

Court Records Have No Superior in State—Courts and Lawyers—Speech at War Dad Convention Interrupted—Antediluvian Find—Credit to Wid-west.

Lawyers and others prompted by experience, say the records in Judge J. M. Chery's office are painstakingly handled and carefully preserved. Nothing slipshod is permitted. Accuracy, neatness and dispatch are faithfully followed. Anything anyone wants to find out is instantly available. "No better kept court record in the state!" say lawyers and litigants.

The Actual Record. Today's Herald presents a commendation from Walter S. Bressler, city clerk, speaking to straighten out misstatements made by C. H. Hendrickson in reporting Wayne's tax figures. And this fellow wants to be elected county judge. May Wayne county take due heed and govern itself accordingly.

Citizen Protection. A judge is an arbiter provided to settle disputes and administer justice. Purpose of the courts is to protect citizen rights, see that innocence is safeguarded and guilt detected and punished. But sometimes a lawyer with a queer sense of obligation and duty employs cunningly fashioned subterfuge to defeat justice, and this causes damage to society whose court machinery is, on the contrary, intended to facilitate decision and justice, not to hinder or frustrate it.

Aroused Opposition. Upton Close, author and radio commentator, was interrupted and threatened in the course of his speech before the national convention of War Dads in Omaha last week. Disturbers were not so numerous as their noise and interfering activities would indicate. Mr. Close was attacking communism when the row started. But the bulk of the crowd was orderly and attentive. Mr. Close has four sons in the armed forces, and he is a charter member of the War Dad organization. The disturbance suggested communist sympathizers and communist tactics. It would appear that freedom of speech which is one thing American boys are fighting for, was openly menaced.

Prehistoric Tooth. Finding the tooth of a dinosaur in a Cumming county gravel pit, as mentioned in last week's Herald, reminds us of similar discoveries along the river bluffs in Dixon county in the early days. The dinosaur belonged to a prehistoric reptile family. Its length varied from 20 to 30 feet, with a small head, long neck and tail and a powerful body. The petrified remains of a plesiosaurs was once unearthed near what is now the state park north of Ponca.

The History of Dixon County relates that while a Mr. Brewer was exploring the bluffs in search of a rock fall and revealed the fossil. In the process of excavation the bones were badly broken, but experts remedied them together, and thus restored the petrification measured 80 feet with an 18-inch thickness. It was finally placed in a Chicago museum.

Any member of the dinosaur outfit looked terribly forbidding. It could paddle on water and walk on land, feed from the tops of trees or devour anything edible in the underbrush. One early-day scientist guessed that the plesiosaurs lived 50,000,000 years ago. We are glad nature quit manufacturing it.

Sandhill's Part. A story by Forrest Davis in the current Saturday Evening Post gives a lot of credit to mid-west quail displayed at Valentine, Neb. for the vigorous spirit imparted to Gov. Thomas Dewey of his recent visit there. He witnessed an outpouring of genuine Americanism that was stimulating. The mask of make-believe so often found in some large eastern centers, was entirely stripped off. It did his soul good to spend a brief time at Sam McKelvie's ranch and touch the unalloyed character of a sand-hill town.

Union Thanksgivng Services Arranged. Wayne Ministerial association will sponsor union Thanksgivng services November 30 at St. Paul Lutheran church, according to plans made Monday last when the pastors and their families met at the Presbyterian church. Dr. Victor West will be speaker.

Ball Turret Gunner Is Prisoner of War

S. Sgt. Robert Heylman Is Reported Safe in Word Coming Tuesday.

In late August he spent a few days rest on the Isle of Capri. Shortly afterward he went on the August 29 mission. Many friends are relieved to learn of his safety.

War Review Given For Kiwanis Club

Outstanding progress in the world war was noted by Dr. J. H. Johnson and history of the U. S. navy was reviewed by Coach Wm. Steckelberg for Wayne Kiwanis Monday, both were introduced by Supt. J. W. Litherland.

Greatest war successes are in the Pacific where last Friday Gen. Douglas MacArthur led the American 6th army in a landing on the island of Leyte in the central Philippines. This landing of 250,000 men in 600 ships, under protection of Admiral Chester Nimitz and the 7th Fleet, accomplished major objectives. Divided into the quieter motion japs in the Philippines in two divisions, made it possible to retake the islands, placate the American forces in position to attack the japs in Japan and in China.

In the European theatre, Dr. Johnson told that the Canadian 1st army had cleared the approaches to Antwerp, British 2nd army is approaching Essen, American 1st army took Aachen and is advancing beyond into Germany. American 3rd army under Gen. Patton is attacking a flanking movement and the American 5th army is active near the Swiss border. In Italy the American 5th army has tied up Kesselring's Nazi forces and British 8th is about 12 miles from Ravenna on the Adriatic side. In the Balkans Corinth and Athens and most of the Aegean islands have fallen to the allies; nazis are evacuating Greece and Albania and the Russians are advancing on Budapest and are 20 miles in Germany. The Russians have advanced to the Norwegian-Finnish border in the north.

In observance of navy week, Coach Steckelberg gave a brief history of this branch of service. In 1775 merchant marine sailing vessels used in trade with Great Britain were fitted as men of war. The navy declined after the Revolutionary war and was reestablished in 1794. During the Mexican war, 1846-47, ships were converted to use steam power. The navy expanded in the Civil war and then blockaded the south and then deprecated. In 1883 it was regenerated. Impetus was again given in World War I and afterward many ships were scrapped. Since 1936 the navy has expanded greatly and will in 1945 have 8,440 vessels, the largest fleet in the world.

Wm. Beckenhufer led the group in singing "Home on the Range," "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "Builders." Miss Hazel Reeve was accompanist. Besides 41 members, Miss Hazel Reeve, Coach Wm. Steckelberg and Dr. J. R. Johnson were guests of the club Monday and Rev. Walter G. Sloan of Dixon, was with Dr. Ray Bryan.

Kiwanians will have their wives as guests at dinner Monday evening, November 6, at the college dining room. On that day the club will have no noon session, but the group meets as usual next Monday, October 30, at the hotel.

Hallowe'en Once Sacred Occasion Now of No Value

HALLOWEEN, originally the vigil of the feast of All Saints, comes October 31. In some countries it used to be observed by visiting cemeteries and putting flowers on graves. Particularly in the United States it has been devoted to merry-making and so called fortune telling. Spooks are cultivated. Hobboblins are successful if they make a fellow's cuticle chill. Also in this country Halloween is often corrupted into an occasion to raise the devil, disturbing chattels and marring and damaging property. The war program requires so much thought and effort that it seems unlikely anyone would have the spirit to interfere with orderly processes. It would seem no one—no matter how young and reckless—could be persuaded to impose extra annoyance and hardship on civilian pursuits. The war has laid largely increased burdens on most persons, and it is especially bad taste at this time to make them injured victims of childish, if not malicious, pranks. Doubtless the world would be no worse off if Halloween had been dropped and forgotten long ago.

Raymond Eblers Injured on Palau

Pvt. Raymond Eblers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eblers of Dixon, was seriously wounded September 17 in the invasion of the Palau islands, north of New Guinea and east of the Philippines, according to word coming last week to his parents from the war department. The family has as yet had no word from the youth.

Pvt. Eblers serves with the infantry. He has been in service 15 months and went to the Pacific four months ago. The word stated that he had been hospitalized in the Pacific area.

Another son of Mr. and Mrs. Eblers, Lt. Melvin Eblers, is in the air service and is stationed at Lincoln base.

College Extension Work Serves Many

Wayne State Teachers' college has nearly 350 students enrolled in extension work this term, and prospects indicate that the number will increase. The aim of the program is to give training to teachers who are serving during the war emergency and teacher shortage.

The program for improvement of rural instruction has 174 enrolled in courses given at Pierce, Hartington, Wayne, Stanton, Ponca and York. Mrs. Celia Pearson, Dr. Ray Bryan and Dr. H. D. Kemper conducted the last round of instruction. Dr. Bryan and Miss Anna Clute have charge of the second series of lessons.

Study centers have 109 enrolled to date. At Hartington Dr. J. R. Johnson teaches a history course on representative Americans; at Center Prof. G. W. Costensen gives geography of South America; at Norfolk Dr. M. H. Hanawalt gives a course in the modern novel; at Neligh Dr. P. C. Cuff teaches freshman composition II and creative writing and Dr. M. B. Street has history of the west; at Pender Miss Jessie Stephen gives art essentials and methods of teaching art; at West Point Dr. George Seck has educational psychology and adolescent psychology. Beginning November 4 Dr. S. B. Shively teaches a course in health and hygiene at Ponca and Dr. Ray Bryan one in educational psychology at Dakota City. Another in character education is offered at Ponca and an instructor will be assigned soon. A class at Stanton is also a likely possibility.

The third phase of extension work, the correspondence study, is in charge of Dr. Mary Wheat Hanawalt. At present 55 are enrolled in this.

Officer Wounded In Aachen Battle

Capt. Charles H. Norris Is Recovering at Station On European Front. Captain Charles H. Norris, 28, grandson of Dr. T. B. Heckert and nephew of Mrs. Paul Mines of Wayne, was wounded in action in the battle of Aachen and has been evacuated, according to a V-mail letter dated October 8 written by him to his father, W. F. Norris of Nashville, Tenn.

The officer has one bullet wound in his left hand and one in his left leg as well as a shrapnel wound in his left hand. He said his wounds are superficial and that he is getting along fine and is having the best of medical care and attention.

In the service since June, 1941, Captain Norris was first at Honolulu and then saw action in the south Pacific area, after which he returned to the states. He was sent to England in June and participated in the invasion of France. Prior to entering service he was an instructor at Kemper military school at Booneville, Mo.

In an article appearing in the October 5 issue of the Baltimore Sun and telling of the advance of Americans north of Aachen, Capt. Norris was mentioned as being "busy in a dugout across the field, near where two GIs marched a group of 14 German prisoners captured a few moments before."

The program in 1944 is based on the theme, "The Price of Enduring Peace." Relief and rehabilitation, economic independence and problems of the home front will be stressed.

The transport landed in the ditch at the west side of the road with wheels up. The tank broke and explosions and huge fires followed. The trailer and load were lost.

Mr. Howington got out through the door which was thrown open. He was brought to Wayne by Mr. and Mrs. Emil Dupsky who were returning here from Stanton. Vote to Issue Bonds For Wayne Airport

GENERAL ELECTION CALLS VOTERS TO POLLS NOVEMBER 7. LESS than two weeks hence—Tuesday, November 7—the general election will be held, and it is important for everyone eligible to vote to go to the polls and exercise his or her right. It has been the custom of some households for just the male heads to vote. This is a grave mistake. Whatever a family may stand for—whatever may be its convictions—it will strengthen its voice by a full expression at the polls. Corn picking should not be allowed to interfere with this vital voting duty. Getting the crop out of fields will not be seriously delayed and a few hours' delay will be amply justified by taking part in the election which will have a bearing on future national, state and local policies. Let women not accustomed to vote, join their husbands in performing that duty. Home obligations may be better managed under the consciousness of having had a voice in electing candidates and passing judgment on questions to be determined.

The federal government matches funds of the city in improving municipally owned ports. The state provides funds which accumulate in the gasoline tax. Wayne is already eligible for $8,000 to $10,000 state money from the gas tax.

The total vote polled was 150 in First ward, 187 in Second and 201 in Third. The issue does not designate any particular site for the airport. This will be determined after careful consideration by officials.

The vote in Tuesday's election was cast as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Ward, For Against. Rows: First (95, 55), Second (118, 49), Third (145, 56), Total (358, 160).

The total vote polled was 150 in First ward, 187 in Second and 201 in Third.

Natural Resources Affect War Effort

Prof. F. G. Dale Sees Fail of Nazis When Ruhr Is Taken by Allies. Speaking at college convocation Tuesdays on "The Geography of the European War Fronts," Prof. F. G. Dale mentioned the great importance which geography, climate and natural resources have on the progress of wars. The Ruhr valley is the heart of Germany, and the war will end when that valley is taken, Prof. Dale predicts.

The speaker called attention to the fact that Europe really is a peninsula and is called a continent only because it is the source of western civilization, though it really is in the eastern hemisphere. Europe is little larger than the United States. In that territory are half a billion people. In Asia are one billion, and all the rest of the world has only a half billion.

Europe has a milder climate than most parts of the world, and is equally as far north. This is due to winds that blow far inland. And the winds do this because mountain ranges there run east and west.

Europe receives more crop-producing rain than any place in the world. Prof. Dale mentioned three corn-growing basins in Europe, the Po valley of northern Italy, the Hungarian basin which is the bread basket of Europe and the Romanian basin. Climate of the three is similar to that in Nebraska with humidity and long summer days that result in productivity.

The speaker divided Europe into four regions: the Scandinavian area which is largely granite and poorly productive, the eastern plains of Russia and the Balkans, western plains where the war is in progress and where it will end and the Mediterranean area.

Flanders fields of northern France are geographically advantageous for wars and they have been the locale for the world's most famous battles.

Wars are fought with the use of natural resources. France leads the world in the production of iron and the heart of Germany is the Ruhr.

In observance of Navy day of Friday, Prof. Russel Anderson led students in singing "Anchors Aweigh." Patricia Sloan was accompanist. Eleanor Soderberg and Ronald Sauer played "The Coronation Scene," by Moussoury, as a piano duo. The girls' triple trio, with Patricia Sloan accompanist, sang "My Own America" and "Katy." To the Voters of Wayne County:

Some time ago the editor of this paper, without ever having met me or inquired about me, made serious accusations in his editorial column. These accusations referred to splitting the republican vote, someone wanting a new dealer in office and several remarks about "even a dumb editor could see through the scheme."

I do not attempt to waste my time combatting this attempt to throw Wayne county into Stefan's camp.

I'll answer by quoting a news article in the Fremont Guide and Tribune under the date of September 21, 1944, where in a news release I accused Stefan as follows:

"Has Mr. Stefan in Congress, condemned Sidney Hillman's C. I. O.? While our farmers did double work because of flood and rain did he object to CIO strikes?"

"What did the present Congressman do for the Republican party prior to 1934? Isn't it a fact that when he first ran for office he was undecided whether to run on a republican ticket or a new deal ticket and held a conference with others to decide?"

"A man who has been in congress five terms should be able to point out what he has accomplished, he should be able to point to his voting record and not to a scare campaign."

Blessed UNDER that caption, the Washington Evening Journal makes sensible note of the dangers involved in too few hours devoted to useful production and too many hours spent in loafing. It is achievement that inspires content and prolongs life. It is aroused interest in affairs that keeps one young. The Journal says:

The average man dreams of the day when he can have more leisure. He would like to fish and hunt and take long automobile jaunts. He thinks he would like to travel and read and spend more time with the boys at the club. But if he achieved all those dreams and made them realities, he probably would discover that happiness and contentment are will-o'-the-wisps, always just ahead but never captured. The idea of cutting down working time to three or four hours a day looks attractive on the face of it, but it probably would bring disillusionment to those who desire it, and might bring disaster to a nation that tries it. Work is a blessing. If it is work for which one is particularly fitted, it is twice blessed. The successful people of the world have been those who cared nothing about hours. They were interested only in the achievement of the thing they were doing. We have never known anybody who was seriously hurt by overwork although we have known many people who thought they were. The need for more leisure is not a real problem. It is only imaginary. The actual difficulties come when the family and the general populace have too much leisure. When that happens, look out for trouble.

In Field of Politics THE 1944 political campaign is about over, and Dewey and Roosevelt fans will strike hard and often until the polls close November 7. Professional forecasters do not quite agree, though at this time their figures indicate a close race. If Dewey keeps his winning stride, as reported, changes favor his election. Hillman's PAC is spending money lavishly for the new deal, flooding the country with Roosevelt propaganda. As believed, it will have little influence in the middle west. As to Nebraska, it is rated the strongest republican state in the forty-eight. Thus, there will be no hope for the opposition, and Geo. Olsen, candidate for governor, will be permitted to lapse into former obscurity. Labor union radicals are seeking the overthrow of republican candidates for congress, but sensing the temper of the state, they would seem destined to fail. Locally, the only sharp contest is over the county judgeship, and the fact that the incumbent, Judge Cherry, has the unequalled support of all lawyers of the county speaks volumes in his behalf. Lawyers are the ones trusted to handle business in the court, and their judgment may reasonably be accepted as fair and convincing.

Here from San Diego, A.M.M.C. Verdel Holdorf and Mrs. Holdorf arrived Saturday

Where the late Wendell Willkie would have given his support in the presidential campaign is still a question of dispute, much to the annoyance of his family. But it is reasonable to suppose that if Willkie found himself out of agreement with both party platforms, he would, in view of past criticism of the new deal, have lined up with the party that honored him in 1940 in the belief that Dewey would nearer meet his expectations. Most thinking persons would concede to Willkie the wisdom to make that choice.

Asked how he intended to vote on presidential candidates, Paul Mallon, popular columnist, frankly named Dewey as his choice, and gave his reasons. Mallon says Dewey—not Roosevelt—is the "liberal" candidate, and that in the new deal are the real reactionaries who have fattened on power for twelve years. The columnist does not see one thing in the Roosevelt experience that promises greater postwar security than is found in the practice and words of the young and vigorous New York governor.

Gathering the corn crop is getting under way, and we have heard of yields running from 60 to 100 bushels per acre. The 100-bushel report comes from a small, highly favored spot on Elmer Harrison's farm southeast of here. One fellow expressed eagerness for a killing frost. Probably others with later plantings would delay the visitation. Altogether, corn production in this county may set a new high record.

Ickes, the new deal's No. 1 cracker-down, sees in Dewey's reply to Roosevelt's address before the order of teamsters an unwarranted attack, but he wholly overlooks the charges hurled by the president at his opposition. The ever over-heated secretary appraises anything as a "smear" that questions the new deal record or dares to oppose its thirst for continued power.

Secretary Patterson was quoted over the radio yesterday against over-optimism in regard to the end of the war. Then in the next radio breath came an announcement of reduced fuel oil rationing. Projecting gloom into the war's duration and relaxing ration restrictions reminded us that the election with all its uncertainties is just ahead.

Senator Truman, vice presidential candidate, says a man is known by the company he keeps. That is what many think as they witness the communists and the Hagues and Kellys of the big city machines arrayed behind the new deal national ticket.

SOON TO CLOSE.

The acrimonious presidential campaign—the most evenly contested in many years—will soon draw to a close. The president will have been in office 12 years when his term expires, and that would seem long enough for one man. Whatever desirable things have been accomplished during his three terms—an unprecedented presidential tenure—will of course be preserved regardless of the outcome. Whatever errors have been evident will be corrected. Reducing bureaus and cutting costs—unfulfilled pledges of the president's 1932 campaign—should receive early and effectual attention if his rival is elected. Restraints on private endeavor—on business and agriculture particularly—will be relieved under a changed regime. Threatened domination by labor union radicals will be given a baffling blow. The CIO's eagerness to control everything and everybody will be set back to the relief of all who cherish freedom of initiative. The defeat of Roosevelt and his backers will mean a resurgence of the individual independence which has made America great and powerful.

AS TO RUSSIA.

The Saturday Evening Post quotes a Chicago pamphlet's warning against criticizing Russia and causing possible friction and interference with future business relations. The Post says "the best answer is 'Nuts'." That magazine comments: "If Russian demand for American goods is as touchy as this, she will not buy much anyway. Certainly she has exhibited no such sensitiveness in the past, but accepts lend-lease and military aid from capitalist countries with no strings on the criticism. Her industries were built with the aid of capitalist engineers and her traders from the beginning have shopped around with no regard for the ideological position of the supplier. Whatever markets for American goods exist in Soviet Russia are based on Russian need for American products, not on a blank check of American approval for Stalin's policies in Europe. To imply that an American businessman had better keep his mouth shut concerning Stalin's policies, however true in intent to the Russians and American businessmen alike, is an insult to the kind of thing will not get anywhere, because American businessmen reserve the right to express opinions on everything. Even the few who were persuaded in the 30's that an unkind word about Hitler might cost them money know by now that such subservience doesn't pay off. American-Soviet friendship would be pretty fragile if it had to rest on such shaky foundations."

TERRACING SHOWN IN DIXON COUNTY

Terracing demonstrations at the L. E. LaCroix farm near Ponca and the K. R. Mitchell farm near Allen were witnessed last week by 135. Ervin Peterson of Dixon county soil district, laid out the terrace lines.

Paul Evans of Wayne, explained that terraces are built with four to six inches of drop in every 100 feet toward a grassed, natural water way, thus making the water walk orderly down the hill so as not to permit excessive marring of the surface. Mr. Evans said that terracing along with such practices as contour and strip farming can stop most soil erosion.

Chas. Chinn, chairman of Dixon county soil district, led discussions.

BY IRVING H. STUBBS

Washington, D. C., October 21, 1944.

As election day approaches, there is much speculation as to how many voters will cast their ballots and how many will fail to do so. With eleven million of our young people in the armed forces leaving their all, even to their lives, to maintain free government, it would seem as though all at home should plan to go to the polls and vote support of our free institutions, casting ballot in a free expression of their own opinions, which may be their party affiliations. But in the states where registration of voters is required, there has been a marked decline in registration. In some of the larger states, 300,000 to 400,000 eligible voters have failed to register. In 1940 at the presidential election, only 62 percent of the voters of the nation cast their ballots more than one-half of the going to the polls. Estimates of election experts are that not one-half of the voters will go to the polls this year unless there is a marked change in the situation. In most states, like Nebraska, voting by mail is easily possible to know who will be away from home on election day, but this may be of other value, besides the privilege of every qualified citizen to vote by a patriotic duty. It is the hope that the predictions of a high vote on November 5 will not be sustained.

Another council of 15 members is to be elected by the assembly to recommend economic and welfare programs for all nations. Whether to continue the world court organized by the League of Nations or provide a new court is another question left open. There would be also an office for the secretary of the council and the plan proposes regional organizations to aid in maintaining peace.

The Department of State conference at Washington announces its plan for a new world security organization. The plan is incomplete. It is expected to form the basis for further discussion and another conference to be held later. The published plan provides for an assembly to embrace peace-loving nations, each to have one vote empowered to make recommendations. Also a "security council" of 11 members with Russia, Britain, China, and our own country, possibly including France, represented with permanent seats. Six other members will be elected by the assembly, rotating from time to time among other nations. The council would decide when peace is threatened. Voting procedure is still left open, with some difference of opinion among the four leading nations.

In the matter of providing an armed force to keep peace, it is proposed that the member nations shall conclude special agreements by treaties fixing the arm forces and other forces, and placing those international forces subject to the orders of the security council. The manner of calling the armed forces into action when peace is threatened is not fully determined. The constitution of our own country reserves the power of declaring war to congress, and other countries have similar constitutional provisions. The plan provides that all countries shall make their arm forces immediately available for combined enforcement action. The conference ground work is expected to be followed by more detailed provisions to be made by the conference of Britain, China, Russia and our own country, and include the exact formula for each country's participation in the organization to enforce peace. Debate of the program outlined at Dumbarton Oaks probably will start as soon as congress ends its recess, and may continue for months before the final plan takes shape.

The cost of post-war relief to stricken nations is likely to run into many billions of dollars. It is present estimates are an indication that now is receiving great shipments of foodstuffs. Romania is receiving over 1,000 tons daily. Some of it may be from purchases from South America and some from the huge food supplies stacked away in Britain, but much of the expense is borne by our own country. Not until another harvest time will the Italian situation be relieved by home production. Greece also is being assisted by large supplies, but not sufficiently to relieve the excessive starvation among its peoples. Russia has great shortages because of the war devastation of its broad areas, and now is receiving substantial allotments from lend-lease, including butter from our country for its soldier hospitals.

China comes forward with an expressed need of $3 billion for relief in the first post-war period, and has asked that united nations relief to that amount should be allotted. One-third the amount is requested from our country. U. N. R. E. A. has published the Chinese relief demands upon it, which include 10 million tons of imported supplies, 55 percent for rehabilitation and 45 percent for direct relief. At present the Japanese blockade prevents shipments of goods to China. The Japs have robbed China of all the foodstuff they could grab, and of China's 400 million probably one-fourth are at the point of starvation. Meeting the demands pouring in from afflicted countries is an international problem, but U. N. R. E. A. is taking in a wide area, and when business countries like China are so destitute there is question as to how far United Nations relief will go.

Post-War Planning
Starting in India

Mrs. Edgar Vestal speaks To Wayne Branch and Guests Thursday.

India has well-formulated plans for post-war development, according to Mrs. Edgar Vestal, Bible and home economics instructor in Allahabad Christian college in India, who spoke to Wayne branch of A. A. U. W. and guests Thursday evening in the Woman's club room. This program includes economic development, new scheme of education and improved food situation.

India has 400 million people in territory that is two-thirds the size of the United States. Religion dominates every phase of life. Hindus comprise three-fourths of the people and they believe in castes with priests, warriors, professionals and artisans in the four castes in the order of their ranking, and the rest as outcasts. Most of the other people are Mohammedans though a number of other sects exist, among them the Parsees. Only eight million of the 400 million are Christians.

Average length of life in India is 26 years, whereas in this country it is 64. This is due to high infant mortality there. Living conditions are bad. The water situation is an example. The stream in each town is not only used for drinking water but also for washing clothes and for watering cattle.

Only two per cent of the Indians can read or write. The percentage in schools is very low and boys are favored above the girls. Missionaries are establishing schools and expanding them as fast as possible to provide training. The college in which Mr. and Mrs. Vestal teach helps young men learn the art of agriculture and young women the science of home keeping.

The vastly different standard of living between India and this country makes the economic problem unusual in the far east. In India $4 a month are good wages. A farmer there has an average income of $32 yearly, whereas the average in Iowa is $8,000. "India must adapt and not adopt democratic procedure to conditions there."

Mrs. Vestal expressed the belief that India will be independent after the war and will work out her own democratic way. Radical changes are already starting to take place there. The economic program calls for improving agriculture and industry. Increasing the income there will mean better homes, more food, better clothes, improved sanitation, higher literacy. Motor car industry is one which is already well started, and soon farm implements, irrigation and improved seeds will be available to farmers.

Five million die from starvation each year in India. For this reason the providing of food is one of the major aims of the post-war period.

The proposed new education system calls for compulsory free training from 6 to 11 years with Wayne high Knights were victorious in the last home game of the season, defeating Wisner 21-6 at the college field Friday night. All scoring was in the first half.

Wayne received the kick-off on the 20-yard line and returned it to the 48. Ellis carried the ball 12 yards on the first play. Kanzler soon went over for a touchdown and ran for the extra point, making the score 1-0 for Wayne. Wisner received the kick on the 40. Wayne got the ball when a kick was blocked and Hogan crossed the goal line. Kanzler carried the ball for the extra point, making the score 14-0 for Wayne.

At beginning of the second quarter it was Wisner players' ball on the 1st and 10. They tried a lateral pass which was incomplete, but on the next play the visiting team went over for a touchdown. Try for extra point was not good, the score standing 14-6. Knights received the ball and Kanzler passed to Powers who scored. Try for extra point was good, making the score 21-6.

The second half was an evenly fought battle. A number of lateral passes were tried. Kanzler made a 35-yard and a 25-yard run.

Facts from the Record

To the editor of the Herald: The city of Wayne levied this year a tax of two mills for paying interest and principal on paying tax assessment bonds issued by the city and not "a tax of more than one per cent" as published by C. H. Hendrickson in his Shopper last week. A tax of two mills means $2 on property valued at $1,000 for taxation purposes fixed by the assessor. There is no such amount of such bonds outstanding and unpaid as stated in the Shopper; $85,000 of the amount stated is imaginary exaggeration. All of these things are of record in the city clerk's office and in the county records at the court house where anyone desiring the truth can find them. The proceeds of money received through tax foreclosure proceedings and from voluntary payment of unpaid paying assessments by the owners of real estate are used to pay what bonds are unpaid. Many thousand dollars have been received by the city this year from such sources.

The city this year up to now has received $64,39 more income from the airport than it has paid out for all purposes, including the rent for the land where the airport is located which was paid in advance. The city owns the buildings and improvements on the land at an original investment of $8,801.79; the income which the city has received from the airport has paid and reduced the above investment to $4,152.83 which is the total amount the city has in the airport at this time.

Propaganda and statements that rates charged for electricity by the city are exorbitant are contrary to the facts as such rates in Wayne are the fourteenth lowest of any city in Nebraska.

I am authorized by Mayor Herman Lundberg to set forth these facts and publish them.

WALTER S. BRESSLER, City Clerk.

A number of public spirited citizens of Wayne purchased 60 acres of land north of Wayne and donated it to the city, subject to a mortgage which was on the land for $2,000. At that time it was thought money would be available from the W.P.A. sufficient to establish a municipal golf course and swimming pool on the land; it later developed the money was not available and the erecting of improvements on the land was abandoned. Since owning it the city has rented the land for farm purposes; the city did not want to pay interest on the mortgage, so paid it; from rents received all of the money paid out by the city has been re-paid except the sum of $771.57 and the rents from the land this year will largely or wholly pay that. The result of the transaction is that the city owns the land and will have nothing invested in it and without any ex-

Latest results of the Literary Digest presidential poll give Herbert Hoover 63.2 per cent of the votes and Al. Smith 35.7.

Erwin Larson of Lincoln, formerly of Wayne, suffered loss of a limb in a motorcycle accident.

Child's Hampshire sale at Wisner brought a top of $455.

Robert Bender, 38, of near Atlanta, died October 22, 1928.

Mrs. Ivor Morris, Mrs. Marietta Morris and Irwin James of Carroll, were in Hastings for the 41st annual Christian Endeavor state convention.

bank, was awakened by four masked men with flashlights. They sprang upon him and bound him to the bed. One remained with Grew while others searched for money. They heard the time clock tick in the vault and then realized they could not open the safe. They tried to get Mr. Crew to summon the bank president to open the safe and the latter refused. They asked about possibilities in other business houses. After getting no satisfaction, the men took money from Mr. Crew's pocket, left Crew tied and departed. By 4 in the morning Crew was able to free himself and turned in the alarm. Officers found that a handcar had been stolen and taken as far as Jackson where horses were stolen. Evidently the robbers made their get-away in this manner.

Library News

Halloween is the next big event for the children and a new story about spooks and ghosts is circulating rapidly in the children's department this week. The name of the book is George, by Robert Bright, Lois Harder, Janice Derry and Frances Marty have been working on a project in the sand box. They have a Halloween story, original with them, and have made the figures and molded the scene for the amusement of other children.

You don't have to be bookish to enjoy reading a good book! The Saturday Review of Literature selected 100 outstanding books of the last 20 years, and do you know that half of them were best sellers? That shows that American people like to read good books. A great number of books are being written these days which are of little worth but a great many more books are being written than formerly so that still does not mean that there are not good books being published.

Some of the new books catalogued this week include A Guide to Public Opinion Polls, by George Gallup, Camp Follower, by Barbara Klav, Listening Valley, by D. E. Stevenson, If This Be Treason, a mystery by Margaret Echard, and Lost in the Horse Latitudes, by H. Allen Smith, who wrote Low Man on the Totem Pole.

In New Guinea.

CCM Edward D. Jenkins, formerly of Carroll, writes the Herald that he has arrived in New Guinea after an interesting voyage.

CCM Jenkins states he saw Lt. David Garwood, another former Carroll youth, as he was boarding the ship.

No matter how many people write you, they never do give even a fair-sized portion of local happenings."

"I must confess that I was one of those persons who wondered why there were so many locals and notes on club meetings in the Herald. Now I know, and believe me I know more about local happenings than I did when at home. I can even tell you when my mother's club meets and while at home I assure you it gave me no particular pleasure."

George Hally says:
The 3rd Congressional District of Nebraska is one of the richest agricultural areas in the world.

It is composed of 24 wealthy counties: Antelope, Boone, Burt, Butler, Cedar, Colfax, Cuming, Dakota, Dixon, Dodge, Hamilton, Knox, Madison, Merrick, Nempe, Pierce, Platte, Polk, Saunders, Seward, Stanton, Thurston, Wayne and York.

40% of the corn
50% of the oats
33% of the hay
40% of the hogs
30% of the cattle
30% of the poultry

The weakness of the 3rd District is that we lack the processing plants needed to convert our agricultural products into oils and chemicals and plastics and other articles of commercial value. To secure these industries we must SELL the 3rd District.

As your candidate for Congress, I want you to know that I am a SALESMAN. For the past 20 years I have been traveling through the towns and the cities and the farmland of this district. I know the people, I understand the problems. If you send me to work for you in Washington, I will be YOUR SALESMAN to secure new industries for Nebraska—new industries to provide new markets and higher prices for the products of our farms and to give needed employment to the returning soldiers and other men and women of our towns.
