

Students Soon to Leave—Future of the College—Select University Groups—Housewives' Responsibilities

Wayne will miss the army of well behaved aviation students to be transferred to other fields within the next month when training here will be discontinued.

The detachment's newspaper, The Gig Sheet, issued twice each month, made its final appearance last week, and this is what its editor said in a farewell to the Wayne college:

"Soon the familiar dolor of khaki and the sound of 'sharp commands will no longer be in evidence here on the campus. Our mission has been completed and soon the unit will depart for new assignments. Since March of 1943, Nebraska State Teachers college has played an important part in training hundreds of future fliers.

It is understood plans are being worked out to increase the college enrollment to fill the vacancy to be left when the soldiers are transferred. The school's facilities are acknowledgedly superior, and they should not be allowed to remain even partially idle.

Students have complained that courses offered are too much restricted. For obvious reasons, it is understood the state university looks asstance at a more comprehensive plan for the four other state schools.

Abolishing Sororities. Columnist Elsie Robinson approves Stanford University's decision to abolish sororities on the ground that campus unity would be thus served.

But the argument is not all on one side. The sorority encourages close and lasting friendships, and if a member is able to get her mind off the social whirls to study and learn something of practical value, she might be benefited.

An Endless Task. Preparing more than one thousand meals in a year is a real task, as any housewife will testify.

The housewife wonders what will please the palate and wipe out the hunger of members of her household. When prices are escalating in an upper stratum and threatening to go higher, she must buy carefully to keep the family budget out of the red.

Thinking the conscientious housewife thinks every hour of every day what she will serve next.

Pilot of Marauder Missing in Belgium

Capt. Robert E. Felt Makes Brilliant Air Record in European Area.

Capt. Robert E. Felt, 25, pilot on a B-26, Marauder, based in England, has been missing in action over Belgium since May 25, according to a telegram coming Tuesday to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Felt of Wakefield.

The officer, who has been overseas more than a year, had done several missions a month ago and had gone on others since. He was awarded the distinguished flying cross in the fall of 1943 for "heroism in the air."

Capt. Felt flew his plane, "Dragon Wagon," on 44 missions, and then received a 14-day leave which he spent in England. The officer and his crew have been assigned a new plane recently.

Capt. Felt, who was born at Wakefield February 2, 1918, was graduated from Wakefield high school and attended Wayne college two years. He enlisted in army service in June, 1941, and first went to Camp Callan, Cal., where he trained until December, 1941, when he was transferred to the air corps.

FARMERS OVERCOME DELAY DUE TO WET SPELL DURING MAY

WORKING the major part of every 24 hours plowing and planting, farmers generally have their corn in the ground. Many fields already show rows of green, and cultivating will soon be the rule.

But it is not all smooth sailing. A wet spell during the month of May delayed the start of work, and finally (triumphed over) moisture conditions. With ample moisture will come hail or floods in some sections, and an impasse of damage will unavoidably result.

Damage Is Done By Second Flood

The May storm hit the city earlier than the second flood. The spillway south of Wayne was open by 10 Sunday morning.

The creek was better able to care for the flood waters east of town so the airport was not flooded as in May. Water gathered on the airport from the hard rain but soon drained off. Stanley Fuller was able to resume flight training for aviation students Tuesday.

Washing Does Damage.

Greatest damage to crops was done by washing flood waters. Some corn on hillsides was washed and some on low ground was covered with soft soil that was carried down by the water. Loss from hail was negligible as the corn was still small enough to make new growth.

Many gardens were damaged by hail and wind. Tomato plants and other tender growth suffered.

Tracks Out Again.

Sections of railroad tracks in this vicinity were taken out again by Saturday's flood waters. The damage being in the same areas as in May. Rails were washed a mile west of Wayne on the Wayne-Winslow division, two miles west on the Wayne-Carroll section and about five miles east on the Wayne-Wakefield division. The last two had been repaired and work was progressing on the first mentioned.

Repairs were effected so that train service to Wayne from the east resumed this week. Service west will be provided in a week or two, it is expected. A railroad bridge went out at Pender. The train which went up the Bloomfield branch Saturday was stalled at Carroll on its return and is still there.

Service Is Disrupted.

Winds accompanying the storm damaged telephoning lines. Toll service to Winslow and Carroll was disrupted for a short time. Greatest damage to local lines was at Winslow but most of these were repaired by Monday evening. This damage was caused mainly by winds that tore branches from trees, took down poles and crossed wires.

Wind cut off Wayne's telegraphic service Saturday. No wire connection was available until repairs were completed Tuesday.

Caught in Flood.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Hanner and daughter, Dolores, were returning home from Wayne Saturday evening about 10:30 when their car went off the spillway into the flood water. The car was overturned and Mrs. Hanner was waded in water about three feet deep. Robert Nelson took them to their home south of Wakefield. The car was left in Sunday morning. Flood water filled the machine to within six inches of the top. About two inches of mud settled on the inside and grass collected on the engine. The car was hauled to Wayne Sunday morning for a good cleaning.

The Albert Killian car got across the water with some help. Other cars had narrow escapes. The highway patrol outfit helped travelers through the waters over the spillway here Saturday night. When aiding a producer truck, both the truck and outfit started to go off the grade. They were able to get back on with-out much difficulty. The water raised so fast that the highway equipment soon had to abandon this service.

Nursery Is Inundated.

D. Hall's nursery grounds at the south edge of town were flooded again and many strawberry plants, potato vines and other garden stuff lost. Much new planting had been done since the May storm.

The Merle Tietzerts who live in the house at the Hall grounds vacated their home Saturday evening and went to Jess Tietz's after water rose about 10 inches in the house. Mr. Hall is having a new house and green house built on high ground on the site near the bridge. This will be done by fall and the place will occupy the place.

Herbert Perry's corn field along the Logan at the edge of town was flooded and the corn already up was matted down. Some may grow. The center part of the field had not been planted. So fast did flood waters fill that within a short time the water at 4th and DuSable streets was a foot deep. Water in the basement of the house Wm. Baker is having remodeled at east 4th street. Fire equipment was used to pump out the water. The basement had just been cemented.

Bus Goes off Grade.

Misses due from the east and west Saturday evening were stalled until early Sunday morning. The one from Norfolk and the one from Norfolk and passengers were taken to Winslow by residents there and remained until about 1 Sunday morning when the bus continued its trip to Wayne after being pulled out of the ditch.

No delay was experienced in movement of mail in and out of the local post office. Star routes were established for car and train service that were interrupted temporarily.

Flood floods resulted Saturday at Hosking where water got into basements of some homes. Highways and roads in the county were washed and some approaches to bridges were taken out.

Temperature dropped here Monday and Tuesday to 38 and 40 degrees.

Move to Apartment.

Set and Mrs. Neil Sparks moved into an apartment in the Seymour building north of Tietzerts' hatchery.

O. P. A. program, said Mr. Rawlings is dependent on the principles that neighbor rationing neighbor. This policy can only be achieved through panel review and panel action on all applications.

Mr. Rawlings declared that the constant demands of the public upon board members, either at their places of business, on the streets or in their homes, has created an unreasonable workload for these members. With the new panel operation, this practice will be changed. Mr. Rawlings announced that A. R. Ellis will continue to serve as chairman of the board in an administrative capacity, and that Mr. Ellis would not be an acting member of any panel. Navel and Military School Vacancies Are Credited To Third District.

Two vacancies for midshipman at the United States naval academy and two vacancies for cadet at the United States military academy will accrue to the credit of the Third congressional district of Nebraska due to graduation of two Third district midshipmen and two Third district cadets in 1945. Nominations to fill these vacancies will be made by or soon after January 1, 1945, according to Congressman Karl Stefan.

Eligible candidates for these nominations, in addition to being actual residents of the Third congressional district of Nebraska, must be not less than 17 years of age or more than 21 years of age on April 1 of the calendar year in which they undertake to enter the naval academy and, in the case of the military academy, be not less than 17 years of age or more than 23 years of age. Candidates for the military academy become ineligible for admission upon the day they become 22 years of age.

Eligible candidates must also have graduated from high school or be assured of graduation not later than the spring of 1945. High school graduates who have also completed one or more years of college or university work will find the additional academic preparation of considerable value in meeting entrance tests and in pursuing the training following admission to either academy.

Congressman Stefan will make the nominations on a purely competitive basis and the preliminary competition will be initiated by an examination to determine the comparative qualifications of candidates for the purpose of enabling him to make nominations of principals and alternates on the basis of the comparative qualifications disclosed by the examination. The nominees for admission will subsequently be called upon to present themselves for physical and mental tests precedent to actual admission.

At all times between now and June 22, 1944, but not later than June 22, 1944, Congressman Stefan shall be glad to receive the written applications of young men who possess the above mentioned qualifications coupled with a desire to enter the naval academy or the military academy, as the case may be. The initial application will be to participate in the competitive congressional designation examination and each applicant should definitely state the academy of his choice.

All applications and requests for further information should be addressed to Congressman Karl Stefan at 1017 house office building, Washington, D. C.

Unseemly Politics

The Sioux City Journal calls attention to the reprehensible practice in American politics of deliberately smearing and tearing down presidential candidates of outstanding ability and of eminently sound character. Charles Michelson who is charged with smearing Herbert Hoover, is said to boast that he can destroy Gov. Tom Dewey, likely republican nominee, with his propaganda assaults.

It is flagrantly discreditable to attempt the ruin of a man merely because he runs athwart feverish ambitions to continue hanging on. The Journal comments in part:

"President Roosevelt is not sacred, although some new dealers might wish to argue that he is. He is a mortal, the same as the rest of us are, and he also is a politician such as a good many of us are glad we are not. He has been in office nearly 12 years, and as a result his followers have been on the public payroll so long that they see red when someone comes along to challenge their right to remain there the rest of their lives. Democrats and republicans and members of other political parties are engaged in a vicious, cruel, dangerous war with an enemy that would destroy all of them if he could. It is the American way to fight these battles together, united and devoted to the country's cause, forgetting partisan politics and thinking only of the nation's aims as they carry on with the war. It is unfortunate that in a political struggle between two major parties either side should contemplate a ruthlessness designed to destroy the other by creating in the minds of the free electorate false impressions.

"The republicans have a perfect right to nominate a man for the presidency. That man has a right to demand a clean fight for that dignified office. A scheme designed to destroy a man is not the proper American instrument to employ in presenting the issues of a campaign and asking the support of the people. Intelligent American men and women ought to take into consideration the methods used in this campaign and act accordingly. Fair minded voters do not like an unfair campaign."

Teacher Scarcity

REPORT of an inquiry made by the state superintendent's office reveals a still increasing shortage of teachers. It is found only 71.1 per cent of the teachers and administrators now employed in accredited city and village schools in the state are definitely planning to teach again next year. Of the teachers and administrators responding to the state superintendent's query, 7 per cent reported a decision to quit school work and 21 per cent expressed indecision.

Comparatively small salaries in the teaching profession is the strongest force against sticking to school employment. The state superintendent closes his report with this observation:

"The results of the study indicate that additional teachers will have to be recruited from new sources or schools must look elsewhere for the instruction of their pupils. In some instances entire departments will have to be discontinued. In other cases subjects and activities will have to be dropped from the curriculum; in still others it will be necessary for schools to close and provide instruction for their students in neighboring districts."

Values Proved

THE Albert Watson farm north of town, offers evidence of what may be accomplished through contouring and other practices to conserve moisture and especially to prevent soil waste. Saturday night's driving rain was a severe test of modern methods, and while there were some breaks in the contour arrangement, success generally was apparent. The richest soil is on top, and frequent washing robs it of fertility and reduces its production.

Mr. Watson is so deeply convinced of the profit protecting soil against erosion that he has contoured his fields and further guarded against wasteful drainage by leaving grass strips at proper intervals. The late storm revealed soil losses due to following the old plan of cultivation. Contrasts present a powerful argument in support of new methods.

As benefits are understood, more and more farmers will adopt contouring and other soil-saving precautions. A visit to the Watson farm is convincing.

Invasion Starts

EARLY Tuesday morning radio announcers declared the invasion was on, and that it was moving forward with the sky full of bombing planes, the ground a surging mass of tanks and soldiers, and the sea alive with powerful fighting ships. The world was electrified by the long-awaited word, and devout people offered prayers in churches and homes for success and the triumph of human freedom and justice. It is believed the beginning of the end of totalitarian tyranny. That is the profound hope and belief of liberty-loving people everywhere.

Parents and other relatives of the boys in the armed forces abroad were beginning to worry over absence of letters until announcement was made that all mail from the United Kingdom had been impounded as a means of safety. No doubt, the precaution was advisable, though the government would seem to have been unnecessarily slow in giving reasons and removing grounds for fear.

It is probably worse to tell a newspaper for publication something that is false than to conceal the truth that the public is entitled to know, though either practice is subversive of wholesome policy. The newspaper must depend on reliable news sources, and once a news story is found untrue, confidence in the one who reports it is destroyed.

Most new dealers are satisfied to urge one term at a time, but Bob Hennegan, chairman of the democratic national committee, is already preparing the electorate for a fifth term. He says he is in favor of it if a comparable emergency exists in 1948. And new ideal satellites will look after having a sufficient emergency.

Senator Hugh Butler of Nebraska, is reported moving in the direction of a senate investigation of the CIO's proposed cash contributions to the new deal presidential campaign, believed to be in violation of the corrupt practice act. Excessive use of cash, like devilish smear campaigns, should react as a boomerang.

Driving war time does not warrant indifference to service. On the contrary, it should be a spur to do one's best to satisfy every demand. The present emergency does not justify the supremacy of leisure and the disgraceful attitude of wishing just to get by.

Senator Wherry has introduced a bill to restore the old standard of time farmers are especially unable to follow the new time when that makes for discord in work plans.

BOND DRIVE

The fifth war loan drive begins June 12, and Wayne county is duly organized in the hope of realizing its full quota early. This county failed its goal in the fourth drive but it is confidently expected it will do better this time, showing anxiety to invest in support of the boys fighting at the front, and at the same time manifesting a deserved confidence in government bonds. Buying a bond is far from a donation. It is a sound, interest-bearing investment, and it is the way to build up postwar security. It is the way to save money for business or improvements after the war ends and all kinds of activities are accelerated. We hope Wayne county responds willingly and promptly.

RICKENBACKER SPEAKS

In Kansas City last week, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, World War I ace, expressed eagerness for a man who has convictions and the courage to exercise them; a man who would protect laboring men and women from racketeering leadership; a man who respects states' rights. He said among other things: "America needs a man who will reduce bureaucracy to the minimum and who will keep government expense within the earning power of the people. America needs a man who will think in terms of America first, in order that America will last. We need a man who will cooperate with other peoples of the world to insure a lasting peace but not at the expense of the American people alone; a man who believes in free enterprise and uniform government. The American people need a man who will go to the American people with a promise of legislation for their approval limiting the presidential term to six years—or two terms of four years each—our traditional and God-given heritage. A man who will add the fifth freedom to the Atlantic charter—the freedom of opportunity. With a fifth freedom we are placing a foundation under the four sides of the Atlantic charter, permitting it to endure. That is what I think is needed for the welfare of the country. We need a man."

Congress AS SEEN BY KARL STEFAN. Washington, D. C., May 31, 1944. The civil pilot training act of 1939 will expire on June 30 of this year. The senate had passed a bill to extend that act to July 1, 1949, but the house has not yet acted. The senate bill along with three other bills to extend this act are being held up in the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce. Indications are that these bills are being held up pending action on the Lea aviation bill which is also being held up in the rules committee of the house. The army is developing a great deal on the civil air patrol to recruit 17-year-old youths for aviation. When these youths attain the age of 18, they will undoubtedly be fitted into the army air forces. The reservoir of potential pilots of the ages favored by the army, 18 to 26, is decreasing in size. The department of state continues to have its difficulties with the new revolutionary government of Argentina. The new organization is just as strongly pro-axis as the one it succeeded, and both are backed by the same crowd of financiers and special interests which long have been hostile to the United States. Among principal reasons for hostility of the big cattle bosses is the embargo on fresh beef from the 'horns' in Argentina, which is a disease ridden. There are other reasons, of course, but independent

Property Damaged In Storm Saturday

Buildings and Crops Suffer From Wind, Rain and Hail In This Vicinity.

High winds, heavy rain and hail damaged property, crops and trees in and around Winside Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock. The storm came in three parts, the last about 9 p. m. The first had more wind than the others and the last two had mostly rain and hail. Rainfall amounted to 2.91 inches. Wind wrecked the south side of the Benshoff garage, took part of the roof off and scattered tin pieces around Main street. It also caused slight damage to the front porch of the Dr. N. L. Ditman residence.

Several brooder houses around Winside were demolished and chickens were killed.

One of the wooden grain buildings at the C.C.C. camp near Winside was demolished.

Two cattle sheds on the L. C. Mittelstadt farm north of Winside were badly damaged.

Two cedar trees in the yard of Mrs. Emma Ulrich were up-rooted. Limbs were torn from trees in and around Winside and others were blown over.

Telephone lines were down west of Winside.

Hail did damage to gardens and crops. Corn in some places will have to be replanted.

Water in the creek south of Winside, was reported one foot higher than it was during the storm that centered at Norfolk a few weeks ago. There was some water in basements in Winside, but not enough to do much damage.

The bus, coming from Norfolk, started across the water which was flowing over the road, and the force of the water turned the bus, headed east, completely around. Businessmen from town removed all passengers from the bus which then waited until the water had subsided. The bus got into Winside about 12:30 that night and proceeded on to Wayne. No one was hurt in the accident.

What cooks with people who doodle in library books? Librarian, San Francisco Public Library

We have some new books, not to be included in the library this week. A new mystery is The Body Fold on Berlin, by Richard Lakin. A good adventure story is Lost Island, by James Norman Hall. Ben Aras Williams has a new novel called Leave Her to Heaven which is almost a mystery story. Song at Midnight, by Helen Topping Miller and Reunion on Strawberry Hill, by Bernice Thorpe, an Omaha author, are good light summer novels. Among the non-fiction we have A Pictorial Guide to many lands which is an excellent travel book with hundreds of colored illustrations. Meet Your Allies in War and Peace is another travel book, well illustrated with over 100 up to date pictures. Here is Africa is an attractive book on that country put out by the International Mind Alcove. Ploverman's Folly, by Edward Faulkner, is a book on an agricultural subject that has prompted a great deal of discussion in this country.

Army Air Combat Program Reopened

Recruiting Office Accepts Enlistments Again for Young Men of 17.

Army air forces air combat crew training program has been reopened by the war department to 17-year-old youths. Maj. Frank V. Kent, commanding officer, Nebraska recruiting district, Omaha, announced.

Several hundred applications were pending in the Omaha office and an examining board throughout the Nebraska district (the States of Nebraska and South Dakota) when the order halting enlistments temporarily was received. Major Kent urged all youths, still 17, who had applied for the training again to write or visit the Omaha AAF examining board, 225 post office building, Omaha, to complete their enlistment.

Youths enlisting who are under 17 years and 9 months old on June 1 and who are high school graduates will be offered the opportunity to attend college under the army specialized reserve training program at government expense before their call for active training with the army air forces, it was explained.

Applicants must pass a mental and physical combat crew qualifying examination to be accepted by the examining board and the 17-year-olds must have consent of parents or guardian on their application. Men 18 to 26 are not being accepted for the training as was the case previous to the enlistment suspension.

When called to active duty, men with outstandingly high aptitude ratings will be given training for pilot, bombardier and navigator's positions. Other men may qualify for training as career gunners.

Others with requisite experience and skills may be trained as technician gunners—radio gunners, armor gunners, or airplane mechanic gunners, officers of the Omaha board explained.

Sees Palestine As Troubled Land

Rev. H. Jacobs Tells About Trouble Between Jews and Arabs Now.

"Palestine is a troubled land today with many persecutions and massacres," according to Rev. H. Jacobs of Sioux City, who addressed Wayne Kiwanians Monday. Rev. Jacobs, a converted rabbi, is a Presbyterian evangelist. He was in Palestine from 1920 until 1939.

Jerusalem had 400 synagogues at the time Rev. Jacobs was there. When the pastor visited the room in which Jesus wept over Jerusalem, Rev. Jacobs decided to stay there and serve his people.

Jews by the hundreds of thousands have returned to Palestine in recent years, the speaker stated. About 20 years ago Palestine had about 300,000 Jews and now the number is double that. Population is one-third Jews and two-thirds Arabs. With the Arabs twice as strong numerically as the Jews, much persecution results. Rev. Jacobs credits the British with control that has protected the Jews against possible extermination.

Rev. Jacobs was in the city of Hebron in 1937 when 79 Jewish people, including two rabbis, were put to death. On another occasion there a group of Arabs asked the pastor for water which he gave them. The Arabs were blood-stained and carried swords and daggers. They had evidently been on a massacre. When Rev. Jacobs told them he was an American citizen, they did not harm him.

The pastor described the Palestine money, coined first in 1927, as the only kind in the world bearing three languages, Arabic, English and Hebrew. Earlier the people used Egyptian coins. The reason three languages are used is that the inscription on the cross of Christ was in three languages. The coins symbolize peace, but conditions in the country are far from peaceful.

Fred L. Blair led the group in songs.

Committees held meetings Monday with the following chairmen: Underprivileged children, P. L. Maren; agriculture, Carl E. Wright; public affairs, C. E. Garhart; support of churches, Dr. Victor West; laws and regulations, A. V. Tred; classification and membership, B. W. Wright; program, Dr. Ray Bryan.

Besides 38 members, guests were Frank E. Nangle of Paw Paw, Ill., who was with Dr. H. T. Jones, Ensign Wm. Kingston with C. M. Craven and Rev. H. Jacobs of Sioux City.

Fields Are Washed By Saturday Rains

Train Stalled in Carroll As Tracks Are Taken Out East of Here.

Heavy rains varying from 2.5 to 3 inches, driven by a hard wind and accompanied by some hail washed fields considerably in this vicinity Saturday afternoon between 5 and 6 o'clock. No rain fell later in this area.

Some corn on hills was washed out and other corn on low land was covered with soil that was carried down valleys by rushing waters. In many fields the corn is nearly ready for cultivation.

Hail damage was mainly to gardens.

Wind blew telephone lines badly so that service on a number of rural lines was interrupted.

The eastbound train, somewhat late Saturday afternoon, was stalled here when flood waters washed out tracks between Carroll and Wayne. The train returned to Carroll and was placed on the siding. Mr. Pickering took the crew to Emerson, and Perry Jarvis trucked mail cream and express to Wayne Sunday. The train will remain here until the line is repaired.

Road grades and bridges were washed by Saturday's storm.

Temperature dropped to 45 Monday morning.

This vicinity and Hoskins area received .75 inch of rain Memorial day night.

H. RICHTER Certified Snotone Consultant

YOU CAN'T TURN ON HEARING LIKE A RADIO

"Nothing is more misleading or harmful to a person with unsatisfactory hearing than the belief that owning a hearing aid is all there is to better hearing. We had that same idea years ago," stated H. Richter, Chief Consultant of Snotone's District office, "but we very quickly realized that what a person with unsatisfactory hearing wants is not just a hearing aid but UNINTERRUPTED HEARING! And that judging from our experience with many thousands of cases, means careful, scientific, INDIVIDUALIZED FITTING, sympathetic advice and assistance in the adjustment period, and willing, unflagging service afterwards."

And so a new figure has developed in the past ten years, the Snotone Consultant, the man who is not a salesman, but a trained technician schooled and equipped with the one idea of seeing that you get the best hearing that present day science can give you, and keep it for the rest of your life. Mr. Richter gives you consultations and hearing tests without charge or obligation at:

CHAS. E. SANDALL SAYS:

I AGREE WITH THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE

"Unwise," They Say, "To Raise The Prohibition Issue When Unity Is Most Needed"

The Anti-Saloon League of America recently issued this statement concerning national prohibition:

"Since the war powers already conferred upon the President . . . enable the government to cope with unsatisfactory liquor conditions, we deem it unwise and unnecessary to raise the . . . issue of national prohibition at a time when unity is most needed. A decision upon such a far-reaching Federal policy should . . . be left (until) millions of men now in the armed forces can participate in the decision.

"For these reasons the League is not uniting in the appeal for the enactment of war prohibition legislation . . . at this time."

Paraphrasing the Anti-Saloon League statement, we believe Nebraska citizens generally subscribe to the following:

"Since the powers already conferred upon the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission enable it and other enforcement agencies to cope with any unsatisfactory liquor conditions, we deem it unwise to raise the issue of state-wide prohibition at a time when unity is so much needed. A decision should await the return of the thousands of Nebraska men now in the armed forces.

"For these reasons, Nebraska citizens should not support the petitions for state-wide prohibition through the initiative petition method at this time."

The liquor situation in Nebraska is entirely satisfactory to most citizens. This state has one of the best Liquor Control Statutes in the nation. We have a Liquor Control Commission which functions ably. Since ENFORCEMENT of this good law is all that could possibly be asked, every citizen should back up the enforcement authorities to the limit, and concentrate on winning the war instead of raising a needless issue which would only distract our people and divide our war effort during what may be America's most crucial year.

War Plant Work Not New to Lady

Literary Turn of Mind Is Possessed by Intruders Who Read Books.

Working in a war plant is not a new experience to Mrs. May Staudenrauch, 68-year-old widow of Chicago. She began in the First World war and has been on the job ever since, and in the same plant.

Housebreakers with a literary turn of mind left this note after breaking into a home at Philadelphia: "We didn't take a thing. Honest we didn't. All we wanted to do was read your books."

Mrs. Frances Nelson of Dearing, Kan., lost a billfold on a train between Atchison, Kan., and Kansas City eight years ago. Without a word of explanation it was returned by mail from St. Louis a few days ago—its two dollar bills still inside.

Rae E. Walters, new OPA regional director at Chicago, announced at his first interview he intended to begin work each day at 7 a. m. The next morning he found no elevator operator at the federal agencies building when he arrived there that early. So Walters, whose principal dealings are with "ceilings" climbed 12 stories to his office.

A shepherd telephoned Attorney General Grover A. Giles at Salt Lake City to learn if it would be legal for him to use fireworks to scare away coyotes from his flock. Giles could find no exemption in the statutes controlling use of fireworks. Besides, he suggested, the display probably would scare the sheep as badly as the coyotes.

Four Binghamton, N. Y., men, led by Public Works Commissioner Arnold F. Mitchell, went up a ladder at midnight to capture a raccoon perched atop a telephone pole. The animal slid down as they climbed up.

A thief who stole a carton labeled "cheese" from a Chicago street car didn't save any ration points. The box contained 450 iron bolts destined for a manufacturing plant.

A New York woman had a tiff with her husband and ran to the street and turned in a fire alarm to get help. She got plenty—three engines, two hook and ladder companies, two battalion chiefs, a deputy chief and three police plover cars. In court later she paid a $25 fine for turning in a false alarm.

Rosemary Karier, a Chicago candy store clerk, found a wallet containing $1,488. She then hunted and found its owner. He gave her a 25c reward. On second thought he increased the tip by giving her an additional $1.

Swiss cheese and bottles of ale don't appeal to some robbers. Morris Warchowski of Cleveland, reported the theft of $300 from the icebox of his delicatessen store. The money was stuck between a Swiss cheese and bottles of ale, all of which were still there.

Carolyn Sue (Oliver, 9, Pueblo, Colo., is a little girl on the alert. She slammed the door and looked in a man she found rummaging in a shed at her home. The man protested, pleaded, and threatened to call the cops. "How can you call the cops when you're already locked in?" asked Carolyn Sue. When her parents returned from their walk they hastily released the junk dealer they had called to pick up some salvage.

A Wilkes-Barre, Pa., real estate salesman met a prospect for whom he had been searching for a home for some time and told him he was still looking for a suitable place. "I just bought one," replied the man and told the other where. "What," said the astonished salesman, "that's where I live."

Nazi prisoners of war at Fort Custer, Mich., had a new detail. Capt. A. T. Etcheson said they'd been sowing white clover seed in the shape of swastikas, two to three feet in size, along with grass seed. They were ordered to replace clover swastikas with grass seed.

"I can't say I think much of your new brand of breakfast cereal," said Ted Braley, test pilot, pushing away his empty dish. That's how Mrs. Braley learned what happened to her bowl of nasturtium seed.

Keeping one hand significantly in his coat pocket a young man ordered Anita Kresnik, a Milwaukee waitress, to get behind the counter and get that money for me quick, sister. Miss Kresnik looked him in the eye and said: "No man gets service from me when he talks like that." The man fled.

A group of physically unfits in Brooklyn met the inevitable question, "And why aren't you in uniform?" in a unique way. The boys put up a cardboard plaque in a neighborhood candy-stationery store. It's a 4-F honor roll, complete with 16 names and comic cartoons depicting each man's rejection story.

"Truly You Say a Most Absurd and False Statement"

BUT

Our records show over the past 45 years of business in this community that Tractors, Implements or Automobiles purchased from us from the standpoint of service, satisfaction and resale value, our customers have actually purchased their equipment at not only wholesale prices, but below wholesale.

Too, in our 45 years of business, or since 1900, we have never repossessed any piece of Machinery, Tractor or Automobile. A tribute to our customers. We believe no other dealer in this territory, over the same span of time, can make that statement.
