Marry at Service In Oakland Church

Miss Ruth Anderson Bride Sunday of Marvin Felt Of Near Wakefield.

In a pretty ceremony performed Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Covenant church in Oakland, Miss Ruth Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Oscar Anderson, became the bride of Marvin Felt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Felt, of Wakefield. Rev. Gifford Anderson of Oakland, performed the single ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was of white marquisette with lace insets and was fashioned with long sleeves, sweetheart-neck line and train. Her finger-tips veil was edged in lace and rhinestones. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations with white satin streamers. She wore a gold locket, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Kenneth Ericson of Ogden, Ia., sister of the bride, was matron of honor and her formal dress was of rose-headed taffeta with fitted bodice, puffed sleeves and gathered full skirt. Her colonial style arm bouquet was of pink carnations and pink ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Leonard Anthony of Malmo, cousin of the bride, and Miss Mariann Anderson of Omaha, acted as bridesmaids and wore blue marquisette gowns fashioned with lace insets. Their colonial style arm bouquets were of pink carnations with pink ribbon streamers.
Janet Anderson and Phyllis Erickson, nieces of the bride, wore flower-girls. Their dresses were styled alike, Janet's being aqua satin trimmed with lace and white ribbon and Phyllis' being rose satin.

The bridegroom and his brother, Myron Felt, who served as best-man, wore brown suits and had white carnation boutonnieres.

The bride's mother chose navy blue crepe for the wedding and the bridegroom's mother chose light blue crepe. Both had gardenia corsages.

The church was attractively decorated with large candelabra, potted plants and cut flowers. Miss Lanore Nelson played appropriate music preceding and during the ceremony. She also played the wedding march. Mrs. Charles Johnson sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because."

Myron Olson of Wakefield, Eugene Lundin of Allen, Carl Anderson of Pender, Elmer Anderson of West Point, acted as ushers.
A reception for 130 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. A short program was presented with Rev. C. A. Turquist of Wakefield, acting as toastmaster. Those taking part were: Rev. Gifford Anderson of Oakland, Rev. Victor T. Ohlson of Pender, Rev. David Gustafson of Oakland, Arthur Anderson of Oakland, Miss Helen Hanson of Wakefield, C. Oscar Anderson of Oakland, Arthur Felt of Wakefield and Vincent Nelson of Oakland.

The bridal couple's table was decorated with pink and white satin streamers which were used at the wedding of the bridegroom's parents, and pink and white candles in double crystal holders. The bride's mother baked the three-tiered wedding cake and Vincent Nelson of Oakland, decorated it.
Miss Dorothy Lundstedt and Miss Diana Rosen, both of Omaha, served the bride's table. Mrs. Aldon Sederberg of Wayne, poured at the serving table. Miss Helen Hanson of Wakefield, Mrs. Carl Anderson of Pender, and Miss Muriel Sandquist of Pender, served.

Miss Laverne Olson, Miss Jean Gustafson and Miss Iris Fredrickson, all of Wakefield, were in charge of the gift table. Miss Phyllis Anderson of Oakland, had charge of the guest book.
The bride attended business college at Omaha and was later employed there. The bridegroom has been farming with his father north of Wakefield.

After a short wedding trip the young couple will be at home on a farm north of Wakefield.

Specialized Tests Will Be Given Here

Army-navy college qualifying test for the army specialized training program and the navy college program V-12 will be given Wednesday, March 15, at 9 a. m., at the student-union building of the Wayne college, according to Dean Clarence McGinn of the college.

A leaflet of general information which contains an admission-identification form may be obtained at Dean McGinn's office in the student-union building. This form properly filled out will admit to the test students between the ages of 17 and 21 inclusive who are high school graduates or who will be graduated by July 1, 1944. Intent to take the test should be made known immediately to Dean McGinn in order that necessary test supplies may be ordered.

The examination is designed to test the aptitude and general knowledge required for the program of college training, and all qualified students are urged to take the test. At the time of the test each candidate will be given a choice of service preference, but taking the test does not obligate the candidate to enlist in the service.

The army specialized training program is aimed to meet the army's needs for specialists and technicians in certain critical fields of study. Academic work is at the college level at government expense.
The navy college program enables students to continue academic training at government expense. Successful completion of the prescribed courses may, following further officer training, lead to a commission in the navy.

With her come two violinists to make up the Mary Becker trio: The trio's cellist, Suzette Forques, a Feuermann artist pupil, Ada Koppetz, pianist, five times winner of the fellowship in Juilliard graduate school.

The program has been selected as a result of a questionnaire and is an all-request program, not from professionals but from music lovers from all over this western country. More than 50 per cent of those making requests have asked that Miss Becker play Tchaikovsky's Concerto for Violin, which she has been playing with Sigmund Romberg's orchestra all season.

NATIONAL EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION

Thursday, February 10, 1944.

Third Parties IT LOOKS as though Washington's new deal leaders in the democratic party will be too smart and too anxious to perpetuate their jobs to fall for the movement started in Chicago to launch a third party to absorb anti-new deal democrats.

Third parties have been introduced to interrupt the usual order several times, but never succeeded beyond helping defeat the source from which they sprang.

Thus, third parties have been popular and effectual weapons to employ in un-horsing political organizations in which un-reconcilable elements have developed.

The latest Gallup poll of labor union's political thought showed slight deflections from its former new deal allegiance. New deal majority among unionneers is still too large to encourage republican hope in that direction.

Wendell Willkie must have overlooked his presidential candidacy when he proposed a postwar fund of fifteen billions to help oil the wheels of reconstruction.

Vice President Henry Wallace shrinks from the synthetic rubber program as something that might hurt the "good neighbor" policy.

State rights are involved in the congressional fight over the proper way for soldiers to vote. Each side charges the other with unfairness.

Enemy countries have laughed the heed of war to enforce their vaunted superiority from childhood.

It is reassuring to note the testimony of psychologists and psychiatrists that mental breakdowns among soldiers or civilians are seldom tradeable to the war.

New wrinkles in public service often cost more and accomplish less than traditional forms. It looks as though a lot of work will have to be done in reforming reformers.

Feeling for the future which is sometimes expressed in Washington, leads the World-Herald to exclaim: "Hooray for the next generation and the budget which hasn't been balanced in 11 years."

Attendance and betting at race meets cannot be used as an argument for subsidies or for not paying taxes or for making liberal bond purchases.

So make whatever sacrifice may be necessary to help make the 4th War Loan Drive the success it must be if we are to realize our great objectives this year.

Ask yourself honestly — how much of a sacrifice is it to give up some luxury just temporarily in order to buy the best investments in the world? When you've answered that question, buy at least one extra $100 Bond now — at your office or plant, if possible. And if you've already bought, buy again this month — and keep 'em!

Library News

The Wilson Library Bulletin for February carried an article about juvenile delinquency and what the library could do with regard to the problem. The author of the article charges that a library should be more than a place to store and dispense books. It should be a place where knowledge dwells and from which it goes forth to guide the people. Anyone who can learn from life can learn from books.

Libraries in the past have not been indispensable to the people but our young people are growing up to feel differently about them. They start the library habit when very young; they attend the story hours and later they learn the value of good books and see the difference between poorly written books and those of real merit. When they are ready for adult books, they are at home in the library and have learned to select their books with confidence. It behooves us to give them the very best reading material written for them. But the important thing is that these children should grow up to feel that the library is an important institution in their community.

Juvenile delinquency grows out of the conditions and attitudes created and maintained by public blindness and immaturity, despite the existence of institutions whose purpose in being is to correct those very same attitudes and conditions. If the library, as one of these institutions, is not to fail, we must help our young people to learn to do better reading than their parents have done in the past.

Recommended reading for the week is, What to Do with Germany, by Louis Nizer. This is going to be a very much discussed book and subject in the next few months.

For relaxation two new mysteries are here. One is a Mr. and Mrs. North's story called Killing the Goose. The other is Design in Diamonds, by Kathleen Knight.

Especially recommended for the children is a series of books called The Little House, by Laura Ingalls Wilder. The first of the series is suitable for children in the 3rd or 4th grades and the last is interesting to young people in the middle teens.

Two books the young people have found of great interest recently have been The Sea Snake, by Stephen Meader, and The Road to Alaska, by Douglas Coe.

Story hour will be in charge of Mrs. J. W. Sutherland Saturday afternoon at 3:30.

Hubert Leuck bought the interest in his partner, Ervin McMangal, in the Pilger machine shop.

BREAKFAST IN BED NO DREAM IN ARMY
Breakfast in bed in the army! It sounds fantastic but it actually happened at Camp Campbell, Ky., according to the post paper, Retreat to Thaps, sent by Sgt. Christian E. Bargholz.
Regarding the breakfast in bed, one morning last week instead of the bugle blast the boys heard a sweet ringing little breakfast bell tingling musically in the barracks. Mess attendants politely asked, "Here's the menu, will you order breakfast in bed?" Men stared in amazement until the captain grinning affirmation that it was no gag. This special privilege was accorded the unit for its fine showing in individual tank crew gunnery tests. Real menus provided a choice of eggs "up, over or scrambled," plus cereal and cream, grapefruit, toast, coffee or milk.

"Kings of the chow line" is the name now given the outfit.

MINIATURE EDITION IS FROM ANTILLES
"Pave the way to Berlin with war bonds" is the pertinent message on the current edition of Thunderbird, the official magazine of the Antilles air command. A copy of the magazine in miniature edition is sent by Sgt. Mike Karel.
In an article addressed to stamp collectors, the magazine explains how this hobby can lead to valuable geography lessons. And it concludes with the note that "the world's best stamp buy is a United States war stamp."

Lt. Gregory Carpenter, veteran of 65 missions against the Japs, warns in the magazine that "you learn fast" when you are in combat against the Japs who are good teachers in the deadly game played for keeps. "Lie down rather than run for a trench when bombs start falling. Men running or crawling get hurt, but dogs and cats nearby are unscathed by flying shrapnel," the officer writes.
Privates had their day in Trinidad recently, according to the magazine. Sergeants served as table waiters, cigaret lighters and flunkies in general at a banquet for privates.
Nelson Eddy recently stopped in British New Guinea to sing for men of the base.

Primitive Life Seen By Youths On New Guinea

Primitive settlements of natives, unusual wild life and tropical climate are new to many young men in service. Pvt. John V. Pearson, who is stationed in New Guinea, writes January 24 about some of his experiences in that far island outpost.
"This country is not quite as likable as Australia," the young man writes. "It's pretty hot and rains quite often. The hottest since I have been here is 135. But it didn't seem that hot. It's more of a humid heat. One doesn't have to walk or work very hard to sweat."
"We got good food and once in awhile have ice cream and an iced drink. The Red Cross comes about once a week with cold lemonade. When you get a cold drink here it is a treat. We have a canteen and can buy almost anything. It is rumored it will close for about 30 days. If this happens we will be pretty much lost."

Noted entertainers bring laughter and relaxation to these boys once in awhile. Gary Cooper presented a stage show about six weeks before Pvt. Pearson wrote. John Wayne put on a show about a week before the letter was written. The youth almost missed the latter performance for he was with a group cutting a trail. They had a truck with them so all piled in and went back to camp. The movie, Oklahoma, was to have been shown but the machine broke. It started to rain as the men were returning and they got stuck, losing four hours of sleep.

"The group had many experiences while out for five days cutting the trail. They ate C rations for dinner. Breakfast and supper were cooked in camp.
"The fourth day out we found two snakes lying in the path," further continues Pvt. Pearson. "One was killing the other. We realized they wouldn't harm us as long as they were coiled about each other, so we finally decided to catch one. We cut a branch with a fork and pinned the snake's head down. The snake then started to uncoil. We decided he wasn't large enough to fool with so we killed him. He was about three inches through and about nine feet long.
"In the meantime one fellow had gotten hold of the other snake's tail to help him from coiling. We didn't have a rope to tie him onto a pole, so we used guaze. He pulled out of it. One man who was wearing a pair of coveralls suggested tying the arms and legs of his coveralls together and closing the zipper. He took them off. I finally got up enough nerve to grab the snake's head and put it in the pant's leg. Another fellow closed the zipper while another let go his tail. He pulled himself in. We went on cutting the trail.

"That afternoon we tied the snake onto a pole and carried him back to camp. A couple natives came to the camp and wanted us to give them the snake. They couldn't talk very plain, but we could understand enough to know that a snake like the one we had had killed a little boy.
"When we measured the captured snake we found he was 14 feet long and about five inches through the middle. Some of the men took pictures of it." Pvt. Pearson concludes the snake story by saying he doesn't believe Frank Buck has much on them.

The group shot a beautifully colored parrot while on the trail. There are quite a few wild hogs in New Guinea, but about the only other animal is the wallaby, an animal about a third as big and very similar to a kangaroo. A soldier in a group near where Pvt. Pearson is stationed had one for a pet. He was about the size of a rat ferrier. There are many kinds of birds.

Pvt. Pearson would like to take some pictures, but is unable to get films. He asks that anyone knowing where one can buy some V616 film to please notify his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bigler Pearson.

The youth received four Wayne Herald's last three weeks. He writes, "Even if they are about two months old I am as tickled as a kid over a new pair of shoes when they come."

Major L. D. Everton Awarded Navy Cross

The navy cross has been awarded to Marine Major Loren D. Everton, resident of Wayne a few years, for shooting down seven Japanese planes in three flights against numerically superior enemy forces over Guadalcanal.

Major Everton's citation follows:

"For extraordinary heroism as a member of a marine fighting squadron in aerial combat against enemy Japanese forces over Guadalcanal, Solomon Islands, during August and October, 1942. Throughout that strenuous period when the island airfield was under constant bombardment and our precarious ground positions were menaced by the desperate counter thrusts of a fanatical foe, Maj. Everton repeatedly patrolled hostile territory, strafed enemy ships and intercepted persistent bombing flights.
"With bold determination and courageous disregard of personal safety, he pressed home numerous attacks against heavily escorted waves of invading bombers, and in three vigorous fights against tremendous odds, shot down a total of seven Japanese planes. His superb flying skill and dauntless initiative were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States naval service.
Maj. Everton was born at Crofton. The 28-year-old flier was graduated from the University of Nebraska. He had received R. O. T. C. training at the university and upon graduation was commissioned a second lieutenant in the army. He resigned this in order to take flight training in the marine corps.
Maj. Everton wears the order of the purple heart for wounds received on Guadalcanal.
Mrs. Everton lives at Laguna Beach, Cal.

Young Folks Wed At Church Service

Miss Marion Wacker Bride Of Warden Lyons Last Wednesday Afternoon.

Our Redeemer's Lutheran church of Wayne, was the scene of a pretty afternoon service Wednesday, February 2, when Miss Marion Wacker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wacker of Carroll, and Warden Lyons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lyons of Laurel, were united in marriage at 2 o'clock. Rev. S. K. DeFreese performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of relatives and friends.

The altar was banked with ferns. The bride wore a white imported brocade slipper satin floor-length gown; peasant style and with sweetheart neckline. Her net finger-tip length veil fell from a tiara of pearls. She wore a gold locket which was a gift of the bridegroom. Her sandals were silver and she carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations. Miss Wacker entered with her father who had a white carnation boutonniere.

Miss Dorothy Lyons, sister of the bridegroom, served as maid of honor. She wore floor-length gown of blue chiffon and blue sandals. Her shoulder corsage was of red roses and white carnations.

Miss Bonnie Bruggeman and Miss Lila Ross served as bridesmaids. Each wore pink floor-length gown and sandals of white and gold. Each had a shoulder corsage of pink sweetpeas and white carnations.

Ernest Fork served as best man and wore dark blue suit. Mr. Lyons wore brown suit. Each had a white carnation boutonniere.

E. O. Richards and Hollis Williams, brothers-in-law of the bride, served as ushers. Each wore a dark suit and white carnation boutonniere. Mr. Williams lighted the tapers on the altar before the rites.

Mrs. Martin Ringer played Lohengrin's before the ceremony. She played softly during the service and also furnished the recessional. She accompanied Mrs. Ed. Bahe who sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly."

Mrs. Wacker and Mrs. Lyons, mothers of the couple, wore navy blue dresses and shoulder corsages of white carnations.

A reception was held in the church parlors and carried out the bride's colors of pink, white and blue. A bridal arch with a miniature bride and groom beneath it was presented to the young folks by

Cpl. Arthur Ward Finds Japs Tough

"Japanese soldiers look like underfed kids of 15, but they are tricky and tough and they won't give up," remarks Cpl. Arthur Ward, jr., of Norfolk, who is home on furlough.

The Blaine Gottmans of Dixon, were Monday last week dinner guests at John Gettman's for Mr. Gettman's birthday.

The Lewis Johnsons were with Mrs. Wm. Pritchard for Sunday dinner. The Wards have visited in Carroll often and are well known by many here. Cpl. Ward is a veteran of four major marine engagements. He spent six months on Guadalcanal and four on New Guinea. He was also at Munda, Ondange and New Zealand.

The youth believes it will take three years to finish the war in all parts of the world.

Most of the men want to get back to their old jobs, if possible. Many have learned new trades in service and they are anxious to put these to use. Some want to settle down in quiet little towns and others have a desire to travel in peacetime the routes they have covered during the war.

A Jap dive bomber scored a near miss on the ship on which the Norfolk youth traveled. Shrapnel struck about 25 feet from him. The corporal said that the men find the fox holes wonderful when Japs are bombing and strafing. Among the many things that pass through the mind when one is in such a spot, are thoughts mainly about home.

Pancakes and coconuts are two foods the youth does not plan to eat after the war. He lived on pancakes 29 days straight, and has eaten so many coconuts, some by necessity, that he does not care to see them any more.

On his return, Cpl. Ward lost his seabag between Munda and the New Hebrides. The transport plane went into a dive and all aboard were obliged to throw out their luggage to avert a crash landing. The youth carried many personal valuables and relies in his bag.

Cpl. Ward will report to San Diego for his new assignment.
