Lydia Neudham Pittenger to Robert E. Mark, April 28 for $18,000, N 1/2 of 3-25-2 south of the railroad excepting 8 acres conveyed to the Village of Winslow, also lots 2-5, block 12, lots 2-7, block 13, lots 2-8, block 14 and west 100 feet of lot 10, block 15, original Winslow.

THE OTHER DAY I was browsing through my files—just looking for answers to questions—and I came across some that applied to me as having a special interest. I jotted them down right away, thinking you might be able to make use of them too.

For example I searched for a simple answer to the question, "Why does the lower crust of pie turn out soggy?" Here it is: If the oven is not hot enough (350° F.) when the pie is first put in, the bottom crust does not set quickly and becomes soaked with pie juices.

And someone wanted to know how to make Fluffy French Toast. It's an exciting delicacy: Allow one egg, 1 tablespoon milk, and one thick slice of bread per person; beat egg whites and yolks separately, adding milk and seasoning to yolk; fold well-beaten yolks into stiffly beaten egg whites; dip slices of the bread into the mixture and fry in deep fat (350° to 375° F.) the same as doughnuts; serve immediately with syrup and crisp bacon.

And another had said, "My recipe calls for shortening and butter—but can I substitute?" For one cup, you can substitute one cup of margarine, or 1/2 cup of lard, or oil, or bacon fat.

And... "How do I measure shortening accurately, so there's no wasting?" That's easy. Just follow these drawings:

Veterans Benefit By Sale of Poppies

May is the month of poppies and the 1944 poppy sale which comes the latter part of May will help wounded veterans of both wars. Mrs. L. W. McNatt is local chairman.

Materials for memorial poppies are furnished free to veterans by the American Legion Auxiliary, and volunteer workers teach disabled men how to make the poppies. The entire poppy program from the supplying of materials to the distribution of the finished flowers to the American public is under the management of the Auxiliary.

Veterans and their dependents are the ones who benefit from the poppy sale, not only from the money that results from selling the poppies but also from having something tangible to do. These men in government hospitals are delighted to keep their fingers busy and their minds occupied with the intricacies of fashioning the poppies. Needy wives and children are also benefited from the sale of flowers.

The Auxiliary has been selling the memorial flowers for 24 years and each season the poppy becomes more closely identified with the Auxiliary and disabled men.

Heavy Rains Fall Throughout Area
Plowing and Planting Are Delayed Materially in The Middlewest.
Heavy rains Wednesday brought the total for the past week to about 1.5, according to the gauge at the State National bank. Sunday rainfall amounted to .25, Tuesday to .42 and by Wednesday afternoon to about an inch. Total moisture for April was about 4.64. Skies cleared Monday and the sun came out to make it the warmest day of the year. But the sunshine was short lived, for clouds gathered Monday night and rain started falling early Tuesday morning. Skies were cloudy last Thursday, Friday and Saturday and most of Sunday. The unusually lengthy rainy season has made farmers about three weeks late with their farm work. Most small grain is in, but only a small amount of plowing has been done. The nice weather Monday found nearly all farmers in the fields until late at night.

Division Leader Speaks to Club
Prof. O. R. Bowen Presents Kiwanis Objectives in Educational Program.
History of Kiwanis, its organization and functioning were presented by Prof. O. R. Bowen, lieutenant governor of division five, for Wayne club Monday. Prof. Bowen, who serves with A. V. Tasker, C. T. Ingham, C. M. Craven and E. E. Cahoon on the education committee, was introduced by Mr. Teed. Kiwanis was organized in 1915 and is now 28 years old. Prof. Bowen stated, "The first motto was 'We Trade,' but this came to sound too commercial so it was changed to 'We Build.' The first club was in Detroit and the second in Windsor, Ontario, Canada. Kiwanis International in the United States and Canada, now has 29 districts. Wayne club is in division five of Nebraska-Iowa district. Kiwanis International annual convention is in Chicago in June. Each fall district meetings are held and the one for Nebraska-Iowa district will be in Sioux City this year. At that time the district governor, seven lieutenant governors and secretary will be chosen. The district board of trustees includes these officers as well as the immediate past governor. 'Importance and necessity for free enterprise' is the theme for the Sioux City meeting. Wayne's club started in 1923 when charter night was held in the opera house which was then on the site of the filling station at 5th and Main. C. E. Cahoon was first president. This year the local club is emphasizing monthly reports by committees. Prof. Bowen mentioned that new members will be placed on committees and he urged their active participation. Aiding Objectives. Kiwanis has aiding objectives which Prof. Bowen read. These include: Giving primacy to human and spiritual values; encouraging daily living of the Golden Rule; promoting higher standards; developing good citizenship; improving communities; fostering friendships; creating high ideals. Special objectives have been set up for 1944. Prof. Bowen mentioned these as follows: Spending victory; active participation in some phase of the war program; helping influence a just and lasting peace; emphasizing good will and understanding; providing community leadership to reduce child delinquency; rededication to support churches and high standards everywhere; stressing opportunity and private enterprise as fundamental to democracy. Goal Is Attained. One of the goals of Kiwanis International for April was 100 per cent attendance, and Wayne club attained this. The local group had 98.86 per cent attendance for March, this being highest in the district. The program on Kiwanis education was conducted for new members, Dr. H. D. Kemper, Capt. W. H. O'Donnell, Ernest Peterson, Rev. O. B. Proett, W. G. Schulz and Albert Bahe, though the last named was ill and unable to attend. Herman Bahe led the group in singing "Star Spangled Banner." Besides 45 members, guests were Lt. Milton Auker of San Francisco, former Wayne youth, with R. W. Ley, Jack Durrie of Omaha, with Carl Wright and A. J. Atkins with Supt. J. W. Litherland. At the directors' meeting afterward A. J. Atkins was elected to membership.

Is Named Treasurer.
Beh Meyer, who attended the state convention of the Lutheran Brotherhood in Omaha Monday, was chosen treasurer of the group. He also was in the city Tuesday for synodical meeting.

Post-War Plans Are Considered
Patrick read the message and Rev. Wm. Kerns offered the closing prayer. The resolutions follow: "Dear friends: 'We have heard the message telling of your loss. Your son, Wayne, has made the supreme sacrifice demanded of all who cherish the ideals of freedom for mankind. Our hearts go out to you and to all who likewise sorrow. We know how great is your loss; we know too, the dread and anxiety which have been yours. We know your son, passing he spoke to us, first, the wee lad with Pul romping by his side; then, the school boy doing sums and taking measure of himself with his companions, always finding happiness in doing acts of kindness as he went his way through life, brave, honorable, manly. Manhood came quickly; and then we knew that he had heard the call which his country made in this despair of night. He became a soldier, one of those citizens of death's grey land, where no one draws dividends on time's tomorrow; yet in the great hour of destiny he stood looking away and away to where dreams are crystallized and made real, brave and unafraid as when a boy. 'It is sad to think that he and many other beautiful young souls have taken flight, having offered their all on the altar of duty. We are proud of our soldiers. They fight for a just cause. Far ahead on sad, smoking, flat horizons our sons plant our standards and challenge us who remain at home. We, the fathers of those boys, accept the challenge they have given, and here highly resolve: 'That your boy and the hundreds of thousands of other youth who give their lives for the cause shall not have died in vain. 'We here dedicate ourselves more fully to the cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion. To keep inviolate the principles of the Atlantic charter and guard with vigilance our inheritance of democracy and freedom. 'That we shall cooperate in every way possible toward winning the objective of the war. 'That we will promote mutual trust and good fellowship throughout the people of the earth and we shall strive to understand one another. 'That we shall stand behind our boys who are risking their all for us by buying bonds, providing equipment, contributing to activities which aid, and support and build their morale, writing letters frequently to men in the armed forces, thereby keeping them in touch with home. 'That we will extend the hand of hospitality and good will to men in service. 'That we will give these boys all aid possible in making necessary adjustments when they return to civilian life. 'Finally, that this expression of our sympathy to you and to all other parents similarly bereaved, and of our purpose to prove ourselves worthy parents, be made a matter of record, one copy being sent to Dr. and Mrs. C. A. McMaster; and one copy being incorporated into the minutes of this club. 'God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform; yet God is love.' Two Youths Speak. S. Sgt. S. E. Bradford, jr., home from the south Pacific, and Cpl. Dean Granquist, here from Alaska, spoke briefly. Letters from service men, suggesting their desires at conclusion of the war, were read. Sound motion pictures of world events in 1943 were shown by Dr. Geo. Seek. Scenes of the college campus here were also presented. Dr. Seek plans to secure a late news reel for the next meeting the last Thursday in May. All men who have sons, sons-in-law or daughters in service are invited to join American War Dads.

Questioned SEIZURE of the Montgomery Ward business in Chicago by the president on account of disagreement over relations with the CIO has aroused sharp disapproval...

"President Roosevelt's order to the army to take over the civilian business of Montgomery Ward and company in Chicago looks like an extension of war powers into purely civilian fields where neither congress nor the people ever intended it should operate."

"Wards is not a war plant. It sells to civilians. If the president has the power to take over this business in order to force it to extend an expired contract with a labor union, without an election to prove the union has a majority of employees behind it, there isn't much the president can't do by use of the army, to any civilian business."

"The president's order seems to be a substitute for a perfectly lawful method of deciding the issue at stake. The Ward contract with the union expired last Dec. 8. Wards, according to a statement, offered to negotiate a new contract covering five of the seven bargaining units. But it questioned whether the union represented a majority of the employees in the mail order house and retail store because less than 20 percent in those two units were then having union dues checked off from wages."

"There was a way to settle this and that was to call an election of employees. Such an election was provided for in the National Labor Relations act. But that was not done. Instead the war labor board ordered Wards to extend the expired contract without a testing election. Wards contended that this was illegal, and resisted."

"So the president has used powers given him to keep war plants operating, to force a civilian business to extend its labor contract without recourse to the procedure provided by law. If he can do that what can't he do to civilian industry? If that is legal, what can Hitler do to German industry that Roosevelt can't do to American industry?"

Standing SOME leading party men are supporting George Olsen, democratic nominee for governor, creature of the state's primary, in contrast with some others of the organization who have indicated a wish to push him aside because he has to work for a living and at one time was only a few steps removed from WPA.

Olsen's published statement of last week, proposing among other things to keep Nebraska in the Union, which is admittedly important, was well intentioned if not a masterpiece in statesmanship. Qualifications could be less. It is remembered that Andrew Johnson, seventeenth president of the United States, struggled through poverty with no schooling, and was taught to read and write by his wife. He started as alderman and wound up as president. He was not superior to Olsen who, in going down to defeat in November, should do so unabashed.

Enlarged NATION'S Business takes a look into the dictionary and finds that the word "professional" is not defined as applying to business men. The magazine contends that usage has outgrown the dictionary. It includes business in the professional category with these words:

"Modern Business has a literature of its own, standards of service and quality, a system of ethics and its own institutions. No profession has more."

"True, some business men are quacks but the same can be said about lawyers, doctors, ministers and teachers."

"We still think most of our readers are professional business men; leaders in their communities, skilled in their specialties, a comfort to the parents who bore them, and, with mighty few exceptions, doing a good job."

Jeffers WM. M. JEFFERS, president of the Union Pacific Railroad, addressed a crowd in New York recently when special honors were bestowed on him by the American Irish Historical society. Mr. Jeffers who worked from the lowest to the highest rung in the railroad ladder, counseled use of more common sense. He is quoted as saying this among other things:

"There are no simple national problems today. We are in a maze of complicated problems. They may have started out as simple ones, but they have been surrounded and obscured by so much window dressing and camouflage as the result of vivid imagination, academic theorizing and inexperienced guessing that it is a tough job to get through the incidentals to the buried heart of any problem."

The republican state convention at Norfolk this week drew a sizable crowd of interested delegates, and proceedings were harmonious, but not indifferent. Besides transacting routine business, the convention listened to speeches and resolutions. Exceptions were taken to the new deal's domestic program, but the one was inclined to brag. While delegates recognized the certainty of republican victory in the middle west, they were not so sure of results elsewhere, realizing that a lot of educational work will have to be done to swing doubtful states away from a fourth term.

According to Time Magazine, New Dealer Thomas Francis Ford refuses to run for reelection from a downtown Los Angeles district because he is tired of belonging to the majority and seeing the minority run the house. Then the majority must be convinced the minority is right. He approved the house of representatives as "the least enlightened and dumbest bunch I ever had anything to do with." Having thus spoken with a determination to retire, we wonder how he compares in qualities of statesmanship.

Monday's threatened dry spell was cured during the subsequent night when clouds gathered and rain fell Monday—first day of May—the sun came out early and remained that all day, people took to fields and gardens, and the air was full of the welcome scent of burning waste. Warm zephyrs lifted enough dust into the air to excite feelings of suspicion on the part of those who recall drought years. Moisture that followed a day of wonderful sunshine, removed fears.

A report comes out of Washington that appointment of a successor to the late Secretary of Navy Frank Knox may be delayed until after the two national conventions have been held. The practical successor would be Undersecretary James V. Forrestal who knows the job from A to Z. Stassen and Wilkie, republicans, have been mentioned, but it is a reasonable guess that neither could be persuaded to accept the place if it were offered.

Secretary Harold Ickes is fast qualifying as a long crackpot. He suggests that following cessation of hostilities the war plants be turned over to returned soldiers. What would they do with them? There are plenty of ways to help surviving victors into useful civilian jobs without a grandstand play at offering them something they couldn't handle, couldn't turn to peacetime profit and wouldn't want.

It is significant, if true, as recorded by Time Magazine, that the name of Franklin D. Roosevelt was not mentioned once by Chairman James A. Farley or by any other speaker at the recent celebration of Thomas Jefferson's birthday anniversary by the National Democratic Club in Manhattan, whereas Jefferson's name was mentioned 201 times.

The record shows little rainfall in the early months of the drought years of 1934 and 1936. Moisture of one and one-tenths inches came during the first four months of 1934, and precipitation for the same period in 1936 was not much better. What paralyzed us in 1936 was only one-tenth of an inch in July.

The Lincoln Journal reports a daily rule in a western Nebraska farm area of starting the day at 5 a. m. and finishing chores around 9 p. m. That is not an unusual experience during busy seasons. Labor and machinery shortages have lengthened hours of work and caused increased hardships.

No civilian is hurrying the invasion, or is impatient over delay. Every one believes it will be a terrific clash of men and steel and that unavoidable losses will be heavy. It would be a relief if air forces could bring enemy surrender, but probably they can't.

Withdrawal of General MacArthur from the field of republican presidential possibilities may make the nomination of Gov. Tom Dewey more nearly unanimous on early balloting. At this time Dewey is evidently the popular choice.

The Baltimore Sun says this nation is now operating in the financial stratosphere, adding this: "Let's hope nothing happens to the superchargers and oxygen tanks."

If we were advising Washington, we would say among other things: Spend to win the war, but save on non-essentials to ease peacetime reconstruction.

Clean and warmer weather is an invitation to clean streets, alleys and yards. It has also spurred plowing and planting.

Future world order will depend largely on tolerances freed from racial prejudices.

Crime and Punishment. (Nation's Business)

A judge in sentencing a criminal, recently said: "I'm giving you the maximum punishment—I'm letting you go free to worry about taxes, rationing shortages and everything else just like the rest of us!" But, Your Honor, is "crime" and unusual punishment constitutional?

DEWEY SPEAKS.

Governor Tom Dewey, who spoke before a group of publishers in New York recently and who is gaining from day to day as the popular choice for the republican presidential nomination, made plain his position on international affairs in harmony with a previously reflected attitude and in complete refutation of aloofness from world responsibility. He emphasized major objectives in this way: "To carry on the war to total crushing victory, and in so doing to drive home to the aggressor nations a lesson that will never be forgotten; to organize in cooperation with other nations a structure of peace backed by adequate force to prevent future wars; to establish and maintain in our relations with other nations conditions calculated to promote worldwide economic stability not only for the sake of the world, but also to the end that our own people may enjoy a high level of employment in an increasingly prosperous world."

Officials Convene To Hear Addresses

Soldier Voting, Taxation and River Development (Are Among Topics)

Absentee voters' ballots for persons in the armed forces, development of the Missouri river and tax equalization were among topics discussed before northeast Nebraska county officials at Norfolk Saturday.

Senator Lynn Hutton of Norfolk, explained changes which county officials will note in next fall's election. He also told how soldiers' votes are to be handled. Tax Commissioner Robert Armstrong explained the state's attempt to bring about equalization of property taxes in Nebraska, adding that the desire is to decrease real estate taxes.

R. H. Vandemoer of the state assistance office, urged county officials through their attorneys to file claims against estates of deceased persons who have been on county assistance rolls. The money goes back to state and federal funds. He told that often counties get $1,000 to $2,000 a month from this source.

Supervisor John Borsyth of Niobrara, discussed the Missouri river development as advantageous in furnishing water for irrigation and electric power, also in flood control and cheap transportation.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bard, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Schwartz, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Miskelf, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Erickson were in Norfolk Saturday when the men attended the convention.

While the committee has met its goal of enough members to have 500 cows, members will continue to take agreements. Any dairymen wishing to become members may secure forms from Clare Baskirk, Joe Beckenhauer, Ralph Beckenhauer, Gail Sollen, Raymond Langemeier, Earl Anderson, Don Bealer, Wayne Gilliland or Chairman W. THE COMMON MAN.

The Christian Science Monitor senses the importance of this so called common man in war as well as in peace. Only the war is being fought not only for the common man, but by the common man for all men. The Monitor goes on to say: "Honor headlines in American newspapers this week were shared by a sharecropper, a Creek Indian, and the son of a blacksmith, all recipients of the Congressional Medal of Honor. Johnnie Hutchins, the Texas sharecropper, while mortally wounded by a bomb explosion, steered his ship to safety out of the path of a torpedo. Second Lt. Ernest Childers, the American Indian mechanic, though suffering a fractured instep, moved up the Salerno hillside, and in his own apologetic words: 'There were three machine-gun-nests on that hill, but I got to take care of only two of them.' Commande Kely, the blacksmith's son from Pittsburgh's 'Dutchtown' section, is credited, among other feats, with accounting for 40 enemy soldiers. If these be common men, may we have more of them! And may post-war planners remember the debt that we owe them and their counterparts on every battlefield. Charity cannot pay that debt. Justice and opportunity can."

Drama at College Has War Theme

Members of the college-class in dramatics are preparing a recent Broadway hit for the commencement play May 18. The drama, "Letters to Lucerne," written by Fritz Rotter and Allen Vincent, takes place in the summer of 1939 in a school for girls near Lucerne, Switzerland. Under the protection of a pleasant school mistress, the girls are living an idyllic life apart from the hatreds of the world. When the war comes the hatreds and suspicions of the world intrude into the environment of the school and align the girls against each other. In the final scene the feeling dissolves when the German girl reads her letter telling of the deliberate sacrifice of members of her family.

The critic of the New York Herald-Tribune said of the play: "With sensitivity, good taste and genuine feeling the authors described the wreckage that results to human feeling and decency through the horrors that the Nazi spirit has brought upon us. 'Letters to Lucerne' is a drama of honest emotion—written in the deepest sincerity, and much of it is lovely and moving."

W. E. Winterringer Has Stroke Here

W. E. Winterringer, 76, balloonist in northeast Nebraska for many years, operator of a billboard parlor in Wayne recently, suffered a stroke of apoplexy early Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. Jessie L. Miller, where he stayed. Mr. Winterringer was taken to a local hospital where he remains very ill. Quota for Fifth Bond Drive Set to make and surpass this quota," declared W. Dale Clark, state chairman of the war finance committee.

"We are depending upon our fighting forces to defeat the enemy and they are depending upon us to support this great task through the purchase of our share of war bonds."

Under the new quotas, individual Nebraskans are asked to purchase $56,000,000 in war bonds, an increase of $3,000,000 over the last campaign. State figures for the "E" bond series remain the same at $34,000,000.

Businesses of all types in Nebraska have been given a quota of $50,000,000, or a $9,000,000 increase of the $41,000,000 quota they received during the fourth war loan drive.

The state increase had been anticipated for several weeks in view of the national quota being placed at $16,000,000,000, which was up $2,000,000,000 from the last campaign. The national quota for individual purchases will jump from $5,500,000,000 for the fourth war loan to $6,000,000,000 for the fifth war loan campaign.

County quotas for the forthcoming campaign, based on the newly announced state figures, will be presented within two or three weeks, according to Leon J. Markham, executive manager of the Nebraska war finance committee. Faced with the responsibility of raising the largest quota ever given the state during a war bond drive, Mr. Clark pointed out that each and every county must make a determined campaign to reach all potential bond investors.

"With grim determination, each county must make every effort to raise its share of Nebraska's quota," Mr. Clark said. "Because the figure is higher this time, we must not get jittery and feel as if we cannot succeed. We must sell more war bonds than ever before, and add to the jittery feeling which now exists in the camps of the enemy."

Getting the campaign under way early, even before the official opening day wherever possible, is good for morale. Mr. Markham told county officials. He pointed out it would disclose weak spots which might exist in some of the communities. "Before the start of the drive, every county committee should know where the money is coming from for the purchase of war bonds," Markham added. The state chairman said, "The organization in each precinct and town also should be large enough so the burden of work will not be too great for any one solicitor. The people must be fully informed about the drive. "All available talent, including banks, newspapers, theatres, retailers, women's groups, farm organizations, boy scouts and similar organizations, should be used to the best advantage. John B. Smith and Leland R. Hall, field representatives with the state war finance committee, also conferred with county groups. The meeting was one of 22 being held throughout the state this month to outline the fifth war loan drive. Patronize the advertisers

Sunday, April 30, was the birthday of 1st Lt. Wayne McMaster who passed away March 3 on the Anzio beachhead in Italy. Friends remembered his parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. McMaster, with the following message which has proved a great source of comfort to them and which will also provide solace to other parents:

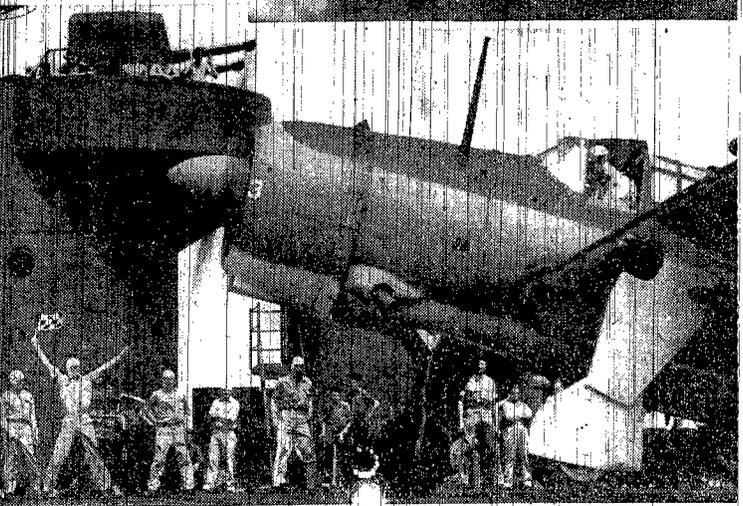

Helldivers!

Here's the new Navy Helldiver, as fighting a plane as ever roared down from the skies. Since its devastating debut at Rabaul last Armistice Day, it has blasted Jap bases and shattered the Japs' shipping all over the Pacific.

Below is shown a close-up of the Helldiver, propeller whirring and motor roaring as the pilot awaits the down-swinging of the flight to send him scurrying from a carrier on a mission of Jap destruction. The Helldiver in flight is shown at the right.

Its apparent simplicity in external appearance is deceptive. The right center wing panel alone contains 500 parts, built by De Soto division of the Chrysler Corporation, whose automotive engineering skill is devoted exclusively to making weapons of war.

Winning of War Is Big Objective

Republicans Elect Officers and Precinct Leaders Here Thursday.

United effort to win the present world conflict was stressed in resolutions unanimously adopted at Wayne county republican convention held Thursday afternoon at the court house.

The resolutions committee were Paul O. K. Bowen, chairman, Luther Anderson, J. M. Peterson, Mrs. Irvy Reed, Mrs. Wm. Hugelmann, Dr. R. L. Gormley and E. W. Huse. The resolutions read as follows:

"That which has priority in our thought and in our purpose is a speedy winning of the war and the returning of our soldiers to civilian life; and to this end we pledge our utmost efforts in the support of our military leaders.

"We recognize that the party that came into power with the great Lincoln, blazed the way for a re-birth of economic freedom. Its Civil war record has been repeated in every subsequent crisis. It is giving generously and wholeheartedly to prosecute action against its present enemies of strange and threatening ideologies.

"This war is not one of party politics, but one involving liberty and self-determination. It is not a new deal war nor a republican war, but an uprising of all free peoples against the menace of totalitarian aggression. The republican party, whose sons are found on every battlefield and whose dollars are contributed with utmost generosity to every branch of the government's service, feels eminently capable of speeding the conflict to a successful end and of arranging peace terms that will prove just and lasting.

"We are shocked at the way private enterprise has been strangled and handicapped by a decade of new deal mismanagement, and we pledge our endeavors to revitalize its blood streams, restore its usefulness, and stimulate its employing possibilities.

"The new deal's broken promises for a dozen years, its costly and unworkable experiments, its imposition of bureaucratic restraints and its effrontery in wishing to perpetuate one man in power, are enough to make voters turn from it again.

"Republicans indignantly resent the imputation that they are isolationists or that they shrink from world responsibility. They are proud of the prominent candidates from whom leaders will be chosen at the national convention in Chicago. Despite the charges of new deal hangers-on, our candidates reflect clear understanding and uniformly high statesmanship in considering world problems.

"The war will be helped rather than hindered by a change in national leaders. Peace will be the product of the country's best minds. Shattered confidence will be restored and reconstruction will be healthy and sound.

After the United States entered hostilities in 1941, Miss Carpenter and her associate, Miss Alice H. Service of Women Is Topic for Club

Conduct Panel Discussion on Part Homekeepers to Play After War

Will women in war work return to the home after the war? This question provided the topic for panel discussion for Wayne Women's club meeting Friday in the club rooms. Mrs. F. S. Berry served as chairman. Mrs. Madge Bardsley and Mrs. F. W. Ley presented views and facts indicating that a great majority will return to the home. Mrs. F. S. Morgan gave brief reviews of two books which point to conclusions that women will want to continue outside employment. "In any emergency some one or many things must suffer, but only from suffering can the strong soul emerge," Mrs. Berry stated. The leader explained that the discussion was presented not to take sides but to produce material for thoughtful consideration of the matter.

Mrs. Bardsley spoke from the viewpoint of a professional woman. She expressed the belief that most women prefer home life. She noted that after World War One, nine out of 10 nurses returned to their sweethearts at home, married and were anxious and happy to have their own homes. She feels that a woman is most contented when she is a homemaker and can serve her husband and family. "She will gladly give up the overalls in the kitchen."

Mostly marriages and loose morals often come to the fore in wartime, stated Mrs. Bardsley, but they are not the rule. The speaker mentioned that the majority of women come out of war service with high standards. Mrs. Ley presented results of a survey she made locally among 50 women 18 to 60 years of age. She found that 10 will not be affected by the close of the war. Of the others, 34 are married and six are not, and 16 have children with the number varying from one to seven. Mrs. Ley found that only three of the 40 wish to continue in their employment after the war, and the younger ones are especially anxious to return to home keeping. Practically all this group will welcome opportunity to get back to their homes and normal times.

Mrs. Ley found, two of the mothers of small children emphasized their desire for the time they can give more attention to their little folks.

"Why Women Cry" by Elizabeth Hawes, and "Out of the Kitchen into the War" by Susan B. Anthony II, are the books which Mrs. Morgan reviewed. Both writers are reporters, and Miss Hawes entered factories and joined unions to gain her information.

They hold that a woman has a right to be socially productive along with her home and family services. One of the writers noted that women have improved conditions and heightened efficiency in many war factories. It further asserts that a woman does not give her full share to society in the home alone. The second book mentioned that women's services have provided the margin that spells victory in war work. This book favors child nurseries, recreational centers and kitchens preparing foods so that women can continue to devote time to enterprises outside the home. "Will not their effort today give them a place in the world tomorrow?"

Mrs. Berry summarized the messages. It seems the general desire is for women to "return to the home as God intended." Stressing the importance of the home, Mrs. Berry told that a survey shows that service men who have early religious instruction in the home retain their faith. "Don't blame the children as delinquency lies with parents who fail to provide their children with religious training."

Mrs. G. M. Danskin, accompanied by Mrs. H. A. Welch, sang "Morning" by Oli Speaks, and "Lassie with the Dejeate Air" by Michael Arne. The program opened with the flag salute and singing of "Star Spangled Banner," led by Mrs. Clarence McGinn.

The serving committee Friday included Mrs. T. T. Jones, chairman, Mrs. Albert Johnson, Mrs. Anna Juhlin, Mrs. A. McEachern, Mrs. H. J. Felber and Mrs. Ed. Perry.

For the club program May 12 Mrs. John R. Keith and Prof. Russell Anderson will have charge of musical features. Mrs. C. P. Lapham is serving chairman.

Wakes Up Unhurt at Bottom Of Steep Embankment In Car Mishap.

A year ago a New York businessman, passing through Troy, N. Y., saw USO workers feed soldiers on trains. He sent the USO a check for $100. The group just received another message from him. It read: "I paid my federal income tax. I paid my state income tax. I bought some war bonds. Then I had $104.97 left over. So I said to myself, 'What good is $104.97?' So I enclose my check for $100 for ladies who get up before daybreak to feed soldiers."

Ray Beck, San Francisco shipyard worker, recalls driving sleepily along the highway late at night. He awoke five hours later still sitting at the wheel. The car was demolished and was at the bottom of a 200-foot embankment. Beck was unhurt.

Federal Judge Peirson M. Hall, Los Angeles, tired of dealing with draft dodgers, counterfeiter, and the like, thought it would be a fine idea to accept a personal invitation to attend the gala opening of a new Beverly Hills restaurant-cabaret. He donned his tuxedo. Then he remembered that restaurant had gone out of business a year ago. He look at the invitation again. It was mailed in April, 1942.

The C. D. Smith family of Corinth, Miss., might well be dubbed the "V for Victory" family. All of Smith's 13 children have names beginning with V—Virgil, Virgil, Viola, Vadie, Vina, Viri, Van, Vester, Varnell, Vera, Verline, Vernon and Vandel.

For a few moments Vernon, Indiana, thought it had been bombed. Military aircraft appeared overhead and then there was a terrific explosion and a house began burning. A large fuel tank had exploded while being soldered.

No matter how well her victory garden grows, Mrs. Lois Schuknecht of Chicago, is afraid she is going to lose money this season. While she was busy spading, a thief stole a suede jacket which she had left on the lawn. Her engagement and wedding rings were in the pocket.

At Waynesboro, Pa., a rush on the dried pea supply brought smiles to grocers' faces. But not for long. They, along with all the other townspeople, are complaining that they are targets of bush-shooter addicts roaming the streets with plastic tubes and mouthpieces of the dried vegetables.

The S. P. Grangé family of Decatur, Ill., was trying to spread the pheasant and quail among more dinner guests than expected, when suddenly—a quail crashed through the front door pane. It promptly was added to the menu.

The New York naval air station's weekly publication, "Sky-scrappers" ran a contest to name a pin-up boy for the WAVES attached to the base. The majority of entries submitted were army men.

Thomas Levine, New York City, was just an innocent bystander until he opened his mouth. He was waiting for a street car when he saw a motor car knock down Marcus Schwartz. The driver went back to assist Schwartz to his feet and Levine remonstrated him. Whereupon the motorist killed him and promptly drove away. Both hit-and-run and kick-and-run victims had to have hospital treatment.

Brooklyn school children now chant a new rhyme as they skip rope. It goes: "Major Bang is a fine man. He shoots down all the kites he can. How many zeros will he get today? Let's count them up. What do you say? One, two, three, four, etc."

V. J. Fischer of Chattanooga, Tenn., called in a tree surgeon recently to see about removing an oak tree growing near the house. Then the Fischer family went out to dinner. Returning a couple of hours later, they found the tree down—but the upper part of the chimney and part of the eaves with it. The wind did it.

A victory dinner such as will be served at Hirschey, Pa., after the downfall of Hitler is an eye-catching exhibit in the business show of the Rotary club. The feast, completely prepared and set out on a table, includes such delicacies as Russian caviar, green turtle soup, roast pheasant and champagne, vintage 1783.

Child patients at Oakville sanitarium at Memphis, Tenn., will receive 10 pounds of candy each Sunday until a $1000 fund is exhausted. That was one of the provisions in the will of Abe Goodman, Memphis financier, which has been filed in probate court.

Wilbert Cline of Naper, Neb., drove his truck three miles on a country road to the farm of his brother, Clarence Cline. Opening the door of his truck on his arrival, Cline found his 2-year-old son sitting on the fender. The little boy was not in the least concerned about his hazardous ride.

Asparagus Is Best In Month of May

During May asparagus will be at its peak of supply and since the season for fresh asparagus is short, it has to be served often and for variety in many different ways.

Young, tender asparagus does not need to be scraped when preparing it, say home demonstration agents, but mature asparagus may have grit under the scales and they will need to be removed.

To be at its best, asparagus should go from the garden to the table. If bought at the market it may need to be kept a few hours before cooking. In that case it needs to be kept cold, moist and covered.

When asparagus is scarce and high priced early in the season a small amount can be made to go farther by combining with other foods as rice, spaghetti, potatoes or eggs. It may be served in white sauce in patty-shells or on biscuits like short cake. An equal amount mixed with creamed potatoes, sprinkled with bread crumbs and browned in the oven makes a good casserole dish.

A small amount may be served with an omelet or added to a soufflé. Creamed asparagus soup is another good variation.

Asparagus belongs to the fresh green vegetable group which are rich in vitamin A. The deeper the green color the more vitamin A they are likely to contain.

Hogging Off Corn Proves Profitable

One way to help solve the farm labor shortage is to plan now on hogging off some corn next fall, according to Agents W. R. Harder and Howard C. Loeffel. Prof. Wm. J. Loeffel of the college of agriculture, says it has been demonstrated repeatedly that pigs in a cornfield, in addition to saving the cost of harvesting corn, make larger gains than where the corn is picked and fed to them in dry lot. Wherever gains are to be hogged off, it is very advantageous to have some green forage available at the same time. It should be remembered also that when pigs are hogging off grain, they are on a full feed and some protein feed must be supplied if efficient gains are to be secured.

The problem of fencing is one which immediately arises where field feeding is to be followed, says Loeffel. It is usually necessary to confine the pigs to about what they will clean up in 10 to 14 days, giving them additional acreage as they need it. Steel posts and woven wire serve very nicely for this purpose. Electric fences, where available, also are satisfactory providing the pigs are accustomed to them.

Another problem in hogging off grain is to have a number of pigs suitable for the purpose. Well-grown pig weighing from 100 to 125 pounds are most satisfactory. Pigs well on the way towards fattening should never be used because they are not active enough and do not make sufficiently good use of the feed.

AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C., April 24, 1944. Lt. Marvin O. Whitman, naval aviator from Uehling, Neb., is one of the outstanding students taking a post-graduate course at the United States naval academy. He has seen considerable service and is now taking advance work in aeronautics.

Nine hundred and three midshipmen will be graduated from the naval academy in June. Fourteen are Nebraskans: Robert O. Coulthard, Ainsworth; Charles A. Gardner, Jr., Broken Bow; Forrest S. Petersen, Gibbon; Wilmer E. Hansen, Grand Island; Ralph A. Swanson, Minden; Dale S. Soulek, Niobrara; John P. Wise, Norfolk; Robert M. Donovan, Omaha; John E. Hill, Omaha; Louis B. Knudsen, Jr., Omaha; James A. Kreckel, Omaha; James R. Richardson, Omaha; Gay A. Best, Scottsbluff; William V. Steuterville, South Sioux City. Several hundred of these graduates will be married before they go to sea.

Fifty-four weddings will be held in the naval academy chapel following the June commencement. Heretofore, regulations did not allow naval academy graduates to marry within two years of graduation. Now the regulations have been relaxed to allow marriage at any time following graduation.

Plans for a great post-war navy are being formulated. There are now about 3,000 midshipmen at the naval academy. After the war, the number of midshipmen may be increased to 6,000. On account of the emergency, a midshipman's education and training are now compressed into three years. The regular four-year course will be resumed after the war. Capt. Reuben Hall of Nebraska is head of the English department at the naval academy. He is considered one of the best naval instructors in the service. The Third district member was one of the appointed members of the 1944 board of visitors to the United States naval academy and while on his assignment, the board had the opportunity to spend several hours aboard the new airplane carrier, Franklin, and to see many demonstrations of planes catapulted from decks of the carrier, dived bombing tactics and the use of radar. The crew of this new type carrier exceeds 2,500 men.

Chaplain Thomas of the naval academy conducted the board of visitors to the crypt of John Paul Jones and explained to them that for more than 100 years the body has been wonderfully well preserved in alcohol and when the casket was opened before bringing it to America, an autopsy was performed and the doctors found the arris flexible and the entire body unusably well preserved. The body was brought to the United States in 1905 and is now in the chapel of the naval academy. The sarcophagus is of marble and attracts a large number of visitors each year. The following inscription is in the marble floor in front of the sarcophagus: "John Paul Jones 1747-1792. United States navy 1775-1783. One of our navy's earliest traditions of heroism and victory." For more than 100 years the burial place of John Paul Jones was unknown but long search led to its discovery in France.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Walker of Fremont, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hill of Chester, Pa., attended the Washington meeting of 300 newspaper publishers who heard top flight officials of the army and the navy stress that cooperation at home is needed to win the war. The editors were commended for their respect of confidence in, withholding from publication news that if published would have given aid and comfort to the enemy. The editors and publishers were told that ultimate victory depends upon the foot soldier who is bearing the brunt of battle.

Hundreds of fishermen follow the shad, herring and perch runs in the Potomac river. Thousands of fish are being caught. So numerous were the fish in the river that many were caught on hooks without bait. Some fishermen just used pieces of red flannel cloth as lure.

Chris Abbott of Hyannis is in Washington continuing his work on applications for post-war airline extensions in western Nebraska. His organization has ambitious plans to connect Nebraska air routes with Canada, Alaska and Mexico. About 300 applications for post-war expansions have been filed with the civil aeronautics board, of which Welch Fogue is chairman. Railroads have made approximately 150 applications for air line extensions and pick-up service.

Many members of congress inspected the Lockheed Constellation, a four-motored plane that has averaged 324 miles an hour in exhibition flights in Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia. Recently it was flown transcontinental, Burbank, Cal., to Washington, D. C., in slightly less than seven hours. The plane has been turned over to the army transport command. In the post-war period it will be operated by TWA and will carry 67 passengers. With interior stripped as at present it has carrying space for 100 soldiers with full equipment.

The importance of Nebraska airports was called to the attention of aviation authorities in Washington following the emergency landing of a four-motored B-17 at the partially completed airport at Norfolk, recently. The lives of the crew of this giant airplane as well as the ship itself are said to have been saved as a result of the presence of an airport in that vicinity when exhaustion of fuel forced a landing. Bids on runway paving at the Norfolk airport may be called for during the next week.

Washington has 3,600 life and fire insurance agents. The number of taxi cab licenses in the District has been frozen by the office of defense transportation. There are 5,300 taxi cabs in operation here.

It will cost $63 million to run the government of the District of Columbia during the 12 months following June 30, 1944. The federal contribution to the discharge of this expense of municipal government is $6 million and to that extent the taxpayers of the nation help to support the Washington city government.

There were 81 murders and 109 suicides in Washington in 1943. The total number of deaths from all causes was 3,660.

The appropriations committee used the pruning knife generously on the annual appropriation bill for the department of the interior. The amount of the bill recommended to congress by the committee was $87,622,580 as compared with $113,952,000 a year ago—a cut of over $26 million. This is part of the program of the appropriations committee to eliminate all unnecessary expenditures in government which have no direct bearing on the winning of the war.

Cpl. Robert Craft of Norfolk, visited Washington on a three-day pass from camp in North Carolina. Harold Salter, lieutenant (jg), U. S. navy, of Norfolk and hence, has finished a period of training at Hollywood, Fla., and transferred to New York for additional training. He visited Washington en route.

The government is getting rid of millions of bushels of eastern potatoes purchased last fall. To safeguard the consumers in the big eastern cities, the storehouses were filled with spuds from Maine, Long Island, and other eastern sections. Some of them have been in storage so long that they no longer are fit for eating. They are being shipped to dehydrating plants to be made into stock feed and to alcohol distilleries, thus to help win the war in a different way. (The guaranteed price, last fall was about $2.72 per sack. Maine farmers still have 10 million bushels on hand. Southern potatoes now are coming into the market.)

The number of government employees is declining for the first time since July, 1941. From that time until last October, it had been increasing until it reached a total of nearly 2,900,000. It was down to 2,797,000 by last October, and is still lowering. About three-fourths of the employees are in the war agencies, largely in the expanded facilities of the army and navy, in plants owned by the government, but mainly operated under private corporation management.

One-fourth of the total number are in the states of New York, with 275,700; California, with 251,000; and Pennsylvania, with 197,700. Another one-fifth are in the states of Texas, Massachusetts, Illinois, Ohio and Virginia. The eight states mentioned thus have 45 per cent of the government employees, or about 1,260,000, a larger number than the population of each of 18 states.

The war has put other figures to the fore relating to government activities. The defense plant corporation has $7.5 billions invested in war plants and facilities, including utilities, and owns 1,788 factories. War holdings of real estate are enormous, and are given by the justice department as including 12,500,000 acres in 21,000 parcels. The national housing agencies own 523,000 dwellings, 123,000 temporary homes, 32,000 dormitories, and 30,000 trailers. The government also leases 1,400 warehouses, 2,300 other storage plants, 2,800 offices and buildings, 800 hospitals, school and hotels. Its leaseholds number 21,886 at an annual rental of $60,457,000. There are 546 large air fields which cost $400 millions, and more than twice that investment in foreign air bases. The most of the airways and buildings will become "surplus property" when the war is over. How to dispose of it, to whom, and at what prices, amount to a huge problem for congress to act upon eventually.

These government holdings and investments account for the most remarkable shifts in population. The movement of people to war plant communities runs into millions, and rural communities were the heaviest losers. The census bureau states that the war industries drew into their centers 4,857,885 people in 469 counties from 1940 to 1943. In the same period, 2,620 counties lost 8,879,105 in population. Among the larger losers of population was the state of New York, from which over a million moved. California gained even a larger number. This shift of population will afford another great problem when war industries quit.

Eggs Are Valuable In Healthful Diet

The importance of eggs in healthful diet is being stressed. Some appetizing recipes using eggs have been received by Mrs. R. M. Carhart, county nutrition chairman, and are as follows:

Creamed Eggs and Fish.
6 hard-cooked eggs
3 tablespoons fat
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups warm milk
1 cup canned salmon or other fish
Salt and pepper
Make a sauce by melting the fat and adding the flour. Mix thoroughly. Add the milk slowly, stir, and cook until thickened in a pan over hot water. Then cover and steam for about 10 minutes. Stir in the fish and eggs, which have been sliced. Season with salt and pepper to taste.

Diluted evaporated milk may be used in this recipe, or if dry skim milk is available, combine 1 cup with 2 cups of cold water.

Scalloped Eggs and Macaroni.
6 hard-cooked eggs
2 cups cooked macaroni
2 cups white sauce
Chopped onion, to taste
1/2 cup grated cheese, if desired
1 cup bread crumbs

Cut the hard-cooked eggs into quarters. Mix the cooked macaroni with the white sauce made as in the recipe for Creamed Eggs and Fish. Add the onion, and the grated cheese if desired. Add the eggs, and pour into a greased baking dish. Mix the bread crumbs with the melted fat and spread over the top. Bake in a moderate oven until the crumbs are brown.

Cheese Fondue.
6 eggs
2 cups hot milk
2 cups soft bread crumbs
1 cup cheese sliced very thin
1 tablespoon fat
Salt, to taste
Beat the eggs well. Mix the milk, bread crumbs, cheese, fat, and salt. Stir this mixture into the beaten eggs. Pour into a well-greased shallow pan and bake in a moderate oven for about 25 minutes, or until set and lightly browned on top. Serve at once.

Corn Pudding.
3 eggs
2 cups fresh or canned corn or dried corn, soaked and cooked

2 tablespoons melted fat
Salt and pepper
2 cups milk
Beat the eggs. Add all the other ingredients, and salt and pepper to taste. Pour into a greased baking dish, place in a pan of hot water, and bake in a moderate oven for about 1 hour, or until set in the center.
