

Position on Proposed Airport —Tries to Kick Props from Under Movement He Helped Create —Incongruities Bold and Irreconcilable with Sense—Special Election Next Tuesday.

In a signed criticism of present-day Wayne's healthy development, C. H. Hendrickson, former practicing attorney and now candidate for county judge, clearly reverses himself on the proposition to vote bonds to buy a municipal airport. He signed the petition asking the city to call the special election. He now arrays himself in opposition. It is not necessary to proclaim the need of adequate airports in the postwar world. Live communities will have them or be in convenient proximity to them.

This candidate for county judge deprecates the change from pioneer Wayne to modern Wayne. Commendable as were the sturdy and reliable spirits behind early-day institutions, they could not and did not attempt the standard of service later made possible. They were truthful and spurred duplicity. They suffered mud on the ground and dust in the air—both grueling and unsanitary—but under the slowly unfolding pattern of civilization they could not at the time help themselves.

After World War I Wayne decided, like many other live towns, to lift itself out of the dirt, and accordingly, it authorized storm sewers and paving. At the conclusion of that improvement the bonded indebtedness ran over one million dollars. In 1922 it amounted to $980,000. The city's bonded debt now—less $68,000 in bonds it owns—is $138,000. This record sharply contradicts the statement that today the city is "bonded to the hilt."

In modern conveniences and services, business houses have kept step with popular demands. Will not the farmers resent the inconsistency and unfairness of the ex-attorney's blast at the improvement and worthy ambition of their county seat by voting against him for county judge? In charting the future of the town, will citizens heed varying and uncertain whims by voting in a hick the wheels of vital progress on October 24? We think not. Will either rural or town populations go to the polls November 7 and vote to kick out Judge J. M. Cherry, a long and deservedly trusted guardian of their estates? We think not.

Speaking of Judge Cherry: He is one of the worthy pioneers mentioned with much gusto by the Shipper's chronic kicker, Judge Cherry has lived a long and orderly life. His private and public acts suggest no apology. He has served faithfully and lived simply. He never sought great material wealth, nor did he ever envy those who possessed it. The lure of worldly riches had less appeal than the needs of the unfortunate and underprivileged. Like other fine characters in the pioneer struggle, Judge Cherry has been sympathetic and helpful, expecting nothing in return but esteem and confidence.

Judge Cherry followed Thos. Jefferson's political party until 1833 when, profaned by Roosevelt's new deal fallacies, he abandoned it in disgust. He did not trim or vacillate at any time to get under the winning ball. That practice, without noise or red fire, rings true to the usual gold in pioneer traditions. Numerous and sound are the reasons why the county's citizenry should rally behind a noble heart closely attuned to human values, and see that no change is made in the authorized handling of precious bequests, large or small. People should not, and we believe will not turn him down.

Vote for Airport.

Voting for investment in an airport, at the special election next Tuesday, will help Wayne go ahead. Compare Wayne's property values and business activities with those in towns that hesitate to incur indebtedness. This town's record of improvement and debt payments is an inducement to investors and home-seekers, and the future must be taken care of by keeping the wheels of progress moving. Air navigation is growing, and it will be given a big impetus after the war. Wayne must be prepared. If it would meet demands and avoid shipping, Wayne has been long-visioned in the past, and we believe it will be so in the future.

Minister Speaks To College Group

"Finding the Unknown or the Value of X" was the subtitle on which Rev. O. B. Broet spoke at college convocation on Tuesday. When one lets the unknown represent God, much hope and strength are assured in solving life's problems. People need Christian ethics. Rev. Broet quoted Geo. Washington, who in his farewell message stated that religious principles are among the indispensable supports to make the world sober, sane and civilized.

In spite of a few minor reverses, progress of the war is most favorable, according to Dr. J. R. Johnson who gave his weekly news review. Jacqueline Hellberg gave a resume of Bizet's opera, "Carmen," which was given here by artists Wednesday. Prof. Russel Anderson played two recordings from the opera.

RUSH OF HUNTERS RESPONDS TO THE OPEN BIRD SEASON

OPENING of the pheasant season Saturday brought hither hunters from many directions and long distances. Big corn stalks and heavy foliage served the advantage of the wary birds, and tagging the limit allowed by law has not been so easy as it had been in some former years. Early Saturday morning the down-town district was astir with persons equipped and eager to get on the trail of the feathered creatures. The open season lasts longer than usual, and pheasants that escape being popped off before protection is restored, will deserve medals for expert maneuvering. Persons who relish pheasant meat, should be amply satisfied while the season remains open. Those who do not favor pheasant as the central dish in the daily diet, will often have occasion to shy from it. It is certain by the end of the season the beautifully plumed birds will be fewer and scarier.

Wayne Club Earns Award In Membership Second Period of Year.

Supt. John G. Hansen of Fremont, Wayne college graduate, was elected governor of Nebraska-Iowa district of Kiwanis International at the 26th annual convention held in Sioux City Wednesday and Thursday last week. He succeeds Paul G. James of Des Moines, the first of the year.

Emmet Murphy of North club in Omaha, was chosen lieutenant governor for Division Five. When the new term opens he will succeed Prof. O. R. Bowen of Wayne, who now holds this office.

At the convention Prof. Bowen presented the three-star award to Omaha downtown club and to Wayne for surpassing membership goal increases for the second period of the year. Wayne club also had this honor. First club and hopes to attain it again for the final period.

In reporting on the meeting, Prof. Bowen quoted Dr. A. F. Brandon of Wilmar, Minn., International trustee, and B. L. Holton of Waterloo, Ia., district secretary-treasurer, when he told that membership in the district has increased 542 since the last convention and this does not include new clubs which bring the added number to about 700. Kiwanis International now has about 2,236 clubs and more than 134,000 members.

War and Post War. "War and Post War Plans" was the theme of the convention. Prof. Bowen mentioned three speakers in particular. Editor W. Earl Hall of the Globe-Gazette in Mason City, Ia., who just recently returned from France and England, told of the excellent care being given to wounded servicemen. One specialist now on army pay formerly drew $100,000 annually for his services.

Geo. F. Shaler of Bismarck, N. D., former governor of his state and now Kiwanis governor in the Minnesota-Dakotas district, stated that "on America rests the responsibility for world peace."

Dr. Harry Van Walt of Chicago, traveler and lecturer who spoke at the college in Wayne about a year ago, expressed the belief that German imports will have to be regulated after the war by the united nations. Dr. Van Walt was introduced as the man who will likely represent Holland at the peace table.

C. M. Craven commended Paul J. James for his management of the convention, and he especially liked the message of Dr. Brandon on "Kiwanis on the March."

Resides those mentioned, Wayne was represented at the convention by Dr. J. T. Anderson and Dr. R. P. Cuff.

Wayne high boys' quartet, Mauric Sandahl, Bill Allen, Wilfred Nelson and Charles Carhart, with Charlie Wright as accompanist, sang "Standing in the Need of Prayer" and "Stouthearted Men." Miss Wanda Coulson is director. "America the Beautiful," "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean" and "Star Spangled Banner" were led by F. L. Blair with Senator W. A. Crossland at the piano.

Wilford Lindsay, another son of the John Lindsays, is also with the marines and was taken prisoner when the Japs captured Wake island, in December, 1941. He has been in a prison camp at Shanghai, China, and the last letter received by the family from him was 18 months ago.

Taxpayer Defends Council's Good Faith

The Herald's C. H. Hendrickson and others signed on September 8 filed with the city clerk of Wayne a petition stating as follows:

"We the undersigned, being resident electors and free holders of the city of Wayne, Nebraska, being desirous of having the city purchase and acquire a tract of land upon which to establish and maintain a municipal airport, and further being desirous of having the city of Wayne issue bonds for the purpose of purchasing said tract, do hereby request that you forthwith call a special election in said city, as provided by law, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified electors of the city of Wayne the question of the issuance of said bonds and the purchase of a tract of land for a municipal airport all as provided by law."

Believing that Mr. Hendrickson and other persons who signed the petition meant what they said the mayor and council of the city called a special election for October 24; properly the mayor or council expressed his opinion on the merits of the question to be voted upon at the election. The point is Mr. Hendrickson's tactics and methods. Since in his Shopper he now opposes what he recommended in the petition and says an airport is a bad thing and not a good thing, it is easy to believe that Mr. Hendrickson wanted a special election called only to give him the opportunity to continue his at-

Authority Given To Build Stadium

Construction at College Is Starting Soon and to Be Finished in Spring.

Construction of a new, modern stadium at Wayne State Teachers college will start this fall and will be pushed to completion next spring. The project was halted two years ago because of the war emergency. Federal authorization to begin construction came from the war production board this week.

Bids on the concrete, steel-reinforced structure will be let by the state board of education soon. The plan is to run the footings and lay foundations before winter. The superstructure will be erected in the spring.

Plans call for a stadium measuring 44 feet 6 inches by 216 feet 3 inches, this to be on the site of the frame one dismantled on the athletic field north of the campus. The stadium will be equipped with a press box.

Materials were purchased before postponement of the work in early 1942.

Dr. J. T. Anderson expects that Coach J. H. Morrison, now Red Cross field director in England, will return to the college by spring so that he may help supervise building of the stadium.

Claim in Sullivan Estate Is to Be Considered This Thursday.

Settlement of the Robert Roggenbach estate, appealed to district court by four daughters, was heard before Judge Lyle Jackson here Wednesday.

The Roggenbach will left one quarter of land to each of the six sons, W. E. George, the late Robert F. Frank, Edward and Charles. It provided that personal property should be divided equally among the four daughters, Anna Peters, Clara Peters, Paula Nieman and Emma Armbrust. Deceased owned another quarter section at the time of his death and disposition of this was not provided for in the will. The question of liability for federal and state inheritance taxes also arose.

The county court ruled that all 10 children should share equally in the extra quarter section of land and also share equally in the tax.

Airport Bond Issue Election Is Called

TASK OF PICKING LARGE CORN CROP WILL SOON START

NEITHER mechanical pickers nor human pickers are plentiful enough to gather the record corn crop in usual time. Farmers are enthusiastic over the quantity and quality of the crop, but they are rather dismayed by the prospect of getting it out of fields and into cribs ahead of ugly snow storms. Picking will be under way during the next week, and all available hands will be invited to join in the work. Town people who know how to pick, and whose time is not otherwise helpfully occupied, could help solve food problems and at the same time receive fancy wages by hiring out to the farmers. Prices for the job are higher than customary, and a fellow who need not be an expert to win rich returns. The crop is reported uniformly good throughout the corn belt. Any frost that has occurred lately will prove helpful to matured corn.

Wayne Voters Will Ballot On Plan of Purchasing Site Next Tuesday.

Wayne electors will vote next Tuesday, October 24, on the proposal to issue $17,000 in bonds for purchase of a site for an airport. By owning the land on which its port is located, a municipality is eligible for federal and state assistance in improving the port for air navigation.

The federal government matches funds of the city in improving municipally-owned ports. The state provides funds which accumulate from the gasoline tax. Officials have assured Wayne that this city is now eligible for $8,000 to $10,000 state money from the gasoline tax.

Surveying prospects for expansion of civil aviation in the post-war period, Wm. Burden, assistant secretary of commerce, asserts that the United States will need at least 6,000 fields. Of the 3,000 new ports required, some 2,900 should be class 1 and 2, suitable for private flying and local feeder service. In addition 1,625 existing fields should be improved. Mr. Burden, in a report to congress, urged "towns, cities and states, as well as private interests, to go full speed ahead with their preparatory planning. They should not delay the acquisition of sites. The farther along they are with plans, the sooner these can be put into action."

"For the city to buy land for an airport should be a good investment," states Dr. J. T. Anderson, president of the college. "Land is always worth the price. If aviation of the future is to be as important as it now seems, those towns and colleges prepared to give such training will profit materially by being ready to participate in such programs."

All qualified electors may vote on the airport bond issue in Wayne, and majority vote decides the question. Polls will be open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m., at the city hall in First ward, Grace church in Second and court house in Third.

Military Training Subject Discussed

The Wadsworth-Gurney bill proposing a year's compulsory military training for youths, now before congress, was the topic for panel discussion Tuesday evening when Wayne chapter of A. A. U. P. sponsored a meeting at the college.

Prof. F. G. Dale told that a Gallup poll shows that 63 per cent favor military training after the war. 23 oppose it and 14 are undecided. Those favoring this training say it secures peace, gives the nation prominence in world affairs, prevents war, keeps "rough boys" from attacking, provides needed physical training, teaches discipline and holds militaristic powers in check. Those opposing such training say it indoctrinates youth with militarism, works against cooperation of world powers, demands international peace force, has failed in Europe and arouses further trouble.

Dr. W. G. Ingram, Dr. J. T. Anderson, Dr. M. H. Hanawalt, Miss Lois Crouch and Miss Lenore Ramsey comprised the panel, and Dr. M. B. Street conducted a discussion afterward. Some favored compulsory training in high school and others in college. Some would substitute physical training throughout the school. Some would postpone training because of the large reserve of military personnel living after the war. Others favor such training when dangers arise. Others think summer training might be sufficient.

Dr. S. B. Shively is president, Dr. Street vice president, Miss Jessie Boyce secretary and Miss Verna Elefson treasurer of the local chapter.

Sixth War Loan Will Start Soon

Meeting in Wakefield Is Scheduled for Planning New Bond Drive.

Nebraskans will be asked to invest $94,000,000 in war bonds in the Sixth war loan drive, November 20 to December 16, as this state's share of the 14 billion dollar goal, according to State Chairman W. Dale Clark of Omaha. Plans for the drive in this area will be made when state and local officials meet at Wakefield October 31.

"The Sixth war loan is one of the most important war financing efforts to date," said Chairman Clark, "coming when our armed forces are engaged in a crucial struggle that may well determine whether the war is to be won speedily or whether it will be long drawn out."

"Nebraska has exceeded its quota in previous drives. Conditions are very favorable for achieving our Sixth war loan quota, provided each does his share. Nebraska has been favored with a bumper corn crop and income from all sources is high. It is therefore reasonable to expect that Nebraskans will be willing to loan their money from crops and wages to the vitally necessary financing of the war," adds Mr. Clark.

PHONE 5

Why do I have to wait for a telephone?

The reason is that there is a shortage of telephone facilities, due to wartime demands for telephone service and because manufacturing plants, manpower and materials are being used to supply battle fronts.

Can some folks get service right away?
Yes, those designated by government order as entitled to receive service immediately. In most cases, it is not possible to install service for other applicants without delay.

Can I get service promptly if I move within the city?
In most cases, we will be able to connect service for you at your new address when you move, but in some cases there may be a delay. If you are planning to move, please get in touch with our Business Office so we can explain the situation as it applies to your particular case.

Will I get service sooner if there is a telephone in the house where I am moving?
It makes no difference. There's such a shortage of telephone facilities that prompt removal of all non-working telephones is necessary to serve those on the waiting list. When your turn comes, however, the charge for connecting your service will be the same as if the telephone was still in place.

Can I keep my extension telephone if I move?
In accordance with a government order, we are not permitted to install nor reconnect residence extension telephones except in special cases for practicing physicians, or surgeons, or temporarily when there is serious illness in the family. This restriction makes disconnected extension telephones available to serve persons who have no telephone service at all.

If you have other questions about availability of telephone service, please get in touch with our Business Office. We shall be glad to do everything possible to help you.

Middle Class Writer Louis Bromfield calls attention to the importance of the great middle class in the conflict between ideological extremes.

Somewhere between the extremes of the radicals and the communists on the one hand and the reactionary democrats and republicans on the other lies the great number of intelligent middle class voters whose ballots may well determine the future of the nation...

The only safe course for the next four to 10 years is a safe, efficient, middle-of-the-road course, dominated by the great bulk of good middle-class citizens...

What is needed most is unity, security and a consolidation of the social gains already made. There is one fact we should never forget, that democracy and the middle class are inseparable.

Critical of SPEAKING of President Roosevelt's first campaign speech in which he lodged charges of "fraud" and "falsification" against republicans...

The New Deal's appalling record of seven years of needlessly prolonged depression is ineradicable. All of Mr. Roosevelt's light-hearted quips, ringing falsely in the grim reality of wartime...

A vast number of hard-working, self-sacrificing Americans are everlastingly tired of the New Deal, its double-talk, its incitement of group against group...

For almost 12 years the New Deal, with its weird entourage of crackpots and crack-downers, has flim-flammed the country on the most stupendous scale in history.

Fine American qualities, possessed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey and Governor John W. Bricker who head the republican national ticket, are emphasized by Bert Howard, chairman of the republican state central committee...

against the postwar period. "The election this year is not political," Howard said. "Either we keep faith with the founders of our republic or we toss it out of the window and substitute a new form of government."

It was predicted in August by some higher-ups in understanding that the war in Europe would be over before now with unconditional surrender and the allied conquerors in undisputed control of enemy territory. But supplies were reported slow in reaching the fighters and resistance was tougher than expected.

George W. Olsen, democratic nominee for governor, has accepted the personal invitation of William Ritchie, campaign director, to attend the rally to be addressed by Vice President Henry A. Wallace in Omaha Friday night.

Quoting from the Labor Union Newspaper which warns against delivering the organization's interests into the Hillman-Browder combination which seeks national domination through a fourth term, the Sioux City Journal says: "Beyond a doubt there will be vast numbers of organized workers throughout the country who will protect themselves and their interests in unionism when they go to the polls November 7."

The report that Westbrook Pegler, popular columnist, fell on a newly waxed floor and fractured some ribs, doubtless explains the absence of his daily contributions the past week.

The New York Daily News reports a particularly mean trick on the part of labor unions in collecting $3 apiece from Italian garment workers, ostensibly to give to the Italian war relief fund, but diverting $1 from each contribution to aid the fourth term. It looks as though labor union bosses may so far violate discretion that they will defeat their purpose.

Will M. Maupin who is running as a democrat for railway commissioner, has issued a declaration of independence from party bosses with whom he is wholly out of accord. He does not propose to be controlled. Speaking of his opponent, he says "he is a personal friend, a gentleman and a man of experience and proved ability."

The ever existing prospect of a vice president becoming president which led the public to look with some trepidations on the Wallace incumbency, gains no reassurance in shifting to a possible Truman who, it is revealed, has some powerfully offensive political machine connections.

Harry Bridges who has defeated attempts to deport him as an "undesirable alien," is a leading figure in the Political Action Committee's efforts on the Pacific coast to support a fourth term, though he is not a naturalized citizen and cannot himself vote.

Nation's Business mentions that Napoleon routed the Prussians in Oct., 1806, and therefore, contemplating that precedent, it accepts October as an excellent month for the allies to invade the German capital.

Representative Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut, called a spade a spade in her Chicago address last week, and from what she said no one could be mistaken in what she meant.

It is believed returning soldiers, up against a hardening experience, will be able to fuse needed backbone into some feeble spots on the home front.

SUGGESTION

Nation's Business quotes John H. Crider's book, "The Bureaucrat," on ways to eliminate government bureaucrats and reduce costs. The book would adopt a constitutional amendment to restrict government use of paper.

he published in the Shopper he had bid. The council found Mr. Shields was the high bidder and sold him the property; what Mr. Hendrickson bid was $1,150 and in his bid he stated he would pay whatever further sum might be realized from double taxes paid by the city less attorney's fees and expense; his bid is on file in the city clerk's office open to public inspection.

Mr. Hendrickson to the contrary notwithstanding, the city of Wayne is a better city today than it ever was; more people come here and more business is done than ever before; our people are united and attempts to create ill feeling and disunity ought not to be indulged in.

Since the city has gone to the expense of calling the special election above referred to, I hope the voters of Wayne will study and inform themselves on the question to be voted upon and go to the polls and vote on Tuesday, October 24.

Political Advertising

George Hally says:

Overseas in hot jungles and muddy trenches, your boy and mine are fighting to preserve for all of us the rights of free men.

Some of those boys will never return and their bodies will lie forever in foreign soil hallowed by their blood. We can never repay the debt we owe those who die under the Stars and Stripes, but we must go the second mile in fair treatment to those brave boys who return to our towns and farms.

At the close of World War I, few congressmen were men of military experience and they failed to recognize many of the problems that faced the returning service men.

Let us be sure that OUR boys, returning from THIS war, have the understanding cooperation of Congressmen who know by personal experience the problems of the veteran.

As your candidate for Congress, I should tell you that my grandfather was in the army for 22 years and fought through the entire Civil War. I served in the Marine Corps in the first World War and today my only son is a marine fighting the Japs in the Pacific area. My only brother is an officer in the naval forces and 28 of the Hally clan are in uniform.

If you send me to Washington as your representative, I assure you that I will protect the best interests of our soldier boys. I know from personal experience what it means to be mustered out and to look for a job. And I am determined that servicemen returning from this conflict shall have better opportunities than we did after the last war.

Supports Move for Permanent Airport

A citizen interested in the future of Wayne contributes the following as a reason why the city should have a permanent airport: "Seventy-five transit planes have used the field since August 1 from such places as Pittsburgh, Pa., Reno, Nev., Wichita, Kan., St. Louis, Mo., Minneapolis, Minn., and Tulsa, Okla. Some of these pilots and passengers have stayed overnight or even several days, spending some money in the town. Your vote for the CONSTITUTIONAL GAS TAX PROTECTION AMENDMENT will assure—

1. Protection of our road tax funds for construction and maintenance of our primary, farm-to-market, and municipal roadways.
2. Opportunities for employment for our returning "G. I. Joes" and war workers through using all our state gasoline sales tax funds on road repair and construction.

REASONS FOR AMENDMENT

1. Nebraska needs more and better roads.
2. Thousands of young Nebraskans coming home from the war will need jobs. The adoption of this amendment will assure opportunities for employment immediately on a state-wide basis.
3. Present diversion of road funds should be stopped and future diversion prevented.
4. We Nebraskans were promised that use of gasoline sales tax funds for non-highway purposes was only temporary and soon would be discontinued.
5. Adoption of the Constitutional Gas Tax Amendment will redeem that official promise.

FARMERS HYBRID SEED CORN Corn seeds may look alike but be vastly different in yielding ability. Here is what the users who planted Farmers Hybrid seed corn say after buying many hybrids of seed corn—will say Farmers Hybrid seed corn is the outstanding corn in both yield and quality. Farmers Hybrid is very uniform in ear height, picks easily and has very few ears off. It has a better rooted, resistant to drought, rigidly detasseled, moisture tested, evenly graded. Farmers who plant Farmers Hybrid corn are quick to realize its outstanding yielding ability. Watch and see how Farmers Hybrid seed corn comes through drought and insects, watch your crib fill up. I still have all numbers for your soil. On September 22, 1944, I became dealer for The American Corn Millers Federation to sell you real snow white seed corn. White corn commands a premium of 15c to 20c per bushel on the commercial market and the cost for seed per bushel is no more than yellow corn. I am sure that you cannot get better white corn. Look at it when I will be in Wayne with my corn samples or see your Farmers Hybrid seed corn dealer or phone 3173 out of Wisner, Nebr. W. E. Roggenbach WISNER, NEBR., RT. 1

Sailors of the Same Name Naturalized

Sandy and Rock Bottom Are Living in Scenery Hill In Pennsylvania.

Sailor Edward Shevlin, 37, became an American citizen at San Francisco. After he had gone along came another sailor, Edward Shevlin, 20, and he, too, took the citizenship oath. Both were born in Glasgow, Scotland, both now live in New York City, both were at the same boot camp. But they never met, and are not related.

Wildlife in Wyoming isn't so wild. Airport authorities at Cheyenne tried to shoot an antelope off the landing field. It failed, finally tumbled it away. And in Coketville, Wyo., a moose meandered into town, posed prettily while residents took pictures, then strolled on.

The navy recruiting station at Pittsburgh enrolled a youngster named Sandy Bottom. He's 17 and they asked him if his father would sign consent papers. "He sure will," the lad replied, returning later with his father's signature—Rocky Bottom. The Bottoms are from Scenery Hill, Pa.

Josephine Mishik of Mafdan, N. D., shot a pheasant but she never got arounding to "bagging" it. Running to retrieve the fallen bird, she found a skunk had beaten her to the fowl. Adding to her luck, Miss Mishik sprained her ankle when she turned to make a hasty retreat.

At Canon City, Colo., a rock rolled on Dan Maranelli's leg and he complained occasionally about the bad bruise. After four days his employer insisted that he get an X-ray. The picture showed the larger bone broken cleanly, the ends re-set and held in place by Maranelli's high leather boots.

It looks like a coatless winter for Mrs. T. C. Morris, Kansas City. Two weeks ago she discovered that her winter coat was missing. So she bought a new one. She put the box containing it on the floor of a lunch room while she lunched and forgot about it. When she remembered it and returned, it was missing, too.

The Sidney J. Sammis family of Kansas City returned home from a week-end trip and found their curtains torn up, the window sill chewed almost in two, stuffing removed from overstuffed furniture, and apples and spices either eaten or spilled. The Sammises called the fire department which had little trouble in catching the home-wrecker: A saucy, young red squirrel.

Mrs. Alice Cooper, Glendora, Cal., who took her first knitting lesson 85 years ago, has completed her 180th pair of socks and 12th heavy sweater for men in this war, she's 93.

At Great Falls, Mont., Mrs. Frank Rodgers called out that dinner was on the table, and a moment later here came Frank, right through the ceiling to drop near the dining room table. He really wasn't that hungry. Just missed his footing while insulating the attic.

Wm. Mosconi of Los Angeles, got down on his knees in court and begged his estranged wife to return to him. She refused and he faints, afterwards explaining that he hadn't eaten for a week because of worry over the affair. Two weeks later, Mosconi's attorney told the court his client's plea had been effective and the couple were reunited. The alimony case was marked off the calendar.

At Santa Fe, N. M., Capt. Clarence E. Tisdale went bear hunting. He left his wife in a shaded, comfortable camping spot. Three hours later he returned, empty-handed. He found that while he was gone Mrs. Tisdale had killed a 300-pound bear that had wandered by. Needed only one shot, too.

Charles Wagner, New York City tattoo artist, claimed he was performing a patriotic duty by putting clothes on nude figures ornamenting world-beat sailors to meet navy standards. But his cleanup campaign cost him a $10 fine. He was convicted in bawdy court of failing to sterilize his tattoo needles.

Billings, Mont., police failed to find the body of a man who was reported lying in a silo on an abandoned farm. A second report that the body was wedged in between the officers and the wall brought the officers back. Again the body was gone. The police were stumped. Then Sheriff Herbert Bailey produced a man who admitted that he naps occasionally in the silo, not far from his home.

Lonnie O'Neil of Los Angeles, says a permanent wave turned her brown hair red and white, giving her the blues. The 21-year-old actress-singer-dancer is suing the beauty shop for $31,500.

There was just a seven-inch space between the iron bars protecting an entrance to the legal currency exchange on Madison street, Chicago. An unidentified thin man made it through the slim gap. After squeezing through he got only $3.52 in stamps and change.

A Dallas, Tex., city ambulance driver reported he was called out to pick up an unconscious woman at a drug store. He learned on his arrival that she had stopped to call her liquor dealer and inquire if he had her favorite brand of whiskey. When he said yes, she
