Register Friday For Gas Ration

Schools Are in Charge of Program for Residents of Wayne County.

Registration for gasoline rationing will be conducted through the schools of Wayne county Friday, November 20. The present date on which rationing is to become effective is December 1, but this may be delayed. Regardless of when the rationing is effective, all car owners are asked to register Friday.

In Wayne, the city school staff will have charge of the registration at the municipal auditorium from 8:30 a. m. until 12, from 1 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m. Besides all car owners living in Wayne, those in district 14 will also register here.

In Carroll, Winside, Hoskins and Sholes, the registration will be conducted by schools.

Rural teachers of the county will handle the work in their districts. Rural schools will be open from 8 to 5 for this purpose. Residents of districts 5 and 37 will register at 37 and those in 36 will go to 46.

Each car owner should, before going to register, secure a blank from a service station and have this filled out either in ink or in indelible pencil. The blank requires the name and address of the owner, license number and model of car, and serial number for each of the five tires.

Registration will be taken only for cars having no more than five tires. Each one who has more than five tires for a car, one for each wheel and one spare, must sell the extras in his possession before he is eligible for gasoline and mileage ration books. Any extras should be taken to the express agency office to sell these.

The "A" ration book, to which most are entitled, allows 90 miles of personal driving and 150 miles of occupational driving a month. Those who believe this will not take care of their essential needs, may obtain blanks, on which to make application for supplemental rationing. These blanks will be available at the registration headquarters and will be mailed to the county ration board which will pass on the request.

The rationing plan calls for inspection of tires every four months. Inspectors will make recommendations. The aim is to secure greatest possible mileage. Volunteers who took supplies to schools Wednesday for Supt. F. B. Decker are Lee Selton, T. P. Roberts, Herbert Lutt, Mrs. Clarence Conger, Mrs. Walter Miller, Mrs. L. F. Perry, A. R. ... and L. NUMBER 69 Information that will help you buy a better-tasting turkey Things you need for delicious desserts Little Miss Pryn finds out why

Let's talk Turkey

Thanksgiving time is turkey time—and the turkey has to be of the best quality. It has to be the right type of bird... in adequate quantity for the feast... properly dressed... and definitely good. So to help you when you go to buy this important holiday bird, let's talk turkey for awhile, so you will probably wonder...

How much turkey you should buy

An easy rule to remember in buying quantity is to provide 3/4 to a pound of turkey (dressed but not drawn) for each person to be served. Naturally, the larger the turkey, the more meat you'll have in proportion to bone. And it's really good economy to buy a turkey a few pounds heavier than you will actually need.

What size turkey is best for roasting

Twelve pounds is the maximum weight for a tender roasting hen. If you need a larger bird than this, buy a tom, for a tom weighs heavier for its age than does a hen.

Is there any homework to be done on a turkey drawn at the market

It's your turkey from now until table time and it's wise to roast a turkey within 24 hours after it has been drawn. To get a turkey ready for stuffing, remove any pinfeathers, using a paring knife, a straw berry huller, or old tinned tweezers. Remove the colored feathers from the wing tips—pliers work fine—or cut off the wing tips. If any hairs remain, sing them off, using a gas flame or tightly twisted paper torch. Then scrub the outer skin of the turkey with a brush and warm water. Cut out the oil sac on top of the tail-piece and remove odds and ends of lungs and windpipe. Cut off the neck inside the skin down close to the bird's shoulders. Rinse inside and out with cold water; pat dry with paper towel or clean cloth. Sprinkle lightly inside with salt. Mr. Turk is ready to be stuffed!

Ask Bell Ringing For Thanksgiving

Rubber Situation Brings Up Anti-Horse Ordinance in Missouri City

Veterans of Foreign Wars in Illinois ask the nation to observe Thanksgiving day by ringing bells, a reminder that it is time to give thanks to God for the blessings of freedom and prosperity. Thanksgiving has not outward expression such as the salute and whistles of Armistice day and the carols of Christmas.

The rubber situation has brought about a problem in Columbia, Mo. The possibility that horses may again come into use, revives interest in city ordinances which prohibit leading, riding or driving horses on the streets, also washing them on streets or hitching them to fire plugs or lamp posts.

A shortage of coffee created a strange situation in Kokomo, Ind. One man saw a long line apparently waiting to get into a grocery. After a time the man asked another if he thought they'd get in before the store closed. "Store?" questioned the other. "All these people are waiting to see the new mayor about a job." The first man exasperated himself and explained that all he wanted was to buy a pound of coffee.

In North Carolina 34 years ago Dr. Kitchin attended a little girl who was ill. By mail last week the doctor received a $5 bill and a note from the father: "Thank you so much and forgive me for not paying sooner."

The strenuous life of a soldier didn't bother Marvin Berry of Florida, but the youth is back home, honorably discharged, because authorities found him hopelessly allergic to wool.

Nancy Campbell, Denver, bet she could ride her bicycle down a hill while using both hands to fix her face. A car hit the bicycle and tossed 14-year-old Nancy in front of a trolley bus. The bus stopped in time. Nancy lost the bet. But she had so many cuts and bruises a doctor was called to fix her face.

A burglar broke into an Albuquerque home but didn't take anything. He just made himself a cup of coffee and drank it, then disappeared.

A Kansas man cried for help when his overturned car caught fire. "Someone under the wreckage?" questioned a helping-hand motorist. "No, I just want to borrow your lug wrench to save the tires."

The war has handed Dallas officials a difficult problem. In an exclusive neighborhood, some residents want permission to have stables. Others, without horses, put the heat on too.

A 2-month-old kangaroo landed in California in two hops - from Australia to Honolulu and from Honolulu here - both by plane of course. A Texas soldier is taking the kangaroo home as a war souvenir.

It was apple harvest time on the highway for spectators who happened along near Valparaiso, Ind. Two trucks smashed together and out rolled 10 tons of apples.

A group of Kansas City Negroes, claiming affiliation with Mohammedism, were jailed on draft evasion charges. All gave ages approaching 100. Puzzled police finally learned that the prisoners counted only six months to a year. The judge will decide their true ages.

Wilfred Bernard Fortier, 38, of Chicago, is probably the highest paid private in the United States army. Camp Grant, Ill., officials believe. Family allotments for his wife and 11 children, 10 of whom are dependent, and his own pay, will total $180 monthly.

Two high-ranking Italian officers were fuming mad last week when they were captured in Egypt. They declared that they came there to observe warfare and not to engage in it.

A church bell donated to the metal drive in Arizona has been placed on a downtown sidewalk with this sign, "I've praised the Lord, now I go to make some ammunition."

Main Street WE regret that the needs of war will soon take many of our leading Main street business men into the armed forces. Adjustments required to answer the call are severe and costly, and losses to community activity are quite irreparable. No doubt every community is suffering similar shrinkage in essential personnel. It is one of the inexorable exigencies of war. Every community's courage is taxed in the same way. Those left in charge on the home front will keep their chins up and carry on with firm resolution and high hopes. Community impairment will be minimized as far as possible through determined efforts. Good wishes will accompany Main streeters into soldier ranks, and earnest prayers will rise to highest heaven for the optimistic realization of a short conflict and an early victory.

Childish Practice THE government's policy to enforce shipments in car-load lots without variation entails what seems an impractical and childish practice. If shipment of a few hundred pounds of freight is scheduled for Randolph or Bloomfield, it cannot be put into an empty car headed for those places, but must be sent by truck to Sioux City, terminal point, to be added to prescribed bulk. Thus, an empty freight car is unable to accommodate shippers unless it can be adequately filled, and the result is delay and increased transportation costs. It is sound economy to plan for car-load shipments, but quite the reverse, it would appear, to insist on a car remaining empty in transit if it cannot be filled. Government rules should be sufficiently elastic to make sense and avoid unnecessary expense and inconvenience.

Needed Changes IF TRUE as Senator Byrd charges that thousands are unnecessarily employed in government bureaus and agencies, not essential to prosecution of the war, the senator should round up enough fellow-democrats to join republican forces in the next congress to effect needed changes. The combination may well pull together to cut out burdensome bureaus whose man power could be used to advantage in war activities. Also if the present congress cannot see its way clear to install a longer work week, a union of democrats and republicans can do it. The growing demand for helpers gives sound ground to the movement started by Byrd to shoo needless workers out of Washington and make the work week more nearly accord with production requirements. Republicans in congress would evidently carry out the wishes of the electorate by a combination to solve bureau and labor problems which have vexed and often hindered the war effort.

Hopkins WRITING for the December Cosmopolitan, Harry L. Hopkins of the administration's inner circle, warns that people will have to submit to multiplied regulations and restrictions. Comments the World-Herald in part on the Hopkins idea: "But if the government goes further and tries to manage in detail the operations of farm, factory and home, then in some degree it will waste the very energies it is trying to conserve. "As an alternative to super-regimentation, we hope the gentlemen in Washington will take into account the possibility of managing the war program by law, rather than regulation. The law, for example, might be used to lengthen the work week. It might be used to levy taxes which would force the people to live simply and frugally—and so force the manufacturers of luxuries to reduce their scale of operations. "In such ways America might adapt its traditional free economy to the needs of total war without going over, lock, stock and barrel, to the totalitarian methods of our enemies—the methods which free Americans despise, and which our sons at the fighting front are trying to destroy."

The United States is the most humanitarian country in the world. It has never been prompted by a spirit of conquest. Its wars have been fought to destroy flagrant evils and extend human liberty. It has stood for the freedom for which peoples have struggled through the centuries. In the present conflict into which it was forced by the rising threat of totalitarianism and subjugation, it will win at huge cost, and its rewards will be found in the all-important independence and self-determination of nations.

No personal animosities were felt in the late election, and speculations on why the electorate turned against the new deal are many and often faulty. Voters expressed wholesale disapproval of costly bureaucratic management in the hope that republican ascendancy may hasten war ends and other objectives. It will be up to republicans to cut out needless waste and otherwise carry out the people's mandate.

Henry Wallace refuses to accept the oblation designed for vice presidents, and the more he thinks, the more he gets on the nerves of sober-minded individuals who are eager to safeguard democracy as Americans have known it for more than 150 years. The Lincoln Journal thinks Wallace is out of step, and could help unity at this critical juncture by keeping still. Doubtless the vice president is a well meaning theorist without successful experience in solving life's problems.

At a time of extreme emergency we witness congress engaging in heated and time-wasting disagreement over a bill to abolish the poll tax. A threatened filibuster to kill time and prevent action does not harmonize with consideration of many important problems involved in the war. The poll tax does not deserve a lot of attention. If it needs to be snuffed out, the sooner the better. Then it should be forgotten in the maze of other and more important matters.

Soon again the state's unicameral will start its machinery, and claim a share of popular attention. Tire conservation will doubtless be a barrier to bombarding the members with personal interviews. Whether this will disappoint or relieve the senators we do not know.

America's war implements are beginning to move into successful action. Reports from all battle fronts the past week have been encouraging. Once equipped and trained, America's fighting forces never fail expectations.

If everyone could be pulled down to the level suggested by jealous rivalries little or no headway could be made and there would be no constructive achievement. The laudable endeavor to excel should not be hampered by feelings of envy.

Besides the slaughter of men and the suffering of enslaved populations, the tragedy of war has ruined architecture of priceless value.

Thirteen Reasons. (Norfolk Daily News)

Replies from 266 candidates successful and defeated, out of 603 quizzed by United States News, gave thirteen reasons for the election results last week.

A democratic loser from Nebraska, not named, wired: "Entrance of Senator Norris ruined all democratic chances, wrecked party organization and destroyed financial support to our candidates. This also reacted to defeat Norris, many democrats considering him a menace to party strength. Endorsement of Norris by the president killed not only Norris but democrats as well."

Which all may be true, but still Norris wasn't running in Iowa, the Dakotas, Kansas, Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania, New York, California nor in other states that swept into the GOP column with Nebraska. So there must have been other reasons operating in this state too. The thirteen given by the candidates all boil down to one—dissatisfaction with the Roosevelt administration.

Equalizing Upwards. (Lincoln Journal)

One of the frequent criticisms of the war program is that the cost is being unnecessarily increased to the taxpayers of the country by adherence to the forty hour week in war industries, with time and a half for overtime. Nothing is being done about it, and with labor administration in power it is not likely that anything can be done. The president contends that war should not be allowed to interfere with social gains.

In view of this expression of public opinion it is rather strange that the senate civic service committee should introduce a bill placing all government employees on a 44 or 48 hour week with overtime for all employment over 40 hours.

With 58 per cent of the two million government workers now getting overtime pay on the same basis, it is now proposed, in order "to equalize" payments to extend the same emoluments to the 42 per cent. The senator who introduced the bill said that most of the ones now drawing extra pay are in the arsenals and navy yards, and that they are getting overtime because of work standards established by the war labor board. Government salaries are always "equalized" upward.

Passage of the bill will add a million and a quarter dollars a day to the war costs. It amounts to an increase of pay since none of those employees who will be benefited work more than 40 hours a week at the present time.

And Still The WPA. (Omaha Journal-Stockman)

Wartime expenses of government and its bureaus have been growing this year by leaps and bounds but people have been so busy working to win the war that they have apparently paid little attention to expenses. The new tax bill placing unheard of burdens on citizens is calculated to draw attention to many unnecessary federal agencies.

The Washington Review says a refreshing NOTE has been struck by an official of the Work Products Administration, who expresses the hope that the government will give the WPA "an honorable discharge," adding, "I see no reason to ask congress for another work appropriation." This is a proper and logical application of the original theory of the WPA. That agency was established to provide work, at "security wages," for employable persons unable to obtain private employment during the depression. Now that business is going full tilt, with the war effort creating a labor shortage, the WPA should be expected to suspend its activities.

It is encouraging to find at least one executive of a government bureau who is not seeking to perpetuate it under a new guise when the circumstances which brought it into being no longer exist. Congress appropriated $280,000,000 for the WPA for the 1943 fiscal year. Here then is official recognition of a possible quarter-billion-dollar further saving in non-war expenditures.

ENCOURAGING

Bruce Bliven, editor, gives six reasons for the belief that future wars may be avoided. He talked to many experts before drawing his conclusions. The time when war brought advantages no longer exists. Surplus of people is no argument in a world that could support two or three times its present population. Lack of raw materials is disputed by synthetic processes that ordinarily far exceed demands. Need of foreign trade is met by cultivating home consumption. There is no proof that any rational human being wants war. Emotions may be led in the direction of peace. Education may fashion fellow-respect rather than fellow-dislike. Children in present enemy countries may be taught the ways of peace. He says in conclusion: "The scientists who know most about these matters believe that war no longer pays, that a world without war is entirely possible and that it can be obtained at the end of the present conflict. All that is necessary is that we shall sincerely desire it and utilize the recently discovered facts about human nature and human institutions in order to bring it about."

People will be anxious to cooperate and follow the announced plan in all respects.

Not Necessarily Unlucky.

Friday, the thirteenth, was just another day. Some good and some bad things happened. The war was turning against the axis in Africa, and democracies were given a glimpse of the war cloud's silver lining. War news generally stimulated hope. On the other hand personal losses and disappointments might or might not be attributed to an unlucky day. Every day's occurrences may be matched with the way one thinks. Friday, the thirteenth, really means no more as a producer of evil than groundhog day as a forecaster of weather.

Farmers Asked To Increase Pork

Wayne county pork producers are being asked to do their share in the increased pork production program for the 1943 year. Nebraska, along with other states that had been held back because of crop conditions, is asked to increase up to 40 per cent. This year farmers in this state produced approximately 4,750,000 hogs.

Wayne county goal probably will be less than the 40 per cent increase for the state, as the county has increased its pork production program during the past several years. Some counties in the central part of the state have produced but few hogs during the past few years due to crop shortages.

Wayne county may be able to furnish breeding stock for some of these counties. Farmers in this county can plan to save more piglets, and market hogs to a heavier weight, provide proper protein supplement, use pastures and minerals to reduce feed requirements per 100 pounds of gain, take special precautions in controlling diseases.

Will Come to Wayne.

Dr. A. E. Gaddbois, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, of Norfolk will spend Monday, Wednesday and Saturday of each week at the late Dr. E. H. Dotson's office in Wayne. Dr. Gaddbois was a captain in the medical reserve corps in his specialty of eye, ear, nose and throat in the last war. He has been practicing this speciality in Norfolk since 1919. He is a member of the Madison county medical society, the Nebraska State Medical association and a fellow of the American academy of eye, ear, nose and throat.

Herman Lammers, 64, died at St. Helena last week.

SOUL SURVIVAL.

A physician writing for a current magazine supports the theory of the survival of the soul. He was changed from early school-day disbelief to positive conviction by the lecture of a noted anatomist who declared that no reasonable human being could study the intricacies of the human body without acknowledging the existence of a Creator of surpassing intelligence and wisdom. He stated that while external conditions have changed, the fundamental principles taught under the leadership of Jesus more than two thousand years ago are the same. The writer also stressed the efficacy of prayer which reveals human follies and emphasizes humility and obligations. Speaking generally he says: "The increasing tendency in the social, political and economic world to regard ourselves as our brother's keeper is surely one proof that we are on the eve of a spiritual revival. The eagerness for self-sacrifice which men and women in all walks of life are displaying today is another proof. Millions of people everywhere have arrived at a point where they dimly realize that trying to satisfy themselves with material things is futile."

AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C. November 17, 1942

It appears that for a while the business of the house will be light. Both just before and just after the election, the house confined itself to short sessions on Tuesday and Thursday of the week and no controversial legislation was taken up during that time. There were speeches in the house and in the senate, also, the usual "extensions of remarks" but there were small numbers of representatives and senators to listen.

Although the house schedule is light for the next week or two, there may yet be much business in both houses over the remainder of the second session of the 77th congress. There may be some important new legislation and there are left-overs of the whole congress to clean up.

The recent election has somewhat weakened the administration control of the next congress. Pre-election polls generally indicated that there would be some republican gains in the house. Few political prophets predicted sufficient gains to produce change in party control, yet the gains closely approached that size. There are now 167 republicans in the house of representatives. There may be as many as 210 republican representatives in the 78th congress; 218 is a majority.

The first after-election business of the house was to consider the senate amendments to the so-called teen-age draft bill. The senate passed the bill to draft youths 18 and 19 years of age, but provided that they must receive at least one year's training before being placed on combat duty. The war department wants the youths drafted, but objects to the requirement of a full year's training. The department claims that the energy and enthusiasm of youth are needed to bring the army up to the standards demanded by this war. Congress has been responding almost without limit to the demands of the military experts, but hesitates at passing a law which will put youths into the service without the training which the department hitherto has claimed necessary for the protection of the soldiers, as well as the efficiency of the forces.

The house sent the amended bill to conference and the conferees unanimously agreed to eliminate the year's training amendment. Thereafter, the house adopted the conference report. The war department opposed the particular amendment and insisted that adequate training was dependent upon the kind and intensity of training rather than upon any fixed minimum period of training. The war department also contended that the limitation by law would prevent necessary flexibility in army organization, also, that army officers can best determine when men have been adequately trained for combat. At any rate, the house of representatives acceded to the army viewpoint.

There will be two other important measures up very shortly. One will be upon the demand of the president's advisors that he shall be empowered to remove and discontinue all tariff duties during the war. There may be some question about the advisability of throwing the tariff question into the hopper at such a time, but anti-tariff counsellors at the White house allege that such trade restrictions are hampering prosecution of the war. Were there not many selfish interests which have been fostering the movement, it might be less controversial, but with price ceilings fixed by OPA based on duties on such materials as are imported, change or removal of tariffs might make some corporations handsomely rich. The gift to the makers by the removal of the revenue tax on coconut oil amounts to millions annually. Removal of the tariff on mahua oil from Brazil will also make for a happy day for the oleomargarin factories. Nobody wants to impede the prosecution of the war, nor does anybody favor making more millionaires by legislation during the war.

A new proposal is that a "food dictator" shall be appointed to conserve our food supply by more strict regulation. The extent of the dictatorship proposed is not yet ascertainable. One of those "trial balloons" releases by a Washington press agency suggests that the eating habits of the people shall be restricted to prevent luxurious living at the table. It even suggests that the daily rations shall be reduced to cereals, potatoes and vegetable oil products, and that meats, dairy products, etc., be reserved for the use of our armed forces and our allies. It would scarcely seem probable that a sensible man like Donald Nelson, of the WPB, would back such a program, and it is doubtful that he would do so. Our people are patriotic. If necessary to provide for our fighting forces, we would all be willing to endure any hardship. But bureaucratic experiments of the kind mentioned are not necessary. With a billion bushels of wheat and three billion bushels of corn as a starter, the farmers will provide food if given reasonable opportunity to do so.

The turkey crop will be larger than usual, and will number 33,000,000 big plump birds. Prices are a bit higher than last year, but still not as high as in some deplorable years. The cost of producing luscious turkey meat has been much higher than usual. Help is scarce, and turkey feeds are double the price of a few years ago. Now the turkey raisers are in a quandary. If OPA should impose ceiling prices below cost of production, they will lose heavily. Hundreds of them will quit business. Then, in 1943, the turkey crop will drop off accordingly and our general meat supply will be curtailed by millions of pounds. The same will be true as to other poultry. Rationing helps distribute the food supply and will be resorted to more extensively in the next few months, but rationing does not increase the supply of foods. Ceiling prices protect consumers but if they destroy production the consumers will go hungry.

With fuel rationing and the prospects of a chilly winter, Mrs. America may come to agree that old-fashioned flannel night gowns and pajamas have their advantages. An order has been issued requiring that half the looms making outing flannels which had been converted to production of bag sheetings last April 29 now be reconverted to turning out flannel material.

Women are needed in Alaska to fill positions as stenographers, typists, teletype operators, multiplex operators, telephone operators. Rates of pay are $2,100 to $2,400 per year, and those chosen will receive transportation at government expense. The minimum age is 25. Further information may be obtained by calling at a branch office of the United States civil service commission.

The old idea that Mrs. America can't do men's work is pretty well disproved by a report issued this week by the department of labor's women's bureau. It revealed that women workers are now being used extensively for machines that do repetitive operations, and more and more plants are training and using women to set up their own machines and to hold more highly skilled jobs.

Because of a critical shortage of nurses, a new survey of all professional nurses in the United States will soon get underway.

Christmas spirit this year may well have to be confined to homes rather than decorating the streets and store fronts. The war production board is asking city officials, civic clubs, chambers of commerce, merchants and citizens generally to dispense with outdoor decorative lighting this Christmas.

Mrs. America is asked to economize on her use of gas in cooking because war industries are using more of it for processing strategic materials and manufacturing chemicals. Pipelines for moving natural gas from the fields to the point of use are scarce.

Any color, shade or size of Mrs. America's stockings can be used for powder bags and other military purposes if they contain silk or nylon. So, women are advised to wash and save worn out hosiery until WPB's conservation division starts its stocking salvage drive November 16.

The war production board gives assurance that the supply of razors and blades will be ample for all requirements in 1943.

Hoarding is un-American. No shortage of coffee exists, officials state, but the fact that many have hoarded supplies has made the supply short. It is planned to ration coffee and each family will declare the amount on hand. This will distribute the supply equally.

Nebraska Legion has declared open season on old "jalopies" and will make an effort to add these old machines to the nation's scrap heap. The drive starts November 23 and continues 15 days.

Eric Marks, head of the farm scrap section of WPB, urges that the collection of scrap continue through winter regardless of difficulties. Scrap collection must keep up with defense plants and with the boys who continue their military operations regardless of weather.

ODT has postponed until December 1 the truck mileage rationing program which had been scheduled earlier. The postponement of the deadline on certificates of war necessity does not change the tire inspection period for commercial motor vehicles. Inspections must be made November 15 and January 15.

Mrs. Nellie Ross, director of the U. S. mint, says that too many pennies are being hoarded in children's banks and elsewhere. She asks everyone to put these pennies into circulation. A penny contains copper, a valuable wartime metal, and people should spend pennies so that more of this metal will not have to be used to coin pennies to take the place of those kept out of circulation.

Destruction of rubber, scrap metals, rags and other strategic materials constitutes sabotage. Persons having extra tires or other needed materials should turn them over to the government.

The Golden Text is: "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?" (1 Corinthians 3:16). Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord: my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God. Blessed are they that dwell in thy house: they will be still praising thee" (Psalms 84: 2, 4). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Science reveals Spirit's Spul, as not in the body, and God as not in man but as reflected by man. The greater cannot be in the lesser. The belief that the greater can be in the lesser is an error that works ill. This is a leading point in the Science of soul, that Principle is not in its idea, Spirit, Soul, is not confined in man, and is never in matter" (p. 467).

Is Fatally Burned In Truck Accident

Oil Transport Is Consumed By Flames After Hitting Sheep Near Randolph.

Wayne Eatwell, 24, of Fremont, was burned to death about 7 o'clock Armistice morning when the oil transport he was driving struck two sheep on highway 81 eight miles southwest of Randolph. The transport, belonging to Ray Pawley, Fremont, was destroyed.

Mr. Eatwell's body, charred beyond recognition, was found in a ditch about 15 feet southwest of the transport which had rolled over three times, landing about 321 feet from the scene of the accident. The transport landed bottom side up and was consumed by flames. The license plate was the only distinguishing mark on the machine.

It is believed that a 30-gallon gasoline barrel on the side of the transport exploded and started the fire. The 3,000 gallons of fuel oil which were in the tank baked the concrete for about 500 feet. The burned sheep were found about 300 feet from the scene. Mr. Eatwell leaves his young wife at Scottsbluff.

Thurston county has 80 men leaving for service November 24.

Correct Pledge Is Stressed by D. A. R.

Wayne chapter of D. A. R. is interested in informing the public as to the correct wording of the pledge of allegiance also as to the proper positions to assume in giving the pledge. The proper wording of the pledge is as follows: "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all." This should be rendered by standing with the right hand over the heart; extending the right hand, palm upward, toward the flag at the words "to the flag" and holding this position until the end, when the hand drops to the side. Civilians will always show full respect to the flag when the pledge is given by standing at attention, men removing the head-dress. Persons in uniform shall render the military salute.

Car-Truck Crash Causes Injuries

Mrs. Elder Giese and Betty Lou Koepke Severely Hurt Near Wayne.

Mrs. Elder Giese, 20, and Miss Betty Lou Koepke, 14, sisters, the latter of Pliger, were severely injured last Thursday afternoon when the Giese car, driven by the former, and one of J. N. Einung's gravel trucks, driven by Ben Twibus of Beemer, collided five miles south and five east of Wayne. Both women suffered fractured skulls, and Miss Koepke was unconscious until late Friday. Mrs. Giese has a badly broken left knee and a cracked knee cap. She will have to undergo a major operation on the knee. Her skull fractures are on the forehead and at the bridge of her nose. Her scalp is also cut. Miss Koepke's fracture is on the forehead, and she had a deep gash cut in her tongue. Both are in a local hospital where their condition is reported as good. Driver of the truck was bruised.

The Elder Gieses live with Mr. Giese's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Giese, near the scene of the accident. Miss Koepke had been visiting her sister. The two left the Giese home to go to land farmed by Elder Giese about two miles distant to pick corn. They had driven north and turned to go west when the truck loaded with gravel came from the west. The impact turned the Giese car over several times and pushed it a distance to the east on the highway.

The accident occurred near a school, and the truck driver hurried there to get the teacher, Mrs. Manville, Kai to take Mrs. Giese to Wayne for care. Mrs. Giese had been thrown from the car and was lying on the highway between the two machines. The driver and teacher had Mrs. Giese in the car ready to take her to Wayne when Elder Giese and his father, who were starting to Wayne, came to the scene. They asked about Miss Koepke, whom the truck driver had not noticed, and the young woman was found unconscious in the wrecked car with broken parts piled onto her.

The Giese car was wrecked, and the gravel truck was damaged considerably.

Property Is Lost In Morning Fire

Garage at R. R. Smith Farm And Noah Bolton's Car Destroyed Saturday.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a car belonging to Noah Bolton and a garage and feed rack belonging to R. R. Smith at the Smith farm seven miles west of Wayne about 2 Saturday morning. Mr. Bolton estimates the car's value at about $100 and he had no insurance on it. His tools in the car were, however, insured. The garage was a substantial building and the feed rack was worth about $25. The garage was the only building on which Mr. Smith carried no insurance.

Wayne firemen and neighbors helped Mr. Bolton keep the flames from spreading to the barn and sheds which housed 30 head of cattle, 37 hogs and a team of horses. Mr. Bolton got the animals out into the yard excepting the team and watched to save them if the blaze threatened.

Mr. Bolton had returned home in the four-door 1928 model car about 11 o'clock and everything was all-right when he retired shortly before 12. A little before 2 Mrs. Wesley Rubick, who lives to the northwest, saw a blaze at Bolton's and notified her husband who hurried there. Mr. Rubick called Mr. Bolton and began pouring water onto the blaze to keep it from the barn. The garage and car were then burning hard and the flame was fanned by a rising wind. Wayne firemen and neighbors responded and got the fire under control. The car and garage, the feed rack and about a ton of hay had been consumed. The blaze started up four times after firemen left, and James Hansen and Mr. Rubick remained with Mr. Bolton through the night to watch the fire.

Plan New Course In War Training

Another new course in war training is starting November 30 at the University of Nebraska. It will be a day-time course for eight weeks in aircraft materials and parts inspection, to be taught by the college of engineering faculty. Applicants for this class will receive two blanks, one for enrollment, the other for employment in the aircraft industry. They can be obtained from Prof. W. L. DeBaur, director of war training at the university.

The purpose of this short course is to train men and women for inspecting materials and parts of aircraft in aircraft assembly plants. Jobs have been promised by the aircraft industry to all who meet conditions for employment and who satisfactorily complete the course.

Preference in selecting students will again be given to women and older married men with children. Applicants must be high school graduates with a year each of geometry and algebra. They must be at least 18 years old and in sound physical health. There is no upper age limit, and no university fees will be charged, since the course cost is borne by the federal government.

Miss Ellen Larson returned Friday to Newman Grove after visiting her niece, Mrs. Fred Lueders.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Langemeier were in Lincoln Sunday last week to see the latter's sisters, Mrs. Henry Hoff and Mrs. Chas. Horn. They also attended open house at the new flying school.

Library News

This is National Book week and the slogan for the week is "Forward with Books." Two displays are being featured at the library this week. One is in the children's department and the other in the adult department.

Everyone is invited to come to the library and look at the many new books on display. The adult department is upstairs and the children's room is down stairs. Don't forget to visit both floors as the display for children is equally interesting for adults.

Now that winter is coming on and our activities are more restricted we are going to turn to reading for our recreation. The library is always nice and warm; there are handy tables and chairs and plenty of books and magazines and newspapers. You are cordially invited to come in and spend an afternoon or evening at any time.

We found the following poem in The Library Journal and it seems appropriate at this time:

Libraries in America.

If you go down to your town's center and search for its real wealth, You'll pass by the city hall—the stores—the biggest bank, And step aside from traffic into a quiet place—

The library of your town. Within its peaceful walls it holds The best of all that men have thought and dreamed. Since words were first recorded, It holds the riches of the world. Here are the books that hold the earth, the sea, the sky— Revealed after centuries of men's labor, Row upon row, they stand, countless generations, Still living in the songs they sang, the tales they told While the people of their dreams walk the earth with every reader.

Alive on printed page is the story of our race And it's slow but upward climb. Here you can read Of storms that blasted nations, swept the surface of the earth, And know that they were weathered by men and women like ourselves. Here in your town's library is all of the world and life itself.

Children's Book Week Stresses An Old American Heritage
DURING the week of November 1-7, our school and public libraries and our bookstores blossomed with exhibits, posters and placards bearing the legend "Forward With Books!" For this is the theme chosen and the dates are the days of Book Week this year and our community joins the national crusade to bring boys and girls and good books together.
It was in 1919 that Franklin Matthews, Chief Scout Librarian, made the American Booksellers' Association realize how few parents cared whether their children had books to read for them and read to them. In this campaign, a new opportunity to plead the cause of books for children, Book Week was born. It is now a national crusade to common crusade and could present it effectively to the nation.
It was not long before its effect was felt. Many parents found their children developing a desire for a home library; learning the pride of owning; the delight of sharing; the joy of entering new worlds along the magic pathway of books.
In 1942, while we adults fight to preserve the present, it is fitting that the slogan for Children's Book Week should be "Forward With Books!"
Books bring inspiration. In them can be found the stories of past struggles to make men free. They are the best means by which we can teach children why we fight and for what we fight.
As Archibald MacLachlan, Librarian of Congress, has said, "If the course and brutal high school boys who made the Nazi book-bonfire could understand the power of a free man's books well enough to burn them, we in this country can understand the power of these books well enough to read them and read them as the things they are—the strongest and the most enduring weapons in our fight to make the world a world in which the free man lives in freedom."

Don't Telephone Centers of War Activity Unless It Is Necessary

Many long distance telephone lines are very busy these days with calls that are vital to the nation's war effort.

You can help keep telephone lines clear for essential war-time calls by not calling centers of war activity unless it is necessary. If you must call, please call by number and keep your conversation brief.

New facilities cannot be added now to relieve congestion on overloaded lines because the materials which would be required are needed

Passes Suddenly At Winside Home

Funeral for C. E. Benschhof is Held at Methodist Church Tuesday.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Winside Methodist church for C. E. Benschhof, who passed away suddenly at his home last Friday evening. Rev. J. Bruce Wylie of Hooper, and Gaebler & Neely were in charge and the Ulrich-Strate quartet of Hoskins sang. Interment was in the Wayne cemetery.

Curtis Evan Benschhof, second son of William and Louisa Benschhof, was born in Blue Grass, Ia., March 12, 1867, and passed away November 13, 1942, at his home in Winside, age 75 years, 8 months and 1 day.

In 1875 Mr. Benschhof with his parents moved to Red Oak, Ia., and in 1884 they moved to Brenna precinct, Wayne county, Nebraska. Here he grew to manhood and on February 1, 1893, he married Miss Carrie Tridick. The Benschhofs established their residence on the old home place where Mr. Benschhof had been a boy. Since then they have resided in and around Winside except for two years spent in California. When a boy Mr. Benschhof united with the Grace Methodist church in Brenna. He had been active in church work and loyal to the vows taken in his youth.

Mr. Benschhof was active in civic affairs and worked for the betterment of the community in which he lived. It is said of him, "he talked very little of things, he did them." He served on the town board of Winside 24 years and was a member of the school board.

On Friday, Mr. Benschhof worked as usual, returned to his home late in the afternoon, saying he was tired. Before a doctor could reach the home, he had passed away.

Mr. Benschhof leaves to mourn his sudden passing his wife, Mrs. Carrie Benschhof; five children, Mrs. Neva Quinn of Winside, Mark of Hoskins, Gurney of Winside, Worley of Carroll, and Ben of Bell, Cal. One son died in infancy. Also surviving are eight grandchildren, one brother, Perry Benschhof of Van Tassel, Wyo., and two sisters, Mrs. Emma Lindsay of Wayne, and Mrs. Maude Auker of Springfield.

Relatives from out of town attending the funeral were Perry Benschhof of Van Tassel, Wyo., Ben Benschhof of Bell, Cal., Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pfeil of Page, Mr. and Mrs. Art Auker of Springfield, and Mrs. Bert Oman of St. Lawrence, S. D.

NEBRASKA'S
Liquor Control
Law
Among America's Best

A Statement by Judge Sandall

"I want Nebraskans to know they have one of the best state liquor control laws in the country and one strictly enforced by an honest, alert Liquor Control Commission.

"Serving as a 'shoulder to the wheel' to enforcement authorities is the Nebraska Committee of Brewing Industry Foundation, representing the beer industry of the state. The brewing industry voluntarily checks up on dealers who sell its product. It co-operates with the authorities in taking action against licensees who get out of line. This program is now in its fifth year.

"In my judgment, this system of rigid legal control has great advantages over any other method of handling the alcoholic beverage question. I base this opinion on many years of experience as an attorney, prosecutor, legislator and judge."

"TRAILER VAGABOND"

SANTA CLAUS, INDIANA. BELIEVE IT OR NOT— THERE IS A SANTA CLAUS.

When Robert Ripley wrote those words and the explanatory item in his famous cartoon, he focussed the eyes of the nation on a tiny town in Indiana—he caused the greatest percentage of increase in Christmas mail that has ever been recorded in one post office—he caused a 3rd class post office to be reclassified to a first class and the postmaster to get a corresponding raise in salary—he precipitated a battle in Congress where a movement was started to strip the town of its famous name—he started a stampede of thousands of automobiles to southern Indiana. "Believe it or not" said Ripley, and people went to see for themselves. Such is the power of publicity.

When Ripley discovered this little town it was a settlement of some 50 people, four miles off the railroad and hidden in the hills. Founded in 1846, it was originally named Santa Fe but the name was rejected by the Post Office Dept. because another small town in northern Indiana had already selected that name. After much correspondence a compromise was reached by which Santa was retained, and Claus substituted for Fe. For three quarters of a century it remained an inconspicuous cross-roads settlement. Then came Ripley and the changes were rapid.

A businessman from Chicago was attracted by the publicity and purchased a sizeable tract which he planned to develop. He did build the largest Santa Claus I have ever seen but litigation stopped the work and so it remains today. Another interested party was more successful, building a little village of toy houses to attract the children. His "candy"

Weather in Texas has been nice with enough rain to keep down the heat and dust.

The young man appreciates the Herald to keep in touch with home folks. His address is 121 TSS, 589 Barracks, Sheppard Field, Texas.

Is on Guadalcanal.
 Lt. D. S. Canning's picture appeared Saturday in the Omaha World Herald, as one of a group of marine airmen who have been giving the Japs the proverbial "one-two" as they repulsed fighter and bomber attacks on Guadalcanal in the Solomon islands. Lt. Canning is a son of Wm. Canning of Wayne. Lt. D. C. Goerke of Burr, Neb., was also pictured among the group.

Family Has Record.
 Mrs. Walter Lundberg, Laurel, has nine members of her family in the armed forces. This includes all the male members of her family excepting her 72-year-old husband. In the group are: A son, Sgt. Jack Lindberg, Camp Roberts, Cal.; sons-in-law, Lloyd Haliday, aviation maintenance school, Memphis, Tenn., and Warren Goller, Kelley Field, Texas; brothers, Dewey Newton, O'Neill at Stockton Field, Cal., and David Newton, Camp Robinson, Ark.; nephews, Robert Clouse, O'Neill, with the army in England, and Vern Larson, Pender, ambulance driver in Honolulu. A brother, Paul Newton, goes in November draft, and another brother, Howard Newton, has 15-day deferment for farm work.

In Armistice Parade.
 S. Sgt. William A. Lerner, located at Fort Bliss, Texas, took part in a huge Armistice day parade on the streets of El Paso. He is battalion color sergeant so was privileged to carry Old Glory.

The afternoon of November 4, S. Sgt. Lerner was a guest of Major Chazaro of the Mexican army. He visited the garrison at Juarez, Mexico, and took pictures of their formal guard mount. A certain day is set aside for men of different professions and occupations to drill in Mexico. As a parting token of friendship, the Wayne man was given several Mexican war posters.

Boys Like Army Life.
 Ed. George, Leon Buckendahl, Melvin Coulter, Lawrence Friedenbach and Dale Brockman, all in the 50th Eng. Regt. (C), Camp White, Ore., write to let home folks know that they like army life, and the thrilling experiences it provides.

Home folks would be surprised, say the young men, for all have put on weight. Plenty of good food and rest are making sturdy soldiers. These boys are "all for one and one for all." If any want help now or after the war, all that is needed is just a whistle and they will have more help than they need.

The youths state that they all have a good deal of fun and are really becoming strong, well trained soldiers.

The young folks enjoy home news through the Herald. Pvt. Dale M. Brockman, who wrote the letter for the group, has this address: 37264095, Co. B, 50th Eng. Regt. (C), Camp White, Ore., U. S. Army.
