

Realignments Reflected in Late Primary Voting—Democrats' Gubernatorial Nominee a Surprise to the Party Organization—Other Surprises—Possibly Easing the Vice President Out.

Disruption of the democratic party is apparently due to new deal infection. Voting was light on primary day, but as far as it went it showed that the democratic organization had hopelessly bogged down under the weight of new deal fallacies.

An unexpected contribution from the Nebraska primary and a pain to party stalwarts was the nomination of George W. Olson, known as "bus boy" at the Mead ordinance cafe, for the democratic nomination for governor.

Olsen is said to have been a candidate for one office after another all his life. He denies that he was ever on the WPA, but explains that his son was at one time a member of that group and helped support the family.

Democratic discontent over the new deal's economic policies is revealed in the vote for Reg. W. Reynolds of Fremont, candidate for the Third district's congressional nomination on a platform that heaped ridicule on Washington's bureaucracy and wild spending.

Will M. Maupin, veteran editor and democrat of the old school, was made the democratic nominee for railway commissioner notwithstanding or because of his sharp criticism of the new deal through the years.

Three county, long known as a democratic stronghold, reversed its political order in the late voting. In the primary four years ago, the county cast 1,600 ballots for democrats and 900 for republicans.

The party of Jefferson is plainly dissatisfied, and its members only need an opportunity to register protest. Like republicans, democrats want sound public policies, and they know when they have enough of the wrong kind.

Phrases ordinarily queer pranks are multiplied by the faulty primary system which gives superior pulling power to popular names through unavoidable lack of personal acquaintance.

Wallace to China—Vice President Henry Wallace is scheduled to leave soon for China to reassure the Chinese and a Washington report says he will return in time to figure in the democratic national convention in Chicago July 19.

Design Training To Condition Men

Lt. Wayne M. Ralston Tells Kiwanians Here About Air Corps Work

In speaking to Wayne Kiwanians Monday on "The Training of an Aviation Cadet from Enlistment to Graduation," Lt. Wayne M. Ralston emphasized that the whole program is designed best to "condition" them into a routine.

Lt. Ralston, who was introduced by Supt. J. W. Litherland, began by supposing that a prospective cadet had been interviewed by a first lieutenant and had taken physical and mental tests.

From Sheppard Field, the youth's next assignment is usually to one of the college training detachments where he is taught orientation by the tactical department.

On completion of the CTD, the youth goes to classification center where he is chosen for further instruction as pilot, bombardier or navigator.

From pre-flight, the cadet goes to primary school where he accumulates 80 hours of flying time. His next instruction is in a basic flying school where he adds 80 hours of flying time.

Wm. Beckenbauer led group songs, Senator W. A. Crossland playing the accompaniment. Guests included Carl Pilger of Plainview, and Vernon Pilger of Denver.

In Monument Works, Clyde Mitchell of Muscatine, Ia., came Monday to be employed in the Wayne Monument Works.

"What's de trouble, Gertie?"

"Aw, de spaghetti's too stringy."

"Why doncha try it wid yer veil off?"

Now that the frost is all out of the ground you can put in that fence. You'll want some good evostated or Osmore treated posts, a few spools of barbed wire, or perhaps a roll or two of woven wire, some No. 9 wire and a couple of pounds of fence staples. You can get them all at Carhart's.

You need rough boards for many uses around a farm. You usually get them either six or twelve inches wide. Now you can have them four, six, eight, ten or twelve inches wide in good white pine rough boards.

How many do you need?

A bricklayer working on top of a high building carelessly dropped a brick on the head of his Negro helper below.

"You all bettah be careful up dere," the helper shouted up. "You done made me bite mah tongue."

Several ears of coal are coming into Wayne every week. It is up to you as a coal user to fill your bin as soon as possible so that we can keep more coal coming. Only by so doing can we be sure of being able to supply your needs next winter.

Protect the buildings you now have with a coat or two of Glidden paint. You may have to put off building some of the things you have been planning. You can add years to the life of a new building by keeping it properly painted. Insist on "Time-Tested."

Mother: "Now, Junior, be a very good boy and say 'please' so the doctor can get his finger out of your mouth."

Have you discovered Spring? If not, you're really missing something.

American Soldier Is Regarded Best

Bill Lugsch, jr., grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Johnson, and T. A. Straight of Wayne, recently returned after serving overseas for two years. He is now a patient at the Schick general hospital at Clinton, Ia.

The young man told that the American soldier is much larger than the British or French soldier but no larger than the German. The German soldier is in superb physical condition from a planned physical training program from the time he is old enough to be trained. The British soldier is a good fighter but the American is the best all-around soldier.

The returned soldier tells that the nazis have a much larger force in Italy than the allies. The enemy is utilizing the catacombs and tunnels built during the Christian era.

It is the opinion of Mr. Lugsch that it will be a long tough fight to battle the Nazi army clear across France. He believes the success of the pending invasion depends a great deal upon the weather.

Promoted in England. Donald Strahan, son of Mrs. Faye Strahan of Wayne, has been promoted to first lieutenant, effective March 1. He is in England. The young man writes that he heard "The Messiah" on Palm Sunday in one of the churches. Easter was not a style show in England but churches were filled with those who gathered to worship. He and three other service men sang "Angels of Mercy" at the Easter service in one of the churches. Lt. Strahan described the altar as covered with pretty white flowers. As he wanted to see what kind they were, he examined them and found the flowers were artificial ones.

James Stewart, the actor, is commanding officer of Lt. Strahan's combat group.

Many Familiar Faces. "There are certainly a lot of us over here now," writes Capt. A. T. Cavanaugh April 2 from England. "Hardly a week passes that I don't run into someone from near home or that I knew in school. London is nearly like walking down a street in a local U. S. city as I never fail to meet someone from Nebraska."

"It is getting spring over here. One slight difference here is that in spring people put fresh straw roofs on their homes."

"I want to express how much I enjoy and look forward to each copy of the Herald. The mail situation over here is a little confused at times but they must put a priority on the paper because I always get it. I know everyone must feel the same as I do about it."

Tells of Iran People. Pvt. Merlin Meyer, stationed somewhere in Iran, writes that the natives are not clean, as is the case with most natives. "Coolies (natives who work for the army) have so many fleas that one can see them jump. The women are always covered with black robes. Married women leave their faces uncovered, but unmarried women leave only one eye exposed."

The youth continues by saying "you have to watch them or they will take the shirt off your back. They wear the latest styled clothing—a greasy gunny sack and with a cloth wound around their heads. Some wear shoes when they feel like really dressing up."

Regarding work, Pvt. Meyer says, "A native takes his time and you can't hurry him. One of his favorite hobbies is to find a corner and lie down and go to sleep. It is almost impossible to teach them anything."

U. S. O. shows are presented ever so often. There is a service club and snack bar there. Each man was given a carton of cigarettes for an Easter gift. The youth writes that candy is a little scarce but it is possible to get most other things.

Pvt. Meyer sends his thanks for the Herald, "which provides one way to find out about home town fellows. It is the same as a letter from home."

Earns High Rating. Robert Haas, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Haas of Wayne, was graduated the first of March at the head of the class and was selected by a board of officers to go to technical officers' candidate school. First he must instruct in the school for at least six months to acquaint himself better with the course and he is now doing this at Lowry Field, Denver. The youth will instruct in electricity to gain a much broader practical knowledge in that field.

Not long ago I was also selected to make a record for the newly forming series of programs called "Soldiers' Return," writes the Wayne youth. "It is conducted in the same manner as the Chicago roundtable. A soldier who was studying in some specialized field before the war interviews an expert in that field in an attempt to discover what prospects there will be after the war. It was my good fortune to meet Mr. A. M. Riddle of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Co. in this manner. The recordings are under the direction of the Smithsonian institute and sponsored by the American Women's Volunteer Service. The records will be broadcast over this region at a later date.

"Right now I am in the hospital with a minor spinal infection. I will be operated upon at a later time. While the infection is draining, I am up and around just as usual but nevertheless I have to remain here under the observation of the doctor."

"Many thanks for sending the Herald. I really appreciate it," Robert's letter concludes.

Jars in which coffee, marmalade and peanut butter have been packed are not recommended for use in pressure cookers but they may be used for pickles, jams and jellies where processing is not necessary.

Victory gardens are more essential in 1944 than before, according to County Agent W. R. Harder. Government requirements on canned goods will be 43 per cent greater than in 1943 and on canned vegetables 19 per cent greater. This will mean that the government will need 70 per cent of the total supply of canned fruits and 50 per cent of canned vegetables. Thus, every family is urged to raise and store as much as possible.

A new type of ring will be available in place of the victory jar ring which gave an objectionable taste. Garden publications may be had on request at the extension office.

Prof. O. R. Bowen is speaker for woman's club here Friday afternoon.

Speaking to Wayne Woman's club Friday on "The Duties and Values of a Minority Party," Prof. O. R. Bowen noted that such groups are credited with several valuable reforms, among them the Australian secret ballot, state primaries, woman suffrage and the initiative and referendum.

In his preface, Prof. Bowen commented on the lack of appreciation which Americans entertain for the great privilege of voting. He also expressed the wish that politics might be purged of personalities and be guided more by principles.

Prof. Bowen outlined briefly the origin of the two major parties of today, the democrat which came into existence in 1832 and the republican in 1856. "From the days of the founding fathers, two parties were advocated, one acting as a checkmate on the other and both necessary for the best interests of the country generally."

"Through the years a number of minority parties have cropped up. Some have passed out of existence after a short time and others have survived. Each of these parties has during its existence produced a presidential candidate, usually the same man. Eugene V. Debs led the socialist party as long as he lived, and since then Norman Thomas has headed the group. This party has been kept alive by the two great personalities rather than by issues. The populist party, now extinct, was founded in 1890 as a protest of farmers against high freight rates. The progressive or bull moose party originated in 1912 when Theodore Roosevelt led a break in the republican party. The anti-saloon league is not purely a political movement but it has split votes in both major parties at times. The prohibition group was founded in 1869 and has had a candidate for president in every election since.

Minor parties, by causing shifting of votes, often split old main line parties and often swing an election. They often bring new issues before voters. They offer channels of expression for the discontented voter. They serve a valuable purpose in democracy.

Officers elected Friday are: Mrs. D. S. Wightman, president; Mrs. R. W. Casper, first vice president; Mrs. F. S. Morgan, second vice president; Mrs. Raymond Schreiner, secretary; Mrs. J. G. Miller, treasurer; Mrs. W. E. VonSeggern, auditor; Mrs. L. A. Eanske, house chairman; Mrs. C. P. Lapham, membership chairman; Mrs. I. H. Welch, music chairman; Mrs. R. W. Ley, publicity chairman.

The club voted to buy a $100 war bond in the E series with proceeds of the recent magazine drive. Mrs. J. G. Miller reported that the group has two other bonds, one $100 bond in the G issue and one $100 bond of the F issue. The women gave $5 to the national cancer control fund.

On the serving committee were Mrs. J. G. Miller, Mrs. Earl Merchant, Mrs. C. T. Ingham, Mrs. W. G. Ingram and Mrs. P. A. Theobald.

Leniency May Be Greatest Danger

J. S. Woodson Sees Need for Strict Control While Re-Educating Nazis.

The natural philanthropy of Americans and the fact that people here do not know firsthand the horrors of modern warfare will prove the greatest deterrent to lasting peace, according to J. S. Woodson, associate editor of the Sioux City Journal, who spoke to Wayne branch of A. A. U. W., and guests in the Woman's club room Friday evening. Besides being lenient and forgiving, Mr. Woodson explained, "we have allowed enemy spies to operate almost at will in the past." And he predicts that goodwill ambassadors from conquered nations will soon be active again here when the war concludes.

Nazis must be subjugated, the speaker believes, until the lust for power has been removed. China, Russia, Great Britain and the United States must collaborate until they have taken nazism from the nazis until nazis have learned how to live with other peoples. This does not mean that any one nation is fighting to preserve another, but it does mean, Mr. Woodson said, that "we are united to preserve the ideologies in which we believe."

The nazis and Japs cannot be trusted until they change their way of thinking. It is in their nature to dominate. They prepared for this war before the first world war was concluded. And the Japs will continue to attempt world domination for years," Mr. Woodson stated. The hope of the Japs, the speaker stated, is that the united nations will become so tired of war that a negotiated peace will result. "If we had kept the Japs from going into Manchuria in 1931, we might have avoided the present conflict."

Need to Re-educate People. In explaining how to deal with enemy people, Mr. Woodson stated that "we must de-educate them and then re-educate them. We must give them an opportunity to learn democratic ways."

The speaker condoned demolition bombing, stating that such practices are necessary to destroy ball bearing plants, railroad installations and other war-vital industries that keep the nazi machine in operation. He believes that the prominent clergymen who organized against such bombing erred in this action.

Leaders Keep Up War.

The war in Europe, Mr. Woodson believes, would have been concluded successfully by this time if allied nations had allowed the war leaders to be dealt with as prisoners instead of as criminals. "Hitler and his associates are not anxious to put their heads in a noose or go before a firing squad and they will make their people fight as long as possible," stated Mr. Woodson.

The speaker believes that nazis would not have allowed Berlin and other fine cities to be bombed if it were not for the determination of Hitler to save his own neck. The German people are wonderful builders and artisans and they certainly would not want their works destroyed. But the war will last as long as they obey Hitler.

The housing situation in Germany was none too good before the war and by another winter it will be impossible to bear, according to Mr. Woodson.

Occupation Difficult.

The army of occupation will have a difficult task because the nazi underground is already effectively organized, stated Mr. Woodson.

The post-war occupation plan is to place Russia in charge of eastern Germany, Great Britain in the northwest and the United States in the southwest. It is already understood that the German people hope to migrate so that Americans will be between them and the Russians. How long the occupation will have to be maintained is a matter still undecided.

Mr. Woodson believes that disarming the nazis and constant

Need Scrap Paper For Essential Uses

P. L. March, Wayne county scrap paper drive chairman, received word from the WPA that 667,000 tons of waste paper are needed every month to meet military and essential civilian needs.

Increased military requirements for fibre shipping containers, water-proof papers, maps, multiwall bags and other essential papers made from Kraft pulp will materially reduce the available supply of civilian products. But if the scrap paper quota is met it is hoped to be able to fill essential requirements.

Few types of goods can reach the consumer without aid of a container. So all are urged to turn in their scrap paper.

In Omaha Hospital.

Mrs. Mattie Seace entered an Omaha hospital last week for medical care. Mrs. H. S. Seace and Homer Seace took her there and returned last Wednesday.

Maintenance of strong air bases at strategic places on the continent would do much to insure peace.

Objectives Outlined.

The armies of occupation will have to teach the nazis the wrong of their lust for power. They will have to protect the slave labor brought in during the war period. They will need to help the German people reconstruct economically and socially, while preventing their preparation for future war.

Unit for Common Good.

While giving full credit to all allied powers, Mr. Woodson agrees with military leaders who believe that the Russians have performed the most brilliant miracle of all time. All nations in the allied group are united to save western civilization. "We are Americans first but are internationalists enough to contribute to helping make the world a safe and happy democracy."

Mr. and Mrs. Woodson had dinner at Hotel Stratton with the committee and a few guests.

Serving after the evening program in charge of Mrs. J. T. Bressler, jr., Hazel Frabm, Miss Gretta Hackenberg, Miss Jessie Boyce, Miss Lettie Scott, Mrs. Clara Heylman, Miss Helen Gildersleeve and Mrs. F. W. Nyberg.

Wedding Service Is Performed Here

Miss Elizabeth Frogue Is Bride of Emil Siefken Friday Evening.

Miss Elizabeth F. Frogue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Frogue of Delta, Colo., and Emil M. Siefken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Siefken of Wayne, were married Friday evening at 6:30 at Altona Trinity Lutheran church. Rev. Theodore Wieting performed the single ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate family and a few friends.

The altar was softly lighted and decorated with pasturiums and Easter lilies. Mrs. Arnold Siefken played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bridal party took their places at the altar.

The bride chose a navy blue two-piece street length dress trimmed with white lace. Her corsage was of sweetpeas and roses and her accessories were blue and white. Heino Siefken, who served as best man, wore dark business suits with carnation boutonnières.

Following the ceremony a reception and wedding dinner were held at the Fred Siefken home for about 18. The bride's table was centered with a two-tiered wedding cake and decorated with Easter lilies and nasturtiums and candles.

The young couple left on a short wedding trip and will then make their home near Wayne until Mr. Siefken is called for service.

Mrs. Siefken attended school at Delta, Colo., and Mr. Siefken was graduated from Wayne city school. Out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Robert Adamson, Miss Lillian and Miss Alma Siefken, all of Kearney.

Blast of Winter Comes in April

Wayne Voters Called Upon To Decide on Issuing Of School Bonds.

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for April 19, 1928:

Wintry April, with sharp teeth, have plenty of precedents. A Civil war veteran recalls a storm which started Easter Sunday, April 13, 1873, and lasted two days. He planted himself on a homesteaded spot Friday of that year, after a long trip by ox team, and one of the worst storms in history broke on Easter. Few trees or other windbreaks on the prairie halted early storms so snow piled high. This season work was so well advanced during mild March that the April storm will not interfere with its progress.

Young folks were injured when cars collided near the Altona church. Roy Witte, Mrs. Clarence Witte and children, Shirley Belle and Bobbie, of Winside, were in one car. Miss Theresa Sievers, Miss Pearl Olson, Henry Victor Stanley Barlow and George Holman were in the other.

Wayne band is entering the state contest in Lincoln. E. A. McGarrugh of Omaha, is coming to Wayne to be associated with Phil Briggs in the McGarrugh-Biggs garage. R. A. Parsley sold his interest in the garage to Mr. Briggs.

arm in a fall, underwent an operation in Norfolk. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Lund of Wakefield, April 21, 1928.

A brooder house and 150 chickens were lost in a fire at John Gettman's near Carroll. Miss Lillian Edwards of Carroll, and Allen Waller of Winside, were married April 15, 1928.

Stop signs are being placed along highways in this area. Culverts and bridges are being built along highway No. 20 through Dixon county. The road will soon be graded. Fire damaged the Tolles-Moore clothing store in Laurel.

Jones were in Creighton to attend the funeral of the latter's mother. Fire destroyed the barn on the L. Langenberg farm near Hoskins. Corn and oats were also lost. Henry Amend lives on the place.

Sherman's "march to the sea," died in March, 1891, when he was serving as commissioner of railroads. Great damage is being done by floods in the Mississippi valley. New Foundland and England are disagreeing over fishing rights and it is reported that New Foundland may ask admission as part of the United States. Dunn's report shows an optimistic outlook for the future in business. President Harrison has reached the half-way mark in his administration and appraisal leads to the conclusion that his management has been the best.

Dr. L. Kryger of Ponca, is considering establishing his practice in the new town of Wayne. "Ft. Sumter to Appomattox" is the only dramatic entertainment to be presented in Ponca this season. The store building of S. A. Bennett, adjoining the pharmacy, is being remodeled. Ethel Enders, Mabel Adair and Annie Francis were chosen to represent Ponca school in an oratorical contest in Norfolk. Sheriff Beckenhauer is busy riding over the county in preparation for district court session. The sheriff has fully recovered his health which came near being disastrously wrecked by the diabolical effort of his horse to throw him through the side of a barn. The horse has been sold and if it attempts to kick again it won't be at the sheriff. The grip is still prevalent and only a few have failed to have an attack. South and Apway creeks have been booming and rampant with water to the top of banks and filled with ice. Some damage was done by South creek near Martinsburg. Wm. Lister and John Friday are candidates for mayor of Ponca. The question of having water works in Ponca comes up at the spring election.

Writes from Madison.
Sgt. James Sharer writes from Triax, Field, Madison, Wis., that spring is really arriving there and bringing out the beauties of nature.

Madison, the capital of Wisconsin is a city of 70,000 and is built on a narrow isthmus between two lakes. One lake has a 22-mile shoreline and the other 13-mile shoreline. These lakes still retain the names given them by the Indians before the whites lived there. The Wayne youth says the Herald helps him feel closer to home and to other boys in service.

Transferred to England.
Christmas packages, letters, and digests and Wayne Herald reached Sgt. John B. VonSeggern in England to make March 30 a "bread" letter day for the Wayne youth.

"This is typical English weather, damp and chilly most of the time, but it is bearable," Sgt. VonSeggern remarks that he is glad Wayne people are able to help the air force boys at the service center.

In reply to a questionnaire regarding the War Dads, Sgt. VonSeggern asks, "How in the world do I know what I am going to do? I may end up almost anywhere and doing almost anything and I can't imagine what they could do except come over here and take my place so, I could get home for a while, and I know that won't work."

Sgt. VonSeggern is in the air transport command and had been in Africa and Sicily.

Writes from Alaska.
Sgt. Erwin Hatfield, who has a Seattle, Wash., address, writes that the Herald is coming through fine. Just a little late, but it always means so much to be able to read about things that are happening so far but yet so near. The column concerning the whereabouts of the various fellows in the armed forces gives us a pretty good location.

The young man continues by saying "I'm enjoying life as much as could be expected. The food is wonderful (?) but I could go for some of that fresh milk and butter and be able to go into a drug store and sit up to the counter and drink all the malted milks that I could hold. I imagine that is what we are fighting for so that we may return home and enjoy those things we used to enjoy."

Sgt. Hatfield writes that he recently had a letter from Art Lindgren, gunner in the navy, and Wayne McMaster, who is in Italy.

Facts About War Are Understated
"I feel that the American public is entitled to know the true facts of our casualties and our other losses and I am hoping that in the forthcoming months they will get them," writes J. H. Morrison, Red Cross director from an English base. "I do not believe there is anything that would stimulate the efforts of everyone so much as the realization that every day brings loss of life on any front. From where I sit most of the statements on the war have been masterpieces of understatement."

IF A TELEPHONE SEEMS HARD TO GET

REMEMBER...SO'S THE ENEMY

Why are there often delays in the installation of telephone service now? It's because use of service has increased tremendously and because vital materials needed for additions to telephone facilities are going instead into battle equipment to help get the enemy!

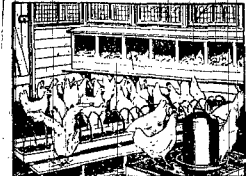

We usually can transfer service promptly for subscribers who move locally, but in most cases there will be a delay for new applicants.

We are making every effort to serve everyone as promptly as possible, and sincerely appreciate your understanding and patience.

Robert Green, 70, pioneer of Hoskins vicinity and father of Mrs. Worley Benshoof of this place, died of a heart attack Thursday morning shortly after rising. Robert Green and his family lived on the Chas. Green home place except for four years when they were in Hoskins. Mr. Green operated a livery stable and carrying mail.

Fire Less Worry Than Burned Ham

Lady Recovers Her Purse But Leaves Fur Coat In Strange Car.

Mrs. Eleanor Martin had a fire in her home. She wasn't bothered so much by the slight damage done but what did bother her was that her ham burned to a crisp in the oven. "And it took the very last of my ration points," she told firemen.

Earlean Bonton stepped off a Los Angeles streetcar and found she had left her purse on it. She signalled a motorist who gave her a lift and overtook the streetcar. She retrieved the purse, then remembered that she had left her fur coat in the stranger's car.

Pupils of Franklin school, Kansas City, who recalled a custom of the early American Indians and planted fish to fertilize their Victory garden, report a setback. Dogs came from everywhere. They dug up the ancient fish with vigor and rolled in same with gusto.

At New Brunswick, N. J., a woman 85 years old and with a number of young ideas, had her answer all ready when friends asked why she was stepping out without her upper dental plate. She put the denture on the window sill, she said, while she sat back one afternoon and enjoyed a cigaret. Then she mistook the plate for an ashtray and burned a hole through the middle of her upper.

At Raleigh, N. C., a woman wrote Governor J. M. Broughton that she had plucked a magnolia blossom from a park here some years ago, and asked the governor what she could do to ease her conscience. "Buy a war bond," the governor replied.

DeLong, Thomaston, Conn., holder of three medals for army marksmanship, is not happy about his latest accomplishment with a gun. Home on furlough he took to cleaning his favorite shotgun. One of his toes was blown off when the gun accidentally discharged.

When Mrs. Felice Gerrit of Philadelphia found a goat butting on the front door she sniped its horns and pushed. "That's no way," kibbized a passing motorist. "Get behind and push." She did—so hard that the goat chased the motorist back into his car. Two policemen finally rounded up the goat.

At Kokomo, Ind., a woman has asked police to help her find $80 she had placed for safekeeping in her shoe—one of those open-at-the-toe styles.

A Pueblo, Colo., shoe store manager wonders what Solomon would do: Two women saw the "very pair" of shoes at the same time and each grabbed one. When the manager arrived each demanded that the other relinquish the mate. The manager started helplessly as they sat for three hours, each firmly grasping a shoe. Finally he prevailed on them to leave the shoes while he ponders a solution.

When 9-year-old Gordon Teroux of Chicago accidentally shot himself in the leg, his father bandaged the wound, took an aspirin and went to bed. His aunt, Mrs. Floyd Walker, learned of his plight hours later and took him to a hospital for proper treatment. Doctors said he would recover.

Testing of Sows Found Advantage
Sow testing has a great advantage in developing a swine program for larger farms, according to agricultural agents. In such testing each individual pig is ear marked so as to determine the litter to which it belongs. Litters may or may not be weighed at farrowing, but at approximately 56 days or at weaning time, the litter is weighed and the number of weaned pigs is reported. Testing will help farmers make breeding selections easier.
