

Party Conventions Contra with the Old-Time Order

One of the heaviest rain storms of the year served as a reasonable excuse for failure of proper attendance at the republican and democratic county conventions in Wayne last Thursday.

No matter how enthusiastic one may be, over fundamental principles involved, conventions do not have the appeal that they once had.

In the old days of nominating conventions, competition for offices was sharp and often developed personal bitterness.

Something akin to arbitrary labor union laws seems to be enforced by officers issuing drivers' permits.

Is it necessary in state or federal jobs to treat the public with such cold indifference?

A man driving a 1913 Hupmobile, labeled as hauling from the Fertile Valley Farm in Stanton county, appeared in Wayne last Friday.

The visitor who wears a full beard apparently dating back of the 1913 vintage, explained that the Hupmobile is the first and only car he ever owned.

In connection with Wayne as a magnet for shoppers and others, we were gratified by a call from a stranger who came here from his home 40 miles distant.

LIBERAL DOWNPOUR REFRESHES FIELDS AND SPURS GROWTH

WHAT may be properly termed torrential rains fell over northeast Nebraska the latter part of last week. The fall here amounted to nearly two inches, and in some localities as many as four inches.

The influence of the recent storm will do better than expected. In most parts the crop is satisfactory both in quantity and quality.

Pastures have been refreshed and will furnish an abundance of rich feed.

Increased motor facilities and good roads have resulted in operation loss for the passenger trains.

After several hearings, the state railway commission last month granted the company permission to discontinue passenger trains on the main line.

Freight trains will continue to operate on the line as in the past.

Mixed trains will also continue on the Bloomfield and Crofton branches daily as in the past.

One train now makes the run from Emerson up each of these branches and back each weekday.

Application pending with the commission asks that this service be reduced to tri-weekly.

The proposed plan would equip the crew and one set of equipment to serve both branches on alternate days.

Historic Journey Is Made Tuesday

Passenger Service on Line Comes to Close After Long Service Period.

When the passenger train whistled its arrival in Wayne early Tuesday morning, perhaps none realized the historic importance of the trip that train was making.

It marked the closing chapter of passenger service on the Sioux City-Norfolk line, service which started over 60 years ago and which had continued without interruption since.

When deep prairie grass waved over northeast Nebraska's rolling hills in the 70's, a railroad was required the one great essential to development.

In those early days of government it was at LaPorte, a settlement southeast of the site of Wayne and now a ghost town.

It was in 1876 that bonds in the sum of $88,000 were voted by Wayne county to help the Covington, Columbus and Black Hills railroad company build a line through this area.

The grade was started but the line was never completed to LaPorte.

Due to the failure of the company to provide the desired railroad service, the county did not pay the bonds.

In those early years the C. St. P. & O. line had been built from Sioux City to Emerson.

In 1881 this company extended its rails west toward Norfolk and at the same time the U. P. started to build from Norfolk east.

The latter company leased the line at built to the C. St. P. & O. and this was established the railroad which has since served this area.

Increased motor facilities and good roads have resulted in operation loss for the passenger trains.

After several hearings, the state railway commission last month granted the company permission to discontinue passenger trains on the main line.

Freight trains will continue to operate on the line as in the past.

Mixed trains will also continue on the Bloomfield and Crofton branches daily as in the past.

Five navy trainees from Kansas City, two general elementary trainees and three glider pilot trainees, are included in the September group. One glider pilot vacancy remains.

Screening test was given August 24 to 23 men desiring to take the Wayne course, and 19 successfully completed the tests.

Tests were given to the men who wish to take training at Norfolk.

Quality of Meat Is Not Affected Wayne county farmers are wondering what the feeding of wheat to livestock will do to meat quality. Prof. W. J. Loeffel of the agricultural college, Lincoln, advises that deterioration in quality is not likely when wheat is fed extensively to hogs, cattle and lambs properly.

Recent tests proved that pork from wheat-fed pigs was indistinguishable from corn-fed pork in quality and palatability. In experiments with cattle, the wheat-fed stock showed not quite as much finish as stock fed corn.

Carcasses of wheat-fed lambs showed no difference in dressing yield, quality or palatability. Based on these experiments, Mr. Loeffel finds that quality of meat does not deteriorate with the feeding of wheat.

timers who left for various reasons, mostly to pick dollar bills off the pepper trees of California. Folks are coming in to take their places and if you are smart you will get acquainted." Discussing the statement that a town's "population complexion" changes 7 per cent annually, Editor Sweet adds: "That is not quite true with respect to this town, but if the present ratio of acceleration is maintained the ratio will approximate that figure..." In other words, if you are so complacent as to think that you do not need to get acquainted with new customers, because you still have the old ones, you are sadly mistaken and will have a rude awakening."

Lincoln knows about population complexion changes. A number of other Nebraska communities have undergone the same experience and a number of others are slated for like treatment. Even the small villages, at least some of them, are taking on new life due to better crops and the tire shortage. When they can't travel people must buy at home.

Increase Bromo Planting. Farmers are interested in seeding more bromo grass this fall to reduce acreage of cultivated crops in 1943, stated Agent W. R. Harder. Recent rains have provided ample moisture for such seeding. Good stands have been secured where bromo has been drilled in small grain stubble in Wayne county.

Use Pastures Longer. Use of rye and wheat will extend the pasture season for cows, County Agent W. R. Harder advises. With the labor shortage, stockmen will want to use more pasture. Agronomists find that Balbo rye, common rye and Cheyenne wheat all prove good for pastures. Balbo rye is earlier by about a week, though it is not as winter hardy as common rye.

Grew's JAP gangsters belonging to the Nipponese war machine, are wholly conscienceless in dealing with helpless victims, according to Joseph C. Grew, just returned from imprisonment in Japan, following ten years of ambassadorship among the now discredited orientals. Grew was stripped of liberties on the outbreak of war. He was released in accordance with a system of exchange. He was delighted when he saw the Goddess of Liberty.

Grew talked over a national hookup Sunday night. No chapter in medieval history is blacker than that painted by the returned ambassador. While he said he had some dependable friends among the Japanese, they were in a helpless minority, and an utterly ruthless war machine is in control and does not hesitate to employ worst savagery in trying to gain its end, and its end is to overthrow human freedom and rule the world.

Japan's plan is to enslave other peoples and leave nothing undone to accomplish its nefarious purpose. Grew says Japan must be utterly crushed to insure future security. He adds that America is not safe with the Japs organized and equipped to wage war.

In prosecuting an offensive war to bring the country "through these deep waters to the longed-for haven of a victorious peace," Grew said in conclusion:

"We are fighting this war for the preservation of righteousness, law and order, but above all for the preservation of the freedoms which have been conferred upon us by the glorious heritage of our American citizenship, and for these same freedoms in other countries of the united nations, and while we are fighting against the forces of evil, lawlessness and disorder in the world, we are primarily fighting to prevent the enslavement which actually threatens to be imposed upon us if we fail. I am convinced that this is not an overstatement. Surely ours is a cause worth sacrificing for and living for and dying for if necessary."

Dispensing Gloom

PEOPLE do not want to be caught napping in preparing for war eventualities, but neither do they relish crepe hanging or evil forebodings. The pessimist may forecast with some accuracy, but he makes harder the task in hand. People know they have a tough assignment, and they are usually measuring up to responsibilities. They know they are the helpless victims of a world catastrophe, and they deeply abhor the totalitarian tyrants who perpetrated it. People are aroused to the perils and requirements, and the metal they bequeathed to valiant sons is evidenced on every battle front.

People are not thinking or living as usual. They are not seeking leisure or angling for soft berths. Far from inclined to weaken, they are on the alert to serve, and sacrifice; and throw all of their strength behind the mass determination to break the chains that have been forged to enslave mankind.

Things may grow worse and worse, as often suggested, but people can practice self-denial and will contribute everything within their power to the cause of future security. They can be depended on to rise to every task, but they should be saved from unnecessary gloom.

State conventions of the two major political parties will be held in Omaha today. Organization and platform building will be main tasks. Both sets of resolutions will endorse the war effort and urge utmost prosecution. Both will breathe the spirit of democracy. But they will disagree over local economics to attain desired objectives. Republicans will incline to the right. Democrats will be divided over how far they should go to the left. Republicans will endorse Kenneth Wherry as nominee for United States senator, while the democrats may be thrust into a perplexity over unqualified approval of Foster May on account of the projection of Senator Norris into the campaign. As the primary nominee, Foster would seem entitled to endorsement, but the Norris interference is likely to arouse disturbing disagreement.

Nation's Business points out that while main attention is centered on winning the war, the leading business men are considering the problem of furnishing jobs to persons now engaged in military service. The post-war period will find unprecedented demand for new homes and new equipment. Multiplied demands are expected to absorb millions of employees.

Passenger trains running between Sioux City and Norfolk for more than sixty years were discontinued September 1. As automobiles supplant trains, so the future may see airplanes become rivals for passenger traffic. The war has developed air navigation, and following the conflict, the airplane is likely to grow in popularity.

Those who think Kenneth Wherry, senatorial nominee, is too much of a showman, might be disappointed if he were not enough of a showman. Determining points should be what he thinks and how sound he would prove in helping steady the ship of democracy in its present rather perilous travels.

Boys in the armed forces cannot fight according to union hours, nor threaten to quit if their pay is not satisfactory. Labor union workers in war production industries should fare no better. They are out of harmony when they strike or slow down production at this time of national peril.

In his speech to arouse renewed support, Hitler virtually charged Great Britain and the United States with starting the war. What a brazen falsehood uttered in conflict with known facts! No more astounding would be a "Tokio claim that Pearl Harbor pounced on Japan."

We think Nation's Business is mistaken in saying the late Robert L. Follette made the longest speech ever delivered in the United States senate. We believe the late William V. Allen of Nebraska, made that distinguished record.

Reports show that soldiers in the service now fare far better in housing quarters, food supplies, sanitation and health safeguards than those of any previous war. Leaders have learned from experience.

More Girls Than Boys.

(Omaha Journal-Stockman)
And now the high schools and colleges report that for the first time in recent years more girls are enrolling than boys. On account of the war thousands of boys, around 21 years of age and under, are going into the service of their country and the girls must be depended on to carry on the educational traditions of the nation. That they will be equal to the emergency is a foregone conclusion.

Frozen in Civil Service.

(Nation's Business)
Suppose the personnel director of a large store were unable to transfer employees from one department to another except with their own consent. A big "white sale" in the basement is attracting a mob of customers, while trade is dull in the third floor linens and piece-goods department. But none of the third floor force wants to go to the basement, so the manager must hire a temporary sales group for the basement sale.

Sounds silly, but the senate committee headed by Senator Tydings of Maryland has discovered just that situation in the federal government. The civil service commission has no power to transfer workers; it can only hire and classify for other agencies. That's why war agencies haven't been able to get the services of trained employees for the emergency from non-essential bureaus, but have had to hire green hands by the tens of thousands.

Senator Tydings has introduced a bill to empower the president to order any transfers from one agency to another that may be desired.

SENATOR NORRIS

Petitions are out to place Senator Geo. W. Norris' name on the ballot to succeed himself, and though he had expressed a determination not to run again, he may be expected to yield. He is now past 81 years of age, but his friends apparently do not agree with him that he is old enough to quit and retire. Foster May who won the democratic nomination on the strength of a compelling radio voice, has been sailing along under the impression that the veteran senator would not even allow himself to be drafted. Norris has been in public service for a long time, and he has been actively behind the new deal's economic experiments. Foster May is also a vigorous new dealer, and from lack of experience he would seem the kind of a "yes" man the administration would favor. If the senator accepts the petition nomination, he and Foster will naturally vie for new deal support, and while they are thus engaged, it is reasonable to suppose republican nominee, Kenneth Wherry, who is not slow as a campaigner, will march off with the prize.

Political

position. He indicated that an avowed and proved attempt to exterminate Christians and Christians could not be subdued by kind words and peaceful methods. He insisted that force must be employed, if necessary, to insure freedom of worship.

The first speaker was idealistic, while his opponent in the discussion was practical, and it must be admitted that war with enemies known to yield to any ruthless means in the hope of winning, is very practical business.

Elected at Wynne.

Supt. Ois Decker of Kennard, brother of Supt. F. B. Decker of Wayne, was elected head of Wynne school Monday with substantial increase in salary. He will accept providing the Kennard board will release him. Supt. and Mrs. Ois Decker were here Monday.

Like Nebraska License.

The Ray R. Larson's write from Los Angeles, that they do not like to think of the time when they have to give up their Nebraska car license as it has been a means of getting acquainted with others who have moved there from Nebraska, making lasting friends this way. They also write that the republicans lead over the democrats in one section of Los Angeles. This is a change over the last few years, according to a friend of the Larson's who serves on the election board.

Increase Grain Use For Needs in War

Increasingly large quantities of grain are being used in the manufacture of alcohol to supply synthetic rubber and munitions. The war has increased the demand for 190 proof alcohol to the point that the 1943 requirements are more than 300 per cent above those of pre-war years.

Many farmers in this vicinity are delivering corn, and it is estimated that 290,000 bushels will be taken to Wayne county elevators, according to T. P. Roberts, commodity credit is shipping in bins which are being erected at Sholes and elsewhere to provide available storage for the 1942 grain.

About two-thirds of the 1943 alcohol production in the United States will be from grain. This will mean the using of 136 million bushels of corn, wheat and rye for the purpose.

Alcohol is being produced from grain now at the rate of 6,000,000 gallons monthly. It is estimated that grain will be used for 200 million gallons of alcohol for butadiene, a product used for rubber, in 1943. Secretary Wickard has figured that this amount of alcohol would make 220,000 tons of butadiene which in turn would make 240,000 tons of synthetic rubber. This, he warned, would probably all be needed for military demands.

HOW LONG?

This month marks beginning of the fourth year of the war between democracy and totalitarianism, with the United States' active participation dating from last December when the Japs made their treacherous attack on Pearl Harbor. With America's steadily increasing contributions of men and implements to all battle fronts, the allies are strengthening resistance and often taking the offensive. While some high military authorities think the war will be long, others within allied circles express the belief that the democracies have gained a winning stride. No one knows how long the war will last, but production is mounting and more and more men are being trained for the armed forces. As the United States speeds up its efforts, axis foes will find harder going and more reason to give up. Speculation as to duration of the conflict is wholly untenable, but it is encouraging to engage in wishful thinking which looks for a short, decisive war that will bring freedom and peace back to the world.

Coach and Mrs. J. H. Morrison and Jimmie returned Sunday evening from their camp on Lake George, Minn. Mrs. Morrison's sister, Mrs. J. C. Bentley and son, Jimmie, of Lapeer, Mich., accompanied them here and will visit until the middle of September.

AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C., August 26, 1942
Chairman Fulmer of the house committee on agriculture, warns Leop Henderson that continued complaints about prices on farm products are not having good effect. He has been making a study of farm conditions. He calls attention to the wonderful success of the farmers in boosting production to a greater degree than even the department of agriculture requested or anticipated. Even so, there may be a shortage of food another year, or even this winter. Mr. Fulmer is a South Carolina plantation owner. That state is a large producer of cotton and tobacco, and imports from other states its flour, meats and dairy products to a large degree. There is a shortage of farm labor there as elsewhere.

Coming at a time when there is talk of rationing meats and much more talk about lowering the ceiling prices on farm products, a more extensive survey might be advisable. The increased consumption of foods by an army and naval force of about four millions is worthy of consideration. Men undergoing the strenuous life in both certainly require more food than in civil life, particularly those who have been indoor workers and now are heavily exercising in the open. The former unemployed who are now engaged at good wages also are purchasing a greater variety as well as larger quantities of food. Working out a program as to needs instead of one for rationing, and knowing the need, production can be varied accordingly. Carrying over a billion bushels of wheat which can't be used for a year or two is of no advantage to consumers, but by different processing and using it for new purposes, the surplus might be reduced.

The marketing administration estimates that there will be a shortage of three billion pounds of meat for civilian consumption, and OPA will endeavor to maintain present ceiling prices. Ceiling prices produce no additional supplies. Apparently from OPA reports, they do not prevent a wide differential in meat prices in the various cities. Neither do the farmers and stockmen get a large part of the ceiling price. If there is a meat shortage now, what must be expected next year if price regulation is set up to hamper larger production? The number of cattle in the feed lots of the middles west is 19 per cent below that of last year.

One visiting Washington may wonder at the great number of clerks and other employees who fill the many new buildings to overflowing. Not all the new buildings are where they can be seen without much travel and searching. Some of them are out in the country, miles from the capital. But the army of new employees is constantly increasing. The civil service commission is drawing them in from all parts of the country. Stenographers and typists come in by thousands, and still not in sufficient number. In June over 13,000 new employees were engaged in Washington alone.

The executive departments now have over 2,207,000 on their payrolls in all parts of the country. Not all of them are in Washington. During June, 140,000 new employees were added to the rolls. The war department added 81,444, bringing its total to 824,000. The navy put on 33,811 workers, bringing the total to 449,000. These two departments alone have a quarter million more employees now than were in the entire federal service in 1940. Their civilian work covers the entire country, and thousands are engaged in the outlying possessions and bases. The June payroll for the workers was $353,000,000.

Will Train Women.

Women to become inspectors at Nebraska aircraft plants will be trained this fall at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln. A new course in aircraft assembly inspection will start September 21. Applicants must be high school graduate with two years' of mathematics, be at least 18 years of age and in sound physical health. Date of selection to fill classes from the list of applicants has been set for September 12, and preference will be given to women and older married men. Those who can be in Lincoln before the date of selection should see Prof. W. L. DeBaufre for a personal interview. An application form can be obtained by writing to the University of Nebraska.

This is a daytime course from 8 to 5 daily for 15 weeks in lectures, drafting, and shop practice. Study will include shop mathematics, drafting and blue-print analysis, materials and measurements, nomenclature and organization.

Since 1941 many defense training courses have been given by the university college of engineering under authority of the U. S. office of education. Several are now in progress, and others will be organized as they are needed. Emphasis is now placed on the training of women needed to take over defense jobs. Course fees are paid by the federal government. Certificates are given to students who satisfactorily complete these courses.

Christian Science Services

"Man" is the subject of the lesson-lesson which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, September 6.

The Golden Text is: "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord and he delighteth in his way." (Psalms 37:23).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-lesson is the following from the Bible: "So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them" (Genesis 1:27).

The lesson-lesson also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "It is objected to Christian Science that it claims God as the only absolute Life and Soul, and man to be His idea,—that is, His image. It should be added that this is claimed to represent the normal, healthful, and sinless condition of man in divine Science, and that this claim is made because the Scriptures say that God has created man in His own image and after His likeness. Man is spiritual and perfect; and because he is spiritual and perfect, he must be so understood in Christian Science" (pp. 344, 478).

Valuable Rains Brought to Area

All Northeast Nebraska Is Soaked With Generous Downpours of Week.

Heavy rains the last of the week brought wonderfully beneficial moisture to a large area, assuring a large corn crop and refreshing pastures and gardens. The gauge in Wayne registered 1.85 inches Thursday. That afternoon between 3.5 and 4 inches fell at Hoskins, 2.5 at Winside and 3 inches at Wakefield. Good rains also fell that day in the vicinity of Carroll and Concord. The rain was general over this part of the state.

The Thursday afternoon rains, which came in a short period after a sultry day, filled creeks and flooded lowlands temporarily.

West of Hoskins the railroad bed was washed from beneath four lengths of rails. This resulted in delay of a freight train. Friday morning's passenger train was about two hours late. No other damage resulted.

Water rose on the spillway south of Wayne for a short time Friday morning.

Altona had a good rain Thursday, and that vicinity also received an inch the Tuesday before.

Heavy rains had visited Randolph, Carroll, Sholes, Laurel and Concord Wednesday night last week. Hall accompanied that downpour and struck corn some what near Randolph and Concord. Hall was also reported near Hartington.

Heavy showers visited the area north of Wayne again Friday evening.

Faith in Party Reaffirmed Here

Republicans Convening in Wayne Outline Ways to Safeguard Democracy.

Wayne county republican delegates, attending the annual convention at a country house here Thursday, unanimously passed resolutions reaffirming their faith in and determination to safeguard American democracy. H. E. Siman was chairman of the committee preparing these. He was assisted by Mrs. J. T. Bressler, Jr., Dr. J. R. Johnson, Gordon Nuernberger, L. E. Jenkins and Rev. W. A. Geddes. The resolutions follow:

Concerned with Situation.
"We, the republicans of Wayne county, Nebraska, in convention assembled, mindful of the desperate and critical situation of the world at large, and the responsibility of restoring and preserving political, social, economic and religious freedom rests upon our nation, do, with patriotic spirit and devotion re-dedicate ourselves to the task, and while highly commending our representatives, national, state and local, in contributing their most sincere efforts to such end, do now view with grave concern the tendency of the national administration by the dictatorial usurpation of power, its efficiency and a wasteful extravagance, to defeat such end, the inevitable result of which must lead to the spearching of the nation and ultimate dictatorship."

"Wherefore, the republicans of Wayne county, Nebraska, in convention assembled do resolve:

War is First Concern.
"That primarily, the war is not and should not be an issue; that our first concern and duty are to win the war, which effort should be supported and contributed to by all regardless of race, color, religious or political affiliations, and one doing less than his best toward such end, falls short of his duty as an American citizen."

Condemn Labor Racketeers.
"We condemn in the severest terms a condition which makes possible the exploitation of man (power, national resources and wealth) by labor racketeers; we are not opposed to labor organizations of unions, but are unalterably opposed to great and legitimate organizations being dominated by individuals of shady character and questionable loyalty, for selfish motives and self aggrandizement. We believe that this has and is creating a situation utterly opposed to American principles, and is a menace that can no longer be ignored. We hold the

In 1857, causing complete stagnation of business. This was a great barrier to immigration. The next year the Missouri valley was surveyed and thrown open to settlement. This drove many away who felt they could never pay for their claims. Then followed Indian wars and the Civil war, driving settlers in desperation from their homes.

The valuation of property in the county was $29,260 in the 60's. The climate and fertility of the region were attractions and by 1870 the population increased to 1,345 and the valuation to $266,720. After that progress was steady.

But in 1874 grasshoppers devastated the entire state. Grain was devoured and it looked as though the settlers were doomed to defeat. With supplies very meager, the year of 1874 was a hard one. The hoppers had resulted in a loss of population from 3,842 in 1874 to 2,886 in 1876. But the pioneers were determined to win and stuck to their tasks.

Dixon county is no longer primitive and disorganized. It is an intelligent, progressive settlement offering opportunity to all.

administration alone and wholly responsible for this condition. It has at its command the instrumentalities by which this condition can be corrected and controlled, yet it placates, fraternizes with, appeases and yields.

"We charge that expertness and efficiency have been obligated to yield to political preference; we demand that civil and military appointments be made on the basis of qualifications and training regardless of party affiliations, previous ratings or family connections.

Would Draft Strikers. "We are committed to the proposition that any man or group of men employed in the production of war materials or other materials essential to the prosecution of the war, who refuse to work for any cause other than illness, be drafted into the armed forces.

"That all useless, unnecessary and inefficient bureaus and commissions, of which there are many, be abolished at once.

Favor Scientific Development. "We believe it to be a shortsighted policy and an actual interference with necessary war work on the part of the administration not only failing but refusing to take advantage of the chemical and technical ability of our scientists, whereby the products of American farms might be converted into necessary war materials.

"We believe the present war and the winning thereof is of sufficient importance to command the full and undivided attention of the administration, and that the indulgence or participation in local and state politics is neither in keeping with dignity or one of the constitutional duties.

Against Unnecessary Waste. "We condemn in the most severe terms the wasteful and asinine expenditures of public funds during the past several years, on P.W.A., W.P.A., and other alphabetic creations, all of which created liabilities rather than assets, at a time when such wasted labor and money could have and should have been used in preparation for the present war, known by the administration or should have been known by the exercise of reasonable intelligence, to be imminent.

Parity for Service Men. "We believe that something approaching parity should be maintained between the compensation received by our soldiers and those employed in defense plants and other war activities. A wage of from four to eight times that of the soldier for common labor and from twelve to twenty times for labor possessing questionable skill, tends to the evasion of military duty and patriotic service.

F. B. I. Is Commended. "We accord to the Federal Bureau of Investigation our sincere commendation for its splendid and efficient work and the results obtained in spite of congressional obstacles and governmental interference.

"We are in accord with the spirit and the provisions of the service men's dependents' acts, recently passed by congress, and approved June 23, last past. We do, however, recommend that if the payments provided therein cannot be paid within a reasonable time, the arbitrary date of payment, to-wit, November 1, 1942, be changed to October 1, 1942.

"We re-affirm our allegiance to the republican party, and to its principles. History has proven that those principles are both sound and sane, the application of which has heretofore solved national problems intelligently, restored confidence to a panicky people and brought peace, contentment and prosperity to the nation."
