

Meet in Lincoln During Past Week-End - Thrash Over Newspaper Problems - Excellence of Behavior of Lincoln's Soldier Group Draws Praise - Letters from Senator Butler and Congressman Stefan Anent Wayne's Proposed Training of Aviation Cadets.

The annual meeting of the Nebraska Press Association in Lincoln last week brought together ambitious publishers of the state, most of them comparatively young with much of life still to be lived, and all deeply imbued with the desire to hasten victory in the world conflict and to reinforce democracy and strengthen the bulwarks of a free press. Editors manifested determination to shoulder full responsibility in the war.

Edwin F. Abel of the Lawrence, Kan., Outlook, and president of the National Press association, commended members of the press for their contributions to the war effort and emphasized their responsibilities in preserving American traditions during the reconstruction period. Another editor, Major Robt. W. Reed, with the seventh service command as chief of public relations, told the editors at their banquet Friday night that he found members of the press "learning over backwards" in determination to avoid publishing information that might help the enemy. The editors under designated program leadership, discussed different newspaper problems.

A. C. Gardner of Crete, was elected president to succeed Parke Keays of St. Joseph. Bow N. B. Point of Stanton, became vice president. The retiring president worked over-time in paying down association expenses, so that the income could face the outgoing without shuddering. The future is made more encouraging by a plan voted Saturday morning to unite on a fair basis with the University of Nebraska's school of journalism. Results promise to be mutually beneficial.

Relieved Encomium. A retired publisher returning to Lincoln from an outstate center where a large soldier group is in training, expressed high satisfaction over the uniformly fine behavior of the Lincoln trainees. He finds them more orderly and courteous than some he had observed in his travels elsewhere. Lincoln, which represents the Nebraska type, knows how to treat young soldiers-how to help and encourage them-and the latter are grateful as their behavior indicates.

Assurance Expressed. We have two communications from Washington one from Senator Hugh Butler and one from Congressman Karl Stefan in regard to the proposed training of aviation cadets at the Wayne State Teachers college. We interviewed Senator Butler at Lincoln Saturday morning as suggested in his letter. We thoroughly appreciate the prompt steps taken by Senator Butler and Congressman Stefan in behalf of Wayne. The two letters follow:

From Senator Butler. I wish to acknowledge your letter of the 27th, in which you express anxiety about Wayne college and its army training program. It is just one of those cases where the army is not moving any too fast. It does not plan on starting its program until at least April 1, and I doubt if it will get under way before June 1. Wayne is definitely going to receive a training unit, but it won't begin at least until April 1. It won't be a week or two before the army comes out to make the final contract, but have no fear of Wayne's losing out. Karl Stefan checked up on this matter yesterday and you will undoubtedly be hearing from him directly concerning the details. I am always glad to help you, so don't hesitate to write me if you run into any further difficulty along this line. "Will see you" in Lincoln next Saturday morning.

From Congressman Stefan. Senator Butler has held me today of your communication in which you have expressed some apprehension lest the State Teachers college be not utilized for army instruction purposes as has been implied by previous announcement. The full import of the first announcement was that the joint committee, composed of representatives from the war department and the manpower commission, had assessed the Nebraska State Teachers college at Wayne as prima facie suitable for service instruction purposes and it was tentatively designated as a place of instruction for aviation cadets. However, before the arrangement was completed, it was necessary thereafter for representatives of the war department actually to investigate the facilities of the school preliminary to the consummation of a contract, and I have not been aware of anything that indicated that the deal was off in any sense. The information that I have

Pvt. Burton Borg, about 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Borg of Wakefield, is reported missing in action on the Tunisian battle front in Africa, according to word received by his parents from the war department Tuesday. The message stated that the youth was missing February 17.

The young man, a native of Wakefield, enlisted early. He was among the first Americans sent to Ireland and later to Africa, going to Africa last August. He was a member of the ground forces. Salvage Materials Essential to War

Wayne Chapter of A.A.U.W. Will Contact Families In Wayne Soon.

Wayne American Association of University Women will contact all families in Wayne sometime within the next 10 days and urge them to turn in all waste fats, tin cans and old silk hose. P. L. March is county chairman of the salvage committee. All residents of the county are urged to respond to the call for these items. All butcher shops and meat markets will pay a small sum for waste fats, dry goods stores will take clean tin cans which are flattened. These stores will in turn send the salvaged materials to the proper place to be converted into war material. Glycerine from waste fat is used in making cordite, an especially strong explosive in ammunition for the larger caliber guns. It is also used in the 105 millimeter American-built tank destroyers that roared Rommel out of Egypt. Glycerine explosives are used in American pack howitzers, trench mortars, 75 millimeter field guns and airplane cannon. Other war products including tannic acid salvaged for healing burns, compasses, depth charge release mechanisms, pumps, ship's steering gear and gun recoil are dependent on glycerine.

Funeral Conducted For Accident Victim

Mrs. Quillen Fox Is Fatally Injured When Struck by Car, Crossing Street.

Funeral rites were conducted Sunday afternoon at the Congregational church in Eagle Grove, Ia., for Mrs. Quillen Fox, nearly 27, who was fatally injured Sunday, February 28, at Long Beach. Mrs. Fox had stepped out of a car and was crossing the street to the sidewalk when she was accidentally struck by an approaching car. She was hurled 60 feet and died instantly.

The young woman was teaching in a day nursery for children of defense workers while her husband was in Washington, D. C., training as a pharmacist in the medical department of the navy. Mrs. Fox was the former Lucille Verma Lineweaver. She leaves her husband and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Lineweaver of Arkansas, formerly of Eagle Grove. Mr. Fox, who had flown to Long Beach as soon as he received word of the accident, accompanied the body to Eagle Grove. He left Monday for Washington to report for duty again.

Robert Fox of Randolph, father of Quillen Fox, went to Eagle Grove Friday, Mrs. Robert Fox, Mrs. S. C. Fox of Wayne, Dr. and Mrs. N. L. Dittman of Winslow, went Sunday for the rites and the five returned Monday night.

The public is urged to attend this free instructive program.

WAYNE WITH OTHER TOWNS IN FAILING TO ATTEND CAUCUS

NEBRASKA towns have been generally remiss this year in taking part in naming candidates for school and city offices to be filled in the April election. In the late preliminary Wayne was guilty of neglect. In two ward caucuses of one political party no one appeared and unavoidably no nominations were made. An unusually small percentage of the population was represented at conventions and caucuses able to function. Educational and municipal affairs are of sufficient importance to command attention. When we fail to show interest in voting and indirectly helping shape the course of local public business, we are disregarding the very privilege—self government—for which men are fighting on many battle fronts. Despite apparent indifference to the preliminaries, rival candidates for school and city offices will be offered for consideration at the election April 6, and voters should turn out and express themselves even if they feel no preference.

Spiritual Living Stressed in Talk

Rev. H. Hazzard Addresses Kiwanians Monday Noon On Need of Today.

Rev. H. H. Hazzard, Baptist minister, addressed Kiwanians Monday, stressing that "happiness comes from knowing the Master." Life is not measured by the abundance of worldly things but by "our investments with God." In speaking of the spiritual side of life for men in service, Rev. Hazzard told that those who go overseas and those on the battle front are most anxious for guidance. He related a story of a chaplain and a boy claiming to be an atheist who were together under fire on Guadalcanal. The atheist was convinced of spiritual values and out of the experience came the expression that there are "no atheists in the fox holes."

The government provides chaplains who are chosen with high qualifications. Parents and the government are anxious that the boys have spiritual guidance in service. Rev. Hazzard stated that in spite of the long in local camps and folks at home do not take the interest in church services as they should. In Omaha, where 800 men are stationed, the average attendance at Sunday afternoon services is 20. But these young men do realize the need of such guidance when they go overseas. "We sing 'God Bless America' but we do little about it," stated Rev. Hazzard, who urged more religious life for all.

Rev. Hazzard invited Kiwanians to join in the first of the union Lenten services at the Baptist church Sunday evening. He also invited the men's choir to sing. Dr. Victor West, chairman of the ministerial group planning the series, invited Kiwanians and they public to all the Lenten devotions.

Rev. Hazzard was presented by Dr. C. T. Ingham, program chairman for the month.

Julian Torgerson sang "Sweet Little Jesus Boy." He was accompanied by Genevieve Lundak. County Clerk Clarence Bard received the membership pin Monday from Supt. J. W. Litherland, membership chairman.

Red Cross Drive Moving Forward

Chairman Beckenhauer Asks For Intensified Efforts to Reach County Goal.

The urgent need for funds for the wide humanitarian services of the Red Cross is stressed this week as the drive for war funds goes into its second week. Wayne county has collected about one-fourth of its quota of $4,250, and about one-fourth of the territory is covered. Chairman Wm. Beckenhauer urges that the campaign be intensified so that Wayne county may reach its goal. Reports in to date cover part of Wayne and some of the rural areas. Though no definite figures have been received, reports from other towns indicate that the drive is going forward. Mr. Beckenhauer asks that all reports reach him by the end of March.

The quota would be an average of 50 cents for every man, woman and child in the county. All are asked to contribute as much as possible to make up for any delinquencies. The Red Cross objective in this war drive is $125,000,000. The major portion will be used to serve those in the armed forces, providing hospital care, home and camp service, blood plasma, recreation, sweaters and other clothing, overseas clubs and contacts with prisoners of war.

Disaster relief, foreign war relief, health and safety education are among the other services to be maintained by the Red Cross. The Red Cross is the world's greatest welfare agency and it is now meeting its greatest crisis. Mr. Beckenhauer asks that Wayne county again respond by doing its share and more.

Pioneer Business Man Passes Away

Service for W. K. Heister Is Conducted Wednesday At Plattsmouth.

Wilson K. Heister, 84, the last of the pioneers who was connected with Wayne's popular early day "German" store, passed away Sunday, March 7, at the Masonic home in Plattsmouth. Mr. Heister had been failing in health for some time and entered the Plattsmouth home July 27, 1942.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday at Plattsmouth and burial followed in the Masonic cemetery there. W. S. Bressler and E. E. Fleetwood went from here to attend, and F. S. Berry had charge of sending floral tributes from Mr. Heister's many friends in this community.

Wilson K. Heister was born October 25, 1858, at Shartsville, Pa. He came to Wayne about the time this city started, in the very early 80's. The "German" store was established by the late Henry Ley, sr., at 3rd and Main streets and the firm was known for miles around. When Mr. Ley went into the banking business in 1892, he sold the store to Fuetchner, Duenig & Co. Mr. Heister was associated with this early firm. Later he was in the J. P. Gaertner furniture store and in more recent years he was in the R. B. Judson furniture store. In July, 1937, Mr. Heister established his own furniture shop and had conducted this until last summer. Mr. Heister was the last of his immediate family. He has cousins and nieces in the east.

Fire in Theatre Results in Loss

Fireproof Projection Room Prevents Development to Major Proportions.

Fire which started when a film splicing came apart Saturday evening about 9:30 in the projection room of the Co-Ed theatre in Wayne resulted in considerable damage to the equipment and room and also destroyed 6,900 feet of film. The fireproof room kept the blaze from spreading and prevented what might have been a major fire. The loss is covered by insurance. P. L. March will resume shows at the Co-Ed as soon as the insurance company provides new equipment or makes necessary repairs.

Warren Noakes was operating the picture projector and Earl Larson was in the small room with him when the film broke and burst into flames. The blaze spread from one projector to the other and soon the interior of the room was enveloped in flames. The audience realized the trouble and left the theatre in an orderly way. The fire department was notified and responded promptly. The heat was so intense that the equipment was damaged. Three coats in the booth were scorched.

The fire and its control proved the safeguard in having fireproof projection rooms in the theatres.

Senator Butler, Congressman Stefan and C. A. A. Director Morris Feel Assurance of Approval.

MILD AND GROWING ELEMENTS CERTAIN TO FOLLOW MARCH

MARCH will doubtless have blustery, cold days, but such an uninviting variety cannot last long, and spring with tender verdure and budding flowers is not far off. Then will come myriads of birds whose singing will not be rationed nor modified by the grim facts of war. These feathered sky travelers will be seen and heard as nature puts on its garb of green and as tillers of the soil plow and plant and welcome new-comers to flocks and herds. March weather is often far from agreeable, but it is soon supplanted by vernal warmth, witnessing the return of rich vegetation and the revival of high hopes for the year's production. More than the usual number of heavy rains, with the customary overflow of the Logan south of town, will be needed this spring to overcome the moisture shortage and insure required agricultural abundance.

Fatal Attack Is Suffered Tuesday

Victor Weaver Passes Away At Wakefield While Working on Car.

Victor Weaver, about 60, resident of Wakefield most of his life, died Tuesday morning after suffering a sudden heart attack at his acreage southeast of Wakefield. He was working on his car in the yard at his home when he was stricken and died shortly afterward.

Mr. Weaver leaves his wife, the former Lottie Montgomery, a daughter, Dorothy, who is married and lives at Martinsburg, and three sons, Weldon who is employed at the D. Hall greenhouse at Wayne, Arthur at home and Earl who is in camp at Hawthorne, Cal. He has a sister in Missouri and a brother at Oakland.

Meetings Are Held On Farm Program

Question of Continuing in Present Way Is Being Considered Now.

Shall AAA continue to be administered by farmers and community committees or are they to be elected by farmers of each precinct? Shall AAA continue toward maximum production and still build and conserve soil? Shall farmers through their organization continue to produce the foods most needed? These questions were discussed before Wayne county community committees and their wives at the city hall here last Wednesday and they were presented by committee to meetings in various precincts of the county Monday evening. Fieldman Frank Reed, who had been at the city hall to give the explanation, spoke in Hunter precinct Monday at the Bell school.

"If the opponents of AAA succeed in influencing congress against the program, it would mean the entire system of crop insurance, every normal granary, wheat, corn and incentive loans, parity and conservation payments, feed wheat prices and prices on poultry and livestock would be and will be threatened," states Mrs. Levi Roberts, Wayne county AAA committeewoman.

"It is not only our duty but responsibility to enlighten our representation in congress of the mind and thinking of real farmers," Mrs. Roberts continued.

"The AAA program gets to the fundamentals of farming which assures the stability of soil, supply and prices.

"Can the farmer afford to allow eight years of building, crumbling to pieces because of greed and jealousy? Does the American farmer want to run his own business or does he want others, who are not farmers, to be in the saddle? It is up to the farmer," concluded Mrs. Roberts.

Mrs. Henry Bartels of Wakefield is a medical patient at a local hospital.

Officials Make Decision

Word this week from Senator Hugh Butler, Congressman Karl Stefan and Director John P. Morris of the Civil Aeronautics administration in Washington, D. C., indicates that Wayne State Teachers college is definitely in line for army aviation cadet training this spring. Messages state that about 200 young men will arrive as soon as army air force officials give final approval.

Stanley Fuller, flight instructor here, has notified C.A.A. that he would accept their contract to provide 10 hours of preliminary flight instruction to 40 cadets each month for a period of five months, providing seven airplanes, five instructors, one chief instructor, one mechanic, two mechanics' helpers and 10 parachutes. Such instruction, C.A.A. proposes, would start April 30. As flight work is only a part of the training, it is expected that the cadets would arrive earlier and begin other studies. By training 40 each month, Mr. Fuller would complete this instruction for 200 in the five-month period.

The telegram, which came Monday to Mr. Fuller from Director Morris, follows: "Subject to final approval by army air forces of Nebraska, State Teachers College as center for training 200 aviation cadet candidates in army college program of the C. A. A. proposes to contract with you to provide 10 hours of dual elementary flight instruction per trainee for not in excess of 40 trainees per month, beginning April 30, 1943. Continuation of such training contingent upon satisfactory performance. Seven airplanes, five instructors, one chief instructor, one mechanic, two mechanics' helpers, 10 parachutes will be required. All airplanes to be used may be furnished by you or by the government. Details follow by air mail. Contact your regional office advising your willingness to proceed."

Mr. Fuller, who will be home soon from Rochester, Minn., where he underwent an operation, has accepted the contract.

In reply to inquiry made by E. W. Huse, Senator Butler and Congressman Stefan sent letters this week stating that Wayne is definitely under consideration as a center for cadet training. This indicates approval by the War department is almost certain and that trainees will likely arrive in April.

Wayne high students are happy in their school adjustments, according to reports compiled from a questionnaire conducted by experts in a study of environment.

The questionnaire is unique in that the correct answer had to be "no" rather than the usual "yes."

Pupil relationships rank high with 95 per cent answering "no" to the question, "Do you dislike helping your classmates with their school work for fear they will get better marks than you?"

The greatest difficulty seems to be in the classroom relationships because the "no" answer was given only by 60 per cent on the question, "Do you hesitate to recite in class?"

Interest DESEPIE gasoline rationing. Founders' day meetings at Lincoln last Saturday drew the largest and most enthusiastic crowd in the history of the organization. People have awakened to the need of direct interest in politics, and they are encouraged by a rising voice in behalf of America's fundamentals.

Speeches at Lincoln rang out against encroachment of bureaucracy, and uniformly demanded return of power to duly elected representatives. The main address by Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, who is favorably mentioned as a presidential candidate, was a masterpiece of eloquence and logical reasoning. He assailed bureaucracy as obstructive of accustomed governmental processes. The Lincoln Journal sums up Founders' day reactions in these paragraphs:

"Every address delivered to Nebraska republicans in Lincoln celebrating Founders Day contained an attack on bureaucratic government. From the opening by Robert W. Devoe to the closing address by Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio, war on bureaucracy was the theme. There was support of the war, pledge of every republican aid to bring about an early and decisive victory. Next in importance was epitomized in Devoe 'We are on the way back to the republic.'"

"A military political party, aided by those of the opposition who see danger in the present trend, who would maintain congress as a law making body as opposed to rule by bureau regulation by decree, has girded itself for the fight to save the republic, to get back to the constitution, to maintain government through constitutional departments. That party is opposed to delegation of power at the nod or command of the executive department. On that issue the party will carry its fight to the people, not for party dominance, but for the safeguarding of this nation. That was made plain."

"There were addresses by state and national party men. There was the warning voiced by Governor Vivian of Colorado that federal government is encroaching upon the constitutional rights of the state governments, and that this insidious movement is spearheaded by powerful bureaucrats who want to save their system and their powers, and to see their rule extended. The bureaucratic smear campaign against congress is underway and may be effective unless exposed and opposed. Congressman Miller said, Nebraska's senators, in brief appearances, pledged their support to every war effort and their opposition to extension of bureaucratic power."

"The fight against extension of government by decree will continue. It will be one of the major issues of the 1944 presidential campaign. It will oppose a fourth term, perpetuation of power by government agencies created to meet emergencies, against reckless expenditures and extension of the national debt. Back to the republic is a slogan that can be made effective. One major issue for 1944 is clearcut and understandable. It can be made the battle cry of a great campaign to save the nation from influences at home that would destroy."

Fourth Term WHILE it would seem prosecution of the war should prevent a fourth-term boom at this time, new dealers have started one and are intent on pushing it along. Commentators of the Washington Merry-Go-Round report that a recent meeting of members of the democratic national committee with the president sought to find out the latter's reaction to the idea of remaining in the presidency.

With few exceptions, committee members were icy cold to fourth-term suggestions. Responding to the president's expression that some one be picked to carry on the war and handle domestic policies, coyly eliminating himself, Governor Olson of California, fawning administrator, piped up that "you are the only man on the horizon as far as this country and the democratic party are concerned." Olson who is said to be angling for an ambassadorship in Mexico, told the president: "You are indispensable."

Other committee members expressed belief that the movement would meet certain and overwhelming defeat. According to the report, the president proposed to liberalize voting among the armed forces and women in production plants, and indicated that they would be for the new deal. "We wonder if he knows!"

The best thing that could happen this year would be to win the war. Next in order of importance would be to sweep out new deal bureaus and reconstruct on a sound basis.

that farm areas, with adequate help and under the impetus of unusual demand, will raise the biggest crops in the history of the world. Solution of the help question, however, will still leave uncertainty of the natural elements which may help or hinder.

A disturbing complaint comes from the American ambassador in Russia. He charges that Russia claims to be fighting the war alone, whereas vast quantities of supplies have been sent to the aid of the soviet union. Simultaneous with the report comes a warning from Vice President Henry Wallace not to "double-cross" Russia. He says if we do, a third world war will develop. Russia can depend on full support in its share in the present conflict, but democracy will not expect to yield now or later to communism. It is doubtful if Wallace will ever be able to adapt a practical state of mind to solution of world problems.

The government order to bakers not to slice bread has been revoked, according to a late report from Washington. As indicated, the restriction was found unnecessary to the task of winning the war. People who were in the habit of slicing their own bread, will not feel particularly relieved. We wish bureaucrats would try harder to confine themselves to essentials.

A Wayne patriot reports that he turned in five good automobile tires at command of the government some time ago, and the past week received in payment the munificent sum of 20 cents apiece or $1 for the lot. For obvious reasons and purposes, he immediately contributed the dollar to the republican county central committee.

We are advised to buy less and then warned that a surplus of money may give momentum to the evils of inflation. How to manage one's affairs to meet every demand and serve noble aims is another problem.

Ghandi's successful experience in getting along on no food encourages the world in its prospect of getting along on less.

Since March began it has been running true to reputation—wind, cold and snow. It is perfectly normal.

Paul McNutt shows rare facility in changing his mind.

It's Psychology. (Norfolk Daily News)

Butter rationing is going to go hard with some people, especially in the dairy sections where we have been used to a lavish spread on our biscuits.

So an inventive genius has found a way to make your butter go just twice as far. You soften a pound of butter and mix it thoroughly with a pint of warm whole milk, or an equivalent of evaporated milk and water, with four little orange pellets to give it coloring and other qualities. Then you have two pounds of "stretched" butter.

If you are unfortunate enough to be afflicted with logic, you will probably prefer to spread your butter half as thick and drink the milk, without going to so much bother. But there's the psychology of it, for the majority of us mortals who go for appearances. The stretcher makes it look as if we were getting our accustomed spread.

The "Magenot Line" of Security. (Industrial Press Service)

In a recent speech on the nation's post-war economic problems, Assistant Attorney-General Thurman Arnold said:

"For the past ten or twenty years... we have been obsessed with the economics of security. We have been thinking of stabilizing profits, keeping a fool from losing his money, social security, ironing out depressions, creating a situation where anybody who remained sober and didn't run off with somebody else's wife was assured of a comfortable old age."

"I am not opposed to any of these methods of social security or humanitarian measures. I only say that if your whole thinking is obsessed with the idea of security, the same thing will happen to your industrial structure that happened to the French Army that was obsessed with the idea of the Maginot Line. We must get back to the old economics of opportunity, of taking a chance, which made America great, and I think this war is going to do it for us."

America's Song. (Christian Science Monitor)

It echoes today from coast to coast. They play it in theatres, over the radio, people hum it on the streets—and how sweet it sounds, that song that begins, "O, say! can you see..."

In times like these it takes on new meaning, is sung with new fervor, stirs deeper currents of patriotism. To see a vast audience spring to its feet at the first notes of America's national anthem is to feel the heart-beat of a nation, to sense for a moment a common bond among 130,000,000 people.

Sometimes they sing the words together—and they really sing them these days. Nearly always there's someone humming them under his breath. Words that many had forgotten until that day in December of 1941.

Then suddenly Americans groped for those words. And they found them; they rose spontaneously from the throat of the nation, a mighty promise and a solemn pledge to the ruins that lay smoking in Pearl Harbor.

But "The Star-Spangled Banner" is not just a song for wartime. "Blest with victory and peace, may the heaven-rescued land, praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation!" Those words are for peacetime, too. May Americans sing them as fervently when the guns are quiet as they sing them now.

UPWARD TENDENCIES. Recent raise of $4 per ton in the cost of newsprint paper is not to much of a burden as would be the proposed increase in postal rates covering the distribution of newspapers. It is pointed out that the demand of postal employees for more pay may lead to passage of a pending bill to advance second, third and fourth class mail rates. It is reported that the second class rate which involves newspapers, would have to raise an additional $85,000,000 to meet the difference. Many newspapers have already increased subscription and advertising rates, and the proposed new postal burden, added to their increased costs, with a strong inflationary tendency, may force those who have held back, to yield to upward revision. The strictly paid-in-advance policy is unavoidable. Under new pressures, higher prices for newspaper products may come sooner than expected and contrary to the wishes of rural community publishers.

procured from the war department today is that the school is definitely scheduled for utilization beginning April 1, 1943.

"You will of course hear from Senator Butler also, but since the senator has discussed it with me, I thought that possibly I should make this report to you insofar as my information is concerned. If you feel that you have any continuing cause for apprehension, will you please let me know what the trouble is?"

Conservation Plans May Be Followed

Soil conservation practices followed on three demonstration farms in Dixon county have led a number to take an interest in the practices followed. County Agent Howard Gillispie explains that to make this service available to all farmers, a soil conservation district could be organized. The organization does not require a county tax assessment. The service comes to all in the district through federal funds. The service is optional and no one is obliged to follow the practices unless he cares to do so.

Petitions asking that a conservation district be formed in Dixon county have been placed in banks and may be signed by those interested. Soil conservation demonstrations were carried on at the Monic Lundahl farm south of Allen, Perry Millie farm near Newcastle and Merle Saxon farm near Ponca. These included contouring, good crop rotation, establishing grass in waterways, sodding broom and alfalfa on steep land, keeping stubble and vegetation on the land, placing field boundaries on the contour.

The results have been compiled as follows: Moisture: Nearly 100 percent of rainfall went into the ground where left practically to run off. From heavy rains, water stood from 8 to 11 hours in the listed furrows. Thus, moisture left the soil only by evaporation and by use of ploughs.

Soil: Since there was practically no run off, very little erosion took place. Fertile top soil remained on hillsides. Fertility was not depleted by washing. Condition more uniform. No soil left the farm.

Crops: More uniform crops—shows moisture saved. Smaller and fewer spots showing deficiencies. None covered with soil. None washed out.

Power and labor in planting and cultivating: Much less horsepower needed. Horses turned out much more work. Horses did not strain at any time. Tractors worked with uniform output of power. Fuel consumption reduced nearly 20 percent. Lessened wear on machinery. Saves life of tractor.

BOOKLETTEERING.

The charge launched in the national house last week by Representative John Taber of New York that a booklet treating of the life of President Roosevelt with copies distributed among armed forces abroad, was fourth-term propaganda, was denied by OWI Director Elmer Davis. The director explained that 500,000 copies had been printed in 12 languages at a total cost of $13,951. He said 100,000 were printed in English for distribution in other countries. Representative Taber didn't like the idea, and said so. What would be regarded tinged with politics from other sources seems to be cleared of such suspicion when it issues from inner administration circles, according to Mr. Davis, who defended the plan, as carried out, with these words: "I do not regard it as political propaganda. Mr. Roosevelt is our president and commander-in-chief and is regarded abroad as the symbol of American strength and of the principles of liberty and democracy which this country has always supported." But soldiers abroad with the allied nations will undoubtedly fight just as hard for the cause of freedom whether they read the booklet or not.

AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C. March 3, 1943 Vice President Wallace is quoted in the current issue of The American magazine as saying: "The war with all its hardships and pain has brought one blessing. It is providing a job for everybody who wants a job. We should solve now that victory will not rob us of this blessing." This statement is going to be much discussed. Very few here believe that any war brings any kind of blessing.

Emil Placko of Wahoo was one of the witnesses heard by the senate committee that is investigating the problems of small business enterprises. Placko and others believe that private banks should not be forced to compete with government lending agencies when private banks are equipped to take care of the business rates of interest comparable to government rates.

Two great women may be the motivating power in some of the present and future war plans. Both of them have the ear of the great commanders-in-chief of the allied armies. Madame Chiang Kai-shek, who weighs about 90 pounds, wants the united nations to do its fighting first in the Pacific. Martha, the crown princess of Norway, who also has the ear of these great commanders-in-chief wants us to finish the job in Europe. What these two women say and what they do are minutely watched and listened to in Washington. Future history will tell an interesting story about the activities of these two great women in World War No. 2.

The cost to feed a man in our army is 56 cents a day; in the navy 55 to 57 cents a day; in the cost to feed a man in our Federal prisons is 32 cents a day. That lower price is due to the fact that the federal prisons raise much of their vegetables, meats and dairy products.

Before the cultural relations program in Central and South America is completed, it is expected that the United States will have invested about 2 billion dollars in the enterprise.

Our federal prison population is now around 18,000 but it will be reduced because about 30% of these prisoners have gone into the army and more are expected to go, perhaps 3,000 of them. Those who have bootlegging charges against them or have been convicted of car thefts are among those who go into the service.

There are about 5,500 conscientious objector camps scattered over the United States. Most of these conscientious objectors have gotten out of the service because their religious beliefs preclude them from participating actively in war. Since they have been rounded up, about 15 per cent have re-sentenced and have gone into the service. Many others plan to follow suit. When a conscientious objector is sent to one of these camps, he pays his own transportation and his own subsistence. He gets no salary or pay whatsoever. He either pays the bill or some religious organization pays the bill. These camps are run by the selective service system under the direction of General Hershby. The conscientious objectors have no uniform and have no distinguishing marks on their clothing. They work in the forests, on the roads and some of them will eventually be working on farms.

Maxim Litvinoff, the Russian ambassador, may go back to Russia pretty soon. The report is that he has been asked by Stalin to return. Litvinoff told the Third district member the other night that he is not sure when he is going. He speaks the English, Russian and Czech languages fluently.

The program to regionalize the OPA, as far as Nebraska is concerned, is a set program. Raymond McKeough, the new regional manager in Chicago, tells the Third district office that, because the program is already in operation it will not be changed unless the plan does not work out. The Third district office continues to oppose the present program because it is more expensive and it also puts many Nebraska counties under the jurisdiction of the Iowa office, forcing Nebraskans to transact business with Iowans, who sometimes do not understand Nebraska conditions. The fight to restore our state setup has not been given up.

Madame Chiang Kai-shek held rationing in Washington for one evening. The Chinese ambassador gave a reception in her honor for 500 Washington officials and their wives. About 2,500 came. Before the evening waned, some 10 cases of champagne were consumed; 15 cases of Scotch, more than 15 turkeys, 15 hams, 10 salmon and incalculable portions of lobster, mousse, beef tongue, capon, shrimp and chicken a la king. There was much discussion on the question, "Who is paying for all this?" and also about the food supply for the "poor heathen Chinese in China." This reception was the biggest since the one given by Paul McNutt when he came back from the Philippines and when he had the presidential gleam in his eyes. There won't be many more because "people are talking."

The victory garden movement has been given a great impetus among those who have lack yards (or spacious window boxes). The movement also is growing rapidly in other cities, some of which are advocating the plowing up of open park spaces for gardening purposes. It is said that the seed stores even now are selling out their garden-seed stocks far in advance of the spring season, and garden seeds may be very scarce before spring spading really commences.

One eastern newspaper has a pet peeve over the farmers storing meat in locker plants, and wants the government to do something about it. Probably it might like to have the OPA issue regulations to compel farmers to get an OPA permit to kill a chicken for Sunday dinner. The war is almost lost sight of by some eastern folks whose appetites grow bigger as the flow of farm goods lessens.

Mr. Stettinius, lend-lease administrator, states that 12 per cent of our food supplies will have to be shipped to our allies over the waters. Last year, it was 6 per cent. And last year was a record-breaking year for farm production. This year may not be so good, considering the shortage of farm help and facilities. The percentage of food stuffs for our allies may be revised upwards. At the same time comes the announcement that the British ministry of foods has been designated to buy meats for Britain from South America as well as for other allied countries. This is expected to lessen the lend-lease demands for meats from this country, and also increase our meat supplies. Somebody may question why we cannot buy our own meats, and why boats from South America cannot also bring in a few hundred thousand bags of coffee, which we have bought and paid for in Brazil, and some of that surplus million tons of Cuba sugar owned by our sugar companies. The reason given is that this is war time and shipping is hard to get.

Home from Hospital.

Mrs. Herman Milder returned home Sunday from a local hospital where she had undergone an operation. Her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Spissman of Plankinton, S. D., is here to stay with her for a time. F. A. Milder went to Yankton Saturday to meet Mrs. Spissman. Ted Milder arrived Sunday from Walnut Ridge, Ark., camp to spend a few days' leave with his mother.

full harmony and cooperation to win the war as early as possible and bring the boys back home.

Washington is completely upset over food rationing. The order was expected and came as no surprise. But this is a real can-opener town. Probably one-half the population lives in apartments, hotels and rooming houses. "Light house-keeping" is very much in vogue, with thousands of groceries furnishing the canned goods, many delicatessens the ready-to-eat meals, including delicacies, and drug stores to fill in with ice cream, soft drinks and much else. Butter, coffee, bacon and meats of every kind have been very scarce. Even the milk supply has fallen off to the extent that 5,000 school children have been denied their penny half-pints. Now rationing will put the town on an eat-as-you-run basis. Even the restaurants will have their supplies reduced.

The victory garden movement has been given a great impetus among those who have lack yards (or spacious window boxes). The movement also is growing rapidly in other cities, some of which are advocating the plowing up of open park spaces for gardening purposes. A GIRL'S BEST FRIEND IS A Hat
Some women wear hats because . . .
A hat can be a cosmetic, a beauty treatment, almost a plastic surgeon.
A hat can pretend your skin is magnolia. (Try wearing a veil.)
A hat can soften, a sharp profile, broaden a brow, balance a receding chin, minimize a poor feature, play up a good one.
A hat can lie like a trooper about your age.
A hat can pick you up when your best friend has let you down.
A hat can be the one bit of nonsense in your new all-sense wardrobe.

Of course you could go without any hat at all . . .
If you have the prettiest face in the world, perhaps you don't need any beautifier, any lift, any flattery, any co-operation that a hat can give.
One face in a million may not, but the other 999,999 will go for a hat.

New Millinery Is Here!
Flower hats . . . Tailored hats . . . Straws and felts . . . Small brims, rolled up and down . . . Larger brims in flattering shapes . . . Smart sailors for suits.

CHURCHES

deemer's Lutheran church as guest speaker. Monday, March 15-19: Women of the Church Lenten prayer meetings.

St. Mary's Catholic Church. (Rev. Wm. Kearns, pastor) Sunday, March 14, first Sunday of Lent: Mass in Wayne at 9 o'clock and in Carroll at 10:30.

Dear Rev. Father: "By reason of special faculties granted by His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, to the Hierarchy of the United States, the clergy, religious and faithful of the diocese of Omaha are hereby dispensed from the law of fast and abstinence for a period of one year - commencing March 10 - excepting that the law of abstinence remains in force on all Fridays of the year, Ash Wednesday, the forenoon of Holy Saturday and the vigil of Christmas.

"Though a dispensation has been granted from the observance of Lent, the faithful are nevertheless obliged to practice self-denial. We urge them to practice mortification, abstaining and prayer; to abstain from intoxicating drinks, public amusements, moving picture shows and dances; to cultivate the venerable Catholic customs of reciting the Rosary in common in the home, attending daily the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, of assisting at the Lenten devotions, and devoutly and frequently receiving the Sacraments of Penance and the Holy Eucharist.

"On Sundays and Wednesdays during Lent, afternoon or evening devotions, consisting of Rosary, Sermon and Benediction with the Blessed Sacrament, shall be held in all parish, and, in so far as possible, also in mission churches. On Fridays the Stations of the Cross shall be publicly recited.

"The time for complying with the precept of Confession and Holy Communion during the Easter season extends from the first Sunday of Lent to Trinity Sunday, March 14 to June 20 inclusive.

"Praying God to bless you and your faithful flock, I am, Yours sincerely in Christ, Most Rev. JAMES H. RYAN, S. T. D., Bishop of Omaha."

The collection will be taken up on Sunday for the Indian and Negro missions.

lowing from the Bible: "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen" (Hebrews 11:1).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Substance is that which is eternal and incapable of discord and decay. Truth, Life, and Love are substance, as the Scriptures use this word in Hebrews: 'The substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.' Spirit, the synonym of Mind, Soul, or God, is the only real substance. The spiritual universe, including individual man, is a compound idea, reflecting the divine substance of Spirit" (p. 468).

Vote Same Levy In Weed District

Amount to Be Eradicated Remains Unchanged for Wayne County Area.

Wayne County Noxious Weed district, at its annual meeting in the court house Friday, voted to leave the tax levy at 1 cent an acre this year, the same as last. Since the entire county, outside of towns, is in the district, this provides about $2,600 for operation of the district. The tax is collected through the regular channels.

The board also voted that each farmer in the district eradicate three acres of bindweed plus 15 per cent of the balance, in case he has more than that amount on his place. This is the same as last year.

Otto Sals and Leonard Pospisil were re-elected supervisors for the weed district for three-year terms. Mr. Sals is supervisor in Wilbur, Deer Creek and Sherman precincts. Mr. Pospisil has Garfield and Sherman precincts and the west half of Strahan.

Terms hold over for E. P. Caauwe who has Plum Creek, Leslie and the east half of Brenna, W. J. Riggert who has Hoskins, Hancock and the east half of Brenna, and G. Clare Buskirk who has Logan, Hunter and the east half of Strahan.

What's New in Regulation.

OPA has announced a number of items during the week that will please Nebraskans. For example, due to the unusual cold weather in February, fuel oil rations were increased. The validity date for class one and two coupons for period five (good for 11 gallons each) has been moved up to March 8.

Then, too, many were relieved to learn that there are enough raw materials and adequate manufacturing facilities to meet normal clothing demands.

Price of eggs came under ceiling regulations. It was announced that prices will be based on four quality gradings, AA, A, B and C. In each grading there will be five sizes, jumbo, extra large, large, medium and small. For example, in Lincoln and Omaha, the retail price for large AA will be 59c per dozen; large A, 48c; large B, 46c; and large C, 42c.

OPA regulates meat slaughtering, quotas of slaughterers, price ceilings on meats and official inspection, grading and stamping of meats.

Gasoline station attendants are expected to check customers to see that each has the correct sticker properly displayed and that the vehicle corresponds to the one for which ration stamps are issued.

Contracts Awarded On Gravel Projects

Library News

A number of very fine books were turned in the last few days of the drive for books for the Victory book campaign. The leaders responsible for the collection in Wayne wish to thank every person who helped to make this campaign a success. The final report is as follows: Cash received, $20; fiction, 68 volumes; non-fiction, 12 volumes. Some books were turned in which did not meet the requirements for the soldiers and these were turned over to another worthy cause.

The book, Listen, Hans, by Dorothy Thompson, has been mentioned in this column before but perhaps people who have not read it would like to know something more about it. Readers who find occasion for breakfast-table arguments in Miss Thompson's new-paper columns will discover in this book a presentation of ideas on which all Americans can agree. In the first part of the book, simple analysis of German history, gives an understandable background for what the author calls "nazi schizophrenia." The rest of the book consists of short-wave radio talks to a friend in Germany guaranteed to be a real person who is, Miss Thompson explains, a German patriot but not a Nazi. These talks make a variety of common-sense appeals to whatever sanity is left in the Third Reich, but are very discouraging to any Nazis who might listen in. Listen, Hans might well serve as a model for any persons hoping to influence people to think. It is dedicated "first to all my fellow-countrymen who are ready in their minds and hearts to join up with the new 'common people' in the commonality on mankind."

Story hour for the children will be held at 2:30 Saturday afternoon.

To Keep Hens Laying. Laying hens should be kept in the laying house and should be warm and well fed for best results.

Explain Agents W. R. Harder and Howard Gillaspie. When hens are allowed out of doors on warm days in winter, egg production is likely to drop.

Rather than disturbing the hens, the agents advise adding new, dry litter without removing the old. Spray health tip is never to spray the hen house in winter as the dampness may have a bad effect. Too many windows are not advisable in hen houses.

They radiate heat when the sun shines but the glass radiates cold on wintry nights.

Four years ago Miss Peggy Lipscomb, then a junior in high school, picked Sorosh's name from a list of pen pals provided by the American College of Teheran. She never expected to keep up the correspondence, or to meet her correspondent from far off Iran—but she did. Sorosh has arrived to take a course in radio engineering at the University of Texas in Austin. Said Miss Lipscomb, now a student at the Texas State college for women at Denton: "He's very nice."

R. Stander, of Kaleden, B. C. Instructions on the face of the envelope read as follows: "Via China, Calcutta, Cairo, Uganda, Rhodesia, then by South Africa airways to the Belgian Congo, then by Pan-American Airways to the United States." The letter, which took two and a half months to reach its destination, told a pitiful story of poverty and starvation among the Chinese.

George Switt of Philadelphia, was annoyed when, after waiting 20 minutes for a street car, the motorman wouldn't open the door. He pounded so hard on the door he broke the glass. "I've often felt like breaking a car window myself," said Magistrate John Coyle in ordering Switt to pay $2.50 for the broken pane. The motorman claimed the car was overcroved.

Your engine's cylinders can't stop empty. They'll either load up with fresh raw gas when you shut 'er off, or get caught with stale burned gas they can't belch out.

In those useless leftovers are corrosive acids, trapped in the engine you can't replace—along with moist "sweat" as the interior cools. Any chemistry freshman knows these causes of biting corrosion, always present—long before wartime. But when your car was in frequent use, at speeds that thoroughly warmed the engine, it helped to offset the worst acid effects. How different today, when mileage, speed, and average engine heat are all down—giving acid its chance to run riot!

You can't open the engine and keep sponging out any acids or other moisture, while your car stands little used nowadays. But without extra fuss or extravagance you can change to Conoco Nth motor oil and get your engine internally OIL-PLATED.

You're familiar with anti-corrosive plating...like chromium-plating. Just as closely, this protective OIL-PLATING will be kept surfaced to delicate parts by advanced synthetic means—as described in the celebrated patent on Conoco Nth. Though your gasoline-rated car makes few runs, you can combat corrosion between times. For you can keep your engine OIL-PLATED by changing to Conoco Nth this Spring at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

"Please take good care of your telephone"

Trips to repair telephones take tires and man-power. Also, in spite of development of substitutes, some copper and other critical materials must be used.

You save to speed victory when you safeguard your telephone in the following ways:

- * Keep your telephone cord straight. Twisting injures the wire.
- * Keep your telephone on a firm support.
- * Keep both telephone and cord dry when cleaning or decorating.
- * Replace the receiver carefully. Banging it down may break it.

Your cooperation in preventing telephone casualties helps the war effort and will be greatly appreciated.
