

Review of Local Organization's First Year - Ration Stamp Night - Housewives.

Presented to Wayne county War Dads on the occasion of the installation of officers Thursday evening.

Preliminary to my retirement as president, I wish to express appreciation for the honor bestowed and the confidence manifested.

Early in the year questionnaires were sent to Wayne county boys in the armed forces to find out reactions to postwar employment.

Another questionnaire sent to farmers to ascertain employment opportunities for returning boys.

The disposition among soldiers and parents to work together for postwar employment and peace-time content is a prospect that dovetails with the aspirations of this organization.

In line with enlisting the boys back into civilian life, an important committee to which different groups have contributed, has been duly organized with Prof. O. R. Bowen of this chapter as chairman.

An honor roll setting forth the names of Wayne county's boys and girls in the armed forces, has been delayed, but we understand it will soon be ready to be erected.

Correspondence with Washington authorities having the responsibility of locating veterans' hospitals, pledged an inspection of possibilities in Wayne in case supporting the need extended outside of Lincoln.

End of the war this year - and as early as possible this year - is the profound and universal hope.

These War Dads will reside in the name of national safety and a healthy, if not easy, reconstruction.

Thus, after peace has been restored, War Dads responsibilities will necessarily multiply, and it is my hope as it is the hope of everyone that these responsibilities may be met fully and triumphantly.

SALES TAX URGED TO TAKE PLACE OF SOME OTHER TAXES

A PROPOSED state sales tax appears in a bill to be introduced in the unicameral with chief backing from the Nebraska State Grange and the Nebraska Farm Bureau. The expressed purpose is to reduce other forms of taxation and equalize the tax burden. Nebraska has boasted so much in past years over having no sales tax that many will hesitate for that reason to adopt one no matter how practical. A sales tax makes everybody contribute, and if it supplants other taxes, as proposed, it would seem the fairest and least painful way to raise revenues. Should the sales tax receive legislative approval, the state can still push out its chest over having no bonded indebtedness despite some disheartening years of drought, grasshoppers and short crops.

Bigger Pig Crop Is Urgent Need

Pork stocks January 1 of this year were the second smallest since 1916 when keeping of these records was begun. The 373 million pounds of pork in storage this January 1 was more than 25 per cent below January 1, 1944.

The present spring pig crop is estimated at 11 per cent below the goal of 57,500,000. Unless the number of hogs is increased, there won't be enough hogs for market next fall and winter.

In face of this shortage, T. P. Roberts, AAA chairman, urges farmers to keep all possible sows for spring farrowing. He emphasizes the continued high demand for meat.

Feed grain is sufficient for more pigs than are now planned for this spring, states Mr. Roberts, and there will be price protection when these pigs are ready for market.

Mr. Roberts points out that the hog price support was recently extended until March 31, 1946, instead of the previous termination date of June 30, 1945. The support price is $12.50 per hundred, Chicago basis, for good to choice butcher hogs weighing 200 to 270 pounds.

Freedom Is Divine Plan, Says Rabbi

History of Talmud Unfolded To College Faculty Club By Omaha Speaker.

Freedom and brotherhood in contrast with slavery are stressed in the Talmud which Rabbi Israel Mowshowitz of Omaha, chose to speak to Wayne college faculty club Monday evening following dinner at the student union.

The speaker is rabbi of orthodox congregations of Omaha and is lecturer at Omaha university.

A recent English translation of Talmud comprises 22 volumes. This encyclopedia of Jewish knowledge is a commentary upon the Bible and upon the written law given through Moses.

After the written law was given, the sages or rabbis recorded the oral law of 1,000 years in this work.

The Talmud contains law, ethical philosophy, superstition, science. It is written in Aramaic. The work represents both majority and minority opinions. In the Talmud are accepted decisions, also opinions disputing the accepted ones.

Little stories are used to lighten the serious disquisition on legalistic disquisitions.

The Talmud was written during the Roman occupation of Palestine and reflects conflict between Roman and Jewish ideologies. The work deals with right and wrong, duties of man to man, very fine-pointed reasoning and ethics, philosophy, ethics and legalism are combined in an approach to solve problems of life and death.

The rabbi emphasized that "we are all sons of God and men are not slaves of the state. God wants us to help one another. This is opposed to the Roman ideal that men are slaves of the state."

The Omaha rabbi closed by bringing the contrast presented in the Talmud up to date. The world clash today is between the Nazi idea of slavery of the state and the allied nations' idea of freedom for the individual.

The Talmud can help in the decision by its support of freedom and brotherhood.

Prof. Russel Anderson, with Mrs. Anderson accompanied, sang "The Blind Plum" and "Invictus."

Miss Mamie McCormick, president of the Faculty club, presided.

The dinner was attended by 58, among them being Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Carhart, the former a new member of the state board.

Pioneer Store

PICTURE of the interior of a pioneer country store, appearing on the cover of the World Herald's Sunday magazine recently, has caused a good deal of comment. Old-timers were especially interested. They remember the open cracker and tobacco boxes made convenient for customers. Also the sawdust or ash-filled box before the square stove for the accommodation of chewers and smokers is recalled. The early-day store had comparatively poor refrigeration, no coffee grinders, no granulated sugar, no cellophane, no telephones and no free delivery. Wherever disease germs lurked, there were no cultivated vitamins to offer resistance.

But the pioneer store, with all its disadvantages, was a source of security and high satisfaction to first settlers. It was the social center for the countryside. Farmers gathered there to chew and smoke and talk. Affairs of state were discussed if not settled. Large purchases were made and a year's credit was usually extended, and the confidence of the proprietor was seldom betrayed.

Tender and sometimes nostalgic recollection of the pioneer store, with its many bright spots, would cause no one to wish for its return to take the place of the convenience and fullness of modern service.

Between Extremes

WRITER Louis Bromfield points to the supreme need of the middle group to maintain national health and sound progress. The essential is between two ideological extremes. Mr. Bromfield says democracy cannot safely compromise with radicals and that the middle class is indispensable. He says in part:

"If the radicals gain too much power, the nation is headed for changes which are inevitably too rapid, too violent, too ill-prepared, too imbued with what can often be described only as drunk legislation.

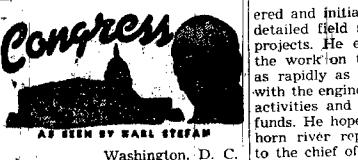

"If the conservative element dominates, the result is likely to be either stagnation or costly reaction.

The balance, the line of true advance and sound progress must always be along the line of the center; the motive force must always, in a democracy, come from the middle class—the small business man, the intelligent farmer, the professional people, the craftsman, the thrifty industrial worker, the white collar people, who own something and so have a stake in the nation."

Reason Advised

THE Saturday Evening Post virtually advises labor unions to draw in their horns, cease trying to rule without concession or reason, and pull together amicably with other forces in the social order. Its comment concludes:

"That is why sentiment against the closed shop is growing. Opponents of the closed shop would be ill-advised to do more than just let

Congress

AT SEN BY EARL STEFAN

Washington, D. C., January 29, 1945. A. K. Donovan, director of public relations for the war manpower commission in Nebraska, with headquarters at Lincoln, was guest of the Nebraska delegation at its weekly breakfast meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Donovan came to Washington to visit their married daughter.

The federal bureau of investigation records show that arrests of boys and girls 17 years of age and under, are increasing. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, tells members of congress that schools and churches cannot completely replace proper home training. "Prevention" should be the keynote in the fight against juvenile delinquency rather than "detection." Broken homes, lack of discipline, and lack of respect for the major causes of juvenile delinquency. There is considerable adult delinquency in the country today.

Col. D. B. Freeman who is in charge of making the survey of the Elkhorn river and its tributaries, has notified the Third district office that most of the preliminary work, including the preliminary office studies and some preliminary field work, is completed. He also states that his office is well on the way toward the initial selection of projects to be consid-things stew. The labor unions, on the other hand, will be foolish if they go around talking about plots and propaganda, when they have in their hands the key to the whole solution. All they have to do is make their rules conform to the American sense of justice. That sense is not entirely atrophied, in spite of all that the apostles of class war can do. Americans still believe that the right to work ought not to depend on a man's ability to keep his mouth shut about things like racketeering or communism. They resent the totalitarian theories to the contrary. It'll take more than money to change them."

If the president had tactfully omitted reason for supplanting Jones with Wallace as secretary of commerce, confirmation might have followed without serious difficulty. Paying a political debt with the biggest spending agency in the world caused revolt at a time when efficiency should transcend all other considerations. The fact that Wallace is sincere in his dizzy ideas of government does not lend strength to his appointment. Senator Pepper of Florida, thinks the voice of the people would endorse Wallace, and many predict the former vice president is in line for the democratic presidential nomination in 1948. We think he is in line, but unless the country leans more to government control of private business than now seems likely, we doubt if he will get far in that direction.

Japan has no rivals in the duplicity role. Its prime minister rises from customary brute instinct long enough to declare to the world that the empire has always been moved by a "sublime spirit" and always practiced "universal brotherhood." People will wonder what possessed the outfit that bombed Pearl Harbor and started the war. Also it has a peculiar variety of benevolence that prompted unprovoked assaults on China previous to the world conflagration. Japan commits an outrage and then, facing certain defeat, begins to feel benevolent.

The court decision in favor of Montgomery Ward & Co., whose stores were seized by the government on the ground of failure to obey the war labor board, will doubtless be appealed. The trouble grew out of labor union disagreements. The contention that the company was engaged in vital war work was disputed. The decision will, if finally upheld, encourage private business in the hope it will be allowed to operate without unnecessary government interference and without unbearable union domination.

Two important questions are before congress—one to draft labor and the other to institute peace-time military training. It is pointed out that if boys can be taken to risk their lives in fighting, it is only fair to compel people to work and produce essentials in a national emergency. But compulsory military training in peace-time smacks so much of old-world methods and is so in conflict with the American democracy which has so far made good without it, that sharp opposition in many quarters has been aroused.

Increased casualties in war areas and consequent need of more hospital help have prompted Gov. Dwight Griswold to issue a proclamation calling for nurse recruits. This is a nation-wide movement to meet an immediate demand. The injured in battle for freedom must be cared for, and persons qualified to enter hospital service are urged to respond.

We are in favor of birthdays because they afford opportunities for neighbors to interrupt the daily grind, get together and exchange expressions of good will. Incidentally they also furnish an excuse to absorb the other fellow's food points.

ered and initiation of necessary detailed field surveys for these projects. He expects to continue the work on the Elkhorn survey as rapidly as possible consistent with the engineers' continuing war activities and the availability of funds. He hopes to have the Elkhorn river report for submission to the chief of army engineers by next August.

Shortly following the organization of committees in the house, Clarence Cannon, chairman of the house committee on appropriations, gathered his 43 members together for a conference, during which he told them that it is imperative that members of the appropriate committee make every possible effort to pare non-essential expenditures to the bone. The chairman and ranking minority members of each subcommittee were cautioned to interrogate bureau and agency chiefs who are now appearing before them to justify appropriations for the next fiscal year, in order that every item of expense not essential to the war effort may be cut to minimum essential size.

Serious minded men in congress are worried about our national fiscal affairs. The national debt now exceeds 280 billion dollars and it will soon be over 300 billion dollars. The interest charges each year will run from 4 to 5 billion dollars and there is no source of government revenue other than taxpayers.

Chairmen of appropriation subcommittees are being urged to be on their guard against pressure groups that have been organized throughout the country. Representatives in JAIL PROBLEM.

A story of pitifully frequent parental neglect and calloused public indifference appears in a current magazine. It tells of boys and girls of tender years chucked into filthy and vermin-infested jails, often with hardened criminals as companions. The children mentioned are usually charged with no serious crimes. They are imprisoned to await court action, and if they are not bad, they are likely to be made bad by the influence of unwholesome environment. Parents are primarily to blame, and no matter how much they may explain to absolve themselves from responsibility, they are still responsible and more guilty of sin than the little ones whose training they have shamefully neglected. As to the jails, it is the duty of public officials to see that they are kept clean and free from low and obnoxious forms of bug life. Says the writer: "Jail conditions are horrible all across the country." That doubtless applies to large centers. We do not believe it is true in rural communities where sense of humanity and public service ranks highest.

stamp responsibly heavier and more exacting than that involved in bringing home necessary shekels.

Getting rid of the ration stamp burden will be among numerous sources of postwar relief. Rationing has been deemed a necessary war measure to insure wider distribution of limited supplies, and how the economy of buying will operate when restrictions are removed is a question that only experience can determine. Then worry will not be divided between stamps and cash. The right amount of money will be the only thing in the way of possessing what one wants.

to be sent to London to await events in Norway. Mr. Chestnut is of Norwegian descent. His parents were born in Norway and he speaks Norwegian. He is succeeded as Nebraska state AAA chairman by R. L. Greene of Wood River, Neb.

Washington is suffering from a gasoline shortage. Over 1,600 taxis left the streets temporarily because the drivers couldn't get gas.

AAA officials notified the Third district office that the crop insurance program is well under way. Saunders county is the only county in Nebraska designated for trial of crop insurance for corn.

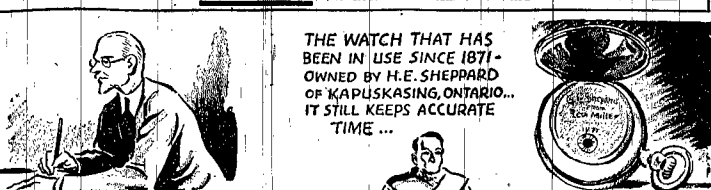

The Third district member had an informal conference with Marvin Jones, the war food administrator. Mr. Jones who is very much worried about swelling prices of cattle, hopes that the present price will be satisfactory to cattlemen. Jones was formerly a member of congress and chairman of the house committee on agriculture. He is very sensitive to the situation faced by the American farmer. He agrees that the government must give every possible aid to the farmer so that he may have the manpower and the equipment necessary to produce the food that he is called upon to produce.

Friends of Charlie M. Cotterman who is interned by the Japanese near Manila, have received a card from him stating that his health is fair. The Japanese censor obliterated a portion of Mr. Cotterman's communication. People in Washington watching the Philippine invasion very closely.

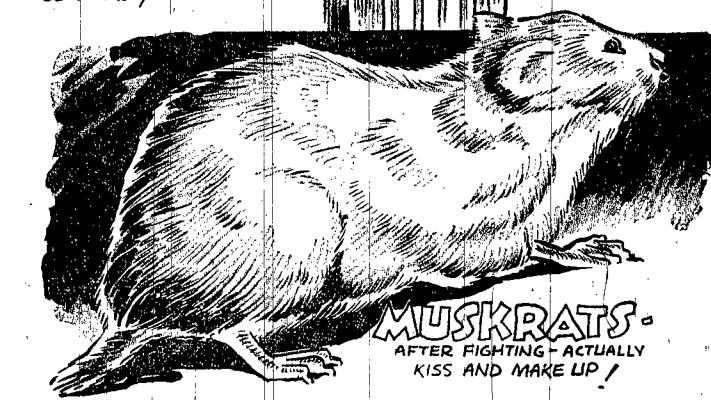

KEEPING BUSY.

Keeping busy is a wonderful antidote for devastating worry. Incidentally, it satisfies any worthy pride one happens to possess. It is possible nature did not put enough ambition into some persons to counteract natural inertia, and as a consequence, whatever they undertake is painful drudgery. In everything productive, they travel uphill, and they often stop and slip without reaching the top. They are the ones who start, but never arrive. They are quick to promise, but slow to perform. They can eat and sleep, but they cannot be merry because that is an emotional reaction of pride which is of course not est. Entertaining constructive thoughts and keeping the body spurred to achievement by desirable aims, will drive off blue devils and prevent the nerves from fraying and threatening. If nature failed to furnish sufficient spark to get one started or omitted qualities of pride to keep him going, he needs to arouse extra determination. He needs to supply what nature overlooked. He needs to force himself to an extra hard uphill pull until he reaches the peak where accomplishment will make him feel almost happy. It will aid him in forgetting his worries.

Many farmers and elevator operators throughout Nebraska are worried about the combination of conditions that now make the movement of the corn crop from farms to elevators, thence to terminal markets, disappointingly slow. The slow movement is largely due to the shortage of box cars. The condition has been fully reported to the director of the grain division of the commodity credit corporation in Washington and to the general traffic manager of the CCC at Chicago. They have been jabbed about the high-moisture corn and the danger of serious deterioration of its quality if it is not soon moved from ground piles. The Chicago office has already increased the supply of cars at some of the points of greatest emergency. The director of the grain division of CCC in Washington has just sent the following communication to the Third district office: "The situation outlined by your constituents is of much concern to this office. Needless to say, shipments of military supplies are extremely heavy; and since such shipments have priority over all others, the number of boxcars available for the movement of corn is limited. It is our understanding, however, that the movement of boxcars from New York, westward, should increase substantially over the movement for the past two weeks, since the tie-up of rail traffic, due to the very severe January snow-storm in the state of New York, is gradually working itself out. We have been informed that boxcars are again moving in train loads from the east coast to the surplus corn-producing area."

No Land Boom?

(Omaha Journal-Stockman) Further evidence that the danger of a land boom may be receding comes from the Iowa State College. A survey was made among 280 land brokers of the state, the results indicating that land prices "may be" tapering off. It was found that the average price of an acre of Iowa land in November, 1944, was $132; that is $13 more than the price was a year earlier but a smaller increase than the $19 rise in 1943. Further, land sale activity has declined. There are still a number of people willing to pay cash for farms, but fewer farms are for sale. Those responsible for the report go no further than to observe that the results may be taken as indicating "strengthening the view that a land boom may be avoided."

PROCLAMATION

Heavy casualties have been sustained in the armed forces of this nation, particularly in recent months, which has caused a shortage of personnel in army hospitals to care for our wounded. General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, United States army, has issued a urgent call for 8,000 additional women to serve in the Women's Army Corps as medical technicians. In doing so, he emphasized that the hospital loads caused by the heavy increase in returning casualties, coupled with the now acute shortage of nurses, made necessary "urgent measures" to enlist and train WACs for hospital service. General Marshall has appealed to me as governor for the cooperation and support of the people of this state for enlisting women for service in the army's 60 general hospitals which are now receiving 20,500 wounded men monthly. The general emphasized that hospital loads caused by recent heavy increases of returned wounded coupled with a serious shortage of nurses, made it imperative to accelerate a WAC enlistment and training program for hospital service. As a state and as individuals, we enjoy the freedom and liberties for which our men are giving their lives on far-flung fronts, and it is mandatory that we give every care to the wounded (and sick returned for treatment. Enlisted women from this state will serve together, caring for their own wounded men at Fitzsimmons General Hospital, Denver, Colo. Now, therefore, I, Dwight Griswold, governor of the state of Nebraska, do hereby declare a state of emergency exists and I stress the need for medical technicians in the armed forces of this nation in the care of our wounded, and urge the people of this state, who can volunteer for service in the Women's Army Corps, to enlist for duty. In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state of Nebraska to be affixed. Done at the capital in the city of Lincoln this 26th day of January, in the year of our Lord, 1945. (Seal) DWIGHT GRISWOLD By the Governor: FRANK MARSH, Secretary of State.

For Postwar Employment.

(Industrial Press Service) "It is the responsibility of business enterprise to translate market opportunities into employment and production." President Roosevelt said in his recent budget message, and the public generally, and businessmen in particular, will unhesitatingly agree with the statement. Business has long recognized its responsibility for translating market opportunities into production and jobs, and has long since taken steps to carry out this obligation. The fact is that in a general way, industry already had said in detail when it pledged itself to initiate "a process of prosperity" in the postwar era. By increasing production, by lowering prices to increase consumption, and by maintaining high wages to raise the buying power of employees, industry will activate its pledge. For "employment and production" do not make up the full "process of prosperity." Without sufficient consumption, the things we make will gather dust and rot in warehouses. Since industry's war record leaves no question of its ability to increase production to any level necessary, the question of consumption becomes all-important. It is just as necessary

Member of Group With Good Record

S. Sgt. Orval Graham serves in Armored Division on Western Front.

S. Sgt. Orval Graham is believed to be a member of the Fifth armored division as his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert, Graham of Wayne, have received a re-print of an article which appeared in the "Stars and Stripes," official army publication, October 3, 1944. The re-print was sent out from 1st army headquarters.

The article tells of the record of the group in the following words: "The Fifth armored division commanded by Maj. Gen. Lunsford E. Oliver, made the initial breakthrough into Germany north of Trier, September 11, it was revealed recently when the 'Victory' division was taken off the secret list for the first time since it went into action in Normandy August 1.

"The division started from upper Normandy and in 20 days' fighting pushed 400 miles to the Seine river. The 'Victory' division's horse-shoe shaped thrust towards Argentan helped spring the trap on the German Seventh army in the Falaise pocket. In this operation the outfit advanced 150 miles south through Fougeres and Vire, continued 100 miles east to LeMans, swinging 50 miles north to Argentan.

"Men of the Fifth armored entered LeMans August 9 and Argentan August 13.

"Between Argentan and Gacc, the Fifth armored engaged the Germans in three days' hard fighting, while allied units advanced from Caen to Falaise to form the other jaw of the pincers. The nazis, attacked from both north and south and hammered continuously from the air, suffered extremely heavy casualties. "The outfit drove east 70 miles to the Eure river in a single night and liberated Dreux the following day, August 16. After crossing the Eure, the division remained in contact with the Germans between the Eure and the Seine until the pocket was cleared out. On August 20, the Fifth reached the Seine at Vernon, 35 miles from Paris."

Mr. and Mrs. Graham Tuesday received a letter from their son which was written January 15. He told that he was back in Belgium after having been in Germany. The young man sent a German bill.

Red Cross Group Discusses Work

Supplies, Home Service and War Drive for March Are Conducted.

Mrs. S. B. Whitmore, Mrs. Wilis Nokes, Mrs. Frank Heine and K. N. Parke represented Wayne in Norfolk Thursday at an all-day meeting of Red Cross chapters of northeast Nebraska.

Mrs. Margaret Kellermann of St. Louis, assistant director of production, was in charge of the production session, which the Wayne women attended. Mrs. Kellermann stressed the making of kits, both filled and unfilled. She informed the group that at present the supply of hospital materials is adequate. However, the demand may become so great that the amount will be exhausted.

The organization prepared filled kits, which are given to the men who go aboard ship to leave. Bags are used for carrying personal items and are most useful on the field, often as tool kits. The need is so great for the men often lose the kits. The speaker stressed the fact that bags should have a uniform number of articles, so that the men will not feel they are being discriminated against. Mrs. Kellermann told that it is not necessary to put playing cards in each kit, as boys play cards together. Combs may be substituted. If one can't get cigarettes, tobacco may be substituted. The speaker told that books are a welcome item in the kits. The men prefer modern novels and these may be purchased for 25c with a paper cover. Any who have good books are invited to give them. Mrs. Kellermann told that knitting is progressing as rapidly as it is possible to obtain yarn. The yarn is apportioned according to population.

Mr. Parke attended the home service session. The group discussed treatment of prisoners of war and claims of ex-servicemen.

Wm. Beckenhauer had planned on attending but was unable to because of illness. He heads the war drive in March and a special session was arranged for campaign leaders.

The 125 representatives present were served luncheon at noon in the auditorium with women of the Grace Lutheran church in charge.

Library News

Here's a new one! The Associated Press reports that a woman in Los Angeles joined the public library so she could get books to read to her maid while she did the housecleaning. Here's hoping she finds in her city library as good a collection of books on cooking and diet as we have in ours. If you haven't seen them, I think you will want to stop in at the library some day soon. You can take books home for two weeks, and your war rationed meals.

Among the new books received this week was How Dear to My Heart by Emily Kimbrough, author of We Followed Our Hearts to Hollywood. Our hearts in this book, just as in her others, are drawn by Helen Hokinson who draws for the New Yorker those rather portly ladies she makes so laughable. This book should be a happy, humorous glance over our shoulder at the way things used to be.

Moisture in Corn Feared by FEEDER

A heavy loss in corn is feared by Earl Davis of near Carroll, who was in Omaha with stock last week and who was interviewed by one of the Omaha Journal-Stockman staff.

"Almost everyone has some corn piled on the ground," explained Mr. Davis. "A fellow can't sell it at the elevators because they are full and can't get cars and most of the corn is too wet to shell and keep in the bin very long."

Locally, explained Mr. Davis, the picture is not so black because of cattle feeding in this section and because feeders are buying quite a bit of the corn that is piled on the ground.

County Champions Here Are Chosen

Louise Osburn is Wayne county 4-H clothing champion and Delores Baird canning champion for 1944. The former is awarded a coveted silver medal by the Spoil Cotton Co. of New York and the latter a medal by the Kerr Glass Mig. Corp. of Sand Springs, Okla.

In the service project, beginners start with very simple articles such as pin cushions, work boxes, hand towels and aprons and in the third year work up to making complete outfits for themselves. Along with sewing for themselves, girls must do some wartime clothing jobs.

State sewing champion is Eunice Jensen of Boone county. Some of the northeast county champions are Joyce Wohlman in Cedar, Bernice Feher in Cumling, Ardythe Colborn in Dixon, Betty Jean Kiehn in Knox, Vida Jean Brinkman in Pierce. Awards will also be made this year.

Food preservation has been important each year in the war effort and will continue in 1945. Minimum requirement is 35 jars of fruits and vegetables. Meats and relishes are later requirements.

State food champion is Charlotte Rieke of Cass county, with 262 jars canned and 54 1/2 pounds of food prepared for freezing. Bonnie Braunsroth is champion in Knox county, Doris Dieter in Madison, and Donna Petersen in Pierce.

Midway Features Booked for Fair

The Curl Amusement Co. has been booked by Wayne county fair association for next fall's midway at the local festival planned September 12 to 15.

The board plans entertainment that will be different each afternoon and evening. Directors contacted performers when the state meeting was held in Lincoln last week.

Albert Babe and Phil Damme represented the local board at Lincoln.

Expect Anything In Election Year In South America

This is election year in Peru and anything is likely to happen, according to a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Jim Carey, the latter the former Wenonah Moline and member of the Wayne Herald staff. Mr. and Mrs. Carey have been teaching in Callao, Peru, high school the past four years.

The couple write that the school year is over. Classes start the first of April and end about Christmas. Mr. Carey states: "This year was a good one from the standpoint of getting organizations and cooperative work moving. The alumni group was reorganized and is doing a good job. This is the first year that we tried a parent-teacher organization and it seems to be coming along fine. In the main there is little community spirit and almost no desire to work in a cooperative society of any kind. We are trying to overcome that spirit in a gradual manner."

Mr. and Mrs. Carey wanted to Arney to Iquitos on the upper Amazon during the vacation. January is summer there on land and then travel down two rivers on rafts. Iquitos is deep in the jungle. The couple have visited most of Peru with the exception of the most difficult parts. They saw a beautiful mountain covered with snow. It is the second highest in the western hemisphere and, according to Mr. and Mrs. Carey, "would make Pike's Peak look like an ant hill." This peak is Huarascaran which is over 22,000 feet above sea level. Pike's Peak is a little over 14,000.

Many queer and superstitious things happen in the name of religion. During an anniversary of the old tidal-wave which happened back in 1746, there is an annual parade all over the Callao streets and a burning of incense over a casket or box accompanied by weird music. This is a move to pacify the sea so that there will not be another tidal wave.

Mr. and Mrs. Carey tell that they have orchids growing and blooming in their front yards. They brought the plants back from the mountain jungle trips they took a year ago.

Belgian Condition Bad Under Nazis

Mrs. Bert Lane, Thursday received a postcard from Charles Van De Pensele in Brussels, Belgium, the first word she has had from this "pen pal" in four years. She had no word from him since Belgium was occupied by the nazis. At that time he was in the army.

The card was written December 3 and follows:

"We are now allowed to write postcards to people outside the country. It has been so long since I have written English that I have almost forgotten how. Since I received the last letter from you, June 7, 1941, I have seen much, but it wasn't OK. You don't know what a buzz bomb is. Well we know... very funny. (The young man was using sarcastic humor.) Such as the four years of occupation by the Gestapo. Our troubles are not over yet. I am just looking like a piece of India rubber. A body without fat is not strong. Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to you."

Before war broke out Mr. Van De Pensele was an artist. He has no formal teaching in the English language.

Supplies Needed From Junior Group

Supplies being made by Junior Red Cross members in schools are urgently needed, according to word coming to Mrs. Roosevelt Peterson, county Junior Red Cross chairman. The area office asks that items which were requisitioned be supplied as soon as possible. Teachers, boys and girls will, it is certain, show the true Red Cross spirit by meeting the emergency and getting these items completed for hospitalized men returned from combat areas. All the articles are needed and especially the wooden ones. Any who have been unable to secure materials are asked to notify the Junior Red Cross chairman as the area office may be able to assist in obtaining priority rights.

Seasonal articles which are to be made for February are nut and candy cups for Washington's birthday. Any who have agreed to make a designated amount are urged to get them in soon.

Wayne Pilot Flies With Fortress Group

First Lt. Lyle Seymour, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Seymour of Wayne, pilot on a B-17 Flying Fortress of the 95th bomber group, 8th air force, has been participating in heavy bombing attacks against vital Nazi targets in Germany and in support of advances of allied ground forces on the continent.

The AAF pilot has earned the air medal and oak leaf clusters for "meritorious achievement."

The Wayne youth is a member of the Fortress group commanded by Col. Jack Shuck of Casper, Wyo., the group which led the first American bombing attack on targets in Berlin. Some of the 95th group were cited by the president for exploits on a mission to Munster, Germany, in October, 1943, when they fought their way through to bomb railroad marshaling yards and then bombed straggling elements of other groups and led them safely back to England.

A unit of the 3rd air division, the group also shared in another presidential citation for the entire division (for its historic, England-Africa shuttle bombing of an important Messerschmidt fighter plane plant at Regensburg, Germany, in August, 1943).

Lt. Seymour was attending Iowa State college at Ames before entering service.

This week word came from 8th air forces station in England telling that Lt. Seymour has earned the third oak leaf cluster to his air medal for meritorious achievement while participating in bombing attacks on German industrial targets and Nazi air fields, supply dumps and gun emplacements.

Here from Farragut. SAC William Ingram has completed his boat training at Farragut, Idaho, and arrived last Thursday to spend a week's leave with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Ingram, here. SAC Ingram leaves this Thursday to return to Farragut where he will receive his new assignment.

Arrives from Europe. M. Sgt. Raymond M. Nelson, brother of Mrs. Lloyd Surber, arrived January 15 on a hospital ship from Italy. M. Sgt. Nelson contracted a slight case of tuberculosis while in Europe and is now receiving treatment in the Fitzsimmons general hospital in Denver. M. Sgt. Nelson was in the north Africa, Sicily and Italian campaigns and has been awarded a number of medals and ribbons of honor. The youth is a son of the C. E. Nelsons of Winside.

From Marianas. From the Marianas Cpl. Gerald Anderson writes January 16 as follows: "Just a few lines to let you know that I am still receiving the Wayne Herald and enjoy it very much. I am sure that all the Wayne boys in the service will all ways remember the wonderful service you are giving and your generosity in sending them the paper. My copies don't arrive very regularly and they are usually about six weeks to two months late but I guess that is to be expected since Wayne is so far away from here. I received four copies in one day not so long ago. The war has moved on from this island now and it is fairly quiet except for occasional air raids. There are three other fellows from northeast Nebraska in my company, one from Emerson, one from Schuyler and one from Winnebago. Ray Bonawitz, a former Wayne resident, is also here. I would like to take this opportunity to send my regards to my friends in Wayne county."

Observes Birthday. About 35 relatives spent last week Sunday evening in the Otto Heithold home to celebrate Mrs. Heithold's birthday. After visiting cooperative luncheon was served.

Receives Promotion. Marvin E. Frederickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Axel Frederickson of Wakefield, who is stationed at an air transport command base in China, has recently been promoted to corporal. Cpl. Frederickson has served in the India-China division since June, 1943, and is an instrument specialist. He has been in the army since June, 1942. The young man's wife lives in Chicago.

The India-China division has been the only outside source of supplies for allied troops fighting in China. The ICD flies over the Himalaya mountains in giant transports. The route is considered the world's most treacherous, because of the dangerous flying weather and the graggy terrain.

Prisoner of War To Be Exchanged

Lt. Dean Jensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Jensen of Coleridge and former Wayne student, is one of the American prisoners of war to be exchanged for German prisoners.

Lt. Jensen has been in a German prison camp hospital where his left arm was amputated. He will be brought back on the exchange ship, Grisholm, and is expected to arrive in this country in February. He was a member of a bomber crew shot down over Germany some months ago.

The young man will, when he reaches this country, be sent to a government hospital near his home.
