Dixon county 4-H achievement program, sponsored by Wakefield Lions club Friday evening, was well attended and featured a variety of entertainment.

Central Maidens 4-H club of near Wakefield, led by Lavonne Anderson, Central Producers, a dairy club, led by Elmer Anderson, and S.O.S. 4-H club of Emerson, led by Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Colborn and Mrs. Schram, furnished music.

Conover of the state game commission, spoke on "Birds of the Air" and showed more than 20 species of wild ducks. He told that Nebraska is third state in the nation in recording the largest number of species of birds to cross the borders. This state is so situated that many birds from the south come as far north as Nebraska and many from the north come this far south. Mr. Conover described characteristics of the ducks and told of their living and feeding habits.

Officers were elected to take charge of 4-H work for the year. Lions club served and pencils were given to club members as favors.

Children learned the meaning of the word, "superintendent." They now know the real meaning of Dr. Ray Bryan's position, and proper attitudes toward authority have been stressed.

Students counted turkeys in number study. They heard the story of the Pilgrims.

Reading sheets were about farmers and food. Children talked about things for which they are thankful.

Prof. Russel Anderson played Christmas music for the class, Wednesday.

THE KNOT-HOLE

Vol. 6 Wayne, Nebr., Thurs., Dec. 2, 1943. No. 47. A motorist was helping his extremely fat victim to rise. "Couldn't you have gone around me?" Growled the victim. "Sorry," said the motorist, sadly. I wasn't sure whether or not I had enough gasoline. In such shape that you will burn less fuel. In a situation, storm sash, weather strip, glass cloth or paper over windows and doors and power around foundations all help. Help yourself save money by doing these things at once. If you are looking for lumber for either new or repair work, come in and get it. Perhaps we haven't just exactly what you want, but we do have something that you can use, something that will do the job. Ask us what we have that will satisfy your needs. Bewildered motorist: "I wish Emily Post were here with us—I think we took the wrong fork!"

SAFeway Homemakers' Guide. Help us give YOU speedier service. Julia says - Plan Your Wartime Marketing. THESE DAYS, when some of our favorite foods aren't so easy to get, each of us must become a "Kitchen General" in fact as well as in theory. In wartime, we at home have to consider our available supplies and plan to use them to best advantage. What's the first thing a general does before mapping his plan of military action? He looks the situation over, of course, and sees what the problems are—and then figures what to do about them. Just about the biggest problem we Kitchen Generals have to face, these wartime days, is how to keep our families strong and well fed by using the foods that are available. And here are some plans—for buying, keeping, and using foods—that will go a long way toward solving that problem. 1. Plan your meals for a week ahead, with alternate choices so you can use second-choice if your first choice isn't available. 2. Try new foods when the usual foods are scarce. 3. Buy fresh produce before spending the ration stamps on canned foods. 4. Buy only enough perishable foods to last out the week. 5. Cover fresh meat loosely before placing in refrigerator (ground meat must be kept very cool, and cooked soon). 6. Store every item of food where it will keep best until used. 7. Let your family eat some fruits and vegetables raw; cook others without removing their skins, jackets or natural coloring. 8. In cooking vegetables, use the minimum amount of water and don't overcook. 9. Use vegetable cooking water right with the vegetable, or in a soup, salad, or gravy. 10. Don't waste scraps: use bread crumbs in stuffing, meat bones and remnants for soup stock, excess vegetables in pies or hash. Julia Lee Wright, Director, Safeway Homemakers' Bureau.

Senator in THE inner administration circle flamed with an injured feeling the past week as Senator Hugh Butler of Nebraska, launched charges of waste in handing out help to Latin America. The senator had made a 20-thousand-mile tour of inspection of Central and South American countries. He came back convinced of misdirected and overdone good neighbor policies. He indicated that South Americans figured we were just "easy." His charges were told to the senate and appeared in the current Readers' Digest and in many metropolitan newspapers.

Vice President Henry Wallace who speaks Spanish and otherwise feels en rapport with Latin America, resented the accusations and apologized to southern recipients. The senator replied that Vice President Henry ought to apologize to people of the United States who have been born to bestow aid where it is not appreciated and often not wanted. Newspapers and other leaders in Latin American capitals cuddled up to the vice president and agreed with him.

While chief new deal spokesman—Vice President Wallace, Nelson Rockefeller, coordinator of inter-American affairs, and Senator McKellar of Tennessee—do not agree with Senator Butler as to the extent of American billions spent in South America, they do not agree with one another. The senator thinks less extravagance in expenditures would not modify feelings of neighborliness—on the contrary, might be a source of strength.

The senator is standing pat on his charges and conclusions, and any one who knows his practical and reasoning state of mind and the quality of his vertebral structure, does not fear that he will retreat. He invites the vice president to follow his denial by adding up the figures and getting at the facts.

Early A STORY of high expectations and sore disappointment, varying the life of the early-day homesteader of the mid-west, is reproduced in substance in a current magazine. Little in worldly goods fired ambition, and the quest was relished more than the realization.

A sod house was made comfortable, and livestock was kept in crudely fashioned shelters. Blizzards that swept the prairies did not prevent happy content within the walls of a meagerly furnished home. Lack of luxuries and conveniences did not depress, but on the contrary, aroused endeavor.

Cultivating virgin soil brought rich promise, and then while the grain was ripening, a horde of hungry grasshoppers appeared and destroyed the crops. This happened in the seventies.

But the right kind of pluck did not surrender. Hardy pioneers were not baffled, and their persevering courage was finally rewarded. And self-denial and stout resolution welded iron into character. This quality—of more value than large material wealth—has been liberally bequeathed to descendants. A healthy and harmonious state of mind, usually exemplified by first settlers, is more to be desired than easily won dollars.

Free EMPHASIZING the need of a free press for every nation of the world after the war to insure understanding and peace, the Omaha World-Herald offered these concluding paragraphs:

"Public opinion is to be a vital thing in the world to come. Universal understanding and world unity can never be attained without a free and honest press in all countries, able and ready to tell the people the truth about what is going on in the world, what their leaders are doing and saying.

"A plank for a free press in the treaties and agreements that bind the nations together after peace is as important as any which is aimed against aggression."

The question of subsidies, settled in the negative by the house, has been a source of conflict among senators this week. Some support the administration's contention that subsidies would prevent inflation. Others who appear to be equally wise, think they would stimulate inflation. Some feel aversion to the subsidy plan on the ground that it would saddle a part of present grocery bills on future generations.

We have an idea that close observers like C. Y. Thompson of West Point, president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, are more sound in analyzing subsidy proposals than Washington idealists. Mr. Thompson says the proposed "subsidy program will not prevent inflation," but "will promote inflation by creating excess buying power."

Lt. Gen. Geo. S. Patton who is charged with striking a sick soldier in a hospital without provocation, is probably a nervous wreck and needs hospitalization himself. He is a dauntless, hard-hitting general, but he is evidently not fitted to lead in view of his lack of self-control.

Besides keeping track of withholding taxes, social security taxes, income taxes and other taxes, answering government queries, making out government reports and observing ration rules one still has to make a living.

A prominent Chicago club woman and one-time candidate for mayor of that city sounds a disquieting note by predicting that Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will succeed her husband as candidate for president.

Offsetting the necessary hardships involved in military training may be found lasting benefits following thorough educational experience.

HEALTH.

We have received from the state department of health a leaflet warning teachers to direct student habits to prevent the spread of communicable diseases. A teacher should and usually does know enough about symptoms to detect sickness and exercise due care. Student cleanliness is emphasized. Clean hands and fingernails, and individual drinking cups, towels, combs, pencils and handkerchiefs are stressed. Cover a cough or sneeze instead of discharge it into the air and permit germs to spray to the neighborhood. Sanitary lunch practices and pure drinking water are mentioned. "The home also plays an important part," says the leaflet. "Interest and co-operation from the home are absolutely necessary. The family towel and the common drinking cup have caused diseases such as the common cold and tuberculosis to run through whole families." Use of sweeping compound is suggested as a "keep well" essential in school.

Question Future In Cattle Feeding

John and H. Heineman See Season as Puzzling to Stock Men.

(Omaha Journal-Stockman, November 29)

It's a queer season for cattle feeders and other farmers in Wayne county. That was the reaction of John Heineman and his father, Herman Heineman, who were here last week marketing a shipment of fat steers from John's feedlot and picking up a few good quality stock cattle.

John Heineman "There we are" with quite a little feed on hand and practically no cattle to eat it. John said, "We want to do some feeding, but the general uncertainty of conditions and the shortage of labor have kept us from buying any stock until we picked up these few today. We just don't know what to do."

Hogmen, as the Heinemans see it, also are in a puzzling position. Last year they were urged to make their hogs as heavy as possible. This season the pressure is being put on them to sell light weights and they are complying so well that it looks as though most of the increase in numbers will be offset by reduced weights. "In the end we probably won't have much more pork to eat than last year, and the beef supply will be reduced through smaller numbers and shortened feeds," was the way he summed up that situation.

Corn husking, fortunately, was completed on the Heineman farm just the day before the recent heavy snow. If the snow had laid level, it might have done the ground some good, the younger man conceded, but it blew up into drifts with the result that fields are still dry. Snow is still piled six feet deep in some places, he says. While they were here Mr. Heineman and his father saw their share of 45 steers sold at $13.35. Average weight of the consignment was 1,157 pounds.

Miss Mamie McCorkindale was in Sioux City for Thanksgiving.

"EXCITERS." In the current Nation's Business, Merle Thorpe advises cultivating steady desires to establish lasting demand in postwar years. It would continue demand beyond the first boom period following restoration of peace. Thorpe thinks postwar planning should include what he calls "exciters" to encourage people to want more and better things. He says in conclusion: "Most conveniences we enjoy today were sold to us with great travail, not by twilight sleep. We should urge management now to call upon the men and women of its 'exciter' department to speed up sales and promotion plans, to telescope into 12 months ideas which normally would come in five years; to realize that upon their resourcefulness and energy hangs the $125,000,000,000 speed of America's production machine. To the extent that they are able to make us unsatisfied, to want better products and services, to that extent will we desire and produce and exchange and make come true our fondest hopes of reconstruction."

King Carol of Rumania who won the ill will of both the allies and the axis, has a press agent working for him in the United States. He had apparently regained some favor with allied representatives because recently he has been entertained by American diplomats in Mexico. King Carol wants to come to the United States. Uncle Sam has about 80 million dollars of Rumanian money frozen in this country. That may be the king's objective. King Carol's wife, Madame Lupescu, also wants to come to the United States to consult a plastic surgeon about face lifting.

A high ranking officer of our army back from Europe, believes Germany is approaching collapse. His guess is that collapse may come early next year. Members of congress who heard Mr. Hull's report on the Moscow conference the other day, feel that it is best to follow the advice and suggestions of those who know what the diplomatic situation is. Mr. Hull said: "There are still for us great hardships and sacrifices." That statement is being discussed in the halls of congress very seriously now.

Edward Hoffman of Neligh is one of the Nebraskans who is doing an outstanding war job. He is with the Wright aeronautical factory at Paterson, N. J., where excellent airplane motors are assembled.

One of the reasons why Nebraskans cannot get bananas is that the people who sell bananas can't get ships. Joe Gilinsky, representative of an Omaha fruit company, has been in town trying to get ships to bring bananas from Costa Rica. He says these Costa Ricans have a lot of bananas to sell and have given him a contract to sell them, but he just can't get the ships to bring them to the United States.

There are now 59,382 veterans of World War I between the ages of 60 and 64 years; 32,157 between 65 and 74, believe it or not, there are 33,381 veterans of World War I who are more than 75 years of age.

What is to be the policy of our government regarding final disposition of about eight billion dollars worth of alien enemy property now held by the alien property custodian? One suggestion is that enemy money and property be applied to the cost of the war. A bill directing such action has been introduced in the house of representatives.

Production in the first three quarters of next year of a large number of articles for civilian use, including 2 million electric irons, 900,000 electric refrigerators, and 900,000 washing machines, is the plan of the division of civilian requirements in the war production board. A large number of 1940 automobiles and trucks may soon be released by the army. So far as we can learn, no jeeps will be released at this time.

Members held a conference with representatives of a half dozen government agencies that deal with the allocation of farm machinery. They were told that 81,500 trucks have been allocated for the United States in 1944. That compares to 700,000 which were manufactured and distributed in 1941. So the 81,500 trucks in 1944 will be a drop in a bucket compared to what will be needed on the farms. Members were also told

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the lesson-lesson which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, December 5.
The Golden Text is: "Every house is builded by some man; but he that buildeth all things is God" (Hebrews 3:4).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-lesson is the following from the Bible: "I am the Lord, and there is none else, there is no God beside me: I girded thee, though thou hast not known me: That they may know from the rising of the sun, and from the west, that there is none beside me. I am the Lord, and there is none else" (Isaiah 45:5,6).
The lesson-lesson also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "There is but one primal cause. Therefore there can be no effect from any other cause, and there can be no reality in aught which does not proceed from this great and only cause... Those instructed in Christian Science have reached the glorious perception that God is the only author of man" (pp. 207, 29).

The church parlors were decorated with a Thanksgiving motif with an improvised fireplace. The dining tables were covered with small churches, to which were walking miniature Pilgrim figures. A May flower ship scene also added to the theme. White tapers in red apple holders were lighted during the dinner. The program presented follows: "Welcome," Dean Dion, president of league; a talk, "What We Have to Be Thankful For," Mrs. C. T. Dillon; a poem, "Massachusetts and His Gifts," Charles Jackson; a poem, "We Are Thankful," Lila Mae Neely; and group singing. Machinery Clinic May Be Conducted

Wayne county may again secure a farm machinery clinic this winter, according to information received by County Agent Walter R. Harder from State Extension Engineer L. E. Larsen.

The clinic may be held for one full day or an afternoon or evening session. Last winter a half-day clinic was held at Winslow and Carroll. County Agent Harder states that a clinic will probably be arranged for Wayne and possibly for Hoskins this winter.

New farm machinery may not be available to all who may want it. Therefore, it will be quite essential that every effort be made to put the used machinery in good repair this winter for next summer's operations.

Farmers interested in the farm machinery clinics should watch their mail and their local papers for definite dates of the clinics. They will probably be held in December or January.

Mrs. Henry Reynolds went to Kansas City Saturday to spend a week with Mr. Reynolds.

Effort Is Made To Hold Prices

War Food Administration Outlines Steps Taken To Help Farmers.

Every power of government will be used to maintain the price of live hogs at not less than the support price of $13.75, Chicago basis, War Food Administrator Marvin Jones declared.

"There is no reason why any farmer should sell hogs for less than the support price since the government will continue to purchase hog products on that basis," Jones stated. "These products will be purchased for army, navy and other governmental uses. If the farmers will cooperate in orderly marketing and not cause the market to become congested, the price can and will be maintained.

Jones outlined steps that are being taken immediately. Farmers will be authorized for a period of 90 days to slaughter on their farms any hogs owned by them and deliver the meat derived therefrom without obtaining a license or permit for such slaughter or delivery.

OPA, after consultation with WFA, is announcing for a limited period it will reduce the number of points required for pork purchase.

Slaughtering facilities have been overtaxed and farmers are being urged to get in touch with their marketing agency before shipping hogs.

The government stands ready to buy and is buying federally-inspected products at prices which will enable slaughterers to pay not less than the support price for hogs they purchase for slaughter. War food administration is requesting RFC to withhold slaughter payments from any slaughterer purchasing at a price below support price during December, and for such further period as such payments are provided. Most slaughterers have cooperated in maintaining the support price. The WFA asks that they continue.

The support price at Chicago for good to choice butcher hogs (barrows and gilts) 200 to 270 pounds weight range, is $13.75. Prior to November 29, 1943, the support

SISTER OF WAYNE LADY PASSES AWAY

Mrs. Reiners and son, Anthony, went from here to attend. Deceased was the first of 12 children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wiebelhaus of Fordyce, to die. price at other markets shall be the support price at Chicago, adjusted by the normal price differential, as affected by present conditions between Chicago prices and prices at such other markets. Effective November 29, the support price at any market other than Chicago shall be $1 per hundred weight below the maximum price, established by OPA, applicable to such market.

The foregoing support prices at markets other than Chicago shall remain effective until the war food administrator determines the need for and announces modification with respect to any market. The WFA in making such determination will give consideration to information received from producers, packers and others, indicating that the existing support price for any such market does not represent, under existing conditions, an appropriate differential in relation to the Chicago support price.

Library News

"The better part of every man's education is that which he gives himself, and it is for this that a good library should furnish the opportunity and the means." James Russell Lowell.

For students of Bible history Dr. Klausner has written a book called From Jesus to Paul. In this book the author concerns himself with two questions: How was Christianity transformed from a small Jewish sect in Palestine to a great non-Jewish world movement? Second, why did the Jews so forcibly reject the teachings of Paul, adhering firmly to the Jewish faith? This book is recommended reading for every minister, teacher and student.

One of the best travel books to come into the library for a long time is Grandmother Drives South, by Constance Henley. This is the tale of grandmother and her nephew who tour South America in a station wagon. They drive off the beaten paths and see things not ordinarily seen by the average tourist. The book contains excellent photographs and is highly entertaining.

We wish to call the attention of the reading public to a new magazine which has been issued since September. The name of the magazine is Free World. When we received our first copy we mentioned it in this column but perhaps because it does not have a spectacular cover and is new to the reader it has not been very widely read. Free World has the best list of writers of any magazine to which we subscribe. For instance in the December issue Sigrid Underst has an article on War Criminals and the Future. There is a panel discussion by 12 noted people among whom are Louis Adamic, Max Lerner, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, Orson Welles and Wei Tao Ming. There are reports from the underground in Europe and comments on new non-fiction books. The editorial board includes such names as Sir Norman Agnell, Nobel prize winner and author and lecturer, Bruce Bliven, H. V. Kaltenborn, Archibald Macleish, Thomas Mann, Walter Millis, editorial writer of the New York Herald-Tribune, Edgar Mowrer, foreign correspondent, Dorothy Thompson, Eduard Benes, Madam Chiang Kai-Shek, John Gunther, Yutang, James Shotwell, T. V. Song, Raymond Gram Swing and many foreign publishers and writers and representatives. Time spent in reading a copy of Free World will prove to be well worth your while.

Accident Fatal To Virgil Thies

Shotgun Discharge Takes Life of Wisner Youth Sunday Afternoon.

Virgil August Thies, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thies who live eight miles northwest of Wisner, was fatally injured in a shotgun accident Sunday afternoon, November 21, at the Herman Vogel farm. He died in an ambulance on the way to a West Point hospital.

The youth had been hunting and was putting his gun into his car to return home when the discharge of both barrels struck him in the abdomen.

Funeral rites were conducted last Wednesday from the home and from St. John's Lutheran church at Elger with Rev. Walter Koenig in charge. Burial followed in Wisner cemetery.

The youth leaves his parents and six brothers and sisters, Ellen, Alvin, Arland, Armeta, Gilbert and Eldon.

Apply for Trees With County Agent

Application blanks and information on Clarke-McNary seedling trees, extension circular 1700, has been received in the county office, according to Walter R. Harder, Wayne county agent, and Howard Gillaspie, Dixon county agent.

The recent blizzard drifted large quantities of snow into many farm yards. This was due to the absence of enough shrubs and evergreen trees in the windbreaks to stop the snow before reaching the barnyards and farm buildings. Clarke-McNary trees and shrubs are available for such windbreaks.

Varieties available for 1944 plantings are: Russian olive, Russian mulberry, American elm, cotton wood, green ash, honey locust, black locust, Chinese elm, hackberry, box elder, soft maple, caragana, wild plum, ponderosa (yellow or bull) pine, Austrian pine, Jack pine and red cedar.

Earl C. Maxwell, state extension forester, who spent several days in Wayne and other northeast Nebraska counties immediately following the recent blizzard, stressed the need of more evergreens in the farmstead windbreaks. He stated that Austrian pines are recommended in preference to the yellow pine as Austrian pines are not damaged by the tip moth. Adjacent counties are reporting tip moth damage in the yellow pine plantings.

Mr. and Mrs. Larson and their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Clegg, were here and in Sioux City last week. They were in Wayne Wednesday and Friday. Mr. Clegg is going into service and came to Wyoming to settle business affairs. The others accompanied him.

Brotherhood Meeting. Brotherhood of Our Redeemer's church met Tuesday evening last week with Ed. Bahr and Charles Sieckman special leaders. Rev. H. H. Hazzard was guest speaker. The next meeting is December 21.

Wm. H. Buetow has gone to Excelsior Springs, Mo., to spend part of the winter.

Aim Is to Supply Essential Labor

Wayne county farmers needing year-round farm workers should notify County Agent Walter R. Harder or Dixon County Agent Howard Gillaspie at once as all farm workers who are not needed during the next three or four months are being encouraged to accept essential non-agricultural work. Farm workers will be certified to essential non-agricultural work if year-round farm hand orders are not on hand in the county agent's office to show that the workers are needed and wanted locally.

Farmers who have any acreage of corn in the field should also notify County Agent Harder if corn pickers are needed.

The big demand for workers now comes from the Omaha packing plants where 1,800 unskilled workers are urgently needed to process the increased marketings of hogs and cattle. Officials of the war manpower commission point out that farmers appreciate the importance of meat processing in the war food production program. Furthermore, they know that if the packing plants lack sufficient labor, present talk of imposing hog marketing quotas may become a reality. But the quotas may be avoided if enough help is provided to handle the livestock receipts.

Farm workers who have finished corn picking and are otherwise available should see County Agent Harder for a release to take a temporary job in an essential industry. Selective service has set a maximum of four months for agricultural workers in non-farm employment. Men between 18 and 44 years, with 2-C and 3-C draft classifications, are required to obtain clearance from their local draft boards. Local offices of the U.S. employment service are prepared to give immediately referral to farm workers with proper clearance to all types of essential jobs, including the meat packing industry.

Service Held At Belden Church

P. F. Petersen Had Resided In Wayne County Before Going to Cedar.

P. F. Petersen, 75, resident of Belden 39 years and formerly of Wayne county, father of Wilbur Petersen of Wakefield, and sister of Mrs. Johanna Lutt of Wayne, died November 21. Funeral rites were conducted last week Wednesday from Belden Union church with Rev. A. Hoffer of Wayne, officiating. Burial was in Belden.

Mr. Petersen was born in Holstein, Germany March 3, 1868. When he was 4, he came with his parents to America and settled on a farm near Wayne. Population of the city has increased from 27,000 to 35,000 just recently. This is partly due to the construction of a large Dupont project, 65 miles from the city. The plant, it is understood, is to be operated after the war but for what residents do not know. That region has so many big power plants that the project is likely for some industrial use in peace times.

Is in Combat Duty.

Pvt. Howard M. Huffman, who left Wayne a year ago November 22 to enter service, has been doing combat duty in Italy since the last of September. He is in the 133rd infantry. In V-mail letters to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Huffman of Denton, and to his brothers, he tells about his work as a driver on a weapons carrier. The young men drive at night without lights over mountain roads that are just wide enough for a truck and that have one curve after another. He says "the wrong side is usually from 10 to 200 feet down. We try to follow the two tail lights on the truck ahead."

Pvt. Huffman wrote October 25 that "it's mighty hard getting a truck out of the ditch when you can hardly see your hand in front of your face. We winched three out last night. Did a fair job of bending fenders, bodies and gas cans, besides cutting down one tree and several stumps. We have a great arguing, cussing and laugh over the situation. Of course there are other situations not so humorous while they take place but are good for several laughs afterwards. The whine of a shell is a terrible noise."

The youth also told how the retreating nazis take everything of any value from the people. "If they have time they will burn or blow up the houses with little regard for the occupants. The Italians are very glad to see us."

Maj. Loren Dale Everton, formerly of Wayne, is pictured in Sunday's Omaha World-Herald pinning a pair of silver wings on Shirley Temple after the former child movie star had been selected as "kid sister" by members of Squadron 113 at El Toro, Cal., marine corps air station. The selection was made by youthful but veteran fliers who have seen action in the south Pacific. Squadron Commander Everton holds the navy cross for downing 10 Jap planes over Guadalcanal.

EQUIPMENT OF NAZI NOT UP TO AMERICAN

Cpl. Clarence Hoeman, son of Oscar Hoemans of Wayne, now in a hospital in Italy with a broken leg, belongs to a unit that held off a heavy nazi counter attack in the campaign there. (The unit has credit for putting 19 enemy tanks out of running order. The nazi equipment is clumsy and it's a wonder how they get as far as they do, the Wayne youth writes. Their tanks have steel tracks, where American are rubber. The armor plate on nazi tanks is not nearly as heavy as American, though it is heavier in front than on the sides. German prisoners tell the Americans that their ammunition is not as good quality as at the start of the war. "I hope it will keep getting poorer so this will end," writes Cpl. Hoeman.)

WARNING TO MOTORISTS

Recap

If You Want to Keep Rolling

Mr. William Jeffers, Rubber Director of the W. P. B., has always given the American motorists the unvarnished facts about rubber. Read the statement he recently made:

"ONLY THOSE DRIVERS WHOSE WORK IS MOST ESSENTIAL TO THE WINNING OF THE WAR CAN COUNT ON NEW REPLACEMENT TIRES FOR AT LEAST THE NEXT TWELVE MONTHS."

A Word to the Wise
There is only ONE solution to the tire problem for most motorists. That is to make the tires you have last until you can get new ones. That, in most cases, means recapping. Yes—it's recap or walk for most of us!

Don't let your tires wear to the point where recapping can't be done. Let us inspect them NOW. It's better to be safe than sorry.
