Issues

Warnings against centralized government were issued in an address September 12 before students of Georgetown college by Senator Pat McCarran, Nevada democrat. He pointed out that the framers of the constitution endeavored to safeguard the principle of government by consent of the governed...

Only a few decades ago the congress reprimanded most severely a cabinet member who had the unprecedented temerity to send to the senate the text of a bill which he wished to see enacted. Today this procedure not only is common practice but is by no means confined to cabinet members...

Subsidy Fears

In HIS speech Monday President Roosevelt urged congress to spend more on food subsidies to hold down the cost of living and prevent inflation. Whether one pays more for food or more in subsidies, the financial result would seem the same...

Three Groups

IN NATION'S Business Merle Thorpe points out three kinds of thinkers—those who believe war-time government controls should continue when peace comes, others who express belief in an economy based on a partnership between government and business, and a third school of thought which would stimulate initiative and preserve free enterprise...

Laundry Changes Rank In Service

Dog Catcher Finds Fleas at Home But Not on Dogs in City Pound.

William McDonald, San Francisco, former assistant public defender and now a ship's officer in the merchant marine, wrote from a Pacific base: "I sent my maritime commission uniform to the laundry and when it came back I was captain of a New Zealand tank battalion."

"mature economy" bugaboo as vigorously as have earlier generations of Americans. "Today's men of faith foresee a resurgence of private enterprise, if the people through their representatives permit a program of full production by freeing the individual of handicaps and restrictions."

Millions of American boys under arms in different parts of the world will be disheartened to hear of strikes and strike threats. They will be saddened to know of interruption in coal production. Taking over the mines by the government on order of the president will be accepted as the only course to pursue in view of an acute emergency...

Milo Kremke who has returned to Wayne for a brief visit after spending a year at Redding, Calif., reports high wages and high service and commodity prices in California. A worker who receives extravagant pay, usually arrives the next Monday morning with nothing excepting possibly a headache...

An introvert is a guy who carries his head down and keeps his thoughts within himself. He may have noble ideas, but he does not express them. He may feel sympathy for burdened humanity, but he keeps that to himself...

Report that the conference of representatives of the allied powers, meeting at Moscow, have reached a satisfactory agreement, with confident expectation that the war will be speeded and victory hastened, is highly reassuring.

School janitors or custodians have struck for higher wages in Omaha, and authorities are resisting demands on account of lack of funds. Some schools had to be closed by reason of lack of heating, physical comfort necessarily taking precedence over mental sustenance.

Speaking of heroes and the mill run in the army, the Saturday Evening Post concludes: "All of them deserve the accolade of heroes, and not only that but the gratitude of all of us for proving unmistakably that to win a war we need not make ourselves a nation of militarists."

The Nazis know they face final defeat, and, according to the Moscow agreement, they can no longer hope for a separate peace with Russia or for disunity in any one of the allied nations.

Reports from all war fronts indicate defeats and retreats for democracy's enemies and a steady march toward final triumph. Freedom will survive, and it should be kept so under the influence of understanding and tolerance.

The hard task of corn picking is nearly finished and will soon have the crop out of the way of possible snow barriers. Results have sometimes proved better than expected, and sometimes not so good.

state of matrimony, voted to present a $10 gift to any club member who married. Member Walter Gerhardt thought the action just a little too pointed. He's the only bachelor in the club.

There was no water, but the first army barge to be completely assembled in Denver was formally launched anyway, with the customary wet nose. WAC Lieut. Peggy Davies whacked a bottle of champagne across the prow, whereat the craft began its overland journey toward the sea.

Mrs. Lucille Riquard, San Francisco, was granted a divorce from George Riquard on grounds of cruelty. As the climax to a quarrel, Mrs. Riquard told Judge A. J. Fritz, her husband punctured her 55 cans of rationed fruit and vegetables.

At Los Angeles, Beatrice McVonnille is anxiously watching the sky to see if her 31 homing pigeons will prove true to their tradition. A burglar stole them.

PAPER SHORTAGE. The World-Herald calls attention to Washington's print paper waste in the presence of growing shortage. It is pointed out that OWI will use 18 thousand tons of paper this year. One treatise is said to have advised householders to close their doors to keep their houses warmer, and Elmer Davis, OWI chief, explains: "Maybe that one piece was useless. But it was one of the one-line fillers that we send to country newspapers."

Pat Salmon, retired conductor of the M. & O. railroad, has been in Washington visiting relatives several days. He has just come from Portland, Ore., where for many weeks he has been a war transportation yard master.

Three telephone calls reached Kansas City police headquarters almost simultaneously. They said a man was robbing parking meters in the downtown district. Arriving with pistols drawn, four policemen confronted—the city parking meter collector.

Bing and Lady, canine guards at Gowen field, Boise, Idaho, disappeared after a truck in which they were riding overturned. An intensive search in the vicinity failed to find them. Later the dogs were found—on duty at their regular guard stations.
