

Meeting in Sioux City Told What Ails Them — Safe Assumption Other C Not Free from G Journal's Veteran Editor.

Nebr. State Hist. Soc. Jan 44

At a meeting of editors from four states in Sioux City Friday, the secretary of the Minnesota association fired a volley of complaints at rural publishers, charging them with being lazy, careless, dilatory and intolerant. He tactfully noted exceptions which permitted escape of any who did not feel guilty. He said he knew of a $100,000 advertising fund which a company was eager to invest in country newspaper space, but did not do so because of faults in casting cuts and failure to present pages in legible form, and in addition, lack of promptness in forwarding bills and proofs of publication. He said editors were sometimes so neglectful that they even failed to cash checks.

The secretary evidently meant that as a rule editors are constitutionally tired, from which spring indifference, procrastination and inefficiency. They begin late and quit early. They make no effort to gain business, and what flows in voluntarily is treated just well enough to get by, and if kicks are registered, responsibility is passed on to some one who is absent and not get-able. We were led to conclude the county editor often writes with the dignity and clarity of a sub-normal eighth grader, that his business system withers before a breath of inquiry and that his expression of the art preservative would make Gutenberg turn over in his grave.

However the arraignment may have been warranted by the facts, it may spur even those who are not guilty, to bend more thoughtfully and energetically to their tasks, improve service and make production more nearly harmonious with popular demand. We know many well edited and cleanly printed community weeklies. Their editors take pride in their work and are alert to public needs. They are not slothful. They are not dead to duty, to business or to the handling of the same. The average editor does not carry the leavings of his last lunch on the lapel of a frayed coat, nor, even as a war measure, does he exhibit unmatched patches on the nether regions of his pantaloons.

Instead of tottering under sharp barbs of criticism which may be measurably justified, and which may be accepted as salutary, the Fourth Estate should rise stronger and more determined. It should cure faults by cultivating what it lacks. It should be humble without surrendering necessary courage.

But we wonder if the indictment applies more to rural editors than to other professional and business groups. Are lawyers, doctors, preachers, merchants and others uniformly free from guilt? Are they always alive to those they serve—innocent of inclinations to shirk or neglect? Pride usually prods one to improve whatever he undertakes. He is eager to give satisfaction and win approval. This rule doubtless obtains quite as much among rural editors as among other workers in earthly vineyards.

Doing One's Best. A. F. Allen, long in the harness as editor of the esteemed Sioux City Journal, told us he could not remember once when he did not give his best efforts to the institution which employed him. That is one reason his services have been in sharp demand and he has reached and maintained a high and influential place in the field of journalism. There would be no strikes—no serious labor troubles—if Editor Allen's idea of service were generally observed.

Most of Editor Allen's adult lifetime has been spent with the Journal. He cherishes memory of the departed Geo. D. Perkins, who bought a weekly newspaper in 1869 and turned it into a daily in 1870. Mr. Allen says Mr. Perkins possessed both sound business judgment and editorial excellence—a combination which hints strongly of why the Journal developed rapidly and securely from the start.

In 1939 when the Journal noted its 70th anniversary as a daily, announcement was made that nine tons of newsprint were consumed to publish each day's editions. In one year 3,577 tons or 135 carloads of newsprint were used. Since then the Journal absorbed the Tribune and its newsprint requirements have been largely increased.

Are Far From Goal In War Loan Drive

Wayne County Is Expected To Invest About Half Of Quota Assigned.

Wayne county residents had up to Wednesday invested about $270,000 in bonds in the Third war loan drive. It is expected the total will increase by $30,000 to $40,000 by the close Saturday night, Chairman R. L. Larson believes, but the final report will likely be less than half of the assigned quota of $622,600. Most of the solicitors have completed their individual canvasses.

Wednesday's report showed Wayne county standing 17th in group B, for those of 7,000 to 14,000 population, with a per capita investment of $27.10. In the same group Pierce county was 13th with an average of $30.74; Cuming, 25th with $21.72; Cedar, 29th with $17.70; Dixon, 36th with $8.93.

Nebraskans need to invest seven million dollars a day this week to reach the state's quota of 103 millions. Sunday this week the state had passed the 61 million mark.

The national goal is 15 billions, and the total Wednesday morning had nearly reached the 14 billion mark.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK STIMULATES CARE AGAINST LOSS

Fire prevention week appropriately precedes preparations for winter. It is designed to warn people to have stoves, furnaces and chimneys in proper order for starting fires. It reminds property owners to see that they are duly insured. Hazards increase with introduction of cold weather and the need of artificial heat. Defects in heating plants need to be fixed. A little timely attention may prevent dreaded loss. Fire fighting equipment and skill have made long forward strides, but they cannot reduce damage to nothing when a blaze gets under way. A fire was more of a calamity in the old days of bucket brigades and town pumps, because big losses were more unavoidable, but it is still enough of a menace to stimulate all possible precautions.

Three Are Named In Farm Security

Appointment by Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard of three Wayne county men to serve on the new Farm Security county committee was announced this week by Andrew N. Schaf, county FSA supervisor. The three members are: George Bruns, Wayne; Theodore L. Kling, Hoskins; and F. Irving Moses, Wayne. Mr. Bruns and Mr. Kling have served on the tenant purchase committee and Mr. Moses has served on the RR committee for this county.

These men were selected because of their knowledge of agricultural affairs and needs in this county. The FSA county committee of three replaces the former FSA rehabilitation committee, the farm debt adjustment committee, the tenant purchase or farm ownership committee and the FSA county council which was made up of members of the various committees and three extra members.

Under stipulated provisions involving determination to obtain food production increases, the county Farm Security committee will have considerable responsibility, and will work closely with the county supervisor, Mr. Schaf said. They will review present laws and will recommend what action should be taken on new applications as well as whether present borrowers will be continued as such or discontinued and their loans collected.

Drive Is Boosted By Radio Selling

Wayne Is One of Points for Special Broadcast by Norfolk Station.

Wayne county war bond total was boosted Thursday afternoon by $6,190 in a special radio broadcast sponsored by W.A.G., Norfolk, from the local Chamber of Commerce office. Dwight Havens served as master of ceremonies. He explained that war bonds serve several purposes. They help the nation; they back the fighting men; they help keep prices down; and they build a nestegg for the future.

R. L. Larson, county chairman, told the radio audience that Wayne county's quota is $622,600 and that to that date $196,450 had been invested. He explained the plan being followed in which precincts are organized with captains and helpers to raise assigned quotas.

Those telephoning their purchases of bonds to the Chamber of Commerce office during the half-hour broadcast were announced over the radio. David Wesley, son of Joe Beckenhauers, was first to call in. The Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. A. T. Cavanaugh, Lt. Arthur Cavanaugh who is here on leave from Rapid City, Geo. Bornholt, Ray Shalander and Ed. Bahe followed. Mayor Herman Lundberg bought a bond for his daughter, Miss Ruth Lundberg, who is with the WAVES at Norman, Okla. Mr. and Mrs. John Gettman of Carroll, invested in bonds dedicated to Clarence Cone, whom they raised and who is now a prisoner of the Japs.

Emmett Bairds invested for their son, Pvt. Dean Baird, whose address is New York. Della Gilbert, 6 years old, purchased one with pennies she had saved. Former Prisoner Is Speaker Here Aviation Student P. J. Elder Tells Kiwanians About Rule Under Japs.

Being a Jap prisoner in the city of Hong Kong brought experiences of war at first hand to Aviation Student Peter J. Elder of Wayne college detachment, who addressed Kiwanians Monday. Mr. Elder, whose home is at Burlingame, Cal., was marine insurance underwriter for a British company in Victoria, Hong Kong, in 1939.

Mr. Elder explained that Hong Kong is mainly on an island 25 miles around, with the tallest peak about 1,200 feet. When on December 6, 1941, the British ships were ordered to sea, Elder and others could see that something unusual was happening. The next day, a few hours after the Pearl Harbor attack, Jap planes bombed Hong Kong. Residents immediately took up defense positions. Elder drove a truck to help apply needs. After three days of fighting, the Japs broke through and cut the island in two. It is estimated that 10,000 Japs were killed in taking Hong Kong and 3,000 British, but the British finally had to give up.

Mr. Elder at first stayed in his downtown office but later decided to go to the American club. This was fortunate because the night after he left, the office building was destroyed by an explosion.

Hong Kong was not the great fort that many had thought. Defenses pointed toward the sea, and the Japs came from the mainland. The first landing was 3,000 Japs. Others followed. They shelled and frightened the populace and much damage resulted.

Mr. Elder described some of the horrors practiced by the Japs on (Continued on Page Seven)

LEARNING FOREIGN LANGUAGES HELPS ONE'S EXPERIENCE

THE WISDOM of teaching foreign languages in schools and colleges becomes more evident as America becomes more world-wide in its vision. How much easier and more satisfactory would be the proposed conference between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin if the first two could talk Russian or the last named could understand English. Closer relationship with South American countries in which Spanish is generally used, is increasing practicality of learning that language. Every extra language learned enriches one's experience. Even a so called dead language like Latin which is the basis of many currently employed English words, is desirable. One should not be discouraged in learning foreign languages simply because they cannot be turned immediately into practical use. They provide language reserves that pay satisfactory dividends in the long run if not early in life.

Prep Freshmen Being Initiated

Student Teachers Named in Upper Grades of Wayne Training School.

Wayne Prep freshmen are being initiated into the ways of high school life in formal and informal fashion. Although September 9 was the date of the initiation ceremony, the 9th grade has a daily class, orientation, which makes a detailed study of personality and its adjustments to school and daily life. Reports, notebooks, skits, drawings by members of the class make the discussions lively and informative.

Displayed on the bulletin board this week are pictures of famous and likeable personalities and drawings of clothes drawn by Janene Griffith, Dick Campbell and Dick Banister.

Margaret Costerisan and Kermit Stuve have arranged two special bulletin boards for American history, which is taken by all juniors. Songs in the first group were classed as descriptive: "Fairy Belle," "Nellie Bly," "Farewell My Lilly Dear." The second group was composed of nonsense songs: "Old Susanna," and "Camptown Races." Miss Sallie Welch sang "Beautiful Dreamer," and "Jeannie with the Light Brown Hair."

Julia says— Here's how with fall vegetables

I FOUND, long ago, that fall vegetables can really be both good and different! Take parsnips and rutabagas, for instance. If your family hasn't been too keen about them before, they might like them this year. I know my family does, and they're inclined to turn up their noses at them served in any other way. Here are some suggestions for those two fall vegetables, and others, too:

CANDIED PARSNIPS—Wash and scrape or peel parsnips, and cook whole or cut in halves lengthwise. Cook covered in small amount of salted water, about 30 minutes or until tender. Drain, sprinkle with brown sugar, salt and pepper, and bake in moderate oven about 15 minutes, basting parsnips once or twice with hot water and meat drippings. Serve as you would sweet potatoes.

SPECIed RUTABAGAS—(This goes for turnips, too). Wash and slice rutabagas, and cook covered until tender in just enough hot, salted water to create a steam, about 15 minutes. Drain and mash and season with salt, pepper and a little ground cinnamon and clove if you like.

CAULIFLOWER SALAD—Wash cauliflower, and separate into tiny flower-lets or chop coarsely. Add raisins, chopped apple, chopped nut meats and marinate in a tart light dressing. Serve on a bed of shredded spinach. This really tastes better than it sounds!

STUFFED SQUASH—Use small individual squashes like Danish. Split squash, remove seeds and parboil in salted water until almost tender. Drain and fill cavities with chopped, cooked meat and tomato mixture. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) for about 30 minutes or until squash is thoroughly tender and meat mixture is heated through.

To Help AMONG contributions from the state department of health is one pointing out things people may do to preserve health and relieve burdens on physicians and hospitals. Here is a list of suggestions:

- 1. Call the doctor to your home only when necessary. Go to his office when you can.
2. Help the doctor to plan proper use of his time by calling him before nine o'clock in the morning whenever possible.
3. Have an examination at the first sign of sickness. This helps prevent long and serious illnesses.
4. Some conditions are best treated in the hospitals. Cooperate by providing in advance against the cost of hospitalization. Go to the hospital when the doctor recommends it.
5. Have yourself immunized against smallpox and lockjaw.
6. Avoid overeating, overdrinking, overworking and over-exercising. Get a good diet. Follow the rules of personal hygiene.
7. Women should take first aid courses and nurse's aid training of the Red Cross. This will help to relieve the burden on the physician and nurses in the hospital and in the home.
8. Every doctor not already in the armed forces is probably doing extra work in industry, public health and in his private practice. Help him to conserve his health by avoiding any unnecessary responsibilities for him.

Author IT is not wise to be over-optimistic with reference to restoration of peace. No effort should be relaxed in the belief that the end of the war is in sight. However, it is encouraging to read of the prophecy of Max Wermer, author, quoted in Collier's, who says Germany will fall within three months. He thinks Japan will last eighteen months or two years.

It is explained that for ten years Werner was right when others were wrong in figuring out in advance the course of nations. He predicted at the time Moscow was threatened that the Russians would win and become a steadfast partner of the allies. He now says Russia will help drive Japan to final defeat. He expresses the refreshing conclusion that there can be a lasting peace.

Werner is a combination of Russian, German, French and Anglo-American. He has traveled extensively, and he has been a close student of national attitudes and relationships. He says his warnings to France and Great Britain were not heeded in 1937. Expressing Werner's opinions, Collier's says: "For the first time, the world is sufficiently chastened to do what is necessary—set up an organic union of the nations of Europe and exterminate the social forces that make for recurrent war."

Still IT is profoundly disturbing to see Nebraska lagging in purchase of Lags war bonds. Governor Griswold expressed disappointment in a statement the first of the week, urging citizens to redeem the reputation of the state during remaining days of the campaign. The governor pointed out that a bond is more profitable than idle money and is just as easily converted to practical use. Buying a bond is a safe investment, as emphasized by the governor—not a donation by a long shot. Nebraska's stalwart sons amidst the shrieking shells of Europe and the southwest Pacific will be eager to hear that their state is investing its surplus cash in the cause for which they are fighting and risking their lives.

Edw. Seymour's purchase from A. V. Teed of the former Larson residence property for conversion into apartments is a stroke of enterprise and an evidence of confidence. Big houses with many rooms and few to occupy them appear to have gone out of style, and therefore the practicability of turning them into apartments for the accommodation of more people grows apace. Mr. Seymour has demonstrated faith in Wayne in the past, and it is stimulating to note that he is extending that faith by his latest venture.

It has been announced that Sumner Wells has resigned as undersecretary of state on account of his wife's health. It is also said he may be sent to represent this country in Russia. We are wondering how his wife's health can stand proximity to the terrors of war. Anyway, a fellow's wife's health is handy to have around to serve in emergencies.

Canada has legalized sale of two-part suits with restoration of cuffs to the legs. Economy in being able to buy two pairs of pants is evident, but advantage to looks or utility in wearing cuffs is quite inconceivable.

Politics is hinted in the proposed transfer of General Marshall from army chief of staff in Washington to Commander-in-chief of the allied forces in London. We hope the report is not true. Marshall is a valuable military leader and manifestly he should serve where he can do the most good in hurrying the war to a successful conclusion.

If the establishment of a duly supervised down-town social center is a real need as pointed out by those who should know, its provision is a worthwhile contribution to the war effort. Whatever will furnish wholesome diversion for sojourning cadets who work hard in the task of training, will build courage for the giant job ahead, and will deepen memories of a helpful community.

At 50 Marshall Field third comes into possession of an estate worth $70,000,000. As between the responsibility of wrestling with that much wealth and the plight of rattling around within a radius of nothing but deferred hopes, we are in a quandary as to which would be the more disagreeable. On the one hand would be the burden of unearned property; on other a nagging reminder of misdirected intentions.

Reports indicate that the people of Australia like this country's first lady who has just returned from a good-will trip to that island continent. To thus further promote international amity and fellowship we might be persuaded to loan her again any time.

West Point has just dedicated a suitable plaque bearing a roster of the names of Cumming county's boys in the armed forces. It is a most appropriate recognition. We would like to see Wayne do the same thing.

Tottering manipulators of the Nazi war machine explain retreats as running according to plans. They will have a tough time trying to explain to their own people as the final crisis approaches.

If the administration would dismiss unnecessary hangers-on and cut out superfluous and colliding bureaus, as often suggested by Senator Byrd, the masses would be greatly encouraged.

PEOPLE'S HOPES. The cruel cunning employed by enemy chieftains to trap persons out of sympathy with the totalitarian order is told in a current magazine. Constant fear of prison or death if one expresses a thought in conflict with Hitler tyranny has made Europe's subjugated countries a veritable hell. Slyest methods are used to reveal lack of sympathy with the beastly rule, and often merest suspicion is the basis for severest revenge. Inhabitants are not only reduced to physical want and misery, but their spirit is crushed. Their only hope rests on liberation through allied victory. It is a long, hard struggle to that coveted relief, but when it comes, it is hoped it may be made certain and secure. There is no reason why people anywhere should, following orderly processes, be hamstringed and outraged by war lords out to enslave the world. To be sufficient, the coming peace must guarantee human freedom to think and talk and worship without fear of dire consequences.

September 22, 1943 Nebraska is very short of boys' overalls. Many farm women are unable to buy them because the stores just do not have them in stock. We took this matter up with the civilian requirements division of the war production board, and the vice chairman assures us boys' overalls are in production now and some of them will be coming to our stores in the near future.

Congressman Albert Engel of Michigan, who has been the "one man investigating committee" for many months, has just sold a story to a magazine for $2,000. After paying $300 income tax from the total, Engel turned the rest of the money over to the USO in his state. The story deals with Engel's investigation of government expenditures on wartime installations.

A few weeks ago we were in the kitchen of a Humphrey. Ncb., home and saw the housewife making a big jar of butter. During the past two days we visited half a dozen stores in Washington and were unable to buy even a quarter pound of butter. There just wasn't butter here to be purchased. During this butter famine, the oleo trust is starting a great campaign to eliminate all federal taxes on oleomargarine.

Tomatoes on farms in Maryland and Virginia were selling at $2.25 a bushel a few weeks ago. The other day we paid 25 cents for two small tomatoes in a Washington grocery store.

FOUR FREEDOMS.

As pointed out by the Saturday Evening Post, the Four Freedoms must be interpreted practically and not too literally to be applied to a war-weary world. The Freedoms are expected to inspire people to reach higher standards with governments encouraging them to do so. The idea, as understood by many, is to free people to help themselves. The Post says in part: "If there is genuine confusion about the meaning of the Four Freedoms, some of it is doubtless explained by failure to note that Mr. Roosevelt, in listing these objectives, used the expression, 'we look forward to a world.' Well, so do the rest of us look forward to a world in which men shall respect the right of others to their own opinions; a world in which better uses shall be made of the machinery of production, so that lack of necessities which are so easily produced shall be the lot of nobody who can and will contribute his labor; a world organized politically, so that men need not fear the horrors of destruction by weapons of war. Few of us expect such a world to be attained all at once, by fiat of the executive or by mere use of phrases. But all of us are permitted to hope, in the midst of an unprecedentedly cruel and destructive war, that the peoples of the world will eventually understand their problems sufficiently to solve some of them. Thus interpreted, the Four Freedoms represent pretty well what men have always hoped for—political liberty, a better standard of living and an end to war. We should think all Americans could get together on such an expression of human aspiration."

Congressmen representing districts in 18 states are meeting and working together to reorganize the campaign to procure the funds necessary to complete 26 airports upon which work was discontinued when WPA was liquidated. The Nebraska airports in this category are located at Fremont and Beatrice. The CAA has asked the bureau of the budget to approve an estimate sufficient in amount to complete these projects. These congressmen will hold conferences with representatives of the CAA and the bureau of the budget to lay the foundation for inclusion of the item in the next supplemental appropriation bill. Work on these particular airports, has already proceeded so far as to represent expenditure of many millions of dollars of municipal and federal funds and their completion is desirable so that the joint municipal-federal investment may be conserved and the completed airports may become assets of commercial aviation.

Certain admirers of General Douglas MacArthur would like to make him a candidate for president of the United States. Glenn Shaver, former chairman of the democratic national committee, quotes Jim Farley as favoring MacArthur's candidacy.

Apparently there is rapidly approaching confirmation of rumors that have persisted in Washington that General George C. Marshall, U. S. army chief of staff, is to be assigned to a top command in the European theatre of war. Many high ranking officers of the army have hoped that no such change would be made and Washington newspapers have opposed such transfer because all recognize the supreme importance of Marshall's present job and the superlative manner in which he has handled it.

Sumner Welles, who has been ousted as under secretary of state, may become an ambassador. He is a very close friend of the president, but did not get along very well with Secretary of State Hull. The best guess in diplomatic circles here is that in the long contest between Hull and Welles, the former has won out, but Welles, who is a career man, will continue in the diplomatic service somewhere. Guess is that it may be in Russia.

Marry at Service In Altona Church

Miss Lois Roggenbach Bride Of Arnold F. Siefken at Rites on Wednesday. Miss Lois E. Roggenbach, younger daughter of Geo. F. Roggenbach, and Arnold F. Siefken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Siefken, both of near Wayne, were married Wednesday evening at Altona Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church with Rev. Theo. Wieting performing the double ring, candlelight ceremony before an altar banked with baskets of white flowers. Relatives and friends witnessed the wedding rites. The date chosen by the bride for her wedding was the 34th anniversary of her parents, Geo. F. Roggenbach and the late Mrs. Roggenbach. The bride is the daughter of W. R. Schmidt, uncle of the bride, served as organist. He played "The Wedding March," by Hill, as the bridal party entered and proceeded to the altar. Derald Pflueger of Wisner, cousin of the bride, and Harry Rosche of Columbus, cousin of the bridegroom, were ushers. They led, proceeded to the altar, lighted the candles and then took their places at the front of the church. They wore dark suits and boutonnières of pink carnations. The bridesmaids followed. They were Miss Elma and Miss Lillian Siefken, sisters of the bridegroom. They were gowned alike in pink formal, fashioned with fitted taffeta bodices with sweetheart neckline. The skirts were of net over taffeta with tulips applied. Their slippers were white. Each wore pearls and pearl earrings, gifts of the bride. Their arm bouquets were pink carnations and ferns, tied with white ribbon. Miss Erdine Pflueger of Wisner, cousin of the bride, served as maid of honor. She entered alone. Miss Pflueger's gown, of blue brocade satin, was fashioned with fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline. The very full skirt was gathered onto the bodice below the waist with a heading. Her slippers were white. She also wore pearls and pearl clip earrings which were gifts of the bride. Her arm bouquet was of Briarcliff roses and ferns tied with white ribbon. The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. Her gown, of white satin, featured a silk lace yoke. The log-o-mutton sleeves had lace insertion, were shirred at the wrists and ended in points over the hand. Tiny satin buttons decorated the back of the gown from the neck to below the waistline. The skirt was cut on princess lines and formed a long train. Her silk net full-length veil was edged with wide lace and fell from a pleated satin halo. She wore white slippers. The bride's bouquet was of Johanna Hill roses, climatis drops and ferns, tied with white satin ribbon. For something old, blue and borrowed she wore a pin which was her mother's and also carried her mother's handkerchief. She wore a strand of pearls. Mr. Siefken and his brother, Emil, who served as best man, wore dark suits with white carnation boutonnières. They and Rev. Wieting entered from the vestry and met the bridal party at the altar. Mr. Schmidt played variations of "Beautiful Savior" after the address. Following the ceremony, Mr. Schmidt played "Oh, Perfect Love" as the recessional. About 75 relatives and friends were guests at the Roggenbach home at a reception following the service. A three-tier oblong cake in pink and blue, baked by Mrs. Ed. Roggenbach, aunt of the bride, centered the table. Four blue candles, white flowers and pink place-cards were also on the tables. A three-course dinner was served by candle light. Mrs. Warren Austin and Miss Emma Bargholz of Wayne, and Miss Esther Kapels of Creston, friends of the bride, served the dinner. They wore blue aprons. Mrs. Raymond Mueller, Carolyn and Tommy arrived Saturday evening from Salt Lake City to attend the wedding. Mrs. Mueller is the only sister of the bride. Others here from a distance for the wedding were relatives from Columbus and Creston. Mrs. Siefken received her education in the Lutheran school at Altona. She also attended Wayne high school one year. She has been at home with her father the past three years. Mr. Siefken attended parochial schools at Columbus and Altona and has been farming with his father. The couple left after the ceremony for a short trip. For travel the bride chose a black two-piece dress with black accessories. The young folks will make their home with the bride's father. Are Visiting Here. David Fisher and his bride of Saturday came from St. Louis Monday to spend a few days with the former's grandmother, Mrs. Alice Fisher, his grandfather, W. E. Winteringer, and his aunt, Mrs. Ben Ahlvers. Mr. Fisher is the only son of the late Vern Fisher of Norfolk, and he leaves October 6 for service. Mrs. R. P. Cuff left Tuesday for Brewton, Ala., where she will spend a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Frazier. Dr. Cuff accompanied his wife as far as Sioux City.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Every man is brutish by his knowledge; every founder is confounded by the grave image; for his molten image is falsehood, and there is no breath in them. They are vanity, the work of errors." (Jeremiah 51: 17, 18). The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "From beginning to end, whatever is mortal is composed of material human beliefs and of nothing else. That only is real which reflects God. . . . Everything good or worthy, God made. Whatever is valueless or baneful, He did not make, - hence its unreality." (pp. 478, 525). # Must Cooperate As Good Neighbor

Miss Margaret Schemel Is Speaker for A. A. U. W. Branch Thursday.

"To make the good neighbor spirit successful, it must work both ways," according to Miss Margaret Schemel who spoke to the Wayne branch of A. A. U. W. Thursday evening in the Woman's club room.

Miss Schemel, who completes work for her Ph. D. at the University of Indiana this year, is an international fellow in A. A. U. W. for 1943-44. The organization grants one international and 11 national fellowships each year. Usually the international fellowship is granted only to a person having completed the doctor's degree. Miss Schemel is being chosen for this is an unusual honor for her.

The major part of research in the past has been done by men. But Miss Schemel believes that women will add their full share to the world's fund of information.

Miss Schemel, who spent the summer in Mexico City writing her doctor's dissertation, told the group that Mexico is a top notcher in showing the good neighbor spirit.

Mexico City is almost 2,000 miles directly south of Norfolk, Miss Schemel stated, in beginning her message on her summer's visit.

About 80 per cent of the Mexicans are pure Indians and 20 per cent are mestizos and Spaniards. Forty-five per cent of the Mexicans are literate. Most of those in remote areas speak native dialects and some of these dialects have never been written. Mexicans coming to America are usually the mestizos.

Education, culture and hospitality are notable in the real Mexican home. Much of the education is in the Mexican church school which has come back into existence after going out overnight. This type of school is functioning widely again. As a rule boys are more eager for advanced training.

The elementary school has six grades and the secondary three. A three-year course prepares the student for university. Six years of university work are required for the doctorate. Many Mexicans finish their education in the United States. Miss Schemel mentioned that four members of the family in whose home she stayed are graduates of Cornell. Each family likes to have one son study for a profession.

Learn English Early.
Mexicans learn English early. They must take two years of English and three years are optional in high school. These people are learning American language and customs so as better to serve in the good neighbor plan. And it is most regrettable that many American schools are discontinuing Spanish, Latin and other languages. "The good neighbor plan must work both ways to be successful."

Mexico City has the American college which is a high school for American young folks living there. Helen Hurlie hall is a private school which uses English half of the day and Spanish the other half. Even in kindergarten children use English part of the time. The Commercial school also does a thorough job of teaching English.

Mexico City was founded in 1553. Monks established schools there after the Spanish plan, and even in late years many wealthy families sent their children to finishing schools in Spain. The school setup is largely European. Elementary education is patterned after that of Germany and high school education like that of France. Classes run as late as 6 and 7 evenings. Teachers in Mexico are hard working scholars. One often teaches in four schools and herself attends night classes.

School of Future.
Miss Schemel looks to the Mexican schools of the future to pull away from socialistic ideas. A peaceful revolution is taking place there in which the common man is coming to the foreground. The federal government now controls most of the secondary education. In Mexican schools of tomorrow, Miss Schemel sees education for the masses and opportunity for further advancement for those who have ability. She believes the poorer child will have greater opportunity and he will come to be recognized as an integral part of the community.

"Keep your eyes on Mexico for her future is promising in educational development," Miss Schemel concluded.

Miss Schemel was presented by Mrs. J. T. Bressler, jr., president, who also welcomed guests who are eligible for membership.

Farm Study Groups.
Study groups were organized Thursday evening. Creative arts, with Miss Lenore Ramsey leader, meets at the faculty lounge October 4 at 7:30. Miss Ruth Ross and Mrs. D. S. Wightman have the program. Social studies group, with Mrs. T. S. Hook leader, meets October 12. International Relations group, in charge of Mrs. G. W. Costerisan, meets October 7 with Mrs. Costerisan. Miss Coral Stoddard is education chairman and may have a study group in this line.

Dessert was served by Miss Martha Wallace, Miss Edith Sundell, Mrs. Hazel Frahm, Mrs. G. W. Costerisan.

The branch meets again October 14 when one of the army aviation students will speak.

Hybrid Seed Corn Improves Steadily

No industry is improving its product more than hybrid seed corn industry. It is comparable to the automobile industry, only about 25 years younger. The hybrid industry does not change quite as rapidly as the automobile. Generally speaking a new and improved hybrid variety is introduced in a small way and scattered widely over the territory in limited amounts.

For Good Used Upright Pianos

so they can be rebuilt like new. 95% of the used pianos should be rebuilt before they are sold.

What Is Rebuilding?

Rebuilding the way Voget does it is, that everything is taken out of the piano, the action, the keys, the felt punchings on the front rail and on the center rail under the keys. Then all the dirt on the bottom of the key bed and on the iron plate is cleaned up like new. Then the pinblock is rebuilt like new, so that the piano will stay in tune like a new piano. Lot of pianos have loose pins so some notes will be in tune and some will be out of tune. Then the bass, if the notes sound tom-p-like, that is, that the tone won't ring anymore a new set of bass strings are put on. Yes Voget can show you a lot of pianos that have loose pins and where the bass has no more tone. After this is all done then the ivory on the keys and the wood part of the keys are all cleaned up like new.

Then let us take the action it will be cleaned and fixed up like new, that is the dirt will all be taken out, the hammers, and the dampers cleaned, and the hammer felts smoothed up, that is the heavy creases taken out, and the hammer felts will be softened after the piano is tuned so the tone will sound like a new piano. When a piano has been used awhile it will sound loud and noisy, the hammer felts will get hard, and the hammers need revoicing. Then all the screws in the back of the action, 176 of them and 88 on the front of the action will be tightened up to take out the rattle in the action. The reason these screws get loose is because the wood shrinks due to the hot weather. Then the hammers will be lined up so they hit all strings right. Then the hammers will be regulated so they fly back 1/2 of an inch after they have hit the strings. Then the key board will have to be leveled up, and the dip of each key will have to be regulated. Then the lost motion has to be taken up on each key. New parts will also be put in whenever necessary. When the piano has been rebuilt Voget's way you get a guarantee that the piano will stay in tune like a new piano after each tuning. Not only for a couple of years but for 20 to 40 years according to the grade of the piano. It makes no difference how fine a tone you have if you don't have a good action you cannot get all the fine tone out of the piano that the piano has, and a child can learn better quicker and put more of his heart and soul into the music, if the action has been rebuilt. You got to have perfect touch. Do you know that there is only 135 parts to a fine watch and almost 7000 parts to a piano action? To get a fine tone out of a piano the action should be regulated just as fine as a watch.

REMEMBER WHEN BUYING A USED PIANO GET A GUARANTEE THAT THE PIANO WILL STAY IN TUNE. IF YOU HAVE A PIANO THAT WON'T STAY IN TUNE YOU HAVEN'T GOT ANYTHING.

Voget sells guaranteed used pianos at $35 and up.
