Although 23 farm members of the system have already applied for connections and five services have been installed in recent weeks, Mr. Dupsky reported that many farmers hesitated to take advantage of the previous order because they didn't know how they were going to obtain materials to wire their farm buildings.

To establish the right to obtain wiring materials, a farmer need only show that he is going to make effective use of electricity to help overcome the acute shortage of vital foods. Mr. Dupsky said, "A farmer must have a present or assured production capacity of at least five animal units, or a combination of different types of livestock and poultry to make the required total. Up to 100 feet of line per animal unit is allowed, but no extension may exceed 5,000 feet in length without special WPB permission. OAR organization stands ready to help any farmer prepare his application for a service connection or for wiring materials."

The first step in obtaining electric service, Mr. Dupsky pointed out, is to seek the approval of the county USDA war board for a service connection. Such approval is necessary before a priority on farmstead wiring materials may be had.

In announcing the new regulations on wiring, WPB emphasized that materials were not to be made available "exclusively to furnish electricity for household lighting." This viewpoint is supported by the animal unit requirement, which involves definite assurance on the part of the farmer applying for a service connection that he possesses, or can obtain without priority, at least one of the following electric devices or facilities: Water pump for livestock, milking machine, milk cooler, incubator, brooder, feed grinder and dairy sanitation equipment.

Next Sunday the third annual "Army and Navy Collection" will be lifted at Grace church. This money will be used for the printing and sending of Christian literature to the men in the armed forces, for chaplains' equipment, and for erecting, equipping and maintaining service centers for the boys. The goal is $500,000. Last year's collection amounted to $472,000 throughout the Missouri synod.

May Extend Power Service on Farms

Special Permits Granted Where Production Units Found Sufficient.

An estimated 50 farms along power lines operated by Wayne county rural public power district will likely be connected for service as a result of the war production board order making farmstead wiring materials available, according to Emil Dupsky, system superintendent.

Farmers who want electric service as a means of increasing food production should now be able to obtain wiring materials without difficulty, Mr. Dupsky said, provided they can meet the animal unit requirements of a previous WPB order permitting farm service connections.

Although 23 farm members of the system have already applied for connections and five services have been installed in recent weeks, Mr. Dupsky reported that many farmers hesitated to take advantage of the previous order because they didn't know how they were going to obtain materials to wire their farm buildings.

Some Soups Taken From Ration List

Point Values Are Reduced On Most Vegetable and Fruit Juices.

Dried and dehydrated soups were removed from the food ration list this week by OPA, and most fruit and tomato juices were given lower point values.

Wholesale stocks of dry soups had increased 80 per cent and buying slumped.

Slow sales also cut the point value of juices. Pineapple juice, on the contrary, rose from 13 to 17 points on the 2 1/2 size can.

Grape juice came down from 1 to 2 points for a pint and from 8 to 3 for a quart. Grapefruit and other citrus juices were trimmed in the No. 2 size can from 4 to 3 points, and in the 46 ounce can from 9 to 4 points. Tomato juice was reduced in the No. 2 can size from 12 to 6 points and in the 46 ounce can size from 22 to 11 points. In connection with vegetable juices, OPA removed rationing from all types except tomato juice and vegetable combinations containing 70 per cent or more to tomato juice. This freed carrot, sauerkraut, beet and similar juices.

Among canned fruits, reductions were made on certain can sizes of apples, berries, cherries, peaches, pears, plums and prunes. Increases in certain sizes of canned apricots, fruit cocktail or salad, and pineapple.

Among vegetables, decreases were ordered on certain sizes of (1) soup, (2) carrots, leafy greens, sauerkraut, spinach, but higher point values assigned vacuum packed corn, most ordinary canned corn, and tomato paste. Canned corn on the cob was taken off the ration list, and also freed were canned green turtle soup, clam juice, clam broth and clam juice cocktail, all formerly on the canned soup list.

Solid Fuel Coordinator warns: 'Consumers must now take their coal as it can be supplied and store it against winter needs.' That means the coal mines must have your orders—so they can ship what small surplus they can produce over much increased and vital war needs. Without orders, this surplus is lost for coal can't be stored at the mines—and it has no place to go except in bins. Place your order now. Let us schedule delivery as promptly as wartime curtailments and manpower will permit." Includes Harco 'SP' COAL logo and Carhart Lbr. Co. contact info.

Ways with Fresh Vegetables

Fresh vegetables and plenty of them keep the nutritional score of your menus high. Vitamins and minerals are really important to the diet now. And fresh vegetables are rich storehouses of these food essentials. Carrots Au Gratin Combine cooked, sliced or strips of carrots in casserole with white sauce and grated cheese. Bake until heated through. Pioneer-Style Baked Onions—Bake large onions, whole, with outer skin, and all just as you would potatoes. Serve by breaking open, and seasoning with salt, pepper, and butter.

Nutrition in the Lunchbox

It takes a bit of doing to keep lunchbox meals in balance. And since this meal is really important to the lunch fare for lunchbox diners, it behooves us to keep the nutritional standards high. We're offering a few tips for these portable meals which may be of help. Double-Decker Sandwiches—If hearty sandwiches are in order, combine double-decker ones with a combination of fillings such as jelly and cheese or peanut butter, meat and grated carrot salad filling, or egg and relish or cucumber spread. Vary the bread, too, using part white and part dark.

SOMETHING CRISP—Send the vitamins and minerals along in the lunchbox form of a whole carrot, a wedge of lettuce, a jar of cabbage cole slaw, some radishes, or a crunchly apple. Crisp foods add texture interest to sandwich meals, too.

TOMATOES—Take full advantage of the tomatoes in the lunchbox. Whole tomatoes in the lunchbox, whole or sliced, send them whole than sliced in sandwiches. Or you might fill that thermos with fresh tomato soup or bouillon, or chilled fresh tomato juice. FRUIT—Vary the fruit according to the season, and include dried fruit, too. It will be appreciated. PEANUTS—Tuck in a bag of salted peanuts for added nourishment and nibbling enjoyment. They are vitamin B-rich.

Comic strip titled "MORE THAN ONE WAY TO GAIN POINTS!". Characters discuss rationing points and fresh produce. One character says: "I'M SORRY, NODDIE—I WAS THINKING ON 'AN' INSTEAD OF 'AND' FOR 'THAT'S THE POINT'." Another says: "DON'T WORRY! WE'RE GOING WITH YOU! ANY PLAN THAT SAVES POINTS JUST MUST BE INVESTIGATED NOW!"

THE WAYNE HERALD E. W. Huse, Editor and Proprietor The Oldest Established Paper in Wayne County NEBRASKA PRESS Association 1943

Teaching FROM Minneapolis comes a report explaining how the United States department of agriculture's extension division at the University of Minnesota is organizing schools among farmers to teach them how to solve farm problems. A 22-page booklet is provided to explain to farmers how to handle their help and how to do other things they probably have had long and successful experience in doing.

But here comes the knockout blow: To teach a man something, the teacher says and he demonstrates with another willing farmer, first put a man at his ease, learn his background, develop his interest, place him in the proper position, show and tell him what to do, have him do the job and explain it back, then answer his questions.

Then the teacher hands the farmers, assuming they are still there, little sheets of paper which bear the heading "Be Patient with the Boys" and contains suggestions for farmers employing inexperienced help.

The booklet suggests that the farmers, having learned to tie knots, spend another half hour during which the instructor will demonstrate this method on 49 farm chores that include using a manure fork, filling a hoe, building a fire, making a calf drink milk and de-lousing a chicken.

Strike THE coal strike engineered by John L. Lewis and involving 400,000 miners, was at least delayed on order of Lewis whose action came almost simultaneously with President Roosevelt's plea for resumption of work.

If there is no law to make a man like Lewis feel responsible to the government, one should be passed. It is evident that the administration has coddled union labor leaders of the Lewis type too much.

The public joins soldiers who are fighting for democracy, in outraged feelings over Lewis' hold difference to the country's safety. The liberties which the labor tyrant abuses, are the very liberties which American boys are risking their lives to uphold.

To Train THE Norfolk Daily News frowns on President Roosevelt's idea of peace-time training by the federal government for all boys and girls. Mrs. Roosevelt had previously advocated the plan.

To Head Off TOO little to buy and too much money with which to buy encourage inflation, to prevent which price ceilings must be as carefully placed over wages as over merchandise and farm products.

William M. Jeffers, rubber chief, is refreshingly frank and firm. His anger rises when he thinks he is being imposed upon. He has been a success in producing synthetic rubber, and he maintains that his success has not interfered with the production of high octane gasoline as Undersecretary of War Patterson had complained.

Predictions as to when the war will end with allied victory vary greatly. Opinions from the north Africa battle area express belief that the Tunisian campaign will be wound up within a month and that the nazis will be forced to surrender in Europe next year.

west Pacific, predicted some months ago that the Japs would be defeated this year. Since most informed sources disagree, the rank and file cannot be expected to agree. At least all may hope for an early victory.

The Pulitzer award to the World-Herald for its leadership in planning and putting over a state-wide scrap metal drive last summer is shared, as that newspaper suggests, by the many who actively cooperated. The need for old metal to turn into war implements was pressing, and the World-Herald initiated the movement to help meet the demand, which was accomplished and which set an example for other states of the nation.

Speaking of the supreme need of setting group differences aside, and preventing obstructive strikes during the war emergency, the Lincoln Journal counsels: "This is a time for settlement, a time to continue work. The minors should accept what they are offered now. They will gain and the nation will gain by such an act. What they might do in peace time and still retain public sympathy can't be done now."

The chairman of the legislative committee on expenditures modestly calls attention to economy in appropriations—practicing closest scrutiny and getting more for less. His words will encourage members to return to constituents without an inward urge to offer apologies.

John L. Lewis shows some very pronounced symptoms of wanting to become a dictator—a prospect from which people would recoil with horror.

Leading Thought of the Month. (Nation's Business)

Two reporters for the Baltimore Sun, working for three months to learn the grand total of federal questionnaires, report that the number is more than 1,000,000,000 a year!

Which gives point to a terse letter from a grocer friend. It reads: "When may we expect a ceiling on reports?"

On the Farm, Too. (Nation's Business)

And out in Brookings, South Dakota, the Junior and Senior Chambers of Commerce have organized an efficient farm labor pool. The chamber members enlisted volunteers by door-to-door canvass, and classified them as to ability and experience for specific farm chores.

The plan was tried out in Brookings last year with such success that it is being expanded this year.

Even Sauerkraut is Controlled. (Omaha Journal Stockman)

Just as an example of how this war has emphasized food values and afforded the authorities the opportunity to regulate the things we grow and the things we eat, it is pointed out that the humble and ordinariferous sauerkraut has become important enough to call for federal regulation.

The war food administration has announced it will offer to buy all stock of bulk kraut in packers' hands at the end of the marketing season.

The WFA said the move is designed to encourage contracting by packers for this year's kraut cabbage crop and to assure processors of an outlet for their bulk kraut. No tin has been allocated for civilian supplies of kraut and closures for glass containers may not be available, the WFA said.

Not Trained for Their Jobs. (Lincoln Journal)

G. B. Arthur, once a business man and later a war production board official, after close contact and careful study has figured out why there is so much dissension in Washington.

It is that these men have not been trained in business. He says, according to Nation's Business, that "they have produced disorder and delay in many things for which they are responsible, because the conduct of the war—apart from strategy and tactics of battle—is a matter of business and they have not been trained in business." Their training, motives and methods have been based on the philosophy of restriction. They can't realize that the war job is to clear away rather than to set up obstructions.

In time of peace they didn't know what to do with plenty, so they brought about a situation of scarcity. Some of the surplus destroyed then would be welcomed now. With what we once had we might dispense with some of the rationing.

The Post-War World. (Saturday Evening Post)

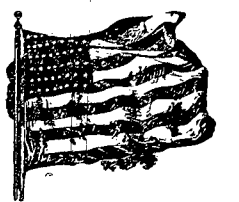

Isolationists are beginning to talk as if we could debate whether or not we should participate in the post-war world, or insist upon "buffer states" in Eastern Europe—as if air power had not obliterated the buffer state. This is, of course, complete nonsense. Just as the operations of war have carried our armies to the far corners of the earth, so the consequences of war will extend and perpetuate co-operative action with other nations, some of whose ideologies we strongly dislike.

As late as 1863 there were Northern statesmen who insisted that slavery must not be touched by the war to save the Union. But slavery was destroyed already. Now, as then, the successful statesman is he who has learned to roll with the punch, and understands the truth of Mr. Churchill's statement that, in the closely knit new world, "it will not be given to any one nation to achieve the full satisfaction of its individual wishes."

LOOKING AHEAD.

If we were a religious fundamentalist we could be persuaded to think the world was about ready to wind up its affairs. The scriptures mention great wars as a prelude to the end. But we cannot understand the need of extraordinary misery preliminary to junking the earth and translating its remaining inhabitants. The war might be interpreted as foreshadowing the millennium when holiness is expected to be triumphant on earth. But if neither the end of the world nor the millennium is just around the corner, as fundamentalists might reasonably conclude, we may expect nations, scourged and exhausted by conflict, to settle down to a long period of peace. The hardships and losses of this world war will leave little to encourage the most rabid leadership to make plans for another one.

MOTHERS' DAY.

Next Sunday will be Mothers' day, and sense of love and gratitude will be deepened as the years are recalled with the pain of present absences accentuated. In the Aleutians, England, Africa and the southwest Pacific—in enemy prison camps—American boys will refresh early memories—how they were protected and sustained by mother devotion. In their hard war experiences, their thoughts will turn to home and to the ever-comforting center of that home. Above the noise of battle will rise an appreciation of what a mother's care means and of how her words of counsel and courage solve youth's problems. Mothers typify purest and noblest love, realization of which stimulates their cherished boys to do their best to hasten a victorious peace and return to accustomed firesides. Mother suffers intensely from the trials of war, but she is comforted by words that come to her from near and far on the day set apart to pay her special honor.

Leaves for Texas. Capt. Valdemar Peterson stopped briefly Monday to visit Don Wightman while enroute from Elgin to Omaha. Capt. Peterson had been stationed at Greensboro, N. C., and left Monday evening for his new location at San Antonio, Texas. Mrs. Peterson plans to remain in Omaha with her parents for the present.

Writes from Pacific. Pvt. Warren L. Mau, son of Mrs. Anna Mau, writes from the Pacific area that it is "mighty good to get the Wayne Herald over here and to see what goes on in and around Wayne. The service news is of special interest, knowing where some of my gang are and in what branch they are serving."

The youth mentioned that Van Bradford recently visited him and the two were only two miles apart.

Is Cook in New Camp. Cpl. Arthur Cook of Carroll, is cook in a battalion mess hall at North Camp Hood, Texas. The young man writes that the camp is new and will be very nice when finished. There are seven cooks and two bakers on his shift. "If you don't think it's hot, come to Texas and cook for about 1,600 men on cookstoves when it's 120 in the shade and no shade."

that paper and ink are hard to get overseas so writing is somewhat restricted. Envelopes are especially scarce. When the Wayne youth wrote he had just received the January 15 issue of the Herald. The paper is very welcome, he states, and he especially likes to learn where other boys are located. He noted that Manfred Kai is also in Africa. The mail brought 65 letters at one time to the youth who writes that did him a wonderful lot of good and he enjoyed every one. The boys usually sleep on blankets on the ground with a little shelter overhead, and they are able to rest after busy days. Richard is now in the detached service.

THREE PASS TESTS FOR SERVICE UNITS

Studies at Yale. "With the completion of my basic training in Florida, I have begun the final 16 weeks toward a commission, and am attending the technical school in communications at Yale university, New Haven, Conn.," writes A-C Robert Wright of Wayne.

"Reading the Herald is always a welcome relief after a week of study. When I was 'stuffing' hundreds of them each week I never thought one single copy would ever look so good to me. Thanks for sending the 'home town' to me. With the Herald in sight I feel that home is just around the corner.

"I have been here a week and a half and the classes have been very interesting even though the daily schedule is a bit rugged. At least I feel I like 'em. I'm learning something. So far the only Wayne people I have found here in New Haven are Kenny Peterson and John Brugger. I also accidentally ran into Bill Hull and his wife, who attended Wayne State when I did. Both he and Mr. Brugger are instructors at the school."

AIR SPEED KING PLANS POST-WAR FLIGHT RULES

Pointing to network of existing and projected future airways, Colonel Roscoe Turner, only three-time winner of Thompson Trophy Races, now training pilots for Uncle Sam, endorses broad federal regulation of flight. Col. Turner—who 10 years ago flew coast-to-coast in record time of 11 hours 30 minutes—says terrific speeds of modern aircraft mean passage over many states in but a few minutes, making mandatory "federal control of air flight as against state jurisdiction". As Vice-President of National Aviation Training Association, Col. Turner recently appeared before Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee of U. S. House of Representatives and endorsed that Committee's Bill covering this subject and post-war aviation planning.

Traines Needed For War Industry

The government has opened training facilities for young men and women between the ages 16 to 25, married or single, and who are out of school, for jobs in vital war industries. The demand for skilled workers now far exceeds the supply. Immediate placement opportunities are available for all youth who successfully complete their war production training courses authorized by the war manpower commission. "Your government is offering you the chance, at no cost to you, to learn a skilled trade and further the war effort, by working at a war production job," according to Field Director Bennie Kay. "Several training centers are located throughout the state in which you can take training in the following fields of defense employment: Welding, sheet metal, machinist, radio, aircraft electricity, mechanical drafting and industrial sewing. The training centers are located in Kearney, Lincoln, Omaha and Bellevue." It takes about six to 26 weeks to complete training. At the center one receives training while actually producing items for the army and other war agencies. Board, room, laundry, uniforms, medical care and training are provided. In addition to this, one receives a monthly salary, which provides for personal expenses, for the time spent on production. Youth who live at home, or do not live at the training center, and are assigned to the shops, receive a larger salary in addition to their training and medical care. The government hopes to secure sufficient workers so as to avoid drafting labor, explains Mr. Kay. Nebraska has had about 800 trainees who secured employment in war industry the past month. Persons interested are asked to write to any of the following: NYA Master Project, 115 South 10th, Lincoln; NYA Workshop, 801 North 30th, Omaha; NYA Resident Center, Bellevue; NYA Resident Center, Kearney; Bennie W. Kay, Youth Personnel Field Representative, 629 Logan St., Wayne.

Families whose children have attended school in district 88 since it was organized 10 years ago were guests at a program presented Sunday afternoon by present pupils of the district, and the teacher, Mrs. Ella Koehler. Ladies of the district have been meeting Friday afternoons to do Red Cross sewing and Mrs. Ralph Beckenhauer displayed some of the work and told that the ladies have sewed the following articles: Thirteen lap robes, 13 bed shirts, 12 suits of men's pajamas, 10 suits of children's pajamas, 12 tray cloths, 13 hot water bottle covers, 20 sweaters, 29 fracture pad covers, 3 bed pan covers, 10 bed side bags, 33 hot covers. Pupils have clipped three bags of scraps for fracture pads. At the close of the program Supt. F. B. Decker presented a standardization plaque to the school board, composed of Harry Swinney, Ralph Beckenhauer, Clarence Mann. An exhibit of pupils' work was on display in the basement. Old snapshots and charts showing the names of teacher, directors, superintendent and pupils for each term were posted. House Cleaning Time

Spring house cleaning is now in full swing. Everyone is anxious to get it done before Victory gardens need more attention so here are some tips on cleaning varnished woodwork and furniture. Using a soft cloth, wash the varnished surface with a solution of 3 table-spoons of boiled linseed oil, 2 tablespoons of turpentine and 1 quart of warm water. After a thorough cleaning, wipe dry with another soft cloth, then polish. This gives the varnish and wood just enough oil to prevent it from drying out, yet not enough to become sticky or gummy and collect dirt. Backs of chairs where the head rest frequently become very soiled or even gummy. This excess dirt may be removed by using powdered pumice stone moistened with linseed oil. Rub the soiled portion until dirt is removed, then clean with solution as mentioned above. Leather upholstery may be cleaned by rubbing with a small amount of castor oil. This will remove the dirt and leave a slight amount of oil worked into the leather which prolongs its wear. Upholstered furniture and rugs may be shampooed. Boil up a mixture of 1 bar ivory soap and 3 quarts water. Add 1 tablespoon household ammonia. Beat mixture until good lather forms. Spread

Ask to Separate Wools

The commodity credit corporation has asked the extension service to advise wool growers against mixing "off" wools with the regular wools in preparation for marketing. The "off" wools should be tagged separately to avoid the one per cent discount which will be made against entire lots of wool where this procedure has not been followed. Off grades of wool, when kept separate, will be valued on their merits. Such wools include fates, crutching, dead, black, fine, burk, heavy burry, eye clippings and other damaged wools. Needless to say, a one per cent discount on wools at present prices would make a considerable difference in the net returns to growers. No Flowers This Year

The familiar Mother's Day flowers will never be missed today by the mother above or countless others like her. Mothers know their distant sons in the service still remember them, and proudly buy their own War Bond corsages to hasten the time when they can wear the flowers of peace again on Mother's Day.

U. S. Treasury Department

An Undeclared People.
(Omaha World-Herald)

"A singing people," said a writer recently, "is an undeclared people."

There is truth to that, as well as pleasant rhetoric.

Our thoughts go back a quarter of a century to a time when an earlier generation of young men marched off to war singing "Tipperary" and "Over There," and perhaps, in later days, "Mademoiselle." People who heard them know in their hearts that there was an army which would not be beaten, and it wasn't.

And our thoughts turn also to the more recent years of peace, when thousands gathered on the slopes of Elmwood park, and in many other parks in many other cities as well, to join for a while in singing the favorite songs of the people. That generation, too, was unspoken and undeclared.

And now their sons are singing as they march off to a new crusade. Singing the gay and marchable tunes which have survived the test of time and which reflect the gay and confident spirit of young America.

Do people sing because they are undeclared, or are they undeclared because they sing? Let philosophers argue the question. It is enough for laymen to know that the songs of marching men are gay and reassuring music to American ears.

Which brings us belatedly to the topic of this editorial: National Music week, which begins today. We offer the surmise that possibly those who have never been a time when good music meant so much to Americans, at home and overseas, as it does today.

Regrettable

(Lincoln Journal)

Americans are sometimes forced to do things they dislike very much. Taking over private property by the government is one of these things very much disliked. They will be happy when the flag comes down over the mines, when the government is signed by operators and workers and when free enterprise again takes control.

In the present instance federal action seemed necessary. Otherwise coal production would have been halted and war production would have been decreased if not entirely stopped. As it is there may be some interruption, what with transportation facilities overtaxed, surplus stocks of fuel at low bid, and the necessity existing for continuous flow of fuel from the mine to consumer.

No harm will be done if the final settlement is such as to insure industrial peace, if properties are properly restored and the factories are adequately fed with fuel.

Threat of a great strike in any industry producing an essential commodity during a crisis is regrettable. The trouble should have been avoided. Eventually the public will make up its mind as to where the blame should be placed.

Let Us Have the Truth

Let us have the truth. If some way could be found to sort out the truth as to the war and other public affairs from the conflicting stories given out by leaders at Washington, the morale of the country would be greatly improved. It should not require, in congressional committee to get all the facts about things the public wants to know.

Poppy Day

Again they bloom these poppies red
In memory of heroic dead.
In honor, too, of those who live
Who do their best and bravely give.

They bloom again these flowers fair
Made by hand with loving care,
Made by men who still fight on,
Courageously, though health is gone.

Again they bloom these poppies red
A symbol of heroic dead.
Unspoken, yet their heart to say,
"Wear me for your best day."

Social Studies' Ardent History

(Saturday Evening Post)

Schoolteachers and educational experts are just getting their nerves under control after a terrific shockacking by the New York Times, which last month exposed the fact that, partly because of emphasis on social studies and partly because of human frailty, freshmen in American colleges were a little weak in their knowledge of American history. It seems that only 6 per cent of the students surveyed could name the thirteen original colonies and only 3 per cent knew that Mark Hann came from Ohio. The revolt from old-fashioned date memorizing has been so drastic that, if a bright boy offered the information that the Peace of he would be regarded with suspicion. We agree that social studies—or such of them as we have been able to absorb by sneaking in a little study of the kids' textbooks—tend to dissipate specific knowledge in a haze of "attitude." But the boys and girls have a pretty fair alibi. After all, there is, as we are constantly reminded, a war on. Children stay out of school for days while the man's register dangles, issue ration books and assign plots for Victory gardens. And college freshmen—at any rate, the males—are likely to be too much preoccupied with history as it is made and their part in it to ground themselves in the career of Mark Hanna as firmly as they might be expected to do in more leisurely circumstances.

Furthermore, the young people of America are entitled to tell the rest of us that they will do better in history when we have made up our minds what history is. A teacher who asks the class to "bound France" cannot complain if the bright boy in the front row wants to know whether she means France as of 1939, France as of now, or France as of the day when Giraud, DeGualle and the fortunes of war decide what bounds France. The result is that the quizzers have fled the quizzed and sought refuge in social studies, thereby making it certain that high-school seniors and college freshmen would share the general ignorance.

Seriously, though, it might not be a bad idea to spend the present era of uncertainty grounding the youth in a few facts about the past upon which controversy is at its minimum. Some familiarity with our own Founding Fathers, for example, might assist young people in evaluating present events as no amount of mooning around in social studies can ever do.

Idle Men

(Lincoln Journal)

"Every idle miner," said the president, "is directly and indirectly obstructing the war effort." It would have been just as true with the words "war worker" substituted for "miner."

WAR NEWS

The possibility of a ceiling price on hogs hangs in the balance depending on the adjustments of prices through rationing.

The department of agriculture has announced a new wartime insect control, a product of aerosol or fine-fog method of dividing and spreading insecticides that is disastrous to certain insects, especially mosquitoes, flies and many other household and greenhouse pests.

The war production board has ordered manufacturers to eliminate the poorest-wearing types of shoes. The order also limits colors and patterns and effects savings of cotton, rayon and wool yarns.

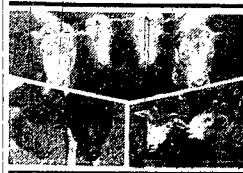

In order to save critical materials, ceramic bottle and jar closures have been manufactured. They have proved so practicable that their use will probably continue after the war.

As a patriotic duty and of necessity Mrs. Amjeica will vacation in her own back yard this year. Railroads will be denied any additional summer service. The armed forces and the essential civilian trade will increase the present shortage.

Replacing rubber articles is becoming more difficult. Raincoats, overalls, galoshes and women's undergarments may be especially hard to buy this next year so they should be given special care.

Hadar, Neb., May 4—Condition of Mrs. Harlan Raabe, Hadar, who was severely injured about the head and throat last week when struck by a barn door in a wind storm, was slightly improved the first of the week. She is still bedfast.

Industry Can Provide Jobs

(Norfolk Daily News)

Jesse Jones' department of commerce forecasts a potential era of "unparalleled prosperity" in this country after the war ends. Roger W. Babson and other business observers join in the optimistic predictions.

The conditions that make for "good times" are there. The people will have an unprecedented back log of spending power in the form of government bonds. New processes which can be turned to civilian production will be in full swing. There will be an oversupply of factories ready to be turned into the production of goods for which the demand will be great because of several years of short supplies. The factors are there if they are wisely utilized.

But there is some difference of opinion as to how the transition from war production to peace production must be accomplished. There are those in Washington who talk of going back to something like PWA or WPA to provide jobs until industry can switch over. They also say that the switchover should be financed, at least partially, by government, which means that government's hand would be the guiding hand in the new industries. Those who doubt the ability of private enterprise to operate under its own steam hold these views.

The other view is taken by the National Association of Manufacturers and other groups of business men. They insist that if government will let private enterprise do it, it will be able to handle the problem of employment of returning soldiers and discharged war workers. But they insist industry must be freed from bureaucratic restrictions.

Glenn L. Martin, airplane manufacturer, points to the need of money to reconvert plants to peacetime uses. Taxes are now stripping industry of nearly all that it makes. Renegotiation of contracts also cancels any surplus fund industry might build up. If present policies continue most industries will face the need of converting their plants with no money laid up with which to do it. Martin proposes that industry be allowed to set aside whatever amount is estimated to be needed for conversion, any surplus to be taken by the government after conversion is completed.

The alternative, of course, is government financing, which will surely mean government control, and this is dismaying to those who have watched the growing confusion of industry which has been planned under government regulation.

Mr. Babson, in today's letter, urges that government quit abusing business and give it a freer hand.

"We even remove the checkrein from a horse, when it is pulling uphill," he adds.

One thing can be said without question. That is that when the boys come home they are going glorified relief work, and that only to demand jobs, good jobs, not private industry operating under its own head can provide these jobs.

Washington regulators should be thinking about that.

vited to help locate scrap, notifying their teachers who in turn will report to Supt. Decker.

Leaders in the present drive promise that all scrap will be picked up from individual places regardless of the amount. Scrap piles from the previous drive will also be cleared. For this reason each farmer or other individual who has some scrap, no matter how small the amount, is asked to report it. When the trucks and the army boys start their pickup, they will make a thorough job of the collection.

First in the county reporting the amount of their scrap to T. P. Roberts are Frank Baker, Dean Allwin, A. M. Austin, Clark Banister, John Claussen, A. T. Claycomb, Leslie Coley, Fred Eckert, A. R. Sniper Slippers Enable Japs to Climb With Ease which enables the Japs to climb trees easily. Tops of the slippers are green canvas held in place with three snaps at the back. All are small sizes, none large enough for Americans.

These Jap snipers are so camouflaged to be very difficult to locate. They dress like trees, dirt, rocks, etc., and stay in hiding to practice their stealthy work as well as men are in these outfits.

Snipers shoot wooden bullets. These cause a wound not visible through X-ray and result in infections.

Geers picked up a fan belonging to one of the women snipers. He loaned this to the photographer of Life magazine for a picture. The fan bore the picture of the rising sun.

The young man tells that the first Jap marines on Guadalcanal were six-footers and they were reported to have come from Korea. They were known as the imperials. After these were out of the way, the small variety of Japs appeared.

The Japs use so much treachery that they are hard to fight. They even use American flags on their own ships in battle.

Japs had perfect models of General Motors trucks on the island, the youth found.

Also of interest is the fact that American boys found Jap occupation money all ready printed for use in the territory which the Japs figured they would capture. After visiting his wife and parents at Royal, Geers reported May 3 at San Diego for further assignment.

and Mothers' day near seemed an appropriate time.

Mr. Baehr told that Prof. Leon F. Beery who wrote the music to Mrs. S. A. Lutgen's song, "Nebraska, My Native Land," was one of the early sponsors of Music week in Wayne. The number was written especially for a convention and has been used widely in the state since. The Music week programs in 1926 and 1927 centered around the churches, schools and individual instructors. The week in 1927 closed with a large rural chorus singing. Special radio broadcasts featured the 1928 programs.

"Any organization that sings will accomplish things," Mr. Baehr concluded.

Mr. Baehr, accompanied by Miss Hazel Reeve, sang "I Am Fate," by Hamblen, and Wm. Beckenbauer led the group in songs.

Arrange Broadcast. Dean Lawrence McGinn and Wm. Beckenbauer arranged as a special feature a broadcast in the form of a radio lament from the form of a suitcase belonging to the club. This issued an appeal for a new suitcase for the club songbooks and gavel.

bedding, clothing and five mules. After they arrived, Mr. Mears bought three hogs and a kind neighbor gave him six hens and a cock.

Plants Many Trees. Mr. Mears broke the first land in Stratton precinct. His daughters, Mary and Edith, set out the many trees that now are so attractive on the home farm. The family planted a large garden in the new-broken sod and abundant crops rewarded them. The food which much needed for the Mears home was a stopping place for many travelers. Railroad officials made the home their headquarters in the early 80's and many others were accommodated there. The only settlement in the area was at LaPorte, early Wayne county seat to the southeast. The nearest neighbor to the west was a mile west and one south of the present site of Winside, and the closest to the northwest were two families in the vicinity of what is now Sholes. Clark Springer located northeast soon.

The Mears family found the first winter here long and cold with deep snow. Mrs. Cherry and her brother, Grant, shot nine deer in the vicinity and hauled them home by hand sled. Twisted prairie grass furnished fuel during that period.

After the railroad went through in the early 80's, Mr. Mears built a hotel on south Main street in Wayne and moved to the property, continuing to serve travelers. Edith Mears learned the dressmaking and millinery business from Mrs. Sarah Ahern and followed this line of work for a time.

Wed Fifty-seven Years. It was in the Mears home in Wayne that Edith C. F. Mears and J. M. Cherry were married by Rev. H. G. Pittinger, Methodist minister, April 21, 1886, and they observed their golden wedding in 1936. Judge Cherry had been in Winside since the first of the year, he and Paul English dealing in lumber and grain. The couple went to Winside after their marriage and soon built a home there. After two years the Cherrys went to Lindsay and two years later came to Wayne, their home since. Judge Cherry was in the lumber business here and later served as deputy county clerk, city clerk, county sheriff and county treasurer. He was chosen county judge in 1919 and his wife assisted him as deputy several years.

Mrs. Cherry was one of the first graduates of Wayne high school. She was one of the first members of the Eastern Star chapter and in earlier years was active in the Minerva, Pirean and Woman's clubs. She belonged to the Methodist church. She served on the finance committee for the Red Cross in the first World War. Mrs. Cherry was first librarian when the library was established in the court house.

Mrs. Cherry is survived by her husband, one daughter, Miss Frances Cherry, who is home with her father, and one sister, Mrs. Lydia Benson of Tacoma, Wash. Besides her parents, the following brothers and sisters preceded her in death: William Mears, Jennie (Stallsmith), Hattie Hogue, Sadie Mills, Marshall Mears, Mary Cross, Grant Mears. Many nieces and nephews also survive.

Mrs. Ira Lyon came from Madison Wednesday, and her husband and daughter, Betty, came for the rites today.

Funeral services will be members of the court house staff, Frank Ex-

Library Institute Is Conducted Here

Program and Exhibits Are Provided for Visitors at College Thursday.

Librarians and others of north-central Nebraska, meeting at the college last Thursday in one of three district institutes in the state, realized much of value from the program and discussion. Speakers included Lt. A. J. Bazata, Dr. J. R. Johnson, Miss Lois M. Crouch, Mrs. Yale Kessler, Miss Anna V. Johnson, Miss Nelie Carey and John B. White, the last three of Lincoln, previous institutes were in Kearney and Lincoln.

Lt. Bazata stated that America, to be an example to the world, should rebuild lives and the country on a belief in God and one's own courage and character.

His personal opinion is that America needs to forget its luxuries and develop the things that really count and that will enable this country to help the rest of the world. The fundamentals that mean character provide a sound basis.

Dr. Johnson mentioned possible international organizations to be formed after the war as means of preventing further troubles.

Miss Jennings gave an interesting discussion on racial and national inequalities.

The librarians joined the college students at convocation Thursday morning when the motion picture, "Target for Tonight," was shown.

Prof. Yale Kessler had secured this from the extension service. The visitors also watched Wayne's army air unit men in marching.

Exhibits at the city and college libraries and at the Y. W. rooms were of interest. Dr. Geo. Seck had loaned one of Chinese tapestry, books, etc. Another consisted of Dr. Johnson's Dymaxion. This colored globe was shown as it appeared in flat form in Life magazine and also how it appeared after being mounted into a 14-sided sphere for study.

"Saturday Review of Literature," timely pamphlet on the post-war world made an appearance. A South American display loaned by the U. S. office of education was used. In the college library was a table of war information, this displayed in book and pamphlet form.

Miss Crouch, state president, and Prof. Kessler led discussion groups.

The library group had noon luncheon together at the Stratton.

Mrs. Bessie Grouseman Here Friday to Give Public Address for Club.

Wayne Woman's club presented Mrs. Bessie Mae Grouseman, landscape architect of Omaha, in a talk and demonstration on "Garden Appreciation and Flower Arrangement" at the city auditorium Friday evening with the public invited.

Flower arrangement, according to Mrs. Grouseman, started as early as music. The romps in China put flowering branches in the vases before the temples and, finding them pleasing, placed them in the interior of the temples for decoration. The Romans and Greeks used flowers on their tables and made wreaths for honored persons. "Today's flower arrangements," stated the speaker, "are based on the past with a look toward the future."

An arrangement might not have a flower in it but must always have growth material. It must be a spontaneous effort. Each arrangement should carry out one idea and emphasize one color or use contrasting colors or related colors.

When making a bouquet radiate it from one center of growth. If fixing a centerpiece for a table set down and work so as to have the same viewpoint of the center. Mrs. Grouseman said the guests, says one of the new trends in arrangement, an arrangement may be symmetrical or asymmetrical. A bouquet should be one and one-half times as high as the container. In making any arrangements the texture of the material must be considered.

A table, to be lovely, must be consistent in all its parts, says Mrs. Grouseman. The table cloth should set the color for the candles.

At the close of her talk Mrs. Grouseman demonstrated different types of arrangements.

Give Vocal Numbers.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Baehr with Miss Hazel Reeve at the piano opened the program with a group of musical numbers. Mrs. Baehr sang "Rose Softly Blooming," "Wake Up," and "The Lilac Tree." Mr. Baehr sang "I Attempt from Love, Sickness to Fly" and "I am Fate." Together they sang "Song of Love."

Mrs. F. S. Berry, program chairman for the evening, introduced Mrs. Grouseman stating that "she is a woman whose creative genius could make a wilderness bloom."

Mrs. Berry also stated that Mrs. Grouseman is present fin arts chairman of the Omaha Woman's club, past chairman of the rocky mountain regional garden clubs and had judged many flower shows several of which were in Wayne.

Mrs. Grouseman complimented the Wayne Woman's club on being about the only one in the state that recognized flower arrangement and on holding annual flower shows. Mrs. Grouseman has worked with flowers 20 years and still meets new problems every day.

Mrs. Grouseman was honored at a luncheon Friday noon at the Stratton hotel by members of the flower show committee.

Issuance of Sugar Will Be Simplified

Local War Ration Board Is To Issue Special Stamps For Canning Needs.

Harry J. Gleason, district director of the Sioux City office of price administration, announced that the issuance of sugar for canning will be greatly simplified soon, allowing the housewife sufficient sugar for home preservation of fruits and vegetables, as well as jellies, jams and preserves.

Each family unit will be allowed up to 20 pounds of sugar for each member of the family for canning fruits and vegetables, and 5 pounds of sugar per person for the preparation of jellies and jams. These canning sugar allotments are based on the factor of one-fourth pound of sugar per quart, regardless of the type of fruit or vegetable to be canned. This canning sugar allowance will be granted to the housewife in sugar stamps so that she may purchase sugar as her individual canning program might demand.

One application to the local War price and rationing board, at which time she will supply the board with the name and address of each member of the family, as well as the serial number of war ration book No. 2, and the ration board will issue the stamps according to the amount to be canned.

The office of price administration explained the purpose for this simplified procedure for canning sugar is an effort toward assisting, and helping in seeing that each family unit preserves as much fruit and vegetables as it is at all possible. It is felt through these means that each household will be in a better position to use ration stamps for food that cannot be preserved at home, and consequently result in a better diet for each family.

It will not be necessary for the housewife to declare home canned fruits and vegetables when making application for war ration book No. 3. Each housewife is encouraged by the office of price administration to can all fruits and vegetables possible and no penalty will be placed on her because of home processed foods on hand.

Food Preservation Will Be Stressed

Food preservation demonstration meetings will be held in Wayne county during the month of May, according to County Agent Walter R. Harder. Communities or groups of women desiring the food preservation demonstrations should call or write the county extension office.

Governor Dwight Griswold officially opened statewide "Food Preservation" week Monday, May 3, on KFAB at 11:10 p. m. with the extension service broadcast. Other broadcasts throughout the week on this period will stress food preservation.

Library News

Dreams, books, are each a world; and books, we know, Are a substantial world, both pure and good; Round these, with tendrils strong as flesh and blood, Our pastime and our happiness will grow.

The outstanding book received at the Wayne library this week is One World, by Wendell L. Willkie. In this book the writer gives a personal account of his meetings with Stalin, Chiang Kai-shek, General Montgomery, General Chenault and other United Nations leaders. He tells of his talks with prime ministers and kings, and with teachers, soldiers, librarians, factory workers and farmers around the world. He reports a great awakening that is going on among the peoples of the world and his deep conviction that the United Nations must learn to work together now, while they fight, if they hope to live together after the war is over. This book has been listed as a "must read" for every American citizen and will probably be chosen as the third imperative.

Two new novels received are The Fifth Seal, by Mark Aldanov, and Tunnel from Calais, by David Rame.

Destroyer from America, by John Ford, is an unusual book. It tells about one of those 50 destroyers which the United States sent to Britain. This is a story of heroes of today—men from every sort of calling, using whatever rough weapons are at hand for the life of their country, heedless of personal praise or glory.

The district library meeting held in Wayne last week was very inspirational. Although not attended as well as the meetings usually are, due to the lack of transportation, it was nevertheless counted one of the most successful meetings ever held in Wayne. The program was well planned and executed. Many town people would attend these meetings if they realized that the topics under discussion there are not confined to library matters but cover the very topics in which we are all so vitally interested today.

The tenth anniversary of the Burning of the Books in Germany will be remembered in America but not so in Germany; for the Germans, if not ashamed of that infamous episode, are at least aware that their flagrant attack on the freedom of the press has helped to solidify the united nations for victory. It is to be hoped that this anniversary will be blazoned forth again by the public by every bookstore and library in the country. Those fires in Germany's public squares gave clear warning of what Germany meant to do if victorious; those flames burned something into the minds of liberty-loving peoples which will not soon be forgotten.

On May 10 many Americans be reminded that there is still free press, and that the united nations intend that there shall be free press around the world.

Recent years have resulted in many changes, according to the Byron Ruths who just spent their third Easter in Wichita, Kan., after moving from Wayne. The Ruths have found their new work worthwhile. Mrs. Ruth is employed with Boeing aircraft. Mr. Ruth is the oldest in seniority on one shift at Beech aircraft.

Wichita has a population of 250,000. The county's quota in war bonds was over eight million, and in less than a week 11 million had been invested.

Sgt. Ralph VanAllen, son of the Ruths, is in England.

The Wayne youth sent to his mother a short message written by Sgt. McDonald, a friend in New Guinea. Entitled "The Lady Who Waits for You," it follows:

"No one but us will give her a thought, tell her she's brave and true; so I give you a toast my brothers—To the lady who waits for you. Who knows? It may be your mother, your wife or your sweetheart true; whoever it is, whatever she does, she's the lady who waits for you.

"The papers may scare her with headlines of battles and men that are slain; but always she breathes a silent prayer—prays you've been spared again. And her eyes they sparkle and glisten when she hears the postman's call; word from her loved one—her soldier—the soldier who means her all.

"So remember chaps, when the going's tough, and nothing seems to be right, that lady's still waiting there for you; her burden is not too light. Nobody shares her glory; gives her honors, medals or praise.

"But she cheerfully carries on with her part like the heroines do in plays. So when the stars in the skies are the lights in the tents are few, give thanks to God ere you close your eyes for the lady who waits for you."

Is Directing Band. Leonard Paulson, former music instructor in Wayne city school, has been chosen director for the army air force band at Superior, Wis., where he is in training. He has 27 men in the band at the college detachment. Most of the trainees trying out for band have had four to 10 years of experience. The band will be used mainly for marching but will on occasions be converted into a band for dances or other social occasions.

Is Back from Furlough. S. Sgt. Lester Knott has returned to Will Rogers Field, Oklahoma City, after a 15-day furlough, the first he had had since entering service at Wayne June 9, 1941. The young man enjoyed a visit at Wayne and regrets not being able to finish school, though he has gained much practical experience in army training.

S. Sgt. Knott is athletic director for the A. D. T. S., part of Will Rogers field, and he teaches Judo, hand-to-hand fighting, swimming as disbanding ships, staying afloat for hours, etc. He also has charge of calisthenics and a mass athletic program.

The young man was formerly of Sholes.

Experience Profitable. "I've been in the navy a little over a year and, although it has been a radical change from civilian life, I can safely say that it has been one of the most interesting and profitable years in my life," writes Mrs. Z. C. Frank Gambel, from Anacostia, near Washington, D. C. "Certainly I never would have seen or done the things I look back on if I had remained teaching. I've met high ranking officials including Secretary Knox and many others. I've sung for all sorts of functions and broadcast on all the big networks.

"The radio work has been the most interesting. Starting from a small beginning on a local station, we now have a weekly half hour on mutual. I'm one of the three or four fellows who put on the dramatic skits. It seems that I have a natural radio voice, good pacing, etc. For that reason I am being retained for another six months. In seniority I was supposed to ship out this spring with a band. And I have just recently been appointed student chief petty officer, head of the student body." (The Wayne youth asked that this information not be printed but the Herald feels that his many friends would like to know of his activities.)

Firemen Expected To Buy Inhalator

Emergency Equipment Will Be Purchased If Able To Get Permit.

Wakefield firemen are optimistic about being able to purchase an inhalator for this community after reports were received from the government stating that a limited number of these mechanisms have been released and will be sold according to order of application. Wakefield had sufficient funds to purchase an inhalator about a year ago but was unable to do so.

The fund, which was accumulated through commissions from the sale of magazines by the Crawford-Collier Publishing company, now stands at $198. Solicitors from the publishing company canvassed Dixon and other nearby counties a short time ago, and a part of all subscription money received was turned back to the firemen to be used in the purchase of an inhalator.

Anyone who has need for the inhalator will be entitled to use it. It will be equipped with a baby mask and may be used in case of drowning, gas, paralysis and any other emergency.

Chicks by Radio Is One of Latest

Paul Revere Made Better Time in 1776 Than He Did This Year.

Now baby chicks come by radio. Fred Zeisner, police radio dispatcher at Santa Monica, Cal., noticed that a transformer in the transmitting apparatus maintained a constant temperature of 98 degrees. So he put an egg in the drawer of the transformer table to see what would happen. Other officers and clerks grew interested and added 12 more. Yesterday Zeisner had nine "baby" chicks. "All 13 would have hatched if everybody hadn't pecked in the drawer all the time," he complained.

Paul Revere did better in 1775 than he did April 20 this year at Lexington, Mass. In a re-enactment of the famous ride, the horse threw a shoe and the rider impersonating Paul Revere had to search for a half hour to find a blacksmith. He arrived at Lexington Green 45 minutes late.

If you walked into a room and saw someone who looked exactly like you, would you believe your eyes? Mrs. Clara Whitehead, 32, of Columbus, Ohio, didn't until she learned the double was a twin sister she had never known. The meeting occurred last weekend in the office of the Children's Aid society at Pittsburgh, where Mrs. Whitehead had gone for help in getting a birth certificate needed in connect with a war job. "Mrs. Whitehead, this is Alice, your twin sister," a field worker told—the Columbus woman, who hadn't even known she was adopted until the need for a birth certificate arose.

Mrs. Paul Hurd, Texas City, Texas, recalls longingly that lovely roast beef she bought, along with butter, coffee and other rationed foods. Someone stole her car and the food in it. Houston police found the car later, parked in front of a house. The burglar, they said, had broken into the house long enough to cook—and eat—the Hurd groceries.

At Rock Springs, Wyo., the rush to buy war savings stamps has Thomas Berta more vexed than pleased. Pupils, he learned, have been cashing stamps at the post-office—in order to buy more stamps at school.

The parents of Staff Sgt. William P. Curran, Worcester, Mass., read an official announcement that he had won the distinguished service cross—so they anxiously awaited his next letter, expecting it would give the details. The letter came, but it didn't mention the heroism. It said "We made our own fudge. The boys pooled what they had, and, believe me, it was good."

At Los Angeles an ambulance collided with a street car and overturned. The driver, aided by spectators, quickly righted the ambulance, hastily inspected the patient inside; then went screaming on his way.

At Berkeley, Cal., Richard Porter, 3, coughed and turned red. A peanut was stuck in his throat. His father, Charles C. Porter, started for the hospital with the boy. Their car stalled, and a police ambulance finished the trip. Richard was ushered to the operating table. "I don't see any peanut," said the surgeon, after examination. Richard turned red again. "I swallowed it," he confessed.

At Trenton, Tenn., Judge R. A. Elkins refused to sentence a man brought before him in a soldier's uniform. He had Sheriff Dock Harrison dress the man in overalls, then sentenced the defendant to 11 months, 29 days in the work-house.

F. H. MacDonald, member of the Kansas City war bond sales committee, rehearsed his talk while getting a haircut. The barber listened politely and wrote out a check for $2,000 worth of bonds.

Harry Wilson, newly-elected Springfield, Ill., city commissioner, toured Springfield's schools armed with $1,280 in dimes, keeping a campaign promise. He promised to distribute a dime to each pupil from kindergarten through the 8th grade. It all started four years ago when Wilson was running for county sheriff. He promised to give each Springfield school child a nickel candy bar if he won the election. He won and paid off. This year he made the same promise, but his two children, citing the increase in cost of living, coaxed him to raise the ante to a dime. In a radio talk before the election, the children promised that each pupil would receive a dime "to buy a war stamp" if their father was elected.

It's like this, says Warden Roy Best at Canon City, Colo.: Norris Rodman and George Reece, 23-year-old convicts, were sent outside the prison in a truck to change a tire on a prison auto in Canon City. They decided to keep on going in the truck then began to quarrel over how soon to abandon it in their flight. Fists swung, Rodman blacked Reece's eye then telephoned the warden and said he wanted to come back. The warden obliged. They're both back.

MOTHER!

This Wartime Mother's Day, May 9 will find many homes in which "son" is absent.

Whether he is well remember the day in some fashion—material or otherwise. Many of these mothers are now in the fight themselves, taken war time jobs at home in defense plants... riveting... welding... selling... teaching... Red Cross work... farming... anything that will bring Victory quicker and the boys home.

Let us fathers, daughters, young sons, who are left in the home remember mother this Mother's Day with unusual thoughtfulness. She may not wear her heart on her sleeve, but in secret she will gloat over whatever little remembrance may be given because of the affection and regard that motivated the gift.

At Brown-McDonald's you will find a great many practical and thrift-priced things for person and home, from a pair of rayon stockings to a warm blanket that will meet the elasticity of any budget. Why not choose something now?
