Train Service Following an Inevitable Trend — Total in Scrap Metal Drive Greater Than Any One Had Anticipated — Strength in Active Unity of Pupils Teachers, Farmers and Townspeople — Aneit Daiging.

Reduction to tri-weekly service on the Wayne-Bloomfield and Wakefield-Crofton lines would seem another step in the direction of no branch railway service. The evident trend is due to growing lack of patronage. People do not like to see the railway trains disappear, but they consider too what they want.

Travelers long ago got out of the habit of waiting for trains, and of taking a roundabout route to a point which they could reach by a short cut. They are in the habit of going and coming to suit convenience, and they are not likely ever to get back to the dull role of listening for a train to whistle. While main line trains are now usually overburdened, caused by soldier transportation, branch line passenger traffic is manifestly dwindling and is on the way out. Though gas rationing will impose restrictions on automobiles, the latter have become indispensable to travel and are certain to multiply rapidly after the war. More automobiles and more airplanes are in prospect. For the duration people will travel less.

Gratifying Results. School teachers and pupils, farmers and townspeople deserve high commendation for the excellent showing made in the scrap campaign which was scheduled to close last Saturday, but which the governor continued another week. The school contest ended as planned and awards will be found in today's Herald. The schools worked early and late, and they gathered mountains of scrap. Their efforts exceeded expectations. They are deeply imbued with the idea of backing soldiers battling at the front to preserve freedom and opportunities now enjoyed. School children flank teacher leadership in a most creditable manner.

Up to Saturday noon scrap production in this county, figured as carefully as possible, had mounted to a total of 1,357,343 pounds, 284,667 pounds in excess of the amount gathered in the campaign which ended August 8.

The patriotic parade by the Wayne high school Friday morning and the brief program of music, singing and speaking Saturday afternoon did not attract many from the rural area, no doubt because farmers were busy gathering corn and were anxious to take advantage of the mild weather.

* * *

The cannon that was taken from the court house lawn to join the scrap collection caused some adverse feeling, especially among oldsters, on account of the sentiment connected with it. Judge J. M. Cherry says the cannon was a relic of the Spanish-American war, and was procured through the efforts of the G. A. R. We would suggest that following the present conflict — the Armageddon in which the powers of good triumph over the powers of evil — a memorial honoring soldiers of all wars be erected where the displaced cannon stood.

* * *

As we understand, a plan is to be carried out to ask scrap metal dealers to bid on piles accumulated on different school grounds and at other places without the cost of labor involved in one extra move. This would simplify disposition of the junk.

* * *

Suspends for Duration.

The Morrilton, Ark., Democrat is justly disturbed by this advertisement which is found in a Mississippi exchange. "Office of price administrator has asked us to return our priors to March maximum prices. Due to advance in labor, feed, supplies and delivery costs, we are unable to meet their request. Therefore, effective November 1, we will discontinue operating a dairy, both retail and wholesale, for the duration." Thus, price control to defeat inflation, threatens decreased production in some vitally essential lines. The price administrator may be expected to make adjustments according to unavoidable costs entering into production.

* * *

But the extreme emergency calls for utmost courage, and dealers in all lines may be expected to show their mettle by figuring ways to carry on despite obstacles which conditions impose, but which, it is hoped, may be modified according to practical necessities.

Establish Route On Two Branches

Mail Truck Will Serve on Lines When Train Is Not in Operation.

Tri-weekly service will go into effect on the Wakefield-Crofton and Wayne-Bloomfield branches of the railroad and at the same time star mail routes will be instituted to serve these lines on days when trains do not operate. The plan is that the train will make the run on the Crofton line Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. It will serve the Bloomfield line Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The star route out of Wayne will make the Crofton line Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, and serve the Bloomfield branch Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Emerson will be terminal for the train. On days when the Crofton branch is served, the train leaves Emerson 10 minutes earlier than formerly. When it makes the Bloomfield line, the schedule will be the same as in the past.

Bids on the temporary star route out of Wayne are being taken at the local post office. The mail truck will make connections with the train or star route service from the east in late morning. The new star route will leave not later than noon each day.

The mail truck will go from Wayne to Bloomfield Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, making the 57-mile route either by way of Carroll and Sholes or by Carroll and Belden, then to Randolph, McLean, Magnet and Wausa. The mail truck leaves Wayne Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays for the Crofton branch, going on the 55-mile route by way of Concord, Laurel, Coleridge, Hartington and Fordyke. The star route truck is due back in Wayne each day at 5:10.

The temporary star route will be put into effect November 2 and permanent route will be established later. Bidders on the temporary route may also bid on the permanent service.

New 35-mile speed regulations have also resulted in altering the bus schedule.

The bus leaves Wayne daily at 8 a.m. Passengers reach Omaha at 12 and Lincoln at 12:30. Leaving Omaha at 4:30 and Lincoln at 4, travelers arrive in Wayne at 8:25 in the evening.

Noted Norwegian Will Speak Here

Aase Gruda Skard to give Account of Nazi Rule In Her Native Land.

Aase Gruda Skard, famous Norwegian psychologist, teacher and writer, daughter of former Foreign Minister Koht, speaks in Wayne municipal auditorium Tuesday evening, October 27, at 8 o'clock under auspices of Wayne branch of American Association of University Women. The public is invited.

Mrs. Skard is making only the one stop in the middle west, and Wayne branch feels fortunate in being able to bring her here.

Mr. and Mrs. Skard with their two sets of twins were caught in Norway when Nazis overran the country. Their escape through the Soviet Union, Japan and across the Pacific to safety in America was a harrowing experience.

Subjects of Mrs. Skard's addresses explain the topics with which she deals. They include "Norway Today, Our Fighting Ally," "Around the World with Two Sets of Twins," "What Happened in Norway," "War Comes to the Children," "A Child Among Children," "Nazism in Conflict with Norwegian Mentality" and "Hitler's Quislings in Different Countries."

"Her account of the war was moving beyond description," comments the Women's University Club in Philadelphia. "One of the highlights of the year, her excellent English and her highly cultured style and delivery are completely satisfying," writes St. Olaf college. "Her quick thinking in answering questions from the audience is astounding," according to Urbana, Ill., University Women.

Wayne college band, directed by Prof. John R. Keith, will play before the address.

Mr. J. T. Bressler, jr., president of the local branch, and a few others will meet Mrs. Skard in Winslow next Tuesday noon. She will be here until Wednesday morning when she leaves for Logan, Utah.

Program Given At Scrap Rally

Americans Are Willing to Make Any Sacrifice Judge States.

District Judge A. E. Wenke of Stanton, in a talk given in Wayne Saturday afternoon, congratulated the people of Wayne county on the results attained in the scrap drive. He stated that it showed the real American spirit and was a fine tribute to the people of this community. Judge Wenke brought out the fact that it was just about 25 years ago that men from this country were fighting for foreign soil, coming back with the idea that the United States was free in its own right and that its citizens were able and willing to solve their own problems in their own way. In past years they paid little attention to the economic changes in Europe and dealt with nations abroad in an honest and fair way. Then they attempted to destroy this country's naval and air forces, bringing United States again into conflict.

The people of this country were called upon to prepare for war in short notice. Judge Wenke further stated, and they promptly responded by giving all they can through united effort. Judge Wenke concluded by saying that the common people, if given the opportunity, will accept any responsibility necessary so that Americans will come out with the ideals given to them by their forefathers.

The program was given on the streets following a three weeks intensive scrap drive. Wayne State Teachers college band, directed by Prof. John R. Keith, gave a concert preceding the talk by Judge Wenke. The band featured accordion music by Miss Rosemary Von Dracek and twirling by Miss Phyllis Smith. The Welsh quartet from Carroll sang several selections. In the quartet are Ivor Morris, Lloyd Morris, John Davis, Irwin Jones, E. W. Huie introduced Judge Wenke and reported the total amount of scrap collected in the county to that date as 1,357,243 pounds.

Non-War THE OMAHA Journal-Stockman points out the imperative Costs need of decreased non-war spending, and calls on congress to act in accordance with prudent economy which would be a powerful guard against threatened inflation. The Journal-Stockman says in part:

"A great many individuals and organizations have presented federal surveys to congress showing specifically how reductions in non-war spending well in excess of $2,000,000,000 a year can be made. It is to the credit of congress that, in certain notable instances, it has sharply pruned appropriations for one purpose or another. But it is completely clear that congress has not gone far enough. It is a literal fact that we are spending hundreds of millions of public dollars for projects which can be and should be either abandoned or deferred for the duration—and every one of these dollars is an influence in favor of inflation. The government itself, in short, is the greatest creator of the 'excess purchasing power' which is the basis of the inflationary spiral."

"It is impossible in a brief space to detail the places where additional cuts in non-war spending can be made. One example can be given, however. The government is spending very large sums for activities which are properly the function of private business. Electric power is a case in point. Hundreds of millions are even now being asked for further tax-exempt federal power expenditures. If it were not for the specter of more government competition and more political persecution, the utilities would expand to meet any conceivable increase in demand for power. They are willing and able economically to distribute power produced by the existing federal plants. Here is an instance where further spending of tax money for power is unnecessary and completely without justification."

"Only the strongest kind of public pressure can force congress really to cut non-war spending to the limit. In the name of national security, national solvency, and national economic defense, the people must demand that that be done."

Soldier IT is not all grim war for men in soldier ranks. Their experience in travel and personal contacts would be quite impossible in private life. Educational values are varied and rich. As indicated by reports which come to the Herald, food is uniformly good and abundant, and housing quarters sanitary and comfortable. Training reduces the over-fat and gives muscle to those who are too lean. Sources of recreation are available everywhere. All realize that fighting a war is hard, dangerous business, but soldiers appreciate, as all should, that nothing is left undone to give advantage and support. Boys in the service miss accustomed homes, and they are sorely missed by home folks, but there are compensations which all understand.

Favors THIS week the president is reported to have announced his support of Senator Geo. W. Norris in his contest for re-election. This leaves Foster May, regular democratic nominee, out on a limb, his legs dangling and his mind feverishly searching for a safe place to light. Administration circles will doubtless adjourn politics as soon as the election is over. In the meantime voters will get ready to go to the polls to express their judgment, and we will be surprised if Norris and May do not find themselves in the same boat, neither being in a position heroically to congratulate the other. Politics makes strange combinations. In turning from ungrateful politicos, May will be able to return to radio announcing. He has a fascinating voice.

It is predicted by persons familiar with the trend of the times that enough republican congressmen will be elected to control the next congress. This is important to prosecute the war and to rationalize local economic policies. Frank Gannett, assistant chairman of the republican national committee, sees the nation swinging back to sound business principles. Demands of the overshadowing war emergency magnify the folly of keeping up unnecessary peace-time bureaus. A republican house will speed rather than hinder the war effort.

The suggestion by Senator Hatch of New Mexico, that the republican and democratic nominees for United States senator in Nebraska withdraw from the contest to give Senator Geo. W. Norris, independent by petition, clear, unopposed sailing, seems too childish to come from one enjoying a seat in the country's highest law-making body. Such a plan would force acquiescence on the part of around two-thirds of the state's electors. In the three-cornered contest none has a clinch, not even the venerable incumbent.

Some mighty poor psychology is being dashed out to the public, but sharp contradictions in high places tend to show that our reports are not all justified even though complete dependence cannot be placed on favorable signs. Masters of gloom who command us to hurdle multiplied barriers and produce more, dig deeper with assurance that the digging is going to be tough, advising us to feel worse and worse, are mistaken in ways to cheer people on to overcome increased hardships.

As to the suggestion that America may starve, mentioned editorially in Monday's World-Herald, we understand after one misses a few meals he is free from hunger and happily on the way. But at this juncture, in a land of abundance, the threatened calamity seems quite inconceivable. However, if it is in the minds of experts who are in the habit of harmonizing supply with demand, efforts should be made to keep the boys on the farm whenever possible to facilitate the work of food production.

The fact that school children are led understandingly—not driven coldly—was reflected in their successful activities in the scrap metal drive. Squeers in Dickens' Dotheboys' Hall was an extreme example of the old-fashioned tyrant in handling children. Evolution through the years from brute force to sympathetic interest has wrought salutary results in fashioning fine character. Children like their teachers and are eager to cooperate with them.

Compulsory saving is in prospect according to Washington reports. As applied to small businesses that are increasingly burdened, we wonder how the plan can be made to work. With higher wages for diminishing labor supply and with a ceiling over prices, a compulsory saving order could be in the unhappy plight of trying to extract nothing from nothing.

It would be a deserved recognition of merit to service for Wayne county to rally to the support of Wm. Crossland in his candidacy for the state legislature. He was alert and conscientious in looking out for constituents the past two years, and with the benefit of experience he can be depended on to do even better in the coming session.

If the report of neglect on the part of a commanding officer in the Solomons last August is true, we are led to wonder if reprehensible typewriter strategists are more culpable than some of those held directly responsible for the war.

More fellows like Jeffers in the harness would get the job done with less fanfare and fewer blunders. More of the Jeffers type would dismiss selfish politics and persuade all forces, including Washington, to settle down to business.

John L. Lewis, would-be labor union autocrat, opposes freezing wages as bad business. Worse business is paying stiff fees into the coffers of the union racket for the privilege of working.

Secretary Stimson says there are some in the army who are too old. Same thing might be true of some persons higher up in the government service. We are thinking of Stimson.

Corn picking has started, and often the yield exceeds previous estimates. Weather, free from storms, will aid gathering and housing the crop under the handicap of too little help.

Gov. Griswold congratulates Nebraska over its successful scrap metal drive. "The state has helped this nation a step closer to victory," he says.

Increase in Production.

(Omaha Journal-Stockman)

Of course it is possible that we may have a 10 per cent increase in farm production next year as the farm planners in Washington announce, but there are very few farmers and stock growers who believe this is possible. Owing to the fact that the man-power of our farms and ranches is being drawn into the armed service of the country and into the munition plants, there are great many farms that will lie idle while thousands of others will be of necessity operated on a smaller scale than in 1941 and 1942. A shortage in farm production in 1942 would not be surprising.

Robbing Peter to Pay Paul.

(Industrial Press Service)

If the administration has its way, every worker and every employer in the United States will pay a 100 percent increase in Social Security taxes starting January 1, 1943. This is in line with legislation put into effect by congress and the president in 1939 when a schedule of payroll taxes was established for the subsequent 10 or 12 years.

In a recent address to the upper house of congress, Senator Vandenberg, calling for the freezing of the 1 per cent tax on both employer and employee for the year 1943, drew attention to the fact that this action would not, in any way whatsoever, endanger the social security trust fund.

Moreover, the senator pointed out, in quoting Arthur Altmeyer, social security board chairman, "the old-age trust fund would not fall below three times the highest anticipated annual benefits of the next five years if no taxes at all were collected next year."

If the social security trust fund is ample to provide for normal withdrawals, why in the name of common sense, should the present tax be doubled?

The old suspicion that existed when the social security law went into effect, that the fund would be used as a "grab bag," was revived when in his address the senator from Michigan implied that the additional funds were sought to meet a part of the war bill.

Increased payroll taxes at this time would work a hardship on everyone concerned with the payment of the tax. And robbing Peter (social security) to pay Paul (war debts) would be equally unjustifiable.

federal funds not related to the war effort.

In the Miami, News' Walter Locke warns against failing to "hoe the last row" in the struggle to attain victory and freedom. He says we did not finish the task in the last war, nor guard against collapse following the armistice. With the war ended, we were not duly mindful of the responsibilities of reconstruction, and as a consequence disaster fell to the lot of our economic system. Speaking of the war and the peace-time ordeal ahead, he says in part: "The armistice to come will find industries attuned to war, armies with millions of men all over the world. Half the earth will be chaos. To return the industries to private production and the armies to private work will be no less a task than taking them from private practice to fight the war. Can we hold ourselves steady for that task? We mobilized for the war under pressure of a common peril. We were united for the war by a common danger, a common fear. The coming armistice declared, only a wise patience can hold us to the long, slow dismantling of the engine of war. When the demagogue comes then to lure us with promise of an immediate return to normalcy, a course that spells only crashing ruin as before, shall we be schooled to say to him: 'Get thee behind me, Satan?'"

AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C.

October 14, 1942

By a vote of 77-0, the senate passed the unprecedented new tax bill prescribing the highest rates in American history on the incomes of individuals and corporations. The senate-passed measure would impose a tax of 19 per cent on the first taxable dollar of every citizen and to add that a per cent victory tax on all annual income received in excess of $624. In other words, the victory tax would apply to income in excess of $12 per week. At the top of the tax ladder, the senate bill would tax income in excess of $5,000,000 at 88 per cent. The chairman of the senate finance committee has estimated that the measure as passed by the senate would increase the treasury's revenues by $7,900,000,000 a year. The treasury disagrees with that figure and estimates the increased yield at $6,851,700,000. Since existing levies are expected to produce approximately $17,000,000 next year, the gross federal revenues are expected to approach $25,000,000,000 annually, where the levies authorized by the pending bill become effective.

State, county and local taxes amounted to about $1 billion this year. So, what with federal taxes for the war and all else, and the state, county and local taxes, principally upon property, the total tax upon everybody next year will run about $36 billions. Some say that will be one-fourth of the national income, others say one-third. It will depend on how much the national income amounts to by January 1.

Another statement in common circulation is that 50 tons of ocean shipping are required for each soldier sent overseas, including his armament and equipment. Unquestionably mechanized equipment, munitions and supplies are needed in vast quantities. But, if such figures are correct, over 30 million tons of shipping are required for our armed forces now said to be in foreign lands. We are shipping millions of tons to Britain, Russia and China to supply their armies. Shipments are made under difficult circumstances and successfully met. But we have not been shipping as liberally as these press stories would indicate. The Truman committee's statement may cause a bit of shaking up in some of the press divisions, and result in their becoming more accurate.

Secretary Wickard and his department continued to point to the farm labor problem and the probabilities of serious food shortage, next year. Never before have the farmers produced so wonderfully as in this year 1942. There may not be another year of such enormous yields very soon, and unless farm help is obtainable, the acreage will be vastly reduced.

The secretary suggested in a recent speech that 500,000 farmers might be induced to leave their smaller and less productive farms to work on big farms of more fertile soil in the middlewest and in that way increase production. It is the family-sized farm which produces most of the dairy and poultry products, and which suffers from lack of help as much as or more than the big rich farms. The secretary's solution would not be a very satisfactory move.

The pending revenue bill is now in conference for reconciliation of conflicting rates and language in the differing bills as passed by the two houses. Since both the house and the senate approved identical normal rates and surtax rates for individual incomes, these rates cannot be changed in conference.

Friday Evening.

With Bud Best star senior half-back spearheading a terrific ground and air attack, Wayne teachers remained among the undefeated college teams in the state. Wayne defeated Hastings at Hastings Friday 28-6.

In an impressive touchdown parade in the second half, after being held scoreless the first half, the Wayne teachers showed their followers why they had been undefeated for the season.

Bud scored two touchdowns on long runs, while Moe Cunningham opened the third quarter with a 31-yard run for the first score of the game. Koziak late in the game intercepted a Bronco pass and raced 31 yards for the final tally. Stoltz, Wayne left end, converted successfully after each touchdown, making four straight placements.

Hastings' lone tally came in the fourth quarter. A penalty gave Hastings the ball on Wayne's yard line, and from there White took the ball over in one play. Hastings failed to convert.

Saturday Wayne Teachers go to Yankton to play the Greyhounds at their annual homecoming game. This is the first meeting of the two teams in several years and promises to be the hardest game so far on Jim Morrison's Wildcats' schedule. Yankton has lost only to Augustana college, winning from Southern Normal, Buena Vista, Northern Normal and Western Union.

Coast Guard Offers
Opportunity to Men

Eighteen and 19-year-old young men were urged today by the coast guard recruiting office in Omaha to join up while unlimited enlistments are permitted in the coast guard. The recruiting officers said that those who enlist early will be given preference in promotions over the ones who come in later with the rush. It was pointed out that applicants for enlistment in the coast guard ordinarily have to wait their turn, and that unlimited enlistment quotas come rarely, and usually last only a short time. Right at present all qualified applicants are sworn in immediately, some of them being returned home until called for training.

Eighteen and 19 are ideal ages for service in the coast guard," the officers said, "because at those ages, young men are most energetic, eager for action, accustomed and receptive to instruction in trades and professions like those taught coastguardsmen as preparation for advancement."
