

SIXTY SECOND YEAR

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1943.

NUMBER SIX

Gardeners' Busily in Trying to Solve World's Food Problem—Editors Often Mistakenly Appraised.

Animating one of the city's rich garden plots is a group of local merchants—L. W. McNatt, A. L. Swan and R. L. Larson. Members of this horticultural triumvirate may be found on ground east across the street from Bressler's park, and they remind one of the patient and hopeful geese described in Markham's "Man with the Hoe."

Looking on in an advisory capacity is another merchant, Fred L. Blair, who lives in the neighborhood, and who strains at the bridle in eagerness to work, but can't on account of having been commended at Rochester a few years ago. Some steps distant, however, is Fred's wife's flower garden to which he points with justifiable pride. It is truly replete in rich blossoms and green foliage.

These gardening neophytes believe they have great promise, and they are now taking orders, fulfillment of which is of course conditioned on freedom from ugly elements and success in combating voracious worms, insects and bugs. Another clause in proposed contracts necessarily is a provision against possible relapse of the spirit which would be translated into decreased supply.

Taking a cue from the late Burbank, the boys have blended varieties so skillfully that their cucumbers will come off the vines pickled and ready to eat. Chances for cholera morbus or stomach ache are thus reduced from three to one. Confidence in the neighborhood is expressed in a watermelon patch. As potato bugs threaten, they will be crossed with Paris green. Lightning bugs will maintain a nocturnal patrol.

These gardeners are in high and joyful spirits. Luxuriant grass in the neighborhood waves a welcome as they return to soil, and even frost in the park can over and smile encouragement. Of course, fruition is what counts, and it will come in the autumn if they do not flag, or if nothing comes along to interfere.

The Editorial Staff. A fellow employed to work the newspapers for free service has been quoted as referring to editors as "God's fiends." Many doubtless think that an editor who will not look selfish considerations to rule conventions, is a dumb bird. An editor who will not permit the title of the cash register to be heard above the whisperings of conscience, may be deemed unapologetic and feeble-minded.

It is to be certain he is not neglecting obligations to the public, an editor is often possessed beyond reason in surrendering free space. He frequently makes mistakes in determining the value of contributed publicity, that he would rather be too generous than too stingy.

Sometimes propaganda trespasses on the field of advertising. Often something that should be paid for gets into print free because of the public interest involved. For 10 years the government's numerous bureaus have poured forth volumes of publicity, sometimes of vital interest, but often of little real value. Most editors have used their best judgment in what to publish and what to fling into the waste basket.

The war has necessarily called for increased publicity, and a measure now before congress proposes to appropriate money from the federal treasury for the purpose. Some editors contend that accepting pay for such war effort might lead to forfeiting independence of the press and yielding control of editorial opinions to the administration at Washington. Many editors do not wish to accept monetary reward for use of their columns to promote war activities. They want to do their full share in the march to victory.

On the other hand, it may be pointed out that paid advertising would result in condensed copy and less waste. It would seem more justifiable after the war than during the emergency to charge for publishing Washington's outpourings. Then the fact should be plainly understood by the public.

Asks That Title To Lot Be Clear

O. T. Conger Seeks Action To Rectify Procedure in Tax Foreclosure.

An action to clear the title on property here was filed in district court Tuesday by O. T. Conger with the state of Nebraska, school district No. 17, city of Wayne and W. S. Bressler, trustee, as defendants. R. W. Bartels is attorney for the plaintiff.

The petition states that plaintiff owns the south 100 feet of lot 3, block 2, Britton & Bressler addition to Wayne; that March 29, 1921, the council passed an ordinance providing for grading, draining, gutting, curbing and paving streets in district 4 in which the premises are situated; that the street adjacent to the lot was paved and assessments levied and transmitted to the county treasurer. The action further alleges that title holders of the property then were Jeanette and Clover Payne; that the owners failed to pay paving assessments as they became due; that January 13, 1925, the city started to foreclose on the paving assessments; that the foreclosure action did not include the general taxes; that all the general state, county, school and city taxes other than special assessments against the property were paid at that time and that no such taxes have ever been included in any foreclosure proceedings; and that therefore the state, school and county have no claim against the subject matter of the suit.

A decree was entered and the property sold to Walter S. Bressler, trustee for the city, for $800 on May 23, 1925, and the sale was confirmed, according to the statement. The petition alleges that the procedure that was followed was not in accord with regular legal form. The action claims, therefore, that the proceedings were defective and that a cloud rests on the title. Further, the petition alleges that O. T. Conger bought the lot January 25, 1929, for $516.25 and received a deed for the same; that he is present owner; that he has made valuable improvements on the lot which enhance its value. The action states that the $516.25 which he paid for the property was used for abstract and sale costs and that the balance was turned to the county treasurer to be applied on paving taxes due the city on said lot. Since the city received the entire amount of the sale, the petition asserts that the city is the only party that should claim benefit by reason of the faulty procedure.

Mr. Conger, as plaintiff, asks that the title be quieted in him; that the city be estopped from asserting any interest in or lien upon the property; that the foreclosure proceedings heretofore held be confirmed; that the court enter a finding to the effect that the proceedings applied to the retirement of paving assessment and that any defects in the proceedings be quieted.

Detachment Band Will Give Concert. A band concert by the 349th college training detachment band is set for Thursday, June 17, at 8 p. m., at the willow hotel, weather permitting, under the direction of Prof. John Keith. Everyone is invited.

Plan Special Meeting. Special meeting of Wayne Lodge of A. F. & A. M. will be held Friday, June 18, at 8 p. m. Work will be in the F. C. degree.

Air Unit Is Composite Group. Facts compiled regarding Wayne college training detachment of army air corps students, reveal some interesting information about the youths who are studying here. The type of men training and show that they have come to Wayne from many far distant places. Items from the post follow:

Did you know? That California is our largest represented state. That Utah ranks second. That Idaho ranks third. That Arkansas ranks fourth. That Pennsylvania, Wisconsin and Illinois, are competitive for fifth. That we have men from 22 different states. That we have men from Hawaii. That our men represent 34 colleges. That we have a graduate from Notre Dame who was diving champion four years. That we have a student from Honolulu who is a hula dancer. That we have a former radio announcer. That we have several ski champions. That in our new class we have several men who have been at 10 different stations in six to eight different states, who says "The three degrees give a liberal education."

WEATHER EVER AND ANOTHER SUBJECT FOR SPECULATIVE TALK

THE WEATHER is always a source of anxiety and often worry. It is much talked about, but is beyond human control or regulation. No law can be passed to reform its character or change its course. Early in the spring, people looked into the sky eagerly and dubiously for signs of rain. Comparatively little snow had fallen during the winter, and springtime arrived with dry ground and what seemed threatened drought. March, April and May were short of normal moisture, and June was looked to for renewed supply. The month has provided wet beyond expectations, and has been so slopping wet that cultivating corn has been seriously delayed. People are still looking into the sky, but not in the hope of seeing more but fewer rain clouds. Fear of an early frost will come later. If this autumn interruption is reasonably postponed, we may still grow an abundance.

Rain Is General First Half June

Moisture Comes Practically Every Night Following Sultry Weather.

Weather during the first half of June has been of the variety that makes Nebraska corn grow fast, sunshine and rain being mixed in proportions favorable to plant life. Almost every day the past week has been followed by night rains. The moisture has been general in this area.

Rains in Wayne, as recorded at the State National bank, totaled 2.43 inches the past week and came as follows: June 11, 1.1; June 13, 1.8; June 14, 1.8; June 15, .35. There is an addition to 9 received the first week of the month.

All parts of Wayne and adjacent counties report rains totaling between 2 and 3 inches during the week. The heaviest fell Saturday about midnight. Rains were intermittent all day Sunday, and heavy showers fell again Monday morning and evening. Dark clouds gathered Tuesday night when .25 of an inch of rain fell.

Sharp lightning accompanied the Saturday night storm. Though the flashes seemed to be close everywhere, no major damage was done. A horse was killed by a bolt at Lou Lutt's farm. The lightning struck a tree at Miss Ann Young's place near 7th and Douglas. This blew out fuses in nearby residences. The lightning did no damage to telephone lines in this vicinity.

Most rain soaked well into the ground, though Saturday night's downpour caused Logan creek to overflow its banks and cover the spillway south of Wayne for a few hours Sunday.

The 2.69 inches of rain that fell at Norfolk Sunday was the heaviest there since June 20, 1942. Pilger had 1.45, Stanton 1.01, West Point 1.81, Randolph 1.31, Osmond, 1.3.

Rain Monday night were general over this section and were heavier between Norfolk and Columbus where 3 inches fell. The amount diminished to .26 at Norfolk and .58 at Winsler. In Sholes vicinity the Monday rain was especially heavy.

The Tuesday night rain was heavier to the north. About a third of an inch fell at Carroll, and a downpour is reported north of Wakefield. Only light showers fell at Winside.

Farmers are taking every available opportunity to cultivate corn as rains have delayed this work.

Into the Air. (By George R. Carpenter). Saturday, June 12, 1943, a stiff wind blew rain, clouds and the new flight A into the college training detachment here in Wayne. The new boys, as they are known among the other flight, hail from Kearns, Utah. Although a number of them hold non-com ratings, they are now aviation students and are addressed as "Mister."

As and the wind of the war blew some men in so shall others leave by it. Flight E is watching the last week in Wayne draw to a close. A graduation dinner is being planned for Friday evening. It will be held at the Stratton hotel with a dance afterwards, the music furnished by the "Jive Bombers." The program as planned contains a review of the flight's history, musical selection by ensembles of the W. S. T. C., flashes of humor by the master of ceremonies, Frank Pennington, and short speeches by the officers. The aviation students and partners, the officers and a few special guests will be the personnel to be invited.

This will probably be the only way we of flight E have of thanking the people of this community for the morale building spirit shown to us since the moment we arrived.

You invited us into your homes; you gave us a service center stocked with fun, food and friendship; you sponsored dances, and accomplished countless things to make pleasant and enjoyable our stay here. I am speaking for all of flight "E" when I say "thank you folks." Such a sincere and extensive desire to aid the young soldier is deeply appreciated. It is with regret we leave this step in our training. And as we go onward, the memory of Wayne will remain with us. It was here we took wing into the air. We ever will remember the air with its white house, red band windmill and patch work fields of corn, and alfalfa.

Former Supervisor Will Be Married. Miss Fannie Haylett of Superior, supervisor in Wayne college rural training school a few years ago, and Lawrence Cather will be married the last of June and plan a trip to Mexico.

Corn Dealers Meet. The Pfeister hybrid seed corn company, with Mr. Coy of Waterloo, Neb., in charge, held an 8:00 o'clock dinner last evening at the Hotel Stratton for its salesmen in this part of the state.

Figures Are Given For Summer Period

Enrollment of regular college students, not including the army air forces, in the Wayne State Teachers' college for the summer session has reached 439, according to figures compiled by the office of the registrar. This total, because of a decrease in the number of men in these war times, is slightly below that of last summer, but exceeds what the college officials had anticipated. Of the present enrollment 3 per cent are men. Of last summer's enrollment 12 per cent were men. More girls are attending this summer than last, 425 as against 406. Two large dormitories for girls, Neihardt and File halls, are filled to capacity. A third dormitory, Connell hall, has only seven vacancies.

July Service Call Is to Be Small

Navy, Marines and Army to Get Wayne County Men From June Quota.

Wayne county has a call of about eight for the July 6 selective service call. This is considerably smaller than recent quotas.

Walden Felber is the only one of the group going last week who enters the navy. He leaves Friday for Farragut, Idaho, for basic training. On completion of this, he will be assigned to a special school for further instruction. Mrs. Felber may go to be near her husband later.

Warren Swinney, who was accepted for service June 8, enters the marines. He leaves June 24.

Those who passed tests last week for army training are Harry Roberts, Donald Horn, Charles Scribner, Curtis Nye, Ivan Jensen and Carl Jorgensen. These men will be home two weeks, leaving June 23.

Burrell Hughes passed tests and went directly to Ft. Leavenworth.

Plan Songfests At Willow Bowl

Chamber of Commerce Will Not Sponsor Feature for Fourth of July.

Wayne Ministerial association is arranging for a series of community songfests for Sunday nights through July. The first of these programs will be given Sunday, July 4, at the college willow bowl. It is hoped that the entire community will join in these feasts of song and good fellowship. The fine hymns of the church as well as the best of the popular songs will be used. These songfests will be distinctively feasts of song. Everybody will be asked to sing. "America must sing."

The Chamber of Commerce directors, meeting Monday evening, voted to cooperate with the ministerial group in the project and will have a committee to assist.

Chamber of Commerce directors, with Ted Foust, activities chairman, and Dr. L. F. Perry, entertainment chairman, also present, voted against any special observance on the Fourth.

It was reported that the dances held Saturday evenings every other week for army air students are very popular. The one last Saturday was regarded as a success.

The county fair was discussed briefly, and it was announced that plans are to have a 4-H show similar to the one last season.

Band to Present Concert at Park

Wayne municipal band, directed by A. J. Atkins, presents its weekly concert Friday evening at 8 in Bressler park. The program this week will include the following: Washington Post March, Sousa; Field of Honor March, McCaughey; Stout Hearted Men, from The New Moon, by Sigmund Romberg; Pursuit Squadron, march, King; Ruses of Memory, waltz, Fred Jewell; Hearts of Oak, march, McCaughey; Ave Maria, Bach-Gounod; I've Heard That Song Before, popular, Julie Styne; Songs from the Old Folks, selection, M. L. Lake; Thunderer, march, Sousa; Star Spangled Banner, Scot Key.

Board in Session To Equalize Taxes

Wayne county board began its session as a board of equalization Tuesday and will continue three days or longer. Tax levies will be made in August.

Is ill in Omaha. M. L. Ringer went to Omaha Saturday on account of the illness of his mother, Mrs. C. J. Ringer, and he has been with her this week. Mrs. Ringer is 83 years old.

To Funeral in Dakota. Mrs. Dan Sherry and children and Mrs. Joe Haberer went to Highmore, S. D., Friday to attend the funeral of an uncle Sunday. They plan to return the last of this week or the first of next.

Lower Species Cooperate Well

Dr. S. B. Shively Sees That Man Can Learn Lessons From Lower Life.

Though man has the highest mentality of living species, animals and plants can teach him something in the way of cooperation, stated Dr. S. B. Shively in addressing Wayne Kiwanians Monday noon. Man is the only specimen having the cerebral cortex which develops high mentality but by often fails to get along with others as well as some animals and plants not having this superior mentality.

The speaker told of the oyster which is born without eyes or ears but has keen sense of touch. Enemies try to prey on the oyster because of his deficiencies in sight and hearing. But with each oyster is a tiny crab which possesses big eyes. When this crab sees an enemy approaching, it pinches the oyster so that it will escape. The oyster uses the crab's eyes and in return the oyster allows the crab to feed upon it, illustrating cooperation of animals of a low order.

The crocodile and alligator also cooperate with the crocodile bird. These animals get food from the mud but they have no tongues so they can't shove out of their mouths the foreign matter and food that gets into their teeth. They go to the shore and open their mouths while the bird picks their teeth and removes other things they do not want. This is another example of cooperation, for the bird gets its living for helping the mammals.

Still another example was cited. The rhinoceros has poor eyesight and hearing. The rhinoceros bird helps the animal by setting up a clatter when enemies approach. In return the bird feeds on grubs that live in the folds of the animal's hide. This is another example of mutual benefit.

In the plant kingdom, stated Dr. Shively, one finds the green algae and the white fungi living together on trees. The green algae furnishes the food and the white fungi the moisture. Each helps the other. The lichens are usually on the north sides of ash trees.

The speaker advised man's consideration of the wisdom shown by these animals and plants in figuring out workable plans of living together for mutual benefit.

B. W. Wright introduced Dr. Shively. Jean Boyd, county treasurer, was voted to membership in the club.

It was decided to have lunches instead of dinners at the noon meetings during July and August.

Gas Applications Will Be Available

Original applications to replace gasoline A ration books will be available after June 22. These applications can be gotten from any service station. New A ration books will not be issued until about July 25.

Situation Turns to Favor Allies

The situation in the south Pacific is rapidly turning to favor the allies, according to Captain Douglas Canning, who arrived Sunday from that theatre of the war to spend an 18-day furlough with his parents, the W. P. Cannings. But it is his belief that the Japs will be able to hold out longer than the European axis. After his furlough, he will train pilots in combat tactics at some air field in the United States.

Capt. Canning spent 17 months to the day in the Pacific. He took part in quite a number of the major battles, but he never was injured in combat. He received a fox hole wound and has suffered four attacks of malaria, only one being serious enough to warrant his spending some time in a hospital.

On his return the young man flew from New Caledonia to Hawaii and from that place he took a troop transport to San Francisco, arriving there last Saturday. He then came by plane to Omaha where his parents met him. It took about eight days to come from Hawaii to California.

Active Against Japs. The Wayne youth shot down one Japanese Zero, helped sink one Jap transport, took part in a lot of strating of Jap bases and Jap lines at Guadalcanal and participated in dive bombing activities.

FOR WEEK WAYNE'S BUSINESS DISTRICT FLEW FLAGS DAILY

CULMINATING on Flag day which was Monday, June 14, the Stars and Stripes were unfurled in Wayne's downtown district every day for a week. Lines of red, white and blue were thrilling. What the flag proclaims—human freedom—was thus made impressive. In battle zones—land or sea—the national colors are most sharply understood and most deeply loved. They fire devotion to the country's liberty for which armed forces are fighting. As they stir emotions, they arouse the winning determination, and spur men on to precious victory. The spirit of the flag is the spirit of democracy, and wherever it waves, people think of fortifying human rights.

Bituminous Mat Contract Is Let

Rebuilding Road South Is Among Largest Projects In June Program.

The Yant Construction company of Omaha, was low bidder on one of the largest road improvement projects contracted by the state highway department at Lincoln, Thursday, this being the 13.9 miles of bituminous mat surfacing for highway No. 15 from Wayne south to the pavement east of Pilger. The figure was $135,927.

The surfacing on this highway, laid some years ago, has worn out. The state department had called for bids on the project a couple times recently but did not get a price until this time.

The plan is to gravel a detour a mile east of Wayne to Alton, for use during rebuilding of No. 15. J. N. Einung, Wayne, was low bidder on regrading for No. 51, the bid being $2,431. This call for gravel resurfacing of the old highway between Winsler and the oil mat eight miles south of Wayne.

New Class Comes For Air Training

Many Are Former Members Of Armed Forces Now Going to Air Corps.

A new class of students arrived at the college training detachment last Saturday to begin preparation for pilot training. This group will be known as class A. In it are many former members of the armed forces who have shown their desire and eligibility to become members of the air corps.

Prospects Bright For Power District

Prospects for Wayne county rural public power district are very promising if the record it made last year is any indication. The annual audit of the district for 1942 revealed that it had made a profit of $4,619.84 after depreciation and all other expenses had been deducted. This showed an increase of $5,107.52 over the net revenue in 1941. To date the district has made advance payments on its long-term debt of $22,000. Building of new services was greatly restricted during the year so there were only 53 new consumers connected. However, the revenue from the sale of electrical energy increased $5,905.91 over the amount sold in 1941 or a total gross operating revenue of $35,620.42 for 1942.

Young Folks Wed At Naval Academy

Miss Frances Denesia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Denesia of Carroll, and Ensign Leland E. Preston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Preston of Wayne, were married Thursday morning at 11 in St. Andrew's chapel, United States naval academy, Annapolis, Md.

Rev. Father Joseph Hallissey performed the double ring ceremony. The flower decorations were a gift of the Naval Officers' Wives association for the June week weddings in the chapel.

The bride was given in marriage by James E. Carroll, friend of the bride. She was gowned in white, the bodice of her dress made of lace and the skirt of layers of marquisette, net and satin. The veil which fell to the tip of the train of the gown was trimmed in matching lace and was held in place with a coronet of seed pearls. She wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Miss Norma Webb of Wichita, Kan., served as maid of honor and wore a floor-length gown of blue marquisette. The bridesmaids, Miss Mary Sharer and Miss Marie Kirwan, both of Wayne, wore similar gowns of peach marquisette. Each carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and blue delphiniums tied with matching ribbons.

Ensign Robert Keller attended the bridegroom. Midshipmen Ray Larson, formerly of Wayne, and Nels Gundersen, 2nd Lt. Murray Beard, U.S.M.C., and Ensign John Hartley, schoolmates of the bridegroom, served as ushers.

"Eternal Father," "Navy Blue and Gold" and "Ave Maria," played by Prof. Crosley, furnished the musical background for the ceremony. 2nd Lt. James Judy, U. S. M. C., roommate of the bridegroom since their entrance to the academy, sang "Because."

A reception was held immediately after the service at the apartment which the bride and Miss Webb have occupied the past year. The three-tier wedding cake, decorated with miniature navy officer and wife and anchors, was cut with a sword by the bride, assisted by the bridegroom.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Harry Denesia, Mr. and Mrs. Russell B. Preston, parents of the young couple, Miss Dorothy Hook of Washington, D. C., Miss Kathryn Kirwan of Wayne, and Mrs. Elsie Keller of Washington, D. C.

Ensign Preston attended Beiden and Wayne city public schools. After being graduated from high school in Wayne, he attended Wayne State Teachers college for two years. Following completion of the three-year course at United States naval academy, Annapolis, Md., he received his commission Wednesday morning as ensign, U. S. N. Secretary of Navy Frank Knox gave the sermon to the graduating class.

The bride was graduated from Wayne Prep, attended Wayne State Teachers college for two years and taught one year in Newcastle, Neb. She was employed in the administration building of the U. S. naval academy since she went east a year ago.

The young couple visited in Washington, D. C., until Friday evening when they joined Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Preston and Mrs. Denesia enroute for Wayne. Mrs. Denesia stayed over at Logansport, Ind., to visit Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collins and family and to join Miss Irene Collins who will return to Wayne after having spent several months there. Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Preston and Ensign and Mrs. L. E. Preston visited Pvt. Quentin Preston, who is an aviation cadet at Coo college, Cedar Rapids, Ia., arriving here Sunday. After visiting in their parental homes for two weeks, the young couple will leave for Jacksonville, Fla., where Ensign Preston will have 10 weeks' training in flight tactics.

Are Leaving Wayne. Mrs. E. S. Blair plans to leave Wayne within a few days after living in the same home here for 49 years and after serving as librarian for 26 years. Mrs. Blair first goes to Heron Lake, Minn., to be with her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Hawkins, and this fall she will go to Sterling, Colo., to visit her other daughter, Mrs. G. F. Hodgson. Mrs. Jessie Hale, sister of Mrs. Blair, who has been here with her, plans to go to Fort Dodge, Ia.

Mrs. Martin Holmberg of Wakefield, who underwent a major operation Friday in Sioux City, is doing nicely.

up of Indians, natives and whites. The officer says one here cannot realize the filth of some Indians. The natives of that place have bushy, black hair which stands straight up from the head. The men wear skirts and the women wear "Mother Hubbards," a long shapeless dress which covers them from neck to feet. He says Indians engage in silver and metal and tortoise shell work and raise rice.

Sess Bellows Base. Capt. Canning was privileged to see a native Fiji religious dance, which occurs but once a year. The natives adorn themselves with silver sticks through their lips and rings through their noses. Then they walk through a 30-foot pit of fire. The older natives seem to experience little or no pain, but the younger ones' feet are more tender.

At another time the officer participated in the "tra-la-la," a native dance and festival, given by the island chief on this occasion to welcome the American pilots to the island of Fiji. The guests were seated in a circle on the floor. The son of the chief then brought out a ceremonial bowl of "cava," a drink made from roots by the women by chewing them, spitting the substance out, drying it and then running water over it. A portion is placed in a coconut shell and the son bows before each individual in the circle, claps his hands twice and when the guest responds with similar claps he is rewarded with a shell of cava. If one refuses the drink the chief is highly insulted. The drink is not intoxicating but deadening. The natives will drink until they cannot move any portion of the body. It does not seem to affect the brain. Following the drink the natives youths perform a dance.

Capt. Canning remarked that Fiji girls are quite modern. They have adopted a custom to which American girls could well give a second thought, that of wearing formal dress every evening. It seems the ultimate aim of each of these girls is to marry an American pilot and come to the United States to live. He went on to say that the pilots tend to marry more Australian girls than any other native island inhabitants in the Pacific region.

Are Well Educated. Some well-educated natives are at Fiji, some having degrees from Oxford college, England. These men serve in government positions and administer for the natives. One native has the English title of "sir." The natives live in grass shacks and have bamboo mats on the floor. All island inhabitants speak a kind of English called "pidgen." They use the English system of government. Many islanders drive "Batams," 10-horse power cars made in England.

During the 17 months the youth spent in the south Pacific he saw Capt. Dale Evertson, who was formerly employed in the Kirkman drug store, and S. Sgt. Al. Berthelson, student at Wayne college. Sgt. Berthelson was ready to leave for the United States to take air corps training.

Mrs. Beverly Canning, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Henry Moeding at Denver, plans to return next week.

Speaks at College About Pearl Harbor

Robert Walline of Ontario, Cal., aviation student with Wayne college training detachment, spoke at college convocation Wednesday on the topic, "Remember Pearl Harbor." He told his experiences there at the time of the Jap attack December 7, 1941.

The young man, introduced by Prof. G. W. Coste-Frisan, said he had enrolled in the previous September in the University of Hawaii at Honolulu and was a member of the R.O.T.C. unit. Noises which students thought were from practicing wakened them that fateful morning. Walline told of soon seeing two buildings on the beach go up in splinters and a destroyer attacked by three dive bombers. He also saw a Jap submarine sunk by firing of heavy guns from the deck of an American cruiser which was leaving the harbor led by a destroyer.

R. O. T. C. men at once began helping the army. The youth was first detailed as a runner for the families in places of safety. After this work was done, he was placed on guard duty and was equipped over six other guards. At last the group guarded university buildings. Later Walline was assigned to help guard a Jap fishing boat docking place. A couple of days afterward he was among the guards who watched 200 Japs on a nearby island.

As soon as possible the student returned to California and enlisted for service.

Convocation next Wednesday will be at 10 o'clock. Prof. K. W. Parke will tell what the average citizen should know about first aid.

SAFeway

Homemakers' Guide

How to Save Time and Money too
Safeway advertised prices are good from Tuesday through Saturday each week. You can avoid tiresome Saturday shopping and save money too by shopping at Safeway early in the week.

Buy One More Vegetable Fresh Every Day And Help Make Your Canned Goods Ration Go Farther

Here's one wartime request everybody can cheer over because this means it's patriotic to buy vegetables fresh... with crispness, sweet flavor and tenderness all in them. More. The vegetable which is fresh not only tastes better, but it is in vitamin values, too. That's why Safeway rushes produce straight in from the farm... cutting out needless delays and in-between costs, thus giving you the fresh produce at the lowest price because their system of pricing produce by the pound saves you money in wasted, wilted leftovers. Remember at Safeway you pay only for what you can use today... while it's at its best.

Around the table with a pound of meat

It's quite a trick to make a pound of meat go all around the table and satisfy all the appetites. The secret is to use the meat in tiny pieces, so that the flavor is distributed. Nutritionally, it's sound practice and one we can well afford to adopt these days.

CHOP SUEY—Cut meat into tiny pieces, brown in hot fat, add sliced celery, onions, shredded cabbage (in lieu of bean sprouts), and seasonings to taste. Add a little water, cover pan and simmer for 15 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Thicken the broth slightly with flour or cornstarch. Serve over steaming, fluffy rice.

RUSSIAN MEAT BALLS—Mix together a pound of ground meat, 4 or 5 boiled, chopped potatoes, 1 grated onion, and salt and pepper. Form into small balls and brown in hot fat. Add a little milk or water, cover pan and simmer gently for 15 minutes. Thicken pan liquor with flour and serve over meat balls.

NOODLE DELIGHT—Saute small pieces of meat and mix with cooked noodles, cooked green beans or okra, and wedges of fresh tomato. Pour in greased casserole and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) for 15 minutes or until heated through and flavors are blended.

MEAT PIE—Dice a pound of meat and prepare as for soup, using several vegetables cut in uniform pieces. Thicken gravy slightly and pour into greased casserole. Cover top with pastry or with mashed potato or corn-meal crust. Bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) for 20 minutes or until well browned.

Post-War Planning

A CONFERENCE in Omaha devoted to post-war planning estimated that present wartime production would have to be maintained in peacetime to satisfy enlarged civilian demands. Private enterprise can meet peacetime needs as it has met wartime needs. Independent industry which is still attacked and seriously threatened, is still the main source of supply and the chief bulwark of employment.

Said Arthur U. Uppgren, vice president and economist of the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis in the course of addressing the Omaha conference:

"In the immediate post-war years by far the major part of goods the American people will want to have are produced by private industry.

"This we all understand now, even though we may have been confused about it a decade ago. In that decade total activity and employment had fallen so low that proposed expansion of public works was temporarily believed to be the catalyst that would bring about higher production and fuller employment.

"We now know, however, that to maintain post-war high levels of production all groups in the nation must plan for high levels of production, and, measured in dollars, by far the greatest amount of production must be that of business enterprise."

Fathers' Day Next Sunday

FATHERS' day next Sunday gives the male head of the household his innings. Most fathers try hard to serve well their families and their country and to show due reverence for their God. They usually deserve more credit than they receive. A father is expected to put up a strong front even if he is conscious of much frailty behind it. He is expected to hew out a livelihood for dependents often from tough circumstances, the while breathing hope. He is looked to for judgment, though he frequently falls down in exercising it. As he grows older he lays less claim to infallibility, and he is more of a disappointment to himself than to anyone else. He is sincere, and he endeavors to merit not alone the love of his family, but the respect of his neighbors. He may falter, but he seldom gives up. He hopes to build a record that will entitle him to kindly memories. He is regardful not of Fathers' day, but of every day of the year.

As to the Fourth

IT APPEARS that the promotion committee of the Chamber of Commerce decided last week to move in the direction of a Fourth of July celebration—ascertaining possibilities for employing suitable talent. It seems no possibilities developed. Then some one suggested a huge picnic with games, dancing, contests, music and speech-making with aviation cadets as guests. Some one, evidently forgetting that the Fourth is an outstandingly patriotic occasion, suggested that observing the day might be out of harmony with the war effort. Another suggested that nothing could be more in accord with it. A rather valid reason was offered on the ground

Governor Writes

IN AN article to the Lincoln Journal, Governor Griswold warns republican party that in succeeding the new deal, it must adopt broad-gauged policies and accept new and enlarged responsibilities! He says government leaders can cooperate in arranging permanent peace as they have cooperated in prosecuting and winning the war. He favors a sound, middle course. As to the farm business, he says:

"Are we to risk the existence of a farm program by offering the farmer admission only to the right to an individual voice in deciding how to till his soil? The way is clear to keep the purpose and still reverse the control reverse it so that it springs from the farm to Washington instead of from Washington to the farm."

The anti-strike measure, approved by the house and senate, and sent on to the president for action, provides fines and imprisonment for instigating work stoppage in government-operated plants. Many would be better satisfied if the proposed law included all groups working on government contracts. The president has ten days in which to sign or veto the bill or let it become a law without his signature. Since passage of the measure, labor union leaders have been bringing pressure to bear on the president to persuade him to use his veto powers.

Ex-President Hoover probably understands the world's food problems better than any other living man, and still at a time when surpassing ability is most needed, he is coldly kept outside the circle of Washington advisers. Hoover was food administrator in World War No. 1, and he has since led movements to feed hungry people. More men like Hoover in places of authority would hasten solution of many pressing problems.

We notice some communities are becoming active in plans to help solve the farm labor problem which will become more acute during the harvest season. We understand the county agent's office leads in getting farmers and helpers together. Also Wayne's implement dealers who have many farm contacts, may be depended on to help satisfy demands for labor.

The New York Times is quoted as referring to the appointment of B. M. McNally as United States attorney for the southern district of New York as a move in the direction of a fourth term. McNally is said to be a personal friend of Tammany's leaders. Thus, too much politics in a national crisis intensifies the urge for early action to limit the presidential tenure.

Westbrook Pegler, columnist, does not contribute a daily installment, but when he does contribute, he has plenty to say, and he hits the nail squarely on the head. He does not mince words nor leave any doubt as to what he means, going directly to his subject which usually has to do with radical labor leaders and their raw imposition on the American way of life.

W. L. Heminway, president of the American Bankers association, advocates return to the gold standard. We recall that on certain infrequent occasions when we happen to have had gold money in our possession, we felt we really had something. It has an appeal quite above usually begrimed greenbacks.

Live stock growers, meeting recently, voiced opposition to government subsidies. They see no good reason for them, especially at this time when the public treasury is otherwise heavily burdened.

Some one ventures the opinion that Vice President Henry Wallace's popularity is slipping. We are surprised to learn his popularity had been high enough to slip.

FREEDOMS.

Considering the "four freedoms," a writer accepts two of them, freedom of speech and freedom of religion as belonging to fundamentals inherent in our system of government, but does question stressing freedom from fear and want which two urges prompted development of the United States and made it into the strongest nation in the world. Fear and want prodded the pioneers to venture and achieve. Little work and fat incomes, suggested as government guarantees by Washington bureaucrats, would weaken the human fiber and lead to national decay. Free enterprise has been vital in the past and it will be indispensable to future growth and security. "The only true American freedom is the freedom of individual enterprise, the only thing that has made it what it is," says the writer. "The freedom to work a little harder than your neighbor and have a better house, to climb up out of a rut, to rise if you work to achieve that rise. Government can give it—honestly." The Central City Nonpareil comments in essence that Utopia is fashioned from earnest toil. Any worthy accomplishment is the product of an unceasing quest fortified by energy and sweat.

CHILDREN.

An Omaha district judge, commenting on a proposed curfew ordinance to check child delinquency, suggests that parents be required to be in their homes at 9:30 in order to be on hand to meet their children on their arrival at 10. It is plain that the exigencies of war tend to upset regular habits, and thus the need for more legal restraints and for more warnings from press, pulpit and school. Young children are often carelessly allowed liberties that would not be granted in any other times, and they are the ones most in need of protection. They are the ones whose immature judgment most needs to be directed by older heads and by the safeguards of the law. And parents are directly responsible. To them children must look for counsel and guidance, and examples must be worthy of respect and confidence.

Show Marionettes At College Soon

The famous Tatterman marionettes, under the personal direction of their producer, William Ireland Duncan, will bring to Wayne Teachers college auditorium next Thursday evening at 8 o'clock a highly colorful tale of Indian folk lore, "The Legend of the Lightning." This story originating with the vigorous, ageless Pueblo peoples tells of the Thunder-God, eternally chasing the leaping silver flame, and of the love of the young brave, Sun-Arrow, for the beautiful daughter of the Moon. Ideally suited to marionette production, the action of "The Legend of the Lightning" centers about the ancient Sky City, Acoma, and the surrounding picturesque desert of central New Mexico.

One of the most unique plays ever offered by the Tatterman marionettes in their 20 years of providing fine entertainment for American audiences, this production portrays accurately Pueblo customs, ceremonies and modes of living. It will provide a delightful evening.

down 14 per cent from May and stock and poultry production figures at a high level. Total production of livestock products is materially greater than during a similar period in 1942. Pork production is about 16 per cent above last year. Egg production the first of this year was 13 per cent above a year ago. Milk production the first quarter of 1943 was one per cent above last, but April and May both showed small drops as compared with 1942 because of hot weather.

A retail price roll-back averaging 10 per cent will become effective on June 21 for all meats except cured and processed pork. Retail prices of the latter will be scaled back, but not until July 5. Subsidies for slaughterers, packers and wholesalers permit the action to be taken without imposing its effects on the farm producers, according to OPA.

Buyers of butterfat will be expected to continue to pay going prices to farmers because the new roll-back of 10 per cent in the retail price of butter will be made up to creameries by a subsidy. The roll-back took effect June 10.

On the average, consumers now pay $1.40 for food which cost $1.00 in the years 1935-39.

FARM WAR NEWS

From AAA Office

Floods, cold and hail have pushed the 1943 crop production outlook downward. The June crop report shows prospects lower than a month ago. While reasonably good weather from now on should permit a crop acreage nearly as large as was harvested in 1942—a record-smashing year—yields as high as those of 1942 are no longer within reach. Winter wheat production is estimated at 502 million bushels compared with 703 million in 1942. The total wheat crop to be harvested is estimated at 731 million bushels, 150 million less than the average for the last five years. About 15 million acres of corn are yet to be planted.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy L. Thompson of West Point, last week Tuesday received official word from the war department that their only son, 1st Lt. Walter B. Thompson, 23, was killed in action May 12 in the southwest Pacific theatre of war. He had previously been reported missing. Mother of Youth Provides Big Cake For Air Students

Robert Weber, one of the Wayne air crew students, had a birthday Friday, but he didn't think much about it. His mother, Mrs. Robert Weber, sr., at Santa Monica, Cal., remembered how her son liked birthday cake. As he is a typical American youth, she knew the other boys in his company probably liked birthday cake just as well.

So the California mother contacted the Wayne Bakery men and had them bake a huge birthday cake—one that would cut 60 pieces the way boys like them cut. It was to be frosted in white and decorated in green, pink and yellow with "Happy Birthday Bobby" spread across the center.

Friday noon the cake was delivered and it wasn't only Mrs. Weber's son who was happy she remembered the occasion in this way.

BACKING HIM UP

The mighty industries of the Midwest are turning out the equipment of war in great quantities . . . so that our men at the front will have an abundance of weapons and munitions with which to fight. Many of these industries use Natural Gas, because it provides the flexible, controlled type of heating required for numerous industrial processes. When you light your gas range, or use your gas water heater or gas furnace . . . remember that this same Natural Gas fuel is backing up the soldiers at the fighting front, by making it possible to make better guns and munitions MORE QUICKLY!

New Journalistic Style Is To Remove Capitals from Axis Leader Names.

Pvt. Sam Buchieri stationed at the Aberdeen, Md., proving grounds, wrote to his parents at Hartford, Conn., that a captured Italian truck had been brought there with the names of several American soldiers written on it. Among the autographs he found that of his brother, Cpl. Pat Buchieri who is serving in Africa.

A new wrinkle in journalistic style was introduced when G. W. Young, director of Ohio Wesleyan university journalism classes, instructed his students not to capitalize the names of Hitler, Mussolini or Tojo in news stories.

She launched him and he paddled toward the other ducks. Miss Wood started for her car, a half-block away, and as she opened the car door Alex flew in and settled himself on the seat. It seems that

A motorist stopped to pick flowers beside a highway near Wooster, Mass. OPA inspectors investigated to determine whether he was pleasure driving and said they found that the flowers he was picking were protected by law. He had no registration plate for the automobile, no driving license, no ration sticker for his windshield, no federal auto use stamp, no tire inspection sticker, no safety inspection sticker and no gasoline ration book—but that he had plenty of gasoline in the tank.

Fred Akers strolling past a residence at Pennington Gap, Va., looked skyward and saw an 18-month-old child hurtling from a second-story roof porch toward the earth and concrete. An Albany, N. Y., fireman canvassing for fire volunteers in Albany's defense effort rang a doorbell just before a trial blackout. Even the immediately ensuing blackout hardly obliterated his flushed face—it was the home of City Fire Chief Michael J. Fleming.

Topeka, Kan., city detectives nearly solved that old puzzle about what a woman carries in her pocketbook. One feminine victim of burglars listed: One dollar in change, a driver's license, some envelopes—and other articles ladies carry in their pocketbooks.

Library News

"A little gate my book can be That leads to fields of minstrelsy And though you think I sit at home, Afar in foreign lands I roam."

This is United Nations week. We are all realizing that it is our duty to know more about other countries. Since we cannot travel to get this information, reading must be our substitute. With gas being more severely rationed all the time we will have to stay at home and let our minds do the wandering. To learn more about Japan the book, "Year of the Wild Boar," is excellent reading. If you want to learn about Russia, Maurice Hindous has a new book called "Mother Russia." For South America try "A Latin American Speaks," by Quintanilla, and for China, "The Soong Sisters," by Emily Hahn, and "This Is Our China," by Manding Chiang Kai-shek. "Headhunting in the Solomon Islands" is an excellent travel book and not as bloodthirsty as the title sounds. Why not go around the world this summer with books?

The children who attend the Friday story hour are doing that very thing. Their goal for the summer is 10 books a month and one-third of their reading is to be books about children of other lands.

June 14 was Flag day so it seems appropriate to mention a new book on our library shelves. The title is "The Flag of the United States," written by M. M. Quaife. This is a complete story of the flag of our country. The illustrations are in color and a good deal of history is supplied in telling the development of our flag.

Next Tuesday afternoon there will be a movie shown in the children's room at the library at 3:30 in the afternoon. We expect all of the regular attendants and their friends to be there.
