

Reported in Wayne County. Attract Out-State Police Officers - Former Wayne College Students - Hartington Banker Advises.

Police officers from Iowa and South Dakota, armed with machine guns, were in Wayne Thursday night on a suggestion from somewhere that the two desperadoes who recently escaped from the Council Bluffs jail, might be hanging around here.

Possible presence of bold bandits does not inspire confidence in the bravery of the average individual in a rural community where the pastoral life and peaceful ways rule.

Recall Wayne College. We met two former Wayne State Teachers college graduates here last week, and both have vivid and usually pleasant recollections.

Another, Elmer Dalton, superintendent of schools at Beemer, came here from Neligh and for his way by serving as judge of the Herald, earning his college diploma in 1927.

Wholesome Philosophy. F. W. Rossiter, president of the Bank of Hartington, may be a small-town banker as he suggests, but we would say he is a big-town thinker.

In a recently issued circular Banker Rossiter deprecates the huge sacrifice of life and treasure in war, and one way he would free the world from such costly and irreparable losses would be to free it from greed and hate.

Banker Rossiter thinks people stress too much the idea of getting money and too little the idea of living neighborly and helpfully.

"Most of us recognized a little late, perhaps, that the pressure of our business, our profession or our farming operations, and in many cases our debts, dictated our way of life and living.

"If the fathers and mothers could effectively pass on to the sons and daughters the benefits and lessons of their lifelong experience—and their mistakes; and the same lessons could be passed on to the grandsons and granddaughters, and these succeeding generations could be prevailed upon to recognize and make use of the 50 or 60 years of living which the grandpas and grandmas have passed through, and thus staff out with all the advantages of what the old folks had learned in the hard school of trial and error...

Officers Are Here To Trace Down Tip

Men from Three States Find No Evidence Supporting Rumor on Bandits.

Patrolmen from Iowa, South Dakota and Nebraska, called here last Thursday in response to a tip that the two Council Bluffs jail breakers, Edgard Cook and John Giles, might be in the vicinity, reported no findings to substantiate the rumor. Officers do believe, however, that the bandits may have stopped in Winside briefly Friday, February 9.

The two men, who made a bold escape in early January, have left a seven-state trail of banditry since their break-out.

The widely-hunted men, reported to have stopped in Winside, are said to have eaten dinner in a cafe there, keeping their hats on while doing so. It is also reported that two strangers had shaved there, one waiting in the car while the other was inside.

Last Thursday a woman in the vicinity became alarmed when her car stalled in mud in the lane at her farm home and she looked to the highway where she saw two men walking around a car. She notified her husband who summoned help. Officers responded immediately but no trail of the bandits was found.

Patrolmen here last week reported that the bandits had definitely been spotted in Hastings the night that they are said to have stopped in Winside. They are believed to have been seen at the Nebraska City bridge and also in Kansas. The officers here said that the pair had abandoned the green car they first drove. The machine was found in Kansas.

Cook has a haircut which helps identify him.

OLD PAPER DRIVE TURNS OVER MANY TONS TO THE WAR

THE DRIVE for old papers and magazines by school children in answer to war demands was a success and it is hoped the many tons thus gathered will be hurried into use. If every locally does as well as Wayne has done, the paper problem ought to be solved easily. And getting rid of long accumulated papers and magazines stored in dwellings and business places reduces fire hazards and removes convenient hide-outs for bugs, insects and disease germs. A few years ago repeated campaigns were made for old scrap metal, and mountains of it were turned over to the war effort. Promises were thus freed from useless and unsightly junk. The clean-up of metal and paper products in town and country is beneficial in many ways, and the extra endeavor at this time helps prosecute the war.

Retirement Bill Plan Is Outlined

Dr. Ray Bryan Tells Group Of Kivanians Monday of Teacher Proposal.

LD 120, the proposed teacher retirement bill on which hearing was held Monday before the educational committee at the state legislature in Lincoln, was explained for Kivanians Monday by Dr. Ray Bryan. The proposed law would affect all employees of Nebraska public schools excepting the state university and Omaha schools, which already have their retirement plans.

Funds for paying teachers after retirement come from two sources. Each teacher pays 5 per cent of his salary up to $2,400 into a fund which draws 2 1/2 per cent interest. The state puts into each teacher's fund $1 a month for each year of service with a maximum of $30 a month. The money is paid to the teacher after retirement in an annuity.

A teacher may retire after 35 years of service or at the age of 65 and he must retire at 70 years. The bill provides for forfeiture. In case the bill passes, teachers now in service may or may not enter the plan, just as they prefer. Those employed after that time will be obliged to enroll unless they are under 21 years of age. Teachers in service at the time of passage of the bill will be credited with their prior service on the retirement plan. Any entering the plan and then wishing to withdraw may do so and may get a refund of the money they put in and also interest. If the teacher prefers, he may leave his money in the fund after leaving the profession and he may draw it at the teacher retirement age.

If a teacher retires and does not live long enough to benefit from his payments, the money goes to his estate.

A body, consisting of the attorney general, state treasurer, state superintendent and three appointed by the governor, administers the bill. It is estimated that the plan would cost $9,000 the first year which would mean 2 cents on an assessed valuation of $1,000, and in 10 years it would cost 4 cents on each $1,000.

Rev. O. B. Proett introduced Dr. Bryan. E. W. Huse presided for R. K. Kirkman. Jean Boyd led singing of "Marching Along," "America the Beautiful" and "Little Brown Church in the Vale" with Prof. Russell Anderson accompanist.

Home Is Damaged In Saturday Blaze

The Homer, Neb., home of Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Evans, parents of Mrs. H. E. Ley of Wayne, was badly damaged by fire Saturday. Clothing, bedding and heirlooms were destroyed. Insurance is carried on most of the loss.

The blaze started in an upstairs bedroom wall, probably from defective wiring. Mr. and Mrs. Evans and daughter, Mrs. M. C. Tallafiero, were home. They had noticed smoke and investigated the basement. They then opened the stairs door and found the second story ablaze. The upstairs rooms, furniture, most of the clothes, heirloom blankets and other valuables were lost. Mrs. Evans, who was taking a shower downstairs at the time, saved only her robe and coat. Mrs. Evans' diamond ring, which was on a dressing table, was lost in the fire but was found in the debris the next day. Smoke and water caused considerable loss in the first story of the home.

Mr. Evans recently bought two residences in Morningside and the family planned to move to one of the properties the first of March.

Mayor and Mrs. Herman Lundberg were Sunday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lamberson for Mrs. Lundberg's birthday.

Dick Tracy Comic Strip Sign Placed

Dick Tracy comic strip fans had some fun recently that has kept P. L. March puzzled for a time. One evening Mr. March left the marquee of the Gay with the name of the film to be shown. The next day when he came down town he glanced at the sign to see "Vitamin Flintheart in Love's Affair." This spelled the attraction he had seen in the comic strip and not the one he had booked. The mystery was who got into the theatre and took down the sign he placed and put up the comic strip wording? The sign remained on the marquee for the day and many enjoyed a good laugh because of it.

Library News

All over the world, wherever the axis has enforced its evil will upon brave and fine peoples, a blackout has engulfed the nation's books. Pick up the next time you enter your library, or even casually flip up a book in your own home, you stop to think what it would be like if it had happened to the books of the United States. Let's suppose, for example, that our library of congress had been ravaged and its contents piled into a hideous bonfire? Suppose our libraries in other cities had been wrecked. Suppose the only books you could buy or borrow were those that had achieved the dubious honor of being on the approved reading list of the axis? Every time you read a book of your own free choice, think of the wrecked libraries of Europe, and of those who would imprison and warp our very thoughts.

The new books you can look for in your library now are The Head Mistress, by Angela Thirkell, an English story. There's No Front Door Home, by Yoder, a humorous account of the lives led by civilians these days. Green Hazzard, by Coles, a mystery, and two books on Psychology. Conduct Yourself accordingly, by Margaret Culklin Banning, and Psychology You Can Use, by Roberts.

Mrs. Wayne Marsh has charge of story hour this Saturday and the old favorite to be told is The Ugly Duckling. The continued story of Homer Price proved so popular that more of the same was requested. Therefore a new serial has been started called Nothing New Under the Sun (Hardly). The same character, Homer Price, is the hero.

Grant Dispensation In Lenten Period

James H. Ryan, bishop of Omaha, has granted dispensation from the Lenten law of fast and abstinence. His letter to the diocese, received by Rev. Wm. Kearns of Wayne, follows:

"By reason of special faculties granted by his holiness, Pope Pius XII, to the Hierarchy of America, the clergy, religious and faithful of the diocese of Omaha are hereby dispensed from the law of fast and abstinence for a period of one year (commencing February 14) —excepting that the law of abstinence remains in force on all Fridays of the year, Ash Wednesday, the forenoon of Easter Saturday and the vigil of Christmas. On these days the law of abstinence still holds for all over seven years of age. This dispensation is granted due to the food rationing and the scarcity of many items. "While a dispensation has been granted from the law of fast and abstinence during Lent, the faithful are nevertheless obliged to practice self-denial. We urge them in particular to pray for the intentions of the Holy Father, for a just and lasting peace and for our men and women in the service of our country; to practice mortification and alms-giving; to abstain from intoxicating beverages, public amusements, the theatre, moving picture shows and dances;

Mrs. Byron James, Miss Patty Thompson and Miss Doris Madsen of Lincoln, spent the week-end here in the Mrs. Esther Thompson and Eric Thompson homes. They returned Sunday and Mrs. Esther Thompson accompanied them to attend to business until Wednesday.

to cultivate the venerable Catholic customs of reciting the Rosary in common in the home; to attend holy mass daily or frequently during the week; to assist at the Lenten devotions (sermons) and the stations of the cross; and devoutly and frequently receive the sacraments of penance and the holy eucharist.

"On Sundays and Wednesdays, during Lent, afternoon or evening devotions, consisting of Rosary, sermon and benediction of the blessed sacrament, shall be conducted in all parishes and, in as far as possible, also in mission churches. On Fridays the stations of the cross shall be recited publicly.

"The time for complying with the Easter precept of confession and holy communion (in the parish church, if possible), extends from the first Sunday of Lent to Trinity Sunday, February 18, to May 27 inclusively."

That invincible spirit endowed to American soldiers is a heritage that delves deep into our Nation's history. It is embodied in the living memory of our country's father, George Washington. His spirit of faith and strength is a tribute to victories in the past... it fortifies us for new victories to come. His command to "Forge Ahead"—even in the face of danger or defeat—is the command our boys remember to turn any tide of events to brilliant triumphs... it shall always carry us through!
