders generally and with the masses everywhere who want to save the country before bothering with future way to govern it.

Donald Nelson, production chief, stresses dangers involved in the fiercest endeavors of enemy agents trying to big down America's war activities. False propaganda is employed, and attempts are slyly used to divide and weaken this country's forces. A warned and aroused nation, insuring co-operation and speeding production, will, as pointed out by Nelson, result in ultimate triumph. But we must pull ahead together, and look out for sinister influences and diabolical plots.

Washington should take note that people are fast getting away from "gimme" stuff and are increasingly imbued with a real spirit of self-denial as necessary to measure up to the demands of the time. People usually know they cannot play and joy-ride as usual and expect to qualify by head off the onslaught of deadly foes. Washington should know that taking lessons in fancy dancing or trying to excel in ping-pong has no bearing on the job of thwarting the axis threat.

Old-timers agree that March is normal—running true to pattern—windy, with intermittent falls of moisture and too cold to shed heavy clothing or turn off artificial heat. Grasshoppers and other insect pests can't stand it, and they should be noticeably absent during coming seasons.

The demand for a north and south bus line increases with conservation of tires and automobiles, and the railway commission, which has authority in the matter, should be governed by need of the public service and avoid unnecessary delay.

General Douglas MacArthur's transfer to command in Australia and large reinforcements lately landed on the island encourage the belief that the tide of battle will soon rechristen the "land of the rising sun" as the "land of the setting sun."

Notwithstanding objections to the sales tax, the public will likely have to accept it as a way to raise more money. All forms of taxation promise to be employed at an increased pace.

It is a confession of weakness to admit that one is growing old and feeble. He may be old at 50 and young at 70.

Physical Director Will Be Speaker

COMPLACENCY.
In an editorial recently the Lincoln Journal refuted the charge that the middle west is not conscious of dangers to the nation and that it is lagging in its contributions to prosecution of the war. Mentioning that Nebraska has been quick to respond to all demands, the Journal notes in conclusion: "The record, too, shows that Nebraska is 18th among the states in the sale of defense stamps and bonds. That does not sound like complacency. Rather does it tend to confirm the impression travelers have brought back, that other parts of the country, not even excluding Washington, D. C. in many ways are less war-conscious than the middle west. Has any Nebraskan, asked to do his part, refused? Since the war started, has any Nebraskan working on defense contracts, laid down his tools and gone on strike for higher pay? There is complacency, there are illusions that the war is an easy leisure-time affair, but the complacency and the illusions for the most part are elsewhere—in the inner sancta of labor leaders and in the labyrinthine bureaus of the nation's capital. Here we insist, they are only the whimsy of an ineffectual few."

Wayne Players met Tuesday evening at the auditorium to reorganize. The same officers, with H. E. Ley as president and Miss Ruth Ross as secretary, will hold over. Dr. L. F. Perry, Harold West and Mrs. Russell Anderson are directors.

The group will meet once a month for the review of a one-act play and a talk on an appropriate subject at each meeting.

Farm Labor Supply Will Be Considered
USDA war board has scheduled a meeting at Wayne March 25 at 1:30 p. m., to review the farm labor supply, according to word received by T. P. Roberts. Some serious labor situation may develop in 1942, and 1943 may be even more critical. Representatives from the following groups should attend this meeting: USDA war board, local employment service, county defense committee, local draft board, public schools, county commissioners, WPA director, Chamber of Commerce, American Legion, county assistance office, boy scouts, national youth administration, ministerial association and newspaper men. It is believed much good can come from such a meeting, inasmuch as a considerable analysis has been made of the data for each county which will tend to point out the labor difficulties that might accrue during the coming season. Then, too, the discussions developed after the presentation of this material will help point out the way in which the agricultural labor needs for 1942 may be met.

Time Limit Is Fixed For Loan Privilege
Eligible producers who wish to avail themselves of the corn loan privilege are asked to remember that April 1, 1942, is the closing date for those who may desire to deliver the collateral in payment of the loan during August, September and October, 1942, states T. P. Roberts. The permitted moisture content also drops to 17.5% April 1, 1942. In the event corn will be held until the 1943 delivery period, loans may be completed any time before September 30, 1942. A storage payment of 4c per bushel will be earned by 1941 corn delivered in 1943. Loans on 1941 shelled corn are available between June 1, 1942, and September 30, 1942, inclusive, provided the moisture content does not exceed 13.5%.

that my hands had wrought, and on the labour that I had laboured to do; and, behold, all was vanity and vexation of spirit, and there was no profit under the sun" (Ecclesiastes 1:2, 2:11).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The realm of the real is Spirit. The unlikeliness of Spirit is matter, and the opposite of the real is not divine—it is a human concept. Matter is an error of statement. This error in the conclusion leads to errors in the conclusion in every statement into which it enters. Nothing we can say or believe regarding matter is immortal, for matter is temporal and is therefore a mortal phenomenon, a human concept, sometimes beautiful, always erroneous... In the infinitude of Mind, matter must be unknown" (pp. 277, 280).

Decision Rendered By Supreme Court
Nebraska supreme court, in a decision rendered Friday, ruled that Elmer Schaber would have to pay Wm. Palmer, who was his neighbor in Wayne county, $30 due on a horse purchased from him.

Schaber said he was in need of a horse, that the purchase was made at night when he had no opportunity to see, that he paid $10 down and that he took the animal on Palmer's warranty that it was sound in every way.

The next day Schaber asked by found the animal was lame and because of dizzy spells it could neither walk nor trot straight.

The supreme court was the third tribunal to decide against Schaber. The court ruled that Schaber failed to prove that Palmer made any guarantee. Since the judgment of the district and county courts was sustained by sufficient evidence, the supreme court said Schaber must pay $30 which, because of court costs and lawyers' fees, is a small part of the costs.

more realistic congress may be held. Students from almost every state in the union will be at the congress and many speakers of national reputation will add interest to the meeting. In the past the meetings have been given nationwide publicity and in some cases the national congress at Washington has taken some heed of the student congress.

Two silver medals, one in each house will be awarded each day to members for superior legislative accomplishment. At the close of the session a special plaque will be given to the member most outstanding in each chamber.

The University of Wisconsin is cooperating in making this year's venture a success and will provide both facilities and personnel vital to the congress. A feature of the congress will be a daily radio broadcast over station WTA.

trants as fast as local boards arrange their cards in conformity with the lottery held March 17. ## Democratic Way Now Threatened siderable effort trying to "stand in" with their constituents. Then the folks at home write congressmen for all kinds of information and the answering of these requests requires no small amount of time. The remainder of the official's efforts are devoted to legislation. It would be physically impossible, the speaker explained, to be informed on every phase of legislation. For this reason, official specialize. Congressman Karl Stefan, makes careful study of appropriations serving on this committee, and Senator Hugh Butler specializes in farm problems. Senator Geo. W. Norris stated the speaker gets a "favorable" hearing in Washington on any subject.

Statesmen Are Needed.
In times past congress furnished most presidential possibilities. Politics and "messenger boy" service demands have so increased in recent years that these officials have largely lost the fiery statesmanship of those times. Congressmen who are independent and willing to fight for principles should be encouraged as a safeguard to democracy, Mr. Peterson stated.

America is faced with a real crisis in the present war. The revelry which is notable in Washington and elsewhere must give way to serious business. Production plants must operate to capacity. Everyone must work hard and really sacrifice. The "give me" attitude must be replaced with a determination on the part of every individual to do something to win this war. Only by 100 per cent cooperation can America come out successfully in this serious crisis, concluded Mr. Peterson.

Midwest More Serious.
Proceeding Mr. Peterson's talk, Don Wightman spoke briefly on Washington, D. C. He told that easterners, who were said to have been jittery when war first broke out, now seem forgetful of the seriousness of the present times. They have their social affairs as usual though air-raids shelters and anti-air-craft guns are grim reminders of war. The middlewest seems more conscious of the seriousness of the situation.

Prof. Russel Anderson led the group of about 60 in singing "Star Spangled Banner" and "America." As a solo he sang "Invictus," accompanied by Mrs. Anderson.

Mrs. H. D. Griffin presided. Miss Ruth Pearson and Mrs. F. W. Nyberg arranged the program.

Books were contributed for the "Victory" campaign.

Miss Mamie McCorkindale, Mrs. G. W. Costerian, Miss Marie Howe, Mrs. Lloyd Mitchell, Miss Stella Traster and Mrs. Victor West comprised the hostess committee. "Victory" theme was used in the table arrangement and appointments.

A Saturday breakfast is planned by the branch in April.

Books Are Added To Wayne Library

New children's books have been received at Wayne library this week, especially appealing to those in the teen age. They are: Sue Barton Visiting Nurse and Rural Nurse, by Helen Boylston; Peggy Covers the Clipper, Emma Bugbee; Wally and Her Homemaking, May Worthington; Gardenias for Sue, Louise Hauck; Dude Rancher, Steve Strang; Walt Disney's Bambi; An American A. B. C.; Maud and Miska Petersham; Packer Climbs Pike's Peak, Maud Keithley.

An outstanding book for adults is John Steinbeck's new one, The Moon Is Down. It tells about the people of an occupied country, but the country is not named. Although the weapons and ideologies may be of the present, they are only vehicles for the theme that a free, brave people is unconquerable.

Cruden's complete Concordance and Smith's Bible dictionary have been added to the religious section. Others are The Lord's Prayer, by Ernest F. Little, D. D., and Living Prayerfully, by Kirby Page.

LeRoy Duffy Sees Disaster in Iowa

LeRoy Duffy, who is employed at the shell loading plant at Burlington, Ia., and formerly of Carroll and Wayne, writes of the explosion March 4 at which he was an eye witness as he was just going to the night shift at the plant.

The former Wayne night's letter follows: "The night of March 4 I arrived at the plant at about 11:40 as I usually did and was waiting in the office of the chief inspector of line 3 where I am working. The rest of the inspectors were also in this office awaiting the time to punch the clock. We were sitting back and forth as usual. I was seated so I could look out the south window and see the whole line which is about a mile long. Suddenly the sky was lighted up like the reflection of a fire in the night; then came the loudest report I have ever heard in my life. At first I couldn't figure out what had happened. The building we were in was shaken quite generously and I was naturally excited.

"We ran down to the scene of the explosion immediately and it certainly wasn't a pleasant sight that greeted us. The structure, formerly a three-story building, was a twisted wreck. I was impressed especially by the efficiency of the fire department and rescue crews. The men who lost their lives in this disaster deserve as much credit as a soldier dying in the front lines because they are our soldiers of production."

Complete One Quota of Red Cross Work

Red Cross production staff reports completion of 100 ice bags for hospitals, 100 "housewives" filled for service men and 25 boys' shirts completed for refugees during February. Women spent 64 hours in the Red Cross rooms at the city hall during the month. Much work was also taken home. Carroll Red Cross group took out considerable work which is counted in the above totals.

A new quota calls for 200 bed-side bags for hospitals and 100 dirty bags for service men. Rooms in the city hall are open Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Any wishing to help with the sewing are welcome.

Books Are Asked For Service Group

Books received in the victory book campaign, sponsored by the Library association, are appreciated by the men in service. According to Major H. D. McKeige of the U. S. army, the men are encouraged to read and they do read. He believes that books are vital to the needs of the soldiers. The books which have been gathered by the local libraries have been of unusually good types and quite a few have been received. Men in service read the same types of books as they do in civilian life, enjoying the best selection. Educational books are also called for by the soldiers.

Southwest Mexico Resort Interesting

Acapulco, resort 300 miles southwest of Mexico City proved an interesting stop for Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ley who arrived home Sunday after a four-week trip south. A new paved highway has just been completed to the west coast city which has an ideal climate and fine beach. The Leys spent four days at the resort. They found not so many tourists as on their trip two years ago. The Mexicans notice this too, but understand that the war conditions and the cars for cars and tires has been responsible for the decrease.

The Wayne folks realized a very friendly feeling between the United States and Mexico. The need for solidarity between the two nations is noted in newspaper articles and also in expression of residents there. Officials of the two countries confer often.

The oil well issue, which has been satisfactorily ironed out for both countries. The Mexicans realized that they did not have the means or experience for operating these wells. The United States also means preparing for the emergency, and they are also making adjustments due to the impossibility now to get some products which they have been securing from the United States.

The Leys noted with interest the contrasts in Mexico, the old and the new being side by side everywhere. The Wayne folks stopped in Mexico City and in Monterey while gone. Weather was bright and warm until they reached Kansas City on the return. From there on home they drove in rain.

CONGRESS AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C., March 10, 1942. The bill making appropriations for the civil functions of the war department carries $1,400,000 for work on the Missouri river. About $300,000 of this amount will be used for work between Rulo, Neb., and Kansas City, Mo. The remainder of $1,100,000 will be used between Rulo and Sioux City. The army engineers inform the Third district office that this money will be used for channel contraction and bank protection by dike andrevetment construction. It is believed that the development of the manganese deposits in the Chamberlain, S. D., area will cause the government to improve the upper Missouri river to standards suitable to barge navigation.

Farm district members are beginning their campaign to pass another bill to continue the present 3 1/2 per cent interest rate on federal land bank loans. Unless special legislation is passed the rate will, as of June 30, 1942, revert to the contract rate in mortgages, varying from 4 to 6 per cent.

Much will be said in the next few months about the new tax bill. Ways and means committee members who must write the bill, say that the new tax legislation can be expected before next June or July. The sales tax movement has started again, but members of the committee are non-committal about that now.

Forty-nine new bureaus and boards have come into being in the past few years. The economy wave in congress, especially on non-essentials, may eliminate some of them.

Answering questions on sugar: There are no restrictions on the planting of sugar beets in the United States this year. There was a quota on sugar beet acreage for eight years, but all restrictions are now off. Because of world surplus, there was a decrease of 17 per cent in domestic beet acreage last year. The department of agriculture experts a large increase in sugar beet planting this year. Farmers, however, are worried over the farm labor shortage.

Normally, the continental United States supplies about 30 per cent of our domestic sugar requirements. About 14 per cent comes from Hawaii; 12 per cent from Porto Rico; 29 per cent from Cuba; 15 per cent from the Philippines. The Philippine supply is out now and the department hopes to get the normal amount from Java, Porto Rico and Cuba. The normal consumption in the United States is around 6,600,000 tons. Last year we had about 8,100,000 tons. If the molasses imported into our country is turned into sugar instead of alcohol, the department expects the sugar situation to be much relieved. The department favors molasses for sugar, and surplus corn and wheat for industrial alcohol.

Many officers of the United States coast and geodetic survey are going into the regular army and the navy. Lieutenant H. Arnold Karo of Lyons, Neb., who is an expert in oceanic charts, is one of the first to join up with the army air corps.

The daily rate of expenditures for the war effort in February, was close to 100 million dollars. The United States requirement of industrial alcohol in 1942 is estimated at 275,000,000 gallons. This does not include the alcohol used in beverages. Of this requirement, the yield of alcohol from synthetic processes and from the distillation of alcohol from molasses is expected to be about 230,000,000 gallons. The beverage distillers have offered to cooperate in the production of industrial alcohol, and a bill has been introduced in congress, authorizing the transfer to industrial alcohol plants of spirits of any proof. This will make available the equipment of the beverage distillers and will permit the curtailment of the use of molasses in favor of grain for industrial alcohol. This measure will also conserve sugar materials and will no doubt result in a reduction of the manufacture of alcoholic beverages.

The growth of government business side from the expansion of the war program proceeds at a great pace. There are numerous departments which are indirectly connected with the program which are "short of help," even though several hundred new employees come to town daily. The big government printing office is called upon for an enormous extra supply of printed forms and blanks and, at the same time, its regular line of printing is larger than ever before. Its 7,000 employees keep many of its divisions on a 24-hour basis. The larger warehouses, which had been built with the idea of meeting future demands, are insufficient. The claim that the government printing office was "hoarding paper," which spread over the country, was due to that fact. The public printer revealed that there were 190 car-loads of paper congesting portions of the railway yards, for manufacture of explosives. Their efforts are being handicapped by special groups already enjoying a substantial monopoly in industrial alcohol and other groups promoting the use of molasses. Until these special interests can be eliminated, the efforts of mid-west members to get alcohol plants in their districts are likely to fall short of success. The charges against these "special interests" were revealed during debate on the bill making regular appropriations for the department of agriculture.

The 1943 agricultural appropriation bill came to the house carrying 451 million dollars less than was appropriated for the department of agriculture in 1942. Many activities will be affected by the cut, but members believe that most of the essential regular functions of the department will escape undue injury.

Many inquiries have reached Washington regarding the fight against the farm security administration. The big fight came from southern members who objected to the advancement of F. S. A. funds to loan clients for use, in part, in payment of poll taxes.

The house appears to be aroused over what is generally termed the "Biddle Censorship Bill." Some members charge the bill is a subtle attempt to put a muzzle on a free radio, a free press, and all sources of government information. The attorney general insists that the purpose of the bill is to protect the government from its own employees and others who might otherwise divulge confidential information. The guess is that the bill will either fail of passage or will be drastically amended.

The Azalea show which is held each year in the Botanic Garden here is attracting much attention. The government is said to own the best collections of azaleas in the United States.

The new war department building is going up rapidly. It is expected that at least 20,000 people will eventually work in that building. Many Nebraskans are employed in the war department.

The Smith bill passed the house some time ago. Its purpose is to set up a labor policy in the public interest in this emergency. It is now in the senate where there is slight prospect of action.

Believe it or not, milk is being bootlegged into the District of Columbia. It is repeatedly charged that there is a monopoly control of milk supply and distribution in the district.

There will be no cherry blossom festival in Washington this year. The reason is that the trees came from Japan. This annual festival has been one of the big money shows for the business men here.

John D. Forsyth of Nebraska, Neb., is in Washington for three weeks. As president of the Upper Missouri Valley association and as the personal representative of the governor of South Dakota, he is here to expedite the development of the upper Missouri for navigation and to encourage utilization of the manganese deposits in South Dakota. These two things are complementary. Economic use of the manganese ore depends upon a cheap means of transportation which improvement of the upper river for navigation will supply. Movement of the manganese from the vicinity of Chamberlain, S. D., by barge, to down-river reduction points, will provide a traffic load in justification of the improvement of the upper river to navigation standards. Mr. Forsyth is also chairman of the Knox county board of supervisors. He is talking on all Nebraska and South Dakota representatives.

California says they are determined that every Japanese will have to get out of their state. Japanese own much fine land in California and the Californians say that their state may become the custodian of that land for the duration of the war. Just when these Japanese are going is not explained, but many mid-western members are determined to oppose sending them to their states. No body seems to want them. When the constitutional question is proposed, it is answered by the statement that for their own good, they should leave, and that they can best demonstrate their loyalty and good citizenship by leaving California.

The committee for the investigation of un-American activities, otherwise known as the Dies committee, will have its life extended a few days in spite of considerable eastern opposition. Mr. Dies took the floor the other day to defend the work of his select committee and also to reply to some attacks made against him personally by another member of the house.

Members from California declare that all Japanese people on the west coast will have to be moved out. There are about 30,000 Japanese families—about 125,000 individuals—who may have to go some place else. Only 40,000 of them are aliens. The rest are citizens. Notwithstanding citizenship acquired through birth in the United States, Japan expects those of Japanese ancestry to deem themselves, primarily, subjects of the Mikado.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau has been appearing before the ways and means committee of the house. His recommendations indicate that the burden of the taxpayer will next year be about double that of this year. Members of the committee say that many of the secretary's recommendations will be adopted. Some will not be adopted. But it will be many weeks before the committee formulates any real plans for the new tax bill. In the meantime, many interested people are in town talking to members about how the new tax recommendations will affect them. That is especially true of some of the insurance companies.

The weather bureau has notified the Third district office that it is endeavoring to work out a plan whereby weather warnings may be given to stockmen and farmers without incurring risk of revealing meteorological information useful to the enemy.

Both the house and the senate have gone on record for the repeal of the Ranspeck bill provision which included "elective officials" within the government retirement act, commonly known in recent weeks as the bill for "pensions for congressmen." In fact, the term "elective officials" included not only senators and congressmen, but the president and vice-president also. The vote for repeal of such pensions was 74 in favor of repeal and five against in the senate. In the house 389 voted in favor of repeal and only seven against. The repeal provision, attached to an appropriation bill to obtain earlier action, also repeats further provisions of the law under which cabinet officers and other heads of executive departments were included in the retirement system.

Peruvians Perceive Need for Solidarity

"Peruvians really came across better in the Pan-American meetings at Rio than most of us thought she would," writes James Carey, former Wayne student who is teaching in Lima, Peru. Leaders in that South American country are "taking an active part in rounding up axis enthusiasts if they endanger the country. People are slowly beginning to wonder if there must not really be a need for western hemispheric solidarity. That is the general statement and as far as public opinion goes there are still far too many individuals who want Germany, Italy and Japan to win this war."

Mr. Carey looks for a "splash of increased demand and inflation in Peru where it can do nothing but harm."

Mr. and Mrs. Carey, the latter formerly Wenonah Molino, are interested in sending a young Peruvian girl, Elena Edgar, to Wayne for college training. She is a fine type of Christian womanhood who has served the Lima school as secretary for two years. The Careys hope she may be able to secure a degree and return to her native land to teach.

On the all-prop tourney teams, Derry was chosen for center, Stull for guard. Dick Gifford received honorable mention as forward by the Lincoln Journal.

In the tournament stars, mentioned in the Omaha World-Herald, Derry is listed as guard on the all-tourney team. He and Stull are chosen as guards on the first class B team and Joe Kessler as guard on the second class B team.

Promote Highways In Wayne County

Explosion in Home Costs Life of Emil Forsberg Of This Vicinity.

Early days from the Wayne Herald for March 18, 1926:

Winside and Hoskins delegations asked Wayne county board to promote establishment of the Grainland road from Winside west through Hoskins to the county line as a federal-state highway.

Emil Forsberg, 36, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Forsberg north of Wayne, died March 16, 1926, from burns suffered when gasoline in a stove exploded. He had filled the stove with kerosene. Mr. Forsberg just finished plastering his house and went to light the stove to dry the room. Mrs. Forsberg extinguished the blaze in her husband's clothing but he was too seriously burned to recover. Neighbors controlled the fire at the home. Mrs. Forsberg and four small children survive.

Dr. August Madsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Madsen of Wayne, died March 16, 1926, at Leavenworth, Wash., aged 29.

Mrs. John James underwent an operation in a local hospital. Carl H. Frevert and Miss Adella Longe were married March 11, 1926.

Charles H. Robbins, resident of Wayne from 1886 to 1910, died March 15, 1926, in Madison. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Meyer March 13, 1926. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Holdorf March 14, 1926.

Miss Marian Lindsay and Carl Pfeil were married March 12, 1926. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Carsten Peterson of Winside, March 14, 1926.

Friday, March 12, held triple importance for the Benshoof family of Winside. It was the 61st wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Benshoof, 59th birthday of C. E. Benshoof and wedding day of Marian Montgomery and Carl Pfeil.

Carl August Samuelson, resident of Nebraska since 1884, died at Wakefield March 12, 1926, aged 79.

Mrs. Gustaf Olson, formerly Laura Larson, died March 11, 1926, in Wahoo, aged 51. Funeral rites were held at Wakefield.

Albert Quimby, early settler of Wakefield, died March 13, 1926, aged 76.

Edwin Grubb and Miss Linda Kai were married March 12, 1926.

Early Wayne Happenings. From Wayne Herald for April

12, 1906: E. A. Leaby bought a drug store in Wausa. The Evangelical Lutheran church is being repaired. Bert Linn and family moved from Cayuga to North Dakota. The James Benish family moved from Hoskins to Idaho. The O. H. Kuhl and S. C. Lane families moved to North Dakota. A. W. Lucke of Hoskins, went to Omaha to manage a lumber yard. A. T. Chapin is having breaking done on his land in North Dakota and he plans to spend the summer there. Harry Hammond leased the Randolph Reporter to Clyde F. Reed. Presbyterians sold their parsonage and will erect a new one.

Judge Moses returned from California where he spent the winter. At a special election, Wakefield voted for a public light plant. H. M. Ramsey moved to M. S. Davis' new house on Main street. John R. Morris of Carroll went to Omaha to meet a niece who came from Wales. Dr. T. B. Heckert was elected president of northeast Nebraska dentists. Carroll school board chose C. G. Hutchins, Miss Pearl Sewell, Miss Larky and Miss Josie Carter for the school staff. Excavation for the new dining hall and dormitory at the college is finished. R. N. Thorp and Alex Scott have been appointed rural mail carriers for Wayne.

Mrs. G. B. Carter of Winside, died April 9, 1906, aged 52. H. E. Siman, Walter Gaebler and A. E. Littell of Winside, and A. R. Davis went to Winnebago reservation to hunt. W. N. Huse, editor of the Norfolk News, went to Rochester to consult specialists. David Cunningham and W. H. Childers were elected elders. W. O. Gamble and Dan Harrington, guests of the Presbyterian church. Eastern Star elected as officers: Mrs. C. A. Chace, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Mines, A. A. Welch, Mrs. P. H. Kohl, Mrs. E. B. Cook, Mrs. Clara Ellis. Presbyterian Easter program was presented by E. H. Jones, Theron Northrop, Edna Neely, Hershel Thomas, Daisy Gamble, Eva Mellor, Paul Mines, Goldie Chace, Vera Orr and Marjorie Kohl.

Dixon County Events. From Ponca Journal for March 14, 1884: J. W. Carter, who lives near Ionia, requests that the man who left a pocket comb in his corn crib call, prove property, pay charges and take the same away, but be sure to come in the daytime. A wheel of fortune man was in town and offered to ply his vocation for $25 but the board couldn't see it and the license was refused. Doc Middleton, the outlaw of Niobrara vicinity who has served five years, returned to Holt county and threatens to become a good citizen. The national greenback party has called a convention in Indianapolis. Why so much interest is taken in a dead cause is a conundrum. A beautiful picture of "Liberty Enlightening the World" has been presented to Ponca.

Kirkman's "Victory Cocktail" Boosts Defense Stamp Sales

Margaret Ann Paulsen is shown serving a "Victory Cocktail" to R. R. Stuart at Kirkman's drug store. The store serves the beverage to boost sales of defense stamps. Stuart paid 10c for the drink and with it got a 10-cent defense stamp. The sign on the mirror suggests: "Buy a victory cocktail and slap a Jap." The "Victory Cocktail" is only plain water, but the purchaser gets a straw with which to drink it.

Make Some Changes In Affairs of Schools

Eleven northeast Nebraska county superintendents meeting in Norfolk Monday last week, decided to cancel the northeast spelling contest this season. The meet is usually held in Wayne. A few counties plan to eliminate the 8th grade graduation exercises because of the transportation problem. This is not the case in Wayne county. Supt. F. B. Decker will have the usual program.

The county music festival, usually held in the spring at the college here with each district presenting numbers, has been cancelled for this year.

Teacher Is Married.

Mary Ann Evans had the most stones colored in her castle. This was 19. Patsy Waller had perfect score in spelling for the month. Della Fries, Donna Koch and Mary Ann Evans were next with 99.

Mildred Jensen was a visitor. Dicky Evans and Marvin Jensen treated all to candy on their birthdays. Mary Ann Evans, Della Fries, Dicky Evans and Norman Maiben comprised the school's new quartet. News was collected by Donna Koch.

District 36.

(Mrs. Ellen Phillips, teacher)
The school room has a border of kites and the letters for March. In each window there is a 10-inch cloth flag. The flag salute is given at the beginning of each day and one or more patriotic songs are sung. During the past seven months special days have been observed in some way. December 18 a program was given. With $43 earned the school purchased a walnut chime clock, a three-burner oil cook stove, kitchen utensils, six records for the phonograph, a membership in the Red Cross, two Aladdin lamps with fixtures and prizes. February 20 the ladies of the district and the school children gave a farewell party for Mrs. Lutt, Merlin and Norman Peters who moved from the district. ## Appointed to Office.

Salute Is Required In School Program

Nebraska school law requires the flag salute. The present state of war calls for special attention to the privileges and obligations of citizenship, states Supt. Chas. W. Taylor. School officers, teachers and pupils must enforce the law.

In 1917, during the first World war, the Nebraska legislature enacted into law the requirements of flag display and for salute to the flag.

The supreme court of the United States ruled on the matter as follows:

"The preciosity of the family relation, the authority and independence which give dignity to parenthood, indeed the enjoyment of all freedom, presuppose the kind of ordered society which is summarized by our flag. A society which is dedicated to the preservation of these ultimate values of civilization may in self-protection utilize the educational process for inculcating these almost unconscious feelings which bind men together in a comprehending loyalty whatever may be their lesser differences and difficulties. That is to say, the process may be utilized so long as men's right to believe as they please, to win others to their way of belief, and their right to assemble in their chosen places of worship for the devotional ceremonies of their faith, are fully respected."

School Fund Built By Several Sources

Earnings of the temporary school fund subject to appropriation to various school districts of Nebraska amounted to $444,633.56. Wayne county's share was $3,439.75. The state total included $202,689.70 from school land lease, $12,644.86 from interest on school land contract, $217,844.15 from interest on bond investment, $3,052.01 from liquor licenses, $3,985.01 from itinerant merchant licenses, $4,813.11 from miscellaneous school land funds, $177.71 from escheated estates and $27 from warehouse licenses.

District 11.

Hillside School (Miss Mildred Murphy, teacher)
New club officers were elected for the month. Wesley Walker is president, Myron Deek vice president, Lawrence Voss secretary. The club decided to use its funds of over $1 for playground supplies. The 7th and 8th graders are reviewing for April and May examinations. Pupils made drawings of outdoor scenes in art. Other than three basic requirements, the pictures were original. The work table in front of the school room has received a much needed coat of paint. The front of it has also been made attractive with a skirt. Children plan to make the skirt more interesting by pasting pictures of child life and animal life on it.

District 50.

(Mrs. John Ream, Jr., teacher)
The 8th graders are reviewing for examinations. Four pupils are preparing for the county spelling contest April 4. The 7th and 8th grades are making designs from construction paper. Four and perhaps six new pupils will enroll this spring. The 7th and 8th grades studied the constitution. The 4th grade studied the lives of Washington and Lincoln. Valentines were exchanged and refreshments served at a party February 13. Defense stamps bought totaled $11.30 February 20. The book castle is almost finished with two more books and two more stories to be told. All but one had perfect attendance for the month.

About Nebraska And Nebraskans

(By Will M. Maupin)
An anniversary of interest to many Nebraskans has passed unnoticed—the 50th anniversary of what has long been known as the Battle of Wounded Knee. It was not a battle it was a massacre. Owing to the ignorance of the men at the head of the Indian department at Washington, and the ignorance and cowardice of the Sioux, wards of the government and promised food, fuel and clothing, were starving and freezing. Because they asked the department to keep the promises made, only to meet with neglect, they began muttering, and finally, in despair, began what was to them a religious dance, the "ghost dance." The cowardly Indian agent, frightened out of his boots, appealed for help and a detachment of the Seventh cavalry, Custer's old command, was sent to the agency under the command of Colonel Forsythe.

Several of the older Indians had participated in the battle of Little Big Horn. While soldiers were searching the Indians Chief Short Bull disdainfully threw aside his blanket to show that he was unarmed and illy clothed against the severe winter weather. He was shot by a trooper who later claimed that Short Bull had a rifle concealed under his blanket and was attempting to use it. Immediately the troopers began firing, killing unarmed men and women and children indiscriminately. The troopers chased the running women and children shouting "Remember Custer!" Not an Indian fired a shot. It was a ruthless slaughter.

Correspondents for eastern newspapers played it up as a "bloody battle," although only two or three of the dozen or more correspondents were at the agency at the time. By mutual consent most of them spent their time at Hay Springs or Rushville, playing the "old army game," two or three being delegated each day to be at the agency and report back. Nineteenth of the reports, wired back were drawn from the imaginations of the correspondents. Later a perfunctory military investigation was held. Colonel Forsythe was exonerated. Companies of the then Nebraska state militia were stationed at Rushville, Hay Springs and Gorton to protect the Nebraska border, which was never in danger of Indian invasion.

Nebraska militiamen, or guardsmen as they are now known, have been called out several times for duty within the state. During a packing house strike in Omaha several years ago the militia was called out to enforce order, but a pitched battle took place in which fists and pickhandles played a prominent part in the rifles. Several were wounded but no one was killed. The strike was soon settled. The guardsmen were called to Omaha during the street car strike in that city during Governor Cochran's second term. The Lincoln company was called out during the prison break in which Deputy Warden Delahanty was killed. Shorty Gray, one of the escaping prisoners, was shot as he was forcing a young farmer, Ray Blunt, to help him escape. The young farmer was killed during the firing. Later the legislature appropriated several thousand dollars to the young farmer's widow.

Back in territorial days General Thayer took a couple of companies of militiamen up around Newman Grove and Elgin to suppress an Indian uprising that never happened. Until the Nebraska militia became a part of the national guard it could not be called for service outside of the state without the consent of the governor.

Since Nebraska was admitted to the union no Nebraska governor has died in office to be succeeded by the lieutenant governor.

A peculiar incident happened to a Nebraska soldier during the first World war, and it is worthy of being told. The soldier was Ed Meyer of York, and it was his duty to hurry supplies to the front lines. There being a shortage of trucks Ed was given charge of a big span of Missouri mules, and he soon learned what language to use. He served for more than a year, often exposed to shell fire, and never received a scratch. The day before the Armistice a mule kicked him in the head and sent him to the hospital for nearly three months. He wears a silver plate as part of his skull as a memento of his army service.

A Nebraska soldier was aid to Colonel Stotsenberg during the Filipino rebellion. His name is Germaine Towle, and it was Towle who taught Colonel Stotsenberg when he fell mortally wounded in battle. Towle, by the way, was a newspaperman.

Nebraska has one of the largest and finest museums in the United States, far exceeding the state historical society museum. It is located in Hastings and is known as "The House of Yesterday." Its success is due almost entirely to the efforts of the man who started it and is still in charge, L. T. Brookings, who, by the way, is the son of L. T. Brookings of Funk, former checker champion of Nebraska. With possibly the exception of Washington it has the largest collection of firearms in the United States. Mr. Brookings boasts of having stuffed and mounted, of course, one of the two specimens of the now extinct passenger pigeon. The specimen is priceless.

Thought for the week: "The sword of the Lord and of Gideon."

All to Participate In Gardening Plan

"We-Gardens" is the catchy name adopted this spring as FSA plans for every member of the family to participate in the big job of producing extra food to win the war, according to Miss Margaret Schuckebier, home management supervisor. Preparing the garden plot, getting fertilized and making arrangements for windbreaks and irrigation are being promoted by many now. In Wayne county 36 FSA families have pledged to raise more food for their own use and for market, also to preserve more food than before. These people have met to discuss increased food goals and ways in which they can help each other reach these. Besides exceeding last year's canning record, they plan to try more foods than ever and to store additional bushels of potatoes, onions, cabbage, etc.

Carl of Thanks.

We wish to express sincere thanks to the many friends and neighbors who sent flowers and cards during the four weeks Mrs. Haase and infant son were in the hospital—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haase.

Conoco Is a Winner Every Time

Recent severe tests have proved the quality of Conoco Nth Motor Oil... It stands up under every condition, assuring that motor protection that is so important for best operation and for preserving your engine.

Hardly added a quart "since Hector was a pup"

How this oil that defies "curdling" far out-mileaged five other great quality brands... beat their average more than twice over, in Certified Desert Test

Cups thickening up milk don't half give you a picture of the blobs of muck that can foul your oil—and your engine. For muck and "stickum" from oil that fails under present-day strain can't improve lubrication, nor add to safe mileage per quart. But now that you must change oil for Spring—really a law in every Car Instruction Book—you can easily switch to Conoco Nth motor oil. And in patented Conoco Nth oil you get Thickener inhibitor... man-made... the modern synthetic invented to restrain stickiness—sluggishness—"simmering down thick."

That's how to foil a lot of wear, and not have your engine soon over-eating oil. Talk about a strict economy diet!... Down in Death Valley's record high heat, battling five other big-name oils—impartially—this same Conoco Nth oil was still up above half when all others tested had burned up their engines and their full 5-quart fills! That's a certified sample. It makes you realize why you can change to Conoco Nth and keep away from adding quart after quart. Get rid of hazardous Winter oil now, at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Get economy to the Nth degree. Continental Oil Company

Conoco Nth gets every chance to stay smoothly fluid; full of life. And still another great Conoco synthetic—same as ever—makes Conoco Nth give you an OIL-PLATED engine, with lubricant "plated" you'd say—or seemingly "magnetized"—direct to inner engine parts. Then OIL-PLATING isn't all draining down fast during parking—or even overnight. Instead, OIL-PLATING can stay up high, to help out your engine at every start, before any oil-pump raises up its full stream.

THE NEBRASKA BREWERS AND BEER DISTRIBUTORS COMMITTEE IS PERFORMING A REAL EFFECTIVE SERVICE...

"Since the Nebraska Brewers and Beer Distributors Committee started its self-regulatory program in 1938, I have noted a definite improvement in the attitude and methods of retail beer dealers," says R. In every county of Nebraska, the Committee has voluntarily given this industry's co-operation to enforcement officers. There will be no letup in our program to promote strict law observance among Nebraska's beer retailers.

Luck's with women who want to buy new spring coats NOW

Special March Values for Budget Watchers

If right Now you are longing for a new spring coat . . . a coat that when you slip into it and see the story a mirror tells . . . a coat that makes you feel as if it were made individually for you . . . one to bring out the saucy charm of the gay and frivolous hat you bought yesterday or last week . . . a coat that slims matronly figures or accents youthful silhouettes . . . you're in luck NOW.

Because we decided way back last year to offer two stand-out value groups this month, we chose and picked and selected from the most intriguing coat fashions many manufacturers had to offer. Sturdy sports styles . . . classic casuals . . . softly tailored dress coats. And every garment in these two groups is a supreme value—a value that will increase with the months to come. Slip into one, step to a mirror—and realize your heart's desire. Layaway plan if desired.
