Field of Politics BACK on the job in Washington, the president is reported in improved health, though he appeared petulant at his first conference with newspaper reporters, according to Time magazine. He scolded about the Montgomery Ward case when it was called to his attention, and he charged that the newspapers had not given the public the facts. Then he read an explanation. A lady correspondent suggested that she had read in the newspapers and heard over the radio all the president had told about the case. The executive indicated doubt that she knew what she was talking about. Newspaper readers and radio listeners will not hesitate to verify the lady reporter's contention.

The president has been having a health checkup no doubt to see if he could stand a fourth term. But his renomination is accepted without question, and new deal efforts are now being put forth to secure his reelection. Time magazine says "Alben Barkley, sublimely oblivious to his dramatic break with the president, used 3,000 words to say why he, too, is for a fourth term."

The communist party has abandoned its policy to name candidates, announcing its intention to unite behind a fourth term. Earl Browder, communist, led in dissolving the communist party as an independent political unit. The CIO, largely communist, has arrayed its force behind continuing the Roosevelt regime.

On the other hand, farmers and townsmen generally do not relish the tieup with socialistic groups, eager for increased government control of enterprise, and they promise to unite against it. Martin Dies, retiring congressman and head of the committee to investigate signs of un-American activities, has announced his intention to explode a political bombshell sometime during the first half of June. Citizens will anxiously look forward to what he has to offer. He is said to have aroused large communist opposition. Latest Gallup survey indicates a fifty-fifty race between Roosevelt and Dewey.

Home from Hospital. Mrs. Harold Sorensen returned home Monday from a local hospital where she had undergone an operation.

Ice Cream Social. An ice cream social at the Presbyterian church west of Carroll Tuesday, May 30, starts at 7 p. m. with the C. E. in charge. Everyone welcome.

Deeds Are Filed. Property deeds filed this week in Wayne county include the following:

Gussie Needham and husband to Jacob and Mary D. Waite, May 22 for $1,400, lot 15, block 2, original Winside.
Alice Cassler to W. L. Byers, May 23 for $50, lot 3, block 5, Heikes addition to Wakefield.
Everett and Maurice Roberts of Laurel, both in service, recently met in the south Pacific.

CRITICAL PERIOD. In this period of supreme trial the need is for men of sound convictions and unwavering determination. The need is for leadership that knows what is right and has the courage to enforce it. This is no time to try to fool the people—no time to say one thing and mean another—no time to cultivate race prejudices or group rivalries. It is no time to have one's mind riveted exclusively on making money, worshipping the almighty dollar above other and more important considerations. This critical time when the flower of American manhood is being sacrificed on foreign battle fields, demands men of capacity to understand, of vision to retain American values and preserve American opportunities. One cannot figure, he can pursue worldly goods without thought of public policies and expect some executive power to shape his destiny. People must look less to immediate gain and more to a soundly constructive course that will insure individual incentive and adequate rewards for meritorious effort. We need more statesmen, fewer politicians—more men in every walk of life bent on improving and steadying conditions with thought of posterity as well as of possible benefits to the present generation.

Vice President Henry Wallace is off to China as a representative of the president, and he will be gone long enough to miss close proximity to pre-convention politics. Whether he will be named to succeed himself, or will be politely dropped by the wayside will be known when the president announces his preference. Henry will doubtless be retained or dismissed according to his vote-pulling possibilities rather than his statesmanlike qualities, and it is suspected at this juncture that he is not convincingly strong in either direction.

Limiting the president to one six-year term or to two four-year terms is now, under the pressure of a looming fourth term demand, being urged stronger than ever. A political machine of tremendous and almost insuperable power is built up in the course of a presidential term, and that was never more true than it has been during the past dozen years with multiplied bureaus and highly paid hangers-on.

A recent magazine article speaks in behalf of boys rejected for military service on account of overwrought nervous systems. As it points out, one unable to serve in branches of the armed forces may be well balanced and eminently useful in civilian pursuits. Nerves are queer things, and if they appear in excessive doses, they may prevent the kind of service often required.

Republicans are warned not to pick flaws in the new deal, but to stress their own proposed program. They will do both. If faults were not revealed and emphasized, there would be less ground for change. People must realize what has happened as well as what is in prospect in order fully to understand conditions and justify the rising tide of opposition.

Complaint is made that the ruthless shooting of allied prisoners violates the international law. But is there any way to enforce international law?

The bald incongruity of saving taxpayers by soaking them is glaringly apparent, but thus far evidently unavoidable.

Unique Sign.

A sign near the desk of an executive in a department of a Washington military establishment beats most of the wise Joes and red tape fluffers to the draw. It reads: "Stop trying to be difficult, try being yourself and be impossible."

Up to Mr. Roosevelt.

If Mr. Roosevelt really wants Mr. Wallace to be on the ticket with him, there will be many who will reach the conclusion that the master politician in the White House is slipping dreadfully, that he no longer can sense what the people are thinking (sometimes before they think it) and that if he gives the green light to a Wallace renomination he will be making a serious mistake. There is no popular demand for Mr. Wallace's reelection. And with the Gallup poll showing sentiment for Mr. Roosevelt and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York pretty evenly divided, the thought persists that there may not be a fourth term unless a stronger man than Vice President Wallace is chosen by the democrats for second place.

DONT DISPARAGE. George Olsen's candidacy for governor on the democratic ticket, unwelcomed by some fastidious members of his party, reminds us of the experience of Omar Kennu, populist who ran for congress in this district against Geo. W. E. Dorsey, republican, many years ago. It was at the time when the populist party was full-blown as a reform organization. Kennu who rattled around rather noisily in local populist circles, issued from a mediocre station as his party's nominee to represent the Big Third Dorsey who was a banker of pompous manner, manifested undisguised contempt for his opponent. Dorsey was campaigning for a second term, and in doing so he did not hesitate to belittle the populist nominee. The result was the election of Omar Kennu by a big majority. And it is said when Omar parked himself in Washington he practiced such rigid economy that he saved money. It is not wise to make light of Candidate Olsen merely because he has no doctor's degree and at one time flirted intimately with the W.P.A.

There has been no opposition to the veterans G. I. bill in the house. The only controversy was over the education features.

Under the tax simplification act, which just passed the house a farmer need make no estimate of his taxes. This bill advances the date of December 15 to January 15 and on that date the farmer either pays his taxes in full for the preceding year or he pays two-thirds of the tax and then pays the balance on March 15.

The concern of General Hershey, head of the selective service administration, over the draft situation continues. The muddling of that situation the past few months concerns millions of young men who have not known from one week to another what might or might not happen to them.

Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War production board, in answer to the Third district's demand for more farm radio batteries agrees that farm radio batteries have an important place in the present war economy.

Sale of Property Is Not Confirmed

District Judge F. H. Pollock Rules on Matters Here In Court Cases.

Sale of the east 7th street property of Mrs. Mary Laussé by the city of Wayne was cancelled by District Judge F. H. Pollock here last Thursday. Emil Backstrom had been high bidder on the property. Confirmation of the sale was denied on the ground that the paving tax is assessed against only part of the property whereas the general tax is assessed against all. It was contended that the tract should have been offered for sale in two parts, one with the general tax only and the other with both the general and paving tax.

In the matter of L. B. McClure and L. W. Roe, trustees of the estate of Phillip Sullivan, against John Williams, et al., Patricia John Maloney was made an heir in place of her mother who passed away.

Formal entries were made in several actions. Judge Pollock comes here June 22 for equity session of court.

Asked to Cut Travel. Persons whose business is not essential to the war effort are urged by ODT to forego travel by train or bus so that transportation facilities may not be congested but will be available for use of the country's armed forces.

SIXTY SECOND YEAR

WAYNE, NEBRASKA, THURSDAY, MAY 25, 1944

NUMBER THIRTY-TWO

Expect to Resume Train Service Soon

It is hoped that some train service from the east of Wayne and service between Wayne and Bloomfield will be resumed the latter part of this week or the first of next. No work has been done on the Wayne-Norfolk line. There will be no regular train schedule till repair work on all lines is complete, but special trains will be put on to carry freight which has accumulated at various centers. The flood which visited Wayne and surrounding territory May 12 washed out sections of the track on most of the lines. The water also took out the big bridge about two miles west of Wakefield. Repair work is slowed up because of the scarcity of manpower.

Leave for Los Angeles

Mr. and Mrs. Harold West leave this Thursday by car for Los Angeles where they plan to make their home. Mr. West will be in defense work and Mrs. West may be employed in the telephone service. They will be with the Albert Jones family.

ARE TO GIVE TESTS TO TEACHERS HERE

Teachers' examinations will be given by Miss Marie Wright at the court house June 3.

Induction Station Change Announced

The induction station at Fort Crook near Omaha, which serves Nebraska, South Dakota and part of Iowa, will be closed June 1 to have army manpower, seventh service command headquarters announced. After June 1, men from this section of Nebraska will go to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., for induction.

Cooperation Is Asked

Rationing and price control are for the best interests of the war effort and for supplying the home front, according to District Director M. E. Rawlings of Sioux City, who urges honest observance of all rules. Next to manpower, gasoline will play the important part in the situation. Conservation measures are necessary, and Mr. Rawlings asks cooperation so that the war and home fronts may be supplied.

Given Scholarship For Summer Term

L. J. MacDowell, Wayne high school principal, received a scholarship for this English workshop at the University of Nebraska for this summer. He plans to be in Lincoln for school. His wife and son will be with relatives at Petersburg. The family will return here in August.

Save Soil Contest Is Being Staged

A new 4-H contest, which will enlist the membership of 4-H clubs in protecting American farm lands from further disastrous losses of fertile soil, has just been announced. This is named the "National 4-H Soil Conservation Contest." One of its chief objectives is to prevent soil wastage and deterioration by practicing approved methods of protection and conservation. Special awards for outstanding 4-H records and achievements in the activity have been provided. Dixon and Wayne county 4-H members are eligible to compete in the contest.

Former Resident Dies in Wyoming

Wm. Baird, 83, former resident of Wayne and father of Emmett Baird of this place, died Friday, May 5, at Torrington, Wyo., and funeral rites were conducted there May 8.

Deceased was a native of Ireland and came to this country in the early days. He left Wayne 30 years ago and went to Torrington. Mrs. Baird, the former Minnie Montgomery of Stanton, died in 1932.

Surviving are six children, Mrs. Anna Downing and Mrs. Olive Sellers of Torrington, Erick of Pillager, Emmett of Wayne, James of Fort Laramie, Wyo., and Ralph of Bridgeport. Three of the 14 grandchildren are in service. Madison Downing with the coast guard in Texas, Dean Baird with the air forces in India, and Herschel Baird with the air forces in Italy.

Is Ill in Hospital

Emil Hogenlin of near Laurel, took seriously ill with a fever that affects the heart. He is in a Sioux City hospital where he will receive care for at least six weeks.

Pastor Will Come To Speak Sunday

Rev. C. L. Eads of Alhambra Will Stop in Wayne on Return to West.

Is to Be Manager West Point Store

Kenneth Vandenberg, who has been employed in the Gamble store in Wayne, will go to West Point May 29 to assume management of the Gamble store there. He has been with the Wayne store since September, 1940, when he came from West Point as a new employee with the company.

Mr. Vandenberg left here Monday and went to Norfolk for a week to help re-organize stock and repair damage which resulted from the recent flood. Don Beeks, John Barnes and Adam McPherran spent last week in Norfolk helping repair damage.

Mrs. Vandenberg and son will remain in Wayne until they are able to find a house in West Point.

Area at Tekamah Struck by Tornado

A tornado late last Thursday afternoon tore through Nebraska near Herman and Tekamah and also did damage in Iowa near Washita, Okobolt and Castana. Starting west of Herman, the storm cut a swath northwesterly, striking near Tekamah, then crossing into Iowa where it followed the Little Sioux river.

Near Tekamah, the storm struck the Roy Hart place and then moved to John Lye's where every building was wrecked excepting an unroofed corner. Mr. Lye was in the field and was unable to reach home so stopped at Geo. Wilson's where only part of the house was left standing. The Geo. Tenney house was picked up and slammed into a hillside 100 feet away. Other buildings were destroyed. The house of Ben Reed was left but all other buildings were leveled. All buildings on the Emil Ahrens farm were taken down, also all on the Harvey Lewis place. A portion of the two-story house at Geo. Christensen's was cut away. Livestock and poultry were killed, and trees were uprooted.

Judge hall stones and strong wind accompanied the storm in the area. Rev. Eads is enroute to his home in Alhambra after attending the Northern Baptist convention held last week at Atlantic City, N. J. Delegates from the congregation will meet him in Fremont. He will leave Wayne Sunday. Rev. Eads planned to visit relatives at Laverock, Minn. Rev. Eads left Wayne in July, 1942, and went to Long Beach where he served for 15 months as assistant pastor and director of Christian education in the First Baptist church. He recently moved to Alhambra to accept a charge there.

Courses Completed By Three Instructors

Prof. M. C. Bloss, who recently obtained a leave of absence from Wayne college staff to enter USO work, has completed three weeks' initial study at Columbia university, New York, and is now at Fort Smith, Ark., for two weeks' special duty. Dean Clarence McGinn, another college instructor who obtained a leave of absence to enter USO work, has gone through the same routine and is now in Georgia for two weeks. When this part of the work is completed, the men will spend a week in Wayne before final assignment to duty. Prof. John R. Keith, who was granted a leave of absence from Wayne college to enter Red Cross work, completed training at Washington, D. C., Saturday and is waiting further assignment. He expects overseas duty.

Miss Lenore Ramsey leaves this Thursday to spend her vacation at her home in Indianapolis.

Quality Aplenty In Benefactors

Inheritance for Resident of Germany Invested in United States Bonds.

Mrs. Sarah Werner, a resident of Kiel, Germany, became the owner of $897 worth of United States war bonds at Minneapolis. An American citizen until her marriage 40 years ago, Mrs. Werner received an inheritance which a district judge ordered invested in war bonds until she can collect.

An unidentified apprentice seaman's car skidded into a ditch and mired down during a heavy rain at Los Angeles. Three more cars drew up and 15 men got out. They finally hauled the car back onto the highway but the sailor didn't know that his benefactors included two rear admirals, four navy captains, three commanders and six civilian scientists. Raincoats concealed the officers' insignia.

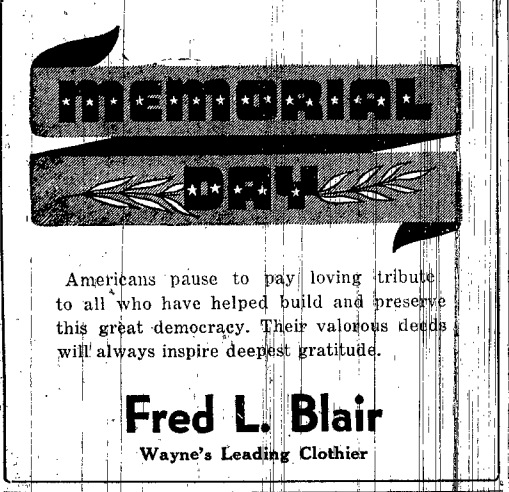

Policeman Arthur Schilke of Bristol, Conn., has been inducted into the army, but the police department still is at full strength. Schilke's brother, Ernest, recently received a medical discharge from the army and has been appointed to the force. His brother's uniform just fits.

Barbara Douglas, daughter of Planemaker Donald W. Douglas, Santa Monica, Calif., arranged a supper-dance to introduce her fiancé, Lt. Wm. B. Arnold, son of the air forces' Gen. Henry Arnold. Banned from attending by last minute orders, the young man telegraphed her from his base: "Terribly sorry I couldn't make it. Can I come to the wedding?"

At Elizabethton, Tenn., the postmaster often gets a chuckle from the antics of the natives. A woman stepped up to a window at the post office and asked for $2 worth of victory stamps. The postmaster said, "Very well," and asked what denomination she wanted them in. "Now look here," said the woman, "Do I have to tell what church I belong to, to get a little old $2 worth of stamps?"

At a United States bomber base in Britain Fortress boys cut the rug to a live from their own American juke boxes fed by real American nickels. The outfit claims to possess the only home-grown juke over there. But how the juke boxes got there is something of a mystery, for it isn't regulation to be hauling them across the ocean. So the boys finally concluded someone made a mistake, for which they aren't sorry.

Huey Swope, a persnickety sea lion at Kansas City, finally yielded to the scientific approach. Huey arrived fresh from the Pacific ocean. He turned up his nose at

MEMORIAL DAY

Americans pause to pay loving tribute to all who have helped build and preserve this great democracy. Their valorous deeds will always inspire deepest gratitude.

COOLERATOR

THE ICE CONDITIONED REFRIGERATOR

Keeps Foods Fresh With Pure Washed Air

Amazing! you'll say when you see this new war time refrigerator. You'll be delighted with its trim streamlined appearance. But marvelous! is the word that describes how it keeps perishable foods fresh and tasty with all their natural goodness preserved.

Less Mingling of Food Odors - Circulating air absorbs the various food odors and carries them away. Delicate foods retain their appetizing flavors longer in the fresh humidified air of a Coolerator.

Less Drying Out of Foods - Dishes do not have to be covered, foods, such as salads and other vegetables are kept garden fresh and tasty to serve.

Plenty of Cracked or Chipped Ice for Cooling Beverages or for Salads.

Saves Vital War Material . . . Saves Food . . . Saves Money - Handsomely and modernly designed, yet this new refrigerator is possible because it is built almost entirely of materials not in demand for war work, and conforms with W. P. B. critical material requirements. Coolerator is built to meet today's refrigeration needs
