

Of Winside by F. M. Jones and F. J. Dimmel Soon to Appear — Wayne County Town Founded Nearly Sixty Years Ago — Prospect for Grain Alcohol Plants — Wayne Needs One.

Through his Winside Tribune, F. J. Dimmel announces the forthcoming appearance of a history of Winside and vicinity, in the preparation of which he and F. M. Jones have collaborated.

The history of Winside extends over a period of approximately 60 years. The authors mention that Nebraska is known to have had human settlements one thousand years ago—since then a slowly evolutionary and delightfully venturesome flood of years.

According to the history, Winside came near being Northside, three and one-half miles uphill towards Apex.

The volume will be found an enlightening compilation of data resulting from much careful, painstaking effort.

Pressure to make rubber from grain-produced alcohol as well as from petroleum is growing, and some Nebraska communities are organizing and steaming up to capture the industries when they take shape.

Congressman Karl Stefan writes that the bill which he was co-introducer, providing for production of synthetic rubber from grain alcohol, has passed the senate and house and awaits executive approval.

The public is not interested in how rubber is made. It just wants it with the least possible delay.

"During the past year many responsible individuals and organizations have endeavored to secure the approval of the war production board for the construction of grain-alcohol and synthetic-rubber plants in their respective communities.

"The committee is not opposed to the use of petroleum or any other material that will produce rubber in quantity.

Many have thought that the threat of a coal shortage next winter was something more than a scare. Actually, it is nothing of the sort. Right now is the time when the heavy burden usually is on the coal industry. If you are one of those who have not bought any of your coal, do so at once. If you think this is just a "scare," come in and let us tell you the facts.

To Fill Vacancies In Third District

Congressman Karl Stefan Is To Make Appointment on Basis of Tests.

One vacancy for midshipman at the United States naval academy and one vacancy for cadet at the United States military academy will accrue to the credit of the Third congressional district of Nebraska due to graduation of one Third district midshipman and one Third district cadet in 1943. Congressman Karl Stefan announces. Nominations to fill these vacancies will be made by or soon after January 1, 1943.

Eligible candidates for these nominations, in addition to being actual residents of the Third congressional district of Nebraska, must, in the case of the naval academy, be not less than 17 years of age or more than 21 years of age on April 1 of the calendar year in which they undertake to enter the naval academy, and, in the case of the military academy, be not less than 17 years of age or more than 22 years of age. Candidates for the military academy become ineligible for admission upon the day they become 22 years of age.

Eligible candidates must, also, have graduated from high school or be assured of graduation not later than the spring of 1943. High school graduates who have also completed one or more years of college or university work will find the additional academic preparation of considerable value in pursuing the training following admission to either academy.

Congressman Stefan will make the nominations on a purely competitive basis and the preliminary competition will be initiated by a congressional designation examination conducted by the United States civil service commission Saturday, October 3, 1942. This is not an admission examination but solely an examination to determine the comparative qualifications of candidates for the purpose of enabling him to make nominations on the basis of the comparative qualifications disclosed by the examination. The nominees for admission will subsequently be called upon to present themselves for physical and mental tests precedent to actual admission.

At all times between now and September 3, 1942, but not later than September 3, 1942, the congressman shall be glad to receive the written applications of young men who possess the above mentioned qualifications coupled with a desire to enter the naval academy or the military academy, as the case may be. The initial application will be to participate in the competitive congressional designation examination and each applicant should definitely state the academy of his choice.

All applications and requests for further information should be addressed to Karl Stefan, M. C., at 1017 House Office building, Washington, D. C.

existence under that name. Without that foundation, it is unlikely that Wayne would have been chosen as the location for a north-east Nebraska state teachers college. Thus, as citizens of this community we owe a great debt, financially as well as culturally, to those pioneer administrators and faculty members whom you so intimately knew and loved," stated Dr. Griffin's message.

"May your day here be happy and joyous, and yet may it be hallowed by precious and sacred memories. This day is the Lord's day. Let not one of us forget, therefore, ere we leave this campus, to offer a sincere and hearty prayer to God for the eternal response of the souls of our departed benefactors and friends. And let us also pray for the welfare of this present institution, for strength and guidance to those who direct it and carry on its work today. And let us pray for our loved country and for the alumni and students of this school who are serving the victory effort of the united nations.

"May this meeting today, then, not only be a relaxation, but a rededication and a reconsecration of all of us to the good-citizen program for which Nebraska Normal college and Nebraska State Teachers College at Wayne have ever stood," Dr. Griffin concluded.

SAFEWAY Homemakers' Guide

NUMBER 55 ★ How to have more fun during vacation ★ A list of fine foods, low-priced every day ★ What one girl learned about easy shopping

How to keep cooking from spoiling your vacation

Like most of us, you are probably staying close to home for your vacation this year—which means that household duties may go on as usual, vacation or no vacation. But with a little clever planning, you'll be amazed at how much more time there is for leisure. And you'll find vacations at home can really be lots of fun.

Below, the Safeway Homemakers' Bureau has suggested several time-saving ideas. See if you don't think they're good ones.

Plan menus ahead of time. Allow plenty of variety, including a few foods you don't often buy, but choose things that cook quickly, or may be partially prepared in advance. Don't undertake elaborate, time-consuming cookery—unless that's your idea of fun!

Be leisurely. Shop early in the day when stores are less crowded—you are less rushed—and the selection is better.

Be forehanded. Plan foods that can be prepared in advance. Meat loaves, casseroles, molded salads, puddings and cookies are good examples.

Be cool. Do your heavy cooking in the cool of the morning, or even the night before if possible.

Be smart. Purposely plan meat leftovers every so often for easy second-day cooking. Roasts, fried chicken, baked ham, for instance.

And here's a menu that shows you what we mean by advance preparation and tasty eating.

VACATION MENU
Baked Ham Loaf—Served Hot or Cold
(Mix and mold meat in advance; keep in refrigerator until ready to bake.)

Scalloped Noodles
(Cook noodles; combine with hot cream sauce; keep in refrigerator until time to bake; dot with buttered crumbs and brown in oven.)

Buttered Freshly-Cooked Peas
(Shell and cook just before serving.)

Sliced Tomato, Grapefruit Section, and Avocado Ring Salad with French Dressing
(Keep scalloped tomatoes in refrigerator ready to peel; prepare salad at the last.)

Heated Rolls
Fresh Peaches and Cream
(Slice fruit just before serving.)

Oatmeal Cookies
(Baked in an ambitious moment.)

Coffee, Milk, or Iced Tea

More about vacation fun

Official U. S. Treasury War Bond Quotas for August

Washington, D. C., August 5.—While maintaining a tentative annual level of twelve billion dollars as its goal, the Treasury Department today fixed the August quota for the sale of War Bonds at $815,000,000 as shown by the accompanying map by states. In lowering the quota from a billion dollars in July to $815,000,000 in August, the Treasury has given recognition to certain factors which may be expected to result in variations in sales over the 12-month period, such as the seasonal character of the farm income.

These factors have been taken into account in determining each state's share for the national quota for August and will be given consideration in fixing quotas for subsequent months. In addition to the state quotas as set out in the map there is a federal payroll allotment quota of $9,750,000 and territorial quotas as follows: Alaska, $760,000; Canal Zone, $213,000; Hawaii, $4,800,000; Puerto Rico, $440,000, and the Virgin Islands, $17,700.

Hitler had ordered in all unused iron and steel, and added: "Active support of the total action will be brought about by uniformed police."

Mark Caster of the state salvage committee, announced that state highway trucks will be available for hauling scrap from rural communities. The Highway Department is giving 75 obsolete steel bridges for the drive.

Only trucks essential to the war effort or to public health and safety will be allowed to have rear tires after July 28. There has been a drastic new revision of the tire rationing program and it was indicated that even more drastic measures might have to be taken.

In order to help conserve iron and steel and other needed metals, simplification of sizes and standards of all hand tools have been provided for in Limitation Order L-147. First tools to be covered by the order will be hand shovels, spades, scoops and telegraph spoons.

Technical and professional students are to be financially helped to speed up their training for war jobs. The war manpower commission announced that $5,000,000 soon would be available for that purpose.

Price ceilings apply in general to second-hand goods as well as new.

All contract carriers by truck and water must adjust their rates on August 1 so as not to exceed the highest levels permitted by the general maximum price regulation. The ceiling will apply to all interstate as well as intrastate carriers other than those serving the general public as common carriers. Applicability of price control to contact carrier rates had been deferred to August 1 to give those operators engaged in war activities time to conform to the regulation. War work is not only for able-bodied men. Uncle Sam is just beginning to take advantage of an estimated unused 4,000,000 manpower. This includes the blind or those who have lost a limb or are otherwise handicapped. The blind are used in industrial operations as well as office work such as stenography. Men and women without legs can be used at work that requires only hands.

The OPA consumers' division advises midwestern families to eat poultry, fish and other protein foods during the shortage of pork, beef and veal.

All new adult bicycles will be rationed even though parts are changed or the bicycle altered in any way. Reports have been received that bicycle dealers are cutting down seat parts so that the measurements fall in the definition of child's bicycles.

More new cars are available for rationing in August than there have been in any other month except July, due to the fact that the quotas for July were not used up.

New instructions for dealing with fire bombs have been issued by the U. S. office of civilian defense. The major change in the procedure calls for a direct stream of water on the bomb instead of the spray hitherto recommended. Also the need of speed is emphasized in attacking the bomb with a jet of water as soon as it falls rather than waiting for the thermite reaction to be completed.

Coming PRIMARIES for the nomination of candidates for the November 3 election will be held next Tuesday, and voters are urged to study sample ballots which appear in today's Herald, go to the polls and express their preferences. Voting is a privilege which none should carelessly disregard.

The question involving a number of county offices is likely to be settled next Tuesday. The offices of sheriff and county clerk have opponents in the primary, but none in the election. County Attorney Burr R. Davis, County Superintendent P. B. Becker and Commissioner Frank Erkleben have clear sailing in both primary and election.

Jean Boyd and C. E. Nicholaisen are running for the republican nomination for county treasurer, and the winner will be pitted against Jas. Steele, incumbent, who is unopposed for the democratic nomination. For clerk of the district court, Dave Hamer, republican, and Frank Korff, democrat, incumbent, are in the field without opposition in the primary.

W. J. Misdeldt, republican, and T. J. Pryor, democrat, are unopposed for commissioner nominations, but will be opponents in the election. Alex Jeffrey, republican, and Marie Brittain, democrat, are unopposed in the primary for assessor. Senator Crossland appears on the non-political ballot for state senator.

Both political parties are well represented by candidates for state offices. All are unqualifiedly behind the war effort, but all do not agree on costly maintenance of peace-time bureaus and are opposed to the new deal's left-wing policies as evidenced through the years.

Some democrats in the field frown on the new deal's philosophy of government. Both republicans and democrats should carefully consider the mental twists of different candidates, and give support on both tickets to those who have had the wisdom and courage to oppose what they believed were weak spots in the new deal's economic program which started with a bang in 1933. Any candidate who points with pride to the new deal's economic tinkering during eight years, should be defeated.

Washington authorities are predicting scarcity in essentials and the practice of pinching self-denial in personal desires. In years of developing from raw prairie and in subsequent periods of drought and grasshoppers, the midwest became inured to hardships and can stand any experience necessary to win the war and reestablish peace. One Washington officer suggests restoration of patches. We remember wearing so many patches throughout the length and breadth of our pantaloons that an observer could not tell whether the patches of the original garment predominated. People of the middle west do not shrink from personal sacrifices. Their thoughts are centered on one thing—winning the war—and no incidental hardship can daunt them.

Henry Ford, reached his 79th birthday anniversary last week, still sound in body and mind. He is proof that work and responsibility do not shorten life. The great industrialist has turned his huge plants to the production of lethal instruments by which to speed a victorious war over ruthless enemies—a war the necessity of which he profoundly regrets. Ford was born on a farm, and he looks to intensive agricultural production as one important means to peaceful and contented peoples everywhere. He says: "The intensive production of the world's goods, new goods to serve human needs and legitimate desires—that is the broad highway to peace."

Numerous letters from Wayne boys in the armed forces are encouraging. While they miss their homes and are missed by home folks, they are not unmindful of the benefits derived from new scenes and new contacts. Some hardships are endured, but the training builds strong bodies and alert minds, and altogether the experience has many compensations. The boys are keenly aware of why they are in the service, and they express a determination to finish the job as soon as possible, and then get back to peaceful, home pursuits. Messages from them stimulate those who will be waiting for them.

Senator W. A. Crossland served well in the last session of the state legislature, and manifestly his record deserves the endorsement of the college, Wayne county's legislative needs are more direct than those of other counties in the district. Senator Crossland knows those needs, and he is able to guard and advance them according to the rules of practical wisdom. A big vote for him will be a just acknowledgment of deserving merit.

Columnist Ray Tucker speculates on a fourth term for the president. The argument likely to be used being that his experience will be needed in the task of reconstruction.

In the meantime, let us defeat our enemies and leave the presidential campaign two years hence to popular judgment formed after the conflict has ended.

We heard a radio speaker recently whose teeth—doubtless the artificial variety—made him whistle. It serves advantage in calling the family dog, but knocks euphony out of a speech. Dentists should be careful in launching their installations—temper machinery to provide more dulcet notes and less whistling interference.

One writer suggests that putting a ceiling over wages cannot safely wait until after the November election.

Not Ready For Horses. (Omaha Journal-Stockman)

We may eventually return to "horse and buggy" days and ways; but it is certain to be a slow and laborious process. We have the horses but casual research demonstrates that there is a fatal shortage of harness, of buggies and of wagons as well as of the materials from which these vital accessories are made. Owing to the war the harness makers are shutting down because of the lack of leather. Wagon makers are closing their factories because of their inability to obtain wood, iron and other items. It just goes to show that "necessity knows no law." At the time when certain items are most urgently needed, they are not to be had. And this is only one of the reasons we are not going back to the horse and buggy days—at least not right away.

Scotching a False Analogy. (Nation's Business)

Our Cynical Visitor dropped in again the other day. He said:

"There's a very dangerous idea running loose and I meet it often. It reasons thusly: If the nation can make this immense effort through the spur of war, and put everybody to work by the will of the republic expressed through its government, why can't it do the same thing with public works in peace time? Why should we ever have unemployment and depressions again? That's a very seductive analogy. You ought to answer it in Nation's Business."

We reminded him that we've been answering that fallacy in every issue. If all of the $214,000,000,000 so far appropriated by Congress to carry on this war is spent we will have a debt more than double the annual national income, or two-thirds of our estimated national wealth. Under the stress of war, the nation is consuming its capital—eating up its seed corn, if you will—at a terrific rate. We are all resolved to endure it for victory, but to make the same thing permanent would be akin to a city dweller with $2,500 saved up, retiring from work and living on his savings while it lasted. Or a bear that tried to hibernate and live off his fat 12 months out of the year.

Why Make Them Wait? (Christian Science Monitor)

It is easy to raise the cry of politics in the provision by Congress that allowances to dependents of servicemen shall not be disbursed before November 1, eve of the elections. On the surface, it would seem as though politically astute gentlemen decided to use the lump sums that will accumulate as bids for electoral favor.

The odor of politics may, indeed, cling to the date but it is only fair to point out other reasons advanced for delayed action. There was concern lest the payment of allowances encourage a hasty enlistment of a large number of married men before the orderly operation of Selective Service had inducted those without dependents. Moreover, both the Army and Navy insisted they needed time to set up the mechanics of distribution. While this is valid, the book-keeping for the relatively few involved should not require four months. There are only some 160,000 men now in the service who have dependents. The number will not expand beyond 200,000 in the near future.

If payments can be expedited, Congress should amend its arbitrary date. Each day of delay adds to the burden of dependents, while earlier payment would help remove suspicion that Congress plays politics so meanly.

Meeting The Challenge. (Industrial Press Service)

The major part of the conversion of America's peacetime industries to an all-out war production basis has been accomplished. Schedules set for the manufacture of planes, tanks, guns, ships, rifles, shells have been met and passed.

The main load formerly carried by the larger units is now being shouldered to a greater extent by smaller plants through sub-contracting and through outright changes from so-called luxuries to implements of war. Typical is the fact that small machine gun parts, gun sights and gun mounts on through heavy tank parts, are now being manufactured by plants which formerly made home laundering appliances.

"Overnight, the face of American industry has changed almost beyond recognition," Mr. William P. Witherow, President of the National Association of Manufacturers, said in a recent magazine article describing the all-out conversion of industry from peacetime to wartime production.

"A factory that made orange squeezers before Pearl Harbor is now turning out bullet pouches. A peacetime manufacturer of roller coasters is now producing signal towers for the Army. A firm that used to make brassieres is fabricating mosquito netting for our soldiers in the tropics. A wallpaper company is filling incendiary bombs. A plant that made footballs is today producing gas masks."

Yes, industry with typical American ingenuity is meeting the challenge. As Mr. Witherow says, "Lock, stock and barrel, American industrial and business management has moved to the firing line, to turn out the wherewithal of warfare. It is proving its world leadership not only with techniques and ingenuity that blaze new trails, but with the economy-shattering cost. In making decisions, industrial executives use only one yardstick: 'Will it help win the war?'"

AT PEACE TABLE.

Problems involved in a basis for lasting peace are discussed by Herbert Hoover and Hugh Gibson, and their analyses and conclusions are presented by a current magazine in condensed form. Seven dynamic forces are mentioned as vital in making war or in preserving peace. They are ideologies, economic pressure, nationalism, imperialism, militarism, the complexes of fear, hate and revenge, and the will to peace. Peoples of all nations want order and freedom from hostilities, and in totalitarian states they are driven to war by ruthless, designing tyrants. The writers say that axis promoters of the world holoocaust must be treated as criminals, but warn that conquered countries—dehuded victims of a bad system—must be handled without revenge to attain enduring peace. Following allied success at arms, the wisdom of the peace table will be vital to future freedom and security. Says the article: "Our certain deduction from the last experience is that unless food blockades is instantly removed when firing ceases and the enemy surrenders, and unless extensive and instant relief is undertaken to enemy and friend alike there will be no hope of stability in governments upon which peace can be built, and no allaying of war hates. We can have peace or we can have revenge, but we cannot have both." The writers suggest that the victorious nations must maintain order in the world by military force for a long time.

Turning affairs of government over to the ne'er-do-wells would mean trusting those who could not plan for themselves, to plan for society generally. The improvident and incompetent are often desirous of running things at the expense of those of proved ability. In Nation's Business, Merle Thorpe calls attention to the success of governments in democracies and the failure under bureaucratic or totalitarian systems. To have less planned economy after the war with more stimulus to private enterprise is the hope expressed by Writer Thorpe. He quotes from Robert Hunter, author: "Capitalism is a product of the freedom, thrift and hard labor of multitudes, and their standards of living cannot be improved when they are the habitual victims of the interference and deprivations of a despotic state. If a planned economy administered by a bureaucracy could produce and distribute wealth profusely the people in the autocracies would have been the richest in the world." This platform, predicated on 160 years of American development, is offered by a great student: "Our rulers can best promote the improvement of the nation by strictly defining themselves to their legitimate duties, by leaving capital to find its most lucrative course, commodities their fair price, industry and intelligence their natural reward, idleness and folly their natural punishment, by maintaining peace, by defending property, by diminishing the price of law, and by observing strict economy in every department of state."

STATE OF NEBRASKA

Executive Office Lincoln

PROCLAMATION

Our fighting forces are in danger because munitions production is slowing up through lack of scrap metal. The president of the United States, because of the serious need for this salvage, has appealed to every American to turn in the last ounce of scrap metal from his home, business and farm.

Nebraska, in a three weeks' campaign, has aroused national interest in the effort of its people to show the nation that scrap can be brought in to market quickly; but fine as our effort has been, the results must be much greater if this campaign is to succeed.

Therefore, I, Dwight Griswold, governor of Nebraska, hereby proclaim:

Friday, August 7, as Harvest Festival day for every village, town and city of the state, when everyone will cover every inch of home, attic, basement, yard and business place, to gather scrap not previously delivered; and

Saturday, August 8, as Farm Scrap holiday in Nebraska, when every farmer will turn from his field work and devote himself to collecting and taking to his nearest town, the scrap metal our soldiers must have.

I appeal to every community to arrange public festivals on Saturday to welcome the farmers with their scrap metal and to celebrate what promises to be the most prodigious collection of scrap metal ever assembled in any state of free people in America.

Nebraska will not fail in this war effort. I make this proclamation with confidence that the highways on Saturday will be filled with scrap metal on the way to town, and that every Nebraskan, of every age, will make Nebraska's scrap pile the biggest of any state in the Union.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state of Nebraska to be affixed. Done at the capitol, in the city of Lincoln, the 1st day of August, in the year of our Lord, 1942.

(Great Seal of the State of Nebraska) By the Governor:

FRANK MARSH, Secretary of State.

Dwight Griswold

People on Coast Are Helping Men In Armed Forces

Residents of the west coast are doing all possible to make life happy and comfortable for service men, according to Mrs. W. R. Talbot and Miss Ruth Talbot of San Diego, who spent Friday to Sunday here with friends. The young men are invited for meals and are provided as much as possible of regular home life. On one occasion men were asked what they desired most. One of the answers was to have buttons sewed on and rips mended. Since then groups of women have been spending part of each week in this service. Another request was for showers and as a result the boys have been invited to use the facilities of many homes. Because of defense and training centers, the size of San Diego has doubled in the past two years. Residents have consequently given up vacations and week-end trips and are spending most of their time at home to avoid congestion and to allow advantages to service men and their relatives. Most of the travel is done by members of families going to see their folks in the armed forces.

Not only has car, street car, bus and train travel been turned over mainly to the war, but plane service also is restricted to military needs. No private planes are allowed in the air. Volunteers all along the coast report every plane that flies. If the identity is not certain, the matter is checked into.

San Diego is well protected with balloons that float high over the city at night and are lowered to the height of buildings in daytime. These assist parties who are on watch duty.

The coast city had sufficient blackouts and schools of instruction to prepare people for safety in case of need. Recently it has been announced that only real danger will cause alarms to be sounded.

Miss Ruth Talbot, graduate of Wayne college, supervises home economics training in five southern California counties, having nearly 90 schools under her jurisdiction.

Mrs. Talbot and Miss Talbot came to Iowa City to see Willis Talbot who is entering service. They visited Mrs. Ernest Jacobsen, the former Marie Talbot, at Tezamah, and also went to their former home in Newcastle. Here they were guests of Mrs. Anna Addison, the E. W. Huses and F. W. Nybergs.

Happy-Go-Lucky Club. Happy-Go-Lucky club met Wednesday, July 29, in the Ben Nissen home with Helen and Louise Osburn as hostesses. Six members were present. A picnic for the members and families will be held August 14 at Bressler park. Color charts in record books were worked on. Mrs. Basil Osburn was a guest. The last meeting will be August 12 at Ben Nissen's with Bonabelle Pfeiffer and Logene Sydow as hostesses.

AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

The new tax bill passed by the house with only two votes in opposition. There were many features and provisions which might have been changed had amendments been in order. The "closed rule" prevented that. It also accounted for the nearly unanimous vote by which it passed. It has gone to the senate finance committee, where it will be re-structured. Secretary Morgenthau expressed the hope that it will be so changed as to increase the total of its revenues from six billions to nearly nine billions of dollars. It may be. Nobody will know until the senate finally acts upon the scores of amendments which will be proposed. Nor can anybody tell when that final vote may be taken. Some say in October, others in November. It will continue to be a live subject of discussion in and out of congress for weeks to come, as it has been for months past. Even when the bill has been approved by the president, discussion of taxes will not have ended. Senator George, chairman of the senate finance committee, states that still another tax bill will be in the making by January, and hints that it may be based on sales taxes. The end is not yet in sight.

By a rather odd parliamentary twist, as the bill came up for a vote in the house, there was added $424 millions to the revenues expected. Nailing up all possibilities of amendment except amendments offered by the committee, it seemed proof against changes on the floor. At the last moment, the committee offered an amendment reducing the surtaxes on corporations by 5 per cent, and increasing the rates on excess profits from 87 1/2 to 90 per cent. The amendment would have reduced corporation surtaxes by $515 millions, and added $424 millions on excess profits. By calling for a separate vote on the double-barreled amendment, the house voted down the decrease on corporation surtaxes and adopted the increase on excess profits. There was nothing the committee leaders could do about it. They had opened the door, and the house members did the rest. Such things can happen in spite of iron-clad rules.

Matters then moved more rapidly, and the WPB conceded an order for 200,000 tons of rubber from grain alcohol, but it gave the order to the alcohol makers whose plants are in eastern states, and which are alleged to be under oil company domination. Transportation of 125,000,000 bushels of grain from the midwest, and other charges would thus make the cost per pound of rubber much higher than that made of petroleum. The Gillette committee revealed this situation. The senate and house have both passed the bill to set up an independent rubber supply agency to increase the supply of rubber manufactured from alcohol produced from agricultural or forest products. This was accomplished in the face of the opposition of the powerful oil corporations. But the public has become aware of the issue and the big question is how to get immediate operation of plants which can be turning out 75,000 or more tons of needed synthetic rubber per month this fall, and not wait for 1943 and 1944, when the oil companies can get their processes perfected.

The drive for used rubber made 454,000 tons available for reclaiming, which will last the industries fitted for its reclamation.

The row over synthetic rubber continues with unabated vigor. The senate committee which has been investigating the cause of defor a year. The big tire companies have devised a process whereby it can be used with a relatively small amount of fresh rubber. The re-treading tires sufficiently to keep millions of motor vehicles in essential operation. This can be done without interfering with the supply of natural rubber for war purposes. In fact, the same process may be used to supplement the natural rubber supply for war activities. There is a big hope in this squabble over synthetic rubber that the man who will make it will be the one who will make it. The war will last long after the war.

Congress took quick action to put the "political pull" brokers out of business. Within an hour it passed the bill putting a stop to the game of commissions on army and navy contracts, through which the brokers had made millions in a few months. Some of the rich-quick artists have been indicted, and others may be. The new tax bill is intended to be broad enough to recapture most of the profits which have been made. The corporations which used this method of obtaining huge contracts for war supplies and materials have been given publicity which is likely to put in their getting no more government business when their present contracts are filled. The house committees are continuing their search into the practices which made fortunes for those "in the know" of getting contracts, and there will be more exposures.

The battle between Leon Henderson and his OPA and Secretary Wickard over control of prices on farm products grows hotter by the day. This week the department of agriculture, through its marketing division, put a price of 39 cents on butter purchased for lend-lease purposes, an increase of three cents per pound. That price still is at least a cent under "parity" which the president advocates. Secretary Wickard explained his action, stating that the flow of milk into cheese factories and condensing plants from farms which formerly supplied the creameries had unduly advanced the dairy situation in the middle west. In consequence, the supply of evaporated milk had increased even beyond the demand, while butter production was not kept up to standard. Even his explanation failed to satisfy the ideas of Leon Henderson, and Mr. Ginsberg, his attorney, and they strongly protest the action of the secretary. Some of the OPA folks seemingly are laboring under a handicap of a flock of experts who know all about so much that they overlook a lot of what they do not know. They may discover in the next few months that the butter supply will not be sufficient to meet the demand and that it may even be necessary to ration butter stocks.

To Control Bindweed.
Sub-surface tillage will solve the problem of erosion and at the same time kill bindweed, the Nebraska experiment station announces. Tillage of bindweed patches means that roots are cut off below the surface and eventually the plant is starved out because the food reserve is depleted. Sub-surface tillage was developed as a means of cultivating farm land without disturbing the crop residues on the surface of the ground. A special duckfoot machine with wide sweeps is used. The machine is equipped with rolling coulters and moves through the soil with bunching the crop residue on top of the ground or clogging. The residue conserves moisture by preventing run-off from heavy rains and eliminates much of the soil erosion.

The Golden Text is: "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty" (II Corinthians 3:17).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit for the Spirit searches all things, yea, the deep things of God" (I Corinthians 2:9, 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "There are neither spirits nor gods many. There is no evil in Spirit, because God is Spirit. . . Spirit is the only substance, the invisible and indivisible infinite God. . . Symbols and elements of discord and decay are not products of the infinite, perfect, and eternal All. From Love and from the light and harmony which are the abode of Spirit, only reflections of good can come" (pp. 335, 280).

Service in Woman's club room Sunday at 11.

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read

Newspaper Test (Norfolk Daily News) In deciding to consolidate the Fremont newspapers fulfilled three predictions made long ago by Nebraskans familiar with the needs and wants of the readers of this state.

(1) It was forecast that there would be a consolidation of the two papers for the obvious reason that Fremont could not support two good papers. And this goes also for every one of the secondary cities of the state. It is safe to predict that in the other cities in which two papers are struggling to exist, there will be eventual consolidations or suspensions. (2) It was assumed that the tabloid format would give way to the conventional page size. Tabloids are specialized types of newspapers intended for elevated and street car readers in large cities because of their convenience of handling in a crowd. They have never been long successful in smaller communities.

(3) It was a certainty that the surviving newspaper would be issued in the afternoon. Evening is the time the local reader wants his paper. The morning edition is for more distant circulation. The experience of the Fremont newspapers is a test of these established principles in small city newspaper publications. It fixes them more firmly than ever as sure guides for newspaper makers.

Romance (Norfolk Daily News) The Seventy Years Ago column of the Lincoln State Journal says that Moses Sydenham had given up his hope of removing the national capital to Fort Kearney, "which he claimed was the exact center of the United States."

This is an item from the romantic period of this state's history when the boundless energy of the new settlers brought with them was diverted to Utopian and grandiose schemes doomed from the first to failure. The Moses Sydenhams believed that if the United States were balanced on a pin point, the pin would be exactly under Fort Kearney. To get that way they must have counted on Alaska to balance Texas and Florida. But, of course, the location of the capital did not depend on geographical balance. The hope soon faded but the romantic belief of every Nebraskan town that it was headed for big things remained for a couple of decades.

Even as late as 1890 Kearney, Beatrice, Hastings, Grand Island, Fremont, Norfolk and the other towns that had begun to forge ahead saw themselves as metropolitan cities, with huge industries shipping their goods in all directions from this national center. The hard times of 1893 and the following years, joined on one realism into the boomers and after that the state settled down to the hard and prosaic work of building a sound foundation under its prosperity.

Run, Adolf! Here Comes Johnny Canuck!

Efficient landing operations are a very necessary part of a commander's training. Here, in light collapsible boats, Canadian soldiers effect a landing during training maneuvers.

Sometimes boat landings are not practical, so a soldier must know how to wade through fast tide water and keep his rifle dry. This party moves across a fast stream holding their Enfield rifles with stubby bayonets high out of the water.

The new training schedule for the Canadian Army starts with light exercise but at the end of six months a soldier is going through a daily routine that would have flattened him the first day. The progressively more strenuous activities are coupled with training to sharpen the soldier's wits so that he may act wisely and swiftly when on his own. Many of these men trained in Canada will be picked for commando service overseas. As an example of the physical training (left) two infantrymen, in full gear, pull themselves up 18-foot ropes hand-over-hand. (Above) Vaulting exercises such as this toughen Canadian soldiers. If it looks easy, just try it on your own back fence. (Right) Part of a climbing, crawling, jumping and swimming course is this 20-foot ladder. The men travel these courses with complete equipment.

Heavy emphasis is laid on the covering of landing troops, armed with machine guns, on barges that also carry mobile equipment. For the invading force, here is such a maneuver during training in a Canadian Army Camp.

'What's a little water, eh mate?' Soaked to the hide and still far in to go, these two soldiers compare notes over cigarettes after covering, in record time, the many obstacles in the training runway.

Good Chance for Dewey. (Norfolk Daily News)

Farley is said to have a majority of the New York state democratic delegates on his side now, but politicians are predicting that with the power patronage and big appropriations given him the president will wear some of them away before convention time. Whatever happens Tom Dewey has a good chance at the governorship and the way to the presidency often leads through Albany.

Promises Publicity Probe. (Lincoln Journal)

A joint committee of congress in a recent report on its findings concerning reduction of non-essential federal expenditures concludes with a promise to continue its efforts. The promise includes further examination of "practices and conditions in purchasing, classification, salary, transportation, publicity and other overhead items of the various departments and agencies of the government." The committee expresses the belief that there is need for more efficient administration and effective controls among many, if not all, of the so-called permanent agencies of government. Not long ago Dr. Gallup, by a reference to past polls of public sentiment made the claim that the people are ahead of congress in demanding reforms and new legislation. The sentiment of the people, it was indicated, eventually becomes the sentiment of congress. Where congress is supposed to lead, it follows. One of the most frequent com-the people informed by government agencies is, in many instances, money wasted. The people get their information from the news reports and the columnists, who do a better job than the publicity agents.

No Corn Surplus in Sight. (Omaha Journal-Stockman) Secretary of Agriculture Wickard is gravely concerned over the beef situation and declares that Americans may be forced to use less beef and more dairy products because of the situation created by the war and our lend-lease program. Addressing a meeting of agricultural leaders and department officials in Chicago last week the secretary said: "My concern is the beef situation. Many of the cattle that normally would go onto midwest feed lots to be fattened are going direct to the slaughterhouses. As a result, from 500 to 700 pounds of beef normally available is lost. That much extra weight is put on in the feed lots. "Consequently, we are not going to have the beef tonnage we might otherwise have. I don't see the answer to this problem. I believe we will have plenty of beef this fall but I am concerned about next spring when feedlot fattened cattle normally are marketed. Defeats are unfavorable for cattle fattening operations. "What we need to do now is to plan a program of livestock feeding that will avoid too much of a drain on the ever-normal granary of corn. Every bushel of wheat we feed will mean an extra bushel of corn reserves." Under present and prospective unusual demands for corn the surpluses of this grain are being cut down and, the secretary pointed out that the big 1942 crop is not occasioning the department any great concern. The 18 million more-hogs on our farms than ever before will use a lot of corn and there is not too much of this grain in sight.

On the SIOUX CITY MARKET

Fully a dollar higher than two weeks before, fat cattle scored further gains Monday and Tuesday on the Sioux City market -- advances ranging from 30 to 50 cents that boosted the top to $15.50, equalling the 4 1/2-year high set in May. Numerous slaughter steers and yearlings were bracketed Tuesday at $13.50 to $15.25, with comparatively few under $13.25. Fed heifers were strong to 15 cents higher at $11 to $13.75 and choice at a new high of $14.25. Stock cattle, beginning to arrive from western ranch areas, appeared to be 15 to 25 cents higher. Hogs were up a quarter Monday, but 5 to 10 cents lower Tuesday with $14.35 the top. Sows were 25 to 35 cents higher at $13.25 to $13.60. Lambs, which Saturday had a dressed meat "ceiling" applied to them for the first time, were steady to 25 cents lower Monday, and strong to a quarter higher Tuesday. Top for native springers was $14, with Idahos up to $14.25. Clipped lambs brought $13.25, ewes $4 to $6, and feeder lambs mainly $13.10.

Training Course Will Be Offered

Mental Screening Tests to Be Given at College Early in August.

A full time civilian pilot training course will start early in September at Wayne State Teachers College. Mental screening tests for this will be given here at the school August 12. The course includes from 40 to 50 flying hours in light planes, under the instruction of the Fuller Flying Service. The ground instruction consists of 240 hours in air navigation, meteorology, mathematics, physics, civil air regulation, aircraft identification, and military and physical training. The federal government pays for all instruction, expenses of the physical examination, the accident and insurance premiums, and provides a liberal allowance for board, room and transportation during the training period. The course at Wayne will be completed in eight weeks, and the men who take it will devote their full time to the work.

In order to be eligible for training, men who have reached their 18th but not their 27th birthday must pass the army aviation cadet board mental screening test with a grade of not less than 65 or more than 79. If they pass this test with a grade of 80 or more they are eligible for enlistment as aviation cadets and can not take civilian pilot training. They must also pass a C. P. T. mental screening test and the physical examination for a commercial pilot certificate.

Men who have reached their 17th but not their 37th birthday, in order to be eligible for pilot training must pass the C. P. T. mental screening test only and the physical examination. No specified amount of high school or college work is required.

The men trained at Wayne in the civilian pilot training course do not become army aviation cadets. Some will go to advanced glider pilot schools, and others will take advanced courses to prepare them for transportation service, airline service or instructors. Before each man begins his training he must enlist in the army air-enlisted reserve corps. This enlistment automatically releases him from the jurisdiction of the local selective service draft board.

Men who are interested in becoming pilots may secure further information concerning C. P. T. training from Prof. A. F. Gulliver, coordinator Wayne State Teachers College, or from the adjutant of the local American Legion.

Barn Is Burned After Bolt Hits

Wind Accompanying Storm in Vicinity of Concord Is Cause of Damage.

Fire started by lightning in a storm Wednesday evening, last week about 9:30 destroyed the barn at the Win. Finn farm 12 miles northwest of Wayne. The loss is estimated at $1,000, and insurance covers $800 of the amount.

Mr. Finn was in Hastings where he is employed in defense work. Mrs. Finn and children went to the case when the storm gathered. After a severe bolt of lightning and loud thunder, they looked out and saw the barn aflame. They called relatives who notified the Wayne and Carroll fire departments. Because of the muddy condition of roads, the Wayne department was unable to reach the farm. The Carroll department made two attempts and the second time got within 100 yards when the engine stopped and the men walked the rest of the distance.

Burning shingles from the barn blew to other property but the heavy rain kept the fire to the one building. The barn burned to the ground. Some straw and auto parts in the structure were also lost. No live stock was in the barn.

The storm was accompanied by heavy wind in the vicinity of Concord where small buildings were damaged and some corn uprooted. The elevator on the Aug. Haase farm three miles north of Wayne was upset.

Rain was heaviest in the vicinities of Carroll, Concord and Wakefield, varying from 1.5 to 2 inches. The gauge at Wayne registered 3 of an inch.

Most of northeast Nebraska shared in the rains the evening of July 29, practically assuring a bumper corn crop as the moisture came just when the crop is in the ear-forming stage. The rain registered 2 inches at Plainview, Creighton and Wausa.

A bolt of lightning struck and set fire to the bed at the Joshua Miller home at Neligh just as 80-year-old Mr. Miller started to retire. Mr. Miller after seeing the flash, remarked, "Somebody's going to pay for that one, mom," and he turned to see his bed ablaze.

Will Give Broadcast. Production of milk and elimination of its waste will be discussed in a radio broadcast this Thursday at 1:15 from station WJAG, Norfolk, at Norfolk. T. P. Roberts will interview Ed Seymour and John Fisher of Wayne, and Roy Jenkins of Carroll, on the topic.

State Tax Levy Fixed by Board

Assessment Is Lower This Year Than in Several Due to Valuation.

The state board of equalization last Friday set the Nebraska tax levy at 2.39 mills, the lowest since 1936. Last year's levy was 2.71 and the 1936 tax was 1.76.

The increased property valuation is mainly responsible for the cut. This year's valuation is $2,042,442,436 and the 1941 total was $1,949,775,725.

Though the total valuation was up 4.7 per cent, land valuations dropped 1.66 per cent. Personal property increased 22 per cent and lots were up .56 per cent.

Assessed valuations for counties of this area for last year and this year follow:

County	1941	1942
Wayne	$17,936,930	$17,949,025

Balls on Potatoes Are Unusual Growth

Potato balls, the first he has seen in 50 years, were found by P. C. Crockett on his potato plants this season. The small green tomato-like fruits develop in clusters on upper stalks of potatoes. If one wishes to grow a new variety of potato he plants the seeds from these balls, Mr. Crockett explains. The green fruits also make delicious preserves, according to Mr. Crockett.

Bud McNatt and Gordon Johnson rode a motor scooter to Lincoln last Thursday to spend the day with Joe Kessler and other friends.

South Sioux City will have free mail delivery. Edward Hofneke of Hoskins, and Miss Zella Bernhard of Hadar, were married July 22, 1926.

A new steel bridge spanning the drainage ditch near Laurel is nearing completion. Winsler will pave "Dutch Hollow" streets at a cost of $52,000.

Firemen from northeast counties will meet in Wakefield in the fall to organize. Joseph Brown of Alma, Rinaldo Bacon of Randolph, Miss Hilma

Nelson of Magnet, Miss Edna Carlson of Sholes, and Miss Mildred Marshall of Carroll, comprise the Sholes school faculty for the coming year.

Ponca main street is to be graveled. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gus Volstead of Wakefield, August 1, 1926.

H. L. Nohly is building a new residence in Winside. John Murphy, 71, died at the John Davis home at Winside July 30, 1926.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Linn Isom of Hoskins, July 31, 1926. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nelson of near Hoskins, in August, 1926. Mrs. Nelson is the former Lillie Buss.

Gamble plans to erect a new residence on Third street. Homer Wheaton will open a barber shop in the Skeeen building. The city plans to rebuild part of the electric light system. Dixon County News. From Ponca Journal for August 15, 1889: Major N. S. Porter returned from Indian territory where he had been allotting lands to the Indians. He took ill with malaria fever there. The Northwestern railroad does not take kindly to the building of the Short Line and a lively scrimmage both on the ground and in the courts is likely to ensue. The Northwestern objects to the grade near the Sioux City bridge. D. I. Brewer, who was excavating in Cedar county, unearthed huge bones which evidently belonged to a mammoth animal. These were near St. James. The skeleton is that of an animal long since extinct. It is thought the animal must have measured about 15 feet in height. The discovery brings to mind one made at Ponca 15 years ago by Prof. Jo Brewer. The plesiosaurus unearthed at Ponca consisted of some bones that measured as much as two feet through. This skeleton was sent to Chicago.

A NEW FUTURE... With VICTORY, Nebraska looks to New Horizons, a NEW FUTURE. Agriculture is Nebraska's Biggest Business. As it prospers, so prosper all of us. Chemists are pointing the way to new uses for farm products. Grain alcohol-synthetic rubber plants should be built promptly in Nebraska. Congressman Harry B. Coffee was the first to urge this on Congress last January. Some of Coffee's other effective efforts in behalf of Nebraska Agriculture: sponsored the 85% Parity Loan Program; authorizing disposal of surplus Agricultural products through Relief channels... this resulted in the Food Stamp Plan. He will continue to fight to preserve the American Market for the American Producer. He supported every measure designed to protect our National Security—but opposed all measures he felt would involve us in war. ELECT HARRY B. COFFEE Democrat, of Chadron UNITED STATES SENATOR

By Talking Less We Can Shoot More Never before have so many local and long distance calls been made. During the past few years this Company and the other companies of the Bell System have made tremendous additions to their plant, equipment and organization to handle the increased use of telephone service; yet over many long distance routes and in many exchanges there is a shortage of facilities. In normal times, we would build more lines, but we can't now because copper and other critical metals are needed for the shooting side of the war. You can help conserve critical war materials and keep the lines open for war calls Long distance lines to Washington, D. C., the Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coast areas and other centers of military activity are very busy with war calls. If it is really necessary to make a call over these lines, won't you please try to avoid the busiest hours, which are on week days between 9 and 12 in the forenoon, 2 and 5 in the afternoon and 7 and 9 in the evening? If you share a party line, please be considerate of the other fellow. In war-time, many more people have to use party-line service. Everything must be subordinated to winning the war and the Bell System is dedicated to that task. NORTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

MAN: Here she is... what'll you give me for her?
DEALER: Sounds like she just breathed her last. We want good second-hand cars but not this kind.

MAN: Why, it's got only 30,000 miles... and look! ... it's the same make, model and year as that gray job you've got tagged to sell for $450.

DEALER: But that engine is OIL-PLATED and runs like new. Good for another 30,000 miles. Its owner took good care of it... greased it and drained the crankcase every thousand miles.

MAN: I always thought that was the bunk.
DEALER: Well, you've got a pile of junk there to prove you're wrong.

MAN: All right... all right... I'm wrong. Tell you what. I'll give you three hundred cash and my car for that one if you'll wise me to the motor oil that followed used.

DEALER: It's a deal. He used Conoco Nth oil. That's the oil with the synthetic that helps keep both the motor and the oil clean.

MAN: Oh, now I remember reading about that oil and the synthetics they use. Brother, I'll use nothing but Conoco Nth from now on!

THE BOYS KEPT FACE: When W. C. Shulteis, Wayne, Nebr., had 130 98-pound spring lambs at Sioux City recently that were market-toppers at $15.50, sons Don and Bob didn't lag behind. They were right in there, too—with 26 averaging 90 pounds that also commanded the then-current peak price. The lads, Don, 11, at the left, and Bob, 13, are shown with their dad in upper panel of above picture, and the lambs they had here, in the lower portion.

POSSIBLE SOURCES FOR SCRAP PILE

ing machines that have been added to the salvage heap. Second picture above is of heavy iron buckets at an old coaling station. Below are heavy cast iron culvert tubes. Second from the right is the old Civil war relic on the court house ground. This souvenir was placed by Wayne C. A. R. post. At right is one of the piles of scrap Wayne county folks are adding to the campaign. The aim of the salvage committee is an average of 100 pounds per person in Wayne county.

Dumb-Waiter to Serve Again

This steel shaft in the Frank Korff residence adds good poundage to the scrap metal drive and brings to light a relic of early days. In the picture are Miss Anabill Korff and W. C. Corvill, representing the Chamber of Commerce on the salvage committee. The dumb-waiter is part of Wayne's original standpipe, the steel shaft which early residents will remember stood in the center of Main street atop the hill near 10th street. The present standpipe was built in 1914, and the old one was dismantled the following year. Prof. Wylie, college instructor who built the house the Korffs now own, bought a section of the pipe, probably 45 feet and had this placed in the new home, about 30 feet of it below the ground. A cable was used to lower food into the shaft to keep them cool. The Korffs have never used the dumb-waiter.

Rudolph Raabe, resident of near Beemer, donated a big roll of tinfoil to the Cuming county defense committee. It weighs 32 pounds and was gathered over a period of 12 years.

George Plantz, 4, of Titonka, Ia., drowned at the Pender swimming pool Thursday morning. His parents are Rev. and Mrs. William Plantz, who were visiting Rev. and Mrs. Kuehner.

Patriotic Corn In Victory Plot

Frog Frozen in Ice Long Period Is Revived When Out of Captivity.

At Kansas City, R. Daniels, inspired by patriotism and spring-time, planted a victory garden. A short time ago he picked an appropriate ear of corn. Its kernels were bright red, white and blue.

August Kereklow, 79, long time resident of Manly, went to a barber shop at Weeping Water to get a shave. He had to wait, so he sat down and the attendant started to hand him a paper. As the customer made no move to take the paper, the attendant investigated, and discovered he was dead.

The other day Ole Johnson of Royal, Neb., was sawing ice in the icehouse when he noticed a small dark object in one of the blocks. He kept on sawing and on closer observation noticed the small object was a frog. Johnson took the block of ice out and set it in the sun. When the ice was reduced to liquid state, the frog, released from his long captivity, began to move around. Ole Johnson was so surprised at seeing the "dead" come to life that he just stood there. When the frog began hopping, Johnson made a dive for it and went about showing it to the neighbors.

As he searched through a pile of litter in his garage Farmer Uel Chasteen discovered a six-foot blacksnake coiled in a corner. The snake bulged suspiciously and Chasteen killed it. Inside he found what he was looking for—his lost automobile grease gun.

Just talking proved a hazard to Eugene Jager of Sioux Falls, S. D. He was taken to a hospital for treatment when his jaw came unhinged.

At Houston, Tex., William E. Bergin and Miss Hazel Del Beal of Anaconda, Mont., met for the first time in 30 years but recognized instantly. They were married right away. The engagement, Bergin said, had lasted 32 years. Dependence had postponed the marriage repeatedly but, "I've been getting letters from her for 30 years."

Mrs. Josephine G. A. Baker of Denver had sought for 33 years since her father's death for a sample of his hand writing. The post office obliged by discovering among some old furniture in the basement a postcard written by Mrs. Baker's father from Scarborough, England, 40 years ago. It was mailed August 19, 1902.

At Camp Lee, Va., members of F company of the 13th regiment, quartermaster replacement training center include Pvt. John Johns, Andrew Andrews, Joseph Joseph, Stephen Stephen and William Williams.

Joel McCrea took pretty Ellen Drew in his arms, her eyes closed in ecstasy, their lips met in the concluding, passionate embrace and the movie screen caught on fire. Salt Lake City's audience knew the show was over and filed down the aisle in an orderly fashion. Firemen from across the street came over and put the blaze out. It has been caused, not by love making, but a short circuit electrical switch resulted in an estimated $1,700 damage.

Michael J. Cullen, division manager for a chain of theaters at Kansas City, was standing in the rear of one of his theaters. A customer thrust a ticket stub at him and said "Snap out of it buddy. Show me a seat." Flustered by the approach, Cullen, who supervises about 1,000 movie house employees, stammered, "Second aisle to the left, please." The second aisle to the left, an underling hastily explained to the embarrassed manager, would place the customer in the middle of the street car tracks in the next street.

Here's the telegram exactly as the commanding officer at Sheppard Field, Tex., received it except that the soldier's name has been censored. "Athens, Tex. Commanding officer, Sheppard Field. Please let Cpl. John Doe, 40th School Squadron, come home for wedding." (Signed) Bride. She got her man.

Mrs. Carrie Puel, Glasgow, Mont., who used to go to her ranch 45 miles away by wagon trail long for the good old days. On her last trip, with the old wagon trail now under Peck Lake, she had to take a train to Culbertson another to Sidney, a bus to Glendive, another train to Miles City, a bus to Jordan and a mail stage to Haxby. The 402-mile trip took four days and cost $17.

At Camp Forest, Tenn., the newly appointed transportation officer is 1st Lt. Pullman Carr.

Amelia Petrone, 15, was pinned beneath the wheel truck of a street car when she stepped off a safety island in front of the moving car. Rather than wait for a rescue squad, 20 passengers lifted the car while others pulled the girl from beneath.
