

For Old Metal Gaining Momentum — Wayne County Schools Enlist in Campaign — United Efforts Promise Big Results — Sad Memories.

Wayne county's scrap metal drive, coordinating with a nationwide campaign, is charging forward under the impetus of growing interest and sharpening determination. The need is urgent, and the supply of otherwise useless junk is still to be exhausted. Let Wayne county's standard of achievement be so high that its conscience may feel eminently comfortable when stalking evils have been banished and human freedom has again become firmly entrenched. Any old metal indifferently left out, the Titanic conflict between liberty and slavery eyeore. To Hitler and Hirohito, organs amuck to enchain and destroy, we would say: "America is fast gathering an insuperable army of war implements and variety men to overthrow and wipe out forever your evil designs. And we want to burn into your already seared minds that among innumerable American subdivisions, Wayne county is rising in perfect unity, iron strength and inflexible resolution to meet your challenge and thwart your diabolical aims. To Mussolini, puffing with no baffle, cowardly weaking, always stepped in cruelty; we would say: "Bah!"

Both town and city schools have entered the scrap drive with keen interest and dynamic force. They have responded promptly and enthusiastically and from them promises to pour an avalanche of precious junk. They have uppermost in mind the collection of vital material. Prize winning merely furnishes extra stimulus. Amplifying rules of the contest in answer to queries, each school—no separate grades or rooms—is entered. Schools may have as many supplementary contests among grades as they wish. As we understand intentions, special prizes to teachers and students are awarded for individual effort which is also counted in a school's total. Students face in the same way for extra prizes. But all in each school contribute in the final score in that school, iron, steel, copper, brass, aluminum and rubber are in demand.

Between now and Saturday, October 17, we hope all the junk in towns and rural precincts will be rolled to market. On that day, we expect to emphasize the conclusion of a successful campaign with music and speeches and any other expressions of gratification that may be developed. Keep your eyes on Saturday, October 17, and in the meantime see that no junk is left to smite conscience.

A story elsewhere in today's Herald explains organizations in towns and country, including schools, to promote the drive. Special days have been set apart for intensive efforts—all giving support to one important result.

Seven Years Ago. In a world of chaos and conflict, in a struggle to fortify freedom and security, in an eagerness to pierce supernal heights and find reasons for things that happen, we pause on the tenth anniversary of our daughter's passing to express profoundest sympathy to many others who have been similarly bereft.

Why we are here, we do not know. Why we must be so often hurt—sometimes so deeply cut—by untoward fates that seem unavoidable, we do not know. We do not know much. We have a conviction we are going somewhere with spiritual senses sharpened by release from material impediments. Actualities—time and space among them—are just as mysterious as eternity. Then why should we despair? It is reasonable to believe a higher existence—more real than this one—is in prospect. In a world of unending vicissitudes and, at this time, of unusual miseries, we may look up and beyond earth's hills for beckoning and reassuring light.

NUMBER TWENTY-TWO

Stage Intensive Drive to Salvage Essential Scrap

Volunteers Will Man Number of Trucks Routed to Conduct Thorough Canvass in Wayne County.

"Scrap" is the watchword in Wayne county this week as farmers, homekeepers, business firms and school children stage an intensive round-up to help the vital war effort and to place Wayne county among the leaders in the Nebraska-Kansas contest. The total reported Wednesday was 214,000 pounds. This included 34,650 pounds from Winside and Hoskins and 9,000 from Carroll.

This county stood 13th in the state Monday with 133,980 pounds, a per capita average of 13.56. Boyd county then headed the list. A thorough canvass to "get the scrap" is being staged in all parts of the county this week. A survey taken by AAA committeemen shows an estimated 220 tons or about 440,000 pounds, yet available on farms in the area. Trucks have been secured and volunteers organized to collect this metal.

To Cover Precincts. This Thursday 53 trucks with about three men to a truck will cover Wilbur, Strahan, Hoskins, Hancock, Brenna, Hunter, Plum Creek, Logan, Leslie and the south half of Chapin precinct. T. P. Roberts, Lee Selion, Roy Gates and P. L. March have organized the trucks and workers out of Wayne.

C. E. Benshoof has charge of those going out of Winside and Frank Phillips those surrounding Hoskins. Trucks out of Wakefield will cover part of Wayne county.

Trucks will cover Deer Creek, Sherman, Garfield and the north part of Chapin Friday, working out of Carroll and Sholes. Carroll has nine trucks and Sholes two for this. Trucks will stop at all places reporting scrap. They will visit farmers who had indicated they would deliver their own to see if these farmers now wish their material gathered. All are asked to have their scrap collected, and farmers are urged to be at the premises on the designated days. The collectors do not want to take anything which farmers might need to save for repairs.

Residents in Wayne are asked to place their scrap in front of their homes or business places this Thursday for collection.

Schools Get in Swing. School children of the county are really getting into the big contest in which $100 in prizes will be awarded next week. Town schools compete in one group and rural schools in another. Wayne city school had a total of 10,122 pounds turned in yesterday. District 20, Mrs. Elvora Sullivan teacher, with 2,000 pounds, district 46, Mrs. Ora Wax teacher, with 400 pounds, and district 40, Miss Helen Osburn teacher, with 275 pounds were first to report in the rural area.

Stage Rally at Close. A celebration is planned Saturday, October 17, in Wayne at conclusion of the countywide event. Prof. John R. Keith will direct the college band in music, and Welsh singers from Carroll will also furnish music. A speaker has been invited.

Leaders of Clubs Convene This Week. Leaders' training meeting for women's project clubs of Wayne county will be held this Thursday at Winside Methodist church and Friday at Wayne city hall, beginning at 10 each day. Miss May Staneck, home demonstration agent, will conduct the study. Plans for the year will be explained. Mrs. T. P. Roberts is chairman for the 13 project clubs. Agent W. R. Harder urges that each group be represented. Covered dish luncheon is planned at noon.

Sewers Are Needed In Red Cross Work

Wayne county Red Cross chapter has received materials for kits and "housewives" which are now ready to be made and filled, according to Mrs. Frank Heine. Sewers are needed at the rooms in the city hall each Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Help is needed for making 150 blouses, sizes 14 to 20, for refugee women, also for sewing 325 yards of material for men's refugee shirts.

Machines Rulings Changed Slightly. A farm machinery rationing amendment, effective Monday, eliminates hay presses from B machinery group. This puts hay presses in group A with hay balers and means that rationing board certificates are necessary before hay presses can be purchased. The new ruling also exempts from group B all machinery and equipment, including attachments, having a retail value of $25 or less. This saves farmers the trouble of getting certificates for small items.

DANGER INCREASED BY EXTRA PERIODS IN WHICH TO HUNT

TWO open seasons on pheasants seem to have been ordered this year: from October 15 to November 2 and from November 19 to November 30. Why the intermission between seasons we do not know unless it is to provide more week-ends for freedom to shoot. Pheasants surviving the first assault will have two week-ends to prepare to be immolated or to put into effect plans to leave the country. It is hoped extra care will be taken by all hunters to avoid accidents. Special dangers are involved in the annual open season and often tragedies follow the sport. Persons going out to bag the birds should have clear heads and use them all the time.

Two army airmen were killed and seven other crewmen escaped with minor injuries Sunday morning about 8:15 when one of the big four-motored bombers from the army air base, Sioux City, developed engine trouble and cracked up in a forced landing in a stubble field on the Lou Luff farm a mile and a half south and two and a half east of Wayne.

The two men killed in the crash were: Second Lt. Howard Austin, 26, of Lincoln, Neb., bombardier.

Second Lt. James B. Sleigh, 23, of Orange, Mass., navigator.

Those who rode the plane down were: First Lt. M. J. Sanny of University Heights, Ohio, pilot.

Second Lt. G. H. Jones of Houston, Texas, co-pilot. Sgt. Paul L. Berry of Stephenson, Ky., assistant radio operator.

The four who parachuted to safety from the plane are: Staff Sgt. Joe G. Herzog of Stanton, Conn. Staff Sgt. J. S. Hansen of Pocatello, Idaho.

Staff Sgt. Roy F. Beyer of Fish Haven, Idaho. Sgt. Alfred H. Williams of Linwood, N. C.

Lt. Sleigh died instantly and Lt. Austin within a few minutes after the crash. Both were badly crushed when they were trapped in the fuselage. The plane had to be chopped to release Sgt. Berry and to recover the two bodies. Lt. Sanny and Lt. Jones were able to free themselves from the wreckage. These three had only minor injuries. Lt. Sanny had a bad bruise over one eye. Sgt. Berry suffered a leg injury and received care at a local hospital, being released the same morning. The four who parachuted were unhurt.

Plane on Routine Flight. The plane, one of several on routine flights in the area Sunday, was reported to be flying at about 3,000 feet when one of the motors stalled. Shortly the others began missing, the last going off when the plane was about 10 feet in the air. The pilot notified the men immediately and four bailed out. The plane had made a head-on landing to the south and headed north when it came down.

The pilot brought the machine down on top a knoll and the bomber bounced over onto its nose after landing. Three of the motors were torn off by the impact which buried the fore part of the plane. (Continued on Page Two) several feet in the ground. In spite of gasoline pouring from the large storage tanks, the plane did not catch fire. Fire Chief M. L. Ringer, summoned by one of the paratroopers, was one of the first at the scene.

The J. C. Bresslers, whose home is only about 100 yards from the scene, and the Otto Lurts heard the crash and rushed to the scene. The Bresslers met Lt. Jones, who was hurrying to their place to telephone to Sioux City officials. The air base officers advised chopping the plane to try to save the men. The officials then came immediately by plane.

Establish Army Guard.

Army ambulances from Sioux City air base hurried to the scene, and army men were brought to be placed on guard. The ship and later the grounds were roped off to keep onlookers away. Wayne firemen stood by to safeguard against fire.

Crowds gathered all day Sunday to view the wreckage. Army guards kept spectators away from the plane and prohibited photographing. Late Sunday the road past the scene was closed to traffic and was kept shut the first of the week while the huge ship was being dismantled.

Four Parachute to Safety.

The men who parachuted were reported having this experience for the first time. When one started to jump, his chute caught on the plane and another kicked it off so he was able to drop. John Grimm, whose farm is just south of the Lutz place, noticed that motors of the plane were off and he saw the men bale out from the low-flying ship. Three dropped on the Grimm farm and one at Ed. Frevert's. Mr. Grimm took one to the scene and later he helped all find their chutes.

Army air corps investigators as well as F.B.I. agents from Omaha came to study circumstances of the crash. No explanation was given.

Notify Relatives First.

Bodies of Lt. Austin and Lt. Sleigh were taken to a Sioux City mortuary. Their names were not released until after near relatives had been notified.

Lt. Austin leaves his wife, the former Donna Miller, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Austin, all of Lincoln. The young man, a graduate of the university in 1940, was married in July, 1940. He earned his commission in the university army reserve and was called to active duty in June, 1941. He took his basic training as bombardier at Ellington Field, Texas, and earned his wings two weeks ago at Midland, Texas. He was in Euphrata, Wash., for combat training before coming to Sioux City a week ago.

Death Challenges Living.

Conducting communion services at the Methodist church Sunday morning, Dr. Victor West concluded: "Those men who died in that plane crash have brought this service up to date. We dedicate this holy communion to them. We who live and assume no dangers must give ourselves to the making of better schools, better homes and better churches. We dare not give less than our best."

Dismantle Huge Ship.

The army has a large crew of workers dismantling the huge ship this week, taking the parts on a huge truck back to the air base.

Undergoes Operation.

Mrs. Mary Hook, mother of T. S. Hook, underwent a major operation Friday at a local hospital. Her condition is reported satisfactory.

War in the Pacific has greatly reduced our country's supply of vegetable fats from the Far East. It is necessary to find substitutes for them. Moreover, fats make glycerine. And glycerine makes explosives for our armed forces and allies—explosives to down Axis planes, stop their tanks, sink their ships. Our country needs millions of pounds of glycerine, and YOU can help supply it.

Approve Practices For Building Soil

Wayne county AAA office this week was notified that winter cover crops, small grain green manures and storage of silage are approved as soil building practices for 1943. These constitute the principal practices for this fall. Final approval on other 1943 practices has not yet been received.

Winter cover crops are established by seeding winter legumes and rye after a 1942 intertilled crop, a war crop or one of the green manure crops. The cover crops shall be seeded early enough to obtain a protective cover. No credit will be given if credit is already received under the green manure on go-down practice. The winter cover crop must not be pastured in the fall. This allows $1.50 per acre.

Small grain green manures are provided by disking or plowing under a good stand of 1942 rye, winter barley or winter spelt provided such grains are not harvested for hay or grain. This allows $3 per acre.

Storage of silage from the previous crop year allows $1.

Such practices can benefit crop land and help in 1943 production goals.

Stefan's Record THE HERALD may be the only newspaper in the Third congressional district that did not run an advertisement last week attacking the record of Congressman Karl Stefan in behalf of his opponent in the forthcoming contest.

Whatever may be Congressman Stefan's faults they in no way relate to lack of interest in cultivating and improving the lot of the mid-western farmer.

October weather is usually unsurpassed in mild zephyrs which now prevail.

Farm Troubles, Too. (Omaha Journal-Stockman) Stock growers throughout the country are experiencing their troubles just the same as merchants and manufacturers.

Reasonable Conclusion. (Nation's Business) A woman columnist who enjoys quite a vogue among several million newspaper readers argues that a nation that can spend one hundred billion dollars for war in 1943

Corrected THE PRESIDENT reported on his return to Washington the country that the capital city has been lagging in war spirit—in earnest endeavor to speed activities and hasten successful results.

The Washington spieler who paints a gloomy prospect for small businesses, stupidly forgets that that is not the way to stimulate courage in meeting obligations belonging to the war emergency.

A scrap of the Wayne Herald published October 5, 1899, which was found within the walls of an old building which is being torn down, has been laid on our desk.

President Roosevelt has authorized the announcement that he will vote for John Bennett who was nominated by the democrats of New York for governor in competition with Senator James Mead who was the president's pre-convention choice.

This information is quoted from a speech by Lt. Com. Patrick H. Winston, assistant executive, selective service headquarters, Washington, D. C., at the Drake hotel, Chicago, September 28.

Another Norfolk man who had had no training as a carpenter except for the work he did around his home and his farm with saw and hammer and paint brush, was told by a hiring agent for a war plant he would guarantee him a wage of $100 a week as a carpenter if he would take a job.

such activity to prevent immediate induction might cause him to be called earlier.

Reporting scrap metal weights to the Herald between now and October 17 has no bearing on the school contest. It merely permits an understanding of progress being made.

Annual fire prevention week which is now on, ties into the war effort, and, as usual, gives emphasis to extra precautions with the starting of stoves and furnaces.

A ceiling over farm prices must consistently be accompanied by a ceiling over wages which enter into all kinds of production and which largely influence the cost of living.

Fewer typists in Washington would decrease the demand for typewriters without in the least slowing up the war effort, as we firmly believe.

An airport to accommodate huge bombing planes would seem to be in order in Wayne.

AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C., September 28, 1942 The house and senate conferees are expected to reach a compromise on the recently house approved emergency price control bill of 1942, the purpose of which is to brake inflation.

Throughout the debate in the house, the farmer was charged by city and industrial district members as being responsible for inflation. He was charged with boosting prices of farm products to such an extent that the cost of food to consumers would become excessive.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyer of Randolph, visited at Emil Meyer's Sunday. The Walter Splitzgerbers were at Paul Dreyer's at Stanton Sunday for dinner and supper.

THE FUTURE.

In Nation's Business Merle Thorpe mentions many practical developments assured in industry after the war if private enterprise is allowed to survive and remain free.

Washington, D. C., September 28, 1942 The number of government employees has passed the two million mark. About 60 per cent of them get overtime. Others do not. Bills to get overtime pay for those not yet covered have been introduced.

Secretary Wickard has become alarmed over the situation. He says that only by prompt action to stop this movement and keep the farmers on their farms can a serious food shortage be averted.

be given safe passage. Officials are still trying for Manila news through neutral nations.

The number of government employees has passed the two million mark. About 60 per cent of them get overtime. Others do not. Bills to get overtime pay for those not yet covered have been introduced.

Gerald Landis, a member from Indiana, has made inquiries in the department of agriculture regarding parity. He tells his colleagues that no one in that department will say that parity will guarantee the American farmer 40 cents an hour.

The demand for farm labor is the highest since 1920. The supply is 58 per cent of normal. The average daily farm wage for the entire country is $2.45, ranging from $1.15 in South Carolina to $4.85 in Washington.

Farmers are meeting production schedules despite serious farm labor shortage. The year 1942 will show a record farm production in spite of the farmer's heavy handicaps. Each day the part that food must play in winning the war becomes more apparent.

In answer to letters about the problems of a second front: It takes about 10 1/2 tons of shipping to get a soldier abroad and 1 1/2 tons to support him. It takes 20 men to man one bomber.

Bill Jeffers, the rubber administrator, has a big suite of rooms in a hotel here. He has not yet indicated his full program. There are no reports yet about what we can expect by way of small alcohol and rubber plants in the mid-west. His first job is to save the rubber we already have.

Colder weather has reached the nation's capital. People who have homes here are worried about getting enough fuel oil to heat them this winter.

More and more Nebraska girls are coming to the capital to work in civil service jobs. Most of these jobs pay $1,440 a year. The cost of two meals a day and room is another $47.50 a month.

Cliff Thoen of Hartington, arrived in town the other day on his way to join ship again. He and his brother have been sailing the oceans for many months as coast artillery non-coms. Once they were given up as lost. They are both safe.

Omar Ketchum, the national legislative representative of the Veterans of Foreign Wars drops this resolution on the desk of every congressman: "Be it resolved, that the 43rd national encampment, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S., condemn and oppose the stoppage of war production by wild-cat strikes and favor federal legislation imposing fine and imprisonment upon all persons who instigate and cause an unauthorized stoppage of work in war industries in violation of existing bona-fide labor contracts. Adopted unanimously."

The amendment to the price control bill, proposing to stabilize wages, salaries and prices of farm products, caused a strenuous two-day debate in the house. The demands of the president were scarcely met except in a general way. As the bill came from the committee, it was weak on wage and salary control. It was ambiguous as to farm prices, fixing the ceilings at "parity" or the "highest prices received by farmers" between January 1 and September 15 of this year.

Operators of Washington's more than 4,000 taxicabs can get new tires again. Drivers say their experience with retreads and recaps was not profitable. A black market was in progress on tires some time ago. One driver said he paid $40 for one tire which normally cost $11.

The numbers racket and lottery swindles continue in Washington. Officials try to check them. They just don't seem to be able to do it.

No lack of money in Washington. Over 30,000 people attend the Sunday professional football games here.

Farmers have been blamed for inflation by big city members. Reply is 7,000,000 farm families represent about 23 per cent of our entire population. The farmers get but 10 per cent of our national income.

Miss Mae Ellington of Center has joined the office staff in the Third district. Other members of the staff are Ray Nedorst of Fairmont, secretary, and Bonnie Anderson of Hoskins, stenographer.

Filipinos and Americans here who have been trying to get word of their relatives in Manila, report no success. moved to Wayne where deceased resided since with the exception of a year spent in homesteading at Philip, S. D. Mr. Scace attended Wayne high school, Nebraska Normal college and Wayne State Teachers college.

Mr. Scace and Miss Alice V. Everett of Lyons, who married February 14, 1911. Two children were born to them, Mattie Everett Scace and Homer Everett Scace.

Mr. Scace served as senior clerk in Wayne post office for six years, resigning because the indoor work was too close confinement. For many years he was a contractor in Wayne and vicinity. Mr. Scace built 64 houses, five store buildings, the Stratton hotel and college power plant and he remodeled many homes. As city engineer, he supervised considerable paving in Wayne. He did much to beautify city parks. Mr. Scace was sincerely interested in Wayne and its people and worked toward a better and more beautiful city. He went to Sidney ordinance depot as construction engineer in June.

Mr. Scace was the first club scout master in Wayne. He always maintained a room in his home where young folks of the neighborhood were welcome to build, read and play. His lawn was a playground for young folks. Mr. Scace's home was paramount in his interests and he spent all his leisure enjoying his family.

Deceased was a 32nd degree Mason.

Surviving Mr. Scace are his wife and two children, Mattie who teaches in Lead, S. D., and Homer Everett, who is employed in the State National bank. He also leaves one brother, Charles E. of Lusk, Wyo., and four sisters, Mary Scofield of Kimball, Neb., Theo. Corbit of Wayne, Edna Perz of Lusk, and Lucille Pegley of Lander, Wyo.

"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, October 11.

The Golden Text is: "Salvation belongeth unto the Lord; thy blessing is upon thy people" (Psalms 3:8).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her; and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God" (Luke 13:11-13).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Keys to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If sickness is true or the idea of Truth, you cannot destroy sickness, and it would be absurd to try. Then classify sickness and error as our Master did, when he spoke of the sick, 'whom Satan hath bound,' and find a sovereign antidote for error in the life-giving power of Truth acting on human belief, a power which opens the prison doors to such as are bound, and sets the captive free physically and morally" (p. 495).

In Submarine Unit.

"Local news is always welcome," writes Ensign James W. Ahern from New London, Conn., in expressing appreciation for receiving the Herald. "This is true for all boys in service. I enjoy reading their letters and little notes about different boys, where they are and what they are doing. I'll have to admit that there are a lot of names that are new to me."

"There isn't much I can say about my work. I'm in the submarine school and that alone, to me, seems like plenty. Our classes, which run from 8 to 4 six days a week, deal with anything and everything about and connected to a submarine. Knowing that a submarine is so much different from any other type of ship, one can easily realize that there is plenty to learn."

...the alarm that he expressed. How to meet the situation which has become so apparent, probably will be brought before congress for some action soon. But, in the meantime, the farm-to-city movement will continue.

Co-incident with all these happenings relating to farm production, comes an order from the WPB, reducing the meat supplies by 21 per cent during October.

Regular rationing of meat, and possibly eggs also, will not come before December. The OPA will require that length of time to prepare the ration books, notices to the people, instructions to dealers, etc. In the meantime the city consumers are buying other foods which they fear also may be rationed. Hotels and restaurants in particular are stocking up, and many others are filling their cellar shelves with provisions that can be kept without loss. There seems to be considerable scramble by those who are able to buy liberally and possibly the WPB may be issuing an anti-hoarding order soon, as was done when sugar rationing was impending. The farmers have increased production enormously, and 1942 is the biggest crop year ever known, and still there may be a food shortage. It doesn't seem possible in a country like our own. Incidentally, city consumers are moving well for many foods aside from meats and train, bus and automobile to college and professional games. But this year passenger train and motor bus equipment must be conserved for the movement of troops, of soldiers and sailors on leave, for relatives and friends going to and from camps, for travel essential to war business.

OPA has ordered stricter grading requirements of both beef and veal by packers. Normally about five per cent of the total beef and veal by packers. Normally about grading of "choice." The recent increase in the proportion of "AA" meat actually represents "upgrading" and means a price increase. OPA regulations seek to eliminate such increases.

WPB is starting a new drive to persuade individuals and business firms to sell typewriters to the government for use by the armed services. In modern war a typewriter is indispensable for writing orders, communications, reports and purchase requisitions. Typewriter manufacturers are busy making war materials so the machines must be secured from private owners. Those made since 1935 are wanted.

The right to ration farm machinery does not apply to repair parts and also excludes automobiles, trucks and other items which do not lend themselves to rationing.

Hornby feeds, a by-product in the milling of corn and largely used for animal purposes, have been exempt from the provisions of GMPR. This results in hominy feed prices following the prices of corn and corn feed meal closely.

WPA has granted operators of industrial plants, office buildings, apartment houses, hotel and other substantial buildings permission to apply for blanket authorization to cover construction over a period of six months. Under this plan all routine individual construction jobs, except those estimated to cost more than $5,000, may be included in application for blanket authorization.

OPA granted the Ford Motor company permission to increase the price of its agricultural tractor designed in March, 1942, with steel instead of rubber-tired wheels.

A new order allows a producer to ship direct to consumer on behalf of a distributor or dealer who is authorized under terms of the order to make such delivery. This is designed to avoid cross-hauling between a producer and distributor and then to customer.

Simplified schedules covering axes, hatchets and hammers have been announced. This will concentrate production on fewer lines and release materials and productive facilities for war effort.

The women of England are setting an example for Miss and Mrs. America in many fields. A study is being made of the ways in which English women are helping meet the shortages in the transportation industries. American women will inevitably be called into transportation work as they have been in Great Britain.

With brisk autumn weather setting in, Mrs. America's attention now is focused mainly on the problem of facing the fuel oil rationing this winter. Uncle Sam will do everything possible to make all comfortable this winter. Fuel oil rations will be denied to apartment houses and commercial, industrial and institutional establishments which possess the facilities to convert their furnaces to coal. Preparations for conversion to coal have been made by the government in the form of priorities on materials for the manufacture of legs, shaker bars, grates and asphalt doors.

To assure Mrs. America a broader choice of food products this winter, an alternative pricing system will be put into effect by OPA early in October. Under the new plan, wholesalers and retailers may have their choice of using either their present ceiling or one based on an adjusted margin over delivered costs. Mrs. America will find that despite a few upward adjustments, the new plan will enable her to stretch her food budget a bit farther than has been the case in the past few months.

Are you sure you've contributed all of your scrap metal to the salvage campaign? Young women who are stepping into the nursing field now are entering a career which is not only important to the nation at the moment, but which will play a big part in the reconstruction that follows the war. Mrs. America may help in this important work by volunteering for duty as a nurse's aide, to free more highly trained women for places where they are vitally needed.

The metal drive that is in full swing in the middlewest proves to the rest of the world that this area is not indifferent on the war job. Everything from ash trays to stoves is being gathered.

School children the nation over are diving into the salvage campaign in earnest.

If Mrs. America has permitted a temporary lull in her salvage activities, she'd better start again for her children soon will be at her heels, urging that she recover every bit of scrap around the home. The nation's 30,000,000 school boys and girls are being enlisted by educational leaders and WPB conservation division to collect from homes and farms vitally needed scrap. In the national school children's salvage drive in October, every public school yard in the land will become a salvage depot, or, if space at the school is not available, some convenient nearby lot.

War Bond Drive Goes Over Quota

Drive to Sell Same Amount in October Is Starting in Wayne County.

Wayne county "went over the top" in its September war bond drive, buying $41,300 worth of bonds and stamps. This is $5,000 over the $36,300 quota.

The county's October quota is the same as that for September, $36,300, and leaders are urging every effort to meet this total.

Stamp sales at Wayne's fall opening last Thursday evening amounted to $347 and this sum counts on the October quota.

Teams Play Friday To Scoreless Tie

Wakefield and Wayne Meet In Football Contest Friday This Week

Wayne high journeyed to Hartington for football last Friday when the best the team could get was a scoreless tie. This is the first tie game for the Wayne high team since 1938.

The Blues were a much improved team after the loss to Stanton the week before and really deserved a decisive victory. But each time it looked like Wayne players were to score, they were denied, either by penalties or errors on their own part.

The entire game was played in the Hartington territory, and at no time did Hartington threaten in any way, while Wayne was knocking at the door on several occasions. After Beale had recovered a fumble on the Hartington 20, Bob Stull circled left end to what looked like a score and a win, but the play was called back and Wayne was penalized 15 yards for "holding." On the next play Stull dropped a perfect pass into Gildersleeve's hands in the end zone, only to have it slip out of his hands and fall to the ground incomplete. These mistakes were disheartening to the Wayne boys but they continued to threaten throughout the last half only to fail, when scoring possibilities seemed imminent.

Beale's play in the line was outstanding for the Blues, while Stull and Murray looked the best in the backfield.

Friday Wayne high meets the strong Wakefield high team, in a game that is always tough for Wayne. Regardless of the apparent strength of Wakefield, last year's game was won by Wayne 13-0.

Married at Wayne Church Ceremony

Miss Edythe Miner Is Bride Of Robert C. Wright Here Saturday Evening

Robert C. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wright of Wayne, and Miss Edythe Lorraine Miner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miner of Wakefield, were married Saturday evening, October 3, at 7 o'clock at candle-light service in the Methodist church. Dr. Victor West performed the single ring service in the presence of the immediate families.

Palms, ferns and candles decorated the church. Mrs. J. T. Bressler, Jr., who presided at the organ, played "Andante Cantabile" after which Miss Gwendolyn Hopson of Belden, sang "Liebestraum." Mrs. Bressler played Mendelssohn's march while the bridal party took their places before the altar. She also played the recessional after the ceremony.

Miss Norma Jean Harrison of Wakefield, who served as bridesmaid, wore a street-length dress of autumn red with white corsage. Miss Miner wore a street-length dress of aqua mist shade. Her accessories were brown. She had a corsage of Johanna Hill roses and carried a Bible.

Milford Wright of Milwaukee, served his brother as best man. The former wore blue suit and the bridegroom brown. Each had a rose boutonniere.

The young folks left immediately after the service for Sioux City where they will make their home in the Swanson apartments.

Mrs. Wright is a graduate of Wakefield high school, attended Wayne college one year and taught near Wakefield last term.

Mr. Wright was graduated from Wayne high school. He received his A. B. degree from Wayne State college in 1941 and taught last year at Belden. He is now employed in the advertising department of the Sioux City Journal. He is assigned to the February 22, 1943, class at Scott Field, Ill., for ground communications instruction in the air force.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Wright and Jimmie of Milwaukee, were out-of-town guests at the wedding.

Game at College Closes with Tie

Wayne State Players Going To Crete Friday to Meet Doane College

An evenly matched but hard fought football game took place at Wayne State Teachers stadium Friday night, ending in a 6-6 deadlock for Wayne and Nebraska Wesleyan.

Page kicked off for Wayne to open the game; Wesleyan, after three tries at the Wayne line, was forced to kick, and Wayne took over on the 50-yard line. On the first play Cunningham, after faking a pass, ran his own right end for 15 yards. On the following play Best raced around the left end for 35 yards and what looked to be a touchdown, but illegal use of hands by a Wayne lineman nullified the run, and Wayne was penalized back to the 50-yard line. Best and Kozacek then attempted carrying the ball and placed it on the Nebraska Wesleyan 10, from that point Cunningham flipped a pass into the end zone to Bud Best for a touchdown. Fitch failed to convert, and the score was Wayne State 6, Wesleyan 0. The remainder of the ball was a see-saw affair with neither team threatening.

The second half opened the same way with Page kicking to Wesleyan, and the quarter displayed very little offensive football by either team. Both teams played safely and depended on their kickers to get a break in their favor. In this quarter Best displayed some excellent kicking, and was able to keep the ball put of Wayne territory most of the quarter. The fourth quarter found Wesleyan "shooting the works." With the advantage of having a great number of reserves, the visitors were able to keep the ball in Wayne territory the biggest share of the quarter. Wesleyan's score came after they had recovered a Wayne fumble on the Wayne 15-yard line. By a series of line plunges they were able to drive over from the 1-yard line for their lone score. However, they failed to convert for the extra point, and so the game ended a 6-6 tie.

Wayne's play during the second half displayed lack of reserve strength necessary for 60 minutes of hard football. Practically the whole starting team was forced to play the entire game, which proved almost too much together with the heat, and the fact that Wesleyan was able to substitute an entire new team as often as they cared to.

Friday night the Wayne Teachers went to Crete to play Doane college footballers. Last year's game ended in a 6-6 tie.

Use Army Award Plan for Drive

Recognition Will Be Given To Distinctions Earned In School Parade

Wayne high school and grade students Monday started an intensive scrap drive in which every one is taking a keen interest. First results were encouraging. On the first day the school was credited with 1560 pounds, 580 sold to authorized dealers and 982 brought to school.

In connection with the drive the young folks are learning something of army organization and rewards that come from good endeavor. Students will be advanced in rank according to the amount of scrap delivered, and arm bands made by the art department will designate the honors attained. The drive will be concluded October 14. The school will devote a half day then to finishing up the campaign. That afternoon the entire school will parade in the business district, each student wearing his badge of distinction. Those attaining highest rating will be in the foreground. The band will head the parade.

Wayne has been divided into eight districts except for the area east of Lincoln and north of 7th which is left for the training school. Each district is headed by a captain who volunteered for the position. His workers are all volunteers. Each home room has a first lieutenant who acts as a liaison officer, one second lieutenant in charge of personnel and one second lieutenant in charge of records. Each home room elected its three lieutenants.

The student council is in charge of weighing scrap. Homer Bierman, president, is a captain, and others of the council are second lieutenants. Six other volunteers, who help in weights, are also second lieutenants.

Grades are organized on the same basis with the students volunteering to help the high school captains. Each student works in his home district and he may also volunteer to work in one other area. High school home rooms compete together for an award which the school is giving, and grades are competing against each other for a similar award.

For each 100 pounds of scrap brought, a student earns a promotion. The amounts will count as follows: 100 pounds, first class private; 200, corporal; 500, sergeant; 1000, second lieutenant; 2000, first lieutenant; 5000, captain; 10,000 major.

Rural students who did not volunteer in one of the town districts, also organized. Boys compete against the girls in this group.

Districts, with the captain, first lieutenant and two second lieutenants in the order named are as follows: District 1, Miss Margaret Whitman's home room, Arnold Kohrt, Harris Plueger, Allison Bahe, Elsie Bentback; district 2, Miss Viva Fredrickson's home room, Dean Meyer, Norma Powers, Dean Hofferer, Lois Lindsay; district 3, Miss Adeline Cook's home room, Marvin Draghu, Bob Wright, Milford Brelman, Jack Beale; district 4, Miss Margaret Prest's home room, Marian Sandahl, Roland Splittgerber, Jerry Daniels, Irma Back; district 5, Henry Menke's home room, Billy Allen, Royce Gildersleeve, Roger Harrison, Verdel Ruwe.

District 6, Miss Mildred Clark's home room, Bonnie Nissen, Bob Simonin, Ilene Phillips, Patty Thompson; district 7, Maurice Lamoree's home room, Duane Otto, Jean Smolsky, Alice Mae Biermann, Jack Fitch; district 8, Mrs. Hazel Frahm's home room, Donna Granquist, Paul Powers, Don Temme, Beatrice Preston.

In the rural students' group, Faungli Wittler is captain. For the girls Rosalie Hoeman is first lieutenant, and Marilyn Ruwe and Eileen Schlines second lieutenants. For the boys Merlin Frevort is first lieutenant, Herbert Niemann and Leslie Alleman, second lieutenants.

The ancient volcanic and wonderful cave discovery made in Ionia a few years ago are likely to be excelled by the recent explorations in that vicinity by a party of savants from this city.

Men by the names of Elmer, Dickinson, Orr, DeSombre, Jones, Ware and Mellon went to Ionia to investigate the subterranean wonders.

They found a ravine in which were remarkable excavations which were evidently the work of human hands.

Some 12 holes about the size of wells are close together. These were filled with leaves and decayed vegetation.

It is thought the holes might have been the work of mound builders who lived here 10 or 15 thousand years ago.

Perhaps great discoveries of gold and minerals will be made.

By WARREN BAYLEY

Oologah, Okla. WILL ROGERS' HOME TOWN

Fifteen miles, as the road goes over the hills from Claremore, is the little town of Oologah, Okla., birthplace of Will Rogers. If you were a Rogers fan (and who wasn't you may want to drive over when you're down Oklahoma way, just to complete your education on the early background of this generation's best loved humorist. Whether or not you consider the trip worthwhile after you have made it is for you to decide. Personally I can see why Will departed for greener fields in his early youth.

Oologah is a scrawny little village of perhaps 100 people, and even at that low figure, I'm not sure but what I'm spotting the town 25 or 30 citizens that went hunting and just failed to come back. Fifty years ago it had no visible means of support and it hasn't changed in 50 years. In another it will probably be deserted, the victim of a better way of life.

Rogers was born on a ranch a short distance from this little town. The house still stands in good repair but is a little off the beaten path for the average traveler to go and see. To overcome this obstacle, the residents of Oologah have reproduced the house in miniature on the main corner of their village. It was a nice gesture, but as the reproduction is only some 10 feet square, the average person is apt to think someone has built a doll house for one of his children. For the benefit of future generations, it would have been much better if they had bought the original house, moved it into town, and furnished it with as many of the original furnishings as was possible.

Near the little house, the residents of Oologah have also built a monument in honor of their most famous citizen. A picture of the humorist is set in the stone near the top. In all my wanderings through the cemeteries of the country, I have seen but one other monument that showed a picture of the deceased. That was in a cemetery in Sioux City, Iowa, when I was checking on a story of a Jewish plot where all the deceased were buried standing up. Someone has told me that setting a picture in a monument is an old Swedish custom. That may or may not be authentic I don't know. But whatever the origin, the custom should be revived. The smiling picture of Will Rogers, set in the monument here at Oologah almost makes a visitor smile in return.

History has given us many great men that fought their way up the ladder of success from a poor beginning. Rogers was an outstanding example. From a cowboy to the best loved person of his generation is a far jump. Yet through it all he remained the same unassuming person that rode from an Oklahoma ranch to conquer the world. Even at the time of his death, he had not changed. In one showcase in the Memorial at Claremore are the various articles that were in his pockets at the time of the crash. Among them are a few three cent stamps, a 50 cent jack-knife, and two watches.

Retail price—one dollar each.
