

In North Africa Encourages Hope - Predictions Differ as to Final Victory, But No One Knows for Sure - Present Menace Greater Than That in First World War - Tornado Season Opens - Parks for Recreation.

Conclusion of the African campaign with decisive allied victory encourages hope for an earlier collapse of the enemy than many had expected. However, we are warned not to be too optimistic, and to bear in mind that Hitler is preparing for stout resistance in Europe. But the dreaded invasion of that continent, once under way with modern machines and multiplied allied forces, will be fast and furious. We are confident American leaders in the field are smart enough to foresee obstructions and not strike until adequately equipped to meet and overcome them.

The eagerness of many Nazi soldiers in Africa to surrender may be accepted as an indication of a disposition among large numbers of Hitler's men. As they see the hollowing of Hitler's pretense, the lack of a just cause, their morale breaks and they lose the spirit which more and more fires the armed crusade to preserve democracy. The power of objectives is all on the side of the allies. Many under Hitler would not doubt quit him if they dared to do so. An invasion will open the way for peoples in subjugated countries and for those in Germany out of sympathy with Hitler's ideas of enslavement to join the allied movement.

So, while we must be prepared for reverses and see that our military machine is geared to exercise its greatest might, we may reasonably speculate on surprises favorable to the allies. In a talk at Sioux City last week, J. S. Woodson, associate editor of the Journal, and an authority on world affairs, predicted that Hitler and Mussolini would be conquered this year, and that the result would bring a quick break in Japanese resistance. On the other hand, Roane Waring, national commander of the American Legion, returning from a visit to the African front, has cautioned American people not to expect too much too soon—not to slow down production.

Anyway, results in north Africa are gratifying. On them, will be founded coming allied successes. How long the war will last, no one knows for certain, but every victory brings the end nearer, as all profoundly wish.

The Difference. The present war has presented problems not apparently involved in the first world war. The one 20 odd years ago appeared to offer no real threat to this democracy. Modern war machines in the hands of crazy dictators have been a certain menace. After the attack on Pearl Harbor, Japan's "Tojo" boasted that he would bring Washington to make a settlement arranged by Japanese leaders.

It has been an evident plan of the country's present enemies to subjugate this country and make it over according to an alien pattern, presided over by ruthless foreign masters. The present experience is tougher than the first one physically and mentally.

Storm Near Omaha. Some damage was done by a tornado in and around Omaha last week. The month of May seems favorable for storm twisters, but hot, sultry weather is a requisite which has been noticeably absent in this area so far.

When a black, funnel-shaped monster appears from the southwest, people do not call a meeting to discuss the danger or make plans to head it off. They scoot for storm caves and hope for the best. Wayne has been the victim of damaging winds, but has never suffered what would be termed a tornado, one of those whirling demons whose giant force leaves nothing within its path undisturbed.

To Open Schuyler Pool. There seems to have been some question about opening the municipal swimming pool at Schuyler, but the Sun of that place says the city council has decided to do so. Schuyler has a big pool in a wonderful park, and this recreation afforded would seem ample to justify the cost of upkeep.

After the war, the plot of ground bought north of Wayne for a park may be expected to include the swimming pool essential. When peace has been restored and people's nerves have been dropped from a state of high tension, they will need to go to attractive parks for repairs.

Men Are Improving At Base Hospital. Douglas L. Weide, Ames H. Riley and James A. Moncre, California young men who have been receiving care at the Sioux City air base hospital, are recuperating nicely. They are greatly improved but will remain at the hospital until they are completely well.

NEWS SUPPRESSION DOES VIOLENCE TO NEWSPAPER'S DUTY

PEOPLE, undoubtedly mean well when they ask an editor to suppress news. They think an omission of a legitimate news story can do no harm. They erroneously think concealment serves a desirable purpose, whereas the contrary is usually true. Trying to keep news from a publication only invites greater danger of mistakes. Readers have reason to trust their newspaper for facts, and if they lose confidence by a policy of yielding to the commands of any who may have a warped or narrow idea of public service, the newspaper might better fold up and evaporate. One might as well ask a grocer to quit selling sugar as to ask an editor to withhold news that is of public interest and that often contributes to the public safety and welfare. News is gathered with labor and cost and sense of responsibility and it cannot be dismissed and forgotten at the behest of ephemeral whims.

Home Destroyed By Midnight Fire

Leland Johnsons Return to Find Property Near Concord Burning.

Fire which is thought to have started near the separator in a hall adjoining the kitchen destroyed the Leland Johnson farm home southeast of Concord last Wednesday night. The property belongs to Mr. Johnson's mother, Mrs. Chas. Johnson, and the loss is only partially insured.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and son had been in Concord last Wednesday night. They were returning about midnight and were nearly a mile from home when they noticed what appeared to be a light in the house. When they reached home they found the blaze. They notified neighbors and Concord firemen who responded promptly. Mr. Johnson and others pumped water from the cistern and were able to control the fire until the cistern water gave out.

Neighbors also helped remove property from the home. They saved bedroom furniture, the family's good clothes and linens, theavenport and chair and seed corn which was stored in a vacant room. Other furnishings, separator, washing machine, all the home-canned fruit and vegetables and everyday clothes which were in a hamper were lost.

The two-story house burned to the ground. The Johnsons are now living in a trailer. They may remodel a wash house for temporary dwelling quarters.

Dance Sponsored For Army Corps

Young Men of Detachment Are Most Appreciative For Cooperation.

The dance sponsored by Wayne Chamber of Commerce in honor of the army air corps detachment Saturday evening at the auditorium attracted an exceptionally large number of people who enjoyed the sociability as well as the music.

Wayne army unit provided a swing band of 14 pieces which furnished excellent music for part of the program. Some exceptional music talent is found among the local group. Harold Hallstrom was trumpeter with Orr Tucker's orchestra. Vessie Hardy, drummer, had his own band and played at Club Wisconsin at Wichita Falls, Texas. Jack Hahn, trombonist, also had his own band and was in the next.

The cadets wish to express their appreciation for a most enjoyable evening. The boys thank all citizens for this cooperation.

The Chamber of Commerce plans other such occasions for the young men.

Unit Commander Is Made Captain

Promotion for A. J. Bazata Comes Year to Day After Entering Service.

A. J. Bazata, commanding officer of Wayne college army air corps detachment, received word from Washington, D. C., Monday of his promotion to the rank of captain. The promotion is retroactive to May 3, exactly one year to the day from the time he was made first lieutenant.

Captain Bazata, 37, was graduated from Yale in 1926. From 1926 until 1942 he was in the restaurant and hotel business and was manager of the Savory hotel in Des Moines before he entered service a year ago. He was commissioned first lieutenant from civilian life May 5, 1942. He spent six weeks at the officers' training school, technical training command, Miami Beach, Fla., and then went to Randolph Field, Texas, headquarters for army air forces gulf coast training center. Soon he was ordered to Enid, Okla., for special training in the cadet detachment of the Enid army flying school.

Following a five-week period at Enid, Captain Bazata was sent to Coffeyville army field at Coffeyville, Kan., where he served in the capacity of cadet mess supply and tactical officer.

RAINFALL IN 1942 SHORT UNTIL JUNE MAY BE REPEATED

ALL favorable rain signs seem to have failed thus far this spring. Plenty of clouds have paraded through the sky, but only a feeble and unsatisfying spray has resulted. Evidently the atmosphere hereabouts is out of kilter and ought to be taken to government high-brows for diagnosis. Or perhaps poor connections require a plumber. But if we knew the trouble, we would be up against the problem of curing it. Anyway, clouds that sail over are either empty or are unable to function. It is hoped nature will make needed adjustments in time to prevent disaster to fields and gardens. Last year the rainfall was light until June when 5.22 inches were recorded here. We could feel comfortable to see the Logan overflow if that were an avoidable consequence of ample moisture.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO COAL USERS

Please order YOUR coal promptly

IT IS VITAL THAT YOU DO SO. This year, there will be enough coal for homes only if coal mines are kept working at full speed. They must have orders from retailers to do this. With orders, mines can make small but steady deliveries over and above war orders. That takes YOUR orders—for we can't store more than a small part of the coal you will need. Please do not fail to place your order quickly for delivery when mine shipments and our curtailed delivery service permit. There is no better way you can be sure of your next winter's fuel.

SAFEWAY Homemakers' Guide

Canning season just ahead

This year the legion of home canners will be far larger than ever before. And with the canning season just ahead, it's none too soon to start planning now for this food conservation event.

Plan Your Canning Budget

A fair allowance for the average person is 100 quarts of canned fruits and vegetables a year. This figure includes both home and commercially canned foods. Divide that 100 quarts in thirds, one-third for fruits and berries, one-third for tomatoes and tomato juice, and one-third for vegetables with a large portion in leafy and green vegetables, and you have a rough estimate of your family's needs for the year.

Take Inventory

Check your canning equipment first. A large preserving kettle is a "must" for fruits and berries and tomatoes. Unless you have a pressure cooker or can borrow or rent one or share with your neighbor who has one, just forget about canning vegetables, meat, poultry and fish. It is folly to even attempt to can these things in any other way.

Jars, Lids, and Glasses

Assemble all your jars that can be used for sealing. Some mayonnaise and peanut butter jars and other jars can be used if they take the standard size self-sealing lids. Check the mouths of the jars and discard all those with chips, cracks or flaws for such defects make perfect sealing impossible.

Storage Space

Be sure there's enough storage space for your canned goods before you plan too much canning, for if you haven't a place to keep them, don't can—foods will spoil! They should be stored in a dark, cool place. It is not wise to keep them in the kitchen, because of the heat from cooking.

FOR EASY COOKING IN A LIMITED SPACE

If you're cooking on a burner behind a screen or in a very small space, you'll want to read "Cooking in A Kitchenette" in this week's Family Circle. It's free at Safeway—out on Tuesday.

Character Basis For World Hope

Quality of People Will Be Factor to Determine Peace for World.

World unity and peace can be realized in the post-war period providing sufficient people develop character embodying courage, patience, respect for others and true virtue, stated Capt. A. J. Bazata, in addressing Wayne Kiwanians and guests at the program following the dinner meeting for club members, their wives and invited guests Monday evening at Hotel Stratton. "The future will take care of itself if we take care of the present."

"Post-war planning can be overdone," asserted Capt. Bazata, "as we can't intelligently plan for the post-war period when we have such important jobs at hand." Fighting to unconditional surrender means no time for armistice and it embodies complete surrender. "Great dangers will follow surrender; we can't conceive what the problems will be, and we do not even know who will be allies then. It is waste," the officer mentioned, "to work on things that may be so different. The task now is to crush Germany, Japan and Italy and to win the war. If we have time for anything other than this, let us prepare ourselves to meet the jobs that lie ahead."

No One Force Enough.

"No one religion, no one political party and no one economic system can solve the post-war problem. We must prepare ourselves as a people. No one force is great enough to unify peoples and bring peace. We can't even say democracy is the whole answer."

Is the picture hopeless? To this question Capt. Bazata emphatically answered, "No." He has confidence that the good people of the world can be unified to bring peace.

Character Is Basis.

The character of the people will determine this, the officer continued. "People must develop character the hard way. They need to have regard for others. They must possess courage, patience and the other qualities of sterling character." America is superior and will play a leading role not because she is a superior race but because of her geographic situation, her God-given resources and her wonderful ancestry.

A peace treaty between nations is worthless unless the people of those nations possess true character. "The agreement will be only as good as the character of the people."

Each Good Deed Helps.

Capt. Bazata stressed the great importance of developing good character in children. He urged too that the smallest individual contributions to good character are important for they help make up the sum total of character. With each doing his part, good character passes on and becomes a great force to unify good peoples all over the world. Such a force is stronger than any peace treaty. "Let us be truthful, brave and courageous and then we can be sure to safeguard peace."

Introduces Speakers.

H. E. Siman, president of the club, presented Supt. J. W. Lutz, an island who served as toastmaster for the program.

In responding to a toast to the wives and guests, Mr. Siman paid tribute to wives and mothers who have always served as an inspiration to men. In responding, Mrs. Victor West complimented Kiwanians on their ideals which are helping make a better world.

Dr. N. B. Starr introduced officers of the army air unit and their wives. He presented Captain and Mrs. Bazata, Lt. A. R. Shar and Mrs. Starr.

District Officer Here.

F. W. Klusmire, Kiwanis lieutenant governor, who with his wife was here from South Omaha, brought greetings from the district to Kiwanians and their wives and guests. He stressed the service and fellowship of Kiwanis as most helpful. Dreams of home are important to boys on the battle front, and Mr. Klusmire urged that all on the home front see that these dreams of the lads are maintained.

Teed, past president of Kiwanis, gave reminiscences of the club's activities in the past and complimented Mr. Siman on his work.

F. S. Berry responded with a message on the effects of the times on literature, art, etc. Just as Shakespeare's work was influenced by the age of romance, so work of this period will be influenced by the present world conflict. He closed with a story to the effect that stars are kisses which have missed and that as the men in all parts of the world see these they will be reassured in the devotion of loved ones at home.

Test Cooker Gauges.

Anyone desiring the gauge on his pressure cooker tested prior to the canning season, may leave the gauge at the Wayne county extension office at Wayne, states Walter R. Harder, county agent. The gauges should be inspected from the pressure cooker lid. The gauge should be carefully packed to avoid damage in handling. The name and address should be attached to the gauge. It is planned to have all gauges left at the office tested during the following week.

Owners of pressure cookers living in or near Carroll, Winfield or Hoskins, may write the county extension office. If enough requests are received and satisfactory arrangements can be made, the gauges will be tested at these towns on an assigned date.

Dead as the Dodo
ISOLATIONISM is a happy but departed notion, and those worthy individuals who had clung to it, will have to abandon it in the interest of future security. Peace terms of the first world war were handled narrowly and selfishly, and the result was but a temporary cessation of hostilities. We helped contribute to victory, and then brought our men and implements home and held aloof from the doings of victors and vanquished.

Since that first world conflagration, distances have been reduced by improved transportation. Dangers involved in the varying moods of other nations have been enlarged. The fear that we cannot live apart from other countries—indifferent to their maneuverings or threats—has been sharpened.

We must keep our eyes on other nations, and have enough reserve force to command respect.

Stanley Norris, Stanton Zephyr, published at Stanton, Iowa, has been achieving some outstanding honors lately. His newspaper was given first place in community service by the Iowa Press association, and was awarded second rank in general excellence among the state's newspapers published in towns of less than 800 population. It will be remembered by many that Mr. Norris was employed in the news and advertising departments of the late Nebraska Democrat at Wayne some years ago. Wayne friends will be glad to hear of his success.

One advantage accruing to life in the middle west—one may experience any kind of climate without the cost of traveling. As this is written, the atmosphere hereabouts feels like the top of Pike's Peak. Tomorrow we may feel that we have been transported to Florida or southern California. An occasional hot blast from Eighth grade graduation exercises are scheduled for next Saturday in Wayne county, and it is well to note that no point in the educational scale is more important or is reached with greater satisfaction than this eighth grade juncture. If such preparation has been thorough, the foundation has been well laid to the greater ease of later study. Eighth grade graduation is properly an outstanding occasion in the lives of participating students.

The thing free peoples will demand is that each nation adopt the form of government its voters want. The spirit of freedom will prevent one nation from forcing dictation on other nations.

The Industrial Press Service reports many millions in cash savings to the American government through renegotiation of war contracts. Mention is made of returns amounting to $995,100,000 and of renegotiated contracts that have saved $1,583,900,000. A watchful eye on production costs will mean much to future taxpayers.

We would suggest, without expecting a storm of assent, that the two major political parties lay aside prejudices and pick two presidential candidates from the group now mentioned—Willkie, Dewey, Stassen and Bricker—and thus insure satisfactory results without a hard campaign.

The administration in Washington suffers now as a consequence of tolerating strikes in war industries since Pearl Harbor. David Lawrence, columnist, says the president gets confusing advice from subordinates.

People are cautioned not to accept allied victories with over-confidence. Only final and complete triumph should tempt one to let up on his war effort or give vent to long and loud rejoicings.

Surprises happen. We note that Secretary Harold Ickes, hitherto most cussed member of the president's cabinet, has drawn favorable mention from one American publication.

Crime among nations as well as among individuals is eventually overtaken by retributive justice. It is strange that national leaders are not smart enough to know that.

When one boasts of the high degree of personal honor that he lugs into his private or public practice we wonder if he needs to advertise the fact if it is a fact.

Make Applications For New Cookers

Machinery for rationing pressure cookers to town and country applicants has been set up by the Wayne county USDA war board. The aim in rationing, War Board chairman Leo E. Sellon said, is equitably to distribute a limited supply of cookers to get maximum results in proper preservation of home grown foods.

Applications for purchase certificates will be received by the county farm rationing committee. This committee, with headquarters at the AAA office, will consider applications on the basis of recommendations made by a newly-appointed advisory committee of rural and urban women. Members of this committee are Mrs. A. M. Daniels and Mrs. Roy Day of Wayne and Mrs. E. W. Lundahl of Wakefield.

Women who wish to buy pressure cookers may obtain application blanks from dealers or at the AAA office. The application forms are filed with the county farm rationing committee, referred to the advisory committee, and then approved or rejected on the basis of need and utilization. In the event an application is approved, the applicant is notified and must obtain assurance from a dealer that a cooker is available before the purchase certificate is issued.

POLITICS

A special writer for the New York Herald-Tribune recently sounded the political trend in Nebraska and drew the conclusion that in the event of the re-nomination of President Roosevelt—a probability—this state would roll up a bigger republican majority in 1944 than it did in 1940. The new deal's pampering of industrial workers is causing a swelling wave of indignation and disapproval that will be expressed at the polls. As noted by the Herald-Tribune writer, farmers see the need of more practical and less theoretical leadership in Washington. As to possible republican candidates, sentiment is divided among Wendell L. Willkie, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, and Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio. Former Governor Harold E. Stasson of Minnesota, is mentioned as strong in Nebraska, but not a likely contender on account of his recently accepted place in the navy. "One thing you want to remember," one republican was quoted as saying, "is that while this section is against Roosevelt and the new deal, it is not isolationist. We realize we're going to have to play along with the world."

LEGISLATIVE LETTER

LB 277, relating to old age assistance and authorizing an increase in payments from $30.00 to $40.00 per month when and if the funds are available, was passed. Many sick aged are being cared for in nursing homes and an increase was necessary.

LB 204, the so-called Omaha power bill, and LB 286, the bill under which all power districts have been organized, have been put in tentative form. LB 201 would authorize the formation of a people's power district in the metropolitan area comprising the city of Omaha and territory immediately contiguous thereto and so limited. LB 286 amends senate file 310 under which all power districts were organized. Among other changes, severance damages, occasioned when a unit of any public power district withdraws, is clarified but still lodges in the courts the power of determining the question of price and damages. LB 71 provides a twenty-five year limit on electric and gas franchises and five years for contracts by cities of the second class and villages. LB 72 provides that sale, lease or transfer of power plants or distribution systems to a private person, firm or corporation or political subdivision must be approved by at least sixty per cent of the municipality or district. All these power bills are still under consideration and other amendments are likely.

LB 236, increasing the high school tuition from $2.25 to $3.00 per pupil per week was advanced. School costs, like other services, have greatly increased.

The legislature plans to adjourn on or about May 21, 1943. Night and Saturday sessions will be necessary if adjournment is possible as planned.

NUTTINESS

We do not recall anyone who is perfectly balanced unless Edgar Bergen's creation, Mortimore Snard, could be so classified. In this time of frayed nerves, attributable to the war, feverish sensitivities range from medium to high. With keyed up nerves, people are sometimes inclined to reason without the aid of facts. Often their suspicions are aroused on such incomplete evidence that their conclusions are altogether out of line with the truth. Imaginations are so lively that they create much out of little, and they sink into abysmal despair over things that don't happen and are not likely to happen. Human nuttiness is aggravated by equal if not greater nuttiness in Washington where government bureaus betray a bewildering confusion of contradictions. We would doubtless all assay as measurably nutty. If we could help win the war by serving on the home front without too much corroding worry, we would be in better shape to solve current and post-war problems. While striving for victory we should keep plenty of ballast aboard.

Congress

AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

President Edvard Benes of Czechoslovakia will be greeted in Washington on May 14. He will fly here from London. Minister and Mme. Hurban will give him a reception at the legation on the day of arrival. The beautifully engraved invitations indicate that the event will be one of the most colorful ever held in Washington excepting possibly the reception of Madame Chiang Kai-shek.

Edvard Benes was last in Washington in June, 1939. He was not president of any country at that time. He was here as a former president because he had resigned and gone to London after the Munich deal. He was succeeded by a puppet president. He then became head of a Czech national committee which was later recognized by France and England and which later developed into the Czechoslovakia provisional government which was eventually recognized by our own government.

Edvard Benes now comes to Washington as president of a country which is represented by a provisional government in exile with headquarters in London. Like other chiefs of state, Benes will stay a day or two at the White house, then he will be accommodated in Uncle Sam's special guest house, the Blair mansion, located near the White house.

Edvard Benes is a true Czech, born in the southern part of Bohemia. He was educated in Europe and became a professor at the famous Charles university in Prague. He was a close friend of the first Czech president, the late Thomas Masaryk, whose son, Jan Masaryk, is the present Czechoslovak minister of state. He once taught in the University of Chicago and speaks English fluently.

Edvard Benes is reported here to be a close friend of Stalin. Some reports here are to the effect that he wants to divide up the European countries on the basis of race and language. Some day he has definite views on radical changes in the Sudeten-land when the allies win the war. Some say Benes is bringing a message to President Roosevelt from Stalin. His visit follows the recent return here of Minister Hurban from London. The foreign delegations are watching Benes' visit with much interest.

It is said to have very important political significance.

The visit to Washington of President Benes may result in some changes being made in the Czechoslovak legation here. Hurban is a Slovak. Dr. Karel Cerny, the first secretary, is a Czech. The second secretary, Palic, is also a Czech. Reports are that the Slovaks want more representation due to the possible retirement of Minister Hurban who has been ill for a long time. Both Czechs and Slovaks are going to give the Czechoslovak president plenty of work while he is here. They have various problems to iron out in their own diplomatic family.

Library News

Ballade of ye Springe
"What is the library for, my lad? And what do you say, my lass?" "To ketch me a couple of books, my dame. I must read ere I can pass."

"You've spoken no word, my slack-limbed maid, Why this rose beneath your tan? Explain your presence here, I pray."

"I came to ketch me a man."

But school is out the end of this week. We are going to miss the students who come in for information, on radio, the life of Chaucer, vitamins in foods, training in the WAACS, and a picture of Madame Chiang Kai-shek 'all in one evening. Our magazines may stay in better order but we will miss those young people for a few months. They will be back in the fall however, with their never ending list of questions, and we shall welcome them again. During the summer the young children use the library more than any other time in the year. We are looking forward to a pleasant summer in the children's department. Watch this column for announcements concerning story hours which will start the early part of June.

One World, by Wendell Willkie, has definitely been chosen as the third imperative for all Americans. We announced the purchase of this book last week.

This week the new books added were Chicken Every Sunday, by Rosemary Taylor, a homely, warm and amusing story—good escape reading and Alias the Dead, a mystery story by George Cox. Also a purely humorous book entitled Dream Department, by J. S. Perlman. Robert Benchley has said of this book, "Perlman has driven the rest of us to writing articles on economics. In the dementia precox field he is in a class by himself."

Is Only Survivor Of Thirteen Club

Drivers Serve Convenience By Trading Cars Near Montana Landslide.

At St. Joseph, Mo., Benson C. Pinger, is the only remaining member of the 13 club, organized to defy superstition in 1888. Members could only lose their standing by dying or marrying—and Pinger to date has done neither. He'll be 75 on April 13.

Aubrey Knowles, driving south, found a landslide blocking the highway near Missouri. Mont. On the other side a north-bound motorist sat fuming. They traded cars and away they went. Several days later they met in Missoula and re-swapped.

At Tacoma, Wash., Gus Vogeler, real estate dealer, returned home late and saw a man standing in his garden. He shouted but the mysterious figure ignored him. Vogeler hurried into the house to get his shotgun. His wife spared him greater embarrassment—she complimented him on the excellent scarecrow he'd erected.

Leonard Cline, 54, Dallas, Tex., pulled his wife and five children from their stalled car. A Frisco train struck seconds later, carrying the wreckage 200 feet. "Boy, you must have been playing the preacher!" marveled an ambulance driver. Replied Cline: "I am the preacher!"

Washington Post Staff Writer Chandler Brossard walked around the Corcoran art gallery, seeking to see how many art lovers agreed with the judges in giving Henry Mattson's "Rock's" first place in recent biennial competition. Some did and some didn't. Finally, a white-haired man holding an old hat was asked. Said he raising his eyebrows: "I think it is a very good painting!" "Why?" asked the scribe with pencil poised. "Because I painted it."

A cafe at Brockton, Mass., was "padlocked" for observing the law. The bartender had refused to serve a drink to a man who appeared to be under the influence of liquor. The man left, muttering protests. Sometime later the bartender noticed prospective customers turned away after trying the front door. He investigated and found that the frustrated patron had gone to the nearest hardware store, bought a lock, and had securely fastened the cafe door. Police had no trouble in finding the culprit. With the key in his pocket, he was standing outside the cafe—chuckling merrily.

Mrs. M. A. Frost, Houston, Tex., went into her bedroom and screamed for help. "Eyes!" she told her husband who came running. "Eyes staring at me—that window over there!" Frost recognized the opossum eyes. "Meat!" he cried eagerly. Mrs. Frost, calmer now, demurred. "But look," Frost argued, "you don't have to tear out ration points!" Said Mrs. Frost: "If you kill that harmless little thing, I'll leave."

At Walnut Creek, Cal., Clarence Franks set fire to a small puddle of oil near his garage so it wouldn't contaminate a nearby well. It took the fire department to extinguish the resultant roaring blaze. Afterward they learned the puddle was fed copiously by a pipeline leak.

Comdrano John Armbeck, 9, placed a mattress atop a downy town garage in Denver, climbing to the roof of a business building nearby, took a long run and jumped into space. Hurling 30 feet, he missed the mattress, hit the garage roof and caromed off another 15 feet to the alley pavement. Physicians treated him for a slight head injury.

Two girls skipped across the street to police headquarters in Denver. A strange youth, they complained, had grabbed them and kissed them. Police Capt. E. S. Davis singled out a 17-year-old—who wiped sheepishly at lipstick smudges on his face and confessed: "It was such a beautiful spring day and all... I just couldn't resist."

Residents of Mallot, Wash., looked from their windows and gasped. A large cougar, member of the cat family, was padding through yards. A rifle shot brought him down in the center of town.

In Rochester, N. Y., a couple from Lima, Peru, asked a hotel clerk if they could take a taxi to the Mayo clinic. They were told the clinic was in Rochester, Minn., 800 miles away. They took a train.

The maintenance company at Camp Butner, N. C., put up a walkover bridge with this sign: "Vehicles and Cpl. W. A. Dell not allowed on this bridge." The corporal weighs 300 pounds.

Secret service men cautiously opened the door of President Roosevelt's car in Amarillo, Tex. Soldiers hastily presented bayonets. The waiting crowd was tense. Out walked Fala, the president's Scottish dog.

Mrs. Carrie Parsons, fifth grade teacher at Phoenix, Ariz., let her pupils do the one thing she had always longed to do—throw erasers. She drew pictures of Hitler, Hirohito and Mussolini on the blackboard, and for one 10-cent war stamp purchase, a pupil got one shot. It was a terrific idea—until one boy shoved up with $18.75.

A white handkerchief attached to an exploded machinegun shell fluttered down from the clouds. The finder, Paul Martinez, took it to Denver police. Detective Fred Zarnow found a note in the shell—and telephoned a certain girl to make a date for a Lowry Field airman, as it requested.

Venerable Ira Stormes, commander of the Utah department of the Grand Army of the Republic, knows he'll be re-elected at the annual meeting May 13 in Salt Lake City. He's going to nominate and vote for himself. That one ballot will do it, he's the only G.A.R. member in Utah.
