Donald D. Kirsch Is Polio Victim

Former Resident of Wayne Is Stricken Suddenly And Passes Sunday.

Donald Kirsch, 11, of Battle Creek, former resident of Wayne and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Tietgen of Wayne, died Sunday afternoon at 2 in a Norfolk hospital where he was taken after being stricken suddenly ill with poliomyelitis.

The lad had attended Madison county fair Thursday when he led one of his three prize-winning calves in the 4-H parade. Later Thursday the youth felt tired and lay down in the family car to rest. His parents took him to a doctor who found nothing unusual wrong and advised that he rest. After the family reached home, Donald felt no better so another doctor was consulted. He too saw no unusual symptoms. The lad's condition became serious Saturday and a specialist was called. Donald was moved to Norfolk where it was (Continued on Page Two)

Classes Will Be Organized To Offer Nursing Courses

Wayne, Winside and Carroll Will Have Instruction For Twelve Weeks.

Women of Wayne, Winside and Carroll in a recent canvass evidenced interest in the formation of home nursing classes and such classes will be started in each of the three towns next week. A local trained nurse will act as instructor. Those completing the 12-week course will be given a certificate by the Red Cross.

The first class in Wayne will be held Tuesday evening, September 14, from 7 until 9, in the Red Cross rooms. Each person enrolling in the course will pay $1 to cover the cost of the text. The class in Wayne will be held each Tuesday evening.

The class in Winside will be held in the city auditorium each Wednesday evening, beginning September 15, at 8 o'clock. Carroll has not yet chosen an evening for the class. The same instructor will lead the group in the three towns. Hoskins did not respond so it is thought interest there did not warrant formation of a class at this time.

Mr. Frank Morgan is Wayne chairman of home nursing. Mrs. E. E. Gormley is Winside chairman and Mrs. Ed. Trautwein is Carroll chairman. Mrs. J. R. Johnson of Wayne is county home nursing chairman.

DEMAND FOR WAYNE HOMES TO RENT IS ON THE INCREASE

WAYNE needs more rentable houses. Modern dwellings of average-family size are in sharp demand, and the rent toll would seem amply remunerative. Growing scarcity suggests converting some big vacant houses into apartments. These reminders of a time when bulk was considered fashionable, could now be remodeled to accommodate many families. People no longer want size. They want quarters small enough to manage easily and conveniently. The college is one strong attraction to newcomers. Churches and a live trade district add to school advantages. But whatever the magnet, people are drawn here in increased numbers, and they must have satisfactory living quarters. More apartments and more single houses to rent would help Wayne grow.

Enrollment Good In Wayne School

Freshman Class Estimated As Largest in History For City High.

Wayne city school term began Monday with 237 students enrolled in high school and 228 in kindergarten and the eight grades. School was not held Monday afternoon so that teachers could get their work arranged. Classes began Tuesday.

High school students number about eight more than those registered on the first day of school a year ago. Grade school enrollment is about 11 pupils less than the total a year ago. The high school freshman class is thought to be the largest in the history of the school.

Enrollment in the lower division includes 25 students in the 8th grade, 32 in 7th, 22 in 6th, 25 in 5th, 23 in 4th, 28 in 3rd, 28 in 2nd, 19 in 1st and 26 in kindergarten.

Children in kindergarten are Marvin Jensen, Billy Finn, Charles Ahlvers, Freddy Proett, Billy Kern, Dick George, Coralyn Price, Dick Reese, Kenneth Palmer, Don Wightman, Marion Jo Roberts, Warren Jeffrey, Bob Vogel, Dick Jorgensen, Sandra Sue Haas, Rita Rae Paden, Judy Meyers, Charles Mellor, Larry Hofeldt, Sandra Tietfort, JoAnn Murphy, Jerry Luendorf, Jackie Forth, Henry Fox, Bobby Pie, Sharon Lou Larson.

The music department promises great activity this term. Plans have been made for a band, orchestra, chorus, boys' and girls' glee clubs. Many boys are reporting each day for football practice. The first game of the season is scheduled for September 17 with Pierco. The game will be played at Wayne.

Consider Holiday Activities in City

Plans for pre-Christmas activities in Wayne were considered Wednesday evening by the Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting.

Three Accepted From This County

Three Wayne county men who went to Fort Crook last Thursday were accepted. Val Joseph Darling goes into the coast guard. Robert Franklin Swanson into the navy and Lloyd Clair Texley into the army. They have 21 days at home before entering training.

Opinion Opposes Procedure Used

Lot Sale Plan Followed by City Is Criticized in Brief Filed Here.

Another action in a series involving the residence lot bought by Don Wightman from the city of Wayne in October, 1938, reached a climax this week when District Judge F. L. Spear of Fremont, decided that the city cannot pay the tax lien and perfect the title. The court believes that the equities, except for the fact that Wightman went ahead with building in face of the suit pending in district court, are in favor of Wightman. But, in the opinion of Judge Spear, "no warranties of title can be legally made and no action can be brought to compel the performance of the warranties."

The court expressed the judgment that Wightman had paid an ample price for the lot and detected no disposition on the part of Wightman or the city to score undue advantage. But the court found proceedings conveying the title to the clerk and then to the city and finally to Wightman contrary to regular legal practice, though all parties thereto acted in evident good faith. The court can't require the city to perform contrary to statutes, so the judge ruled that the tax lien must be held intact.

Court action has hovered over the Wightman property since he bought it from the city in 1938. The tax lien amounts to $2,713.76 with interest. This the city would, in justice to all, like to wipe out but can't according to the court's decision. Some way will doubtless be found to clear the title.

Wayne's practice in selling lots without proper publication had been followed by other Nebraska towns. The late session of the legislature passed a law removing clouds thus created.

Students Enroll At Wayne State

Activities Are Opened at Teachers College with Events This Week.

Wayne State Teachers college opened Monday and Tuesday with a fair enrollment considering war-time, and new students are continuing to register this week. Figures on the number attending will be available within a few days. Registrar Herman Baehr announces.

Reception Is Held. Faculty members and Capt. E. A. Kitzmiller formed a line in the student lounge Tuesday evening to meet students at the annual reception. Miss Marjorie Harrison introduced guests to Dr. J. T. Anderson. Students of Prof. John R. Keith furnished music, and refreshments were served. Prof. Yale Kessler was chairman of the committee in charge.

Freshmen Gather. The first meeting of the freshmen and the faculty of the college here was Monday night when short talks by faculty leaders and group singing highlighted an evening program. Dr. J. P. Johnson acted as master of ceremonies and with a few humorous introductory remarks, opened the exercises. "At Ease Water," other school songs and patriotic songs followed, led by Prof. Russel Anderson, who later sang two solos.

The new students were welcomed by Miss Evelyn Patrick, junior, and were then addressed by Dean Martha Smith Smith on the "Value of a College Education as a Defense Measure." Dean Clarence McGinn talked on the "Cooperation of Students and Faculty with the War Effort," stressing the economic side of the problem.

Dr. J. T. Anderson talked to the students about getting the utmost from a college education and the evening closed with "America the Beautiful," sung by the group.

A dance for college students and air cadets has been scheduled for Saturday, September 18, in the student-union building. Further arrangements have not yet been announced.

Freshmen will be entertained at a "mixer" in the gymnasium Friday evening.

Physical Training. Because of the small number of young men enrolled, Coach Ralph Ginn believes it will be impossible to carry on football this season. Students in the army air corps detachment are not allowed to participate in the college athletic activities, though navy students in such detachments are permitted to do so. The plan is to conduct for college boys physical training patterned after that of the army air corps. All will also take swimming if they have not already done so. The aim will be to prepare the young men for service.

All girls are provided an opportunity to take the special physical fitness program being offered at the college this term. Unusual interest in Latin is shown this fall among students. First convocation will be held next Tuesday morning. All students are required to attend, and an interesting program is planned. Faculty held their first meeting Saturday when new members were introduced and plans for the year reviewed.

Training Detachment Offers Five Months of Academic Study for Youths.

"Youthful, capable manpower is needed to man the bomber and fighter craft that is roaring off our assembly lines," Lt. R. J. Friery of the local college training detachment stated Tuesday, "and under the college preparatory pre-flight program of the army air forces our young men receive college training that is second to none in equipping them for the demanding career of a flight flier. The course is but part of a well-rounded and complete training that makes them the finest fliers in the world."

The recruiting drive stresses the advantages offered men of 17 who wear the blue and silver wings of the air corps enlisted reserve. Men within the age group of 18-26 inclusive and 17-year-olds who want to take advantage of the opportunities of the air corps program should visit the local aviation cadet examining board at the 349th college training detachment at Wayne the state teachers college, where full details are available. Aviation cadets are given 440 hours of geography, mathematics, physics, English, history and civil air regulations in a five-month course prior to being assigned for flight training.

Takes Top Honor For Second Year

FIGURES ON YEAR'S BUSINESS NOW DUE ACCORDING TO LAW

ESTIMATES on the year's earnings to satisfy the federal government's revenue department will soon be due, and individuals who can figure out facts and make correct payments without expert help are above the average in mental capacity. The department that sorted off the blanks to be absorbed and understood would seem to have left nothing unsaid. A greenhorn's cursory examination convinces him of an abundant harvest of revenue. The average person wants to pay his rightful share, having no disposition to dodge obligations, but he would be greatly relieved if he were allowed more time from studying government blanks to devote to the necessary task of making a living. This relief could be secured by dismissing long-winded young Blackstones who interpret verbosity as legal lore, and instead employ a few seasoned lawyers who appreciate the comforting ease insured by brevity and simplicity. But it is up to taxpayers now to get busy on their reports and send them to the collector of internal revenue by September 15.

Don Meyer's Hereford Calf Scores Championship at Nebraska Fair.

Scoring grand championship honors at the Nebraska state fair baby beef show in Lincoln for the second time is the unusual attainment of Don Meyer of Wayne. Don's senior Hereford calf, Skippy's Cousin, winner grand champion at Wayne county 4-H fair in August, copped this award in the judging at Lincoln Tuesday. It was also a Hereford that won for Don the same coveted award a year ago.

Only once previously in the history of the state fair has any 4-H member copped the championship honor twice. The win increases the fine record made by members of Beat-Em-All calf club in Wayne county. Lester Lutt and Leland Herman, members of the group, took grand championship honors twice each at the Omaha Ak-Sar-Ben show. Don's victory makes the third time that one of the members has won such coveted honors twice. Carl F. Meyer, Don's father, is now leader of the club.

Skippy's Cousin is a Hereford Don bought from Joe Howard of Hubbard, nearly a year ago when 4-H members started their feeding program for the year. His Hereford that copped top honors last year was from the Howard herd and was a cousin of the calf winning this year. Last year's champion was named Skippy so this year's is Skippy's Cousin. When shown at Lincoln this week Skippy's Cousin weighed 1,015 pounds. Judge J. J. Moxley of Kansas State college, picked this Hereford which had attracted fair goers from the start of the show.

Don's other calf, Joe, in the medium Hereford division, took reserve championship at Wayne county fair and was also entered in the state competition.

The Wayne youth remained in Lincoln over Wednesday for the 4-H baby beef sale. His grand champion calf was the first to go over the block at 3 o'clock.

Last year Don put his $750 earnings from 4-H baby beeves into war bonds. He now has more than $900 so invested and said Tuesday that he will put more money from his 1943 calves into war bonds.

Don helps his father, Carl F. Meyer, farm 400 acres of land southeast of Wayne. The latter and County Agent W. R. Hardey were in Lincoln when Don's calf was picked as champion.

Don, who is 19, has been in 4-H club work nine years. Besides Don, others in the Meyer family have been active in 4-H work. Bob, now in the air corps; has shown winning calves. Dean and Virginia had winners in the county fair here this year.

All Peoples Deserve Right To Enjoy Freedoms After End of Conflict

"The education of American people in handling modern machines of speed and power lags far behind the development of these machines by American industry," Prof. Paul Liljedahl of the science department of Wayne State Teachers college declared when speaking to the Kiwanis club Monday noon.

Prof. Liljedahl's address centered on the problems of getting a desirable peace after the end of the war, and he believes that the American people have been interested in keeping up the development of machines, automobiles and planes, but are criticized because as a people they are not able to keep up with this progress.

"We have need to educate the public to keep up with mechanical development. Machines take a big toll of life, and it is not so much the fault of the machine as it is of the man behind it," Prof. Liljedahl declared that the impact of a car going 20 miles an hour is as if it were dropped vertically 13 feet, and of a car going 60 miles an hour as if it had been dropped vertically 120 feet. "We do not realize the power actually under our control. The same is true with a plane. In some places out of realization of this fact special instruction is being given to make travel safer with planes and cars. Many condemn planes as a means of transportation because of the mountain accidents and collisions. The machine is being perfected and men must learn to know and control the power under their hands. We should give courses to realize this and to teach better navigation now."

Prof. Liljedahl believes that "we did not recognize the importance of the machines that we had done the most to develop until Germany and Japan used them as instruments of war against us." He declared that the two million men now in the army air corps indicate a realization of mechanical power as an implement of war.

"After the war will follow a period when the world will have to be policed. We should train people to appreciate principles of American life. The just deserves of man should be instilled in all countries, and they should be indoctrinated to same and just living. We can educate in them the freedom of press and speech. Some people are victims of bad leadership and would be glad to follow the right leadership."

The educator expressed the belief that it is bad to have a power that can disband a government, as Germany does, and be able to set up a dictator. "To insure constant peace is to let the country have charge of its natural resources and support itself, without exploitation of its people." Prof. Liljedahl would encourage a state of economy that would provide a nation to carry on its own development without subsidy by other nations.

"Japan had a great possibility to be a good economic state but she got the idea of 'get rich quick' by conquest and spoils. Russian and Belgian progress made in economies would be great if they would be allowed to work it out by themselves."

Prof. Liljedahl was introduced by B. W. Wright.

It cannot say, and I will not say "That he is dead. He is just away!" With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand.

"He has wandered into an unknown land.

"And left us dreaming how very fair

"It needs must be since he lingers there.

"And you, oh you, who the wildest yearn

"For the old-time step and the glad return.

"Think of him faring on, as dear

"In the love of there as the love of here

"Think of him still as the same, I say

"He is not dead. He is just away."

"But such a tide as moving seems asleep,
"Too full for sound and foam,
"When that which drew from out the boundless deep
"Turns again Home.

"Twilight and evening bell,
"And after that the dark!
"And may there be no sadness of farewell
"When I embark;
"For, though from our bourne of time and place,
"The flood may bear me far,
"I hope to see my Pilot face to face

The church body will soon have its hundredth birthday anniversary. The program calls for a consecration of spiritual life for all. The church wants to pledge itself faithfully to the great mission of renewing our personal faith and zeal in the Lord of Lords, a King of Kings. Without Christ we must realize we are lost, but with and in Him there is hope and peace. One of the main objects of the centennial is to seek to extend the Kingdom of God by both home and foreign mission. Every member of the church must be enlisted to serve. The history of our church and a commemoration of its founders will also be observed. In every congregation a thank-offering will be given as a thanksgiving to God and that we might expand our work of the synod. It is hoped this will reach two million dollars or more. The goal of the Concordia church will be $2,000 or more. This may be by individual pledges and gifts. Series G and F bonds will be accepted and are encouraged by our government for this cause. These bonds should be made part of the "Evangelical Lutheran Augustana Synod of North America, 415 Harvard St., SE, Minneapolis, Minn., an unincorporated association." Care should be made that they are thus properly made out. The church board of the Concordia church will be the centennial committee. In addition they have appointed the following members: George Magnuson, Clifford Fredrickson, Oscar W. Johnson, Robert Erwin, John Nygren, Ivar Anderson, Kenneth Olson, Waldo Johnson, Delmar Carlson, Arvid Peterson, Albert Johnson, Arthur Anderson and Emil Swanson. Butler Returns

SENATOR Hugh Butler returned recently from a visit to twenty South American republics—a trip which he took at his own expense to gain a clearer understanding of relationships between the two continents. In a published report the senator mentioned that Latin Americans were critical of United States agencies for "spending money too freely" for projects of doubtful worth. He commended our state department for improving relations with neighboring countries. He is reported to have drawn these two principal conclusions:

"1. The United States should practice the most emphatic economy in its domestic affairs in order to retain its position as a strong, solvent commercial nation.

"2. This country should accept as a major part of its foreign policy the responsibility for close military and economic cooperation with all of the Latin American countries."

Bad News

THE death of Millard Bahe on a foreign battle field adds another dark shadow to Wayne's war memories. Bahe, who contributed to upholding the American colors, Millard enlisted somewhat before his eighteenth birthday, and as fate decreed, he gave all that anyone could give—his life. He was young and strong and buoyant, a parents' hope and one of the community's valiant youths enrolled to save freedom.

Millard may look on from somewhere and note the honors bestowed, but he may also note that no earthly honors can fill a vacant chair nor assuage a grieving heart. To all caught in the deadly undertow of conflict, hope people bow their heads in deepest sorrow. Casualty reports spur the hope for early victory and reduced losses.

Retirement of Wm. Jeffers as rubber administrator to return to his place as head of the Union Pacific railroad, reminds us that he was refreshingly out of accord with new deal visionaries. He cut straight through red tape, brushed aside interfering theorists and got things done. His efforts made large and satisfactory headway in producing synthetic rubber. He accomplished enough in meeting the rubber emergency to justify return to his railroad responsibility. While his practical course did not dovetail with the ideas of dizzy sky gazers, it scored desired results and received the hearty approval of sound judgment everywhere.

Republican leaders meeting in Michigan, to talk over and outline future party policies must be broadminded if they wish to make a winning appeal. They cannot dodge or straddle, and they must say what they mean and mean what they say. Personal or petty differences must be surrendered to demands for sound and constructive statesmanship. We believe leaders have in mind a practical program that will safeguard traditions while making due progress.

The night air this week has been charged with the chill breath of autumn. Soon will come a killing frost, leaves will fall and heating plants will be mobilized for winter service. People who have had enough summer, will be relieved. Those who relish warm outdoors, will have something to anticipate as they cuddle up to artificial heat. It will not be long before Christmas and then disappearance of 1943 with its extra installment of pains.

The death of Emerson Purcell, 76, Broken Bow publisher for many years, removes one of the state's leading and influential citizens. He was active and helpful in public affairs outside his business routine. His Custer County Chief has attained top rank among newspapers of the middle west. Newspaper circles will greatly miss his counsel. All will deeply regret his passing.

Senator W. Lee O'Daniels of Texas must have rationalized his thinking since he won office and fame on a platform of free pan-cakes and cheap ballyhoo. He has offered a line of sensible policies for post-war consideration.

In rural communities labor day was observed by doing the usual work. Word that war production plants did not allow the holiday to interrupt essential output was encouraging, reflecting the genuine American spirit.

A strong deterrent to appraising loose mental screws in many others lies in the suspicion that the appraiser is by such conclusions revealing extraordinary nuttiness himself.

Unconditional surrender of Italy is an important step in the direction of victory and peace. How long can Nazi war lords road their subjects to fight?

It would serve the convenience of out-of-town shoppers if local residents would leave cars at their homes Saturday nights and not absorb many best parking spaces. It is not easy to convey milk cans, egg cases and groceries and other merchandise to cars parked two or three blocks distant. And there is no better leg exercise than walking.

Mayor La Guardia Gets The Point.
(Omaha Journal Stockman)

Unquestionably, the most confused man at the livestock and meat conference in Kansas City last week was Fiorello H. La Guardia, the dynamic little mayor of New York. The mayor said he came to the convention to listen and learn. He returned to the east in a very uncertain state of mind.

"All I get out of it," declared the mayor, "is the settled conviction that if you men out here in the west cannot produce cattle, hogs and sheep at a reasonable profit, we folks down east are not going to get enough meat to eat." And, as usual, the little mayor hit the point of the whole discussion. Eastern and western viewpoints of the meat problem are wide apart and it is this wide divergence of viewpoint that is to a great extent responsible for the existing confusion everywhere.

It is most significant, however, that the eastern observer got to the bottom of the whole problem right at once. Production, continued production, of livestock is the key to the situation. If production is discouraged and halted, the supply of meat is certain to fail.

The Millennium Won't Be Rushed.
(Saturday Evening Post)

When a group of New York politicians tried to make capital of the recent Harlem hoodlumism by attributing the trouble to a scarcity of playgrounds, Park Commissioner Robert Moses cut loose with one of those blasts which have made him a national figure. After disposing of the demagogues in proper style, Mr. Moses issued this statement of principle:

"Unlike these demagogues and loose talkers, I have no patent solution for the problems of this area. I believe in plugging along from day to day with possible improvements, with patience and understanding and with a realization that those who shout for the millennium, agitate, exaggerate grievances and make promises which cannot be kept are at bottom responsible for the kind of trouble illustrated by the recent Harlem riot. The Greeks were not so dumb when they invented the System of Ostracism."

There isn't much to add to that except that Mr. Moses is right, all the way from Harlem to a Kansas City pier.

The Hoover Plan.
(Lincoln Journal)

The administration having declined to avail itself of the services of the one man above all others in the country who knows how best to handle the problems of food supplies, it might well call upon Herbert Hoover to aid in promoting a world peace that will last longer than twenty-five years.

Mr. Hoover's sound thinking and matured judgment are evidenced by the proposals that he has advanced for the procurement of a lasting peace. Instead of the time-honored armistice and general peace conference, he would have the allies name, before firing ceases, a committee of allied nations that would have the authority to impose provisional peace terms upon the conquered nations and which would immediately proceed to restore order, feed the hungry in the occupied countries and restore economic production.

There is a growing public opinion that this time there be some general agreement as to peace terms before the actual fighting ends, and that this should not be done in the haste that has characterized the past. Versailles was a good example of what happens when the hates engendered by war are still white hot and the greed of conquerors is a controlling motive.

Mr. Hoover sums it up in these words, which encompass the whole problem: "If we make a good peace, it will largely preserve itself; if we make a bad one like Versailles we shall simply be laying the kindling for World War Three."

Bureaucracy.
(Omaha World-Herald)

"In my state alone," says democratic Rep. Harless of Arizona, "if federal government bureaus would quit sending out unnecessary printed matter, the saving would equal the shortage of newsprint in the entire state."

It would be not at all surprising if the same thing were true in every state.

Anyhow, the Arizona congressman favors a law forbidding any bureau to mail printed matter except on request of the recipient.

What a saving on the wear and tear of waste baskets that would mean.

But it will not be accomplished. By the tons and tons printed matter will continue to pour out from the Washington bureaus, burdening the mails, and the most of it to be forever unread. For that is the way of bureaucrats. Once established, they propagandize forever to magnify the value of their own department, to extend the field of its operations, to increase constantly the number of its officers and employees.

And for that same reason the waste is by no means confined to paper. That, indeed, is a minor item, seriously though it affects the newspaper and magazine press. In scores of ways waste and extravagance are the common practice in all bureaus and departments. They swell and grow by the very waste they practice, until now their personnel is more than three million strong. The major preoccupation of many in this ever growing army is to regulate, control and tax the time, resources and patience of all the rest of the people who struggle to attend to their own business.

And so the trend becomes ever more pronounced toward the condition of which John Stuart Mill wrote: "Where everything is done through the bureaucracy, nothing to which the bureaucracy is really adverse can be done at all."

PRODUCTION UP.

The war production board announces an encouraging upswing in production essential to prosecution of the war. Sometimes reports have led us to think guns and planes and other pieces of equipment are not being turned out fast enough to meet the demands of our fighting men. Disquieting notes of lagging production have been heard in past months. So, when a current magazine reports the war board as saying July aircraft production was up 5 per cent over June and total July munitions output up 3 per cent we are pleased to be reassured that American war plants are running true to expectations with the confident belief they will continue to do so until victory has been won. Then the miracle of American production will turn resolutely to meeting peacetime demands which will be numerous and insistent.

Growing Sensitivity.

Saying the wrong thing is not confined to the mill run, nervously pursuing accustomed roles. Great Britain's able minister of information, Brendan Bracken, an accomplished diplomat and eminently tactful as a rule, recently got himself into hot water among home folks. Boy Scouts did not like that, and British Boy Scouts formally told him so."

But Bracken did not mean any unfavorable reflection on Boy Scouts. Manifestly, he suggested Hess was immature. But nervous tension everywhere is keyed high. Ordinary currents, people blow off without thinking, and they often misinterpret what they hear without thinking. They should try hard to be less touchy.

MUSSOLINI.

A writer for Nation's Business recalls a conversation with boastful Mussolini when the dictator was at the height of his power. The writer was asked to tell Americans of the new spirit in Italy, and especially how the trains had been made to run on time. At the same time Gaetano Salvemini who was jailed because he disagreed with Mussolini, issued the following message which is quoted with approval by Nation's Business: "Casual visitors in Italy, in the presence of a great moral tragedy, find that the trains run on time and thank God for Mussolini. They do not ask themselves if justice also runs on time, if human dignity runs on time, if liberty also runs on time, if justice, liberty, the guaranty of human dignity; these are also public services of civilized countries. Perhaps a casual visitor who pays attention only to the punctual arrival of trains thinks that the Italian people is so degraded that it is not worthy of having good public service of a moral nature. Or else, he himself is so degraded as to be able to appreciate only public service of a material nature."

Christian Science Services

"Substance" is the subject of the lesson-lesson which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, September 12.

The Golden Text is: "The spirit is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof" (1 Corinthians 10:26).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-lesson is the following from the Bible: "In Gibeon the Lord appeared to Solomon in a dream by night; and God said, Ask what I shall give thee. . . . Give therefore thy servant an understanding heart to judge thy people, that I may discern between good and bad; for who is able to judge this thy great people? And the speech pleased the Lord, that Solomon had asked this thing. . . . Behold, I have done according to thy words; so, I have given thee a wise and an understanding heart" (1 Kings 3:5,9,10,12).

The lesson-lesson also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Truth is spiritual, eternal substance, which cannot destroy the right reflection. . . . Some individuals assimilate truth more readily than others, but any student, who adheres to the divine rules of Christian Science and imbibes the spirit of Christ, can demonstrate Christian Science, cast out error, heal the sick, and add continually to his store of spiritual understanding, potency, enlightenment, and success" (pp. 299, 462).

And another thing, son, please quit worrying about the business. Your mother and sister are pitching in and helping me no end. Remember, motor oil, greasing, and all my other services are not rationed. Honest, our business is pretty good — thanks to Conoco No. 1 motor oil. Remember how you quinned when they first called me a "Mileage Merchant?" Well, that's come to mean something very real these days. Sure, I'm keeping the engine in your car oil-plated and a lot of others around here, too. Just hurry up and get that job of yours wrapped up and when the band meets you at the train, the parade can head in this direction and you'll find this business here for you to carry on.

To pull the trigger that released a 2,000-pound bomb on the Jap base at Munda in the Solomons was the most thrilling experience of James Dendinger, petty officer second class, now at Randolph on furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Dendinger. Stationed on an aircraft carrier, the youth volunteered to go on a heavy bomber to Munda. American planes arrived at the base at daybreak, surprising the Japs and destroying many of their planes on the ground. This was the Randolph youth's first bombing experience. The carrier on which Dendinger serves is credited with the honor of "doing more duty" and "being in more battles" than others in the Pacific.

About 200 boys are stationed there to round out their college education and to study courses that will aid them in their careers as naval officers. Military life is considered secondary to academic work, so military drill is kept at a minimum, writes the Wayne youth. The physical fitness program is rather rigid but its benefits will be far-reaching in future active duty.

Finley's course includes advanced mathematics, history, chemistry, electrical engineering, heat and power, navigation, engineering drawing, etc.

The young man appreciates keeping in touch with home events through the Herald.

A Boy Died Last Night.

(Louisville Courier-Journal). "A boy died last night. It doesn't make much difference now about his name. The important thing is that he died, in poignant and awful loneliness, out somewhere on a waste of sand, out in a starless silence, ten thousand miles from home.

"Missing in action," read an obscure line in this morning's communique. That was all. Now he lies there, crumpled by the twisted wreckage that yesterday was his plane, riding high in the sunlit heavens. The fine head and the shining face and the broad shoulders remain only in a picture that looks out upon a quiet living-room on a shaded street an eternity away.

"Last night, in those agonizing hours of unspicable isolation, he went through a thousand deaths without the one thing that might have helped a little—the sound of a familiar voice, the pat of a friendly hand. Many people died last night in their beds at home, surrounded by those who cared. Last night he died in utter desolation, in an unimaginable loneliness.

"The pain was terrible enough. But then there had to be that dreadful burden of thought in those endless last hours. Mom and Pop. The flowers blooming again in the back yard. The good old roadster in the driveway. That last sweetheart kiss at the station. Those dances last summer. That half-finished letter in his blouse. All those plans for the future. Couldn't somebody find him, please? The wracking pain again.

"Too much for you, all this? But it really happened last night, just like that. If people could only understand it, if they would just grind deep into their thinking that stark, terrible reality of it, every petty, selfish interest would be swept away. They would sacrifice anything and everything just to make themselves worthy of that boy.

"If people who have basked and prospered and walked secure in a land that has felt no more than the shock of a Fourth of July fire-cracker since 1865 would understand about this boy, they would rise up and demand that their Government take anything, exactly everything needed, make them walk, blackout every city, take away every last penny of profit, render uncertain every commonplace comfort and easy security, just to avenge that boy.

"He died last night, you see. There's no way to get around that."

Survives Sinking Of Two Vessels

Surviving the sinking of two ships, the U. S. S. Benham and the U. S. S. Helena, and 13 major engagements in the Pacific make up the past 16 months of hazardous sea duty for Gene Kaiser, petty officer third class, now at Randolph on furlough to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Kaiser. The young man had his closest escape when the Helena sank

Just a minute and a half before the vessel plunged to the bottom they got off the ship and clung to the raft which carried the wounded. Fortunately the vessel went over the opposite direction from the raft so the men were safe from the suction of the sinking ship. The Helena, which Kaiser describes as the "fightingest" ship in the Pacific, went down July 6 in Kula gulf.

The Benham was one of 11 ships sunk in the battle of Guadalcanal. Kaiser was in the decoding room when torpedoes hit the vessel at almost minute intervals. Gene was on the last life raft and clung to this for six and a half hours before he was picked up by a destroyer. The heavy oil-slick water greatly reduced the hazard from sharks which rarely attack in oil-covered water.

Kaiser was in the task force assigned to the job of intercepting the 40,000 Japs coming to Guadalcanal. If the Japs had succeeded in landing they would have brought immeasurable disaster to American plans in that region.

Helps in Fighting Fires in Forest

"The past two weeks I have experienced the strategy and the actual combat of a Rocky mountain forest fire," writes Pvt. Cletus J. Sharer August 31 from Laramie, Wyo. "Our men, along with two others from Fort Francis E. Warren, were selected to go as soldiers to aid the forestry service in Buffalo, Wyo., about 350 miles from our post. We slept in pup tents, ate from our mess kits and in general we experienced actual field conditions. Along with our battalion were sterilization and bath units, shoe and textile repair units, field bakery, field mess and a truck company, all of which are quartermaster establishments.

"Our bivouac area was about 10 miles from the scene of the fire. We would ride part of the way and climb the remainder each day, both amounting to about 15 miles of marching. We learned the advantage and mechanism of 'back-fires,' 'spot holes,' 'curb trenches,' 'fire lines,' 'exhaustion of fuel supply' and in general the strategy and activities of the forestry service in action.

"This was not only a job or mission, it was also a pleasure trip, both educational and interesting. We saw many elk, deer, coney, wolves and mountain goats. We learn to identify and read game trails, spot and follow 'blazes' and actually 'blazed' trails from the fire line to the springs.

"We met many interesting people, and I might add the most interesting of all was a woman who in a summer home fried mountain trout for two of my buddies and myself, one of the trio a Chinese boy who had attended college in China. She insisted we sign her guest book and made us all promise to write to her before she would let us stop eating trout.

"Upon return to Fort Warren, I was greeted with shipping orders for army specialized training program. I am now at the University of Wyoming, indeed a commendable school and scenic campus."

The Wayne young man concludes by expressing appreciation for the valuable training he is receiving.

Mrs. Bertha Tews of Bloomfield, had word that her son, Pfc. Albert Tews, was killed in action in the south Pacific July 26.

The livestock sale in connection with the Stanton county fair was a successful feature. The top boar brought $91 and the bull $140. The Stanton fair was one of the best ever held.

Rev. R. F. Shipwright of Pennington, was called to Onawa, Ia., Tuesday last week to conduct double funeral services for a couple, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Durr, whom he had married four days before. The young folks drowned when their speed boat capsized. Mr. Durr's home was at Onawa and Mrs. Durr was formerly Delane Elsasser of Beemer.

The McColls have two children, a son, Allan, who is serving in the army at Ft. Benning, Ga., and a daughter, Mrs. F. B. Spieler, at Milford, Neb.

The Wakefield congregation has not yet chosen a successor.

THE 3rd WAR LOAN DRIVE STARTS

-TO BACK THE INVASION!

3rd WAR LOAN

15 BILLION DOLLARS (NON-BANKING QUOTA)

What you will be asked to do—

MARK well the date—Thursday, September 9th. For on that day, you must answer to your country's call.

On that day, the 3rd War Loan Drive opens. You will be asked to back our fighting forces to the very limit of your resources. You will be asked to go ALL-OUT FOR INVASION by investing in EXTRA War Bonds—more War Bonds than you perhaps think you can possibly afford.

To meet the national quota, every individual in the country who earns a wage or draws an income or has accumulated funds must invest, if he possibly can, in at least one EXTRA $100 War Bond. Those who can, must invest in more bonds—hundreds and thousands of dollars' worth more.

Scrape up the money from every source you can . . . turn in all the loose cash you carry with you . . . dig out what you had tucked away "just in case." Go without pleasures, luxuries, even necessities this September. And give our fighting men the things they need to fight with—and win.

These men are throwing everything they have into this fierce invasion push. They are giving their blood, their lives. No one can put a price on such courage, self-sacrifice, devotion. But you can show you're with them to the limit! You can say it with Bonds . . . EXTRA Bonds this month.

World's Safest Investments

For this 3rd War Loan, you will be offered a choice of various government securities. Choose the one that fits your requirements.
