Erosion Problems
On Roads Studied

Soil Conservation District
To Help Commissioners In Saving Soil.

Wayne county commissioners met last week with the supervisors of the Wayne county soil conservation district to discuss erosion control problems that affect the county roads. Elvin C. Bjorklund, soil conservation service engineer from Lincoln, showed pictures of roadside erosion problems and their solutions.
The remedies for erosion problems of Wayne county roads included the sloping of road side ditches and seeding them to bromegrass, the use of improved bridges and drop-inlets to check the damage from enlarging gullies under the roads and other practices. The damage to adjoining farm land was also studied. Mr. Bjorklund pointed out that road damage from silt could be greatly reduced by contour farming and terracing of farm land. County Commissioner Frank Erlexben commented that some of the county's best top soil is channel from the road ditches and used on the roads.

The group made a tour of some of the problems near Wayne. They were impressed by the lack of soil loss from Albert Watson's farm where a thorough job of conservation farming is being practiced. A drop-inlet that has been constructed under a road in Commissioner Mark Swihart's district was inspected and found to be handling a difficult erosion problem in a very satisfactory manner.

It was agreed that further cooperation between the soil district and the county commissioners would be beneficial to both the road work and farm land in the county.

Mr. Bjorklund and J. S. Webster, local soil conservation technician, plan to assist Commissioner Wm. Missett this summer in studying some of the roadside erosion problems in his district.

Arrival of Easter Ushers in Spring

Wayne Residents Lived Near Abraham Lincoln Family in Illinois Town.

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for March 21, 1929:

Easter which comes this year on March 31 commemorates the resurrection and marks the end of Lent. It comes simultaneously with spring and the reawakening of vegetation. Union services are held by churches at the theatre the week before Easter.

An amazing difference is offered between farm conditions at present and 40 years ago. Vision is enlarged and made richer and more complete.

Mrs. Sommers Fox, 86, a girlhood neighbor of Abraham Lincoln, died February 22, 1929. The Fox and Lincoln families lived near each other in Illinois. Mr. Fox used to split rails for Mr. Lincoln and later served under President Lincoln in the Civil war.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Yaryan of Carroll, observed their golden wedding March 13, 1929.

Wm. Hoffman, county pioneer, died at Winside March 17, 1929, aged 79 years.

L. W. Loomis, 62, passed away here March 14, 1929.

Mrs. Louise Launthath, 84, died March 17, 1929, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Ulrich, at Winside.

Mrs. Wm. H. Echtenkamp, 57, died March 14, 1929.

Edgar, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Phillips, had a thumb almost severed in a circle saw at Carroll. J. Albert Johnson bought Val Hgabak's bakery here.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. Knox Jones of Lincoln, March 16, 1929. Mrs. Jones is the former Virginia Bowen.

A son was born February 26, 1929, to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hirschert of Laurel. Mrs. Hirschert is the former Lillian Circ of Wayne.

News Is Sought By Prison Group

News about home folks and about progress of the war is most anxiously sought by prisoners, according to Lt. Dean Jensen of Coleridge, former Wayne student, who is home from a camp in Germany. Each new arrival at camp is questioned for bits of information. Lt. Jensen, navigator on a bomber, made his first mission over the continent on D-day and he was on his 10th 16 days later when he was shot down. Flak knocked out two motors of the bomber and struck Lt. Jensen. In parachuting, the officer landed in a tree and broke a leg. German soldiers took Lt. Jensen to a hospital where he was given medical attention. Later his left arm was amputated above the elbow. Then he was moved to a hospital in Paris and he learned that the hospital was located only 200 yards from the objective which his plane was bombing the day it was shot down. After some time in the Paris hospital, Lt. Jensen and other wounded American prisoners were moved to Germany to a hospital which was operated by an English army company which had been captured in early days of the war. Later he was sent to a convalescent camp.

The young man reported that the prisoners received mainly potatoes, cabbage and black bread. This was supplemented by Red Cross food packages. Prisoners amused themselves by reading, playing games and engaging in sports. At one camp they constructed an 18-hole golf course around the buildings, using wooden balls and clubs that resemble croquet mallets. Prizes were cigarettes and chocolate bars. Lt. Jensen and his partner won a tournament but since they do not smoke, they traded their cigarettes for chocolate.

After a month at home, Lt. Jensen reports to an army hospital for further care.

CHAS. E. SANDALL SAYS: "PUBLIC INTEREST" IS A SAFE GUIDE IN CONSIDERING BEER LICENSES. As every application for a new or renewal beer license is considered, local and state authorities have before them this question: "Does this man's record show a favorable regard for the public interest, and the ability to protect it?" On the answer to this question, beer licenses can be granted with assurance that few mistakes will be made. Protection of the public interest is a duty of officials—and a safe guide. It is the primary objective, too, of the Nebraska Committee.

WHAT'S HAPPENING TO THE MEAT SUPPLY WE are faced with a serious shortage of meat for the civilian population. The current meat situation is not peculiar to any local area. The problem is national in scope. LARGE DECREASE COMPARED WITH LAST YEAR Government figures indicate a decrease of 38% of civilian meat supplies is expected during this quarter (January to March, inclusive), as compared with a year ago. The decrease will vary on the different types of meats. It is also estimated that during the second quarter of this year (April to June, inclusive) a decrease of 35% is expected. GOVERNMENT REQUIREMENTS Few people realize how much beef, pork, lamb and veal must be set aside by meat packers operating under federal inspection to be purchased by the Government for the Armed Forces and for Lend-Lease. As of February 20, 1945, we are required to set aside: BEEF: 60% of choice, good, and commercial steers and heifers, except extremely light weights. 70% of all utility steers, heifers and cows. 80% of all cullers and canners. PORK: 75%, approximately, of dressed weight. LAMB: 75%, approximately, of production in accordance with recent order. The Government is also taking a large proportion of Swift & Company's lamb and veal production: LAMB: 40 to 50% of choice and good lambs. VEAL: 50%, approximately, of choice, good and commercial veal produced within specifications. Whether these percent tags will continue at the same level throughout the year cannot be forecasted. The above percentages are as of February 20, 1945. Consumer misunderstanding and dissatisfaction also arises from Fewer "Hands" Make Heavier Work! SPRING brings a new lamb crop to the western ranges—and a new crop of wartime problems. For instance, experienced lambing crews are increasingly hard to find. But in spite of fewer hands and other difficulties, millions of lambs are being dropped and raised to provide the nation's wool and meat. Beyond the "romance" of sheep ranching lies a great deal of hard work. When early lambs arrive in wintry weather, there's no time to be lost in moving them from the "drop corrals" to the lambing shed. Chilled lambs often must be revived in heated incubators. It's not unusual for a good "night man" to "lamb out" 125 ewes in a night—and that is work. There's the feeding and, later on, trimming, docking, bunch herding, shearing, and finally the trailing of the bands to the summer ranges in the high mountain country. And always herders must be on the alert to protect their bands from coyotes and other predatory animals. Yanks are the best-fed, best-clothed fighting force in the world. They know the comfort of warm wool uniforms. And nutritious lamb has helped prevent meat shortages at home. Sheep ranchers, like other livestock producers of the nation, deserve the thanks of a grateful America.

Martha Logan's Recipe for BARBECUED SPARERIBS (Yield: about 6 servings) 3 lbs. spareribs 1/4 cup homemade catsup 1 onion 1 tsp. dry mustard 1/4 cup vinegar 1/2 cup water 1 cup tomato juice 1 lbs. paprika 2 lbs. brown sugar 1/4 tsp. chili powder 1 tsp. salt 1/2 tsp. cayenne pepper Cut spareribs in pieces. Brown lightly about 10 minutes. Dice onion and combine with all other ingredients and simmer 15 minutes. Pour over browned spareribs. Cover. Simmer or bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 1 1/2 hours. Remove cover. Baste ribs. Cook about 15 minutes uncovered.

HOW THE DOLLAR IS DIVIDED There's an old proverb, "One picture is worth a thousand words." So I decided to draw this month's column instead of writing it. The picture is below, and it tells this story... 75 cents (on the average) out of every Swift sales dollar goes to agricultural producers for their cattle, lambs, hogs, etc. And 11c out of every dollar goes to the people who work in Swift plants, preparing those farm and ranch products for market. Transporting meat, etc., an average of 1,100 miles from producer to consumer takes another 2c. But, after all, the picture tells the story better than words of mine. Few businesses operate on such a narrow margin—few return such a large slice of their sales dollar to the suppliers of raw materials. F.M. Simpson, Agricultural Research Dept.

New Use Found For Feminine Hat

Cigarets, Butter and Meat Used to Pay Speaker in Buffalo, N. Y.

A young boy walked into a women's shop in Gallup, N. M., and asked the price of a lady's hat in the window. When he was told the spring straw creation cost $9.98 he said, "Oh," and started for the door. "Did you plan to buy it as a gift for your mother?" a clerk asked sympathetically. "No," the boy replied, "I wanted it for myself. It surely would be swell to wind kite twine on."

Passengers in a Springfield, Ill., bus knew they were getting more than their money's worth when their driver raced his engine, careened around a corner and turned off his customary route to pursue another bus from which they had just transferred. The driver explained why with a shout: "He's got my $15!" Then he retrieved his money changer from the other driver who was heading back to the garage.

Coed Pat Nelson of Billings, Mont., led the long line of dubious girls to a department of Montana State university in which she said, "Believe it or not, the males outnumber the gals two to one." It was a tots' nursery school operation on the campus.

Edward L. Brand, Buffalo, N. Y., refused to take any money for speaking before the Lockport Industrial club. He jokingly said he would prefer cigarettes, butter or meat. After the meeting, the arrangements committee presented him with a carton of cigarettes, a pound of butter and a roast of beef.

Four-month-old twins and three other children under 12 don't keep 48-year-old Mrs. Burley Burns from joining in eastern Idaho's potato harvest at Idaho Falls. She takes the twins along in a buggy and the other three children—9-year-old twins Ernest and Helen, and Howard, 11, pick up potatoes, too. "I believe potato picking is good for children," said Mrs. Burns. The children declined to comment.

At Penn Yan, N. Y., Baron, 7½-year-old English setter of Dr. Lyndon W. Potter, veterinarian, has been serving as a canine blood bank for six years. He donates about three pints of blood a year to save the lives of patients ranging from lap dogs to St. Bernard's.

Noble Betts, jr., of the Naia-d-linta fire company almost spoiled the rival Franklin company's record of being first at fires. Betts was standing in front of the home of Harry R. Wenck when the alarm sounded. He drove three-quarters of a mile to the firehouse, jumped on a truck and rode back to the burning Wenck home.

Maj. Stephen Sitter of Milwaukee, arriving in San Francisco after nearly three years in a Jap prison camp in the Philippines, telephoned his wife and two sons, Steve, who was 9 years old, remembered his father, but Larry, 5, was just excited. After the call, Larry rushed back to the telephone, called his grandmother and exclaimed breathlessly, "What do you think, grandma? Mother's husband is coming home!"

When a Hamilton, Mo., woman found a box of kindling in flames in her kitchen, she grabbed for the water bucket, but it was empty. So she seized a bottle of milk and emptied it on the fire. Then she finished the flames by pouring on a can of tomatoes just opened for dinner.

At Cambridge, Mass., a quiet, dignified woman of 28, who has given three pints of blood for plasma and three brothers to the service, wanted squash with her meal instead of potatoes. "Don't you know there is a war on?" demanded the waitress. In East Cambridge district court, the 28-year-old dignified defendant, out on $28 bail, will attempt to explain why the tidy restaurant, a rendezvous of Radcliffe college girls, became slightly disarranged a few seconds after that now-famous question.

Kris Michael Spradling, Athens, Tenn., 21 months, found he couldn't wear his cake pan and get rid of it too. The child slipped the removable button from the cake pan and then pulled it over his head as a hat. There it stuck until his frantic mother, Mrs. O. R. Spradling, and a snipping tinsmith freed him.

Two fires at Andrews, Tex., in one week have destroyed the only theatre, a cleaning and pressing shop, an appliance shop and the county newspaper office. Now Andrews citizens are thinking seriously of setting up a fire department.

One Miami restaurant owner has put the distribution of cigarettes on a sporting basis. He opened his weekly two-carton allotment and placed the loose cigarettes on the cashier's counter under a sign reading: "If you haven't got one, take one. If you do have some, leave one."

Senator George Brunt was arguing in the Idaho legislature at Boise in favor of a bill legalizing operation of slot machines. He was interrupted by Senator Parley P. Jensen who asked: "Would you advocate putting a slot machine in your church?" Mr. Brunt replied: "I would just as soon, because there are some people who couldn't be pried out of a dime with a crow bar, but they might take a chance on a slot machine."

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Madsen of Vancouver, Wash., is a person who never gives up. When she and 24 neighbors filed a petition for a street light, the city council looked up old records. She's been appealing for the same street light since 1917, but the corner is still dark.

City Clerk Fred Knapp of Topeka, Kan., stuck to his resolution to say nothing about the names people register for their dogs when they buy dog licenses. In fact, he just shook his head and turned away from the registration book, for there it was, a pooch named Sinatra.
