evening to review the successful efforts in behalf of Memorial park plantings and to change the temporary committee to a more permanent Memorial park tree committee. This committee will be responsible for the tree trust funds until the planting is finished, the growth assured, permanent markings are placed and until a suitable memorial is planned for those who make the supreme sacrifice. Since Mrs. C. P. Harrison is moving from Wayne, her place on the committee is filled by Mrs. Chris Tietgen who will have the chief responsibility for reservations.

Books on the tree fund were audited Wednesday night by M. N. Foster and W. C. Correll. Money and records were turned over to the committee by Mrs. M. N. Foster. The money will be paid out of this fund only by order from the park tree committee chairman. The committee decided to use the undesignated contributions to buy trees for persons who have no family connections here now or for those whose families have so many representatives that buying for all might be a hardship. Action on this will be taken in the fall after other reservations are completed.

Mrs. S. A. Lutgen who served as temporary chairman of the arbor day program in the county, asked that Wednesday to be relieved of the chairmanship, though she will continue to serve on the committee. H. B. Craven was chosen to succeed her as chairman.

Wayne Woman's club wishes to thank other organizations, schools and all individuals who cooperated so well in the tree planting plan.

fourths of the world's two billion people, one billion in Asia and a half billion in Europe.

Permanent peace can never be established, Prof. Dale believes, until some way is found for distributing people more equally according to economic possibilities of the land.

Prof. Dale also mentioned that populations seem to be moving toward combinations according to races. The three races are the whites, blacks and yellows.

Religion is Needed.
In dealing with moral and religious phases, Dr. West stated that ethics are not enough. Religion is needed to improve the world. European rulers had too narrow horizons. Leaders must come to regard themselves as serving and not ruling. This attitude requires religious principles.

People of the world are aroused as never before and are determined to have part in the fruitage of their labors. Leaders must make it possible to lift standards of living and personalities. If the San Francisco world security conference accepts the principles of the Prince of Peace, the peace can be made durable and enduring, Dr. West stated.

In concluding the panel, Mr. Huse stated that postwar Europe must be in the hands of justice rather than revenge. A United States of Europe should be workable.

In the postwar period education and the Golden Rule should be emphasized with adequate force in the offering to maintain peace and order.

Rev. O. B. Proett, program chairman, presented Mr. Huse who led the panel.

C. M. Craven announced that a large amount of clothing has been collected for war victims and the club seeks volunteers to help sort and pack this for shipment.

With F. L. Blair leader and Prof. Russell Anderson accompanist, the group sang "Kiwans Song" and "Long Long Ago."

Besides 41 members, guests were Dr. J. R. Johnson, Prof. F. G. Dale and Prof. Yale Kessler.

Added to Fund.
Red Cross war fund has been increased by $5 sent from Carroll Auxiliary. The total in district 29, solicited by Mrs. Aug. Vahlkamp, should have been reported $80.

Miss Agnes Kavanaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Kavanaugh of Dixon, and Alden Sprven of Concord, were married April 19 at Dixon. They will make their home on a farm near Concord. The bride attended Wayne college before teaching.

How to prepare produce for Baby
Baby's ABC's start now with vitamins instead of blocks. Baby must get his or her full share in order to have a good start... and these directions will help you preserve all the nutrients necessary for Baby's growth.

PUREING VEGETABLES AND FRUITS
Cut vegetables and fruits into uniform pieces; place in saucepan; add just enough water to create steam. Cover tightly; steam until vegetables and fruits are just tender, no longer. Long cooking destroys the nutrients. Cool thoroughly before pureing. This prevents loss of vitamins through oxidation.

Press through special purser, colander, or sieve with wooden spoon. Avoid stirring. Be sure to include what water is left in the cooking pan. There should be very little, but it is vitamin- and mineral-rich.

Store pureed products in covered, sterilized glass or crockery jars in cold place. Prepare only enough for one day's supply at a time, as longer storage means loss of vitamins. Heat only enough for one meal at a time, as reheating is also destructive of the food elements. (Note: The same rules of vitamin protection apply to diced vegetables and pureed ones.)

CREAM OF VEGETABLE SOUP
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup pureed vegetable
Combine milk and vegetables (spinach, peas, carrots, asparagus, celery, string beans). Heat just to boiling and add butter. Makes 1 cup soup.

LIVER SOUP
1/4 cup very finely ground raw carrots
1/4 cup celery and parsley ground liver
1 cup water
Cook vegetables in water in covered pint saucepan until tender, about 10 minutes. Cool. Strain soup; puree vegetables. Combine and heat to boiling. Add liver, cover and simmer 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Makes 1 cup soup. NOTE: Do not soak liver. Any vegetable combination can be used.

Doctor Retires After Serving in Profession Long

Faithful to the highest ethics of the medical profession, Dr. A. Texley has retired after completing nearly a half century of unselfish service. The rich and the poor, the appreciative and unappreciative received Dr. Texley's skill in medicine and surgery in time of need. The faintest heart beat always inspired hope, and the doctor nursed many critically ill patients back to health and years of happiness. Without questioning the need for his services or financial liability of those asking them, Dr. Texley made physical and financial sacrifices on his own part to provide the assistance his patients sought. Horses took the doctor over poor roads in early days to call on patients. Dr. Texley always felt that a call was urgent and he made every effort to reach the sick as soon as possible. He drove hard and if the distance was excessive, he would change horses at some midway farm. During his second year of practice in Carroll Dr. Texley had a team of iron grey, unruly western broncos, which had never before been harnessed. No one would attempt to unharness the team so they wore their harness one entire winter. When Dr. Texley started out on a trip with these horses, all that his friends could do was to hope that he'd return safely. He also used livery teams. In 1910 Dr. Texley bought the first automobile to come to Carroll. This was black and had no top and no windshield. The touring car had only a back door and cost about $1,400. Before the days of improved highways Dr. Texley got through on hard drives with an old Ford that had no brakes. To stop the machine the doctor shifted into reverse. Doctors proved their fine professional spirit during the flu epidemic of 1918. When the disease was at the peak Dr. Texley attended patients constantly day and night for three days. The only rest he got was in the car between stops while another drove for him. He kept up this pace until he himself collapsed while attending a patient near Sholes. In 1937 when roads were blocked with deep banks of snow, Dr. Texley carried on and served patients in need. He often rode a tractor through fields or accompanied the road maintainer to get within walking distance of the homes struck by illness. Native of Wisner. Dr. Texley was born March 11, 1872, at Wisner, Nebr. When 14 years of age he accepted a position in Dr. Barnes' drug store in Albion, and he completed high school while there. He then went to Keokuk, Iowa, where he was graduated from a pharmacy course. He then went to Newman Grove where he bought a drug store which he operated for several years. While in Newman Grove Dr. Texley married Miss Cora Pearson, who was teaching there. That was in 1895. In the fall of 1897 the doctor spent one year studying medicine at Cotner medical college in Lincoln and he was graduated from Barnes' medical college at St. Louis, Mo., in 1901. A year before his graduation Dr. Texley passed the Missouri state board examinations. Dr. Texley arrived in Carroll on Decoration day, 1901, and decided to locate there. Dr. Lovig bought part interest in Dr. Texley's practice in the fall of 1906 and the latter went to Denver in the spring of 1907. After the death of Dr. Lovig in the fall of 1909, Dr. Texley returned to Carroll to take charge of the practice. Practices in Plattsmouth. In 1916 Dr. Texley took post-graduate work in surgery at Chicago and on his return to Carroll he did his own surgery. Dr. Texley continued his practice at Carroll until 1941 when he moved to Plattsmouth. Dr. Texley's quarters in Plattsmouth were in an attractive three-story brown stone home built on the slope of a hill. The lower floor, which is flush with the street, contained Dr. Texley's office, reception room, consultation room, medical library, room for minor surgery, X-ray room and laboratory. The two upper floors were the home of Dr. and Mrs. Texley. Due to failing health, Dr. Texley was obliged to give up the large practice he established while in Plattsmouth and he returned to Carroll a few months ago.

NUMBER NINE

Serious Thinkers May Be Expected

Speaking before a large number of Wayne county War Dads Thursday evening in the Legion room at the city hall, J. H. Morrison, who served as Red Cross field director in England, stated that men returning from service will have changed their ways of thinking. The war has made them more serious and they evaluate qualities more carefully.

One of the topics most frequently discussed is what determines choice of a certain man for president or senator. Is it real leadership or is it politics? Mr. Morrison thinks these young folks will demand that men be qualified for their jobs and that they be specialists in their fields.

Russian soldiers know they are in this war to help Russia. Their ideas are alike. American soldiers are fighting for democracy but their objectives vary and demonstrate the democratic freedom of thought.

The possibility of a veterans' hospital being located at Wayne was discussed and the group is backing the movement. The men will convene again in May at the Legion hall.

MRS. HENRY HECKERT DIES AT LEXINGTON

Mrs. Henry Heckert, aunt of Mrs. Paul Mink and sister-in-law of Dr. T. B. Heckert of this place, died at Lexington where she owned the Cornland hotel. Funeral rites were held at Lexington and burial was in Red Oak, Ia., where her husband was buried several years ago. The Heckerts had visited in Wayne often. They leave no family.

Warns About Travel

Due to increasing heavy demands on transportation, ODT warns against elaborate plans for fairs this fall. "Those who do so are proceeding at their own risk." Since wartime travel will continue to grow, ODT also advises that Americans spend their vacations at home this summer.

The need for endorsing all gas coupons with the vehicle license number is stressed by District Director M. E. Rawlings.

PAPER CONSERVATION IS BEING STRESSED

Phil L. March, Wayne county salvage chairman, has asked the cooperation of all in a campaign to save paper. People are being asked to accept wartime packaging cheerfully, to carry their own shopping bags and not to ask for unnecessary wrapping. Paper is needed for war.

Scouting Leader Speaks at Rally

Mrs. D. A. Hayworth of Sioux City, girl scout leadership trainer, was principal speaker Friday evening when an all-city rally for parents and friends was held at the college auditorium. Mrs. Hayworth gave an inspiring message regarding the valuable training afforded in scouting. The speaker was presented by Mrs. W. G. Ingram, president of the local girl scout council.

Girls of Wayne's regular scout and brownie troops gave the salute and took part in scout songs as part of the program. Two motion pictures were shown, "Volunteers for Victory," which is produced by international girl scout organization, and scenes of activities at Camp of the Hills, near Sioux City.

The troop led by Mrs. W. G. Schulz entertained Mrs. Hayworth at breakfast Saturday morning in the scout cabin.

Later that morning Mrs. Hayworth met with girl scout leaders to explain the work to them.

Mrs. Hayworth's husband is principal of Morningstar school in Sioux City.

Club Has Program On American Home

Four Present Discussion For Woman's Group at Meeting Friday.

American home was the topic of discussion at the Wayne Women's club meeting in the club rooms Friday afternoon. About 60 were present to hear the panel discussion in charge of Mrs. T. Gillespie and with Mrs. J. T. Wilcox. Mrs. M. B. Street and Mrs. R. B. Standley taking part.

Introduces Discussion

Mrs. Ingram outlined the goals of the home department of federated clubs, dealing with child delinquency, nutrition and moral responsibility of parents.

On Moral Influence

Mrs. R. B. Standley, in speaking of the moral influence of parents, told that parents "know the general pattern of their child's everyday behavior but too often forget their spiritual resources. Most common cause for this failure on the parts of parents is self-absorption and pre-occupation with an easy duties in hand. It takes an energetic and praying mother to raise her children well. It is a grave mistake to believe that the major effort in moral training belongs to the church."

"In this day when we are thinking and talking peace, we agree that it must first be in the hearts of people. A child cannot come from a home where parents are critical of their friends, mistrust their business associates and in general have a feeling of ill-will toward others and be a peace-loving individual. Therefore our duty in that field is not personal but national."

Mrs. Standley urged parents to display their best self to their children. She concluded by saying that "Many of our young people have everything money can buy but their hearts are starved for affection and the close companionship of understanding parents."

Speaks on Nutrition

Mrs. V. V. Wait read Mrs. Street's discussion on nutrition. Mrs. Street told that in endeavoring to convince people that some knowledge of nutrition yields a good return, one has to meet three types of criticism. "Some argue that people are better off if they enjoy their food without thinking about what they should eat. Others contend that people are getting along all right anyway, so why learn new theories? Still others say that our fore-fathers kept in better health without new fangled notions so they are non-sensational."

"Monotonous meals are the rule rather than the exception," Mrs. Street believes. Large sums are spent for foods but not the right foods. "Two out of every five Americans suffer from 'hidden hunger' or malnutrition. Many children whose development is considered to be limited by heredity, might make better growth and be more free from physical defects if their nutritive condition were more favorable. In a recent survey among 41,288 school children, two out of three started off to school without an adequate breakfast, and more than one-sixth of them had no breakfast at all."

Mrs. Street told of new ideas in foods which may be expected after the war. Evaporated milk will be sold in containers shaped like milk bottles. A large dairy is putting a new ice cream mix on the market. It comes in two flavors, vanilla and chocolate, and is practically guaranteed to freeze crystal-free with nothing but water added. There is a new cereal molded in the shape of a small banana. It is made from banana flour and is processed much the same way as puffed wheat and puffed rice. Also there is a new product called "chikay" which will be substituted for real chicken fat. A new combination resulting from the war is a can containing pre-cooked ham and candied sweet potatoes. Another product being tested by the quatermaster corps is a combination of canned pork and apple sauce. A ready-made fish loaf is expected on the market soon.

Home and Child

Mrs. J. T. Gillespie spoke of the American home and the child. She told that there seems to be definite need for an understanding of young people on the part of parents. A proper evaluation of what in many cases seems to be irresponsibility is actually a defense mechanism.

Mrs. Gillespie pointed out that "young people today are assuming responsibility quickly and without adequate preparation. In order to cloak their sense of insecurity and indecision they assume the mantle of indifference, or self-assurance. (Continued on Page Six)

Tin Can Salvage Drive Progresses

Wayne High Students Take Part in Campaign to Close on May 11.

A special tin can salvage drive is being conducted in Wayne by city school pupils. The drive began Monday and will continue for two weeks, ending Friday, May 11. Residents having cans are asked to prepare them for collection, bring them to the school and deposit them in the tin can salvage pile which is located near the curb north of the building. Those who find it impossible to bring the cans to the school grounds are asked to telephone the city school, number 26, and the cans will be collected.

Principal Frank Landroth called a special meeting of the student council Friday afternoon and explained the tin can salvage campaign. The council set 10 cans as a minimum quota for each individual.

Public relations committee of the council was placed in charge. This committee met after the council adjourned.

A special convocation was held Monday [this being in charge of the public relations committee. Plans for the drive were presented to the student body. Burns Sustained In Fire at Home

Dr. M. B. Street sustained burns on the nose, lips, one side of the face and one hand last Wednesday evening when some oil exploded at his home. He received medical care at a local hospital and was able to return home afterward. He is getting along well.

Dr. Street, who was alone at home at the time, drained some oil from his car into a can. When he threw the liquid into the coal-burning furnace, an explosion resulted.

The fire ignited the rafters and compe-board ceiling near the furnace. Dr. Street turned on the hose, which Mrs. Street kept connected for cleaning, and he had the blaze out before the fire department arrived.

Library News

If you were going to build a wall to keep the river away from your door, you'd first find out how to build a wall, wouldn't you? You'd find out what was the best stone, the best cement, the best tools. Right now we are building a wall of peace, a wall to keep away the flood of another war.

We are the builders, you and I. Your library has information on the proposed peace plans, unbiased and unprejudiced. Information is the tool we will use in building a lasting peace.

Supposing your congressman knocked on your door this morning and said: "What do you think about Dumbarton Oaks? Shall I vote for it? What would you say? If you have any doubt about your answer, take a quick trip to the library. If this is to be a people's peace, the people must know what will keep the peace."

Among the new books this week you will find The Story of Penicillin, by Boris Sokoloff, The Moral Conquest of Germany, by Emil Ludwig, The Religions of Democracy, by Finkelstein, Ross and Brown Pridie's Way, a novel by Robert Molloy, Magic Lantern, another novel, by Lady Eleanor Smith, and a new book of cartoons called Poppin' A Button, by Maurice Holcomb.

The book by Emil Ludwig, The Moral Conquest of Germany, is very fine. He tells why the German peril is bound to survive military defeat and he offers specific moral and psychological treatment to make victory lasting. Going much further than most writers on post-war Germany, he offers a number of concrete suggestions regarding the behavior of the occupation forces, the treatment of individual Germans, and the best methods of political reconstruction.

U. Drivewell Gives Ticket to I. Walk

Meat-Hungry Residents Get Point-Free Fowls to All Wanting Them

At Tacoma, Washington, Patrolman U. Drivewell knew it would happen eventually. Duty forced him to give a traffic ticket to an army sergeant named I. Walk.

Meat-hungry Indianapolis, Ind., residents are offered free fowl by a generous city administration which has a surplus—of pigeons. For the fastidious who want them dressed there is a slight charge of 10c each. The birds were trapped in a drive to rid the down-town district of the pests.

Mrs. Muriel J. Austin, 26, Minneapolis, Minn., told Judge Levi M. Hall that all her husband, Donald L., 26, did was play the piano. "And it was all musical discords," Mrs. Austin told the court in testifying in her suit for divorce. "Cruelty," ruled Judge Hall, divorcing her decree.

E. D. Shives of Denver, a for-man at Hill Field, Utah, lent his spare tire to a stranded motorist who promised to return it pronto. Mr. Shives waited, but no tire. Then he saw in Hill Field's newspaper an account of a motorist who borrowed a tire, then couldn't return it because the slip of paper on which the benefactor's name and address were written had gone through the family wash. Now Mr. Shives has his tire back and the motorist, W. R. Sanders of Murray, Utah, also is happy.

F. Martin of Decatur, Ala., a B-29 pilot stationed in China, spent a recent vacation in India, this way: He piloted a B-25 bomber and a P-47 fighter on combat missions over Burma and then took control of a C-47 transport on a food dropping mission to Chinese troops in northern Burma.

Thieves who took H. J. McVeigh's automobile at Denver did not notice Tarzan, 70 pounds of Airdale and Chow. But it wasn't vice versa. An hour after the car was stolen, Tarzan came home. Still later, parked on a Denver street, police found the auto. The $150 worth of tools was still in the back seat. On the front seat was a piece of cloth Tarzan had ripped from somebody's trousers.

Clerk and Recorder Glenn L. Buckingham of Prairie county ran this ad in the Great Falls, Mont. Leader: "The only physician and surgeon in Prairie county is leaving and the first physician who can come to Terry (the county seat) will be appointed, county health officer."

Mrs. Elizabeth Valenzuela's thick, piled-up hairdo probably saved her from serious injury, says Dr. Philip Spooner. He testified at the Los Angeles trial of two men accused of hitting her with a bottle. As it was, she escaped with a concussion.

What to do with movie scripts that earned the film industry millions of dollars? One Hollywood studio cleaned out its files and donated tons of paper to the salvage drive.

John Messmer, Milwaukee, Wis., courthouse custodian, says he welcomes suggestions to help him solve a problem. Plagued by pigeons, he found a measure of relief by an invasion of starlings, which drove the pigeons from the county building. Plagued by starlings, however, he greased their roosts and drove them away. Now, alas, the pigeons returned.

Lt. Timothy Cronin, Jr., dropped into the office of his father, the United States attorney at Milwaukee. Friends crowded around. "What was the Normandy invasion like?" asked one. "Missed it. I was in the hospital," the flier replied. "Wounded?" "No, the numps."

The Alex Podak family at Peoria, Ill., sleeps soundly. While they slept burglars ransacked the refrigerator, took a package of cigars from Mr. Podak's clothing, and carried a heavy radio through the house and out of the back door. The Podaks slept on.

CLUB HAS PROGRAM—

(Continued from Page One) Vocational educationists who have given considerable time to the study are convinced that much of the arrogant attitude and deplorable lack of social graces is a cloak to cover up the great dismay many young people experience when they realize their actions are not meeting with approval of their elders.

In closing Mrs. Gillespie told of the Archbishop of Canterbury's conception of post-war homes. "Every family should be housed with decency and dignity so its members may grow up in a happy fellowship, unspoiled by under-feeding or over-crowding, by dirty and drab surroundings or by mechanized monotony of environment. There should be the opportunity of an education. Every home should have security in financial income. Men should have daily leisure and there should be two days of rest in seven and a normal holiday with pay to enable a full personal life."

Reports on Conference. Mrs. L. F. Good attended the Third district 42nd annual conference of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs held in West Point April 18. She gave a report of the meeting at which Mrs. R. W. Hill, Hebron, state president, and Mrs. H. C. Hanna, Superior, vice president, and Mrs. S. A. Lutgen, Wayne, state poet laureate, were speakers. The women pointed out that war has taught the need for leadership. Parents have been so busy investing money they have forgotten how they are investing their children.

Clear Good Sum. The total gross income for the play, "You Can't Take It With You," given April 13, sponsored by the Woman's club, amounted to $363.75. Expenses, including $58.20 for taxes, amounted to $198.73, leaving a clear profit of $165.02.

Mrs. R. A. Schreiner, secretary of the group, was instructed to send a note of thanks to the Wayne Players and to extend the privilege of using the Woman's club room to them.

Girls' trio of the high school, Carla Wrigat, Alice Smolsky and Donna Granquist, sang "Girl of My Dreams," and "If I Could Tell You." Miss Smolsky also sang "Garden of My Heart," and Miss Granquist sang "Winter Lullaby."
