

Close to Turn Back Clocks to Old-Time Order Increased Poultry Demands Holding Down Paper Consumption To Prevent War — An Editor Writes of His Loss.

The Iowa legislature is reported to have taken steps against so-called daylight saving time, and it is understood the Nebraska legislature is planning to do the same thing. It will also be noted that the Wayne county commissioners are asking for restoration of the previous plan, pushing time ahead an hour instead rather than decreased consumption of electricity, as we understand, and has caused much inconvenience. The present hours, with prolonged morning darkness, are more objectionable in winter months, but a change back to the old order would be a relief to most people any time.

Hatcheries Extra Busy. Hatcheries are going to be busy during coming months turning out birds to meet demands that will reach an all-time high. Chickens are not an unimportant side-line on the farm. What they supply in this period of food scarcity gives them unprecedented standing in the barnyard social order.

Freezing Subscriptions. Some metropolitan dailies have not only increased subscription prices, but have "frozen" present circulations. That means keeping paper consumption within required bounds. The Herald is still accepting new and renewing subscriptions at the old price, payable strictly in advance.

Essential Preparedness. Being prepared for war to prevent war is like supporting a well equipped fire department, ready to put out a blaze and minimize loss. Thus points out Walter Decker in the Miami News. He says: "With a tenth of one per cent of the cost of the war we could have prevented the war."

Wonderful Courage. Faith in a future life with reunion of preserved personalities, is an ever-abiding source of courage in these days of preparable loss and severe trial. The spirit that can rise above disheartening setbacks, for the battle arena must find solace in hopeful hopes. Here is what the editor of the Walsh County Record of Grafton, N. D., says about his son receiving the message announcing his death in the battle of Guadalcanal:

"For more than 30 years as a newspaper man, I have been writing about people—mostly people whom I knew. I have chronicled their successes and their failures, their joys and their sorrows. Naturally I have been easier and more pleasant to write of their successes and their joys. It is not easy to write about it. I don't know how often occasionally slip down over every community and almost every life.

"In the first World war, in line with my duty, I told of the passing of many fine young men who had gone out from the little community of Starkweather where I then lived, to defend and protect their country.

"In the great conflict now raging, it has been the unpleasant duty of myself or someone on The Record staff to chronicle the heroic deaths of several brave youths from Walsh county.

"I am familiar, therefore, with the form of the message which the war department sends out in such occasions. It is a simple, carefully worded document. When the first few words came over the telephone Friday night, I could have repeated the remainder of the message from memory. I said: 'The secretary of war desires me to express my deep regret that your son, Ed L. Riltz R. Morgan, Jr., was killed in action in the defense of this country in the south Pacific on November 22. Letter follows.'

"And thus there came to me and my family the great sorrow which we have tried so often to share when others have received the 'dread news.' It is not easy, but we are sustained and supported by the words and messages of comfort and sympathy which have come from friends everywhere.

"Now that the effects of the first shock have passed, we naturally look back over the life of this young man who was so typically American and who symbolizes the millions of brave young men who are fighting the battles of humanity on every continent and on every sea. In doing so we catch and hold memories that will remain with us so long as life shall endure.

"The sacrifice he and others make, places upon us a heavy responsibility which we dare not shirk. Every American must realize now that we cannot live into ourselves alone. The rests upon us the sacred obligation to see to it that the world is not again plunged into the hell of war at the foot of one man or one nation to give it to them to see to it that America becomes so strong and is kept so strong that she, and other peaceful nations, can put down the threat of war in its incipiently wherever it may arise. Then we must have the courage and the vision to use that strength to see to it that never again shall a fanatical Hitler, a swashbuckling

CONVENTIONS SOON TO NAME MEN FOR MUNICIPAL PLACES

PEOPLE do not have to forget the war's obligations in order to hold an election and plan proper handling of local affairs. The business of any governmental unit needs thoughtful attention, and notices in today's Herald of nominating conventions, preliminary to the annual municipal election, should not be overlooked. Mayor, clerk and treasurer hold over. Two members of the school board, and two councilmen for each of the three wards are to be named by two local parties. Voters should plan to attend the convention of their choice, and employ their best judgment in the selection of candidates. Two nominating vehicles should arouse interest and bring out a representative vote on election day, the first Tuesday in April.

American Way Is Precious Heritage

Native of Germany Warns That Hitlerism Must Be Banished Absolutely.
Every American should be profoundly grateful for democracy, according to Ernst Wolff, German musician, who appeared on the college lecture course Monday and who addressed Kiwanians in that noon. Hitlerism is a way of thinking that must be abolished absolutely if this world is to have lasting peace, the artist stressed.

Mr. Wolff, who was introduced by Prof. O. R. Bowen, related that in his travels to various countries for several years he had mentioned that Hitler was arming. When he returned to his native Germany he was visited by the Gestapo. For five hours these secret police sat with him and said nothing. Then for seven hours they questioned him about minute details on his trip to America. When they learned that he knew German, English, French and Italian languages, they informed him that there is "only one language, German, and it will have to appreciate it." Mr. Wolff avoided being sent to concentration camp and finally escaped from the country.

When in Germany, however, Wolff found that two of his uncles were taken to concentration camps. One, who finally was released, told that men were beaten for no crimes at all and then, when they were too weak to hold their heads up, they were shot.

Are Registering For Ration Book

War ration book two, to be used for rationing canned and processed foods, is being issued in towns throughout the county this week. Wayne reports registering for 959 persons Monday and 1,170 Tuesday at the city auditorium.

Registering will continue through this Thursday and Friday in Wayne, Winside and Carroll from 9 a. m. to 12 and 1 to 5 p. m. The registration was completed in Hoskins and Sholes Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

If some difficulty arises so as to make application impossible this week, individuals may go to the Wayne ration office in the basement of the post office building within the next two weeks to register.

School staffs are handling the registration in the towns. Wayne city school is dismissed this week.

Each person registering for a family unit should have a consumer's declaration slip filled out and should also bring the war ration book one for each member of the family.

Start Point System.
Beginning next Monday, consumers of Wayne county join those in the rest of the nation in the government's new point-rationing program which will assure everyone of getting his fair share of canned and processed foods.

The blue stamps are for canned or other processed foods that are rationed, while the red stamps will be used later for meat.

The number on each stamp shows how many points that stamp is worth, while the letters show a consumer when to use the stamps. Consumers may use all blue stamps marked A, B and C during the first ration period, but they cannot be used after the end of this first period.

Different kinds of rationed foods will take different numbers of points. A can of beans, for example, may take a different number of points than a can of peas will take. The larger the quantity of the rationed food a person buys, the more points it will take. A large can of peas will take more points than a small can of peas.

The government will set the points for each kind and size and print an "official table of point values" which grocers must post where consumers can see it.

Scarcity Determines Points.
Scarce foods will take many points, while those less scarce will take fewer points. The government may make changes in points, up or down, from time to time, probably not often, but once a month. These changes will be made in order to steer buying away from scarce items and to make the more plentiful items easier to get. Changes in points will be posted in all stores.

The point-value of each kind of processed food will be the same in all stores and in all parts of the country. The price and the quality have nothing to do with the points. Points will not change just because the prices do.

When a consumer buys, he should take the right amount of blue stamps out of his book and give them to the grocer or delivery man. He should use his 8-point and 5-point stamps first. (Continued on Page Two)

Will Face Charge In Dakota Court

Romeo Koethe Arraigned in Action Connected with Slaying of Woman.
Romeo Koethe, 38, former Lincoln man, will be tried in circuit court on charge of first degree murder in the alleged slaying of Mrs. Frederick W. Orvedahl, 41, wife of a Lake Preston, S. D., doctor and the former Miss Frances Burnham of Sholes. This was the decision given Friday by Municipal Judge Walter Conway of Sioux Falls, S. D., before whom Koethe was arraigned at preliminary hearing. Koethe is being held without bond.

Mrs. Orvedahl's battered and frozen body was found in a Sioux Falls cabin camp January 25 by attendants. Afterward police sought the area for a mysterious "Mr. Charles" who signed the cabin register. Koethe was arrested at Rapid City a few days later.

Dr. Orvedahl, who was called to the witness stand at Sioux Falls in the preliminary hearing Friday, identified the body of the woman found in the cabin as that of his wife.

Mrs. Mac Gebhart, waitress, told of serving beer to Koethe at a bar the evening before the woman is alleged to have been slain.

Daryl Kelly, taxicab driver, testified that Koethe told him January 24 that Mrs. Orvedahl died in a tourist cabin and asked him to help arrange a "good alibi."

High Prices For Equipment Put Up At Farm Auctions

THE SEASON for farm sales is nearing an end and changes in farm neighborhoods has begun and will be finished soon after March 1. Increased sales are usually charged to the labor problem, though it is believed they would have been more numerous if the government had not eased up on taking farm boys for the armed service. Farm sale prices pitched high on the start and continued up on account of threatened scarcity and the enlarged demand. Resettlement of neighborhoods marks the point of beginning in the year's production. Everything will be in readiness to encourage nature to produce as it had never produced before. More chickens, pigs and cattle will be found on every farm. Farmers do not need to be urged to do their best. They will put forth every effort to meet requirements and solve the growing food problem. Only possible interference will be unfavorable weather—a risk that causes anxiety every year.

Gambles to Move To Ahern Building

Firm to Occupy Two Floors Of Structure in Wayne In Near Future.
An important business change will be effected in Wayne in the near future when the Gamble store moves to the Ahern building and expands its services to occupy both the main floor and basement. Arrangements for the lease of the property were completed last week when J. J. Ahern and John Ahern, together with the local manager, Ed. Meese, met with Gamble store home office officials at Minneapolis. Complete plans and details of the new store will be announced later. The exact date when the change will take place has not yet been decided.

The building is being arranged for the Gamble store, which will be moved from across the street. The Gamble company established its store in Wayne 13 years ago, and Ed. Meese has been local manager for three years.

Firm Is Pioneer.
The story of pioneering is connected with the Ahern firm. It was in the fall of 1881 that Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Ahern of Jackson, visited the new settlement springing up at this site and they were favorably impressed with prospects for the new town. That was the year the railroad started to build through to Norfolk. Mr. Ahern was employed with the railroad, so Mr. and Mrs. Ahern, James and Mary Zoe moved here in the spring of 1882. They built a small frame on the prairie site at the location of the south part of the present Ahern store. There Mrs. Ahern established a dressmaking and millinery store and the family lived in rooms at the rear. After Mr. Ahern retired from railroad work, he joined Mrs. Ahern in the store and expanded the firm to a general merchandise establishment. For years the Aherns served customers, adding to their stock and improving the building to satisfy the demands.

In about 1903 the senior Aherns sold their stock and went to Chas. worth, Ill. M. P. Ahern died in 1906 and Mrs. Ahern is here.

J. J. Ahern, who was traveling out of Chicago, returned here in 1905 and was in business with J. G. Miller in the building now occupied by the Palace cafe for a while. In 1906, when the Orr & Morris firm moved to the new Mellor building which is now the Larson store, J. J. Ahern established his own general store in the home location of the Ahern firm. Mr. Ahern has been in business there continuously since.

Mr. Ahern's future plans are not yet definite.

February Quota Enters Service

Call for March Expected To Be Larger Than for Month Closing.
Wayne county has 12 men entering the army service and two in the navy in the February quota which reported at Fort Crook last week Wednesday for physical examinations. Those to train for army service are Robert Nichols, Wilmer Ellis, Dale C. Powers, Ralph Hachmeister, Eugene Gray, Leon Hupp, Paul Harrington, Jr., Leon VonSoggen, Lloyd McNair, Jr., James Killon, Donald Denbeck and Harold Sievers. In the navy are Gene Baird and Norman Gehrke. Some of the group went from Fort Crook immediately to training centers. The rest returned for a week and leave this Thursday.

Wayne county will have a March quota. Though no figures have yet been released, it is expected that the call will be larger than for February.

Volunteers the past week, who will be credited to the March quota, are Robert Rutledge and Calvin Grunke.

To Dedicate Chapel Modeled in Church

South Wing of Methodist Edifice Is Remodeled In Building Plan.
A newly modeled chapel in the south wing of the Methodist church will be dedicated next Sunday at an adult service at 4 and young people's service at 7:30, according to plans of Dr. Victor West.

The attractive chapel, which will accommodate 80 to 100, is the realized dream of a few in the church. The room, which has been separated from the main auditorium by sliding doors, can still be united with it by opening two sets of such doors which enclose the foyer between. The carpeted aisle leads from the southeast entrance of the church to the choir room and also opens into the new chapel.

On entering the chapel from the southwest part of the aisle, one comes to this attractive little room with its altar in the east and two rows of neat pews in a rich shade of brown. The altar and railing, elevated on a seven-inch platform, are both white. Above hangs a white cross against a background of maroon drapes. The altar is modeled after that of the Old Foundry church in London. John Wesley had converted an old foundry in London into a house of worship and his first church still bears this name.

The chapel will serve a real need in the church life for small groups of worship, for weddings and on other occasions for which the main auditorium is too large.

A room at the southeast corner of the church will provide cabinets for choir robes, music and other supplies.

The next project will be redecoration of the church basement and addition of some new furniture for the junior and primary departments.

The main part of the church was improved earlier.

This is the dramatic story of the Windmill theatre girls who refused to close the show even in the midst of the shattering bombs and scorching horror of London's darkest days.

Farm Repair Schools Planned in County
Two farm machinery repair and adjustment schools will be held in Wayne county next week by the extension service, states County Agent Walter R. Harder. The first will be held at Carroll March 1 from 1:30 to 4 p. m. in the Carroll community hall. The second meeting will be at Winside March 2 from 1:30 to 4 p. m. in the old city hall.

Carlton Zink, state extension engineer, will be in charge of the instructional program which will include demonstrations on the adjustment and repairs of some of the major farm machinery, such as tractors, combines, hay balers and corn pickers.

Every farmer as well as the farm workers should be interested in getting the most service from the present supply of farm machinery. Farm women and farm boys and girls who may operate farm machinery in 1943 may find these schools worthwhile.

to recover the body for burial and when they could do nothing, they sent a lawyer from England to see the Gestapo. The final word of the Gestapo was that the body was buried and no questions were to be answered.

The most horrible part of the Nazi plan is the treachery which undermines homes, according to Mr. Wolff. The speaker told of a family there, an English-speaking mother and German-speaking father, whose bright, attractive 8-year-old son was ostracized in school both by teachers and students because he did not belong to the Hitler youth movement. He was so completely outcast that his parents finally had him join. He then became a leader among the youths. He was forced to report on happenings at home, and the lad warned of the father that if he talked of anything excepting the weather, he'd have to report him to the Gestapo.

Those folks have no conception of freedom and democracy for they have never experienced it, Mr. Wolff told. The whole youth is "poisoned." Because of the ideas, which have been forced upon them since birth, these children will start war again in another period of years unless nazism is absolutely defeated, the speaker stressed. They know only that everything is Hitler's, even their own bodies, and everything must be sacrificed for the Fuehrer.

For years Nazi leaders have been sending their brightest, most attractive young folks to America as exchange students and in other capacities so they may act as spies. One can't believe the extent to which this has gone, Mr. Wolff stated.

The speaker, who is becoming a naturalized American, urged that every one here deepen his appreciation for democracy. He told that he has toured 45 states and visited many army camps. He gives the service men the privilege of saving whether or not they wish to hear his German lullaby songs and all do. "It would be impossible to sing English in any Nazi center," he stated. "I will now know what a privilege it is to live in America and to have a religion to love," concluded Mr. Wolff.

Change Flag Salute By Act of Congress
A resolution passed by both houses of congress on December 16, 1942, changes the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Formerly the right hand was extended at the words "to the flag." This has been eliminated so that now in pledging allegiance, one places his right hand over his heart and keeps it there while the entire pledge is being recited when the hand drops to the side. Persons in a uniform shall render the right hand military salute. If covered, men are to remove the headress and hold it over their heart.

Those who favored the change claimed that the salute resembled that now used in enemy countries, despite the fact that the American salute existed long before there were any axis countries.

Move to Wayne Tuesday.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lansing moved to Wayne Tuesday from Petersburg, Nebr., the former to be in the soil conservation office here. The Lansings are in an apartment in the home of Mrs. V. A. Senter.

Weather in Far North Is Found A Big Element
Weather is one of the most important factors with which to deal in far-off Alaska, according to letters received by Mrs. Wilbur D. Hall from her husband who has been assisting the government with work there for a good many months. Excerpts from letters which arrived this week follow:

February 4—"Today there was a total eclipse of the sun. It's a queer feeling to have it get dark as night right in the middle of the day. And just as it got darkest one of those 'willows,' a strong wind, came up very suddenly. With the icy paths (there are no sidewalks here) it was very cold and damp. The wind would nearly blow one off his feet."

"They are sending all civilians to the states except those they ask to stay here. It is hard to get men who can run boats in these waters and they have asked me to stay. I was rather disappointed after waiting so long for my passport. But the other day a marine came to me and told me my passport was here but that a lieutenant wanted to see me! When I went to the office he said, 'Now, Shorty, I am a man 32 years old, have a wife and two small children in the states. I'm homesick. If we go home how long will we have a job? Now do you still want this passport?' I said, 'No, and I know you wouldn't want me to say different. So tomorrow morning I will get my crew of five or six men and sail in a boat from here (Kodiak) to some small army outposts along the islands west with mail and supplies. These patrol boats are small but sturdy with Diesel engines. When we pull into these outposts with mail and supplies they nearly mob a fellow. I really think they want the mail mostly and food comes next. One outpost has a pole in the ground with a chain hanging down and the natives say that when the chain stands out, horizontal it's just beginning to blow. I never have seen the wind blow so hard or so constantly with lots of fog and rain. But it's fine to feel one is a part of this bunch of fellows fighting the weather, water and long hours to get necessary things done."

February 11—"Well I ate dinner on a boat just in from outside. We had fresh eggs and frozen milk, just like fresh milk. I drank nearly four quarts during the day. It was the first milk we have had in four months and I never dreamed milk could taste so good."

"They have promised me a larger boat after this trip and I hope it will soon get warmer as the ice freezes on the sides of the boat and on the ropes and gears so we have to keep chopping it away. It is a queer feeling to sail along in the fog and hear the breakers on both sides and wonder if we have figured the course right. It's rugged but I like it. And when we pull into an outpost with mail, we feel the effort is well worthwhile. I wish I could describe the island but can't. It is rough, bleak and no signs of life for hundreds of miles."

"There goes the blackout signal so must turn out lights."

Mr. Hall sent newspaper clippings of the eclipse which began at 2:22 p. m., was total at 3:22 and terminated at 4:30. The zone of totality started on the coast of Siberia and ran across the Jap archipelago and entered Alaska in the vicinity of Kodiak, terminating beyond Dawson in Canada. Effects were observed as far south as Mexico.

Another clipping relates a tragedy which occurred to friends of Mr. Hall. Seven men were out in a power scow when they were caught in a sudden snow and wind storm. Huge waves tossed the ship mercilessly and finally jammed the steering gear. The cook and engineer were lost. The five others managed to cling to part of the wreckage until the battered frame was grounded on a rock. Though numb with cold, they crawled under some canvas on the ship until rescuers reached them two hours later.

Ernst Wolff Here To Sing at School
Ernst Wolff, tenor singer who specializes in German lullaby, appeared in a concert at the college auditorium Monday evening and also gave a concert at convocation Tuesday morning. The artist had been here two years ago. He is the only lullaby singer who plays his own accompaniment on tours. He has been in this country since 1936. Previously he had toured European countries.

The artist studied in Berlin, Frankfurt, Milan and New York. Before starting his tours in 1933, he was musical director of the opera school in Frankfurt, conductor of the Frankfurt opera house and guest conductor of the international chamber music festival of Baden-Baden, his native city.

The program Monday evening featured two groups of German lullabies, including selections by Franz Schubert, the father of lullaby, also by Johannes Brahms, Hugo Wolf and Robert Schumann. Other numbers were by English and Italian composers.

In his convocation concert Mr. Wolff concentrated on lullabies. Among his selections were "The Holy Infant Was Born," an old 15th century Christmas song, "Mountain of the Valley and the Mountain," a folk song which was requested by those who heard him two years ago, a folk song which he repeated from Monday and for which he gave the English translation, "The Right Mood," "The Kiss" by Beethoven and two numbers from Schubert, "The Post" and "Thine is My Heart and Shall Be Thine Forever." Mr. Wolff played old waltzes and closed with the singing and playing of "O Sailor Boy," this by request.

Mrs. R. R. Smith presented the artist Monday and Prof. Russell Anderson introduced him Tuesday.

COUNCIL STORES YOUR FRIEND AT MEALTIME FRIDAY and SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 26 and 27 A BOOK FOR EVERYBODY! Point Rationing Starts March 1st Our government will give wide publicity to "Point Rationing" but the experience of Wartime England has shown that housewives will look to their grocers to help them buy with Point Stamps... Here are seven simple points our customers will have to know when using Ration Book No. 2: 1. They must learn that point values have nothing to do with dollars-and-cents prices. They must know that they have to give the money price and point stamps for every purchase in a rationed group. 2. Any member of a household may use the books of any other members when shopping, as they do now for sugar and coffee. 3. Every person has freedom of choice in using her points during each ration period to buy any rationed item she likes (provided it is available). But when a shopper has used all her points, she must wait until the stamps for the next ration period become valid before she can again buy items in the same group. So the customers must learn to budget their points for the entire ration period. 4. Those who choose to buy processed foods with a low point value will be able to buy more of the articles in the same rationed group. 5. CUSTOMERS SHOULD KNOW THAT POINT VALUES OF PROCESSED FOODS ARE SET BY THE GOVERNMENT AND NOT BY THE STORE-KEEPER. 6. Customers will not be able to buy point rationed items without giving point stamps, even if they buy on charge accounts. 7. To save their low point stamps for low point value purchases, customers should use the high point stamps when buying a number of rationed items at one time. GOVERNMENT ORDERS— NO CANNED, BOTTLED, OR FROZEN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES CAN BE SOLD UNTIL NEXT MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 1st. THE SAME APPLIES TO FRUIT AND VEGETABLE JUICES, DRIED FRUITS, ALL CANNED SOUPS AND CANNED BABY FOODS. "Shopping early in the day and early in the week makes rationed shopping easier for all concerned"

Speaks Here AT the noonday luncheon of the Kiwanis club Monday, Ernst Wolf who escaped from his native Germany just ahead of Nazi wrath, spoke of the cruel intolerance of Hitler war lords. Concentration camps swallowed victims convicted on suspicion. No human rights existed above the most unreasonable demand of the state. Loyalty to family and religion was coldly crushed under the heel of despotism.

The speaker told how children were forced by teachers and fellow-students to turn against their own parents. Nazi youth, taught to extinguish thought of home, and duty in the march of tyranny, will manifestly need a large infiltration of the spirit of democracy to insure future peace and freedom.

The American way of life will again triumph, and it will then be wise to maintain sufficient force of men and munitions to hold and develop its policies of independent thinking and individualistic action. We do not want alienisms which we are fighting, fastened on America, insidiously or otherwise.

Victory Gardens THE Omaha Journal-Stockman points out that a victory garden this year will not be merely for looks or for exercise, but in view of rationing, to supply necessities. More home canning than ever will occupy the attention of housewives. Says that newspaper: "Victory gardens promise to cut a big figure in the nation's food supply this year since it now looks as if all our food supplies are going to be rationed before long. This war is certain to make the whole world more food conscious than ever before and America is not going to be an exception to the rule. The enormous mass of men in the armed services and in munition factories will have a smaller percentage of men to take care of food production and distribution than in any former period of the world's history and the only way to get away from food scarcity is to provide your own. The victory gardens will no longer be a fad or an experiment this year. It promises to be a dire necessity."

Congress Awake CONGRESS has begun to function as an independent body, and people are anxiously looking to it to decrease unnecessary bureaus and curtail unnecessary costs. The fewest bureaucratic restraints not related to the war, the larger and better can production serve the war. People want to know what they can do to hurry victory, but they don't relish being told how to slice bread, or how to keep well, or when to sneeze. They have done those things satisfactorily and need no illuminating advice. They would like to see Washington shed supernumerary hangers-on, see co-ordinated effort in prosecution of the war and see successful conclusions reached without unnecessary bureaucratic burdens. Dissolving depression-built agencies would help.

China's MME. CHIANG Kai-Shek made plain in her talk to the country last week that China has plenty of men to fight, but still lacks fighting equipment. Need of planes, tanks and guns is the cry from every battle front, and supplying all demands is the gigantic task undertaken by American plants. Also large production necessitates safe transportation through waters made hazardous by enemy submarines. American factories have been turning out increasing numbers of increasingly powerful machines, and distribution is going forward in the face of many difficulties. Being the arsenal of democracy is no snap, but it will finally triumph over evils running amuck in the world.

For a current magazine, Wendell Willkie writes a story of life at Yukutsk, Russia, which he visited on his inspection trip abroad some months ago. He commends the soviet union's part in the war and its effective social organization, but says one cannot like its godlessness or agree with its communist theories. Russia is efficient because it is a dictatorship with severe penalties for violation of rules. A democracy may be less efficient in ordinary peace-time, but it has freedom of initiative which fires surpassing efficiency in periods of emergency.

Threats of still further curtailment of print paper to newspapers led Senator Willis of Indiana to offer sharp criticism of the government's increased paper consumption. He says the federal government consumed 208,000,000 pounds in 1941, 226,000,000 pounds in 1942, and has contracted for 350,000,000 pounds in 1943. The public will agree with the senator that government bureaus are making wasteful use of paper, especially objectionable at a time of threatened shortage.

Representative Martin Dies, investigator of un-American activities, has disturbed the peace of mind in some quarters by charging a number of government workers with being "radicals" and "crackpots," and he is asked to explain what he means. As we understand those words, one could be either or both without doing any particular harm or good. Anyway, we hope the Dies committee, like the F. B. I., is kept on the job not only during the war but long after the war.

President Roosevelt compared trials of today with those of the time of Washington in a radio address Monday night. He mentioned that obstacles overcome in the struggle for independence were similar to those encountered in the present task to preserve independence.

The Nebraska Farmers Union has adopted a resolution favoring increase in the size of the unicameral, thus extending representation. Former Senator Norris who fathered the unicameral, evidently overlooked that point.

FARM SUBSIDIES. The Norfolk Daily News says the farm bloc opposes "incentive" payments for production and instead would have adequate prices in order to be free from government control. "The farmer would prefer to have his business put on its own footing," says the News, "and this can be done only by insuring a price that will return him a margin above cost of production." The bonus plan is designed to prevent price rises and consequently increased commodity costs. Mentioning the experience in Canada, the News says: "Bonus payments do not prevent price increases, though they may slow them down. From the farmer's standpoint the important point is that he wants to get out from under the government's thumb, and he thinks now is the time to do it."

LEGISLATIVE LETTER

Numerous petitions for a change from present day light savings time to old time have been pouring into the legislature. The change in time could be effected by a state statute applying to only Nebraska or by an act of congress authorizing a change back to old time. It is quite likely that congress will be petitioned to make the change.

Of the 18 bills so far passed by the legislature, 13 have been approved by the governor. Some of them are amendatory of present statutes and are merely peace-time legislation. Of passing interest is L. B. 37 authorizing officers to take acknowledgments of men in service because notaries are unavailable. L. B. 23 makes it unlawful for more than three persons 12 years of age or over to occupy the front seat of a motor vehicle. L. B. 24 preserves the present status of junior colleges for the duration. L. B. 34 requires property statements on bank loans of $500 or more.

The legislature has indefinitely postponed (killed) 35 bills, about twice the number passed. Some 98 bills are in various stages of passage. There are now 43 bills on general file favorably reported out by the various committees for consideration.

During the past few days, your senator with other members of the appropriations committee, has visited and inspected the industrial home for boys, the state tuberculosis hospital at Kearney, the state hospital at Hastings, the women's reformatory at York, the men's reformatory and state hospital at Lincoln and the home for the feeble-minded at Beatrice, which institutions receive state appropriations. Daily hearings on the budget needs of state institutions and departments are being held by the appropriations committee.

ADVERTISING.

It should be patent to the public that newspapers must charge for certain services in order to meet high operating costs and keep out of the danger zone customarily marked off with red. Advertising is an essential source of income that is most frequently imposed upon, and the line between what a publisher should do for nothing or do for pay is sometimes not easy to draw. Anything for which a charge is fixed, is advertising, and it should be inserted and paid for as such. Reports of something that has happened are news. Reports of something planned for the future with monetary consideration involved is advertising. The rule is not always strictly observed. In fact, it is sometimes so disregarded that one wonders if all advertising is not of sufficient public interest to entitle it to free use of newspaper space. But since newspapers are not subsidized, they must charge for services designed to convey profit to the advertiser.

Farmers had planned to produce more, Mr. Wickard stated, not only because the program promised an increased return to cover increased costs but promised also a large measure of crop insurance against risks of high cost production.
Goals will, nevertheless, not be reduced, the official states. "We are not going to reduce these goals for several reasons. One is that the action on the payment is not final and I am hopeful that the increased returns to producers necessary for increased production eventually will be forthcoming. Another is that we depend upon the patriotism of the farmers to meet the increased goals regardless of the uncertainties now prevailing. Therefore, I appeal to farmers not to change their plans but to increase their production of vital war commodities to their limit. Meantime, we will promise to do all that we can to get farmers badly needed labor, machinery, fertilizer and other materials necessary for production."

Meets One of Crew Of Crash in Africa

"I'm still receiving the Wayne Herald and am enjoying it very much. It has been making very good time getting here, and so has kept me well posted on the news at home," writes Cpl. Byron M. James February 9 to E. W. Huse. "In one of the October issues of the paper I read an article about the bomber that crashed at Wayne. The other day while I was up town I got into a conversation with a sergeant in the air corps. I mentioned being from Wayne, Neb., and he informed me that he was in the bomber that crashed there! We had quite a visit then and he told me all about it. He said he would never forget Wayne, and mentioned how nice the people had been to them, and the swell hospital he was taken to. He was wearing a pair of silver wings that he had purchased in Wayne after he was released from the base hospital. I happened still to have the copy of the paper concerning the accident so I gave it to him. I met the rest of the crew and they are still working together in spite of the past experience. I thought that was quite a coincidence, meeting someone like that so far away from home.

Reviews New Book For Guests of Club

Wayne Woman's club members were guests of E. & P. W. club Tuesday evening when Mrs. F. A. Milder gave an interesting review of the book "Let the People Know," by Sir Norman Angell, English writer. Mrs. Milder chose this because it is new and because all criticisms of it have been most favorable. The author explains that the book is an answer to questions arising in people's minds regarding the war and the world situation afterward.

"All must cooperate for the rights of others in his home town, in his nation and in the world," the writer states. "One could perhaps overcome 1,000 people one at a time but if the 1,000 cooperated, the individual would be swamped. So it is with people of the world. Not until we learn that the voice of the people is not the voice of God can we save democracy. Theories and prejudices must be overlooked." The author writes that after the first world war, Germany was required to fill certain obligations and was placed under restrictions which made it impossible for her to do so.

"Things cannot be accomplished, the author relates, unless the common people are behind them. International law must be worked out that will treat all humans fairly. America is not defending Australia, New Zealand and India for England but is helping to preserve those nations for the world so that they cannot take advantage of them. All nations must be treated right."

The writer believes that troubles cannot be settled in India so long as so many racial and political problems are at odds there. Gandhi belongs to one of the minorities. Revolution seems eventual in India no matter what action is taken regarding Gandhi.

The writer also believes that continual defense will have to be provided after the war to insure peace. "No nation in the modern world can possibly defend itself effectively against the form of violence most likely to threaten it unless it is prepared to take its part in the defense of others. By refusing to concern ourselves with the defense of others, we make our own defense impossible," the writer stated.

England is criticized, the book states, on the ground that she tried to get America into the war. The author feels that if America had been in earlier the war would have been shorter and much would have been saved.

The writer sees no danger from Russia. He says that Russia will not unite with Japan or with Germany, and he feels that the yellow race will not prove a menace. Russia has been set back 20 years by the war.

Since democracies function slowly, the author believes that plans for world cooperation after the war should be started now and they will be ready to take hold as soon as the war is concluded. The world is looking to America to lead all nations to democratic way of life.

Mrs. Milder was introduced by Mrs. Ted Foust, president of the club.

Patriotic theme was used in the tea afterward. Mrs. Everett Rees, Miss Ruby Davis and Miss Josephine Prohaska were hostesses.

West Point Team Loses Wayne Game

Players Are to Compete With Bassett in Meet Held at Norfolk.

Wayne high basketball team defeated West Point high last Friday night 24-23 in a six and one-half hour game at the city auditorium here.

Wayne took the lead from the start and was never headed, although West Point crawled within one point on several occasions.

The half ended with Wayne 11, West Point 10. The second half saw Wayne hang on to the narrow lead and finish the game by stalling out the closing minutes and being satisfied with a one point victory rather than choose to shoot for more points.

Bob Stull and Jim Strahan scored 16 of the Wayne team's points, while Feyerherm was leading scorer for the West Point team.

Friday the team goes to Windsor for the last game of the season, before entering the class A tournament at Norfolk, March 2. Wayne will open the tournament against Bassett high, Littleton, known of the strength of the Bassett team, and it is expected that Wayne will survive the first round.

Shortage of resources has handicapped the Wayne team all season, and the five starters have had to play almost the entire game in the last three or four encounters. This will prove to be a serious problem in a short tournament, with so many games in a few days.

Red Cross Calls For Aid in Crisis

Drive Is to Be Staged in Wayne County During Month of March.

To meet its ever increasing wartime responsibilities the Red Cross has set a goal of $125,000,000 for the 1943 war fund drive which is to be staged during March.

Wayne county's quota is $4,250, and Wm. Beckenhauer is organizing workers to conduct the campaign locally.

House to house canvass will be conducted in towns, and rural areas will be spicited through school districts.

The drive is the only one to be staged by the Red Cross for the year and combines funds for the many services of the organization.

It will provide for the welfare of American boys on foreign battle fronts and in camps, Nursing fund and blood banks, public health, nutrition instruction, aid in disaster, and contacting prisoners of war for home folks are some of the many services performed by the Red Cross.

It is the aim of the Red Cross to give each and every American an opportunity to contribute to the cause of mercy and humanity needed by the world as never before," states Red Cross Chairman Norman Davis. A message from Mr. Davis will be heard over the NBC network Saturday, February 27, at 12:45 p. m. (C.W.T.)

Contributions this year are to be as much as individuals can give. War-time has made it necessary to do away with the usual metal button, but donors will receive Red Cross window service tags and paper lapel tags.

Married in Wayne. Roger Luzerne Taylor and Mrs. Ellen Anita Hammond, both of Long Beach, Cal., were married in Wayne Friday by Rev. S. K. de France.

Telephone Workers Are Prepared for War-Time Emergencies Providing telephone service is a round-the-clock, all-weather job. Service must be protected against storms, fire, explosions and other disasters. When service is interrupted, it must be restored as quickly as possible. In emergencies, the telephone usually carries the call for help. Often lives may depend on getting the message through. Service in emergencies is part of the day's work in the telephone job. With the nation at war, every community faces the possibility of serious emergencies. Whatever may come, telephone workers are prepared to do everything possible to serve the public. They are better able to serve in war-time emergencies because they are used to meeting emergencies in time of peace. NORTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

Smiths Organize Unusual Group

Twin Girls Born in Illinois Make Better Balance in Family of Nineteen.

Then there's the NSDUNSPHIL. Glenn E. Smith, St. Joseph, Mo., is national president of this feeless new organization—the national society to discourage the use of the name Smith for purposes of a hypothetical illustration. The slogan, addressed mostly to public speakers and authors: "When you think of Smith, say John Doe." The members are all named Smith.

At Springfield, Mo., County Agent C. C. Keller reported a used grain drill was sold for $245. It cost $200 when new.

The Union church at Malone, N. Y., has had its first wedding ceremony in its nearly 100-year-old existence. Rev. Edward George said there was no apparent reason for the long wait.

The Chester Miller family of near Illinois, was more evenly balanced as to number of boys and girls today after Mrs. Miller gave birth to twin girls—her 18th and 19th children. With the addition of the girls there are now eight girls and 10 boys in the family, the eldest 25. The Millers' third child, a daughter, died. Three of the 10 boys are in the army. The father is a machinist at Rock Island arsenal.

In an effort to curb the use of "swear words," a group of Ewing young people have devised what they call a "swear-box." Each time a member "offends" he is required to drop a penny in the box. The box is filling up, but a decided improvement in language is noticeable.

William Madison, gunner's mate from Stanton, Neb., was on duty on the Northampton, when the ship was fired on by the Japs. He jumped into the oil-covered water and for 200 yards kept himself afloat by beating his arms against the water as he could not swim. He finally reached the life raft, although, he says, he came mighty close to sinking a short distance from the raft. The raft was constructed to accommodate 60 men, but it carried 100 for about eight hours until the survivors were rescued by a torpedo boat.

The oldest man in Britain, a bachelor 108 years old, died last week. He lived during the reign of six rulers. The man had two prejudices, telephones and interviews.

Betty is a hin owned by Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Wright, Coffeyville, Kan., but she'll never enter the oven. Fifteen years old, she has talent, says Wright. She knows when she's due to arrive home from work and runs out to meet his car. She also mothers wild ducks.

Mrs. Carl Nichols, Los Angeles, sat down with a surprised thump on a stool at her cash register because, the stranger blurted: "This is a holdup!" He took from the cash register the $41 she'd started to count. After he left Mrs. Nichols took from atop the stool the $200 she'd finished counting.

William Needmyer got quite hungry, waiting for jurors to acquit him of game law violation at Seattle, Wash. He'd just stepped across the street for his 20-cent bowl of soup when jurors reported. They waited a half-hour for him to return, before they could free him. Judge Chester A. Batchelor was hungry by that time, too. He fined Needmyer $10 for contempt.

May, 16-year-old, two-ton elephant, stood glumly in a moat 10 feet below the elephant house at San Francisco. Nobody knew how to get her out. Her three older companions had shoved her over the brink. It took zoo keepers quite awhile to convince her it was all a mistake and she really was wanted in the world, after all. Then she walked right off.

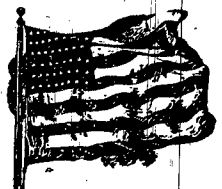

At Twin Falls, Idaho, 3-year-old Lyle Willis Lierman liked his four tiny shepherd puppies—but he'd heard about war bonds, too. Edwin Lierman, his father, complained at yesterday's auction that the boy wanted them sold so he could buy war stamps. The pups were sold and re-sold, 17 times, for a total of $2350.

Trips to Hollywood and screen tests will be offered three girls—a blonde, copper and a brass queen—to be chosen from Chicago high school students during a special scrap drive. A red-haired girl will be chosen copper queen; a brunette, bronze queen; and a fair-haired girl, brass queen.

He wanted to go to California, the prospective but reluctant juror, telephoned Judge Paul A. Buzard at Kansas City. "All right," said the judge. "But I warn you, an investigator will be at your home this week to see if you really have gone on this trip." "Well, judge," sighed the unidentified voice, "maybe you'd better just forget the whole thing. I didn't want to make the trip anyway."

Glimpse of Life In Africa Given

Excerpts from "Letters written by Lt. Wayne A. McMaster to his parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. McMaster, present some of the impressions young men in the armed forces have of north Africa. Notes from these follow:

January 27: "Another pleasant North Africa evening, a light blue western sky, sun on its way to you and away from us, cool but not cold."

The Wayne youth writes that he finally received some mail, "two letters from Mother, one from Dad, a card from Russell Fox from Washington, D. C., and a card from the Cavanaugh's." The letter written December 14 took 43 days to arrive.

"I want you to know that I am in very good health and am thinking of you all the time."

February 1: "I mailed seven postcards also a package for Mother. Mom, I'll tell you in advance what I sent in case it doesn't arrive. The other day in town I ran across a pretty respectable Arab girl. He had a variety of worn goods and shoes. I purchased a pillow cover done in heavy, bright colored yarn. It looked quite nice so I sent it in. I wrapped it first in heavy (double) cellophane covering that came off my gas mask when I first received it. This, I hope, made it completely waterproof. I then wrapped it in many folds of that heavy brown wrapping paper. It is my fond hope that it reaches you intact. It really isn't bad workmanship. Someday I hope to send Dad some leather article made in this country."

"Lately I've received my third Wayne Herald, dated December 10. The other two were the 3rd and 17th of December. Still awaiting APO mail and Christmas packages. One boy received one of the other night so I imagine it isn't many days away.

"The other day I purchased enough eggs for my organization at 3 francs each, 4c apiece. It ran into dough, I can tell you. Turkeys are the equivalent of 55c and 60c a pound. The natives reply, 'es la ration.'"

"Writing this on my back with a board on my knee. Warm day. Seems almost like summer although in reality it is the dead of winter.

"It's now time for the water to be on so I'll take a shower and get dressed for supper."

February 2: "Day after pay day—still have a lump in my wallet where the francs lay unmoested. Nothing to buy, see or eat, that is to spend money for. Two Christmas packages arrived.

"Had a gas mask drill this morning. Need a haircut. Saw a moving picture on the post last night. It was 'Twin Beds' with George Brent and Joan Bennett.

"Windy day—warm—pic every other day now."

"For lunch we had Vienna sausage, mashed potatoes, gravy, bread, butter, jam, lemonade, fruit cocktail. We're eating better than right after we landed. That was miserable food for a few days. This morning we had fried eggs that I told you about purchasing in my last letter. Sent my laundry to a nearby town and hope to get it soon. I am well, under exercised, overfed. Maybe that will change soon.

"Still sleeping on straw on a concrete floor. My sleeping bag comes in right handy. Get's cold or at least very chilly at night but I'm plenty warm. It's 3 p. m. Must close, shave, play volleyball, take shower, go to supper, read and go to bed."

February 3: "Slim mail call tonight—only about six letters for all the officers. Couldn't catch a one. Listening to the radio tonight. Don't know what program it is but Diana Shore and Bob Burns are on it.

"Today we had chicken for dinner. Um, yum—first time since overseas. Of course on the high seas it's like kings. Steaks every day. Guess me a chocolate malted milk next time you go to the drug store. You'd better eat it for me too."

The Wayne youth includes a letter from President Roosevelt, a copy of which was presented to each member of the expeditionary forces on the boat. This reads as follows:

"You are a soldier of the United States army. You have embarked for distant places where the war is being fought. Upon the outcome depends the freedom of your lives, the freedom of the lives of those you love—your fellow citizens—your people. Never were the enemies of freedom more brutal, more arrogant, more proud, more courageous people, which throughout its history, has put its freedom under God before all other purposes. We who stay at home have our duties to perform—duties owed in many parts to you. You will be supported by the whole force and power of this nation. The victory you win will be a victory of all the people common to them all. You bear with you the hope, the confidence, the gratitude and the prayers of your family, your fellow citizens and your president."

Sends Good Luck.

The Wayne youth expresses appreciation for the Herald and concludes with "good luck to all at Wayne and keep up the good works."

then the security of all other countries—even that of the United States, most powerful of all—is lost too.

"When the fog lifts and day comes, look and see the sign of it. The Stars and Stripes, the British flag, Canada's, the Soviet Union's, the Greek flag, the Norwegian, the Dutch flag, from Central and South America, Free France, from down under, from all round the world.

"It is like the engine room. Ten thousand parts move separately: pistons, bearings, valves and cylinders glitter and chatter, but all their diversity is union. They move separately but together. They make one engine. Their differences become union when their strength flows into the shaft alley and the screw beats at the determined R.P.M.

"All these parts have one common denominator. All the parts of the ship have one common denominator: winch, stack, hatch, hold, from poop to forepeak. So too the men who are states and nations have one common denominator: that government of the people, by the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."
