Use of Ballot Will Avoid Communism

Miss Margaret Moninger Is In Wayne to Speak on Chinese Situation

Communism will not prove a threat after the war if Americans use the power they hold in the ballot, according to Miss Margaret Moninger of Marshalltown, Ia., missionary for many years, who spoke to about 100 at Wayne Woman's club room Thursday evening under auspices of International Relations group of Wayne branch of A. A. U. W. This precious privilege of democracy should be safeguarded zealously.

Regarding the strength of the Japs, Miss Moninger is hopeful for early defeat because they were forced into the war by the axis earlier than they anticipated and because they have no ready supply of raw materials after they have exhausted supplies which they secured from this country. The collapse of the axis in Europe will have great psychological effect on defeat of the Japs, Miss Moninger believes.

The speaker feels that the common people in the axis countries are at the mercy of the military machine which forced the present conflict.

Japs control the coasts of China, but they will never defeat the Chinese, the speaker stated. The Chinese can lose 10 to one and still they will carry on. When they lose it coastal sight, the Chinese withdraw to the interior and the guerrillas carry on warfare with practically no weapons. When the war between China and Japan started in 1937, the Japs boasted that they would defeat the Chinese in six months. But six years have passed and they still are undefeated. "Japan wins the battles but China will win the war" is the way the situation is described.

Japs are reported having sent men to Germany in past years for training in army technique and others to Britain for training in navy technique. This, Miss Moninger was told, is the reason that one fares better under navy control in Japan than under army domination.

Library News

Not much news can be told this week of the Victory book campaign. A few more organizations have voted money to buy books. Will these organizations please see that the money is turned into the library as soon as possible so that an order can be placed for these books before the campaign closes?

Kent Cooper has said, "The best way to get facts to the people is to place them where they will be read with reliance upon their truth." The book, "Let the People Know," by Sir Norman Angell, is one of the books on the library shelves which tells the facts and we can know that they are facts upon which we can rely. This book has been reviewed by the critics in many magazines and papers and not one word of adverse criticism has been published about it.

The A. L. A. Bulletin carried a message to librarians by Stanley Kuntz. He said that librarians need not be humble of their task which is to serve as an organ of civilization. Let them remember that ideas are the most powerful creation of man.

The Saturday Review of Literature for January 30, 1943, carried an article entitled, "What Woman's Magazine Is Reading." A more amusing comment on the make up of the Woman's magazine would be hard to find. You would surely enjoy it whether you are man or woman.

A line new book on radio has been accessioned this week. It is called Radio, from start to finish. A dandy new mystery for the mystery fans has also been accessioned called Murder by the Yard. John Mason Brown, the drama critic has written a new book called Issues Out. He tells of his hospital adventures when he was forced to attend his own opening. This is very funny.

Several new books for the tiny tots are now on the shelves. They are very attractive and the little folks seem to appreciate new books just as much as the adults.

Story hour for the children will be held at 2:30 Saturday afternoon.

Many of us need the prayer of the old Scot who feared that he might become like so many he saw around him dead from the chin up and hence his daily petition: "Oh Lord, keep me alive while I am still living. What better way to keep alive than to read?"

Funds Available To Increase Food

Plan Is to Assure Plenty Of Vitrally Needed Crops In War Program

Lee E. Sellen, USDA War board and Triple-A chairman of Wayne county, announced the first of the week that the emergency financing program for war food production through the Regional Agricultural Credit corporation, is available to farmers and livestock men in this county.

Mr. Sellen and R. E. Roberts, who has been designated loan representative of the R. A. C. C. for Wayne county by the county war board, were in Norfolk Friday to attend a district meeting and make final plans for the program.

Necessary forms for the emergency lending program, said Sellen, were distributed at the meeting. Over 200 million dollars are now ready to aid the nation's farmers.

In addition to regular loans for increased production, at five per cent interest and secured by the collateral financed, funds will also be disbursed through the R. A. C. C. for the production of special war crops, such as flax, soybeans and hemp. Funds so disbursed are designated as "advances" and the government shares the credit risk with the producer because repayment need be made only to the extent of the value of the special war crops raised. The producer need not pledge assets other than the crop itself to payment of the advance.

The R. A. C. C. program is designated to assure the credit necessary for maximum farm production and to encourage the production of vitally necessary special war crops.

Unit of Clothing Will Be Presented

Ways to make clothing give more service in war time will be considered

February 24 when Wayne county project club leaders meet at Wayne city hall at 10 a. m. Miss May Stanek, extension specialist, warns that conservation of clothing is absolutely necessary for several reasons, the main one being that a soldier needs three times as much clothing as in civilian life. Since many factories, machines and materials of the clothing industry have been turned over to war needs, civilians are finding that shortages of materials, development of substitutes, shortages of labor and rising prices mean they must make adjustments in buying, care, management and use of clothing.

Ceiling prices and other restrictions, labels and how to read them, choosing design and style of clothing, cleaning methods, ways of pressing clothing properly, proper washing methods, ways of hanging a dress, care of men's suits so they will last longer, care of work shoes, conservation of foundation garments, and other important topics will be discussed. This meeting also will include a short summary of the general economic outlook for the coming year.

Miss Stanek urges that all home demonstration club leaders plan to attend this very timely meeting. Presidents of the clubs are requested to meet at this time to plan the achievement day program.

Ways to make your meat go further

Making that quota of meat stretch to take care of all those meals is a new experience for most homemakers. But there are so many ways to make that portion of meat go a little further without loss of taste appeal or sacrifice of nourishment, that it isn't really such a problem after all.

Supplementing Meats with other protein foods is one of the easiest ways of adhering to the quota. Try serving a half portion of meat, and adding some other protein food such as cheese, eggs, beans, whole grain cereals, nuts or nuts. Nutritionally speaking, you've sacrificed nothing. As for satisfyingly good meals, your family will welcome the change.

MEAT SHORTCAKE—Combine small pieces of precooked meat, any kind is right, in gravy made from drip liquids or in a cream sauce that has been thickened with a little flour. Don't serve it over piping hot biscuits made from enriched flour. Try it over mashed or baked potatoes or steamed rice, too. It's a way to stretch a little bit of meat a long way. Add to meats, or nuts. Nutritionally speaking, you've sacrificed nothing. As for satisfyingly good meals, your family will welcome the change.

PASTES TO THE RESCUE—Combine meats with noodles, spaghetti, macaroni, or one of the other pastes in casserole dishes to make a little go a long way. Any kind of meat including vitamin-rich liver, heart and kidney can be used.

CHILI—No doubt about it, chili is a hearty dish. If you've been used to making it using only beef as the meat, then change your style and use any of the other meats or fowl that are available. Not much is needed because the beans contribute a share of the protein.

RICE CASSEROLES—A little meat goes twice as far when fixed in rice casseroles. Cheese, rice and meat are a happy combination, and there's rib-sticking qualities there, too.

"You'll find we're offering you a broader house this year than in the easiest to heat, the easiest to keep clean, and has the most usable space of any broader house you have ever seen. Yet this broader house does not cost you anywhere near what you would expect to have to pay for such a well made building. See it!"

College Needs
THREATS to due maintenance of the Wayne State Teachers college were discussed at Monday's meeting of the Kiwanis club. Facts presented showed exceptionally efficient and frugal handling of affairs over the years. The record reveals a minimum of cost per student enrolled and a standard of scholarship that will compare with the best. It shows complete equipment well preserved.

The governor's report to the legislature commending the school's management was gratifying. His recommendation to absorb for maintenance the fund carefully husbanded for a stadium, and erroneously implying that the money was saved from previous state appropriations was disappointing. His apparent inclination to trim appropriations for the school as a recognition of past economy would, if followed, cause evident injustice and aggravate an already difficult task.

Wild spending as indulged through peace-time years by the new deal is one reprehensible extreme. Drawing necessary state institutions within the pincers of unendurable parsimony is another equally reprehensible extreme. Waste on the one hand does not warrant a resentful example of stifling parsimony on the other.

It is likely the governor has been misinformed or unwisely advised, and no doubt would not intentionally be unfair to Wayne. It is believed he and the appropriations committee can be led by facts to deal with the local school in accordance with mounting demands.

Sweetly telling a school-head that he is doing so well that he can assuredly do better does not solve the problem of rising wages or other increased costs. The expense barrier cannot be hurdled by a nonchalant wave of the hand. Schools must deal with hard facts, inseparably associated with cold cash. This must be supplied by the unicameral under approval of the governor.

The state college in Wayne is northeast Nebraska's big educational institution. It is a source of constant benefit to widely scattered north Nebraska areas. Convenience and low costs lead many young people to come here for training. Through the years of superior school plant has been built. It is here and is doing an eminently useful service, and it should not be strangled by the unwitting appraisal of conditions and requirements by those who have authority over appropriations. Thrift should not be penalized.

In Armed Forces
The reason relatives and friends should write often to the boys in the armed forces and the reason the Herald is sent on request every week to Wayne county boys on many battle-fronts may be found in the following excerpt from the Minnesota Press, reproduced in the current Publisher's Auxiliary:

"Talk is low and voices soft as men speak and think of home. . . One cot shakes, the steel whippers. A fighting man is sobbing. . . It's the boy whose letter never comes. Day after day the clerk calls out names and precious packages and letters are snatched. This boy never pushes to the fore. He tries so hard to pretend that he expects nothing. . . Good clothing, good food—good equipment. But fighting men need good mail, too. . . The horns, stifles, gasp. Is silent, the boy whose letter never comes."

Different Viewpoints
THE LINCOLN Journal recalls the ambition of city newspaper workers to become rural publishers. We also remember how country editors often yearned for places on the staffs of metropolitan journals. We think it is the case of the other or more distant field looking greener and more inviting. The hard sledding which has fallen to the lot of rural publishers since the war started, led the Journal to bring up the subject. It made this observation:

"Once upon a time it was the expressed ambition of every daily newspaper man some day to own and operate a weekly. The fact that very few did so never cluttered up the dream of easier toil. The notion that running a weekly was like superintending an automatic mint has been sadly wrecked by wartime conditions. Many a country editor seems destined to spend the next year or two as guest of his wife's folks."

It is remembered that the American Legion warned against unpreparedness from the time of the close of World War No. 1, but apparently the advice passed unheeded. Lack of preparation for the present conflict gives ample proof of the Legion's foresight. Readiness for possible attack is proved the best safeguard. Peace-loving Americans do not like to disturb orderly processes by rattling armaments, but it would seem necessary to do so to preserve democratic institutions. It is likely men in present armed forces will join Legion members in demanding due preparedness for future security.

Maximum enlistments for the army proposed by the war manpower chief, and the need of sufficient help to insure maximum food production are causing sharp disagreements in Washington. We understand congress is studying the problem carefully and will endeavor to keep the home front functioning while supplying adequate personnel for the fighting forces.

Senate and house members in Washington say plenty against unnecessary bureaucracies in government, but seem slow in getting around to get rid of them. Representatives of the people seem deeply the needless cost of keeping up peace-time, depression-bred agencies, and may be moving steadily and surely, if slowly, in the direction of elimination and relief.

Among Lincoln day speeches was one by the president who talked about the war, but who really said little that had not already been said.

We will have to get back to the principle of saving by spending less.

Complicated and Serious.
(Saturday Evening Post)

The full-faith-and-credit clause in the Constitution was invoked by the Supreme Court in a decision which seems to mean that North Carolina, which has strict divorce laws, will have to recognize divorces granted to North Carolinians in Nevada, where the statutes are not so strict. In coming to this momentous decision, the Court became quite chatty. Justice Douglas, who wrote the majority opinion, said: "This Court stated in Wharton v. Atherton (181 U.S. 45 L ed 799, 21 S. Ct. 544) that 'a husband without a wife or a wife without a husband is unknown to the law. But if one is lawfully divorced and remarried in Nevada and still married to the first spouse in North Carolina, an even more complicated and serious condition would be realized."

Everybody knows how complicated and serious it is to live a humdrum married life in Virginia City and find yourself living in sin when transported to Raleigh, but we still wonder where the full-faith-and-credit clause comes in. If careful Nevada may, in effect, compel estimable North Carolina to accept the Reno estimate of the permanence of marriage, why is Nevada not required to give full faith and credit to North Carolina's laws—for example, by compelling North Carolinians in Reno to stay out of bars and roulette parlors, as they have to do in North Carolina?

Says Bureaucrats Are Locusts.
(Omaha Journal-Stockman)

Senator Guy Gillette of Iowa is another statesman who has raised his voice against the growing evil of bureaucratic government. "These unnecessary government agencies, ever seeking to enlarge their functions and their importance," said the senator, "constitute a menace to our free institutions."

"We've simply got to clean house," he asserted, "and we can't do it by refusing to admit our mistakes, without eliminating some of the hordes of locusts living off the people through agencies that aren't necessary."

"No one could or should be selfishly inconsiderate of our international responsibilities after the war, but to assume that this world will enter upon an Utopian period of unselfishness and altruism and that human nature with its traits and temperaments will have changed overnight would be an assumption which would contribute to a tragic failure to meet our clear responsibilities."

"Charity should begin at home even though it should not stay there. Let us first set our own house in order," he urged, "and prepare first to recover powers and authorities belonging to the people which we have surrendered during the stress and need of war."

"I do not suggest that this can be done through national economic isolationism, but I do mean that after we have placed America first, not in point of time, but first in our planning and thinking, then there will be ample time to take up our obligations to the world in which our nation will have to live."

HIGH TENSION.
An article in the Christian Science Monitor mentions strained relations between congress and the president over local economics, and predicts open clash will come after the war if it is held in check until then. It is claimed that republicans and conservative democrats form a majority in both houses, and can assert mastery when the proper juncture arrives to do so. It is pointed out that the president sends dangers and cleverly avoids them. "Thus the pull and haul between congress and president goes on," observes the Monitor. "The big clash that many expected hasn't come. Observers in Washington still expect it, and there is a queer air of tension here and waiting. But for the moment, anyway, the right issue hasn't arrived."

Tin Can Salvage Starts in Wayne

Housewives are urged to start saving their tin cans. Properly prepared by washing and drying tin cans, remove label. To cut out top and bottom and crush tin can is essential. Otherwise we have no use for the tin can.

Reason for our delay in getting started on "Tin Can Salvage" is that Wayne is not large enough to save enough tin cans to make 15 tons or other words a car load all by itself.

The following idea has been conceived, that the housewives properly prepare the tin cans and then take them to their grocer. A Norfolk beverage truck will pick up the tin cans from a week seven grocery stores once a week, city of Norfolk acting as a center for four of our counties. It has not definitely been decided what will happen to the profits derived from the sale of tin cans at the present time, but I think Wayne will get its proper share of the profits, if there are any, or see to it that the funds are going to the proper national organization.

C & M Grocery, Larson's Food Market, City Grocery, Council Oak, Russell Grocery, Safeway, and Central Meat Market are all cooperating and will act as receiving agencies for your tin cans.

Would also like to call to your attention that the meat markets will buy your fats and oils. With a rendering plant in our city capable and willing to purchase from our meat markets and see that these fats and oils are shipped to their proper destination to help win this war, I personally am very disappointed that our housewives have not taken this more seriously than they have. We have the facilities and should go strong on this phase of the war effort. Many towns do not have a rendering plant.

I also think your department stores are ready to take your old silk stockings.

A few days ago 150 pounds of copper and brass were turned in by our kids in the community. That may not be a lot of copper, but think how it all adds up when each town in the state gets its 150 pounds to Omaha and they start loading a full car. Our tin can, silk hose and oils and fats program will work the same way, if we can ever all get going and realize that it is important.

County Chairman Salvage

CAPITAL.

In an article in a current magazine, Eric Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, points out that many labor union members have expressed themselves for the capitalist system, and believe they can depend on it more than on government bureaucrats to save the country after the war. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, was quoted as saying that labor would suffer most from government regimentation. Business and industry can furnish ample employment and prosperity in the reconstruction period, and they must be on the alert to do so and must be permitted to do so. Capital and labor should work together, rather than in conflict, to escape bureaucratic interference. "We stand at a solemn parting of the ways," says Johnston. "Our business leaders and our labor leaders want freedom. No American wants slavery. But what is the price of freedom? I say it is the capital with which to operate capitalism."

AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C. February 10, 1943
Dan Casey who always said he was the original "Casey," died in a hospital here the other day. We used to see quite a bit of him out at the ball park here during the summer time. The baseball fans used to kid him. He was a prominent pitcher in the 1880's and 1890's. We heard Casey telling a couple of ball players that the ball game which is described in the poem, "Casey at the Bat," was played back in 1887 between the Phillies and the New York Giants. He came to bat in the last half of the ninth with Philadelphia trailing 4-3, and men on second and third. He let two called strikes go by and on the third pitch, closed his eyes and swung—and missed. The incident was put into verse by Ernest Thayer and popularized by the late DeWolf Hopper who recited it throughout much of the world in a generation.

Nebraska is going 50,000 kilowatts of electric energy going to waste according to the officials of the Columbus plant. Effort is being made to interest the war production board in this unused power resource.

Both the republican and democratic whips are having considerable trouble keeping members on the floor of the house. The relative strength of the two parties is so close that any test of party strength may be won or lost due to absences. The democratic whip has the greater difficulty. About a dozen members from New York City, whose principal allegiance is to Tammany hall, come to Washington only on call. Thus far, the republican side has been more successful because the democratic whip has been unable to keep his majority on the floor. The first test votes came on the bill making appropriations for the post office and treasury departments. The second test will come when the two-billion-dollar independent offices appropriation bill is brought to the floor.

Some attacks have been made on the state department for not doing better in north Africa. Actually, the state department did a good job and saved many lives by getting the free French to stop shooting at Americans landing on African shores. Robert Murphy who represented our state department in France, went to Algiers during the time that the north African expedition was being planned. He kept the free French leaders informed and got them on our side. He refused to meddle in French politics. There were a dozen or more different French political parties and Murphy told the French that Uncle Sam was not interested in their political affairs, but merely wanted their assistance to help us whip the Germans and Italians. He was decorated for the successful conduct of his mission. Robert Murphy's job is civilian affairs officer and member of the staff of General Eisenhower, who is the number one man representing Uncle Sam in north Africa. Murphy's title is minister plenipotentiary. One theory is that the attack on the state department is attributable to Murphy's unwillingness to meddle in French political affairs. Uncle Sam's job is to win the war and let our allies run their own political business and settle their own political squabbles.

Dr. Walter H. Judd who represents the 5th district of Minnesota, was born at Rising City, Neb., where his father still lives. Dr. Judd was in China for 10 years and had plenty of experience with the treacherous Japanese. When he came back to the United States, he went to Minnesota and lived there only two years, but he was so anxious to tell the country and congress about conditions in China that he decided to run for congress and was elected.

Both political parties hold caucuses and confidential sessions during which politics and strategy are discussed. Believe it or not, in one discussion, one political leader said that 26 counties in the United States elect the president of the United States. The prediction is that President Roosevelt will be a candidate for a fourth term.

Agriculture and war production chiefs of Nebraska members that the plains states will get more farm machinery. The welding rod bottleneck has been solved and our blacksmiths and farmers will get sufficient of this metal to make repairs for farm machinery, these chiefs say. The reason for giving plains states more attention is that there will be several million more acres put into corn production.

Uncle Sam is very good to his fighting men. Sailor Brummond of Norfolk, went to Iowa to visit relatives on his furlough last fall. While hunting squirrels, he shot off half of his left hand. The navy decided that Brummond could do limited service and, after hospitalization, he was sent to a camp in Virginia. As a second-class petty officer, he gets $98 a month with assurance of a promotion to chief petty officer within a short time. When in Washington the other day, Brummond told the staff in the Third district office that while he was fortunate in naval promotion, he was most unfortunate in squirrel hunting because of the injury to his left hand—the hand he uses most.

Anne Mae Smith who worked in federal and private offices as a stenographer in Lincoln and other Nebraska towns, has made good in Washington. She is one of the best paid employees in one of the departments here, but she came to the office the other day and said she is joining the WAVES.

Congress has heard from home. Democrats and republicans work together to cut appropriations. The appropriations committee gets another big job. All charges against federal employees that they are members of subversive organizations that advocate overthrow of our government by force and violence, will be investigated by the appropriations committee. The same committee will now get experts to go into various departments to get dissatisfied information as to whether or not appropriation requests are absolutely necessary. It is believed that this plan will save hundreds of millions of dollars during the next few years.

 The Golden Text is: "The Lord of hosts hath sworn saying, Surely as I have thought, so shall it come to pass; and as I have pur-posed, so shall it stand" (Isaiah 54:24).
 Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And God said unto Moses, I am that I am;
 and he said, Thus shalt thou say unto the children of Israel, I am hath sent me unto you" (Exodus
 3:14).
 The lesson-sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:
 "I am, God; incorporeal and eternal Mind; divine Principle; the only Ego. . . . The everlasting I am is not bounded nor compressed within the narrow limits of physical humanity, nor can He be understood aright through mortal concepts. . . . Who is it that demands our obedience? He who, in the language of Scripture, 'doeth according to His will in the army of heaven, and among the inhabitants of the earth; and none can stay His hand, or say unto Him,
 What dost Thou?' . . . A limitless
 Mind cannot proceed from physical limitations" (pp. 588, 256).

Fix Contraption To Slice Bread

Uncle Sam Provides Trip To Birthplace for Lad Sent to Alaska.

W. H. Wagner's offer to let students sharpen bread knives in his woodworking class at Kansas City, brought such a response that he wondered if some gadget couldn't be devised to help home-slicers. Now the boys are all busy making flat boards with upright sides containing vertical slots. You put the bread between the uprights and the knife can't swerve and make the slice thick on one end and thin at the other. A 10 cent contraption, the students have sold several hundred.

Uncle Sam is financing Capt. Willard E. Pratt's visit to his birthplace. A native of Kodiak Island, Alaska, he hadn't seen the place since he was 4 years old until transferred there by the army.

A young lady dining in a New York restaurant saw the insignia of a falcon on the uniform of a paratrooper at the next table. "Look," she said to her companion, "a parrot! Now I know why they call them paratroopers!"

Thirteen kibitzers surrounded the players in a slam-bound bridge game at the Kansas City Athletic club. Kibitzer Jay Jacobstein was called to a nearby telephone. After a few words into the phone he shouted to the bridge players, "What, wait, don't start a new deal! He had a message they'd be back until he hung up. He strolled back and remarked: "May I review the bidding?"

Houses and stores of the little community of Avoca, Ind., were the best ventilated in the country one day not so long ago. Residents first thought an earthquake had struck when windows shattered without warning during a thunderstorm. Natives said they heard a particularly ominous peal of thunder, and then everything got quiet.

At Oklaheima City, two men stopped Russell B. Smith's car. "We'll have to take your car, Buddy," Smith switched on his dash light and radio, barking into the loudspeaker. "Calling all cars, reporting robbery at thirty-seventh and Classen." "He's a highway patrolman," shouted one yegg as both fled. They didn't know no one can broadcast over a one-way radio—or that Smith's official bat was that of a boy scout executive.

For the fourth time, Calvin Cumbie of Athens, Texas, shook hands with the president of North Texas college and received his fourth diploma. This time, he got to keep it. On the other three occasions he was a proxy.

At Independence, Mo., a defendant interrupted police court proceedings by ambling up to the bench. "God a match?" asked Judge Gilbert Titus. "No," snapped the judge, "but I have 20 days. They're yours."

Uncle John Watkins' 1915 model Dodge car may see a lot of action yet at Excelsior Springs. Uncle John bought the car in 1928, put new tires and a top on it, had it driven to his farm, jacked it up in the barn and there it stayed. "Uncle John always knew a bargain when he saw one," the relatives explain. Today the Dodge is down off the jack at last, headed for the scrap heap and its bit in defense.

Sheriff Jap Holland of Miami, Okla., carried in his pocket for five months a splinter of wood he found at a farm where some calves had been stolen. Then he found a truck with a damaged panel. The splinter fitted into the rip. One man pleaded guilty to larceny of livestock and another will be tried on the same charge.

At Spokane, Wash., scrap collection directors needed something to flatten out their scrap heaps. A. W. Witherspoon came up with a heavy tractor, which did the job nicely. "And when you're done, just scrap the tractor too," said Witherspoon.

Lumberman Les Farris has figured out a way to obtain an extra 175,000 miles a year for his truck fleet. Eight trucks, loaded with lumber travel 65 miles to Spokane but on the return trip it's four trucks loaded with four trucks.

LEGISLATIVE LETTER

Lincoln, February 15.

The Appropriations Committee of which your State Senator is Secretary and a member is hard at work considering the needs of some 36 departments, 5 educational units and 17 correctional and charitable institutions which receive appropriations. Of the total 59 millions appropriated for the biennium of 1941-1943, about 11 1/2 millions came from general property levy, about 30 millions from licenses, fees and cash funds, slightly over 1 million from insane tax fund, special levy and a little more than 16 millions from federal funds. To wisely and carefully provide for all departments and institutions is a colossal task. We are doing our utmost to prevent waste, promote economy and lighten the tax burden. We have succeeded in tentatively agreeing on certain economies that will save considerable money and are considering others.

However, we are faced with the rising costs of food stuffs, clothing, equipment, in fact, most everything that departments and institutions must use. We know that it costs more to feed inmates and patients in our institutions now than a year or so ago. We also know that salaries and wages have rapidly risen in all other spheres. A total of 18 bills for salary increases have been introduced into the legislature and the senators will shortly settle down to consider them. An omnibus bill is now being drawn so that all bills requesting increases for various county officers will be included and be up for consideration in one bill. Increases in every department of state government are being asked upon the ground that the cost of living has rapidly risen.

The appropriations committee is steadily working and is about half through. Members are visiting institutions and departments in order to judge the justice of many requests, to gather first hand information, and to check up on money previously appropriated and the results of expenditures. The committee has paid especial attention to the farming activities of various institutions and inquired as to whether same were profitable. With the federal government requiring a sizable share of Nebraska butter, there is a real possibility that many state institutions will not be able to procure butter for their inmates and patients, for the duration. We find that a saving of approximately $120,000 in the coming two years could be made by using a substitute if the legislature would authorize a change in a statute requiring that butter must be used in all state institutions. Be assured that we are going to save every possible dollar that must come from the taxpayers. Large scale building projects are out for the duration. At the same time, we believe that citizens want the necessary functions of state government carried on in a reasonable way and not seriously weakened by drastic reductions. We think you can realize some of the difficult problems requiring solution.

State Senator

used for a stadium the same as has been done at Kearney, Peru and Chadron. In addition to using this fund, the governor proposes to cut $10,000 from the former appropriation for Wayne.

President H. E. Sman asked the public affairs committee, C. E. Gamm, chairman, Senator W. A. Crossland, Dr. Anderson and R. L. Larson to see what might be done to help the school in this matter.

Prof. O. R. Bowen Speaks

In presenting Dr. Anderson, Prof. O. R. Bowen mentioned that this is the time for Nebraska to pull out of its low place in education. All over the state teachers' salaries are being raised, Prof. Bowen noted, until graduates of colleges are in some cases receiving more than the college instructors. Legislators certainly would favor increased appropriations for schools of higher learning. They would not want this part of the educational system to trail behind. Members of faculties of state institutions of higher learning have served the state in depression years with as much as 30 per cent reductions in salaries, sharing with others who have had reductions in income. Now, when incomes are increasing all over the state, is it asking too much that these teachers be permitted to share in this general increase?

Increased cost of materials and supplies must be taken into account in planning for the next two years. The increased cost of living makes heavy demands on the salaries of faculty members. Prof. Bowen added that the states and other occupations are paying high salaries and the colleges are losing faculty members to these better-paid positions.

Farm income from crops and livestock and livestock products is 53.6 per cent larger for six months as compared with corresponding months of last year. Pay rolls increased 38.6 per cent. Taxpayers on an assessed valuation of $5,000 pay only $1.19 for support of all four teachers colleges. That is a 34 per cent reduction asked for in appropriations is granted to the teachers colleges. A $5,000 assessed valuation would be taxed $1.30 for all the colleges or an increase of 27 cents. This increase in taxes to make the restoration would be insignificant to the individual taxpayer but vital to the welfare of higher education in our state," concluded Prof. Bowen.

Mr. Sman told that Wayne Kihwahia had been invited to Yankton to see the grain alcohol plant. L. E. Seiberling was a guest of F. L. Blair.

Point Rationing Will Start Soon

No 8 stamps will be taken from the book for each can above five per person. In no event will more than half of the stamps be removed for any one period. Holders of excess rationed foods are merely required to declare them, not to surrender them.

The ration board tells consumers to be sure they have the consumers' declaration filled out when they register. One declaration is sufficient for all persons related by blood, marriage or adoption and who regularly reside in the same household. A person not a member of a family unit should apply for himself on a separate declaration.

The public sale of canned goods halts from midnight February 20 until March 1 when it resumes on a ration basis. The allowance of five cans per person for which no stamps will be deducted, plus supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables, should provide ample food, the board states.

Families with reserve stocks are cautioned to use them at the same rate as the monthly ration of those without such reserves. This will prevent exhausting the canned foods with a possibility of being unable to replace them.

Pvt. Morris Arkeny and Miss Maxine Smith of Allen, were married January 21.

Speaks at School On Founders' Day

Dr. J. T. Anderson Stresses Importance of Example In Good Morals

Founders' day was observed by Wayne city school Parent-Teacher association Monday evening in a program in the activities room. Dr. J. T. Anderson, former officer of the state organization, spoke, stressing the importance of cooperation in school work.

Dr. Anderson mentioned that children's handicaps have to be corrected when they first enter school. The next step is to enlist their cooperation. The speaker stressed the moral background as more important than the scholastic. Dr. Anderson especially mentioned the important influence lower-grade children have on lives of little folks who are imitative and who are forming habits. "Character is caught, not taught," he mentioned.

In addition to parents' visiting schools, Dr. Anderson thinks teachers should be invited to visit homes so they may understand the home program. The educator urged the importance of guarding against subversive elements, which threaten democracy and freedom.

I am quite amused and am gaining weight too. It is nice and warm here, but it rains a lot and the mosquitoes are very thick. My home is in Detroit and I am 22. SIXTY FIRST YEAR

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1943

NUMBER FORTY-ONE

Are to Gather Guns Needed in Training
The United States army needs many 12-gauge shotguns to be used in training soldiers and sailors in wing shooting and for guarding purposes. Because of the emergency attending the present requirements for these guns, civilians are requested to turn in as many of these guns as possible. McNatt hardware is the place in Wayne designated for leaving shotguns. The Legion sponsors the project.

The types required are hammerless double barrels, hammerless pumps and automatics. The guns will be paid for at prices of up to $30 for the double barrels and $42.50 for the pumps and automatics.
If the owner knows what price he wants for his gun he may designate the price on the name card, and if the gun grades up to such price a check will be forwarded immediately. If that price cannot be paid, a card will be forwarded to the owner giving the government's appraisal, and the owner will then have the option of either accepting such price or requesting the return of the gun. The gun may be submitted without price and the gun will be carefully appraised and the owner advised as to the price.
No broken guns, double barrel hammer type, dardanus or twist steel guns, obsolete guns, attachment nor accessories should be sent.

Will Hold Meeting For Weed District
Supervisors Plan to Carry On Eradication Work in Area for Season.

Under the Nebraska noxious weed law that has been in effect for five years, 43 districts have been organized covering 5,700,000 acres, and Wayne county has one of these. The annual meeting of this district will be held Friday, March 5, at 1:30 at the court house. All interested are invited to attend.
Wayne county was the 20th district to be organized in the state covering all of the county except the city limits of the towns in the county. The 283,000 acres of the county are divided into five supervisor districts covering 56,500 acres each. At the time the Wayne county noxious weed district was organized three districts in the state were larger and four districts had more noxious weeds.
The five supervisors are all farmers in their respective districts and they are expected to make three calls each year on the patches of noxious weeds, noting the method of eradication and degree of success. All must take care of their own farm work and with labor being scarce and tires and gasoline being rationed they may not be able to cover their districts as thoroughly as they would like to do.
The 723 farmers reported 2,563 acres of noxious weeds in Wayne county when the state survey was taken in the summer of 1941. A little more than one per cent of the land in Wayne county is infected with noxious weeds.
One carload of salt and 1,325 cans of sodium chlorate have been shipped into the county and sold to the farmers and the county commissioners. The county commissioners have treated many patches of noxious weeds along the roads with salt or sodium chlorate.
The AAA is paying $10 per acre or 10 cents per pound for sodium chlorate for the eradication of noxious weeds by an approved method.
The noxious weeds were not all eradicated last year nor will they be next year, according to officials of the weed district. Many farmers think they have had a good kill and a few think they have completely eradicated their patches.
When clean cultivation or chemicals are used as a means of eradication, one must go at least 10 feet beyond the last plant so as to be sure of getting all of the shoots and seedlings, experts state.
A few patches visited by the supervisors last year showed a good job of eradication in the middle but around the edges of patches was a good growth of bindweed.
Any persons finding new patches of noxious weeds in fields or along roads are asked to report them to the supervisors or county agent so that records may be kept up to date and so that the county commissioners may treat patches along roads.
Every three months the war board grants permission to the factory at Niagara Falls to release a certain amount of sodium chlorate to be used in the eradication of noxious weeds. Wayne county does not know what her allotment will be but hopes to receive as much as in 1942. The Swanson elevator in Wayne has been handling the chlorate for the county and any one wanting some can get it now as a few cans are left from the last year.
Any wanting information or having suggestions to make are asked to talk to the county agent, W. R. Harder, or the supervisors.
The state highway department has just reported that it has treated all patches of noxious weeds along the highways in Wayne county.

Policy Is Defined.
Due to very limited quotas on farm equipment, Wayne county rationing committee is following a policy of granting only one purchase for a major piece of farm equipment to each applicant. Up to this time the board has approved 95 applications and disapproved 43.

Program on Poetry Is Given for Club

Officials To Be Honored by Woman's Group Here Last of Month.
Mrs. Irwin Enke of Emerson, gave a program on "Poetry Today" for Wayne Woman's club Friday afternoon. She believes as someone has said that "Poetry has many fans—it needs more friends."
Mrs. Enke read poems of contemporary and American poets. Each poem, she said, contributes to someone's happiness at sometime and enriches life. Some poems give others may stir imagination. Some bring back memories of the past and others make readers look into the future. Besides giving poems which portray these different types, Mrs. Enke read some of the new war poems. Mrs. H. E. Ley, program chairman for the day, introduced Mrs. Enke.
Mrs. S. A. Lutgen read a special message stating that clothing will not be rationed unless hoarding forces such action.
B. & P. W. invited Wayne Woman's club to be guests Tuesday, February 23, at 7:30 when the game was very rugged, and was marked by repeated poor passing, which tended to slow up the Wayne offense.
This was the second meeting of the two teams, Wayne defeating Wakefield earlier in the season 29-24.
Friday night Wayne plays its last home game of the season with the West Point team. West Point defeated Wakefield in an earlier game and should Wayne recover from its slump and defeat West Point, chances will look better for the tournament to be held in Norfolk in March.

Children Helped by Welfare Group

Wayne Welfare council, meeting last Wednesday, heard reports of the immunization which has been conducted for about 400 local school children. A survey of physical handicaps is nearly complete. The council will formulate plans to raise money to care for needy cases which are not provided for by local organizations. The group meets again March 10.

City Tossers Lose To Wayne Wildcats

Local Basketball Players Take Lead and Hold It Throughout Game.
Wayne Teachers defeated the strong Old Home bread team of Sioux City, last Thursday night on the Wayne court by the score of 63-44.
The Wayne players sensed that they were not going to be pushed very hard by the visitors, and therefore played very listless ball throughout most of the game. They took the lead from the very start, and as the half ended they were ahead 32-22.
The second half gave Coach Ginn a chance to use every available substitute and easily run up 31 points against a very tired opponent. The Sioux Cityans were handicapped by shortage of reserves, and by the loss of Holm, center, and former Morningstar, early in the game by the foul route.
Magdanz acquired 20 points to lead the teams in scoring, followed by Rossen with 10 and Best with eight. Smith was the best for the visitors with 19 points.

Blast of Winter Grips This Area

Congress in Early Years Is Asked to Recognize Dakota Territory.

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for February 17, 1927: Snow is beautiful when embalm- ed in song or on canvas. All like to hear stories of explorers feel- ing around to find the north pole or see pictures of brave souls seal- ing the Alps. All like to read about snowballing uncle or coasting with grandpa. But in cold reality who likes the stuff, acres of which were spread over north Nebraska on the Sabbath which should have been devoted to divine worship and other noble purposes? Most people agree with the farmers who feel that a generous rainfall is far super- ior to snow to freshen and en- rich the soil. Roads which had be- come passable were terribly upset by Sunday's blast.

FASTEST GAINS WITH LESS FEED
Feeding floors made with clean, long-lasting concrete will help you raise more pork for war needs. They save pigs by keeping them cleaner and healthier—save feed otherwise trampled in the mud—insure faster gains, more pork per bushel of feed. Long-lasting concrete improvements cost little to build—need few if any "critical materials." You'll find valuable suggestions in free booklet, "Permanent Farm Construction." Paste coupon on penny postal for your copy. If you need help, get in touch with your concrete contractor, ready-mixed concrete producer or building material dealer. Many Nebraska farmers are finding that their hogs stay healthy and put on faster gains when confined to clean, sanitary concrete floors from weaning to market time.

The John Gettmans received word February 8 from the war department, stating that Clarence Cope, 20, who made his home with them for a number of years, is a prisoner of the Japs. Letter from Texas. Pvt. Lavern Jones at Camp Bowie, Texas, writes, "Many thanks for the paper! I have enjoyed reading it. It gives a soldier something to do in his spare time and on Sunday afternoons, which seem very long. The weather is fairly warm here. It gets about 70 or 80 degrees in the day time, but at night one has to wear a coat. It froze here but once."

Enjoys Home News. Pvt. Arthur Howell who is stationed at Camp Cooke, Cal., thanks the Herald for sending the paper to him. "It is one of my greatest pleasures to come in off the drill field and get a paper at mail call that covers so much of the territory that I left behind. The paper is like a letter from all the people near home. One good thing about it is I don't have to sit down and write letters back."

Pvt. Jewell states that the war has a much bigger meaning to him since he entered the army. "This young man goes on to say, 'If you ever hear anyone say 'sunshine California' take a poke at him for me. We see more rain than sunshine, although it is warm and the grass and flowers are growing.'"

Officer Transferred. Capt. Lewis Mittelstadt, who had been in Salinas, Kan., was transferred to Salt Lake City. He does organizing work in the service. Capt. and Mrs. Mittelstadt, Mary Ann and Bob came from Salinas last Wednesday to visit the G. A. Mittelstadt at Winside, and other relatives. The J. M. Strahans went to Winside Thursday to see them. The visitors left Saturday for Salt Lake.

Appreciate Paper. S. Sgt. Kenneth W. Werrier of Ft. Riley, Kan., who is here on a short furlough, stopped at the Herald to express his thanks for the paper.

Pvt. Alfred J. Sievers of Camp Claiborne, La., who is also here on furlough, paid a short visit to the Herald to tell the staff he enjoyed the paper.

Writes from West. "I certainly want to thank you for the Wayne Herald that I look forward to getting every Monday or Tuesday, and I certainly enjoy reading it as it brings all the news to me from back in Wayne county," writes Sgt. John A. Weible who is at the naval air station, San Diego, Cal.

"We are enjoying springlike weather here and it has been that way all winter. In fact I cannot realize that it is winter time. We have had a few rainy days here but I prefer them to the snowstorms. Army life agrees with me very much and I like it very well. After all we are in here for a purpose and are going to get the job done and I hope that this time it will be a finished ending."

"I have visited the Dr. Paul Siman on a couple of occasions. Dr. Siman has a very nice practice in San Diego and the Simans tell me that they prefer San Diego to any other place in which they have ever been located."

Starts Training. A. C. Robert C. Wright has started his nine weeks' training in basic military fundamentals at Boon Raton, Fla., preliminary to six or 16 weeks of advanced radio training at Yale or some other university. "After that I hope to be commissioned," the Wayne young man writes.

"The training we receive here is very thorough, including everything an officer should know concerning military procedure. We have classes in everything from machine gun practice to administration and public speaking, including one of the best physical training courses in the country," states the cadet.

"Kenneth Petersen and I are doing exactly the same thing except that he is in the first class, ever trained here and I am in the sixth. He will be graduated from here in three weeks, at which time I become a middle classman. At present he is upper class and I am lower. There is quite a difference as you know rank has its privileges. He and my cousin, Gerald Wright, and I have managed to get together a couple of Sundays for some good times on the beach. "My training was delayed two weeks as the class I belonged in was already too full. I was nappy to be able to have a two weeks' vacation with my sister in Hollywood.

"The weather here is perfect and the surroundings are most beautiful. This cadet training center is housed in what was formerly the exclusive and luxurious Boca Raton club. All the facilities are available to the cadets, swimming pools, tennis courts and golf course. Too bad we never have time to use them.

"On the way down I went by Camp Murphy where Howard Witt is stationed, but I doubt if I will be able to contact him as we cadets are restricted to 20 miles from the base," concludes Wright.
