

Change in Soldier Service to Insure Earlier and Sure Delivery—Peak of 500 on Herald's Free List During More Than Three Years—Banks to Serve.

Growing inability to deliver copies of the Herald to Wayne county soldier boys overseas, as proved by notices from the post office department, will not only lead us to discontinue such service, but will also increase the uncertainty of receiving addresses has been increased in recent months by multiplying changes, and these will grow as fighting ceases and forces are shifted. Numerous reports of late show a diminishing number of newspapers reaching their intended destinations. Copies to boys in the states appear to arrive, and they will be continued.

But we regret that overseas copies which are needed most to keep up home contacts, too often fail to land where directed. If parents or others have evidence that boys overseas are receiving copies regularly, and will notify us accordingly, the service to them will be kept up. The fact that the list is free to Wayne county soldiers does not in the least increase uncertainty of delivery. Papers are bulky and travel as second-class matter, catching up with shifting soldier positions is evidently often quite impossible. But a solution to satisfy home yearnings by boys in foreign countries may be found in this: Let parents like copies of the Herald each week and clip what they think would be of special interest and dispatch promptly by first class mail. Two ounces may be sent by air mail or eight ounces by other first class mail. If wives of soldiers or their parents wish to keep their copies for any reason, they may come to the Herald and receive extra copies from which to clip. This plan for the closing weeks of the war would insure more prompt and more certain delivery, avoid waste and prevent disappointment. We know of one mother who sends clippings by first class mail from her Herald each week notwithstanding that her son is on the Herald's free list. She does that to be sure of reaching him with least delay.

The Herald inaugurated its free list to Wayne county boys in January, 1942, and has thus continued it without interruption for three years and four months. The free list has run as high as 600, and if the service had been paid for it would have cost approximately $3,000 for the time mentioned. The changes each week have been numerous, and they have been made as each mail came in to avoid congestion on publication day. Every notice of change or of failure to deliver required the Herald to pay a small fee. The extra work added greatly to newspaper burdens at a time of help and paper scarcity, but the consciousness of carrying a major war project without once accepting proffered help has been a source of high satisfaction.

We firmly believe circulating the Herald among soldier boys in far-distant battle fields has had a wonderfully sustaining influence, as letters have attested. But the time has come when increasing difficulties of delivery make the more certain first class mail desirable. Wives and parents of boys should not delay clipping from Herald and seeing that Wayne county soldier boys in foreign lands receive as early as possible the news in which they are interested. We repeat: Copies will still be sent to boys in the states.

Aim for Two-Thirds of a Billion.
"Bankers of Nebraska have sold or issued well over a half billion dollars worth of war bonds during the six war loan drives in this state and they will raise this impressive total to two-thirds of a billion during the seventh war loan drive which gets underway this month."

President Edgar McBride of the Nebraska Bankers association has incorporated the foregoing statement in an announcement to the bankers of this state, urging them to greater personal effort in the new campaign.
That this new goal may not sound extravagant, it is pointed out that every bond drive in Nebraska has been oversubscribed. The announced quota for the seventh war loan drive is $92,000,000. Assuming the same rate of oversubscription as in the past drives, President McBride feels that the two-thirds of a billion mark is possible of attainment by the Nebraska banks that issue and sell the bonds.
As in all preceding drives, the banks will receive no recompense from the government for their work involved in the campaign. Nebraska bankers have willingly assumed this burden as their added gift to a great patriotic cause.

FIGHTING ENDS IN EUROPE

Special Service Held at College

Seriousness of Occasion Is Emphasized at Program Here on V-E Day.

Wayne State Teachers college observed V-E Day Tuesday with special convocation services which were attended by a capacity crowd. The program, with Prof. G. W. Costerian presiding, opened with the national anthem and with "America the Beautiful."
Lt. Milo Blech of Clarkson, home on leave after finishing missions as pilot of a B-17 based in England, spoke on organization for a bombing mission. Meteorologists decide if weather is favorable. Target priority, bomb and gas loads are determined. Order of planes and time of take-off are decided. Ground crews prepare planes while flying crews rest. Crews are briefed for the mission with pilots, bombardiers and navigators instructed together and gunners together. Officers are instructed to when to start engines, when to taxi, when to take off, what position to take in the bomber stream, possible fighter opposition, fighter escort, weather information and safety measures. Watches are synchronized. A control point is set up. Planes arrive there at two-minute intervals to avoid collisions. On the mission, planes attain their bombing altitude 20 minutes before reaching the target and they remain in formation to avoid collision. On the return, planes with wounded aboard place two red flares to notify ambulances to meet them immediately on landing. If the hydraulic system is destroyed, planes come down on a special runway which is 10 miles long.

Expect to Realize Goal on War Bonds
Amount Asked Lower Than That Invested Here in Earlier Drives.
Wayne county should be able to surpass its 1945 war bond goals easily, states Chairman W. C. Corvill. The county went over the top in purchases in 1944. Three drives were held last year and only two are planned in 1945.
In the fifth war loan Wayne county invested $648,501, or 136 per cent of its quota. In the 6th war loan residents here invested $459,832 or 110 per cent of the quota. The 7th war loan calls for $475,000 in E. bonds and about $25,000 additional in corporation bonds. Since the total of $500,000 is under the amount sold previously, Mr. Corvill feels that the total will be reached easily.
Precinct captains and crews are being organized for the campaign which opens May 14. Solicitation is expected to advance at once in town and it will be pushed in rural areas as fast as corn planting season will permit.

LIVELY GROWTH IN WAYNE CERTAIN TO TRAIL WAR'S WAKE

WAYNE is approaching healthy, substantial growth. Dwellings have become acutely scarce. People have been getting along on abbreviated accommodations during the war emergency. Some — we hope few — who have wanted to move here, but could neither buy nor rent, have been forced to locate elsewhere. When the ban on building is lifted or eased many new houses will be put up. Plans have been made. The business district is also to receive its share of improvements. New structures and numerous minor betterments are in prospect. War-caused vacancies are disappearing. Watch the Herald for developments. Some are mentioned in today's edition. Others, definitely arranged, but not now ready for publicity, will be made known in due time. Besides new buildings, a flood of new supplies will appear, as soon as they become available, to meet long unsatisfied demands.

Supervised Play Arranged in City

Plans have been made for a playground and supervised activity in Wayne this summer. All children in the city are being urged to take advantage of the program. It is planned to have marbles and kite tournament, baseball and volleyball. It is hoped tennis and basketball courts will be in readiness when the program begins. Most of the activity will be at Brossard park. Fred L. Rickers, Wayne city school instructor, may be supervisor.

TOO MANY CAR BRAKES THAT DO NOT BRAKE
Chief of Police Geo. Bornhoff inspected 165 automobiles in the business district Saturday night to ascertain brake conditions. He found 45 with defective brakes. This finding suggests a serious hazard to safe driving.

Breaks Ribs in Fall.
Mrs. Julia Lage broke two ribs Saturday when she fell at her home here. She just recently returned from a Sioux City hospital where she had undergone an operation.

Annapolis Graduate Missing in Pacific

Lt. Com. V. Merlin Paddock Leads Squadron Over Toyko-Okinawa.
Lt. Com. V. Merlin Paddock, 28, U. S. navy son of Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Paddock of Wayne, is missing in action in the Pacific. The navy air officer is plane commander on a carrier and is also squadron commander during missions. He pilots a Grumman Hellcat and has been in combat in the Toyko and Okinawa areas since December, 1944. Many friends anxiously await favorable word about the officer.
The message coming Monday from the navy department informed Rev. and Mrs. Paddock that their son "is missing following action while in the service of his country." Vice Admiral Randall Jacobs, chief of naval personnel, states that the "department appreciates your great anxiety but details are not available now and delay in receipt thereof must necessarily be expected."
In a letter written April 15 and received the last of April, the officer told his parents that he had been in combat right along. He mentioned that his carrier had been in the back of things but that is what the navy men wanted.
Lt. Com. Paddock was graduated from Annapolis naval academy in June, 1940, having made an excellent record.

Management Is New for Hotel

J. H. Morrison Has Charge With Ferris Warner in Dining Service.
Hotel Stratton opens next Wednesday, May 16, under new management. J. H. Morrison has leased the modern 60-room hotel from Walter Dudley. Ferris Warner has bought the hotel furnishings from Walter Dudley. Ferris Warner will operate the dining room and coffee shop from Mr. Morrison and will operate seven days a week. OPA is cooperating so that sufficient food points may be furnished to provide this city with needed eating facilities.
Improvements will be made at the hotel. The lobby and dining room will be decorated and some painting will be done throughout the building. Some light fixtures will be changed. Part of this work will be finished before the opening. Mr. Morrison expects to provide the very best in hotel service in the structure that was new in 1928.
Mr. Morrison, who has been physical education director the past 22 years, came to Wayne seven years ago as a member of the college faculty. He just recently returned from England where he spent nearly three years as Red Cross field director. The Morrison family will have an apartment at the hotel.

Crediting Agency Rates College High
Wayne State Teachers college has been notified by the American Association of Teachers Colleges of its accreditation for 1945-46. This association is an accrediting agency which ranks all teachers colleges of the United States for various factors, including salaries and faculty preparation. Wayne college, according to word from the association, now ranks 88 percentile on basis of faculty preparation. Besides being accredited with this association, the local college is also accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Attendance Boosts Expected in School
Substantial increases in attendance at Wayne State Teachers college are expected this summer and next fall, according to figures based on reservations for rooms for the terms. Rooms reserved for the summer period are already a third larger now than at the same time a year ago. The number taken for next fall is 47 per cent larger than at the same time last year.

Cut Is Effected In City Expense
Payment of Bonds Reduces Funds to Be Raised For Coming Year.
Expenses for the coming year in Wayne were estimated by the city council Tuesday evening at $166,700, which is about $30,000 under the figures of a year ago before repeal of the budget law. Though city officials cut most branches of expense, the main reduction came in bonds.
Wayne had paid off about $30,000 in bonded indebtedness in the past year. The major part of this is on paving, with about $2,000 on auditorium and water bonds.
The appropriation ordinance was passed Tuesday.
W. G. Schulz and Raymond Engel were approved as new firemen.

Arrives Home Last Week After Being Liberated from German Prison Camp

To be walking up the lane to his home east of Wayne after being held in a German prison camp several months was such a thrill to Pfc. Dean Sandahl, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Sandahl, that the youth wept with joy. Dean reached Lincoln last week. Since his family did not know exactly when he would come, the soldier decided to hitch-hike home. He arrived last week Wednesday and a joyous family reunion followed.
Dean was with an infantry unit and was reported missing in action December 16. His outfit was moving forward in a valley in Belgium. The Americans were equipped with rifles and ammunition was so scarce that it was rationed. Coming toward them were powerful nazi tanks. Surrender was inevitable.
The prison camp in Germany was crowded. Bunks were three deep, made of boards and gunny sacks. Each prisoner had one blanket. When weather was too cold, two men slept in one bunk and this doubled the blanket pro-

TURNING POINT IN SCHOOL SUGGESTS SUMMER ACTIVITY

THE NEXT few weeks city and rural schools will suspend for the summer vacation. Many students will be awarded diplomas of graduation. Eighth graders will be in line for high school training, and high school seniors will usually enroll for college courses. While the college's summer program will be turned to advantage by a considerable number of teachers and others, numerous students will find useful employment for the summer, putting aside their textbooks until fall. Graduates from high schools and colleges will do well not to figure exclusively on big pay and little work in accepting jobs. Rather, they should be moved by determination to serve efficiently, and by proving values, merit adequate compensation. Confidence without egotism, doing what is undertaken satisfactorily, making dollars and cents secondary, and exercising courtesy and fairness will usually win full rewards.

Accident Fatal To War Veteran

Victory Achieved Over Nazi Forces

Prof. O. R. Bowen Addresses Large Number Meeting Tuesday Afternoon.
The unconditional surrender of Germany was announced by President Harry S. Truman in a nation-wide radio message to Americans Tuesday morning, May 8, at 8 o'clock. And the worst war in European history came to official end at 5:01 that afternoon after more than five years of conflict.
"The allied armies, through sacrifice and devotion and with God's help, have won from Germany a final and unconditional surrender. . . Much remains to be done. The victory won in the west must now be won in the east." The president asked that Sunday, May 13, be a day of prayer, that people everywhere "thank God for victory and ask His support to the end of our present struggle and guide us into the way of peace." He also asked that the day be dedicated to all who have given their lives to make possible this victory.
Prof. O. R. Bowen speaks.
In delivering the V-E day message to about 1,700 gathered at Wayne auditorium Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, Prof. O. R. Bowen mentioned the importance of the day and expressed regret that President Franklin Roosevelt was called by death before this first victory was realized.
"Official proclamations request no clamor, no confusion. We meet to thank God for success of our armies. Our victorious armies have entered Rome. They have entered Berlin. Next they will enter Tokyo. So in the not far distant future the last shot will be fired and the terrible war will be over. Then the dark clouds of fear and anxiety for safety of loved ones will be lifted. Then will begin the long journey to peace and sanity. There will be confusion and chaos with millions dead, wounded, homeless, hungry; cities in ruins; rural sections devastated; national boundaries wiped out; revenge and hate rampant.
Peace Problems Great.
"The problems of peace will be greater than the problems of war, and the destiny of the world depends upon their solution. Our wisdom upon far success lies in the wisdom, judgment, vision and poise of those statesmen who meet in international conferences. What a responsibility is theirs! They must not, they dare not fail.
"We are depending upon the San Francisco conference and others which may soon follow, in his senior year in 1943. He was a Tuesday guest in the home of Miss Lettie Scott. He reports May 24 in California.

Students Speak.

After the officer's message, Lucille Blank spoke briefly. The conflict initiated by Hitler in 1939 has drawn to a close, Japanese resistance is yet to be overcome. "Only then can we relax and even then not for long as great problems are to be solved," Miss Blank mentioned treatment of German people, psychological rehabilitation, return of displaced people as some of these problems.

Cleo Schroeder paid tribute to Wayne college men and women serving in the war. He quoted from Abraham Lincoln who prayed that the "scourge of war speedily pass" and that we show determination to try to establish a just and lasting peace.

Dona Rae Johnson began by stating that America is serious on V-E day because of the knowledge that other Americans are probably destined to die in the Pacific theatre of war. Reaching V-E day has already meant great sacrifice of life. Miss Johnson read a list of 28 former Wayne college students who have made the supreme sacrifice. This list is as complete as available records at the college now show.

Mako Supreme Sacrifice.

Dr. J. T. Anderson closed the service. "This war will have been fought in vain," he stated, "unless those who are living resolve firmly that war shall not again recur. It is doubtful if civilization can endure another world war. Greatest battles are fought in the human heart. Greatest enemies of man are selfishness, greed, lust and jealousy. These must be conquered and safeguards against them must be established. The Golden Rule and the principles of the Prince of Peace must be followed." As the rites concluded Dr. Anderson called for a period of silent prayer in behalf of the welfare of mankind and the peace of the world.

reptional record as a student. He served on a cruiser in the Pacific until October, 1942. He then returned to prepare for the navy air corps, training and instructing at New Orleans, La., Melbourne, Fla., Monterey, Oakland and San Diego, Cal.

The young man was promoted to lieutenant commander last October and left in December for the Pacific. In the first mission over Tokyo, the plane commander of the carrier lost his life. The Wayne officer was then assigned this duty in addition to his squadron responsibilities.

Mrs. Marjorie Paddock, wife of the officer, and their 18-month-old daughter, Marjorie, are in Honolulu with the former's parents. Mrs. Paddock had been in the states with Lt. Com. Paddock a couple of years, and the navy officer was with his family in Hawaii before leaving for the Pacific. The three had been in Wayne in May, 1944, when the flier was being transferred from Melbourne, Fla., to the west coast. Mrs. J. A. Paddock had visited her son's family in New Orleans earlier.

Lt. Com. Paddock is a native of Bangor, Wis. He was graduated from Osmond high school in 1934 and attended Wayne State Teachers college from 1934-36, leaving to accept an appointment to Annapolis which he earned through competitive examinations. His parents have lived here eight years.

Irving Paddock, storekeeper first class, brother of Merlin, is with the navy and is stationed at Ream Field, San Ysidro, Cal. A sister, Ruth, Mrs. L. M. Voorhees, is here with Rev. and Mrs. Paddock. Another brother, John, died when he was 19.

VICTORY ACHIEVED—

merely to formulate plans, to set up international machinery which will assure for posterity a warless world." Prof. Bowen explained that it took seven years for the 13 colonies to ratify the constitution after the Revolutionary war. "The road to peace and sanity is a long one."

To Educate Nations.

"Plans are now being made for a system of education for the out-law nations, the purpose of which is to substitute ideals of world co-operation for those of world aggression." Prof. Bowen quoted a war correspondent who declared that military victory in Germany would be only a beginning. A gigantic task will be re-educating a whole nation which for 12 years has been steeped in a philosophy in which ethics has had no part. "If we shrink from this task or shirk it, the war will have been fought in vain and the Nazis will try the same old game under different leaders."

Must Avoid Revenge.

"In planning for peace," Prof. Bowen continued, "there must be no thought of revenge. It must be a treaty of peace. It will be hard for people who have seen their homes and property destroyed and have seen their loved ones enslaved, tortured, murdered. It will take superhuman self-control to quench the desire for revenge. But for the sake of unborn generations, this must be done. Restrictions and limitations placed upon the outlaw nations should be placed there, not for revenge, but for the protection of other nations. If the peace terms are written for revenge, World War III will follow."

Must Be Restricted.

"Liberated countries must be helped. Germany and Japan must be so restricted that they will never again be able to menace world peace." Prof. Bowen told that it is proposed to control Germany by making it impossible to import anything that can be used for war. For Japan, it is suggested that no navy and no war machines be allowed.

The speaker quoted from Abraham Lincoln: "With malice toward none, with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations." If this spirit prevails at the peace conference, stated Prof. Bowen, "we shall be well on our way toward a warless world."

World Needs Justice.

History has proved the futility of force. Alexander, Caesar, Napoleon, Mussolini, Hitler and Hiroto tried it and all have failed. "International force may give way to international justice. The world does cry out for justice."

"Our soldiers have marched and fought and died. They must never be called upon to do it again. We meet to thank God for their achievements, to ask Him to help us to make this world celebration today one of the great influences leading to international peace."

Henry E. Ley Speaks.

In speaking briefly, Henry E. Ley, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said, "We have not met to celebrate. We have not earned a right to rest but we have come to a milestone in our journey where we can and must give thanks and ask guidance for the future."

"We here are all small people in a small community and we thank God we are among the millions of small people meeting in thousands of small communities. We are not meeting in glory. We are in despair over our losses and in confusion as to the future. There is one remedy for extreme despair—prayer. If we are sincere, our message will reach the hearts and minds of those in whom we have placed our trust, the leaders in wrecked Europe, in the battle fields of the east and in our conferences on the west coast. May they lead us on the road to peace instead of down the road to holocaust. A new association built on honesty and brotherhood must come from this inconceivable error. Let us sing and pray. Then let us go home and pledge ourselves in every effort to make the last mile short."

Other Program Features.

Sgt. Wallace Magnuson Is One of Engineers Who Kept Ships Fit.

Sgt. Wallace Magnuson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Magnuson of near Concord, is a member of the 562nd engineer battalion, 6th army, which has received a meritorious service unit plaque from Brig. Gen. G. B. Becker. The men are now in the Philippines. This battalion repaired and maintained all landing craft of the 2nd engineer special brigade from September 1 to December 25, 1944. Their efficient inspection and repair of equipment prevented breakdown of any craft on the Leyte invasion.

"Immediately after landing, the battalion was set up for operation under the worst possible weather conditions and began the tremendous maintenance job, working under bombing and sniper attack, in jungles and in swamps. The unit averaged 20 boats repaired daily, and in November the battalion repaired 590 boats, under frequent enemy attack and without ample materials. The battalion overcame difficulties and kept 85.5 per cent of all boats in complete service. The unit displayed exemplary initiative, energy and devotion to duty. They maintained highest standards of efficiency, discipline and morale and contributed essentially to success of the operation."

Sgt. Magnuson recently suffered a black eye, cut lip and gums and lost two teeth when his electric welding outfit exploded. He is back on duty and feeling fine. The young man is entitled to wear the gold wreath for the unit citation. New Stamps Due In Food Rationing

Five more red ration stamps for buying meats and fats and five blue stamps for processed foods became valid May 1. M. E. Rawlings, Sioux City district OPA director, announced recently. The new red stamps are Q-2, R-2, S-2, T-2, and U-2. Red stamps currently valid are Y-5, and A-2 through P-2. The new blue stamps are Y-2, Z-2, A-1, B-1, C-1. Blue stamps currently valid are H-2 through X-2. Sugar stamp No. 36 in war ration book Four will be good for five pounds of sugar beginning Tuesday, May 1. The stamp will remain good for use by consumers through Friday, August 31, 1945. Sugar stamp No. 35, which came into use on February 1, will be good through June 2, 1945, providing an overlap of about one month during which sugar stamp No. 35 and sugar stamp No. 36 may both be used.

Mr. Rawlings also announced some point changes. Red point increases run one to two points a pound for most cuts of all grades of lamb and veal, and a point a pound on most beefsteaks. Decreases of one to two points apply on beef roasts and other beef cuts. Margarine goes up four points a pound and group I cheese, which includes cheddar, Swiss, brick and blue, are boosted two points. Two No. 2 cans of snap beans will require 10 points instead of 10 points a can, beginning Sunday. A single can, however, will continue to cost only 10 points since ration stamps have a uniform 10-point value and cannot be broken down into smaller units. The reduction in the blue point value of tomato juice and vegetable juice combinations applies only to the 24-ounce can. The value of this can is reduced from 20 to 10 points. Tomato catsup and chili sauce drop from 30 to 20 points for 14 ounces. No. 2 1/2 cans of apricots come down 10 points, to 30. Pint containers of grape juice go up 10 points, to 30, while quarts increase 20 points, to 50.

War Ends THE first great step in ending the world's most terrible war scurge comes with the unconditional surrender of Germany.

Democratic institutions at which Hitler, Goebbels, Himmler and others scoffed, have taken a long and decisive stride in reestablishing human rights.

In his proclamation to the nation Tuesday morning, announcing victory over Germany and setting apart Sunday, May 13, for thanksgiving and prayer, President Truman emphasized the need of continued effort to beat the Japs, and spoke feelingly of the huge sacrifices that have been made to perpetuate democracy.

Wallace LIKE many others, the Norfolk Daily News would be able to sound thinking in his opposition to a planned economy, as expressed in a recent Reader's Digest article, if what he said were not in conflict with his utterances and actions in the past.

"We would have more faith in Mr. Wallace if it were not for our knowledge that not long ago he was an advocate of scrapping our sugar industry because, he said, it was uneconomic and we could ship in our sugar cheaper than we could produce it under tariff protection.

"There are those who argue for that kind of planning. But we have had some experience with both sugar and rubber, and with other products too, which has changed some minds over to the belief that we should maintain domestic sources of essential goods, even if those goods do cost us a little more.

After the War IN postwar years—perhaps next year—it will be in order to celebrate the Fourth with elaborate plans, and it will be done with new zest. What that holiday stands for

Congress AS SEEN BY EARL STEFAN

Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, chairman of the special house committee to investigate food shortages at Omaha on or about May 24. Representatives of the dairy industry, cooperative creameries and other groups of Nebraska food producers have requested such a hearing.

Mrs. Gertrude MacPherson, formerly of Omaha, came to Washington the other day from Mexico under the auspices of the Mexican we have been fighting at frightful cost in men and treasure to hold. The fact that the United States, conceived in the blood of the Revolutionary fathers around 170 years ago, has succeeded in every trial at arms to maintain its free system of government, as it is doing now, will in postwar retrospect intensify interest in the nation's natal day.

For many years following the Civil war, we regarded the Fourth with a good deal of nonchalance. We had political party differences—sometimes sharp ones—but they were harmless and were no threat to our free institutions.

So, the Fourth which guaranteed independence and liberty, will renew its original meaning. It will be earnestly observed for what it signifies and for what it cost to defend through the years.

Wanton vandalism reported practiced by grade and high school pupils, caused havoc in a number of Omaha schools recently. Records were destroyed, and over a thousand dollars worth of damage done.

Consolidation of schools in rural sections of Michigan with bigger units and more facilities to give inspiration, is reported in a current magazine article. Thus, modern educational opportunities were taken into the country, and children were fired with ambition.

If Hitler and Goebbels are dead, as reported, the world will be saved additional trouble. Some of Hitler's compatriots say he committed suicide, whereas others say he was killed in Berlin's last stand.

The unicameral, scheduled to adjourn this week, is said to have passed more bills and to have been in session fewer days than any of its one-house predecessors.

The long-held feeling that nazi leaders were crazy is proved by the report that Doenitz, successor to Hitler, and Goering were once inmates of an asylum for the insane, the latter often in a padded cell.

A happy home is conceivably one in which the wife listens approvingly to her husband's boasts of what he has accomplished and particularly of what he intends to accomplish.

Mordecai Ezekiel, economic adviser to the secretary of agriculture, has figured out that if the money put into war could have been used for peace-time improvements, it would have built an eight thousand-dollar house for every family in the country.

Town Meeting of the Air discussed America's moral standards Thursday night, and two speakers modified trends, whereas the opposing two emphasized them.

Disagreement should not lead to hateful personalities. Differences of opinion are wholesome. They sharpen thinking and cultivate understanding.

President Truman's liberal slash in appropriations is an encouraging move.

government. She is interviewing national and international Red Cross officials and other government officials in connection with Red Cross work in Mexico.

A number of Nebraskans have been in Washington recently conferring with the Nebraska delegation about farm machinery and lumber needs of farmers.

President Harry Truman broke precedent recently and paid a surprise visit to the house of representatives.

MUSIC WEEK.

Music week is receiving usual attention. Special programs are being given, and the world is being treated to best musical contributions. Music soothes nerves and enlivens spirits.

know that Germany was going to attack Russia two months before the attack occurred. Secrets about the German rocket bomb and the magnetic mine were also known to our government.

General Pick, author of the Pick plan for the Missouri river and head of the army engineers that built the Ledo road in Burma, is back in the United States on 30-day leave.

Congressman Francis Case of South Dakota has for some time been trying to interest delegates to the San Francisco security conference in establishment of the permanent home of the world security organization within the state of South Dakota.

A house select committee on small business makes bi-monthly reports to the membership. In its recent report, the committee states that bankers informed the committee that the GI bill is not proving an aid to veterans who wish to start their own business.

The small business committee of the house reports that small businessmen are demanding a change in federal tax laws and have submitted testimony to the committee showing wherein large firms are securing preferential treatment under existing laws.

Washington went mildly hilarious over the erroneous report from San Francisco that Germany had agreed to unconditional surrender.

The promise of an early cessation of hostilities has not lessened the anxieties as to what will happen in Europe when it happens.

MOTHERS.

Recurring Mothers' day calls attention to humanity's most devoted and most dependable friend. It is mother who is quickest to condone faults and forgive absurd foibles.

There are about 4 thousand people in San Francisco directly connected with the security conference. If the conference lasts six weeks as originally planned, it will cost Uncle Sam about $1,011,000.

world-wide question about unemployment and rehabilitation are only a few of many disturbing factors. But, nevertheless, the great hopes of the peoples of the world are tied to the ending of the war.

Rationing news lines up in prominence next to war and the peace program. The several investigating committees are finding out much about black-marketing, which goes on almost unchecked and remedyless.

Sugar is so scarce that rations will be cut until September. The 5-pound stamps will be stretched to cover four months instead of three.

There are indications of what is developing for foreign trade in farm products in the post-war period. Australia has a surplus of 1 1/2 billion pounds of wool stored away, and the season's clip of another billion pounds.

Argentina has a surplus of 417,000 bales of cotton to get rid of and another crop half as large coming on. That country, Uruguay and Paraguay have millions of cattle on the hoof, more than we have in this country.

MOTHER'S DAY

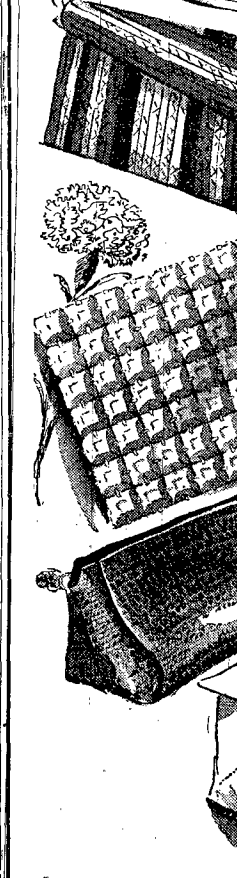

How reverent in our midst she stood
Or knelt in grateful praise!
What grace of Christian womanhood
Was in her household ways!

She kept her line of rectitude
With love's unconscious ease;
Her kindly instincts understood
All gentle courtesies.

WILL KEEP RECORD OF NON-HIGHWAY GAS

A new delivery record plan for users of non-highway gasoline rations, effective May 1, 1945, has been announced by the district OPA office. Farmers and other users of non-highway gasoline, who are issued "E" and "R" coupons will be required to maintain a simple delivery record on which supplies will list all deliveries of gasoline.

When "E" and "R" coupons are issued in excess of 10 gallons per month for non-highway use, a delivery record will be issued by the war price and rationing board. With each delivery of gasoline made to the holder of such coupons, whether on his premises or at his supplier, the following entry must be made on the delivery record: Date of delivery, name and address of supplier, total gallonage value of class "E" and "R" coupons surrendered, total gallonage value of other evidences that are surrendered, signature of the person who delivers the gasoline.

This "delivery record plan will verify all transfers of "E" and "R" coupons and should discourage unlawful diversion of such coupons. The local ration boards will also have a history of ration usage to avoid misuse of excess coupons, and will help to prevent over-issuance of coupons.

Library News

Of course, we all want peace. We may even want it enough to fight for it and work for it. But do we want it enough to think for it? Because, no doubt about it, this next peace is going to take serious thought. And from all of us. Please do your part by reading about the problems and talking with your friends. A good way to start is to visit the public library and get some information. Do you think that a four-power alliance of Britain, Russia, China and the United States can preserve world peace? Do you think that the Dumbarton Oaks plan will overcome the weaknesses of the League of Nations in maintaining peace? If you, haven't formed an opinion on these questions ask for information on the proposed peace plans. A lasting peace can be made by sincere, informed people. Visit your library and write your congressman. But before you write, make sure you know what you are writing about.

We have a new book this week by Marshall Field called Freedom is More Than a Word. Aware of Marshall Field's vigorous efforts to make democracy real in the field of communications, readers will not be surprised to find him the author of this book. For Marshall Field has always believed that freedom is more than a word. Another new book is Forget Your Age! by Peter Steincrohn, M. D. The author holds that it isn't the years that matter but our relation to them; that life begins at any time. This book is for the old who too often despair because they believed that youth was imperishable; and for the young, who give too little thought to old age because time seems unending. We also have a new mystery by Frances and Richard Lockridge entitled Payoff for the Barker. There is a new novel by Dany Neumann, Now That April's There and a new book on the war by Ira Wolfert, American Guerrilla in the Philippines.

Meat Slaughterers In Three Classes
All meat slaughterers are divided into three classes, according to late OPA order. Class I includes federally inspected slaughterers who are not restricted on amount of meat slaughtered but will continue to set aside large orders for government purchase for army and navy. Class II includes non-federally inspected commercial and retail slaughterers and farmers who slaughtered more than 6,000 pounds of meat for sale or transfer last year. Persons in this class must register with OPA before May 14. The amount of meat that those in class II may slaughter will be based on a percentage of the live weight slaughtered in corresponding periods in 1944 and may vary, depending upon national distribution and military demands for federally inspected meat. Class III, farm slaughterers, includes farmers who sold or transferred 6,000 pounds or less of meat in 1944. Persons in this group are not permitted to sell or transfer meat without a permit, and they are to register with OPA for a permit by July 1. The amount of meat the farm slaughterer may sell each quarter will be limited to 100 per cent of the dressed weight of meat delivered during the corresponding period in 1944, provided that the total is not more than 6,000 pounds. If a farmer sold or transferred no meat in 1944, he will receive a permit to sell 400 pounds during the year. Class III slaughterers register at the local war price and rationing office.

Nebraska Senior Senator Files for Re-Election

"In filing today for reelection to the important office of senator from Nebraska, I wish to make this brief statement. The desire to succeed myself in the senate is not born of selfishness, rather it is merely to ask the republican voters of Nebraska to renominate me at the June 1946 primary election in order that I may continue an uninterrupted service to our state and nation.

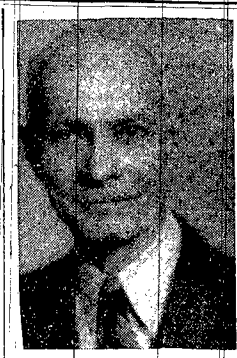

"My present and first term, in the senate of the United States began on January 3, 1941. Since that time many things have happened of great concern to Nebraska; the sneak attack upon Pearl Harbor, declaration of war against our vicious enemies, and the resulting change-over of our national life from peace-time to war-time standards. These problems have taken a great deal of work, clear thinking and above all, the concerted effort of the people, as well as the officials of our government. With the successful conclusion of the war in sight, our attention will soon be turned to the task of rebuilding America and to return our nation to the peacetime schedule. That task will be as great, if not greater than that of prosecuting the war. It will take serious thinking and planning in contrast to the feverish preparation and actual fighting of battles.

"During my tenure of office and advancement to the senior senatorship, several committee assignments have been given me which I believe will help Nebraska advance in the years to come. The post-war years which will mean much to agriculture and business in our state.

"These committee assignments are easily recognizable by their titles as having wonderful potentialities for the future of Nebraska, inasmuch as they are granted upon seniority. I truly feel that our voice in the future should be assured, and in filing for reelection I pledge my best efforts along these lines. My committee assignments are as follows: Agriculture and forestry, finance, banking and currency, territories and insular affairs, irrigation and reclamation, joint committee on reduction of non-essential federal expenditures and veterans' legislation.

"This announcement is made at the time of my filing, so that my intentions may be known to the republicans of Nebraska, and to solicit their aid and support. I hope to merit that support by continued close attention to my duties here in the senate."

Jap Swan Dives From Luzon Tree

Sgt. Carl F. Jorgensen Sees Plenty of Action with Tropic Lightnings.

Sgt. Carl F. Jorgensen, Winside, is an infantryman who has seen a lot of action with the 25th Infantry, Tropic Lightning division on Luzon, but he'll never forget the time a Jap he shot out of a tree executed the most perfect swan dive he had ever seen.

A private first class at the time, Jorgensen was with a platoon of the 27th regiment that was attempting to clear out a ravine where a number of Japs were well dug in. While the platoon was laying down a base of fire, an enemy soldier, for reasons known only to the Jap mind, started scrambling up a tree.

As the enemy infantryman neared the top of the tree, Sgt. Jorgensen, then an automatic rifleman, cut loose and the Jap somersaulted from the branches and ended up with the swan dive.

Sgt. Jorgensen, who received his basic infantry training at Fort McClellan, Ala., is fighting in his first campaign. He joined the Tropic Lightning division, commanded by Maj. Gen. Charles L. Mulling in New Zealand and later received 10 months of intensive combat training on New Caledonia.

The army man expects to have a furlough and will visit here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Erick Carlson in Crofton.

Sees Prison Camps Where Atrocities Were Performed

The atrocities performed in Nazi prison camps, witnessed by Sgt. Wm. Jones of Wayne, are described by the soldier in a letter written April 18 to his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Morgan. The young man is in the ordnance service with Gen. Geo. Patton's 3rd army. Excerpts from the letter follow:

"Yes, I am a bit beyond the Rhine and with the much talked of 3rd army. One really gets around being with this army. I feel as though I've hit every bit of this continent. I thought my eyes would drop out when I saw the destruction of some of the places in France. But then came 'Jerryland' and, believe me, they are getting it. It's really quite amusing to enter the towns and see the white flags adorning each of the houses. They know they are licked but still they try to make out that it was not they to blame but the Nazi party led them on."

"I have seen the remnants of all the crimes they performed on the allies. I've visited two of their worst concentration camps. I had read about this back in the states."

However, at that time it was hard to believe. I am thoroughly convinced now. I am mailing you a clipping out of our Stars and Stripes telling of Gen. Eisenhower's visit to the camp at Ohrdruf. The clipping tells that the general found that 3,200 allied men had been murdered before the prisoners were liberated by advancing forces. The whipping bench and other means of torture were the worst the officer had ever seen. "I saw this place," Sgt. Jones continues, "and honestly all I wanted to do was load up and go hunting. I never expected to have to see another one but I did just three days later. The name of the second camp was Buchenwald which is not twice as big but 60 times as large as Ohrdruf. I saw crematory ovens with still the remains of some Russian, Poles or even Americans for all we knew. Fortunately I ran into one of the prisoners who was from Philadelphia. He was taken in the fall of France while visiting relatives in Paris. He stated that 15 minutes before the Americans liberated them, something was to happen to the remaining 30,000 left alive. He thought that they were going to be machine-gunned. When they were finally liberated they seemed stunned. Some sobbed unceasingly. Others who probably didn't have the ability to cry, just stared in amazement."

"The murders here weren't performed like one that would occur in China by acts of a torturing nature. The first phase started by starving the victim. Each day the prisoner would get one razor blade slice of bread along with a bowl of soup which was more like distilled water. With this one hot meal the prisoners were required to put in 12 hours of hard labor in a gun factory which was located in the camp. When the prisoners became too weak to work, it meant the last lap. They were strung up, not a hang job, but it was a choking death which took around five hours. Then there were the crematory ovens where some of them were burned alive. All the work in these places was forcibly done by the fellow prisoners with the SS troops seeing that it was accomplished. I saw bodies, as many as 150 in one heap. These bodies ranged from kids 14 years old to old men in the 70's. After liberation, allied troops marched civilians of a nearby town to see everything the Nazis had done. Some of the higher-up civilians placed scarfs over their eyes but these were torn away by the military police. The Nazis let on as if they weren't guilty. "It used to be hard to capture the Nazis. However, now it is a difficult job to keep from taking them for they are giving up in such large numbers."

"Most of the people tell us they never knew of these atrocities. They thought it was best that they didn't know but they are fully aware of their crimes. "Our division was cited by President Roosevelt shortly before his death, the second to be cited during this war. We are known to the Nazi soldiers as the Elite Fourth Rangers. "As for myself, I thank God for perfect health and spirit, and hope that through our prayers here and at home, this war may soon end." The Wayne youth says that the Herald reaches him at the front lines and he is most appreciative for it.

Officer Commended For His Services

Lt. Howard G. Fisher, whose wife is the former Margaret Jones of Wayne, has recently been commended by Brig. Gen. Joseph A. Cranston for outstanding performance of duty in unloading railway cars in a record-breaking time. He is with the services of supply in the India-Burma theatre. Lt. Fisher has been overseas 22 months and is now stationed at Assam along the supply routes to the Burma and China fronts. He entered the army at Chicago in March, 1943, and received training at Camp Sutton, N. C. With his organization, Lt. Fisher is entitled to wear the distinguished unit badge, by presidential citation, for his share in making possible the successful operation of flying cargoes to China over the hump. Lt. Fisher is also authorized to wear the Asiatic Pacific campaign ribbon with bronze star for service in a combat zone of the India-Burma theatre.

Nazi Camps Seen Reveal Horrors to Helpless Victims

Writing from central Germany April 15, T5 John Einang describes some of the sights he has witnessed recently. "No doubt you have been reading about the spectacular advances and the great number of people who are being freed from the death grips of concentration camps," the youth begins. "All this is very good news but very few can visualize what it really is. I have seen several main death camps and many ordinary concentration camps. There are two that I would like to write about. "The first was situated behind an elaborate Nazi garrison that housed many high officials of the Wehrmacht and Nazi party. As one passes under the stone arch gate and past the familiar black and red striped box, all seems to be in order—a little for the worse due to artillery and bombing, but all in all it looked very well kept. You continue along the main drive, past straight rows of brick and stone barracks perpendicular to our route and with neat driveways between them. As one approaches the far end of the camp the atmosphere changes, the buildings are wooden and unpainted. This is the supply section where the slave laborers worked. Their barracks were a kilometer away for various reasons. The road that leads toward the concentration camp is barren and winding. A few bodies are lying in the ditch. "I stopped in front of the gate to look at the tall barbed wire fences on both sides of me. They were 10 feet tall which is unimportant for the people could not have scaled a four-foot fence with their strength. The barracks were dirty and pitifully overcrowded. "I continued down the narrow street until I reached an intersection where there lay over 40 murdered Russians and Poles. They were unfit to live, the Nazis said, for they were too weak to work. Because they could not walk with the retreating soldiers, they were shot. "I looked at them lying there, literally skin and bones marred by large welts and bruises from unrelenting beatings. Some lay face down, others on their backs with their eyes wide open in their sunken sockets. A measure of their pain and suffering could be seen in their ghastly countenances. One U. S. pilot was among them, covered by a GI blanket. "But this was not the extent of the atrocities. Down the next street I saw the unhuman crime of systematized murder. There in a wooden building were the remains of bodies slowly being eaten away by lice, piled neatly, like cord wood. I did not count them. "Our tanks were rolling fast on level ground that morning. I was watching the head of the column roar down the wide autobahn when I noticed rows of huts on our left. It was another concentration camp. As I looked closer I could see the slave-breaking through the barbed wire and begin running toward us. It was not long until they covered the 100 yards from the camp to the highway and began lining the autobahn, waving frantically. As we passed them the field was flooded with freed slaves running and stumbling to greet us. The day before over 3,000 had died from disease and starvation. Conditions inside the camp were unbelievable. Five persons slept on the same bed with a total of 100 persons to a barrack. How these people lived on a piece of bread the size of my fist and a slab of oleomargarine the thickness of two sticks of gum, I don't know. "The following students have been neither tardy nor absent the past month: Richard and Larry Jordan, Marilyn and Carolyn Crowell, Stanley and Faith Owens, Kenneth Hamer, Norval Walker and Marlene Broeker. Faith Owens and Eugene Hupp, 7th graders, and Milton Owens, 8th grader, went to Carroll to take examinations. A short tribute to the late president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, was made by reading his favorite chapter in the Bible. A ball game between district 44 and 56 was held April 1, but was not finished because of the weather. The remaining three innings will be played soon. Pupils voted to give $5 of their program money to the American Red Cross in the last drive. (Mrs. Ora Wax, teacher) Pupils having perfect attendance for the month are Cecile, Donald, Eugene and Hubert Nettleton, Betty Jane Jones, Eva Mae and Herbert Wills. The 5th and 6th graders are making booklets for history and geography of Nebraska. The room is decorated with spring flowers. Carolyn Kraeger treated pupils and the teacher to cake for her birthday. "The Bobsey Twins at Indian Hollow" is being read for opening exercises. An evergreen tree was planted on the school grounds in honor of service men from the district. Book Reports. Book reports turned in include: Janet Peterson, 63, Muggins; Kathryn Bowser, 32, The Little Colonel's Hero; Caroline Temme, 15, Princess Goldenhair; Ione Wesely, 41, Dot and David; Carroll Welch, 41, Navaree of the North. Pvt. Marion Peltzer, whose wife lives at Stanton, has been liberated from Stalag 4F at Hartmannsdorf, Germany, where he had been a prisoner of war.

PITCH IN! on the mighty 7th... it's two big War Loans in one! You have seen pictures of American soldiers falling wearily into foxholes, too tired to even dodge the shells raining all around them. Did it make you fighting mad? You have seen pictures of American bombers hit by enemy fire, plummeting downward into enemy territory. Did it make you fighting mad? Then pitch in... turn your folding money into fighting money... buy twice as many bonds as you bought last time! The mighty 7th War Loan must do the job that two war loans did last year. It's the biggest, most urgent war loan of all. Back it up with every dollar you can lay your hands on!

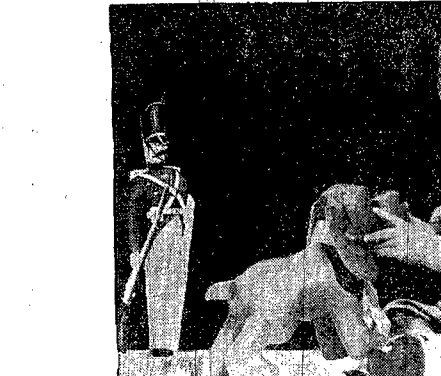

DOUBLE-SIZED JOB AHEAD

Six War Loan Drives are a matter of history. Together they accounted for bond purchases totaling more than 109 billion dollars. Of this amount, 13 1/2 billion dollars, or about 12 1/2%, represented "E" Bond purchases by individuals. It's a good record, but our job is not finished. Ahead is the 7th War Loan with a national quota of 14 billion dollars. Of this amount, the "E" Bond quota is 4 billion dollars, or over 28%. It is a challenge to all of us to more than double our efforts. Because Americans take hard tasks in stride, we shall succeed. Buy all the bonds you can — hold all the bonds you buy.
