

SIXTY FIRST YEAR

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1942

NUMBER THIRTEEN

Elect Principal In Local School

Herman Baehr Is Selected And Two Others Chosen For Wayne Staff.

Herman Baehr, commercial instructor in Wayne city school the past four years, was elevated by the board of education Saturday to the principalship. He has accepted the position. Mr. Baehr was selected to succeed Milton Beckman who resigned to become head of Scribner school.

Mr. Baehr, who is finishing his master's degree this summer in Iowa City, has made an outstanding record in the local school system. In addition to his duties as principal, Mr. Baehr will have some of the commercial work.

Coach Is Selected. Henry Menke, Madison, was elected coach for next year and will have both football and basketball. Mr. Menke has been at Madison two years and previously coached at Odessa. His football team won the Cornbelt conference title the past two years and lost only one game in that time. In basketball Mr. Menke's team won the Cornbelt tourney one year and in the class B tournament at Norfolk, the same class in which Wayne played, Madison defeated the strong South Sioux City team.

Mr. Menke received his B. S. degree at Nebraska Wesleyan. He has taken graduate work from the state university by extension. In addition to coaching, Mr. Menke will have industrial arts work here.

Mr. and Mrs. Menke plan to move to Wayne Saturday and have rented one of Mrs. L. M. Owens' houses on west Seventh street.

Is Elected Tuesday. Miss Marcia Cook of Sioux City, now in her third year at Wayne college, was elected by the board Tuesday to instruct in the kindergarten and to have physical education for high school girls. She has accepted. Since enrollment at Wayne is expected to be increased, it was decided to have but one section in this department for half-day sessions. Miss Cook will then devote the other half day to the physical training work.

Instructors for science, social science and part of the commercial work are yet to be provided.

Group Accepted In Armed Forces

Two Quotas in August Will Be Filled by Men from This County.

Wayne county men who passed physical tests for service with the armed forces last week at Fort Crook are Elmer Rudolph Kai, George William Sveigard, Jr., Clifford William Baker, Don Grier, Dean E. Granquist, Glenn Wolbaum, Richard D. Gildersleeve and Russell Fox. The last two volunteered to go earlier than they would naturally have been called. They have 14-day furlough and will leave August 5 for induction. Liven Adam Peterson, transferred from Minnesota, went with the local group July 21 and also leaves here August 5.

Dale Meyer and J. M. Pile enlisted the past week for service. Wayne county will have about a dozen men from 1-B in a quota called August 3, and about 20 from 1-A will go August 15. The August 3 call is the first for 1-B men, those with remedial physical defects.

Seek New Addresses. The draft board would appreciate knowing the addresses of Amil Kenneth Childs, in first registration, and Gilbert C. Welin, in fourth. These two are to fill out occupational questionnaires.

The board urges all registrants to report any changes of address. New Rulings Made. Since calls for men for the armed forces are larger than the available supply of 1-A men in this state, many local boards must continue to call married men to meet quotas, according to Brigadier General Guy N. Henninger, state selective service director.

Single 1-A men were to be called before married men, in recently revised rulings, the officer stated, but many boards have exhausted their available 1-A men. "It is unfortunate," he said, "that many married registrants, particularly those whose only dependent is a wife, apparently obtained the incorrect conclusion (Continued on Page Two)

Wayne Men Hurt When Car Turns

Leon Hupp, Wayne, suffered bruises to his back and head and Elmer Cechin, also of Wayne, a cut over the left eye when the car driven by the former left the road, turned over twice and a half and landed in a corn field two miles east of Bloomfield, Saturday evening about 10:30.

The driver of the car said he was blinded by the bright lights of an oncoming car. The wrecked car was towed to Bloomfield by a wrecker.

Store Staff Sells Many War Bonds

One of the outstanding war sales records is being made by Brown-McDonald staff in Wayne. Wednesday the store had sold $6,300 in bonds and stamps during July, and the goal set by the firm for the month is $8,000. The sales person making the best record will receive a $25 bond July 31. Wayne county's quota for the month is $96,000.

Instrumental and vocal students appear in a musicale next Tuesday evening at 8 in the college auditorium.

HUGE TRACTOR IS ADDED TO COUNTY'S SCRAP METAL PILE

OSCAR PETERSON'S tractor, weight 21,600 pounds, bought new in 1919 at a cost of around $3,500, was added to Phil March's accumulation of war metal Sunday night. The tractor worked all day Saturday in food production for the emergency, and Sunday morning it was turned over to Chet Walters, county agent, and boys of the Beat'em All club to be delivered to a more direct and intensive form of war effort. Its lugs were laboriously removed—a big task. It was filled with gasoline and water and headed for Wayne at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The boys rode the tractor. If they had walked they would have arrived too far ahead of the machine. It was no joy ride. It traveled nine miles, consumed 26 gallons of gasoline and reached here at 9:30. On arrival it posed for a picture taken by Dr. J. A. Moore. It will be converted into such munitions as seem best calculated to pulverize enemy assaults. Mr. Peterson's son, Don, is in the air corps, and doubtless Don would like to use the machine after it has been transmogrified into usable dimensions.

Mandate Upholds Ruling of Courts

High Tribunal Rules Note Was Presented as Gift In Estate Matter.

Nebraska Supreme court mandate of July 24 upholds Wayne county district and county court rulings that the late Louis Langenberg intended that a $6,000 note covering a land mortgage was to be a gift to one of his sons, Ernest A. Langenberg. The note and mortgage had been destroyed at the request of deceased. Some of the other heirs contested the gift.

Louis Langenberg, a widower who died May 20, 1939, left four sons and four daughters. W. F. Langenberg, Minnie Sonnenberg, Henry Langenberg, Lena and Louisa Langenberg, twins, Ernest A. Langenberg, Anna Fleer and George Langenberg.

One of the sons, Henry Langenberg, served as administrator of the estate of his father and in that capacity assigned to each of the children one-eighth interest in the $6,000 note and mortgage covering a quarter section of Wayne county land and executed by Ernest A. Langenberg and wife. Assignments were made as directed and the administrator was discharged.

Later five of the assignees brought suit against Ernest A. Langenberg and wife Miss Lena and Miss Louisa Langenberg, unmarried twin daughters of Louis Langenberg, were also sued as defendants because they declined to join the plaintiffs. In their petition to foreclose the mortgage, the plaintiffs alleged that they were unable to find the mortgage.

Substance of the defense to the foreclosure was that Louis Langenberg, in his lifetime, gave the note and mortgage to Ernest A. Langenberg as a gift with directions to burn them, thus discharging the debt.

District court found in favor of defendants, the same as county court, and directed release of the (Continued on Page Two)

Implement Firm In New Quarters

B. J. Brandstetter & Son, John Doere implement firm, is now in its new location on west First street. The Brandstetters bought the modern structure which had been occupied by the Joe Baker garage. Old and new customers are invited to visit the firm in its new place.

Collecting Records For Service Group

Phonograph records are coming in well in the drive being conducted by the Legion and Auxiliary for the armed forces. But many more are needed to reach the county's quota. The records, whole or broken, are sought. They are to be assembled at the L. W. McNatt store but may be left with any store. Shipment is planned next week so all records should be turned in this week!

College President Instructs in West

Dr. J. T. Anderson to Offer Special Graduate Work In Los Angeles.

Dr. J. T. Anderson will begin teaching Saturday in the University of Southern California for a five weeks' period of summer school. Both Dr. and Mrs. Anderson departed Wednesday for the Pacific coast.

In the university at Los Angeles Dr. Anderson will give lectures for two graduate courses, "School Administration and Supervision" and "Problems in the Elementary School Curriculum." By lengthening the classroom periods this institution will give in five weeks courses that usually require six.

Dr. Anderson received the doctor's degree from the University of Southern California in 1933 and during the summer of that year served as visiting instructor, a position similar to that he is filling this summer. The university is a private institution and one of the largest universities in the nation. Dr. Anderson will return to Wayne shortly before the beginning of the fall semester at the Nebraska Teachers college September 7.

Postpone Letting Bids on Project

J. N. Einung Is Low Bidder On Gravel Resurfacing For Highway

Rebuilding the bituminous mat south of Wayne 13.9 miles has been postponed by the state department. The public roads administration is not willing to certify that the use of the necessary bituminous road material for the construction of this project is essential to the successful prosecution of the war. Since bituminous material cannot be furnished or used without such a certification, it has been necessary to postpone the date of receiving bids on this project.

The state board had asked for figures on the bituminous road several weeks ago and at that time no bids were entered. A second call was set for August 6. Now the improvement is to be delayed by the scarcity of needed materials.

J. N. Einung, Wayne, was awarded contract for regreaving highway No. 35 from Norfolk to Wayne by the state board meeting at Lincoln Thursday. He was also given contract for another road regreaving job near New-castle.

H. W. Johnson of Sioux City, was low bidder on a highway project for putting bituminous mat surfacing on 7.3 miles of road on U. S. highway No. 81 between Fairmont and McCol Junction. The bid was $117,760.

The letting included 14 regreaving projects.

Republican Party Brings Candidates

One of District Meetings Is Held Wednesday in Wayne Auditorium.

State and local republican candidates were in Wayne Wednesday evening for a district rally held at the auditorium. The other district meeting is scheduled for Oakland this Thursday. Stanton, Cuming, Thurston, Burt and Wayne counties comprise the district.

Wayne municipal band, with Leonard Paulson director, marched through the business district and to the auditorium where the meeting convened.

Candidates were introduced and spoke briefly. Kenneth Wherry is state chairman sponsoring the republican caravan. Mrs. D. S. Wightman, Wayne, and S. A. Wassum, Tekamah, are district chairmen. T. S. Hook is Wayne county chairman.

Will Close Rooms During One Month

Red Cross sewing rooms in the city hall will be closed during the month of August. Any who wish to see about Red Cross work may contact Mrs. Frank Heine.

Present quotas have been completed by the women and new quotas have been ordered for fall. In the work just finished are 15 convalescent robes and 15 pajama suits for American men in the armed forces, 200 blouses and 119 skirts for refugee girls sizes 8 and 12.

Case Is Carried To High Official

Reuben Strate Declines to Report for Service When Called by Board.

Wayne county draft board sent notice Monday to the U. S. district attorney that Reuben Strate, 32, declined to report for selective service call July 21. Strate claims to be a conscientious objector.

The young man, who was in the first registration, who is unmarried and who is an auctioneer, told the board some months ago that he is a conscientious objector. The board declined to consider him as such and Strate appealed the matter to the department of justice.

At a hearing in Norfolk, the department of justice held that Strate is not a conscientious objector. So the local board left him in 1-A classification, making him liable for military service.

Last week Monday Strate visited the draft board and told the members that he would not be on hand the next morning to answer his call. He said he had not changed his views and thus did not feel he could report for induction. Consequently the board sent notice to this effect to the district attorney.

Coordinate All Forces To Boost War Salvage

Soft Ball Game Set for Sunday

Huge Tractor Finishes Work And Joins Scrap Pile Headed for Axis.

Nebraska amateur softball players are offering their services in promoting the scrap drive and one of these games is to be played at Wayne athletic park next Sunday afternoon, August 2, at 7:30 o'clock, this between the Storz team of Omaha, and a picked Wayne group.

Admission will be by five pounds of scrap metal or one pound of scrap rubber. Those who have cleared all their salvage materials, may see the game by paying 10 cents. Admission fees will be turned over to civilian defense.

The Omaha team of outstanding and colorful players pays all its expenses in coming to Wayne. Everything is contributed. The Omahans go to Norfolk for an evening game Sunday.

The twilight feature, here is sponsored by the salvage and athletic committees of the Chamber of Commerce, A. F. Luaders, J. H. Morrison, E. Mees and C. C. Sturtz are in charge.

Have Show for Clubs. One of the local highlights of the scrap campaign was the 4-H club show sponsored by P. L. March at the Co-Ed theatre last Sunday night. About 22,600 pounds of metal were turned in at that time.

Large Tractor Added. The largest piece in the Sunday drive was a tractor belonging to Oscar Peterson who lives near Altona, this weighing 21,600 pounds. Bringing this piece to boost the 4-H drive was sponsored by Beat 'Em All club, led by Walter Herman, Don Meyer, Leland Herman, Eugene Warren and Gordon Helgren and Chet Walters helped remove lugs from the tractor wheels so the machine could be driven to Wayne.

The tractor was new in 1919 when it cost $3,500. Carl Lessman first bought it, this machine and Rudolph Kay owned it before Mr. Peterson purchased the equipment. Years ago such machines were popular when threshing (Continued on Page Two)

SOLDIER MESSAGES INTERESTING PART OF THIS NEWSPAPER

MESSAGE from Wayne county boys in America's armed forces, often including address changes, contribute what we believe is an interesting feature to the Herald. In that way, friends of the boys are kept posted as to their locations which change from time to time. As frequently expressed, they fully realize the high purpose for which they are enlisted, and they are not shirking any responsibility. They expect to come back to a reformed democracy, freed from totalitarian threats. They are thoroughly appreciative of the free service the Herald is giving them, and their gratitude which rings true, makes us feel we are having a real share in upholding morale on all battle fronts.

Claim in Estate Matter Appealed

Robert F. Roggenbach Asks Sum for Services When He Lived at Home.

Wayne county court rejected a claim for $10,327.50 filed by Robert F. Roggenbach against the estate of Robert Roggenbach. The claimant appealed to the district court Saturday and furnished bond of $100.

Plaintiff filed the account against the estate last December 11 for labor and services from the time he was of age in 1903 until March 1, 1916, when he started farming for himself, less one year when he was in school in Wayne. He figured his services at $300 a year or a total of $4,500. Interest at 5 per cent totaled $5,737.50. The two together make $10,327.50.

Anna Peters, Emma Armbrust, Clara Peters and Paula Nieman on December 22 objected to allowance of the claim as they were named residuary legatees. In opposing the claim, it was stated that during the time claimant was home he was unmarried, was furnished lodging and also money.

County court ruled that the statute of limitations runs against the account so the claim was rejected.

L. W. Ellis and H. E. Siman are attorneys for Mr. Roggenbach. Burr Davis for the estate and Hugo Nicholson for the legatees.

Scrap Is Collected In Drive at School

Ton of Metal Added Here In Special Campaign Conducted Tuesday.

Wayne Teachers college has collected six or seven tons of scrap metal since the nationwide campaign got under way.

Students, faculty members and the college itself contributed during the day about a ton of copper, iron and aluminum. Some rubber was also donated. The campaign at the college will continue for several days. Within the last week, before the committee designated a day for donations by faculty and students, Wayne college collected about five tons of metal and delivered them to a junk dealer to help the war effort.

The college defense committee are Dean Clarence McGinn, Prof. K. N. Parke, Jack J. H. Morrison, Prof. J. R. Johnson, Miss Marie Hove, Miss Lenore Ramsey and Dean Martha Smith.

Over Disappearance of Dixon on Journal by Citizen of that Town in an Anonymous Communication — Modern Demands Compel Surrender of Many Newspapers — Small Towns Have Compensating Advantages.

The intimation that the town of Dixon was about ready for the funeral pyre as concluded from Henry L. Balsers' comment on responding and folding up his journal at that place recently, has drawn sharp resentment from a Dixonite writing anonymously for the Laurel Advocate. The writer points out that if one is dissatisfied with a community or the business he is able to derive from it, he is eminently warranted in quitting and moving, but that in parting he is not justified in giving vent to unfavorable feelings.

One may easily understand the fighting spirit aroused by citizens of a town whose right to existence is questioned. Home is home, no matter how many buildings are vacant or need paint, no matter how many loose boards flap and re-cho. Not alone buildings and landscapes charm old-time residents. Accustomed neighbors are powerful magnets. No matter how much one is often disposed to cut them, he still likes them and wants to mingle with them. Neighbors may get mad at one another, but they unite under a cloud, threatening alike to all.

Balsers, retiring Dixon publisher, is a good fellow—improves with acquaintance. He could be wrong in what he thinks or indiscreet in what he says, but he does not follow a deviant and uncertain course in expressing himself. He says what he means.

Dixon is no different from many similarly situated small towns. The hardsurfaced highways which they strived to gain, served their disadvantage. With modern transportation, distances were no longer obstacles. Farmers and often townspeople enjoyed some extra travel to market or shop where they figured they could do best. But the late need to save tires and conserve gasoline will no doubt help all communities in removing the temptation to disregard mileage.

It is doubtful if a town the size of Dixon has warranted the publication of a newspaper during the past 10 years. The was when every community, no matter how small, had one or more newspapers. But provincialism has disappeared, and popular demands have been increased. People are satisfied less easily. They are quickly accessible to multiplied sources of information. Thus, many communities have no newspapers, and many others have had their number of publications reduced.

But without a newspaper a community may be a satisfactory place in which to live. It may have all the home comforts afforded even by metropolitan centers without the chilling lack of neighborliness common in the latter.

The late intimation, caused by Balsers' frank observations may be a stimulus to Dixon's revival—revival in the spirit of unity and home pride, happy in fellowship without eagerness to excel in size.

We were interested in what a community expects from an editor as reflected by Balsers' critic. (However, we wish said critic had signed his or her name.) This excerpt from the communication is, one side-line's opinion: "As a matter of fact, towns and communities, villages and cities are what they are chiefly because of the newspapers that are published in them. The newspaper of the town is the voice of the people, or should be such. It should promote the welfare and the publicity for the town. It should be the public booster for the town and its activities. Give a town a good, readable newspaper, with a wide-awake publisher and editor, who has an editorial policy and who sincerely promotes and publicizes his community's good qualities and business opportunities, and that town will thrive and prosper. On the other hand, if a community has only a second-rate newspaper which fails to have an editorial policy, never gives editorial advice or counsel, and which newspaper tends to bring out only heaped jokes for reading material, then what value does it have in a community?"

But all dependence cannot be placed in the enterprise and resourcefulness of a newspaper. The public must respond. While an editor must amply justify adequate support, he cannot continually hold the sack for indifferent or lackadaisical spectators—persons who are willing to ride a free newspaper hack if they are assisted aboard, but are too inert and too shortsighted to help themselves.

A modern newspaper is costly to operate according to expectations, and while it can and does give much service to a community without cash returns, it has certain revenue-producing avenues that must be kept sufficiently supplied to maintain a morning overhead (Continued on Page Four) mortgage and dismissal of the suit. Plaintiffs appealed to the supreme court. As ground for reversal, it was argued that evidence of defendants was insufficient to prove a gift inter vivos (during lifetime).

It was found that the note and mortgage, executed February 9, 1931, neither stipulated amount in interest nor that the debt was paid. The father gave each child a quarter section of land. Other gifts of property and money were bestowed on different children.

The note in question was in the possession of Ernest A. Langenberg in December, 1938, and the mortgage given to deceased prior to his death May 20, 1938. After the death of Mrs. Louis Langenberg in 1933, Mr. Langenberg lived with Miss Louisa and Miss Lena Langenberg at Hoskins. Deceased lost his eyesight and his daughters looked after his affairs for him.

Miss Louisa Langenberg testified that her father kept his valuable papers in a safe in her bedroom and she alone used the key to this. In her presence, Louis Langenberg told her to get the note and give it to Ernest A. Langenberg. The father then told his son to burn the note. Miss Lena Langenberg testified to the same. Later, in the presence of the two sisters, Ernest Langenberg expressed to his father his fear as to the effectiveness of destruction of the note as a means of extinguishing the debt and satisfying the mortgage. His father said that the matter would be all right that way.

Still later, in the presence of the same persons, the father told Miss Louisa Langenberg to get the mortgage and give it to Ernest which she did. Ernest said that he destroyed both instruments.

The supreme court found that evidence indicates that the father had a fixed plan of making a gift of the note to his son. The twins would have been entitled to two-eighths of the proceeds if foreclosure had been ordered, so the court found no reason to discredit their testimony. The high tribunal thus ruled that the transaction constituted a valid gift.

Dramatics Group Will Give Plays

Wayne Teachers' college dramatics class will present two one-act plays in the college auditorium Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The plays will be "Women's Ward" and "Sanitarium," both by Sylvan Simon.

"Women's Ward" is a prison play in which is an attempted jail-break. The cast includes Vivian Dikeman as Mary Martin, Dorothy Ruelle as May, Lenora Laughlin as the guard, Marcia Cook as Goldie, Virginia Hummel as Dopey Liz and Fayma Salmon as Sadie. "Sanitarium" is a drama which shows how slight is the line between sanity and insanity. The cast includes Lenora Laughlin as Dr. Miller, Vivian Dikeman as Miss Dixon, Marcia Cook as Helen, Fayma Salmon as Miss Meyer, and Virginia Hummel as the nurse.

Frank Harnish is the student director for the "Women's Ward" play. He has also designed and made the scenery that will be used.

ing was done on a large scale by groups of about 25 men. Now a few men with smaller tractors and smaller separators care for grain. Mr. Peterson used the engine to finish threshing last Saturday.

Mr. Peterson and the group helping him started the trip to town Sunday at 4 and covered the nine miles by 9:30. The engine consumed 36 gallons of gasoline and twice the radiator had to be refilled with water.

A. G. Adams bought the Peterson machine and will dismantle it for shipment. Another piece of equipment the committee hopes to add to the county's salvage is a steam engine belonging to M. S. Whitney of Carroll. This piece, larger than the Peterson tractor, has not been used for two years.

A section of Wayne's old stand-pipe that years ago adorned Main street hilltop, placed in the basement of the Frank Korff residence for use in keeping foods cool, will be converted into war equipment. This is about three feet in diameter and many times that length.

As the drive is pushed to a successful conclusion it is expected that other interesting relics will be unearthed.

that these revisions in regulations removed them from the possibility of induction for several months. Nebraska is already behind in meeting its quotas and I have no information to encourage the thought that calls for men during the coming months will be less than they have been in the past few months. I think it is safe to say that by September virtually every local board in the state will be forced to call some married men to help meet its induction quota despite the fact that eligible 20-year-olds who registered in June will be moving into the armed service by that time.

The general stressed that a "married man" so far as selective service is concerned, is one who not only married prior to December 8, 1941, but also prior to the time when his selection appeared near.

Some single men, the officer added, have been granted occupational deferment for limited periods of time. As these deferments expire, the burden will be on employers to show to the satisfaction of local boards that these men are not replaceable by workers ineligible for the armed service.

Will you have a place to put this year's crop of corn? Better be thinking about that right now. Carpenters are scarce, so you'll want to build that corn crib at the last minute. As soon as threshing is over, get ready to build the crib you need.

Painters are busy too. That means the wise man gets his order in early for a painter. The wise man also does his painting before his buildings get in poor shape - to re-paint. Whether it's barn paint, house paint, inside paints or varnishes, you'll want "Time-Tested" Carhart paint for any and every job.

You'll want to keep those fences in even better than usual condition, what with things as they are. Some of these fine new creosoted posts we have here at the yard will keep your fences in excellent shape for years to come. How many are you needing?

There is nothing any harder on good machinery than standing out in the weather. If you do not have a machine shed, why not build one now? A grove makes a poor machine shed, as any one who has had anything to do with collecting sawdust metal can tell you.

In Field DISAGREEING philosophies of Politics senatorial and congressional campaigns. All candidates agree on prosecuting the war to a successful conclusion regardless of cost or sacrifice.

Differences are not so much over party labels as over democratic fundamentals. The fellow who believes in government paternalism, will support new deal candidates.

Of seven candidates for the democratic nomination for United States senator, Congressman Harry B. Coffey bears all the marks of an independent statesman.

But party members who favor the new deals eight years of centralization—who like the idea of mixing government into private business,—will vote for candidates of pronounced left-wing tendencies.

In that event, and with any one of the republican candidates, Kenneth S. Wherry, Hugh Ashmore or Voyle D. Reector, named, the Washington administration is likely to be so dissatisfied that it will persuade Senator Geo. W. Norris to run again as an independent by petition.

People are thinking too much of the war and ways to win it to play politics, but they are not oblivious of disagreeing ideologies and when they come to vote they will draw the line between candidates moving to the right and those moving to the left.

Labor Problem THE Industrial Press Service urges fewer disagreements and more united action in solving labor problems and preventing inflation.

The obvious and crying need is for a definite national labor policy, one upon which both labor and management can hang their hats.

The American people want to win this war and the peace which will follow it. They are ready to do everything within reason and to make all the necessary sacrifices to win it.

Metal CLEANING up old farm implements is pointed out by the Omaha Journal-Stockman as a valuable service in connection with the drive for scrap metal.

A few drops of oil or a little grease applied to a plowshare or the shovels of a corn cultivator will save the metal from rusting and will make it scour and clean easily when it is needed again.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull's speech Thursday night gave encouragement to the allies and to enslaved peoples, and rang with the spirit of freedom inherent in the democratic way of life.

Conrad Jacobson, now superintendent of city schools at Holdrege, was in Wayne last week in the interest of his candidacy for the state superintendency. He was superintendent of the Wayne city schools several years ago, and previously served in other northeast Nebraska schools.

Publicity is indispensable to war activities, but it only reflects what is being done or what should be done. Results must tally with pledges and reports. Workers cannot relax under the light of public notice and figure that ends have thereby been attained.

Senator W. A. Crossland who became a candidate for reelection in response to numerous requests, made a legislative record that manifestly deserves popular endorsement.

Leaders closely conversant with the facts must know best when to make an invasion of Europe with assurance of victory. Therefore, the clamor in London for haste does not make sense.

One should not expect everybody to get mad at every person he dislikes. Each individual has a sufficient accumulation of unfriendly human elements without adding unnecessarily to the stock in order to be agreeable.

Farmers busy threshing. Results rather shy. Corn still promising. Aquarius urged to show off less and bring more rain.

"War News is Bad." (Sioux City Journal)

The caption is heard on the street and almost everywhere one goes. People constantly are shaking their heads and saying that the "war news is bad."

It may be accepted without argument that the war news is bad. Nowhere could any informed person be found whose sympathies were wholly with the united nations who would not admit that he didn't like the present developments in Russia, on the Atlantic and in the far east.

If, however, one looks back over the nearly three years of this second world holocaust one may discover military developments that looked much worse than anything now faced by the united nations. When France surrendered many thought everything was lost, as it would have been if the Germans had only known that the Dunkerque evacuation took from the British almost everything they had in the way of mechanized equipment.

The World of Henry Wallace. (Omaha World-Herald)

Henry A. Wallace is living in a world of his own. While ordinary and less imaginative citizens are living in a world at war and breathing the smoke of battle, Mr. Wallace is living in the post-war world, where the right is already triumphant and every citizen receives a quart of milk every day, even though he may be an iced-tea drinker at heart.

But it is no self-operating Utopia, this post-war world which Mr. Wallace alone inhabits. There will be problems to solve, and Mr. Wallace is turning his great and humanitarian mind to them.

For example, there is the question of rubber. Writing in a recent issue of the New York Times magazine, Mr. Wallace expresses the fear that the huge synthetic industry now being created (we hope) may give rise to a "new isolationism" after the war.

That, opines Mr. Wallace, would be bad. Very bad. It would put us into competition with the tropical lands which produce natural rubber and which, Mr. Wallace intimates, have a vested interest in pneumatic tires.

RUBBER. In the presence of scarcity of rubber and the prospect of increased scarcity, the demand for the synthetic variety is apparently being up by reason of disagreement over the method to be employed in producing it.

Irritation (Continued from Page One) If a newspaper is not needed, it should quit. That is what Balser decided. If it is deemed essential, it must, in addition to its free service, deserve and reap necessary financial returns.

THE DIFFERENCE. Difference in the ideologies over which we are fighting, is emphasized in the way democratic America regards human life and the way enemy dictators treat it. Stories brought back to this country by reporters, released from internment camps in Tokyo, are revolting. They were pounded, choked, half-starved and threatened and otherwise mistreated. In contrast, nazis who perished in a submarine destroyed off the American coast, were given a military funeral. This is the difference. When one becomes the instrument of a totalitarian tyrant, he seems to have to surrender his conscience. He seems to have to smother his instincts of mercy. Americans still respect human life. They recoil at thoughts of cruelty. The conflict is between the hearts of free peoples and the forces of blackest evil.

Though Mrs. America may not have the variety always she will be able to get cosmetics she needs for this year.

Quality and quantity of soaps will be maintained by order of OPA. This will apply to toilet soaps, also laundry soap, chips and granules.

Manufacturers of venetian blinds are to make only wooden ones with less than 15 ounces of metal per blind after August 31.

Because of the crowded condition of passenger trains, a limit will likely soon be put on the number of parcels permitted on coaches and Pullman cars.

OPA has set ceiling prices on towels, cotton blankets and many such necessary articles.

Effective date of a general order prohibiting automobile and motorcycle racing has been postponed from July 10 to July 31. This was done because several benefit races had been scheduled for United Service Organizations before July 3 and tickets had already been sold.

Not only will Mrs. America get plenty of sugar for home canning, but the government has authorized state OPA directors to increase allotments of sugar to food manufacturers whenever in their judgment it is necessary to avoid waste of fresh fruits and vegetables. Because of greatly increased production, OPA said additional allotments were necessary to prevent waste. It is as important to save fruit and vegetable crops as it is to conserve sugar.

Lu A. C. Holmquist of Oakland, Nebraska, is now stationed with the 560th Squadron at Scott Field, Illinois. He sends his best regards to his friends throughout Nebraska.

Leo W. Tighe of Bancroft, Nebraska, is now an ensign in the United States navy, stationed at New Orleans, Louisiana. Ensign Tighe is a graduate of Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., and was one of the outstanding employees of the library of congress. When he entered the navy, he had a book almost ready for publication.

Complaints that county rationing boards do not follow uniform policies have reached the Third district office and these complaints have been discussed with the deputy administrator in charge of sugar rationing. The result is that fuller explanations of policies are being sent to local boards. There is no "top limitation" on sugar for canning. The only limitation is one pound of sugar for four quarts of finished fruit. The office of price administration says that all rules and regulations promulgated from Washington are uniform. Some misunderstandings have been working hardships on consumers. So, the office of price administration is making some investigations.

Washington continues to be filled with people wanting priority ratings and defense contracts. Even the terrific heat has not stopped this influx of people visiting the various departments.

The Third district office has pleaded with the war production board either to save 102 miles of Chicago and Northwestern branch line between Linwood and Hastings or suggest some substitute means of transportation for crops and livestock produced in the area that the line has served. The WPB informed the Third district office that the army and navy needs falls badly for relaying at war camps and that all available steel must be requisitioned. Atorney General Walter Johnson, Assistant Attorney General Emerson Kojak and State Railway Commissioner Duane Swanson came to Washington to plead for retention of service on the line.

A number of deaths have occurred in Washington directly the result of the terrific heat. Many people sleep in parks. Each morning these parks are littered with newspapers on which suffering people have slept.

The new tax bill passed the house with provisions for additional annual revenue exceeding six billion dollars. The house considered it under a gag rule which made in order only those amendments offered by the ways and means committee. The measure is now in the senate where many amendments will be offered. There may be an effort in the senate to put a federal sales tax into the bill.

The bill to diminish the causes of labor disputes in the performance of national defense contracts, that has passed the house, lies dormant in the senate. There is much concern about inflation and price ceilings. There are demands for ceilings on wages. Legislation designed to curb inflation is expected.

Each morning police cars guarded by detectives and soldiers take the accused Nazi saboteurs to the department of justice from the district jail. Crowds of people watch the caravan as it speeds through the streets. It is charged that the accused were put ashore from German submarines; that they were possessed of a large amount of United States currency and instruments of demoralization; and that it was their intent to strike destructively at plants and installations essential to our internal security. It is believed that conviction will result in the death penalty.

The house has passed the largest single revenue bill that was ever started on its way through congress. Even a couple billions more may be added by the senate. The final passage of the bill is not anticipated before November or December. The estimated federal expenditures for war and all other purposes for 1943, amount to $73 billions, so even this huge increase of revenues will meet only in part the great appropriations which will be needed to carry on the war. At the end of the fiscal year it is expected that the national debt will aggregate $129 billions.

Non-defense expenditures have been materially reduced in the appropriations made in this congress, the cut amounting to about $2 1/2 billions. One of the largest reductions was made in appropriations for the department of agriculture in the amount of $462 mil-

Christian Science Services

"Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, August 2.

The Golden Text is: "Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you" (II Corinthians 13:11).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God. He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love" (I John 4:7, 8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need. The miracle of grace is no miracle to Love. Jesus demonstrated the inability of corporeality, as well as the infinite ability of Spirit, thus helping erring human sense to flee from its own convictions and seek safety in divine Science. . . . Universal Love is the divine way in Christian Science" (pp. 494, 266).

lions, about 20 per cent of the total savings. Abolishing the CCC made a further reduction of $247 millions, and NYA was reduced by $30 millions. WPA appropriations were reduced by $595 millions.

Congressional and departmental investigations are commencing to produce results which may have an important bearing on war expenditures. The report of the committee on military affairs condemning waste and extravagance turned the light of publicity upon phases of the situation in all sections costing hundreds of millions, the field of investigation was large, and the haste of preparations has been found to be the greatest cause of waste. Contractors have been bidding against each other for technicians and skilled labor. Frequently there were found instances of extravagance in primary plans. It is the story of the first World War all over again. The war department which has increased its departmental staff from 18,000 to nearly 50,000 people in a few months, has expanded its volume of work prodigiously, and the same may be said of the navy department. New employees have come from all parts of the country, and perfecting the organizations proceeds slowly.

With an army approaching 4,000,000 men, with equipment coming from factories by trainloads, and a three ocean navy building, the task of keeping everything moving has been enormous. Still, the war department has re-surveyed contracts awarded and effected a saving of $1 1/2 billions. The navy department by a similar survey has brought about economies of nearly $1 billion more. This cooperation of congress and departments will not completely prevent either waste, extravagance or mistakes in carrying out the program, but it all helps a bit. The indictment of conspirators who are endeavoring to harvest untold fortunes for themselves while our young men are fighting also is having its effect, and more such indictments are in the making.

A Washington grand jury is delving into the practices of so-called "war-brokers" who have been reaping great incomes from contractors on war contracts. Washington and New York city seem to have scores of such brokers who make bidders for war contracts believe that they can obtain profitable arrangements for them. The regulations of the war and navy departments compel bidders to declare when bidding that no commissions are to be paid to such agents. Notwithstanding that fact, the game continues to work. Apparently some of the firms are not above making false declarations upon their bids. Grand jury action has been started and the department of justice will endeavor to put some of the so-called brokers on trial, and make things hot for those who engage them.

One instance brought out by the house committee on naval affairs was a firm of three, which claimed to have intimate connections in the departments. One large corporation which obtained $24 millions in orders has paid that firm over $600,000 in commissions so far this year. Another individual garnered $376,000 in similar commissions in 18 months, and still another has $250,000 coming from similar commissions. One man obtained connections with various firms which paid him at the rate of $3,450 per day for his supposed "political pull." With all the rush of preparations for an offensive war, and the constantly growing output of equipment for our fighting forces, it might be well to issue priorities for a lot of new jails, and engage a sufficient force of attorneys to put such profiteers into them.

Editor Collapses While at Office

James W. Brink, One of Most Colorful Figures, Dies At Rosalie Plant.

James W. Brink, 62, editor of the Rosalie Rip-Saw and father of Don Brink of Carroll, died suddenly Wednesday, July 22, collapsing just after running off the weekly edition of his paper.

Military services were conducted Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at Rosalie with burial at Lyons.

Mr. Brink was one of the most colorful figures in Nebraska journalism. When he established the Rosalie paper 35 years ago he named it the Rip-Saw because he intended to "rip into everybody who needed ripping into." In addition to using his editorial pen fearlessly to create up situations needing such treatment, he also wrote good-humoredly about his observations in the community. His personal column, "Cracks from an Old Egg," was quoted by newspapers all over the country. His writings were peppered with such quips as these: "Tude Jenkins has invented an automobile with the front wheels smaller than the hind ones so it will always be running down hill and will need no gas or engine." And another: "Les Peters reports falling 70 feet from the Rosalie steeple." He had his light fall suit on and was uninjured. Mr. Brink was a humorist-philosopher and was often called the Bill Nye of Nebraska.

Surviving Mr. Brink are his wife, one son, Don of Carroll, and five daughters, Mrs. O. B. Oxford of Omaha, Mrs. L. V. Morgan of Rosalie, Mrs. Natalie Salisbury of Glendale, Cal., Mrs. Joseph Couture of Rosalie, and Mrs. Meredith Boland of Eagle Rock, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Brink went to Rosalie last week and remained until Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Honey, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bredemeyer also went there Saturday for the funeral.

Announces Engagement.
Jack Martin's engagement to Miss Dona Mae Bowen of Omaha, was recently announced by Miss Bowen's parents, Mr. Martin, a former student at Wayne State and now in the marines, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Martin of Albion.

Wayne Board Backs Scrap Drive

Wayne county not only is in the state salvage contest, but the county board has made it official by adopting a resolution endorsing the movement.

Commissioners M. I. Swihart, left, and Frank Erxleben are shown above signing the resolution, while Miss Izora Laughlin, deputy county clerk, looks on. The resolution reads: "Whereas the United States is at war and it is necessary that everyone do all that is possible to assist this country in winning a victory.

Unusual Fruits Grow on Plants

Potato vines with unusual tomato-like fruit on branches above ground were raised this season by L. D. Glassmeyer southwest of Wayne. Potatoes and tomatoes are growing close together on the farm. The potatoes have their usual under-ground tubulars and in addition have clusters of small round fruits on the upper growth. The fruits are seedy like tomatoes.

The rodeo will also feature the Sioux Indian village with the natives in their tribal dances and Frank and Bernice Dean, bull whip experts, rifle shots, knife throwers, ropers and riders. Bus Carson troupe of North Hollywood, Calif., will also be present.

Dixon County Drive Gaining Momentum

Collection of scrap rubber and metal in Dixon county gained momentum this week as a result of the contest sponsored by the Omaha World-Herald. A check last Saturday showed that several tons had already been salvaged. Three Dixon county towns have organized definite campaigns. All are asked to notify Agent Howard Gillaspie at Allen, about sale of scrap so the county may be credited with the salvage. Boy scouts over the county are active in the drive, and firemen at Allen are assisting.

The August 18 meeting will be at Bernard Splitterger's.

Former Resident Dies in Texarkana

Mrs. W. A. Truman Passes In Home in Southern City After Illness.

Mrs. W. A. Truman, 74, resident of Wayne about 12 years, died last Thursday at her home in Texarkana, Ark., after a long illness. Rites were conducted Friday evening at 5 at the East funeral home in the southern city with Rev. Aubrey Walton, Methodist pastor, officiating. Burial was in DeSoto, Mo.

Mrs. Truman, formerly Marie Blank, was a native of DeSoto, Mo., where she was active in the Methodist church.

Surviving Mrs. Truman are her husband, who had a cleaning establishment here for some years, and one daughter, Miss Geraldine Truman, who teaches in Texarkana. Mrs. Truman also leaves a sister, Mrs. G. M. Sapper of Overland, Mo., and a brother, F. W. Blank of Sedalia, Mo.

Wed to Instructor In Eastern School

Miss Vera Kalal, Wayne college graduate and former Pender teacher, who was recently appointed assistant director of visual education at Dartmouth, was married last week to R. Haven Falconer, director of the same department at Dartmouth. A dual wedding ceremony was performed at the Falconer summer home at Lake George, Sabbath Day Point, N. Y. Mr. Falconer's father, Rev. R. C. Falconer, was married at the same time. Rev. Wylie of Scarborough-on-the-Hudson, performed the rites for Rev. Falconer and then for the son. A wedding supper was served at Top of the World Lodge. Mrs. R. Haven Falconer and her mother lived in Wayne when the former was in college. The bride taught journalism, visual education and physical education at Pender the past year. She was chosen for the summer staff at Dartmouth and just recently was elected to assistant in the department there.

Find Much Activity In Western States

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Cavanaugh, accompanied by Mrs. R. W. Hahn of Columbus, arrived home Thursday from a two-week trip to California. The Cavanaugh's went to visit their son, Cadet Tom Cavanaugh, who is at Mather Field near Sacramento, and Mrs. Hahn to visit her husband who is stationed at Fort Beale near Marysville, Calif. Cadet Tom Cavanaugh is training to be a navigator on a bomber. He will finish his present course the first part of September and will then be a navigator with a commission of second lieutenant. The Cavanaugh's report that Tom enjoys his work, planning and directing the course the bombers are to follow. First Lieutenant R. W. Hahn is helping revise Fort Beale, which is expected to be the second largest training field in the United States when complete. The Cavanaugh's went by way of Cheyenne, Salt Lake City and Reno. They returned through Colorado, going through Rocky Mountain National park in that state. Many of the municipal buildings in California are sandbagged for protection against raids. Signs pointing out air raid shelters are found in almost all towns on the west coast. The Nebraska folk were impressed anew with the green fields in this state on their return, having been through so many dry states.

Period of Heat Is Broken Here

Building of Short Line in Early Period Leads to Possible New Town.

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for July 29, 1926:

A severe heat wave was followed by a storm that was accompanied by wind and lightning which did some damage in Wayne county. The inch of moisture which was wonderful benefit to corn. Mrs. Chas. Nelson of Winside, suffered burns on the left side of her body and her hair was singed when lightning struck her. She was unconscious for a time. Mrs. Herman Fleer and Golda, Mrs. Louis Pusel and daughters, Leona and Dorothy, of Winside, sustained minor injuries when the car they were in skidded and went into a ditch west of Winside. Dorothy sustained a cut arm. Lightning knocked the chimney off the J. H. Fitch house in Wayne. Wind blew trees down south of Wayne and Wakefield.

Wayne city council contracted with Frank Elzing for a new concrete storm sewer in the southwest part of town, this to cost $2,000.

Hugo Bleich, 44, of Winside, was fatally injured when kicked by a horse July 24, 1926. His wife and three children survive.

Mrs. Donald Gildersleeve, 27, died July 25, 1926. She leaves her husband and one daughter.

Mrs. Julia Richardson died at her home in Wayne, July 27, 1926, aged 70.

Mrs. Barbara Schuster died in Wayne July 27, 1926, at the age of 85. She leaves her nephew, John Blingold, who has made his home with the Schusters since he was 4 years of age.

Weldon Haas, 9, was rendered unconscious and severely bruised when he was accidentally struck by a car when crossing the street near the Baptist church.

Mrs. J. C. Forbes, early resident of Wayne, died in Alhambra, Calif., July 27, 1926, aged 65.

Frank Dearborn, 66, early banker in Wayne, died in Chicago July 26, 1926.

Frank Kofft was able to return home after recovering from an operation at a local hospital.

The Inank Walton League plans to establish a state park on 160 acres bought west of Fremont.

Henry Baehr is building a new brick bakery in Wisner.

Dixon county old settlers have their annual picnic at Allen August 5. Congressman Edgar Howard is to be speaker.

Geo. Weatherholt of Hoskins, died July 24, 1926, aged 66.

Gwendolyn, year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Goshorn of Concord, died July 24, 1926.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kai of Wakefield, July 26, 1926.

A son was born to Dr. and Mrs. S. S. Gibson of Randolph July 19, 1926. Mrs. Gibson is the former Ruth Bartels of Carroll.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Haines of Carroll, July 23, 1926.

Mrs. Alex Laurie of Carroll, went to Rochester to go through the Mayo clinic.

Early Wayne Events. From Wayne Herald for August 23, 1906: Frank Henry, Pender trombonist, and R. Olmstead, Carroll, assisted the Wayne band during the fair.

The 5-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Hoff of Laurel, died August 19, 1906. Twelfth annual picnic of Dixon county old settlers will be held at Allen August 28.

Intensely hot weather had brought out peak-a-boo waist girls and shirt waist men. Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Theobald went to Chicago to do fall buying.

Miss Lulu Neihardt, college instructor, will instruct in Cedar county teachers' institute. Mrs. Eric Norling of Hoskins, returning home from the home of her daughter, Mrs. P. Lund, was thrown from the buggy and tore her scalp, the wound requiring 14 stitches.

Dixon County News. From Ponca Journal for August 3, 1889: The Odgen Short Line will start a town at the place where the road crosses South-creek valley, about eight miles southwest of Martinsburg.

A fire discovered in time Sunday night at Emerson probably saved great damage at that point. Five principal business buildings stand in a row in that town. The building in the center is unoccupied.

Some person Saturday evening bored a hole through the side of that building and inserted in this a rope saturated with kerosene oil. This was set fire. By midnight this fire of incendiary origin gained such headway that it threatened all the properties. This is the fifth time in two years that attempts have been made to cremate the new town.

Card of Thanks. We wish to express sincere thanks to the neighbors, friends and relatives for the floral tributes and other kindnesses shown us during our bereavement and loss of our husband and father—Mrs. Martin Holst, John, Elmer and Eleanor, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meier and family and Erwin Henschke.

Victory Garden Club. Marilyn, Billie and Darrell Gamble entertained the Victory 4-H garden club Friday in the Lyle Ganable home. Plans for the fair were discussed. Refreshments were served. Bernita Otte entertains at Emil Otte's August 7.

Anyway, I want to tell you that I surely enjoy getting your paper. I look forward to getting it so I can read what goes on back in Nebraska. It reaches me Saturday evening so I usually manage to find time to read it then and Sunday.

"The company that I am in is a truck company and since we have been at this field, which is just a new bombing and gunnery range, our job is to haul supplies to it from California, Utah and Nevada.

"We just got back from Salt Lake City this morning at 5. We got some new trucks and also brought back supplies. All of us liked Salt Lake City very well and also the camp that we stayed at, Ft. Douglas. It is mostly a reception center and the fellows who go through there sure have it swell for their first few days in service.

"Out of our company we have five boys from Nebraska who are home on harvest furloughs. About the time I was going to get one the commanding officer of the field said no more furloughs for a while. I am still hoping that I will get one sometime soon.

"On June 21 I received a corporal rating, which pleased me very much. When a person gets the first one, it makes him feel like working that much more for one better than the one he received.

"I think that I had better close and get some sleep as we didn't get any last night and didn't get more than an hour or two today. I wanted to yet you know how much I appreciate the paper from home.

"Life in the service is not bad. A person can make it what you want it, I guess. Most of the fellows in my company like it fine. Of course we miss the folks at home and the people we know. I have been in the service six months July 30 and it doesn't seem like it has been that long. The weeks surely fly past fast."

I look forward to every Monday morning as that is when it arrives here. It is really swell to read about the things that are happening back in the old home town and is a very welcome diversion from the army life.

"I am stationed at the army air base here at Santa Ana, Cal., and work in the personnel section of the post headquarters. The work is interesting and I like it fine. I received another promotion the 20th of this month and am now a staff sergeant. I consider myself very lucky to receive my ratings as I have, but I have been working very hard and trying to do my part to win this war. I received a discharge from the army in April because of physical disability but rather than remain in civilian life I reenlisted out here in California. I didn't feel quite right about not doing my part, so thought that this was the way to do it.

"The people in California are more than kind in doing things for

The Demand on Our Company for Ice Cream is Enormous and We Need 20,000 Gallons of SWEET CREAM During August

Among other orders we paid $4000 for a single shipment of dairy products from Minnesota during June. We would rather have paid that money to our Wayne producers, but when you fail us we must go to other markets, because we have to secure large quantities during the summer months and the cash in fancy prices awaits you at our Wayne plant. We appeal to you to bring your sweet cream when we need it badly and not only when it suits your convenience. Especially, so if you desire Wayne to be a high dairy market which we cannot sustain on a "now and then" basis. We must have it both summer and winter. Husky Tom Fleming, Seattle lumber worker, heaved a piano up the stairs of an apartment house. Between the second and third floors it stuck, and he couldn't budge it. Worn out, Fleming called three moving companies. None would touch the piano. It still rests in the middle of the stairway. Fleming has joined the army.

The fish caught Junior VanBiber, 13, but Junior got away. He was swimming in the Country club lake at Brookfield, Mo. A fish tackled him. Twice he was pulled under before a companion rescued him, the 12½-pound catfish still clinging to his hand. They killed it before its grip loosened.

Oakland, Cal., officials posted 5000 notices to property owners to burn weeds, but not everyone did. Then city employees discovered why so many hadn't. They caught up with a goat which had already devoured 80 notices.

Merlin Frank told the 15-year-old boy he couldn't sell him a gun because he was too young. Then, his back turned to the youth, the salesman heard him say, "Stick 'em up and don't move." He turned and looked into the muzzle of a rifle the boy had taken from the display. Frank walked toward him. The boy slowly pulled the trigger. Nothing happened. He put the gun down and ran out. The salesman looked at the rifle. In the firing chamber was a cartridge. But the safety catch was on.

Arnold J. Rosenberg, Louisville, Ky., vouches to this one. One night while at a basketball game he lost the setting to his ring. A week later he went to another basketball game at the same gymnasium. When he got home he discovered the setting imbedded by its prongs in the sole of his shoe, which he said was not the same pair he wore to the game the week before.

A swarm of bees lived in the walls of Dr. W. H. Gaume's garage at Wichita, Kan., for three years. When they failed to appear after recent warm weather, Dr. Gaume opened the walls. The bees had frozen to death in the unusually cold winter. Dr. Gaume shared 100 pounds of honey stored in three years with his neighbors.

Girlfriend Helen Self, Northrop aircraft worker at Hawthorne, Calif., hadn't heard from boyfriend Gunnar Michaelson in months. He was with the Royal Norwegian air force in Iceland, and when mechanics called Helen to see the wing of a plane just received from Iceland for repairs, she scurried breathlessly to the scene. "To my dearest Helen," was scrawled on the wing—and the love letter went on quite satisfactorily from there.

Two foster field aviation cadets met two pretty girls at Victoria, Tex. "We'll dust off your chimney tomorrow morning and do a couple of bumpy rolls so you'll know it's us," one of the cadets promised. "Are you allowed to do that?" one of the girls inquired. No, they admitted, but no one would find out. They were wrong. One of the girls was the daughter of a lieutenant colonel; the other the daughter of a major. There were no barrel rolls.

Two men held up Leroy Shields, garage attendant in Philadelphia, took $11.60 from his cash register and picked out a sleek new automobile. "We'll take that too," Shields was told. "After you replace those two worn tires on the front." Shields replaced them, and the bandits drove away.
