SIXTY FIRST YEAR

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 24, 1942

NUMBER THIRTY-THREE

Conducts Project To Assist Youths

Boys Get Start in Raising Livestock and Benefit Kiwanis Fund.

A livestock venture which netted $300 for the underprivileged children's fund of Wayne Kiwanis club was explained to the group Monday by R. E. Marek, who sponsored the plan.

In February, 1941, Mr. Marek bought two purebred sows for $150. These were to farrow in February and March. He gave a sow to each of two boys with the understanding that each was to return five gilts to Mr. Marek.

After Mr. Marek had the 10 pigs from the first two sows, a committee of three disinterested persons selected 10 boys. Each of these boys was given one of the gilts with the understanding that he would return two pigs from the first litter. The boy would keep the sow and balance of the litter.

Mr. Marek has suspended the project for the duration but will resume it after the war. He gives the boys much credit for the success of the project.

P. L. March, chairman of girls' and boys' work, presented Mr. Marek, a member of his committee. Dean Clarence McGinn was asked by the club to send a report of Mr. Marek's project to the Kiwanis magazine.

As Kiwanians gathered, Julian Torgerson, Prof. Russel Anderson, Dean McGinn and Wm. Beckenhauer were singing carols. At the close, the group sang Christmas selections. While they joined in "Jingle Bells," Santa appeared with a gift for each.

The club expressed appreciation to Prof. John R. Keith and Prof. Russel Anderson for directing the sacred Christmas concert Sunday evening at the auditorium. They were guests of the club. Coach Henry Menke was with Supt. J. W. Litherland, Coach Ralph Ginn with Dr. J. T. Anderson, Jean Boyd with J. J. Steele. Julian Torgerson was a guest of the club and served as Santa.

Peter M. Pearson Dies Here Monday Night at Home of Albert G. Carlson.

WEATHER USUALLY FAVORED WORK OF GETTING OUT CORN

THE WEATHER has been rather colder than necessary for comfort—colder than it sometimes grows before Christmas—but comparative freedom from snow has been a help to belated corn picking.

Sunset funeral rites will be conducted Saturday at 4:00 at the Methodist church with Dr. Victor West officiating. W. O. Samuelson of Omaha, state inspector for the Nebraska Funeral Directors' association, will speak.

Reclassification of essential farm workers in class 2-C and 3-C is expected to relieve the farm labor shortage, according to selective service officials. All farmers of Wayne county have been sent blanks by the draft board and these will be used in determining deferment.

Under this order issued by Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, all local draft boards are directed to release essential farm workers previously classified for war service. To determine what is essential farm production for draft deferment purposes, the department of agriculture has set up "war units."

Following are examples of "war unit" production: One milch cow, 20 feedlot cattle, one acre in pasture, 15 acres in wheat or five acres in dry beans, would constitute one "war unit" each. It would take 16 such units to make an essential farm unit for draft deferment purposes.

Memorial services for Henry William Vahlkamp, seaman first class in the navy, who was reported killed in action, were held at Theophilus church last Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. A. Hoferer was in charge.

Ladies' choir of the church sang several special selections, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me," "Nearer My God to Thee," "Lead Me Saviour." Wayne and Winside Legion posts attended and paid honor to the young man. The two posts presented their colors and sounded taps at close of services.

Sunset Services To Be Saturday

Mrs. Wm. Beckenhauer Dies At Home on Tuesday After Long Illness.

Mrs. William Beckenhauer passed away at her home in Wayne Tuesday morning, December 22, at 1:15 after a long illness, aged 65 years, 2 months and 19 days. Mrs. Beckenhauer had been failing in health a couple of years and she had been bedfast most of the time since last February.

The casket will not be opened at the church. The body is lying in state at the Beckenhauer funeral home until an hour before the service. Mrs. Beckenhauer, whose maiden name was Lillian Krause, was a daughter of Amanda Krause and Isabella Sims Krause. She was born in London, Canada, October 3, 1877.

Attending the hearing Friday from Lincoln were W. H. Brookak, director of extension, E. G. Jones, member of the state soil office, and Ed. Doll, geologist from the extension office. From the report of the state men and from minutes of the hearing, the state committee will decide if interest justifies taking a referendum. This decision will be made shortly after the first of the year. If a vote is taken, three weeks' notice will be given.

Keynoters of the conference were Abner Chestern of AAA, W. H. Brookak of the extension service, Lynn Leonard of FSA, and E. G. Jones of SCS. They had attended Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard's production goals party earlier this month.

Other major increases are established for poultry, eggs, marketing of cattle, calves, sheep and lambs, also acreages of potatoes, dry beans and corn. Nebraska farmers are also asked to maintain their 1942 production records for milk, sugar beets, soybeans, flaxseed, wheat and feed grains.

Step Up Courses In Serving Needs

War Department Advises Young Folks to Attend College to Train.

Wayne State Teachers College will revise and expand its curriculum for second semester to meet war demands. The shortage of teachers and the need for training young folks to take places in the armed services and in war industries has prompted the acceleration.

The college also has another plan for helping relieve the teacher shortage. College seniors may teach during the second semester and still be graduated by completing their work next summer, providing they are within 12 hours of fulfilling their requirements.

The college is giving four and a half hours of physical education to students enlisted in the reserves, this being one of their requirements. Correspondence from the war department in Washington with Dr. J. T. Anderson has advised that young men and women should remain in college and not withdraw for army service until they are called. The war department also advises young people not in school to register in college and get started on a program even though they are expecting to be called by the draft.

Sacred Concert Given in Wayne Large Crowd Gathers for Service Sponsored by Kiwanis Club.

The music department of the Wayne State Teachers college presented sacred and Christmas music at the city auditorium Sunday evening before a large crowd. Wayne Kiwanis club sponsored the community affair.

Dr. Victor West gave the invocation. The a cappella choir, under the direction of Prof. Russel Anderson, sang "Gloria" from "The Twelfth Mass," by Mozart, "O Be Joyful in the Lord," by Mozart-Ronaldson, "Hosanna," by Lvovsky-Krone, "Adoramus Te," by Palestrina-Horwath.

The audience then joined in the singing of "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," "O Come All Ye Faithful," "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "Silent Night, Holy Night." Prof. John R. Keith directed the college orchestra in this. Dr. R. R. Stuart flashed the words of the songs on a large screen before the audience.

WAYNE COUNTY MEN IN ARMED FORCES DULY REMEMBERED

NUMEROUS holiday greetings to Wayne county boys in the armed forces, appearing in today's Herald, are truly appreciative and stimulating. Everybody at home knows what the boys are doing—knows they are fighting for the cause of freedom and security. People on the home front realize that precious democracy would perish if a united front were not presented. They realize that the danger spots of that front and that on their qualities of courage and determination depends the future of civilian populations.

Beginning with the second semester, which opens January 25, 1943, the college will accept high school students who have 11 units of credit and equip them for teaching by September, 1943. The usual requirement for college admittance is 15 units, and for high school graduation 16 units.

This new plan enables high school students with 14 units of credit to attend the college the second semester and during the summer period, qualifying for teaching positions by fall. This is designed to help supply the teacher shortage.

Enlistments Reduce Total Leaving for Training Last of Month. Young men who took physical examinations at Ft. Crook last week Thursday and will leave the county December 28 for service are: John L. O'Connor, Donald Frank, Ervin C. Mias, Larson E. Jones, Erving L. Doring, Chester C. Mistlethorpe, Raymond Philbin, John Hansen, Herman R. Sund, Edmund L. Martinson, Howard J. He will tell of his experiences and his observations gained in the war zone. At that time also the Silver Wings will be presented to the army and navy candidates of the college unit of C. A. A. war training service.

Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. had charge of a Christmas service for the convocation period Tuesday this week. The program opened with Genevieve Lundak playing a piano medley of Christmas carols. The college choir sang four selections, "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," "Joy to the World" and "Silent Night." In the choir are Frances Blazek, Shirley Hansen, Beryl Nelson, Evelyn Patrick, Ellwyn Fletcher, Gene Haekler, Warren Noakes and James Watts.

Point Rationing To Be Instituted

New Plan Is Designated to Guarantee Fair Shares To All Consumers.

Point rationing will be introduced to Americans early in 1943 when war ration book two is distributed, the purpose being to guarantee everyone a fair share of scarce but essential goods and at the same time giving everyone a variety of items for choice.

The first important difference is that under straight coupon rationing, one single coupon entitles the consumer to buy a specific amount of a single commodity—such as, one sugar coupon entitles one to buy three pounds of sugar. But in point rationing one set of coupons covers a whole group of commodities. For instance, a week's meat ration coupons would enable one to choose the ration freely between beef, pork, lamb or mutton.

The second important difference is that the coupons in point rationing are of different denominations. Those to be spent in one week, for example, will include a one-point coupon, a two-point coupon, a five-point coupon and an eight-point coupon.

The third important difference is that the various rationed items within one group will have different point values. For example, tenderloin, steak, being relatively scarce, might have a high point value and require a larger number of coupons, while hamburger, being available in greater quantities, would have a lower point value. Thus in exchange for a ration coupon worth eight points, the housewife might be able to obtain one pound of tenderloin steak or four pounds of hamburger. (Point values have not been set; values used here are for illustration only.)

The government will set the point value of each item within the group of rationed products and issue an official list. Point values will be based on available supplies and will vary as supplies of particular items increase or decrease.

War ration book two will have four pages of blue stamps and four pages of red stamps. The blue stamps will be used for the first group of goods to be rationed by points. The red stamps will be used for the second group of point-rationed goods.

The number on each stamp tells how many points the stamp is worth. The letter on each stamp tells what period it is good for. The government will announce these periods in advance.

Children's Party Is Enjoyed Here The children's Christmas party was held at the city auditorium last Saturday afternoon and all the little tots attending had a lot of good entertainment. Santa appeared and gave all the little folk peanuts.

John Luschen Buys Perdue Farm Here John Luschen bought the Perdue farm of 240 acres three miles southeast of Wayne and will take possession March 1. The deal was made through Martin L. Rihger's agency.

Pupils Make Good Records In Health Seal Sale Just Completed.

Health and physical fitness are more important today than ever before in the history of America. Upon the home front falls the responsibility of building good health that will assure the highest degree of efficiency in meeting responsibilities in this war and in the peace to come. In this total war to build a better world for the common man, Americans are one army. Some are on the battle front and others on the home front. Victory can be won only by the complete unity of all and by people with a high degree of physical fitness and moral courage. This was the message presented to Hillcrest project club of near Carroll, December 11 at the home of Mrs. Geo. Owens by the leaders, Mrs. T. P. Roberts, Mrs. L. E. Link and Mrs. Ivor Morris.

The challenge, therefore, is to mobilize the health forces in every community. Homekeepers should study this problem and decide what they can do best to win total health in every family. One thing each can do toward better health is to study foods and their preparation. Women in project clubs of the state have been studying nutrition for several years. They have learned much about raising vegetables, the preparing and serving foods and the health values to be gained.

Flour has always been America's most useful and most economical energy-yielding food. When nutritionists found that many people do not get enough of certain vitamins and iron in their diets, scientists decided to "draft" flour as the inexpensive food that would provide them with essential vitamins and minerals. The women were informed that flour labeled, "enriched flour," meets the standard of the Federal Food and Drug act. The women learned that whole wheat flour, just as ground, contains all these vitamins in their natural state and is superior in health qualities. Everyone can improve health by including whole wheat or enriched breads and cereals in the diet.

The whole wheat nut bread recipe given the club women follows:
1 1/2 cups whole wheat flour
3/4 cup flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
4 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup nuts
3 tablespoons molasses
1/4 cup milk
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
3 tablespoons shortening

Sift dry ingredients together. Add chopped nuts and raisins. Mix milk and molasses and add dry ingredients. Pour into greased loaf pan 8x4x3. Bake 50 to 60 minutes in moderate oven (350°F.). Cuts 32 slices. In mixing stir quick loaf breads only enough to combine ingredients. To slice smoothly, the bread should not be cut for 24 hours after baking.

In this recipe 1/2 cup white syrup can be used in place of the sugar. When use 1/4 cup less liquid.

This bread, also cranberry muffins and soda biscuits were made at Hillcrest club by Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Link. These were served with butter, salad, cranberry mold and coffee.

Deeds Are Recorded.
Property deeds filed in Wayne county this week include the following:

Library News
The library staff wishes all library patrons a very Merry Christmas. In one of our library bulletins we found this little jingle we wish to share with you.

We cannot join the army,
Or navy or marines;
We may not be WAAC or WAVE
Or don stout ordinance jeeps,
Imagine us with Tommy guns,
Or driving jeeps or preps,
Or parachuting from the skies
To land in unburnt heaps!

No, we shall wear no uniforms,
Our pay checks still stay small,
But yet, we have a job to do
Important to them all.
Upon the home front we can guard
Freedom, and help provide
The tools of knowledge that may be
Guns for the Victors' Side!

The library has received its annual Christmas present in the form of a renewal of the subscription to the Christian Herald. This is presented each year by Mrs. J. G. Mines and before that by her mother, the late Mrs. Rogers. This is a fine magazine and all library patrons should be very grateful for this gift.

Our slogan for the week is this: Today's Readers Shape Tomorrow's World. If this be true we should all give thought to what we read. Here are some suggestions for good magazine material: Convoy to Malta, by Edwin Randall, in the American for January, 1943. Life with Kaiser in the Nation for December 12, 1942. Not a Man Whimpered, by David S. Oman, Saturday Evening Post for December 12, 1942. The editorials in Argus in the Nation are always good and interesting. Argus is the pseudonym for one of Europe's ablest journalists and he is a man thoroughly familiar with nazi methods and propaganda.

A book which is circulating very well and which is of special interest to the young boys is entitled, How Every Boy Can Prepare for the Aviation Service, by Keith Ayling. This book is very practical in the information given and we wish to recommend it to any boy interested in aviation.

We have prepared a short list of Christmas stories which are to be found in the library. The Drum Goes Dead, Bess Streeter Aldrich, Dickens Christmas Carol, No Room at the Inn, Edna Ferber, The Well and the Star, Elizabeth Goudge, Precious Jeopardy, Lloyd Douglass, The Joyous Miracle, Frank Norris, The Shepherd Who Missed the Manger, Rufus M. Jones.

Proposed Reforms
W. H. O'GARA, farmer and lawyer of the Laurel vicinity, contributed to Sunday's Lincoln Journal some ideas on election reforms. He mentioned that though faults in the primary are glaring no adequate remedies have been applied. He would combine best qualities in the primary and the old convention system, and he would fix party responsibility. He would have a primary to elect delegates to conventions to nominate county candidates and name delegates to district and state conventions. These conventions would nominate candidates for district and state offices. He would make it inconvenient for one to switch his party label merely in order to slide into an office.

Besides modifying the primary, Mr. O'Gara would establish a course of training for persons aspiring to high offices. He mentioned that only in the field of government is found no standard of qualifications for service. Often under the present system all one needs to do to get into office is to have a popular name or be an amiable politician. We conclude he would return the bicameral legislature and require one to gain experience in the house before being permitted to run for the senate. He would make one ineligible to the governorship without first serving in the house and senate. He would not deprive any citizen of the right to aspire to any office in the land, but he would make him prove his qualifications to do so. Plenty of discussion and study may result in desirable changes.

Chief Quits
LEON HENDERSON, one of the main satellites in new deal party circles for ten years, has resigned as chief of the OPA. He excelled in capacity to say the wrong thing and cause needless irritation. He had a hard job, but he made it harder by an attitude of raw arrogance.

On resigning he is quoted as having said he wouldn't have to be nice to people any more. Then why should people be nice to him? And they were driven by his intolerable insolence not to be.

Henderson rubbed congress the wrong way, and the latter threatened to refuse appropriation for his department if he did not resign. The storm of criticism which gathered about him, was probably more the reason for his resignation than the ill health which he offered.

Henderson adopted the tough course in handling his task and apparently responded to a sort of devilish mental twist that aroused popular resentment.

Retiring from Washington's official circles after forty years of public service, Senator Geo. W. Norris is quoted as saying he expects to return to his old home town of McCook, Nebr. He has refused appointment to any official job that would keep him in Washington. He still expresses disappointment over defeat, but he will understand on due reflection that he was merely caught in the tidal wave that swept aside the new deal and everybody connected with it. Foster May, regular party nominee, is the one who has reason to feel aggrieved over results—especially over the way fellow partisans treated him.

Writing to his Hartington Herald from his winter headquarters in the salubrious atmosphere of Phoenix, Arizona, Editor F. D. Stone says military authorities have declared that town "out of bounds," which, he explains, means that vice conditions there have become so bad that members of the armed forces in neighboring fields must keep away. They can't go there while the order is in force. Editor Stone says citizens are up in arms to clean up the city and have it restored to favor.

Slippery roads and heavy Christmas burdens have delayed arrival of mails lately. One advantage of service by train was advanced notice of arrivals. This has been impossible with transportation by trucks. Things may turn up from time to time to make the public think regretfully of the passing of the train. But that cannot now be helped. The business at hand is to improve mail by truck, and that may be accomplished by practice.

The sheet of ice that covered pavements and sidewalks Monday, made going on foot a hard and hazardous task. Often feet acted in defiant opposition to the owner's wishes, and sometimes became hopelessly separated. Then the pedestrian sat down with unconscioused legs. When he managed to struggle to his feet, he cast his optics about to see how many saw him. It was an unhappy day for pedestrians.

The longest session of congress on record has adjourned, and its members have gone to their respective homes to observe the holidays and listen to home folk. Some will not return to their homes in Washington. Those who do will be greeted by newly elect members, and it is expected the reorganized body will be more independent and self-assertive.

The fact that accumulated scrap metal has seemed to have been tardy in moving to market does not mean diminished interest or slowed demand. There have been some unavoidable delays in transportation. It is refreshing to know, however, that remaining piles of junk will soon be on their way. It should be understood that contributions of discarded metal will be urgently needed as long as the war lasts.

Another week will bring us to the threshold of another year. The old one with recollection of many changes in habits of thinking and living, will pass out. What the new year has in store is uncertain. It is hoped it will see allied victory and an end to the world conflict.

Governor Griswold urges a short session of the legislature. Our Senator Crossland agrees. All necessary would seem to be to cut introduction of useless bills and settle down to business early.

Wage Dispute.
(Norfolk Daily News)

The war labor board's decision that it has no right under the president's order No. 9017 to intervene in a wage dispute between a municipal agency and its employees, leaves some questions unanswered. Has the president power to change his order to give WLB the authority? Can a federal agency constitutionally and lawfully take jurisdiction in a wage fight between a city's elected officials and the city's employees? Have the employees of a state or municipality the right to stop the functions of government by striking? These questions need answers.

No More Plowing Under.
(Omaha Journal-Stockman)

Those elaborate and complicated rules and regulations laid down by the OPA to govern the processing and distribution of beef may be confusing to the industry and it is certain they will be changed from time to time in order to fit the changing conditions.

The point to be kept in mind by all concerned is the necessity for enough beef to be rationed. Any measures that are calculated to cut down the production of beef must be abandoned at once and for obvious reasons. On the other side of the water, meat and other necessary foods are rationed because there are not enough to go around. The first requisite for any intelligent rationing system is to have enough of the product to be rationed.

It is the practical experience of the past year that has changed the policy of the department of agriculture from one of creating a scarcity to one of assuring an abundance. "No more killing of little pigs and no more plowing under of crops," declares Secretary Wickard and the country applauds the change.

Symbol of Our Freedom.
(Industrial Press Service)

Throughout the history of mankind symbols have exerted an impelling influence upon the lives of men. In America, the symbol of freedom, the symbol of independence, the symbol of everything we hold dear, is the American flag.

As the war goes on and our armed forces move into battle lines all over the world, the American flag goes with them at the head of the columns. Yet, here at home, except on rare occasions, our flags are stored away for some future day which may never come if those fields are not held aloft with strong hands.

In support of the war effort and the influence which our flag has upon the national morale, would it not be appropriate now to hold aloft our flag on the home front—on our factories, on our homes and on our public buildings?

To kindle a more alert loyalty to the America we love, to foster a truly cohesive national unity, to create for postwar America an increased appreciation and love for the American way, let us raise the flag on the home front. And let it remain to found more firmly the determination that the national ideals for which our flag was born and for which it stands shall not perish from the earth.

Reducing Number of Bureaus.
(Omaha Journal-Stockman)

Whether the exigencies of war will increase or decrease the number of bureaus with their headquarters in the national capital, remains to be seen but the fact is clear that some of these agencies are being liquidated on the instance of congress and the country.

Naturally these bureaus die hard as they provide soft, well-paid jobs for deserving patriots. Already the CCC, a creature of the depression, has passed out and the WPA is to be liquidated next February. Senator Byrd insists that the FSA and NYA also be abolished.

The senator said recently that budget officials told his committee the government is losing $1,600,000 annually on re-settlement projects promoted by the farm security administration. The committee, was further informed that $116 million of loans to farmers would be a total loss.

Waste of money by some of these agencies is appalling. The 152 re-settlement projects have more than 15,000 employees on their payrolls. Direct appropriations for the current fiscal year total $46,535,739, with additional authorization to borrow $97,500,000 from the RFC. A number of re-settlement projects have been sold by the FSA for less than a third of their cost.

Regarding the NYA the committee was told that 12,520 supervisors and clerical workers are required to train 53,603 persons for war industry jobs—a supervisor for every four students.

Creation of these governmental agencies is comparatively easy but it requires the combined effort of congress and the country to pry the job holders loose from the public crib.

CHRISTMAS.

Above thundering artillery and shrieking shrapnel beckons the star of Bethlehem, rises the story of the Manger and the Exemplar of peace and good will. The Spirit of Christmas—the very antithesis of war—recoils with horror at a world engaged in internecine slaughter. It looks aghast at tyrants out to enslave and impoverish helpless peoples. As the annual Christmas observance is again approached, the noble and unselfish sensibilities aroused by the day must strengthen the arm of nations fighting to insure future freedom. Usual joy of the day is clouded by absence of loved ones in the armed forces, but realization of its meaning is deeper and more manifest than ever. Christmas stands for the very liberties for which the allied nations are pouring out men and treasure to maintain. Its soul consistently permeates thoughts of boys on scarred battle fields and of anxious ones on home fronts. Christmas inspires cherished memories and profound hopes. It accords with victory and a better world.

CONGRESS.

If columnists and others writing from Washington reflect popular feeling, the new congress will cure some of the faults in the new deal, and it is believed congressional restraints will help prosecution of the war. According to David Lawrence, columnist, new deal circles pay too little attention to results of the late election on the ground that it was not fully expressive. "The new congress," says Lawrence, "was elected as a protest against the misuse of power by the administration. The members of the senate and house who were elected know full well the temper of the people and they will do their utmost to curb the misadventures and stop misuse of fundamental rights." Speaking of growing differences between the president and congress and the increasing reluctance on the part of congress to heed demands for more executive power, the Saturday Evening Post says congress is right in deciding that "his job is to make laws and the president's job to execute them."

AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C., December 16, 1942. The request of the war and navy departments for a special law to permit all tariff duties to be suspended by presidential order met with more substantial opposition in congress than those back of the move may have anticipated. It was submitted to the house by a presidential message in November and referred to the committee on ways and means. Coupled with the tariff provision was another provision to authorize suspension of the immigration laws upon the order of the president for the duration of the war. The latter proposition was overwhelmingly voted down by the committee which then turned its attention to the reasons given for suspending tariff duties for the duration.

The ways and means committee is ordinarily largely under administration control. Possibly the war and navy department officials counted upon that as being sufficient to obtain results without delay or argument. They may have been surprised when they were asked to give the reasons for belatedly requesting such a law. The committee demanded to know what tariff duties were hampering the war effort and what were to be suspended. When the committee suggested a more moderate enactment covering only the commodities which were to be admitted free of duty, the department experts failed to specify. Action was delayed a couple of weeks as the committee staid more solidly against the proposal. The hearings held did not develop support for the project but, brief as they were and few as were the witnesses, the opposition charged that Argentine beef and dairy products, Canadian dairy and other farm products, and British liquors and textiles were likely to be among those to be admitted free. The whole congress did not participate in the decision to postpone the proposed tariff legislation until the new congress meets in January. The ways and means committee, nearly unanimous in sentiment, declined to continue the hearings or report the bill. As all revenue legislation must originate in that committee, its action settled the matter for the time being. It may not come up again. Treasury officials were among those who stated that commodities needed for war purposes were not being delayed at the ports of entry, but that special regulations permitted their prompt entry notwithstanding any dispute over import duties.

Food rationing is commanding much attention at present. Secretary Wickard has been appointed food administrator and he is organizing a new bureau which will supervise production as well as distribution and rationing of the nation's food supply. How large a bureau will be set up for administrative purposes is yet to be determined. Founded upon presidential order, not act of congress, it will have no limitations at least until the time comes for the appropriation bills next spring. Between now and July 1, congress may delve rather deeply into the steadily growing number of new government bureaus with their thousands of employees. That there is great overlapping of such activities already has been developed by the Truman committee. With manpower a problem of such importance that a special board has been established to outline a program of control, government agencies and their delays due to red tape and inefficient performance may have explanations to make. This is a big country and every additional activity relating to such an essential as food, clothing and all else affect the general power available for urgent war purposes. Keeping the people of the big eastern cities warm with oil-burning furnaces is a problem of growing proportions. Oil Boss Ickes has transferred nearly all the tank cars in the middle west to hauling petroleum to those cities. Now comes an order for the transfer of 1,500 more tank cars from southern states to the same purpose. Then comes the order for thousands of truck tanks to be made of steel to add to the oil supplies of the east. That new program will touch the rubber supply as well as that of steel. There are thousands of anthracite coal miners out of work in Pennsylvania and most of the mines are closed down. There would be fuel in plenty could anthracite be used. But to turn to anthracite instead of oil for heating homes would require thousands of new coal furnaces. They cannot be made in time even were the steel available and the factories in operation to produce them.

Payment of subsidies from the federal treasury to keep down costs to consumers has been started. How far it may be extended, nobody knows. In his speeches, Secretary Wickard has claimed that production must be maintained and increased and Leon Henderson insists that prices must not rise. In New York City the milk supply fell off in October. In fact, there has been more than a seasonal decline in dairy production over the country. To encourage production of milk on the dairy farms supplying New York City, the government is paying a subsidy of 40 cents per hundred pounds. It amounts to about $1,000,000 per month. It will amount to more. Milk consumers in Duluth also receive the benefit of a similar subsidy. Other cities soon may be favored with not only a milk subsidy program, but even other foods may be in part paid for by treasury funds.

The treasury department press bureau states that the amusement, tobacco and liquor establishments are thriving as never before. It relates that the nation will use 235 billion cigarettes this year exclusive of those sent to our armed forces overseas. That is an increase of 27 billions over the number used last year. Liquor sales will be 170 million gallons as against 158 million gallons in 1941, and the high record of 167 million gallons in 1917, before prohibition. The importation of Scotch and English liquors which are sold in eastern cities in particular, exceeds that of any previous year. Theatre attendance has also shown a vast increase. In 1940, the estimated attendance was 54 millions weekly. Now more than 100 million people are attending theatres each week. The comment is that people have more money to spend and they are spending it for a good time.

Spinden, Joe Carmen, Hilma Petersen, each one passenger tube, John Dunklau, two tractor tires and two tubes, August Kruse, one implement tire and one tube, Wm. Meyer, Wm. J. Thielman, each two passenger grade III tires.

Mohr, two truck tires.

The ration board says that only bona fide conversions will be approved. The problem of obtaining skilled and semi-skilled workmen is still the bottleneck in Nebraska. Employment Director Clinton Johnson reports the need for hundreds of semi-skilled and unskilled workers.

Mrs. America will soon find some variation of the old shopping bag almost a necessity when she goes to town. While doing so she will be sure she is helping solve the nation's transportation problem. A recent order freezing sales of about 17,000,000 pounds of butter in 35 principal markets will make inroads on butter a necessity. The order was necessary to supply the armed forces and lend-lease contracts during the seasonal low-production period.

Knitted underwear will be more important in the family wardrobe as homes, schools and business buildings keep cooler temperatures. WFB has asked to insure plenty of work clothing for Mrs. American. Fabrics to be controlled are denim, corduroy, pin checks, flack cloth, sarsaparilla, corduroy, flannels, print cloth, broadcloth, poplin, jeans and twills.

Uncle Sam needs more women in the WAACS. To be eligible a woman must be between 21 and 45, have an excellent character and be physically fit. Married women are eligible if they have no one financially dependent on their pay and do not have children under 11.

New types of hose on the market are 100 per cent spun nylon. These are not made of single filament nylon yarn and are not very sheer. Iron and steel curlers will give way to rags. Buckles of steel will give way to other materials in many instances. WFB has assigned higher preference ratings to processors of dairy products for their equipment, maintenance and repair material.

Price controls have saved American families an estimated eight and a half billion dollars in one year, according to OPA. Persons are warned against rebuilding cars into trucks in an effort to get more gasoline under rationing.

St. Mary's Catholic Church.
(Rev. Wm. Kearns, pastor)
His excellency, Bishop J. H. Ryan, has addressed the following letter to the parishes of his diocese:
Christmas has come again but to a world saddened by strife and war. Our own beloved nation, during the past year, has converted all its resources, material, spiritual, and human to the prosecution of a war which we did not desire, but which was forced upon us by pagan and arrogant foes, and which we are determined to carry on to a victorious conclusion. As befits believers in the teachings of Christ, this war is not prosecuted by us in a spirit of hatred or of conquest. We cherish no ill-feelings towards our foes and prepare no revenge on them, once they are defeated.

Everyone has been called upon to make sacrifices. Some families have already lost sons and brothers in the conflict; others have sent their children to the war. All, even those of us who stay at home, are asked, and gladly make, every effort demanded of us by our government.

We approach, this year, the Crrib of Bethlehem in an humble and chastened spirit. Conscious of our failings, we ask of the newborn Babe the courage and strength to conquer, in His cause and for His sake.

That Our Blessed Lord shall shower down His blessings on us all this Christmas day, and particularly on our loved ones serving in the armed forces, is the prayer and wish for you of James H. Ryan, Dec. 20, 1942, Bishop of Omaha.

Masses in Wayne Christmas morning at 8 and 10. Confessions for the children Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 5:30. Confessions for the adults Thursday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 and from 7:30 to 10.

Thursday will be a day of fast and of abstinence for all. Friday being a holy day, the use of meat is allowed to everybody. It is hoped that everyone will give thought to the religious observance of this great feast which is held to honor Christ on the anniversary of His birth. If men would only try to please and serve God as they try to serve the world they would have the blessings of God and with His blessings, peace, a precious gift for which we humbly ask the Prince of Peace on this His natal day.

Christian Science Services

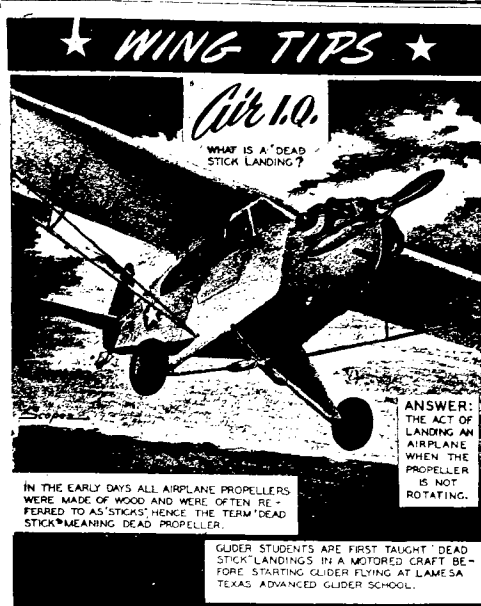

"Christian Science" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, December 27.

The Golden Text is: "If ye love me, keep my commandments. And I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter, that he may abide with you for ever; even the Spirit of truth" (John 14: 15-17).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon which follows from the Bible, "But when the Comforter is come, whom I will send unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth from the Father, he shall testify of me" (John 15:26).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Our Master said, 'But the Comforter... shall teach you all things.' When the Science of Christianity appears, it will lead you into all truth. The sermon on the mount is the essence of this Science, and the eternal life, not the death of Jesus, is its outcome... I have set forth Christian Science and its application to the treatment of disease just as I have discovered them... The Bible has been my only authority. I have had no other guide in 'the straight and narrow way' of Truth" (pp. 271, 126).

Ezra Boeckenhauer, who returned several days ago from a Sioux City hospital where he had undergone an operation, is improving nicely.

WAR NEWS
Mrs. America is urged to do a goodly portion of canning next summer so as to be certain of a variety in foods. Juices, canned fruits and vegetables will become more scarce. Glass jars will take the place of tin cans for these foods.

The need for workers in war plants is growing more urgent. In Great Britain, about 8,000,000 of the 17,250,000 women between 14 and 65 are employed. All women there between 18 and 15 have registered. Single women and widows without children, between 20 and 30, are subject to draft into the armed forces. So far only those 20 to 24 have been called.

OPA has placed price regulations on ice boxes. Since alcohol is used in perfumes and war materials, WPB has ordered a restriction of its use in perfumes.

Many chocolate candy boxes will not be available for Christmas and Valentine day, because the available chocolate is needed for bars for the service men and for cocoa for home consumption. Cocoa beans from which chocolate is made must be imported.

Hardware items, and novelties have been cut from 27,000 items to 3,500, making for less variety. ODT has allowed the postal department to hire its usual 10,000 extra vehicles to handle the Christmas mail.

Wartime restrictions on chemicals will not hinder the supply of insecticides for protection of 1943 crops, WPB announces.

OPA has ruled that fertilizer manufacturers may make deliveries on an "open price" basis so as to supply this needed commodity. The huge task of supplying arms for fighting men has required greater output of many products. One of these is coke which is used diately needed until the program gets into full swing.

Department of agriculture will not undertake to furnish labor for production of vegetables except those designated as essential to the war effort.

WPB has ordered that children's one-piece pajamas may be made with attached foot coverings. This will keep children warm this winter. Previously the foot covering had been prohibited.

Extra Special Announcement

Owing to government restrictions it has been almost impossible to get them. They are as good looking as nylons—and they will give splendid service if laundered and dried correctly.

Our customers and our clerks here at the store gave this particular hose a thorough try out this summer and found them very satisfactory in every way.

For your gift hosiery need for your own fine hosiery requirements you will be delighted to get these very desirable dull, sheer hosiery.

been a good trick if they could have done it but somewhere along the line it backfired and when the smoke of battle cleared away the Dalton gang was no more.

The horse-dish that was burned up trying to capture this outfit was no small item. Their ability to get away from what seemed certain capture was the talk of their day. Like all outlaw gangs they had their hideouts in the hills that were almost inaccessible. But it was not these places that the forces of law and order tried to reach. They knew that a few weeks alone in their hideouts would prove too tame and that ultimately the boys would contact some close friend or relative. So a close watch was kept on the immediate family.

Here at Meade a sister lived very much within the law. Her residence was at the edge of town on a hill sloping down to a small valley. Near the base of this hill was the stable. On dark nights the Dalton boys would skid the town, tie their horses in the stable and visit their sister. When word of their visit leaked out as it did several times, a posse would surround the house and congratulate each other that this time they had the boys in the bag for sure. Then to their surprise the Daltons would be seen speeding over the hill on their horses. It was not until years after the boys were dead that a secret tunnel was discovered connecting the house and the barn. By this simple method the Daltons eluded capture for many years.

The city of Meade has purchased the entire Dalton hideout property and turned it into a city park. The house and barn are now museums and the tunnel has been enlarged to permit easy travel. It's really a bit of the Old West and something I think you will enjoy.

MEADE, KANSAS THE DALTON GANG

By the time this 150,000-mile tour is completed I shall be quite an authority on public enemies of the past and present. For 3 years I have been hobnobbing with their descendants, visiting their hideouts and scenes of crimes, and doing research work on their activities. I have gazed on the final resting place of Dillinger in Crown Hill Cemetery in Indianapolis where my good friends the Seabers as custodians of that large cemetery inform me that no grass will grow on the former desperado's grave. Naturally I went overboard on that one only to find out that instead of the vengeance of the Gods it was the shuffling footsteps of thousands of visitors that keep the grave in its bare condition.

I have visited the Boot Hill Cemeteries of Dodge City and Tombstone, reconstructed the last hours of the notorious Sam Bass at Round Tree, Texas, crawled through a dozen hideouts of the Jesse and Frank James gang and visited their home a short distance from Kansas City where Mrs. Frank James still lives but is kept from the curious eyes of the public like that pound of coffee some of you have hidden under the bed. Today I round out the score by visiting the haunts of the Dalton Gang, as tough a bunch of hombres as ever made application for a "C" ration book.

By way of putting the last first, the Dalton gang came to its untimely end doing a bank job in Coffeyville, Kan. Maybe there was a shortage of transportation in those days, or maybe a couple of the boys wanted a little time off. Anyway, they became a bit ambitious and tried to rob two banks at the same time. It would have Tanweed Is Troublesome. Tanweed or perennial shortstink is the most troublesome native Nebraska weed. WAR NEWS American workers need Christmas this year, according to WPB Chairman Donald W. Nelson. War workers will be permitted to spend the day with their families. This holiday is the first that has been granted under the wartime policy of unbroken production.

Many more women will likely see employment in industry the coming year. Only 15 million are now employed and this is less than 23 per cent. The need for war production will likely draw many more into such work.

The special regulation governing warm garments has been extended from December 1 to February 1 so all will be assured plenty of warm clothes.

Young folks working on farms and attending school in towns are eligible to buy bicycles for their transportation.

Furloughs of service men will be few over the holidays. No more than 10 per cent of any camp or station may be spared at any one time. The war department announces that furloughs will be limited to 11 days and will be arranged so as not to permit travel to or from military reservations December 21 or 25.

"Your shirt-tail is out!" may soon become a familiar family complaint. Two to three inches have been ordered off the length of men's and boys' shirts after December 15. Pleated backs or fronts are also out for the duration. The order simplifies pajamas to save materials that will make 2,200,000 additional pairs of pajamas. The pajama coats will be collarless with knee-length slacks and half-sleeves. Cuffs are banned on trousers and sleeves. No sashes will be used but draw strings are allowed.

Mrs. America is warned to give her washing machine every possible care. Make a periodic checkup to see that bolts and screws are tight. Have a repairman look at it at least once a year. Do not spill oil on rubber parts. Make sure the wringers are set to the right pressure for the thickness of the clothes being washed.

Distribution of whipping cream or other heavy cream is out for the duration. Coffee cream is not affected by the ruling.

Secretary Wickard announced that no increase will be made in sugar beet production in Colorado, Nebraska and Wyoming next year. Production was already stepped up to take care of needs.

The deadline for turning in extra tires has been extended to December 12 by OPA. This was granted because in many places the express companies could not handle the volume.

The army and navy need great quantities of explosives, and to have these they must first have glycerin. Fats and oils are used for making glycerin. As the sources of fats and oils are now in the hands of axis powers, the glycerin must be obtained from other sources. One of the important sources is kitchen grease, that which is left after frying and roasting meats. The war production board has asked that all waste grease be salvaged to produce glycerin, and all housewives are urged to save this waste grease by straining it into clean cans and taking it to the local meat market after accumulating one pound or more. Ten pounds of grease produce one pound of glycerin which will in turn make 13 pounds of high explosive.

It has been reported that cream cans have been used to store gasoline and kerosene before the rationing of those items went into effect. Henry Obink, chief of the state dairy and foods division, has warned dairy operators to keep a sharp lookout for all such cans. He stated that it is practically impossible to get rid of the taste and odor of gasoline and kerosene and that butter made from cream contained in these cans will have that taste and odor. He also said that these cans may have to be returned before they may be used again for cream.

Any person who regularly transports four or more students, teachers or school employees to and from schools in rural areas where there are no other means of transportation available, will be allowed preferred mileage.

The need for workers in essential industries and agriculture will be given equal consideration with the need of the armed forces, states Paul V. McNutt, the new manpower czar. This will be good news to the farmers of the midwest who have been wondering how they were going to raise the food needed by this country and the allies without any help. Many fields of corn, probably a quarter of the crop, are still ungathered, and are now blanketed with snow because of the farm labor shortage.

A beet harvesting machine has been invented by a Pueblo, Colo., farmer, that can dig and top more beets than six men. Fifteen of these machines were operated this year and 100 more will be in the fields next year. This machine, along with a thinner already now in use, will practically eliminate the job of beet topplers. The federal department of agriculture engineer at Fort Collins, Colo., believes that these two machines will cut hand labor 75 per cent.

Students in all Nebraska schools, from the 7th to the 12th grades, may participate in an art contest conducted by the Scholastic Magazine, and sponsored by an Omaha firm. Prizes will be given in several classes of art, including work in oils, water color and tempera, pencil and pen drawings, prints, fabric and costume design, advertising, American Humane poster, sculpture and ceramics, handicraft, needlework, weaving, textile decoration, and mechanical drawing and design. Emphasis will be placed on physical fitness posters. Winners in this district will be eligible to compete in the national contests.

The office of defense transportation has announced that farmers and commercial truck operators whose certificate of necessity mileage allotment fails to meet their need, may appeal to the local farm transportation committee of the county agricultural war board for additional allotment to carry them through the months of December and January pending final action on their appeals. Applicants will be required to describe in detail the purposes for which the additional allowances are required. The amount of gasoline received and used during these two months will be deducted from the total granted when the appeal clears through the regular channels. The announcement further stated that "every effort will be made to grant commercial vehicle operators as much mileage and gasoline as they need to carry on necessary operations."

A salvage section of the war production board announced new facilities for collecting and shipping waste kitchen fats so vitally needed for glycerine used in making explosives and munitions. These fats should be left with firms handling meats.

The supply of civilian garment leather is not expected to be affected by an order of the WPB restricting cattle hides and goat, calf and kid skins to military and lease-lend products. Civilian garments are made chiefly of sheep and lamb skins, not included in the restrictions.

To meet the demand for lumber it is hoped to bring many small mills back into production.

OPA has placed no restriction this year on the sale or distribution of Christmas trees.

WAR NEVER TAKES A HOLIDAY ... Not Even at Christmas. You Can Help by Not Making Long Distance Christmas Calls. We earnestly request you not to make any out-of-town calls Christmas Eve or Christmas Day this year, especially to war activity centers, unless they're vital. Long distance telephone lines will be loaded with urgent business—and there won't be room for the calls usually made to extend Christmas greetings. Extra lines can't be added because copper and other materials are needed for planes, tanks and shells. We shall appreciate your cooperation. If, in spite of the probability of delay, you plan to talk to someone in the armed forces at Christmas, the call is more likely to go through if you furnish him your telephone number and have him call you. His call can be placed "collect" at no extra charge. NORTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

Hold Stunt Night Feature at School

International Club Places First Among Entries Friday Evening.

International Relations club took first place in the annual stunt night program at the college Friday evening, the feature being sponsored this year by seniors. This stunt consisted of two scenes, one in which Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito were dividing the world, they themselves drinking, satisfied while others about started. The second scene portrayed the United States working and buying war bonds for victory.

Pile hall placed second. In this the poem, "Twas the Night Before Christmas," was read, while this favorite Christmas story was enacted.

Neihardt feature showed a coded's dream, and Katz club presented two young men costumed as girls and singing a popular number.

The faculty presented a skit which was not entered in the competition. They dramatized a modernized version of the "Three Billy Goats Gruff" as a school feature in which Dr. Isobel Rust was instructor and faculty members were little children. In this Hitler was under the bridge. The scrap drive marched over, then the rubber drive and finally the war bonds and stamps, leading to Hitler's defeat.

Music was furnished by the band, girls' trio and boys' quartet, also by the girls' trio from the training school.

Judges were Mrs. A. G. Williams, Dr. S. B. Shively and Dr. G. C. Seck.

Wayne High Wins Over Pender Team

Wayne high won its first conference basketball game of the season by beating Pender high at the city auditorium last Friday night by the score of 27-21. The outcome of the game was never in doubt as the Wayne team led all the way, giving Coach Henry Menke the opportunity to use all players on his squad.

The last year's state champions displayed their defensive skill, a feature of last year's play. Their offense was weak considering the fact that Pender gave them every opportunity to shoot. Still they failed to cash in on their shots. Jensen led the Wayne scores with ten points.

The starting lineup for Wayne included Murray and Lessman at forwards, Stull and Strahan at the guards and Jensen at center.

Winnebago high plays Wayne at the auditorium January 1.

Rev. Alton Kaul, Presbyterian pastor at Falls City, formerly of Pender, and Miss Elsie Gates, home service director in Hiawatha, Kan., will be married December 30.

Livers, pastor, officiated and used the single ring ceremony.

Attendants were Mr. Randol's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Wilford McKinley of Ponca. Following the service, a reception dinner was served in the McKinley home.

The bride was attired in a R. A. F. victory blue travel suit with matching hat and black accessories. She wore a corsage of white chrysanthemums. Her attendant wore a beige suit complemented with brown accessories. The bridegroom and best man wore dark blue suits.

The young couple chose December 19 for their wedding date as it is also the 53rd wedding anniversary of Mr. Randol's parents.

Prior to that time she also taught at Eagle. Mr. Randol formerly lived at Wayne where he was graduated from high school and attended Wayne State Teachers college. Wayne Takes Easy Victory in Game

Wildcats Take Early Lead Over Midland Players Here Saturday.

Wayne Teachers defeated Midland college in basketball Saturday night on the Wayne court by the score of 63-51. Wayne took the lead from the start and was never behind at any time during the game.

It was evident from the very beginning of the game that Midland was outclassed, and Coach Raymond Schreiner seized this opportunity to give every man on the squad a chance to display his wares. It was shown that the squad lacks adequate reserve guards, and this will be probably the biggest problem which will face the newly acquired coach, Ralph Ginn, formerly of Tarkio college. Coach Ginn plans to take full charge of the squad this week and prepare them for the all-college tournament being held at Hastings December 28, 29 and 30.

For Wayne, Magdanz and Reissen were high scorers with 19 and 16 points respectively. It was the fine floor work of Best, Kozisek and Warner that kept the Midland offense helpless in the first half. After Kozisek and Warner went out on fouls Midland was able to acquire a large score. Petrow and Swartz were outstanding for Midland.

Christmas Spirit Is an Inspiration

New Building Is Dedicated At Wayne Normal School In Early Years.

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for December 23, 1926: "Commemoration of the nativity and life of the Nazarene is too often expressed in mere perfunctory giving. It is the measure of love back of the gift that really counts. It is the spirit of the occasion rather than the material value of the gift that exalts the individual and makes him a better member of society. The Man of Galilee was kindly, gentle, generous and noble. If we imbibe but a fraction of the influence which he exercised in behalf of unselfish living, we would fortify ourselves against tendencies that make for misery. What we give, let us give ungrudgingly. What we think, let us think in a spirit of charity. Let us be sure that our thoughts and deeds lighten the burdens of one another and reflect as far as humanly possible the high standard established by the founder of Christianity."

The huge task of moving equipment of the Wayne Herald to new quarters prompted the recollection that it took the Israelites 40 years to go from Egypt to the land of Canaan. "But on reflection we could drive the distance in a Ford in a day or sail in an airplane in two hours. Besides, Ringling's circus moves its thousands a hundred miles over night and is ready for business the next day. The Israelites lacked system and traveling facilities. The Ringlings have system worked to perfection. While we do not expect to attain the high standard reached by the Ringlings, we expect to outdistance the snail-like pace of the Israelites."

Wayne will remember the needy at Christmas time. In charge of

Please don't make Christmas calls to war-busy centers

Long distance lines, on Christmas Eve and on Christmas Day, will be busy with the urgent business of war—vital calls that must go through.

On top of these war calls will be many thousands of calls of men in the service trying to share a few minutes of the holidays with those at home.

As a result, long distance lines will be overloaded, even if there are no other Christmas calls. In spite of everything we can do, many calls will be delayed and some won't get through at all. More lines can't be built now because copper and other materials are needed for planes, tanks and shells.

Won't you please help to keep the lines clear for the men in uniform by not making any Christmas calls, especially to centers of war activity.

We feel sure you'll cooperate. Thank you.

Electricity Bills Cancelled as Gift

Montana Indians Say Gas By Towing Cars to and From Town Trips.

Approximately $10,000 more Christmas dollars were jingling around Princeton, Ill., because the city council ordered the December bills for electricity stamped "paid" before they were mailed to the customers. Commissioner A. H. Unholz said there was a "dangerous surplus" in the treasury of the community-owned electric light plant and suggested the "free ride" for the home owners.

Delores Oswald, 13, of Salt Lake City, had intended weaving a rug of the 780 silk stockings she had collected, but she gave them instead to the national silk salvage drive, hoping they would weave a web around Tokio.

Grow Indian families at Billings, Mont., are getting almost double mileage from their gasoline ration coupons. Trips into town are postponed until two cars can be filled. One machine tows the others in and vice versa on the return trip.

A farmer drove to the court house at Topeka, Kan., to report that he had a dead coyote in the back of his car and wanted the $1 bounty. Deputy County Clerk Mary Haynes reached in to punch the customary three holes in the ear but yipped and withdrew her hand, minus the tip of a finger. "Must of just stunned him," apologized the farmer.

When Jack Ladin, Indianapolis, who has an A gasoline rationing card, went out to his car, he found a thief had siphoned all of the gasoline out of the tank. That was bad, but the thief had filled the tank with water and it was frozen solid. Mechanics worked for seven and one-half hours before they could get the tank, gasoline pump, carburetor and fuel lines thawed out.

At Emporia, Kan., the janitor finally warmed the auditorium of the First Methodist church to the proper 65-degree temperature for the Sunday services—but it didn't stay that way long. The furnace overheated and set fire to the building which was destroyed with a loss of $10,000.

The Forty Plus club of New York, composed of executives who went on the rocks, seems now to be headed in that direction itself—because its members are going back to work. The organization was formed in 1939 when unemployed executives were plentiful. In the early days the club had no membership worries. For a time, there even was a big waiting list.

Donald Alger of Towanda, Pa., fished half a day and didn't get a bite—but he caught a fish. Wading through a stream, he stumbled over an old rubber tire. He took it home. Hours later, trapped inside, he found a five-pound bass.

Policeman Melville Norton, Kansas City, halted a pedestrian at a busy downtown intersection, shook the man's hand warmly and congratulated him. "You violated a city ordinance and walked against a red light, but you made it and weren't killed," he said politely. It's effective too, explained Norton later; even better than being arrested.

A group of businessmen in Douglas, Wyo., really mean business about bringing in scrap metal. They trokked 40 miles into the mountains and spent, five days wrecking a 20-ton steam engine. Then they had to build six temporary bridges and several miles of road to haul the pieces to Douglas. It cost them $260, but it boosted their salvage total to 250,000 pounds.

The Chicago lawyer's secretary told the new office boy to get her a new comb at the corner drug store, specifying that it must be "a rat tail comb." Ten minutes later he approached her with a double decker ice cream cone which he offered with the comment: "Couldn't get any rat tails today, Miss."

It cost Arthur S. Thompson of Williamsport, Pa., $25 to save his own life. Thompson told game wardens a 420-pound bear charged him while he was hunting deer and he shot it when it was only 30 feet away. The warden, checked tracks in the snow and substantiated the statement but nevertheless Thompson paid a $25 fine. Bears are out of season.

"Marie" is just a Guernsey heifer, but Farmer U. M. Holmes at Towanda, Pa., says she has an ear for music—and a nose. Holmes installed a radio above her barn stanchion and Marie, he says, grew so fond of music that she no longer waits for him to come in in the morning and turn the switch. Instead, Holmes explains, she nudges it herself.

A couple of University of Washington men put on a fund-raising stunt at Seattle that fairly smacked of patriotism. The two Roger Ryan and Barry Rogers—capitalizing on the patriotic fervor of the coeds and the imminent man shortage prospect, set up a booth in which they sold kisses to the gal for a dime. All profits (they were not reported) were to go to the coed-sponsored fund for purchase of a jeep for the army.

You never saw young people at Hiawatha, Kan., take such an interest in an election. The question: Shall the Christmas vacation be shortened from two weeks to two days? The school board thinks it should be done, to shorten the school year so youngsters may be released for farm work early in the spring. But they wanted to be fair about it, so they decided on the election plan. The ballots go only to the high school kids' parents.
