

Show Draws Big Crowd Despite Rain - Wrecking Gardens - Word to Children - Wet Start - Source of Anxiety - Interest in Public Business - Political Campaign - Cultivating the Bright Side.

The municipal auditorium was filled to capacity by the crowd that gathered to see the fashion show Wednesday night despite the heavy rainfall. If the weather had been more favorable and more people had been able to come in front of the surrounding country, likely the building would have been overcrowded.

Learning from experience, the showing was improved. Precision had been worked out in advance, and details were quickly and faultlessly executed. H. E. Siman's stirring patriotic speech was deeply impressive. Dancing was a happy climax. The preliminary unveiling of store windows, attracted many spectators, notwithstanding the rain. People evidently relish seeing newest styles.

Victory gardens, soon to be started, will cause less worry and yield larger returns if community dogs are killed off or restrained for the duration. It would ease a gardener's state of mind if he could be assured that no mischievous dog would pounce on tender plants and vines and undo what has been painstakingly accomplished. Dogs deserve to live and enjoy themselves within proper spheres, but they should not be allowed to gain relaxation by wrecking valuable garden and flower plots.

Save the Lawns.

Another reprehensible spring-time practice is for thoughtless children or elders to tramp over soft lawns that are engaged in growing a new sward of green. A youngster likes to walk on springy ground and see the water ooze up. He likes to take short cuts, forgetting the likely damage.

Old-Fashioned March.

March of the old-fashioned variety was evident during its closing days. Rain, sleet and snow with intermittent sunshine reminded old-timers that the month was normal. More than two inches of rain last week soaked into the ground—a welcome contribution to springtime growth. Mellow, quickly responding soil promises an excellent start for crops and all kinds of vegetation. March is often disagreeable, but its unpleasant behavior makes liberal donation to the needs of agriculture.

Prairie Fires Recalled.

Early-day recollections include battles with prairie fires and the frequent losses that were suffered. Unbroken prairies afforded a wide sweep for a fire that happened to get started. Driven by strong wind, flaming grass became a real menace. A cloud of smoke in the distance was the signal for soldiers to take fire arrows and arm themselves with brooms and mops and whatever would serve to smother leaping flames. Prairie fires in the springtime, after snow had disappeared, were a source of anxiety.

Municipal Election.

The sample ballot for the city election next Tuesday appears elsewhere in today's Herald. The two-party system failed to function in naming rival candidates for main offices, but competition for councilman in each of the three wards should be an incentive to average voting strength. Citizens should take time to go to the polls and express themselves. By voting they will exercise proper interest in public affairs.

In Field of Politics.

County and state politics will soon begin to warm up. A few candidates have appeared to make their aspirations known. Others may be expected soon to follow. The assumption that we would lose our democracy if we became involved in the war is not proving true. The reverse effect—stimulated interest in politics and candidates—is reasonable. Talk of weakening democracy is likely to be a power in behalf of strengthening it.

Sense of Humor.

Sense of humor ought to be kept alive as an aid to morale during the stress of war. There is nothing joyful about war—nothing to make one feel amused over the death and ruin involved in a sanguinary conflict. But there is need of penetrating clouds with sunshine. It is important to health and courage to see the bright side and dispel blue devils of gloom and fear. Sense of humor should be cultivated.

Patrolman to Come.

A patrolman will be at the court house after the afternoon of Thursday, April 9, to pass on applications for driver's permits.

Will Meet Tuesday.

Wayne's new welfare committee will meet next Tuesday evening at 8 in the office of Mrs. Esther Thompson at the court house.

Damage Action Settled By Jury

Windside Recovery Suit Is Set for Trial Before Judge in April.

Jury in district court last Thursday found for the plaintiff in the sum of $400 in the damage action filed by Margaret K. and Wm. Walter Moore, trustees of the estate of Clara Moore, against Wayne County Rural Public Power company. Plaintiffs sought $2,000 for loss of trees on a farm north of Windside. The case was heard before the jury Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and until Thursday noon when it went to the jury. Verdict was returned at 3:35 p. m. for the plaintiff and against Wayne county power district and Peter Kiewit, Sons Co. F. S. Berry and Perry Morton are attorneys for plaintiff. H. E. Siman, C. A. Sorenson, Crofoot, Frasier, Connally & Stryker for defendants.

Jury was discharged in the farm lease suit filed by A. E. Carlson against Edwin Stalder, et al. Plaintiff asked for an accounting of a farm lease agreement in which defendant was to pay $450 in two installments. The court entered a judgment for $225 in favor of the plaintiff. Costs are also assessed against defendant. The court found that the defendant's counterclaim and plaintiff's set-off were about equal so that nothing was owed by either party on these. F. S. Berry was attorney for plaintiff and H. E. Siman for defendant.

In the action in which Don Wightman seeks to have the city establish clear title to lots, according to the council's agreement, the application of C. H. Hendrickson to intervene as a taxpayer was granted. Plaintiff made order restraining sale of property until (Continued on Page Three)

Mrs. Emma Roe Passes Away Monday Morning After Being Ill Long.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 from Carroll Methodist church for Mrs. Emma Roe, resident of Wayne county 57 years, who passed away Monday morning, March 30, at 9:30 in a Wayne hospital where she had received care since March 2. Rev. C. G. Stevens and the Beckenhauer mortuary were in charge. Committal followed in Carroll cemetery.

Emma Sarah Shaw, daughter of George and Sarah Shaw, was born October 13, 1866, near Emerson, Ia., and was thus aged 75 years, 5 months and 17 days. She was married to George Edward Roe December 31, 1884, at Emerson and the following spring the Roes came to Nebraska, locating in Wayne. After several years here they moved to a farm southwest of Wayne, and later to a place near Carroll where they resided 34 years. On account of failing health they retired from the farm in 1922. They spent a few years in California and then returned in 1930 to make their home in Wayne.

Mr. Roe died December 3, 1930. Mrs. Roe remained in her home here until last December when she went to Carroll to be with her daughter, Mrs. Elmer Phillips.

Mrs. Roe had been a faithful member of the Methodist church since childhood and she had been active in the Aid as long as her health permitted.

Deceased leaves five sons, Merle of Carroll, George of Alliance, Willie Wayne of Omaha, and Leslie of Malta, Mont., and one daughter, Jessie, Mrs. Elmer Phillips of Carroll. There are eight grandchildren and eight great grandchildren. Mrs. Roe also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Nellie Richardson and Mrs. Tom Birch of Los Angeles, and a half sister, Mrs. Ida Kelly of Knightstown, Ind.

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY APRIL 2, 1942

NUMBER FORTYEIGHT

NEW HOSPITAL HERE TO OPEN TO PUBLIC SUNDAY AFTERNOON

A NOTABLE way improvement is the new Benthack hospital which will be opened to the public next Sunday, April 5. Visitors will be welcomed at that time. This new, modern hospital is the realization of Dr. Walter Benthack's dream of many years. The building was started last fall, and work has continued steadily through the winter. Despite handicaps incident to the war, the enterprise has been pushed to satisfactory completion. An inspection will reveal nothing incomplete for modern service. People would almost be willing to be sick or be taken apart in order to occupy such comfortable, attractive hospital quarters. The public should see what the town has gained.

Hospital Opening Is Easter Sunday

New Benthack Structure at Third and Pearl Streets Is Now Complete.

The modern, fireproof hospital built at 3rd and Pearl streets in Wayne by Dr. Walter Benthack is nearly completed and furnished. Public opening will be Easter Sunday, April 5.

The cream brick structure trimmed with white stone is an improvement costing about $40,000, exclusive of equipment. The three-story hospital measures 36 by 74 feet. The building will accommodate about 20 patients in addition to the nursery. The structure is designed with a view to adding another story later.

Entrance from East. Upon opening the friendly double-doors on the east side and climbing the small flight of stairs one views the reception room, this being located to the right. It is not enclosed on the side facing the stairs. Furnishings consist of walnut furniture upholstered in red leather and a large mirror. Venetian blinds are at the windows, and the artificial lighting is supplied by a special fluorescent fixture.

To the left of the stairs is the business office. A corridor runs the full length of the main floor from north to south. Continuing to the south down the corridor the laboratory is to the left, then the private office. At the south end are three examining rooms and a small translating room.

Going north in the corridor one notices the fountain and the modern baths. At the north end to the left is the X-ray room and at the (Continued on Page Three)

Sunrise Services In Baptist Church

Institute Drive In Near Future

United Service Organizations will institute their 1942 drive May 11 to raise funds to provide for men in the armed services. The Nebraska quota is $148,000. The quota for northeast district of seven counties is $5,000 and the quota for Wayne county is $715.

About 30 from the seven counties of this district met here Monday with District Chairman J. T. Bressler, jr., to organize for the drive.

Clarence Wright is Wayne county chairman in this year's drive and will arrange a solicitation, selecting his helpers. The campaign will be completed by July 4. A year ago the 1941 USO drive raised $484,650 in Wayne. M. L. Ringer was chairman and L. W. Ellis treasurer. This exceeded the quota at that time.

The plan of USO, which combines such groups as Y. M. C. A., K. C. Jewish society, Salvation army, etc., is to have one organization which conducts a drive once a year to provide for the welfare of the men at camps. This solicitation will be the only one asking contributions for this purpose.

Will Sponsor Play For Woman's Club

Wayne Players voted to put on a play for Wayne Woman's club at the meeting of the players Tuesday evening. All the receipts above expenses will be given the club. Try-outs for the play will be April 14 at 7:30 at the auditorium.

Committees for the organization, appointed by H. E. Ley, president, are: Promotion, T. S. Hood, chairman, Miss Ruth Ross, T. E. Foust, Mrs. F. S. Berry and Mrs. L. E. Brown; play reading, Miss Lenore Ramsey, chairman, Miss Margaret Prest, Mrs. D. S. Wightman, Vernon Cassell, Mrs. H. E. Ley; program, Mrs. Russel Anderson, chairman, Miss Hazel Reeve, Harrold West, Mrs. L. W. McNatt, Mrs. S. A. Lutgen, Coach J. H. Morrison and Mrs. E. A. Jensen.

Mrs. Russel Anderson was in charge of the Tuesday evening program which included a short talk on ideas for plays by Dr. Frank Gracey and a walking rehearsal. The group has another regular meeting April 28 with Miss Hazel Reeve in charge of the program. A three-act play will be reviewed, a walking rehearsal and a short talk presented.

Voice Is Familiar To Telephone Operator

Tom Cavanaugh of Wayne, now stationed at Ryan Field at Hemet, Cal., received a great surprise last week Sunday evening when he was putting a long-distance telephone call through to his parents, the A. T. Cavanaugh's at Wayne. Tom had gone to Los Angeles, to make the call and when he gave the long-distance operator his name and the name of the persons he wished to talk with in Wayne, he was greeted with, "Hello Tom. How are you?" Upon inquiry it turned out that the girl was the former Myra Heyne of Pender, student at Wayne State Teachers college when both parties were freshmen.

Stenographers Needed. Women stenographers are needed in Washington, D. C., a report states, American citizens 18 years old or older who can take dictation at 80 words or more a minute are asked to inquire at the post office about such work.

Returns from Hospital. Mrs. A. T. Cavanaugh returned home Monday from a local hospital where she had received treatment. She is much improved.

Plan Bake Ovens For Local Parks

Improvement Is Placed in Charge of Committee Of City Council.

Visitors coming to Wayne parks this summer will have the convenience of bake ovens, according to decision of the city council Tuesday evening. It is planned to build several this spring. Decision on the number and the placing will be left to the park committee which includes L. B. McClure, Herman Lundberg and J. H. Buegler. It is probable that three will be placed in Bressler park and one in East park.

Officials have not yet made any decision about completion of the paving district in northwest part of town. The district included four blocks and two were completed. Most of the cement is on hand for the other two blocks but WPA labor stops April 15.

The lease of the golf course north of town to Geo. Frederick was signed by the council Tuesday. The term is for one year beginning March 1. The ground is to be seeded to barley.

City Attorney R. W. Bartels was authorized to bid $700 on N 1/2 of lot 5 and lot 4, block 21, original Wayne.

The council granted on-off beer licenses to Lawrence Victor, A. Reikofski, Alex Jeffrey, Northeast Nebraska Beverage Co., and Jack Meier and a wholesale beer license to Wayne Ice and Cold Storage Co.

PHYSICAL CULTURE IS CONSIDERED AT KIWANIS LUNCHEON

DR. CARL NORDLY, director of physical education in the University of Minnesota, who came here to address students at the college, reflected the modern slant on athletics in a speech following the noonday luncheon of the Kiwanis club Monday. He was introduced by Coach J. H. Morrison whose idea of physical culture programs in schools was thus verified. Dr. Nordly stressed the importance of training for all young persons in order better to fit them for life's work. The old-time rule to concentrate attention on development of those who participate in games with rival schools is giving way to a broader and more useful plan. The proposed system, as explained by Dr. Nordly and held by Coach Morrison, would insure sturdier men and women. Such enlarged field for physical culture in schools and colleges would contribute larger benefits to society.

Ace of World War Gives Warning to Avoid Complacency

Complacency, greed and politics must be ousted if the allies are going to win the struggle for freedom, warned Colonel Eddie Rickenbacker, America's famed World War I ace, Friday when he was visiting Hamilton Field, Cal., where Wayne McMaster is stationed. "We must stop trying to win the war in cocktail parties and start tackling victory in the factories," Rickenbacker said.

Rickenbacker, who bagged 26 planes in the other war, is president of Eastern Airlines. He has volunteered his services as lecturer at aviation training schools in the psychology of aerial combat. "The age advised instructing high school youths in ground school courses to fit them for aviation cadet training. He forecast a need for 200,000 pilots and a ground complement of 3,000,000 men to win the war."

Rickenbacker complimented the boys in training today at the first he has ever seen. "Americans must forget about 'living their pockets with gold' in this emergency. 'Germany has no gold, but Germany does have and is using manpower hours,' Rickenbacker warned. "The Wayne youth has recently been appointed mail orderly for the squadron. This is in addition to his regular duties at the field."

Beaver Is Caught In Cattle Yard at Art Odegaard Farm

To catch a beaver was the unusual experience of Arthur Odegaard of near Wayne Thursday March 19. Mr. Odegaard heard the logs barking and went to the yard to see what the cause was. He found a beaver in the cattle yard near a hay rack. Mr. Odegaard threw a rope around the animal and got him into a cage. Neighbors are interested in the animal which weighs about 35 pounds, has a tail like an otter's and is unusual in this part of the country.

Picture Story of U. S. Flag

THE FIRST STARS AND STRIPES
This is the first Stars and Stripes. The Continental Congress on June 14, 1777, resolved: "That the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, red and white; that the Union be thirteen stars, white in a blue field, representing a new constellation." According to legend the five-pointed stars were designed by Mrs. Betsy Ross.

FIFTEEN STARS AND STRIPES
With the admission of Vermont and Kentucky to the Union two stars and two stripes were added to the flag following an Act of Congress in 1794. It was a flag of 15 stars and 15 stripes over Pt. McHenry that inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star-Spangled Banner." Congress in 1818 restored the original number of stripes.

end of the hall the developing room. The X-ray room will house the big X-ray machine. A mobile unit, to be used for those who are bed-ridden, will also be there. This mobile unit is one of the largest in the state. There are no wires so it is very easy to move from room to room and floor to floor, as need arises.

On the west side of the main floor are the operating and scrub-up rooms. The scrub-up room is equipped with latest sinks and cabinets. The operating room is well lighted, one wall being of glass brick and the lights being special type.

Second Floor for Patients.
Going west in the branch corridor one comes to the steps leading to the second floor. On this floor are the private rooms, the nursery and the wards. Corridors are arranged the same as on the main floor. There are nine single private rooms, finished in various pastel shades.

Each private room has specially matched furniture, this consisting of a single panel bed, mattress, bedside cabinet, dresser, mirror, over-bed table, easy chair, straight chair and foot stool. Each private room has a closet, some of them being corner closets, so little of the room space is used.

At the south end are the two wards. Four beds may be placed in one ward and three in the other.

The utility room is located at the southwest corner of that floor, this having colonet, sinks and a modern sterilizer. Two bathrooms are provided on that floor, one at each end of the hall.

The nursery is on the west side of the floor. This has a specially built door further to protect the babies who will be placed there. The nurses' station is in the middle of the floor.

The floor is equipped with a signal system, each room having a light which can be flashed on when a nurse is wanted.

Quarters in Basement.
Retracing one's steps to the main floor and our down to the basement one is ushered into the nurses' quarters and kitchen. The dining room is off the kitchen. Five bedrooms and a large living room for the help will be found there.

The furnace room houses the heating unit and a big sterilizer for the linen used in the hospital. The laundry room and various storage rooms will also be found there. On that floor as on the ones above will be found baths.

A hand-powered elevator is located approximately in the middle of the building. This will be used to carry supplies from floor to floor and to move patients who are unable to use the stairs.

Floors on the main and second stories are of terrazzo, adding much to the general appearance. The ceilings in the corridors are of a sound-absorbing material so that quiet for the patients will be assured. Most lighting in the building is fluorescent.

The partitions of the building are of Jeppson block and all door jams are of steel. Only the doors, themselves and the window ledges are of wood. Walls are finished in plaster shades trimmed in light tan.

Damage Action Settled by Court

This action is concluded. Judge A. E. Wenke ruled that premises will not be sold until further order of court, plaintiff to furnish $500 bond in this connection. H. E. Simon is attorney for Wightman.

Winslow Case Postponed.
In the recovery suit filed by Frank Medelman against the village of Winslow jury trial was waived, by agreement of attorneys for both. Judge A. E. Wenke will be here April 15 to hear the matter. Medelman installed a well and pump last October at a cost of $3,234.40. The village paid $616 on this. Plaintiff is suing to recover the balance of $2,618.41. E. M. Deutsch is attorney for plaintiff and H. E. Simon for defendant.

Another matter to be heard by the judge April 15 is the appeal of the Brown Land Co. from decision of the board of equalization. The company had asked the board to put the valuation of land in Wayne county as follows: N 1/2 of SW 1/4 and SW 1/4 of 1-26-1, from $12,960 to $9,400; N 1/2 of SW 1/4 of 7-26-1, from $3,865 to $3,500; N 1/2 of 11-26-1, from $16,975 to $11,000; SW 1/4 of 18-26-1 from $7,345 to $5,600. The board of equalization cut the assessed valuation of N 1/2 of 11-26-1 from $16,975 to $15,375 but declined to reduce the others. The land company appealed. R. W. Bartels serves the land firm.

Petition seeking divorce was filed by Mervin W. Hess against Bertha Hess. R. W. Bartels is attorney for plaintiff.

At Special Meeting.
Clarence Kahler attended a special meeting of the Farmers Mutual Insurance company at Pierre Friday for the agents.

now working on a physical education survey and has already made a recreation survey letting communities know what recreational equipment they have available and advising them what directions to take in the recreational program.

The Minnesota physical fitness program has, the speaker stated, as one of its main purposes the arousing of community interest in health, physical education and recreation. The welfare defense committee is, he explained, purely advisory. This committee encourages the establishment of local physical fitness committees and urges the local committees to make surveys of their recreational facilities. It establishes contact with the communities through Kiwanis clubs, the American Legion and other organizations.

Credit was attributed to the Minnesota governor for a large interest in the physical fitness program of the state. The colleges of Minnesota are, Dr. Nordly stated, the state welfare defense advisory committee as rapidly as possible in terms of facilities and leadership. At a January meeting the extensive intramural program. Dr. Nordly, pointing out that inventions have made people sedentary, said that the school should provide activities which require strength and endurance. He added that the development of the ability to play is a function of education. Some values of play activity he named: Opportunity for self-expression, the development of safety skills, and if the play activity is under good leadership a decrease in the delinquency of students.

The speaker maintained that physical education helps to meet the needs of adolescent students by developing a sense of social values. He declared that physical education activities provide growth and development, give an opportunity to make friends, furnish club activity, afford release from emotional strain and develop skills for use in leisure time and skills which contribute to physical safety.

In addition to the in-school physical education work, Dr. Nordly stated that summer recreation programs are needed and that recreation leaders should be kept busy in the summer time contributing to the building up of health and physical fitness.

Music for the school men's meet was furnished by students of the college and the training school. Emelyn Griffith, training school student, played a clarinet solo, with Mrs. John R. Keith as the accompanist. John Kvam, college student, played a trombone solo, with Miss Betty Krause at the piano.

Coach James H. Morrison introduced the speaker. Harry Hegstrom, Wausa, president of the School Men's association, presided.

Comptroller THE STATE teachers college comptroller comedy continues. A year ago the legislature, in due and regular session—members in their right minds and apparently thinking—made an appropriation for a comptroller to be chosen by the state normal board and endorsed by the governor. It would be assumed that lack of complete fulfillment meant a vacancy.

The board made its selection, but the chief executive refused approval. Incumbent stuck to his post and drew the stipulated salary. Finally, a few weeks ago, the board, reviewing six applicants, despaired of the task of finding a suitable successor. The population of the state not having been exhausted in the search, however, and the executive mind not being in the habit of flitting from opinion to opinion, the governor stoutly maintained his position.

Then followed a severe jolting of the status quo by the state auditor who buckled on his armor and delivered an ultimatum to the effect that he would withhold incumbent's salary check pending a ruling from the attorney general's office. But last week a report appeared to the effect that the auditor, discarding his armor, retreated to a position which he fished out of a 1911 supreme court decision. This persuaded him to relent and issue the March warrant. He explained that if a fellow were permitted to work, he was entitled to collect compensation.

If all involved stand pat and refuse to budge, we can see how judgment of the legislature may be virtually annulled unless some incensed legislator steps into the limelight to demand court solution of the problem.

How may differences be straightened out with the solemn work of the law-making body properly observed? The board evidently feels helpless in trying to find a successor. The governor is immovable and defiant. The auditor's latest mood suggests polite acquiescence. Perhaps the governor, auditor and attorney general ought to hold a conference and talk the matter over. In the meantime the incumbent hangs on.

The Right Course

THE DIFFERENCE between a live community and a dead one is the difference between the dominating spirit of progress and the atrophying atmosphere of chronic stagnation. The middle course, based on sound economy, is the healthiest one to follow. The spendthrift must be checked to prevent unwise excess and wild waste.

On the other hand, the tightwad who kicks against every public or private enterprise, would, if he had his way, soon fix a town so that its business would be next to nothing, many of its buildings vacant, rents flitting with zero, and valuations always tobogganing. Where obstructionists rule, taxes are low because there is little to tax and no income to justify the small tax imposed. In such a community everything is low—returns, expenses, spirit and hope. It is hard for the spendthrift to keep within practical bounds. It is still harder for the destructionist to avoid tearing down values that contribute to community growth and prosperity and content.

The golden mean is safe and constructive. Where "agifers" predominate, there is constant warning of approaching death.

Easter Sunday

THE WORLD at this juncture is strangely in contrast with the spirit of Easter. While people turn to the anniversary of the resurrection for thoughts of peace and good will, they are acutely conscious of a life and death struggle between two clashing ideologies—the one upholding freedom and the other trying to force human slavery. In Christian lands, Easter will be observed more earnestly than ever as the symbol of what free peoples are fighting for—the right to live within orderly bounds, worship as conscience dictates, and enjoy the fruits of individual initiative and effort. The Easter promise is stronger than ever by reason of ruthless shafts aimed by enemies at its sacred meaning and cheering hope.

Christians everywhere will turn from a world of carnage to peaceful places of worship to rededicate themselves to the faith bequeathed through the centuries. They will be strengthened to fight against pagan threats in the feeling of assurance that a better day is coming—a day when universal independence and security will be guaranteed.

Like all citizens contributing to winning the war, industry and labor should not seek excess profits or unreasonable advantages. Most industrial plants are working to the limit of their power in war work. We think union laborers as a rule are loyal to their jobs and are not in sympathy with shortsighted leaders who would balk in vital production in the hope of scoring future advantage. But congress is becoming aroused to the need of trimming the sails of organized labor and of doing away with unfair impositions.

Prof. H. C. Filley of the Nebraska college of agriculture, recently expressed a general resentment felt over union labor's behavior in the war effort. He said farmers expect to work long hours with help shortage to meet victory food demands and that in contrast they do not relish the forty-hour work week nor the exorbitant wage demands within industrial ranks.

Attorney General Biddle criticizes Assistant Attorney General Arnold for pointing a finger of warning at organized labor. Biddle said Arnold did not speak for the justice department. We will guarantee, however, that he expresses the prevailing opinion of the American people.

Japan's admiral-in-chief, Isoroku Yamamoto, boasts that he will not be satisfied until he dictates peace terms at the White House in Washington. He would save a lot of disappointment and remorse by an early resort to hara-ki.

Japan charges the United States with violation of international law, the utter falsity of which dovetails exactly with its own treachery and its own utter disregard of every national decency.

We would like to see dispassionate consideration of problems revealed by Chairman Dies, rather than storms of protest and denunciation. He is one of free America's needed safeguards.

A five per cent federal sales tax appears in the offering. If such widespread tax is adopted, it should relieve other forms of taxation.

Danger Ashore.

(Norfolk Daily News) Except when he is in actual combat, a navy man's greatest danger is in being run down by an automobile while he is on shore leave.

Hazards of the sea have dropped below hazards of the land as causes of death among navy personnel.

At least this is how a writer in Argosia magazine finds it.

If it isn't fighting, a ship is the safest place for a sailor to be.

"The diseases and accidents of the civil community are a far greater menace to his health than are the machines, the explosives and the living conditions on board his ship," this writer adds.

"During the first century of its existence, drowning cost the navy more lives each year than any other cause, but for the last few years, motor vehicle accidents on shore have far exceeded all other causes of loss of man power."

The death rate in the navy is only one-fourth that of the United States as a whole. The explanation is, of course, that life on board ship is lived in exceptionally sanitary conditions. The ship's doctor is charged with responsibility for health conditions, and what he says goes.

What may be to the credit of the navy, is to the discredit of civilian conditions! The dangers from traffic accidents have been mounting until now they have become a major cause of death even to the jolly tar who braves what we used to consider the grave hazards of the deep.

"Pity the poor devils ashore on a night like this," said the old sailor as he crawled into his pitching bunk.

There was some reason for his pity.

Farm Girl A Real Heroine.

(Omaha Journal-Stockman) There has never been as much glamour for young women in farming as in military or semi-military jobs but very frequently items from rural communities demonstrate that farm reared girls who decide to remain on the home farm to help with the work while their brothers and other farm help are in their country's service will be working to win the war just as truly and just as effectively as if they had donned uniforms and gone to the front.

From Griswold, Iowa, comes the story of Annette Jenkins, the 23-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jenkins, who resigned a good, steady job in town to go and help her father and mother on the farm. It seems like a homely story but it carries a world of patriotism and punch. Two brothers had been called to the colors. This left no one at home to help with the farm work. The town beckoned, war work for women offered adventure but with a woman's intuition it did not take Annette very long to decide. Her place was back on the farm.

"Reared on a farm and familiar with all farm machinery, she decided she could do nothing more effective in doing her bit toward winning the war than to return to the farm," is the homely way in which the simple story of this brave farm girl is given to the world. "She milks the cows, feeds the stock, can drive any kind of farm machinery, will help put up hay and help thresh, in fact do anything and everything that a man can do. Her mother carries on the household work while Mr. Jenkins and his daughter do the outside work."

Who can read without a thrill of pride this little account of the farm girl who loved her country and who was anxious to serve it where her service would count in winning the war, who resolutely turned down possible work in camp, in field or in the factory in order to take to her own drum work on the farm where she could at the same time be of genuine service to the country?

And yet there are thousands of these Annettes from one end of the nation to the other who could see their patriotic duty clearly and who did not hesitate to make the sacrifice and serve where their service would be most effective for home and country. All honor to these brave girls. We could never win the war without them.

TREACHERY.

For 20 years Japan had been preparing for war on the United States, the while pretending to cultivate peace in Washington, according to an article in a current magazine. The spy devils had been planted as spies in American and British possessions to keep the Japanese government informed. An innocent-looking fisherman or gardener often proved to be an enemy in disguise. All through the years Japan has been stealthily gathering facts, making maps, storing supplies and training soldiers for a wholesale attack at what it considered an opportune time. It was on December 7, while a Japanese representative was engaged in a friendly mission at Washington, that the time was deemed ripe to attack Pearl Harbor and reveal its treachery. Events have since proved how well Japan was prepared and the size of the task which confronts the United States. The allies will win, as they must, but at greater sacrifice than had been anticipated.

NOTES ON WAR

From Office of Emergency Management

The battles of Europe and the south seas have led Uncle Sam to issue orders to find sources of metals needed for war materials and to fix prices of consumer goods to prevent a great rise in cost of living.

Temporary retail price ceilings were placed on home washing and ironing machines, vacuum cleaners, refrigerators, stoves, radio sets and phonographs.

The war production board will forbid making some metal household furniture after May 31. This will include tables, chairs, mirror frames and shoe racks.

WPB has ordered a curtailment in the manufacture of floor lamps, table lamps and other types of portable lamps. Flashlights and other battery-operated lighting devices are not affected.

The amount of iron and steel that manufacturers can use in making beds, bed springs and mattresses will be reduced for a three-month period beginning April 1. This does not apply to upholstered furniture.

The need for war steel is likely to mean that cars will use the same license plates for the duration. All that will be permitted will be small "date tabs" to be attached to plates now used. Kansas plans such a "date tab" and Nebraska officials are considering the question.

WPB has ordered that present stocks of honey be conserved for household consumers, for defense purposes and for manufacturers who customarily use it. The new order forbids manufacturers from consuming more honey than they used in corresponding periods in 1941.

There may be a permanent price regulation covering used egg cases.

The government advises car owners to save the anti-freeze in their radiators. It is suggested that this be stored in bottles.

Uncle Sam is renewing the urgent plea that farmers and others look about their places for scrap metal and old tires for the "salvage for victory" program. Salvaging of these materials and paper is seriously important.

Maximum prices for meat scraps are reduced $5 a ton and digestible tankage $6 per ton from the temporary price ceilings prevailing since January 20. These are used as ingredients in the blending of balanced rations for hogs and poultry.

Shoe manufacturers have been asked to abandon "wasteful" shoe styles and frills that use up necessary leather.

Rumors are confusing. The government urges Americans to disregard over-the-telephone gossip. Correct information will be given through newspapers. Mr. and Mrs. America are asked to fulfill to the best of their abilities the requests of the government. Trivial things may be of great importance in winning the war.

EDUCATION.

Speakers at a session of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools urged revision of student requirements on a more practical basis. The idea, as advanced, is to prepare students to live and get along with society rather than to capture high rating on prescribed subjects often of uncertain value. An experiment disclosed that high school students whose course was not restricted to usual textbooks preliminary to admission to college, later excelled in grade averages. Whatever course may seem most helpful, it is our judgment that any knowledge gained or any mental training experienced contributes materially to a full and useful life. Absorbing any subject, no matter how impractical, furnishes a stimulus to thinking, a power for constructive activity. To us the curriculum does not seem so important as the determination to acquire and store knowledge and learn to think clearly and rationally.

DICK TRACY

CONGRESS AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C., March 25, 1942.

Will Nebraska soon have some of the Japanese that have been ordered from the west coast? It is reported in Washington that in some parts of Nebraska, these Japanese may be wanted. There is a section in the pending interior department appropriation bill which reads: "Labor and services of alien Japanese who are under the control of the war department or other federal agency may be utilized by the secretary of interior in the construction of water conservation and utilization projects under such regulations and conditions as the war department or federal agency may prescribe." The section is vulnerable to a point of order and if the point of order is made and sustained, it is planned to submit the same proposal in a separate bill.

For several days, high ranking labor leaders have been in town planning a back-fire against sentiment which is rolling up from the "grass-roots" to suspend the time and one-half provisions when the work-week exceeds 40 hours. To check-mate that, the two big labor organizations have renounced double time for Sundays and holidays. They have the backing of the administration against labor legislation at this time. Congress, however, is bent on doing something about it. Strong pressure for an Easter recess is being exerted within congress, but there will likewise be strong opposition to any recess until labor legislation has been passed.

Among the first of the big labor leaders to arrive in town was Harry Bridges who flew from the west coast.

Twelve federal fish hatcheries in the country are going to be closed. People interested in stocking lakes and streams may find that the economy wave will interrupt the free distribution of young fish.

The "Union Now" campaign has not abated. Members are receiving many pieces of literature from an organization which insists we should do something about that right away.

There are now 1,711 regulars in the Washington metropolitan police force. Fifty of the auxiliary policemen have been added to the payroll. About 100 more regulars will be asked for. The house passed a bill authorizing increases in salaries for all of the policemen up to and including the rank of captain. The sub-committee on appropriations for the district will propose this plan of promotion until a review is made of the entire police set-up.

When the 1942 interior department appropriation bill came to the house, it totaled $162,634,845 as compared to $238,101,280 appropriated in the 1941 bill and that is a reduction exceeding 75 million dollars. The economy bloc in the house started a campaign to cut the bill some more. Millions for non-defense items will be cut from all appropriation bills.

The pending interior bill provides for the use of $1,700 of tribal funds of the Omaha Indians of Nebraska to purchase land for tribal use. It provides $15,000 for improvements to utilities on the Winnebago reservation, and $50,501 for the maintenance of the Winnebago hospital.

Indian roads were hit hard in the interior department bill. That may mean a lay-off for some of the Indians who have been working on the reservation roads. The committee which cut the road fund deeply felt that this work would go on until after the war.

In reply to inquiries about the number of people working in Washington, the civil service commission reported recently that the number of non-defense employees of the enlisted and commissioned personnel of the army and navy of which there are many thousands. The total of employees here now exceeds the top for the first world war by 107,000. The present totals of the agencies showing the greatest increases are: White House, 2,347; treasury, 22,640; war, 28,856; navy, 31,000; justice, 7,879; post office, 6,862.

Paul Hermsmeider of Scotia has invented a road maintenance machine which will help in the war effort. He spent several days in Washington initiating his application for patent and having interviews touching the feasibility of his device. He has been encouraged to believe that his device is feasible and he has returned to Nebraska to look for a manufacturer.

Former Governor Art Weaver of Nebraska is in town. River development work is his hobby. He is also interested in farm alcohol plants.

Congressman Jim Wadsworth is a gentleman farmer from New York state. He tells his colleagues that he usually has about 250 acres of wheat planted. He says the best way to figure costs is by the acre rather than by the bushel. He says it costs him $14 an acre to raise his wheat. He usually averages around 20 bushels to the acre. He does not think $6 an acre gross profit is too much even for a gentleman farmer.

With a $110,400,000,000 public debt expected in 1943, members are told that all non-essential expenditures must be cut to the bone no matter where the cut goes. As a result of the economy wave many members are feeling the pinch on some of their pet projects.

Although about $500,000,000 worth of road funds have been frozen the road experts here say that some regular road work and repairs will be done but all attention must be given to actual defense highways. The highway building activities are hit just as hard as other regular non-defense activities and feel the loss of expert engineers, skilled mechanics and the limitation of priorities on materials.

Fred Breckenman of the farm grange is telling members of the house that he believes if farmers get full parity or cost of production, they would be willing to go without subsidies of benefit payments.

The house approved the conference report on the longevity bill which benefits most of the postal employees. Third and fourth class postmasters have not been included in the bill. In the house there were but six votes against the bill.

The view here is that WPA will continue, but its program may be changed. The new emergency relief appropriation bill may come before the sub-committee for hearings during the second week in April. Sentiment for the elimination of NYA and CCC is strong in both houses. Lobbyists of both agencies have started some back-fire.

The war department is now overwhelmed with applications from former service men for commissions. Nebraska applications are numerous. The department is making serious investigations of these applications. Some of the men will get commissions. Many will not. Wherever it is possible, younger men will be moved out of Washington offices and replaced with older men.

State officials have been writing in opposition to a bill which would exclude contractors on defense work from state and local taxation. The bill has been written as a result of these protests and will probably soon clear the ways and the rules committee. Some changes suggested by state officials have been made in the new bill. An amendment regarding gasoline taxes which is agreeable to the state officials has been adopted.

Disclosures that huge profits are being made by some industrialists who make airplanes or other things for our armed forces caused great resentment in the house last week. Demands that war profiteers be given the same treatment as is given labor racketeers are made by members of both parties.

The strike situation arouses great resentment and even though it may be much smaller than in weeks past, it must be met. Early in December, the house of representatives passed the so-called Smith amendments forbidding strikes for the duration. That measure has since been in the senate awaiting action. House committees now are considering similar measures, some of which provide, also, for the restriction of exorbitant war profits, a matter of importance equaling the importance of the labor situation. In the next few weeks, there will also be taken up the matter of idle industries which are closed for lack of contracts to make war materials. Donald Nelson has tackled that problem. He has asked and obtained the assistance of the Truman committee to find out why thousands of industries are barred from such production, and the truth about it, may not reflect great credit upon some big corporations which have endeavored to control the contracts. There are more men unemployed because of the failure of their industries to obtain war orders than there have been on account of strikes. Mr. Nelson is bound to cure that situation as early as possible.

Tax experts here say we need not expect a new tax bill until half of this new year is over. Probably next summer. But hundreds of people are already here trying to find out what the new bill is going to look like. Nobody knows yet. The sales tax idea is gaining momentum.

Experts do not look for money inflation, but higher prices are expected for coming months. More rationing and fewer priorities for non-defense materials.

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Human reason and religion come slowly to the recognition of spiritual facts, and so continue to call upon matter to remove the error which the human mind alone has created. The idols of civilization are far more fatal to health and longevity than are the idols of barbarism. The idols of civilization fall into action less fast than Buddhism in a superior governing intelligence. . . . Divine Science

Recipes

Honey Hot Chocolate.
 2 tablespoons cocoa
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 3 tablespoons honey
 3 cups scalded milk
 Blend cocoa, salt, and honey.
 Add to scalded milk and simmer for five minutes.

Sugar Saving Plain Muffins.
 2 cups flour
 3/4 teaspoon baking powder
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 2 (tablespoons) honey
 1 egg
 1 cup milk
 3 (tablespoons) fat
 Mix dry ingredients, add milk, beaten egg, honey and melted fat. Mix but do not beat. Place in greased muffin pans. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) for 30 minutes.

Conversion Table for Sugar.
 For one cup of sugar use:
 1 cup honey and reduce liquid 1/4 cup for each cup of honey used.
 1 1/2 cups molasses and reduce liquid 1/4 cup for each cup of molasses used.
 1 1/2 cups sorghum and reduce liquid 1/4 cup for each cup of sorghum used.
 2 cups corn syrup and reduce liquid 1/4 cup for each cup of corn syrup used.

White sugar when eaten gives the body only energy, while molasses, when eaten, not only gives energy but iron to make red blood and calcium to help build good teeth and strong bones. Sorghum syrup may be used in place of molasses in a recipe and honey and syrup may be used interchangeably with different results in flavor. Corn syrup, weight for weight, is only about three-fifths as sweet as white sugar. In some recipes corn syrup may be used with a small amount of sugar if desired. Where honey, syrup, or molasses is substituted for sugar the texture of the product is changed, somewhat.

Corn sugar may be used, when available, in place of cane, or beet sugar. The corn sugar is not as sweet as the other kinds. In the canning of fruits, corn sugar produces a denser syrup than cane sugar though not a sweeter one. Some of the common sweet sorghum varieties may be used to make syrup at home. The stalks are crushed in a syrup press and the juice boiled down to the desired consistency. The early ripening varieties of sorghum used in central and western Nebraska are Leoti and Wacopia. Atlas and orange ear sorghums ripen later than Leoti and Wacopia and are grown in eastern Nebraska.

Increase Soybean Crop.
 Farmers are responding to the need for fats and oils in the war program by planting more soybeans this season. In Nebraska the estimated average yield will be 61,000 in comparison with 29,000 in 1941. Soybeans have not in past years proved to be competitors of corn, alfalfa and other crops in Wayne county. When packers have bought hogs from Wayne county they have not been afraid of their "filling soft," states Agent Chet Walters. Raw beans fed to hogs in any quantity will result in soft pork, but soybean meal does not cause this trouble.

 Farmers are urged to pick soybean varieties with care. Grain varieties produce the yellow bean which is desired by the government.

Need Constant Control.
 Control of bindweed seedlings is important in ridding land of this pest. Seed Analyst Ray Kitch says bindweed seedlings are easily killed by a single cultivation provided they are cultivated before they have an opportunity to develop substantial tap root. A good stand of winter wheat will keep the seedlings in check. Where bindweed patches are treated with chemicals there is generally enough chemical in the surface soil to kill any seedlings that germinate the year following.

Big Farm Crop.
 (Omaha Journal-Stockman)
 According to the forecast of the department of agriculture, the average production of essential crops this year will be the largest on record which sounds a little like "counting your chickens before they are hatched." There is no doubt as to farmers' intentions but the labor and machinery shortage must be taken into account as well as the possibility of unfavorable weather. It's a good thing we already have an ever normal granary.

Wars Are Often Lost at Home.
 (Omaha Journal-Stockman)
 France is a living example of the truism that although wars cannot be won in the national capital, they are sometimes lost there. The world realizes now that France was defeated long before its soil was invaded by the nazis. And this is something for the United States to keep in mind. The weakest spot in the American armor is the labor situation. Strikes of war work hold up production while the nation's fighting forces suffer heavy losses for the lack of the war materials that are being delayed by labor difficulties, many of them merely organizational controversies.
 Wars are not won with brave words and stirring bands. Wars are won with deeds. Wars are won with production. Wars are won through the full, uncompromising cooperation of government, of labor, of industry and of all the people.
 Our war will be won or lost on the home front. Victory depends on whether we can make and deliver the endless quantities of planes and ships and guns and ammunition that our troops and our allies so sorely need. Disgraceful labor disputes have cost our military forces untold quantities of weapons and the lives of many men. Petty officialism has played politics while war rages throughout the world, and slowed production still more. Gas reformers have hampered the revived industry at a time when our greatest need was machines and tools, not ideologies.

 The people of this nation are now demanding in no uncertain voice that government, industry and labor cooperate so that productive enterprises of this nation—the plane and tank factories, the motor plants, the oil and metal and coal industries, the power plants which motivate the machines of industry—can turn the blueprints of war needs into realities.
 The disasters in the Pacific show what we may expect in the future unless we change the pecking policies of the past.

About Nebraska And Nebraskans

(By Will M. Maupin)

It is hoped that the rumor "Oregon Trail Days" will not be celebrated at Gering this year is untrue. The rumor is based on abandoning it because of the war. All the more reason why it should not be abandoned. It would afford the younger generation an opportunity to learn something of the patriotism and stamina of the pioneers who traveled that trail, and inspire them to equally heroic deeds. Those pioneers had an abundance of interesting folklore, else this generation would not have the freedom and liberty they now enjoy and which is worth fighting and dying to maintain.

Nebraska has been the scene of severe fighting in days gone by, but all the battles save one were fought in territorial days. One, however, was fought on Nebraska soil during statehood. It was known as "The Battle of Fort Pump," and the scene was South Omaha. Packing house workers went out on strike and the state militia was called out. Militiamen and strikers collided and a striker killed. But a number were wounded by bricks, stones and pickhandles. This almost forgotten "battle" was fought in the middle '80s.

It would be well if Nebraska school children were made more familiar with some of the historic spots in Nebraska. Among them might be mentioned the Lone Grave north of Kenesaw, Rebecca Winters' grave with its wagon tire monument near Minatare, Mitchell Pass, Robideau Pass, Fort Hartsuff, Fort Kearny, Fort McPherson military cemetery, the site of old Fort McPherson, Massacre canyon near Trenton, the site marked by a monument, and many others. The Plum Creek massacre, the battle of Arickara Fork and the defense of Beechey island are historic incidents that should be better recalled.

The older newspapermen of the state learned with regret of the death of Fletcher N. Morwin, for many years editor of the Omaha City Times-Tribune. He served several years as secretary-treasurer of the Nebraska Press Association, and accompanied George W. Norris to Washington as his private secretary when the gentleman was first elected to congress. At one time he was associated with Walt Mason in the publishing of The Nebraska Editor, organ of the State Press association. Later this writer was associated with him in the publication of that periodical.

The Hebron Journal recently entered upon its 72nd year of continuous publication, founded by the father, Erasmus Correll, and now published by his son, Ernest Correll. The founder served as lieutenant governor in the '80s. The original print shop was a primitive affair and the founder did not have money enough to buy a display headline for the first page. But those pioneer editor-printers were resourceful. Editor Correll found a fragment of an old marble gravestone and proceeded to chisel out the title, "Hebron Journal." It served the purpose several years.

With a political campaign in the offing an incident or two of former campaigns may not be amiss. In 1892 the republican state convention met at Omaha, with two factions fighting for control of the convention. The factions were evenly divided and it promised to be a long and bitter struggle. Finally the two factions discarded their choices for chairman and agreed upon Brad Slaughter of Fullerton as a compromise candidate. When Slaughter called the convention to order he reached into his coat pocket and pulling out a paper remarked: "As per stipulation of the committee I name the following committees." The ensuing laughter put the convention in a good humor.

A democratic state convention at Grand Island was thrown into spasms of laughter by the gyrations of a chairman whose knowledge of parliamentary law was less than nothing. He became confused over a multiplicity of amendments, and finally a delegate moved previous question. "The previous question has been called for. All in favor say 'aye' once, 'aye' twice, 'aye' three times, 'Carried'." "What was the previous question?" inquired a delegate. "God knows, but I don't, but whatever it was it was carried."

A few minutes later, after a whispered conversation with "Billy" Thompson, the chairman yielded the gavel to another.

The last republican state nominating convention was in Lincoln, and it nominated Sheldon for governor. Sheldon was the progressive candidate and the old guard fought him to the last ditch. The chairman became confused and parliamentum reigned. Finally the perplexed chairman called Church Howe of Nemaha to take the gavel. Pounding the gavel until he had a semblance of order Howe shouted: "Gentlemen, we will wipe the slate clean of previous business and start over again." The convention proceeded to do so in an orderly manner.

When the first meeting to organize the Nebraska Dairy association met in legislative hall in Lincoln, Carl Gray, president of the Union Pacific, was nominated for president. A delegate from Lancaster made a fiery speech denouncing Gray and expressing surprise that a convention of farmers and dairymen would even think of electing the head of a grasping corporation who draws a salary of $30,000 a year. When the delegate sat down President Gray arose and remarked: "I hope the gentleman knows more about dairying than he does about my salary. I don't draw a salary of $30,000 a year. My salary is $75,000."

Mr. Gray was unanimously elected.

Many Cooperating In Victory Program

Wayne county families and organizations are doing their part in the victory garden program. The women's project club leaders, 4-H club leaders and members of women's clubs are contacting their neighbors and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Sievers contacted all the families in their school district and turned in 11 victory food production pledges. The Wayne women's groups that are helping with the program include the Wayne Woman's club, Minerva, American Legion Auxiliary, St. Mary's Guild, Mrs. E. J. Hunter, and the program in recent meetings of these clubs and distributed the pledges and other information on food production.

The aim of this nation-wide program is to have every family as nearly as possible produce and preserve food necessary to keep that family. Food produced at home will release more food processed commercially for use by the armed forces and the lease-lend program. It will also bring about assurance that necessary foods will be available for the family when needed.

Most people in Wayne county have been growing good gardens, and these folks are urged to continue doing so and perhaps grow a little more. Other families are asked to think the situation over seriously.

Every family in Wayne county will be asked to sign the Food for Victory pledge. If anyone is missed, he may drop a card or call at the county extension office for information on food production and a pledge.

Call for Recruits In War Industries and 40 can be trained at Norfolk or Omaha. They must weigh between 115 and 140 pounds, be from 5 feet, 1 inches to 5 feet, 9 inches tall and must pass physical test. Men are trained at Norfolk, Kearney, Bellevue, Milford and Omaha. Boys between 17 and 25 are eligible.

Program on Easter Is Given for Club

Delegates Are Chosen for District Convention to Be Held in Albion.

A message on "Church Symbolism" by Mrs. Victor West, two duets by Mrs. Russell Anderson and Mrs. Clarence McGinn with Mrs. H. A. Welch accompanied and the Easter lesson from the 28th chapter of Matthew by Mrs. V. F. Most made up an interesting program for Wayne Woman's club Friday.

Mrs. J. G. Miller was in charge. Mrs. L. A. Fanski, Mrs. Clarence Wright, Mrs. H. E. Ley and Mrs. J. C. Miller are delegates to the Third district convention to be held in Albion April 9 and 10. Alternates are Mrs. E. E. Gayle, Mrs. Willard Wiltse, Mrs. E. J. Hunter and Mrs. W. C. Coryell. Mrs. W. H. Hasebrook of Scribner is district president.

In her talk Mrs. West defined "symbolism" as stories "told by signs representative of ideas rather than representations of those ideas. Thus "Church Symbolism" means religious stories told by means of signs which through time have come to stand for certain religious ideas or principles.

She told the club that of the 400 types of crosses in existence today, over 50 are found in church symbolism, each telling its own story concerning Christianity. She showed illustrations and explained the meanings of some of the more common types of crosses seen in churches of today. She stated that many other symbols still in common use originated in the catacombs where the early Christians were compelled to meet secretly.

Weather Tradition Holds for Month

The saying that "if March comes in like a lamb it will go out like a lion" held true this year. Residents hereabouts were a little suspicious early in the month when weather inspired the thoughts of gardens and flowers.

Heavy rains, amounting to over 2 inches here the middle of last week, were followed by snow and high wind. Drifts piled up by Friday morning and later in the day the snow began to melt. The blizzard returned Friday evening and drifts resulted again Saturday morning. Weather moderated a few hours later.

The railroad company annulled the Sioux City-Norfolk train for Friday morning but the branch train was on schedule that day. Regular service resumed Friday night.

Miss Georgina Eckstrom has accepted the position of receiving visitors in the new Bentback hospital. Miss Eckstrom has resigned as telephone operator in the local office where she has been employed the past five and a half years.

The fund, eventual amount of which will be about $100,000, will provide 60 $50 Fay Johnson Butler scholarships annually for freshman students. These will be available this fall.

Both Senator and the late Mrs. Butler were graduated from Doane. An earlier gift by Senator Butler is the Butler gymnasium.

Second in Family Reported Lost Is Safe in Pacific

War Has Effects On Island Life, Letter Reveals

The war is having its effect on the life of Hawaiians, according to a letter written March 5 by Isabelle Giesse to Jacqueline Wehman. The little miss in Honolulu tells that residents are prepared for emergencies always. Civilians are told to have four days' supply of clothing, toilet articles and food ready always in case evacuation is necessary. Isabelle, her mother and two sisters have preparations made for such an occasion.

Civilians were during January provided with gas masks which they take with them everywhere just to be on the safe side. Soon they are to receive steel helmets.

Everyone has to be at home at 9 each evening. "What's the use of being out when the streets are so dark and there's no place to go?" questions Isabelle. Everything is closed at night. Blackouts are enforced from 7:30 p. m. until 7 a. m. Though blackout paper is at windows of their home, Isabelle says they seldom turn on the lights because it's too stuffy.

An air raid alarm sounded for 40 minutes Sunday, March 1. Everyone was frightened but nothing happened.

Fruit stands are very bare. Apples, oranges, grapes and pears which have usually been so plentiful in the islands, are not shipped there now. Isabelle says she especially misses the apples and oranges for they are her favorite fruits. Bananas and papayas grown on the islands are of course plentiful. Sugar will not be rationed in the Hawaiian islands, according to a clipping sent. The item designates that the rationing of sugar will, however, be in effect in all other parts of the nation.

Judge Spear of Fremont Files For High Court

Judge F. L. Spear

FREMONT District Judge Frederick L. Spear of Fremont, for 14 years judge of the Sixth judicial district, has announced he is a candidate for judge of the state supreme court from the Third supreme court district.

Judge Spear was born at Genoa, Neb., a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Spear. He was graduated from the University of Nebraska college of law and began practice in Fremont shortly before the first World war, leaving his practice to enter military service during that war.

Returning, he became connected with the law firm of Dolezal, Spear and Mapes in Fremont and remained a member of that firm until he became district judge in 1928.

As district judge he has followed the policy of eliminating unnecessary delays to keep the work of the courts well up to date at all times. About Nebraska And Nebraskans
(By Will M. Maupia)
On March 1, 1942, Nebraska had its diamond jubilee as a state. Just 75 years ago on that date President Andrew Johnson affixed his signature to the enabling act passed by the congress. Now Nebraska has entered upon the fourth quarter of its century of statehood. Nebraska did not become a state the easy way. Its first plea for admission was turned down because its proposed constitution did not provide for the enfranchisement of the Negro. There was just enough opponents of enfranchisement in the constitutional convention to prevent it, and just enough men like Thad Stevens in congress to insist upon it.

So anxious were Nebraskans to shed the territorial garments, and don the habiliments of statehood, that a constitution was drafted that met the requirements of congress and President Johnson, and it was satisfactory. Statehood followed immediately. A sparsely settled state, to be sure, but at that time had as many inhabitants as Nevada had, and today has twelve times Nevada's population. Nevada was admitted in 1861, and every student of history knows why. Now Nebraska has 1,250,000 inhabitants and Nevada less than 100,000. Partisanship cut a big figure in the days when Nevada became a state, and had quite a bit to do with Nebraska's admission.

Omaha was the last territorial capital, but it was north of the Platte river. The South Platte section had settled up more quickly than the other side of the river, and then, as for many years after, the river was a dividing line. So the South Platters decided to have the capital of the new state on their side of the river. So the legislature enacted a capitol removal bill and three men were selected to pick out the new site. Governor David Butler, Auditor John Gillespie and Secretary of State Thomas P. Kennard were named a committee for that purpose. The new capital was to be called Lincoln. Just why they selected the present site is more or less a mystery. About the only explanation is that they thought

They picked a site overlooking Salt Creek basin. Doubtless they thought that a site less than 50 miles from the Missouri river would eventually become the center of population. They did not miss it far, but they never dreamed of the empire to be builded 400 miles to the west.

Lincoln in 1867 was not even a hamlet. There were a few scattered log houses in the vicinity, and early settlers had gone here to get salt. But it was a forlorn and desolate spot. Not until fifteen years later did Lincoln have 10,000 people, although it boasted of double that number, and then some. It was several years before it had a railroad.

When Nebraska became a state it had a few miles of railroad, the Union Pacific having made a brave start out of Omaha. The Burlington had not yet reached the Missouri river. When it
