H. L. Baker's suspension of the Dixon Journal which he had owned and operated for 22 years, reminds us of the mistake made by the Pacific Short Line, now the Burlington, in starting that town in competition with other nearby communities, Concord and Laurel. It was a policy in railroad building to start towns no matter how much they were in conflict with population centers already established. Dixon was introduced to the world when the Short Line was built in 1890. Concord and Laurel, both only a few miles from Dixon, were already served by the C. St. P. M. & O. line.

At one time Dixon had two banks and plenty of the usual small-town expectations. It still has its annual picnic to observe the anniversary of its founding. But hard-surfaced highways which were welcomed as advantages to citizens, developed trade territory—the sad experience of many other formerly promising communities. Recently found decreasing demand for advertising and thus insufficient support for a newspaper. Adding the postmaster's key to his source of income proved inadequate. Surveying conditions and analyzing prospects, he decided to quit. He locked up his equipment in his own building and moved to Marcus, Ia., there to run a newspaper.

If Dixon has the experience of numerous other similarly situated communities, it will never have another newspaper. Many small towns have lost their newspapers as they have lost their banks because of changed conditions and decreased demands. All towns that have shrunk before the sweep of modern trends are still desirable places in which to live. They give emphasis less to size and more to neighborliness.

Advice on Vitamins
We have heard a lot of expert advice via radio about filtering into the human system certain vitamins in proper proportions, and we have wondered how we happened to live so long without knowing more about these things before. One must eat certain edibles to get certain vitamins, and if he doesn't manage to surround all he needs, he must spur himself in the direction of the required variety. But he must know what's what to act with due regard to health, and he can find out by listening to experts. A balance of vitamins is necessary, and if one vitamin seems to be monopolizing digestion, it is respectfully asked to edge over to accommodate others whose participation is deemed essential.

We had supposed what one relishes is good for his health. A thing that agrees with one disagrees with another. We have a suspicion one will live long enough if he satisfies his appetite with what he likes and pays little or no attention to vitamin experts.

Comptroller System.
As we understand, the state normal board, at its recent meeting, did nothing to wipe out the disagreement between its position and that of the governor regarding the college comptroller. The present incumbent was reelected by the board, but the governor refused to give endorsement as required by the appropriation made for the system by the legislature. Thus, both sides stand pat, and the incumbent hangs on. A remedy in possession of the governor will be to retire board members as their terms expire, replacing them with appointees who will be in accord in fulfilling the legislature's intentions.

How the next group of lawmakers will feel about the comptroller system remains to be seen. If legislators decide to make no appropriation for the purpose and leave the duties of the office to competent college heads, they will bring agreement between the executive and the board without impairing service or economy. We think every state college would find freedom from the comptroller system as a relief.

Primary August 11.
The primary for the nomination of candidates for different state, district and county offices will be held August 11, and filings for places on the ballot will soon have to be made. War decreases the demand for public offices! In ordinary times plenty of persons go after official places. In World War No. 1 comparatively few candidates appeared. Similar scarcity may develop this year.

Nest of Raccoons.

Rubber Campaign Starts Over Area

Canvass Will Be Made Here By Boys Under Direction Of P. L. March.

An intensive campaign for collection of the nation's old scrap rubber supply began in Wayne county, and throughout the nation Monday, June 15, and will last through June 30. A house to house canvass for scrap rubber will be conducted in Wayne Friday, June 19, by a group of boys under direction of Philip L. March.

All filling stations serve as collection depots. They pay 1 cent a pound for the rubber brought in, and the government will reimburse them the sum. Persons may donate the rubber, if they wish.

Individuals are urged by the chief executive of the nation to search their back yards, basements and attics for all items of rubber that have been discarded or can be discarded.

"We need every bit of rubber," Mr. March urges. The fullest cooperation of every person is sought. No article of rubber is too small in this important drive.

A telegram received by Mr. March from M. T. Castor, state executive secretary, tells that the "oil industry is handling the scrap rubber without pay or profit. Filling stations will pay 1c a pound for all scrap rubber except battery boxes. This campaign will determine the amount of scrap rubber available and may help to decide the question of gasoline rationing in Nebraska. Salvage committees should assist oil dealers and station men by urging every one to collect all scrap rubber articles and dispose of them."

Campaign on Farms.
Farmers are requested to join in the scrap rubber campaign. A letter received by T. P. Roberts from USDA war board state chairman, Abner K. Chestern, asks that scrap rubber, from jar rings to old tractor tires, be gathered and taken to an oil station in town. The station operator will pay 1c a pound for wood, metal and leather parts have been removed.

All money received from sale of scrap, in excess of the purchase price, will go to war service organizations.

HISTORY OF STATE HEADS PRODUCT OF EARLY INSTRUCTOR

SUNDAY'S Lincoln Journal reports completion of four volumes devoted to messages and proclamations of all of Nebraska's governors and numerous historical facts involved in their administrations, the work compiled by Dr. J. G. W. Lewis, former member of the faculty of the Wayne State Teachers college, in collaboration with L. E. Aysworth, formerly professor of political science at the University of Nebraska. The task was a big one, requiring much painstaking research. The record includes territorial as well as state governors. It is interesting to note that 17 republicans held the governorship for a total of 48 years, and six democrats for a total of 22 years. Two populists, Governors Holcomb and Poynter served a total of six years after 1895. The volumes contain valuable information, gathered from dusty files and often deciphered from scarcely legible manuscripts.

Progress Starts From Early War

Spanish-American Conflict Prompted Organizing for Improved Military.

Progress in army technique, started in this country as a result of the Spanish-American war of 1898, is showing results in the present war, according to Dr. J. R. Johnson who addressed Kiwanians Monday at Hotel Statton.

The speaker, introduced by H. E. Siman, spoke on Nebraska's participation in the war over 40 years ago. The first Nebraska contingent leaving to serve at that time was organized by a Mr. Brown of Wakefield. In April, 1898, when trouble started, Nebraskans met their quota early under the influence of W. J. Bryan. The men were sent to San Francisco and then to Honolulu. They were crowded in a small ship and conditions were bad. It was interesting that this group stopped at a sandbar island July 4, 1898, and hoisted the American flag. This island later being named Wake.

Dewey's fleet had defeated the Spanish fleet but waited outside Manila as forces were not sufficient to go onto the island. After the Nebraskans arrived, the men disembarked at Camp Dewey, four miles south of Manila, the place known as peanut patch. Manila was occupied a day after the war was over. News of the peace had not yet reached the troops.

A strong fighting unit was formed from the carelessly organized group. Then the Filipinos, who had not been granted self government, were dissatisfied and started an insurrection. Nebraskans fired the first shots to stop this trouble. In all, this state lost 64. On their return the men stopped in Japan.

A second Nebraska regiment went to Georgia. Food, water and sanitary conditions were bad. These men returned home without reaching Cuba and without seeing any service. Cavalry troop K was also in Georgia and this too did not get to Cuba.

The third Nebraska regiment, W. J. Bryan's favorite, trained at Jacksonville, Fla., and did reach Cuba. This unit sent home uncensored word of army conditions. An investigation followed and then improvement started.

Dr. Johnson brought that the war of 1898 not only brought to the United States the Philippines which have been a center of the present war in the Pacific, but also led to army improvement which has been notable.

Guests Monday were Glen Gildersleeve of Dover, Del., C. H. Bright of Chadron, Aldo Molinari, T. A. Lally of Bridgeport, Will Swanson of Oakland.

Improvement Made In Larson Grocery

Larson's grocery department has made improvements by adding self-service baskets and push carts and rearranging the room. Self-service will enable customers to get more rapid service and will give an assurance that the food selected is the brand and quality desired, according to A. F. Lueders, manager.

The checking counter in the food department has been moved to the west end of the room. The meat section is located at the extreme east end.

Three rows of shelves down the center of the room are filled with merchandise. Deep fruit and vegetable bins are an addition to the south side of the room.

Unite in Protest To Cutting Trains

Wayne Is Cooperating With Towns on Two Branches To Keep Service.

Wayne Chamber of Commerce is cooperating with towns protesting curtailing of service on the Wayne-Bloomfield and Wakefield-Crofton branches of the railroad. A meeting of representatives from towns interested is planned this week at Laurel.

The C. St. P. M. & O. gave notice the first of the month that daily service on the two branches would be supplanted with tri-weekly schedules, using one train for both runs and thus eliminating one. Towns along the lines entered complaint and this prompted Attorney General Walter Johnson to apply to the state supreme court for writ of mandamus which requires the usual service to be maintained until the matter is heard before the court.

The injunction will come before Judge John W. Delehant at Lincoln June 29.

The state railway commission has not yet given decision on the railroad company's request to cut out passenger service on the Norfolk-Sioux City line.

Star routes will be established to give mail service in case trains are discontinued.

Drive Progressing For Service Group

Three Clubs Are Solidifying Residence Section of Wayne This Week.

United Service Organization drive is progressing well in Wayne county, according to Clarence Wright, county chairman. The farm territory work is complete and the response was very gratifying. The business district, solicited by the business men, is expected to be covered by the end of this week.

The residential district is being canvassed by the Cameo, Nu-Fu and Fortnightly club members. This solicitation will probably be completed some time next week.

Expected to File For Congress Seat

Lieut. Gov. Wm. E. Johnson Is Likely Candidate In First District.

Lieut. Gov. Wm. E. Johnson of Lincoln, formerly of Wayne, is expected to be a republican candidate for congress from the First district at the August 11 primary.

Johnson's application for a commission in the navy is being held in abeyance on physical grounds. Informed persons think that for this reason Johnson is likely to remain in politics. They express doubt that he will file again for the lieutenant governorship.

In case Johnson files for congress, he would likely run against Oren Copeland, incumbent, who is reported furthering his republican candidacy for re-nomination.

Already a candidate for the same office on the republican ticket is Rep. Carl Curtis of Minden.

Word from Washington, D. C., states that Congressman Karl Stefans plans to file soon for re-nomination for the republican ticket for Third district.

Miss Florence Ekeroth, church organist, played a musical program of 15 minutes before the service. The bride, who entered the church with her father, wore an ivory satin dress of princess fashion with long sleeves and sweetheart neckline. Her finger-tip veil was held by a seeded pearl halo. To Face Charges Of Embezzlement

R. R. Miller Being Brought Here from Washington By Wayne Officer.

Reginald Robert Miller, 33, manager of Carroll light plant for about a year, will be brought to Wayne this week from Tacoma, Wash., to face seven charges which involve embezzlement of about $1,200 belonging to the village of Carroll. Sheriff J. H. Pile left Tuesday evening by train for Tacoma, Wash., for Miller who is in custody there. Miller, who has been employed on a dairy farm in the west, waived extradition.

Preliminary hearing will be held in county court.

The court proceedings, which were filed last November 25 by Mayor E. G. Stephens, charged that Miller converted to his own use sums of money which he collected for light and water bills in Carroll. The dates and amounts of the seven charges are as follows: November 4, 1940, $186.30; December 2, 1940, $91.23; January 31, 1941, $379.17; March 3, 1941, $321.45; April 20, 1941, $120.84; May 5, 1941, $84.81; June 2, 1941, $219.48.

After Miller admitted the shortages, Carroll board made arrangements with him to continue in the town's employ and repay the sum at $45 a month. Miller stayed a couple of months and paid on the amount. Then he disappeared.

UNTIMELY WEATHER FOLLOWS MOISTURE NEEDED IN PLACES

RAIN varying from a half inch to an inch fell over Wayne county last week, and it gave dry areas valuable stimulus. Small grain in some spots was especially thirsting for moisture. Chilly weather that followed the rain was a reminder of a severe drop in temperature during the same week a year ago when artificial heat was restored for comfort. June can be unseasonably cold, but it does not stay that way long in this land of known weather varieties and extremes. It is a month that advises easy access to fire and ice.

Health Director Speaks in Wayne

State Department Services Made Available to All Doctor Explains.

Dr. A. L. Miller, director of the state department of health, addressed the Wayne college convocation Wednesday morning on "The Teacher's Role in the Prevention and Control of Communicable Disease."

Dr. Miller was introduced by Dr. J. T. Anderson as having been a practicing physician, a member of Nebraska's unicameral legislature and a candidate for governor. The health director himself added that he was born and reared in Pierce county, taught school in that county for two years, and that coming to Wayne so near the abode of early days was much like coming home.

Passing to the development of his announced theme, the speaker stated that teachers have a responsibility to help develop sound health practices in the communities which the teachers serve, and he attempted, as he said, to give his listeners "a bird's-eye view" of the state department of health by explaining its major functions. One by one he named the divisions of the health department and the main activities of each division as follows: Maternal and child health, the division which primarily seeks to decrease both infant mortality and maternal death; dental hygiene, which examines children for dental defects in order that early care may be provided; tuberculosis surveys, which makes tuberculosis control, which general disease control, which gives blood tests; public health laboratory, which tests milk and water supplies; sanitation, which tries to remedy defects in water supply and unhealthful conditions in swimming pools; examining board, which keeps a record of persons practicing in various professions; vital statistics, which keeps records of births, deaths, marriages and divorces; and public health education, which makes health exhibits at county fairs and in schools and which promotes vaccination against diphtheria and smallpox.

The health department director declared that Nebraska ranks 46th in the nation in the amount of money that the state itself spends for health but pointed out appreciatively that the federal government liberally supplies money for this purpose within the state. The speaker concluded by asserting that the department of health exists to serve the public and by inviting the public to use the service available.

Pins Faith C. H. BRIGHT who was a student in the old Nebraska college, antecessor of Wayne's present state school, was in town from Chadron this week. Besides circulating among old acquaintances, he was planning ownership of a Wayne county farm.

Mr. Bright was a student and later a teacher in the privately owned college under President J. M. Pile. In 1902 he was elected superintendent of Wayne county. The subsequent demand for teachers in the Philippines persuaded him to go there, accompanied by his wife who was also a teacher.

After filtering knowledge into the Filipinos for a few years, Mr. Bright returned, and in 1910 became head of the mathematics department of Wayne's normal school which had just been acquired by the state. In 1917 he resigned and moved to California where he spent a couple of years. Back in Nebraska, he joined the faculty of the college at Chadron.

Some years ago when Mr. Bright figured he had served his time in the school room, he retired to the place from which he originally came—the farm, and while he recalls many hardships and disappointments in his boyhood experience in the field of agriculture, he still has more faith in land than in anything else.

Near Chadron Mr. Bright owns a quarter section, and he lives there with every modern convenience. He employs some muscular energy to carry out his ideas. He says plenty of moisture has fallen in northwest Nebraska this year and that crops of all kinds are promising. "Wheat is a big crop out there, and he is assured a large yield. He raises sheep rather than pigs—prefers the bleat of a sheep to the grunt of a pig. He believes sheep are cleaner and easier to feed. Without wishing to hurt the feelings of the pig variety which he appreciates as very profitable, he thinks sheep rank higher in the social scale.

Wayne will be glad to know Mr. Bright is going to express further faith in land by anchoring an investment in a Wayne county farm.

Iowa's Primary THE fact that Iowa's recent primary resulted in anti-new deal nominations does not mean that people in that state are indifferent to the war. On the contrary, Iowa voters, like citizens of the mid-west generally, are intensely devoted to prosecution of the allied cause in hope of rescuing democracy from the threats of axis enemies in the shortest possible time with the least possible loss.

Indignant over charges of complacency, members of the executive committee of the Iowa Farm Bureau Federation formulated and sent to the president a group of resolutions, setting forth determination to produce food and buy bonds to the limit, support price controls, pay increased taxes and get squarely behind the armed forces of the United States. Then came these paragraphs in the declaration as reported by the Christian Science Monitor:

"We farmers are fighting not merely to avenge Pearl Harbor; nor just to etable the United States to survive as a nation, but rather to establish individual freedoms, human rights and for the privilege of free men everywhere to work out their own destiny.

"We pledge our united, wholehearted support to the total war effort necessary to achieve such a final and complete victory."

The Monitor offered this concluding comment:

"If Iowa farmers—and a majority of the people in Iowa are farmers, at heart if not literally—think in that broad, global way about things, we aren't going to give too much weight to the fact that in the primary election Iowa chose non-administration candidates."

Forever after the war, more strict attention should be paid to keeping this country free from subversive elements. From time to time hidden groups bent on overthrowing the traditional order, have been discovered. They have insidiously sought to tear down the very free system by which they have been protected. Persons who do not like democracy as founded in America and defended by Americans, should be required to pack up their belongings and leave. Liberties can best be preserved by not extending them to those who would introduce inimical alien isms.

Efficiency of the railroads in handling war shipments is a strong argument in favor of private ownership. As pointed out by the Omaha Journal-Stockman, the roads anticipated the demand and prepared for it. "The railroads have performed nobly a gigantic task," says that newspaper. "It is one great industry that has thus far had no failure or 'shortage.' This has been due to the fact that they actually began their 'program of preparedness' when the war began in Europe in 1939 and have been carrying it out ever since."

A report from Washington guesses that Nebraska's lieutenant governor, William Edward Johnson, who has been sojourning in the capital city, will become republican candidate for congress in the First district. William Edward has a lot of vim, besides an advantageous name, and if such capital stock carries him to triumph in the primary and election he will compare favorably with many others who are enrolled as house members.

The nation-wide campaign to gather old rubber for the government is now in progress, and it is hoped results will be great enough to avoid gasoline restrictions to save tires. People will serve the emergency and relieve themselves by turning in all the cast-off rubber they can corral.

Our Soldier Boys
(Omaha World-Herald)

"Our army leaders," says the Wall Street Journal, "tell us that the American boy makes a good soldier. He also remains a gentleman."

Right on the button, on both counts! How good a soldier the American boy makes is told in words of glory in every report that comes from the battle fronts on which he is engaged.

And as to his being a gentleman—"Traveling by bus and train for a few days," says the Wall Street Journal writer, "we were thrown in contact with a number of men wearing the uniform of the armed forces of the United States. In all we saw probably a thousand more than casually."

And how was he impressed? This way: "Just two of those men were boisterous. The remainder were going quietly and unobtrusively about whatever business they were on."

Who has failed to notice just that? In fast increasing numbers our American boys are taking on the uniform of their country. More and more often we come in contact with them, on the trains, on the streets, in public places, as guests in our homes. And just as we are thrilled by the stories of their gallantry in action, so our hearts are warmed by their quiet and unassuming modesty, their good manners and behavior, their earnestness mingled with good humor, as we meet them behind the lines.

Well may we be proud of them, our soldier boys. Unquestionably can we trust them, in the arenas of deadly battle not only, but as the poised and self-controlled citizens who will make of our country what it is yet to be.

FATHERS' DAY

Fathers will usually admit that they are small potatoes and drop below promises in many respects. They want to support their families and contribute to society, and when they fall down in doing all they intend to do, they are deeply and genuinely sorry. They usually plan well if they do not always plan well. They are expected to hold their heads up and their chests out even if they do not feel like doing either. They are looked to for decision and courage, and expectations are set so high for them that they are stimulated to do their best. If they reach appreciably near intended goals they receive much credit which is often deserved. Men are sensitive and easily hurt, although they try hard to conceal such susceptibilities. Next Sunday which has been set apart especially to honor male household heads, such extra attentions as seem desirable of appropriate will be provided.

Raccoons are rare in this country. They wouldn't make good soldiers because they won't fight.

Dissolving WPA

The WPA is shrinking, and if it is ever to be abandoned entirely as unnecessary, now would seem to be the time for its dissolution. Demand for workers in private ranks, thinned by war endeavors, puzzles one in trying to find an excuse for the WPA setup. And other alphabetically designated bureaus, intended for temporary relief, should be adjourned at least for the duration. Every government bureau that has served its purpose and is not related to the war, ought to be folded up.

City Is Damaged By Two Tornadoes

Two tornadoes struck Oklahoma City Friday night when at least 27 persons were killed and 100 injured, according to word sent by Mrs. Frank Simonin, formerly of Wayne.

Both tornadoes hit about the same place, leveling every house, garage and telephone post over a 16-square area. The devastated section is about a block from where the Simonins lived a year ago.

Mrs. Simonin described the humidity as being so low Friday that it was almost suffocating.

When the storm struck at about 9:30, it seemed that the wind blew from every direction at once. Mrs. Simonin was alone at the time the tornado came. Franklin, who was at a show that evening, rushed home. All night long ambulance sirens shrieked.

A truck of soldiers from Will Rogers Field were the first rescue workers.

This tornado was the worst disaster to strike Oklahoma since 1930.

Mrs. Simonin reports rainfall here was extra heavy in Oklahoma City this spring.

Mr. Simonin is working at a powder plant in New Boston, Texas.

NON-ESSENTIALS

Mark Sullivan, columnist, commends the economy group in congress for progress made in reducing non-essential federal spending. He points out that taxpayers with increased burdens, due to the war, should not have to maintain unnecessary agencies. Unavoidable war costs emphasize the need of economy in other branches of the public service. Sullivan says in conclusion: "The economy group has had material success. It has brought an end to the Civilian Conservation Corps, so far as the house is concerned, though this may be reversed in the senate. While everybody recognized that C. C. C. had done good work, a majority of the house was persuaded to see that it can be dispensed with during war time. The economy group has brought about material reductions in the appropriations for the National Youth Administration and some other non-essential activities. It has achieved some economy in the making of war materials and in the permanent branches of government."

CONGRESS
KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C., June 10, 1942.
Friends of Theodore Hadraba of Plattsmouth, Neb., who has been sent to Bern, Switzerland, to be hired secretary to the American legation, will be glad to know that he has cabled his wife that he has reached Bern safely.

John Boucjhal of Wilbur, Neb., who has been teaching school at Prague, Bohemia, is in Washington offering his services to Uncle Sam for the duration. Mr. Boucjhal is a retired employee of the state department. When Germany declared war on the United States, he was interned in a camp in Bavaria. He remained there for five months and was then allowed to return to Prague where his wife was living with her mother. They came with other American internees on the Swedish ship Drattingholm. Mrs. Boucjhal's mother is taking care of the Boucjhal's household goods and other possessions. The Nebraskans were allowed only four suitcases and a small trunk on the homeward voyage. Boucjhal tells Nebraskans in Washington not to worry about surplus corn and wheat. He says there will be great demands for all of our food surpluses.

Erdman Muller of Norfolk, Neb., arrived in Washington from Texas to take up his duties as a medical technician at the army medical center. Americans returning from Bohemia say the "protectorate government" allows farmers to keep all over 60 eggs that each hen lays per year. But, they say, the government does not furnish the chicken feed, although it controls the entire supply.

Midwest congressmen received so many letters in criticism of the proposed nation-wide rationing of gasoline that they held a meeting in the house office building. A committee was selected to see the president about it. Both senators and representatives are protesting the possible general rationing of gasoline in the midwest. However, it is the executive and not the legislative branch of government that promulgates rationing programs.

If and when a general gasoline rationing program does come, it will not be due to gasoline shortage. It will be to conserve rubber.

The humble salmon may disappear from the shelves of grocery stores. Practically all salmon now goes to the army, the navy and lend-lease.

Dried or powdered eggs, powdered milk and other concentrated foods are demanded by our allies. Eggs in the shell and liquid milk require too much space on ships. The result will be more plants in the midwest where eggs are dried and milk is evaporated or powdered.

The allied successes at Cologne and Midway must be repeated in other theatres of the war before our enemies are defeated, in the opinion of Americans returning from the far east and Europe. It means more men in the army, more bombers and fighting planes and more sacrifices at home. People coming home from Europe say the war may last another two years. They are sure of victory and indicate that people in occupied countries in Europe are waiting for allied victory. They say that the entry of the United States into the war was a severe blow to morale in Germany.

No more commissions for members of congress. The secretary of war has told leaders that he does not favor members going into the service at this time because they are in position to perform functions vital to the national war effort that at this time exceed in importance their active participation in the purely military phase of the war. Several members of the house have their applications for active service pending in the war department. Some members who have already seen service are returning to their duties in the house.

The synthetic rubber situation has been still further confused by five separate committee reports. More investigations are in progress. The result will be more use of grain alcohol for synthetic rubber. Notwithstanding all of the discussion on rubber, copper and steel for grain alcohol plants in the midwest cannot yet be procured.

Gerhart Schulte was born at St. Bernard, Neb., in 1890. He has been trying to get a copy of his birth certificate. His brother, William Schulte, also born in St. Bernard, has asked the Third district office to help. Vital statistics were not officially recorded in Nebraska until 1919. A search of the St. Bernard church record is now being made. Gerhart Schulte is now chief of the fire department at Hammond, Ind.

The house recommitted the conference report on the agricultural appropriation bill. Whether the commodity credit corporation will be allowed to sell 125,000,000 bushels of wheat for feeding purposes at a price of less than 85 per cent of the parity price of corn, depends on what the senate conferees will do. The house refused to concur in that proposal through fear that it would drive down the price of corn. Some compromise is expected.

The latest word about American diplomats in Japan and China, is that they will leave soon on a Japanese ship for some port in Africa. The Japanese diplomats are living in style at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. In a few weeks they will be put on board a Swedish ship for the South African port and exchanged for the Americans. The reason they can't cross the Pacific is that there is no neutral port in the Pacific except Chile, and we don't want Japanese ships entering any Chilean port.

wheat is that we may have 1,250,000,000 bushels of it when the drop comes in. A lot of it, along with corn, will be used for industrial alcohol.

In 1938 a man named McDaniel, representative of the American rope industry, suggested that we ship large reserves of Manila fiber to the United States from the Philippines. In 1935 Americans visiting the islands found that most of the abaca or Manila fiber was grown in Davao province. They also found that Japanese had married Filipino women belonging to the families that owned most of the abaca lands in Davao. A navy needs Manila rope. Now the shortage of Manila fiber is as serious as is the shortage of natural rubber. Japan controls Manila fiber resources. We have to turn to substitutes. We can still get some sisal.

The house has passed another huge appropriation bill of eight billions of dollars with which the size of our navy will be greatly augmented. It comes in addition to funds already available and largely unexpended. The total authorizations for war purposes now runs in excess of $161 billions. The expenditures now are going out at the rate of $100 millions per day. They are intended to be twice that by fall. This new bill will increase naval building activities as early as new ways can be constructed and actual ship building commenced. It will call for further expansion of the steel industry up to a large scale. It is expected that, while smaller craft may be completed by 1943, the larger fighting ships will not be ready for operation before 1944 or 1945. There now are over 300 war vessels under construction, including a dozen battleships which will not be fully completed before 1945 or 1946. More steel is required for a single battleship than for 20 of the average destroyer-type of naval craft now so widely used for convoy purposes.

In this new program for 1,900,000 tons in 500 ships, nearly half the tonnage will be destroyers and one-third air-craft carriers. There will also be 800 small speed boats which by experience have been found effective against submarines. Nearly a billion dollars will be expended upon new submarines. Recently congress passed another bill for $2,700 millions for naval auxiliary craft, so that new appropriations to become available will total $11 billions. Merchant Marine appropriations are over two billion dollars, and now two new merchant vessels are being launched daily, in answer to the menace of submarines on our eastern coast.

In a war program of such enormous extent, with $290 billions to be expended within a couple of years, even this great sum for a navy sufficient to dominate all the seas of the world, is relatively small. But along with war necessities, it also marks a new industry in our country which will be as great as to surpass all other industries.

The new bill marks a change in the naval program. It does not provide for any more battleships.

Scrap to Slap the Jap

Farmers of America—Uncle Sam Needs Your Scrap Iron!

It is expected that there will be a big demand for all kinds of grass seeds. The seed is too valuable to run any unnecessary risk of loss.

Many farmers are planning to harvest their broom seed with a combine. This method has proven satisfactory in many cases. However, plans should be made to have plenty of space to spread the seed out to dry. If it heats it will lower the germination and possibly ruin the seed.

Harvesting with a combine necessitates a risk of loss in the field because of a storm as well as the risk of spoilage in storage. There is considerable danger of it shattering before it can be combined.

Many farmers will bind the broom and shock it. The risks of loss are considerably less. Binder twine will be a problem and it will take more labor. The extra expense and labor is good "insurance" against loss in the field or spoilage in the bin caused by too much moisture.

Farmers having fields of broom with patches of downy broom around the edges would do well to mow the downy broom as soon as possible. It is a serious pest in broom fields and it is impossible to separate it from the broom seed after it is harvested. Some fields are so badly mixed that it would be impossible to cut out the downy broom. Where it is possible, it should be eliminated before the broom is harvested.

"Stretch" Canning Sugar. Sugar isn't rubber, but it can be "stretched" so that the canning ration will go further.

1. Add a small amount of sugar to the fruit's own juices, instead of making the usual sugar syrup. Fruits naturally contain much water, and you can make best use of your sugar by sweetening this rather than by adding more water in the form of a sirup.

2. Heat the slightly sweetened fruit carefully in a sauce pan. This draws out the juices, shrinks the fruit, and drives out the air, making it possible to pack generous amounts of fruits in each jar. There should be enough juice to cover the fruit completely.

3. Honey may be used to replace up to one-half the sugar called for in canning, and corn sirup up to one-third.

4. Fruit juices are not provided for in sugar-rationing allowances, but they may be bottled or put up in jars with little or no sugar. When sweet and tart juices are mixed together no sugar is needed. Fruit for juice is processed at simmering rather than at boiling temperatures to keep the natural fruit flavors.

The Missouri Flood (Lincoln Journal)
Another great flood is moving down the Missouri valley. It is now rising along the southern Nebraska and Iowa shores of that river. Man made dikes, thrown up in an effort to control just such floods, are being patrolled. For the most part they are holding well, but here and there a break occurs that makes quick work necessary if menace to life and damage to property is to be removed.

Since the white man first settled on the shores of our great interior drainways the rivers have presented baffling problems, and these problems have been attacked vigorously by man, not always successfully, but for the most part with a fair measure of effectiveness.

The present flood follows one of very recent date, which in some places weakened dikes and threatened channel changes. The second test should prove better than the first the effectiveness of money spent, of engineering skill, and of channel straightening. There will be failures here and there, but for the most part control measures are believed to have already proved their worth.

The latest flood threw a great volume of water into the river far below the great earth dam at Fort Peck, a structure designed to regulate the amount of water that flows into the upper reaches from a far distant drainage territory. The dam's effect on the lower flood will be minor, being confined to lessening the amount of water fed into the river at that place. The present flow, however, comes from a source not controlled by the great dam. It is expected to go above the record high marks of the past.

The richest producing land to be found in the west is in the Missouri valley. Its value, however, is reduced by the threat of floods. Remove that and the valley will produce when the plains country fails. It will become the most dependable source of food supplies to be found when floods no longer destroy.

Try to Control Weeds. The extension service hopes to do as much as possible this year to stop the spread of bindweed during harvest. The state weed law provides that all threshing machines and combines be cleaned before being moved from fields infested with bindweed or other noxious weeds. Inspectors report very good cooperation between operators of machines and farmers and this effort will help greatly in ridding fields of weeds.

Time to Vaccinate. Vaccination of horses and mules against sleeping sickness is being urged by Dr. L. V. Skidmore of the college of agriculture. The disease took 239 out of 3,039 Nebraska animals affected last year. Immunity produced by vaccination will be effective for at least six months.

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Genesis 1:5. And God called the light Day, and the darkness He called Night. And the evening and the morning were the first day." All questions as to the divine creation being both spiritual and material are answered in this passage, for though solar beams are not yet included in the record of creation, still there is light. This light is not from the sun nor from volcanic flames, but it is the revelation of Truth and of spiritual ideas. This also shows that there is no place where God's light is not seen, since Truth, Life, and Love fill immensity and are ever-present. Was not this a revelation instead of a creation? (p. 504).

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Forces?" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, June 21.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord by wisdom hath founded the earth; by understanding hath he established the heavens" (Proverbs 3: 19).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters. And God said, Let there be light; and there was light" (Genesis 1:1-3).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Genesis 1:5. And God called the light Day, and the darkness He called Night. And the evening and the morning were the first day."

All questions as to the divine material are answered in this passage, for though solar beams are not yet included in the record of creation, still there is light. This light is not from the sun nor from volcanic flames, but it is the revelation of Truth and of spiritual ideas. This also shows that there is no place where God's light is not seen, since Truth, Life, and Love fill immensity and are ever-present. Was not this a revelation instead of a creation? (p. 504).

Any further information may be gained through County Agent Howard Gillaspie.

Mail Applications In Dixon County

Applications for emming sugar should be made by Dixon county people with their grocery stores, according to Agent Howard Gillaspie. After making application, mail this to the sugar rationing board at Ponca for sugar allowance card. The rationing board has asked that applications be mailed as they do not have room for office callers.

When making application for sugar, each should know how many quarts he canned last year; how many he has left on the shelf and how many quarts of fruit he expects to can this year.

Some of the grocers report that if canning expectations are within reason for family needs, each may obtain one pound of sugar for every four quarts of fruit to be canned.

It is necessary to conserve all the sugar possible to make the supply last as two-thirds of the sources have been shut off by the war. It is important not to ask for more sugar than one really needs.

disturber. A navy four times as great as Britain ever had will require not only shipyards and gun factories employing a million men or more, but the steel mills and equipment industries to serve them, and employing still more millions. With naval airplanes and their fighting forces added to those who will man the ships, there will be a couple million more employees. The far-reaching economic changes and the effects of moving population to sea-board cities cannot be estimated. By the time the program is completed, probably 10 per cent of our national population will be in the navy or serving the navy, in some capacity. It is difficult to realize how vast are our preparations for winning the war, but the navy program in itself, as only a part of the whole picture, illustrates what is transpiring as our nation faces war on every side.

With all the big bills relating to our war endeavors are the scores of smaller matters which crowd in. Some of them would not come up in peacetime. But pushed forward as "necessary for national defense," they are not only introduced with strong committee endorsement, but actually pass. It is difficult to line up a fighting force in the house against any measure which some department urges as a defense bill of importance. That some of such bills are killed while the few pass in a favorable indication. The Florida ship canal showed up again, with the backing of big eastern oil companies and shipping interests. It was again defeated. It will be back again soon. It would require $14,000,000. Congress stops the scheme from time to time, but it always bobs up for another fight, this time as a "war measure."

For many years the farmers of the country sought to curb the flow of coconut oil from the Philippines and other tropical islands. Produced by the cheapest labor in the world it competed with our own vegetable oils, such as cotton-seed, soy-bean, peanut and linseed oil, and became a principal ingredient of oleomargarine. Eventually, an internal revenue tax of three cents per pound was levied on coconut oil from the Philippines, and an additional two cents per pound on importations from other countries. Now importations from the Philippines are stopped by the war. A syndicate of foreign capitalists has purchased or optioned the remainder of the world supply of about 100,000 tons. There is need of added supplies of glycerine for ammunition, which was urged as a basis for abolishing the two-cent processing tax on coconut oil. Glycerine is also obtainable from peanut and soybean, as well as from cottonseed and linseed oil, lard, tallow, and other fats, all produced in this country. Glycerine is a by-product of soap making. The big soap companies obtain only 14 per cent of glycerine from coconut oil, and use the remainder for soap. The ways and means committee brought in a "war measure" striking off the two-cent tax on the 100,000 tons of coconut oil which the foreign syndicate will sell to the soap companies. The farm bill exposed the scheme, when the bill came up in the house, but because the committee insisted upon it being a "war measure" it passed. Figure it out. The percentage of glycerine in 100,000 tons will be 14,000 tons. At $40 per ton reduction, there will be a loss to the treasury of $560,000. But the soap makers will get $40 per ton reduction on the 96,000 tons of coconut oil they will use for soap, or the neat amount of $3,440,000. In all the treasury will lose $4,000,000 in revenue. Unless the senate blocks the bill, and it is hoped that it will, the farmers are in for another long fight to get that two-cent tax put back on coconut oil.

NEWS ABOUT WAR From Office of Emergency Management

To comply with ceiling price regulations put into effect by OPA, retailers mark such prices plainly on cost-of-living articles, file these prices with the county rationing board and have lists available for public inspection. Musical instrument manufacture has been halted so the 15,000 tons of materials used annually for these may be saved for war efforts. Carving sets, pocket knives and manicure scissors will be curtailed during the emergency. This will provide 6,000 tons of iron and steel. By full sufficient typewriters will be made to supply needs for army and navy for two years hence. OPA reminds housewives that if they failed to get war ration books or sugar purchase certificates, these should be obtained from the county rationing board, not from the school where the original registration took place. Ceilings will apply to winter knitted garments and other cold-weather apparel, according to ruling of WPB. Prices may be lower but no higher than they were last fall. This will assure people that clothing will not cost more than it did in the fall of 1941. Mrs. America is urged to have materials sorted when the junk collector calls. Rubber articles, such as hot water bottles, galoshes, old rubber heels and discarded shower curtains should be in one pile. Metals, such as zinc, copper, aluminum, tin and steel, should be separate. Worthless attachments should be removed. Rags should be sorted according to materials and according to whether or not they are dirty or clean. Mattresses or pads containing iron or steel will not be manufactured after September 1. The summer production and present stock are expected to meet needs. Substitutes used in production of electric light bulbs will not impair their efficiency. Many materials used in bulbs, such as brass, nickel, copper and molybdenum will necessarily be diverted to war industries. But substitutes are serving very satisfactorily. Number of bulbs will not be limited. Lawn mowers will be manufactured until June 30. Amusement projects costing more than $5,000 will be halted. This will leave workmen and materials free for war industries. A vast army of physically handicapped are now serving in war work. Men and women who have been victims of infantile paralysis or injury are finding work they can do for the emergency. In April alone 7,500 handicapped workers found jobs in war production plants. The government has ordered the entire 1942 pack of salmon, sardines, Atlantic herring, and mackerel for army, navy and lend-lease use. Some of this will be released for civilian consumption after it is determined just how much is needed for these purposes. Nebraska USDA war board has delegated to the agricultural extension service the responsibility for leadership in the proposed rural truck transportation program. The plan is to conserve transportation facilities. Nebraska has 100,000 enrolled in the Victory garden program. About 125 men from the state attended the air raid wardens' school in Lincoln this week, the instruction sponsored by the Legion. Of the nine million Americans volunteering for civilian defense, 50,000 are Nebraskans. About 7,500 more air raid wardens are needed if the state is to reach the estimated 11,000 needed. The scrap rubber collection campaign will be one of the most intensive conducted. Among the items welcomed are old and discarded rubber tires, tubes, patches, boots, rollers and cut-up parts except beads and buffings; rubber boots, shoes, soles and heels; drug sundries such as hot water bottles and rubber gloves; raincoats and rubberized clothing, rubber caps and such things as rubber mats, hose, jar rings, fly swatters, rubber stamps and pads. Citizens are asked to remove wood, iron, leather or cloth from each article. Maximum price regulations were set this week on poles, posts, split stock and semi-finished products. Peas, lentils, seeds and hops that are dried remain "unprocessed" and as such are exempted from the price regulation. Rotenone may be used in treating cattle for grubs but cannot be used as a germicide for citrus fruits. OPA fixed a ceiling price on new war model bicycles. WPB is making every effort to see that essential equipment reaches farmers. It has ordered that no one may sell farm machinery and equipment or attachments which he knows will not be used by the ultimate consumer for production or care of crops, livestock or other produce on the farm. Threat of Drouth Dispelled by Rain

Randolph Was Booming As New Settlement Late In the Eighties.

Early days from the Wayne Herald for June 17, 1926:

Threatening drouth was dispelled by an inch and a half of rain which fell over the week-end. The moisture was most beneficial to grains and to pastures which were drying. As scattering clouds came and went without leaving moisture and as the sun's heat increased in intensity, people's faces "got so long and heavy that they had to prop them up to keep from stepping on them." But rains came in time to renew spirits and revive crops.

Dixon County Events.
From Ponca Journal for June 20, 1889: Mr. Sargeant of Newcastle, bought of Mr. Sayles a bill of $250 worth of lumber which is to be used for a new Congregational parsonage at Newcastle. . . A gentleman from Dakota county states that there has hardly been enough rain to dampen the ground there since last fall and as a consequence everything is drying up and there will not be a fourth of a crop. . . Clubs at Library Popular Diversion

Children's reading and scrap book clubs at Wayne city library are providing interesting and worthwhile diversion for young folks through summer months. All children are welcome to join in the activities.

Forty belong to the reading club and more are enrolling. Young folks are in age groups, 3 and 4 years, 5 to 7 years, 8 and 9 years, 10 to 12 years and those over 12. Each Tuesday afternoon at 3 the club meets to discuss books and read stories. All from 3 to 14 are invited to join the group. The object is to develop the reading habit and encourage better reading. The library basement is cool and is a pleasant place for children to spend summer afternoons profitably. Prizes will be awarded for best reading done within the different age groups.

Those interested in scrap book work are invited to the library Friday afternoons from 2 to 4 to do cutting and pasting. They will prepare scrap books for reference material which can be used in the children's library.

Facts About Building

There is a great deal of misunderstanding about building. Some have the idea that building is entirely stopped while others think that in order to do any building at all, a permit must be secured. Both of these ideas are wrong.

First, take the case of repairs. There is no limit whatever on repairs of buildings. Old roofs, floors, siding, in fact anything about a building that needs replacing, can be repaired without any limits being placed on such repairs. Present properties should be kept in good shape and whatever is needed can be done without restriction.

As far as new construction or remodeling of a house is concerned, whether the house is in town or in the country, there is a limit of $500 that can be spent in each twelve month period, without permission. If a new addition is wanted on a house already built, if a porch is wanted where there is now no porch, if the inside of a house is to be rearranged to change the size or shape of the rooms, this can be done up to a limit of $500 in each twelve month period. Should the total cost, including material, labor and any other expense needed on such remodeling, exceed $500, then a permit must be obtained before the work can be done.

Where farm building is concerned, new buildings can be built up to a total of $1000 per farm in each twelve month period without a permit being necessary. This means new buildings and has nothing to do with repairs, on which there are no limits. If a new building has been built that cost $800 and another is then wanted to cost $400, a permit must be obtained to build the second building, if it is to be put up in the same twelve month period as the first building.

For commercial buildings the limit of new construction or remodeling is $5000 per twelve month period without permission.

Buildings destroyed by fire, wind storm, floods, earthquakes and the like can be replaced without a permit being needed.

In order to obtain a permit to build or remodel a house for more than $500 it is necessary to file an application with FHA before such work can be started. To get a permit for farm buildings for more than $1000, an application must be filed with the local War Board.

Actually, aside from new houses, very little building is affected very much by these orders. Repairs can be made without limit, a fair sized house remodeling job can be done, and ordinary farm building can go ahead as it always has. In case of doubt, see your local War Board or

Nebraska Chums Lead Like Lives

Strange Relationship Is Result of Marriages In Kansas Family.

This is a strange but true story of two girlfriend chums in Grand Island, Opal Faye and Lora Mae McKenize. They went through school together, liking the same subjects and amusements. They were still good friends after graduation and soon both of them appeared with engagement rings. Seventeen months ago both were in the hospital and both had baby girls. Last week Mrs. Hayward and Mrs. Finley entered the hospital again. This time both had baby boys. They use the same kind of toothpaste, the same kind of hand lotion and chew the same brand of gum.

Deputy Sheriff Dean Rogers of Topeka, Kans., uncovered this puzzler in probate court records. The mother of three children died, and they were adopted by their maternal grandmother. The grandfather died, and their father married their grandmother. The children's grandmother was their mother and their father was their stepfather.

At McAlester, Okla., two men attempted to stop Bob Story's car and rob him. As Story stepped on the gas, the men fired, shattering his left arm. But it didn't hurt him. The arm is artificial.

At Kiddler, Mo., this war is getting in the town's hair. The town's last barber enlisted. Now the townsfolk either have to use precious rubber going to the next town, or content themselves with the old bowl style trim.

Lipstick was put into first aid aid belts which were distributed in Massachusetts. It was not for the purpose of beautifying the women. Dr. Elliot Cutler, head of a medical division, said lipstick was the simplest means of writing on a person's forehead identification, classification of injuries and other information, such as the time a tourniquet had been applied.

Albert Marasco closed his Smithport, Pa., barber shop and hung this sign in the window: "Closed till after Hitler's funeral." He listed himself and five other local men as "pallbearers." The six left for the army.

Pushing a doll buggy, 2-year-old

Drew Dinsmore of St. Paul, Minn., wandered onto the railroad tracks just as a train came along. Jarring to a stop, the engineer leaped out, found Drew flat on his stomach between the tracks—unharm-ed.

Every Friday morning Robert Williams leaves jail to attend to his business and returns every Saturday to be locked up in a cell until the next Friday. Williams pleaded guilty to an unlawful wounding charge, and Judge Clay S. Cross sentenced him to a year in jail. He allowed Williams out one day a week to attend to his juke box business.

Noting records of a series of eight robberies, Chicago police named the gang leader was an apple munching negro. Watching fruit and grocery stores in the neighborhood, they learned of three apples each day. Arrested he confessed the robberies. Police Detective Fred Riley said.

Three hundred persons at Los Angeles went back to school to learn how to put away potatoes and parsnips and to sell the same and radish over the counter. The eight-week course is given by the city school system because the draft and evacuation of Japanese have caused a serious shortage of vegetable clerks.

Mrs. Pearl Prout and her three children of Indianapolis, became ill after supper. Police asked what they had eaten and Mrs. Prout explained that it was a cake she had baked with sour milk, a relative had left. Officers looked at what was left in the bottle from which Mrs. Prout said she got the milk. It was liquid floor wax.

At Goodfellow Field, San Angelo, Tex., Pvt. Joseph G. Pfluger looked at his warrant of promotion—and his eyes popped! In black and white, very official looking, it read: "Joseph C. Pfluger is hereby promoted from private first class to the rank of colonel." But his delight passed. The colonel was quickly changed to corporal.

She asked a reply by air-mail. It seems American service men throughout are getting impatient about a sadly neglected situation.

Within five minutes identical twins died. Edgar Wilson, 40, a milkman was visiting at the home of Edward, a postal clerk. Edward fell dead of a heart attack. Five minutes later Edgar succumbed of the same cause.

A half-inch is all that keeps George Herron, 20, in the Alagoa reformatory. Judge Marion D. Waltnr in Kansas City, offered Herron, charged with theft of three cases of whiskey, leniency if he enlisted. Army recruiting officers turned him down because he lacked a half-inch of the required 5 feet 2 inches.

Adolfo Savin is only 10 years old, but he's been giving public lectures since he was 3. He is probably Mexico's most noted child prodigy, and on the platform does involved mathematical calculations involving large numbers, besides amazing his listeners with knowledge of various sciences.

Life in war time England has its perplexing aspects. J. Norman Lodge, the Associated Press staff writer, discloses. Watching 50-foot flames shoot up from a bomb-struck building, he unconsciously took out a cigaret and lit it. A policeman immediately seized him and hauled him to the lockup for "striking a match during a blackout."

In 1910 Mrs. J. M. Dolphin and Mrs. Alfred Werner were half of the graduating class at Bloomfield. This spring Mrs. Dolphin's son, William, and Mrs. Werner's daughter, Carol, finished Bloomfield high school after attending the same classes for 12 years. The two were born in January, 1928, just eight days apart.
