Storms on Fourth Result in Losses

Rain, Wind and Hail Cause Some Damage to Crops and Property.

Rain, wind and hail, brought by fast-gathering clouds the evening of a sultry Fourth of July, lashed northeast Nebraska in about four storms that resulted in considerable damage to crops and property.

Small grain damage is heaviest as these crops were near the ripening stage. Much grain was blown down and beaten by rain and hail until the heads were broken.

Corn, which has been about 10 days behind the customary growth at this period, is damaged from 25 to 35 per cent. It is estimated that much of this will come out all right.

Insurance Is Carried. Most of the crop loss is insured. An estimated 50 per cent of the farmers carry protection on crops.

A couple of barns were moved from their foundations at the Al. Bahe farm six miles south and two and a half west. Wind assumed proportions of a twister at the Edgard Swanson place between Windsor and Carroll and a barn was moved there.

Many windmills went down. With shortage of help and scarcity of repair parts, the matter of getting the windmills back into working order was an urgent problem for a few days.

Flood waters from the beating rain carried rich soil from cultivated corn fields down many slopes. In many instances the soft soil was washed across roads.

Albert Watson credits contouring with saving moisture and soil on his place four miles north of Wayne.

R. E. A. Repairs Made. The strong wind damaged some of the R. E. A. lines in the county. Two poles were broken off and a transformer was burned out.

Wind lifted the tops off of a number of hay stacks, especially in the region southeast of Wayne. The churning wind also scoured tops off of some trees and large branches off of many.

High winds which struck Wayne and vicinity the evening of the Fourth caused much damage to telephone lines in this territory.

A cable in the east part of Wayne near the ball park which was damaged when water got in the cable causing a short, put about 25 telephones in that area out of order.

About 40 per cent of the country telephone lines were badly damaged as a result of high winds, broken limbs falling on the wires and broken poles. These are being repaired and many are now in working condition.

Storms struck between 7 and 11 with the heaviest at 7:30 and 10:30. In Wayne the State National gauge recorded .58 of an inch of moisture.

The government rain gauge at the Watson farm four miles north registered 1.85 inches for the evening with 1.75 of this amount falling between 10:15 and 11.

Rainfall in Wayne Sunday night totaled 1.1 of an inch, according to the gauge at the State National bank.

Tells of Service Given by Group

Capt. Robert Dale Speaks To Kiwanis Monday On Weather Work.

Importance of accurate weather information in successful bombing missions was stressed by Capt. Robert Dale, meteorologist with the army air corps, Monday when he spoke to Kiwanians.

The captain explained that in weather forecasting for military purposes the world is divided into about 24 regions.

Each American air field in England has about 15 meteorologists. When a bomb group arrives its weather man joins a station that already exists or a new station is set up.

Capt. Dale explained how an operational mission gets under way as to weather. The colonel and majors at each station hold a telephone conference before a mission and make decisions as to weather conditions.

Forecasters are included possible suggestions as to what to do to meet weather conditions.

To stress the importance of fog in forecasts on the continent, Capt. Dale mentioned that during the battle of the bulge, the nazis took advantage of a fog coming from Russia.

After planes leave for a mission, requiring eight to 15 hours, the meteorologist keeps the commanding officer and operations officer informed as to weather changes.

Bud Kilian, presented by Prof. Russel Anderson as a basso, cantata, sang "Big Bass Viol" and "The Bell in the Lighthouse Rings."

Application Points Out Value of Proposed Air Pick-Up.

Century Aviation company, with headquarters in Wayne, has before the civil aeronautics board in Washington, D. C., an application which is unique in that it proposes air mail pick-up for practically the entire state of Nebraska.

Most of the area covered by the proposed Century route has a high isolation factor and a distinct deficiency of surface transportation.

For instance, the town of Ellsworth with a population of 30 serves a large ranching area and is one of many small points which should have prompt mail service.

From figures of the post office department, the Century company's attorney, Russell W. Bartels, figures that the average present flow of mail in one direction is 12,188,627 annually.

Century officials also believe that the air mail will be used to considerable extent between points on the route, increasing the revenue.

Facts would indicate that current air mail volume will more than sustain present air mail expense and that indications point to enlarged volume.

Air Express Valuable. Air express is another possibility for substantial revenue to the government and valuable service to the community.

Poor surface transportation, the petition shows, is entirely inadequate to furnish speedy service needed in an agricultural area where time is so important at harvest seasons.

Have Experienced Staff. Century company has a line-up of efficient, experienced air men, Irvin Erxleben, who will be in charge of pick-up flights.

In addition the application shows that Century company is sound financially and can easily sell its entire capital stock.

"Pick-up air mail has proved itself in the operations of All American Aviation company. The only unsettled or open question that remains to be answered," states Attorney Bartels, "is whether or not this type of service must be limited to a few fairly populous urban centers or whether it can reasonably be extended to serve entire communities including small towns and rural areas.

Century Aviation company is confident that such service should be given and this company is the only one proposing such routes in Nebraska.

The region covered needs the proposed type of service as much or more than any region in the United States.

outside of St. Martin's in the Fields church. It happened to be a wedding and as one could see, it was one of the notables. As I read the London papers the next day I found out it was the wedding of the honorable W. W. Astor, M. P., son of Lord and Lady Astor and Honorable Sarah Norton, M. P., daughter of Lord Granley. I was standing at Trafalgar square as the bridegroom and guests walked by to the Admiralty building where a reception was held.

"From there I went to Downing street where Winston Churchill lives. I was also over by the Houses of Parliament and Westminster bridge and saw Westminster Abbey.

"The people of England have celebrated since the war ended. My group was restricted 48 hours when V-E day was proclaimed. However, I knew the war was over the day before the world was given the news.

"When I was on furlough April 1, I visited with T. Sgt. Arthur Wolters who was then near Colchester. Sgt. Darrel Puckett, whose home is eight miles south of Wakefield, has been here in the 545th bomb squadron since March. He is an aerial engineer on a Flying Fortress. I haven't seen Sgt. Allan J. Perdue since May.

Pfc. Nelson flew by Flying Fortress on an airfield at Istres near Marseilles, France, June 23. "The journey was very enjoyable. From Portsmouth to the mouth of the Seine river is 105 miles over water and I flew that course. I left here at 7:30 a. m. and arrived at Istres at 11:30 a. m. We stayed just one and one-half hours and left for England at 1 o'clock and arrived at 5:15 p. m. It took just eight hours to travel 1600 miles round trip. The mountains in South France remind me of mountains in Colorado and Utah. We flew up to 8,000 feet going over them and that was over an hour. On return trip I was aerial engineer part of the way."

Sgt. Keith Mauch of Plainview, was a tail gunner in the plane Pfc. Nelson was assigned to when on a mission to Germany last September.

Pfc. Nelson plans to leave for France soon where he will remain for some time.

Locates in Idaho.

He is with a brother who bought a small acreage and modern home there. Doctors advised Mr. Cassel to go to the higher altitude. Mr. Cassel writes that two former Wayne college students are in Nampa, Bob Gibb as coach and Mr. Hansen with the U. P. railroad.

Matter of Taxation THE tax problem is mounting and a source of future worry. Aside from the war which necessarily increased costs, the federal government's fiscal policy has been handled loosely with little regard for practical economy. Cut out useless bureaus, fire government employees who merely displace Washington atmosphere, quit paying subsidies that are not needed and abolish the practice of matching funds with states for public projects.

States are not hard up. The federal government is deeply in the red. What modicum of sense can be extracted from the policy of the latter shearing revenues from the former, and then paying back a fraction for public improvements that smaller units can well afford. States' usually comfortable cash surpluses shout to heaven the folly of adding to the overburdened federal treasury. States are rich. The federal government is poor, and getting poorer. Why saddle the former's costly building and extension whims on the latter? And the fault lies in Washington. There is where the stopgap to wild spending and wicked waste should be raised and anchored.

Touching the subject of fixing and distributing taxes Gov. Robert D. Blue of Iowa, recently said this among other things as reproduced from Pathfinder magazine:

"During recent years, the federal government has expanded its field of taxation and entered upon a field of subsidizing state and local projects; having taken money away from the state, it then offers to return the money to the state for a specific purpose to be used upon such terms and conditions as the federal government imposes. These terms are not usually written by congress, but are prepared by political bureaucrats, many of them inexperienced in the field in which they are entrusted with responsibilities. This type of government results in excessive waste of public funds, an increase in the number of bureaus and local government and a weakness of state and local government. "The result is the undermining not only of governmental units involved, but the undermining of self-reliance and economic morality of the individual existence."

To Humanize A NEW law which goes into effect August 10, is designed to increase the financial responsibility of automobile drivers. The wrecking of an insured car in good repair by an uninsured rattletrap with a drunken or chronically careless individual at the wheel, had happened often enough to stir the legislature to act. How far the law will go in protecting orderly motorists will depend in considerable measure on enforcement.

The law does not compel insurance, but greatly increases its desirability. It will also tend to take out of service cars that belong in junk piles and that are not worth insuring. The Lincoln Journal explains the law in this way: "Automobile dealers are of the opinion that two results will follow if the state motor vehicle division strictly enforces the provisions of the financial responsibility law which becomes effective August 10. There will be a big rush to purchase liability insurance, and there will be the disappearance from the highways of an increasing number of cars because many run-down cars may not be insurable. The law does not command every car owner to buy insurance; in that respect it differs from the compulsory insurance laws that have been tried out in a few states. What it does is to make continued operation without insurance a hazard for owners and drivers, the penalty for having an accident being a possible loss of car registration and driver's license. These penalties are inflicted for failure to report an accident within ten days and to furnish proof within sixty days of financial ability to pay damages."

An Odd Plan SOMETHING new in politics and public service has stemmed from Lincoln. An unidentified source proposes that Senator Hugh Congress real G. I. Joes. Upon his arrival in Pittsburgh and Washington, the Nebraska general was given a great ovation, mainly because he is said to have done more for the foot soldier than most of the high army officials. General McBride always refers to Nebraska as his home. He has been ordered to return to Germany. At one time he commanded 45 thousand American troops. More than 120 thousand Germans surrendered to him during the last days of the European war. Harry B. Fleharty of Omaha is an assistant to the attorney general and holds a very responsible place in the lands division in the department of justice. Mr. Fle-

Butler and Governor Dwight Griswold exchange posts, the former filing for governor and the latter for senator. As pointed out, this plan would eliminate a contest between two party stalwarts for the republican senatorial nomination.

But what would voters who have the final say, think about that kind of bargaining? Senator Butler has already filed for renomination, and in his initial term he has reflected soundly progressive judgment in serving farm communities. After one successful term why should he be invited to make room for Governor Griswold? The latter has made an acceptable chief executive, and he could no doubt be renominated and reelected for that office.

It is our guess that voters would be more agreeable to the idea of each sticking to his present task. However, if the governor who has not yet filed for any office, but who is reputedly edging toward the senatorship, cannot resist the temptation and the promptings of friends, let him also enter the campaign for the senatorship and give the public an opportunity to decide.

Strikes for fewer hours and more pay in industry—additional free time to cook up more trouble for payers—make one wonder what the world would think if housewives would strike for less time and more nearly adequate compensation for cooking and doing other house work. Suppose they should decide that they do not get enough monetary velvet and sweet absence from drudgery out of an 84-hour work week? Suppose they balk at cooking on Sundays or other holidays? Suppose they quit when a meal is half finished because of too many hours and too little reward? How the hungry male population, including industry's strikers and sit-downers, would howl! But housewives do not strike. They may be overworked and underpaid, but they stick to their tasks. In doing so, they keep the social structure in measurable repair.

Eclipse of the sun by the moon took place as advertised early Monday morning, visible in this area between 6:15 and 8 o'clock. Even late risers were awake and up early enough to see it. Cause: In its travels the moon got between the earth and the sun for a brief time. Distances to the performing bodies were so great that even the most ambitious aviators were not ambitious to go up and look over the field. The moon is 238,857 miles from the earth, and the sun is 92,000,000 miles distant. Neither the weather nor the war nor other world problems could interfere with the phenomenon. It came and went exactly on time. It was of special interest to astronomers who could by reason of the nearly obscured sun, take a deeper look into the outlying vastness.

Statements from Wayne's two banks, published in today's Herald, reveal cash resources of more than five million dollars. That is an unprecedented showing. To approximate Wayne county's cash assets, add deposits in banks at Carroll, Winside and Hoskins, and also figure Wayne county citizens' deposits in banks just outside the boundary—in Wakefield, Laurel, Randolph, Norfolk, Stanton, Pilger, Wisner and Pender. Also should be included bond investments and cash carried around in everyday pantaloons. No doubt this county's cash resources are typical of those in other counties of the state. The problem will be to use this great surplus judiciously in steadying the economic order in postwar days.

Transportation of soldiers from the Atlantic to the Pacific is so great that restrictions on Pullman travel by civilians is found unavoidable. Trains are overtaxed and are unable to provide additional equipment. Civilians are invited not to use trains if they can possibly avoid doing so. Sticking close to home through vacation months is a necessity which most persons will practice. When the war is over and transportation facilities become available again, the traveling spirit may be encouraged to flourish with assurance of being accommodated.

Wayne's Century Aviation Company is looking out well to serve rural communities with air mail and passenger transportation in the postwar period, and it deserves all possible encouragement and support. Officers of the company are not burning red fire or making a lot of noise, but they are scoring certain progress, and their success will contribute liberally to Wayne and the neighboring area in the latest manner of conveyance. We wish them the large success they deserve, and in which communities hereabouts will share.

As between the fellow who smooths over every delinquency in public service, and with Pollyanna serenity sees no evil motives or threatening judgment anywhere, and the perennial kicker who picks flaws, often without reason, there is little choice from the standpoint of agreeableness and good taste, though the latter shows larger capacity to think and gives greater assurance of progress.

harty has been in government service here for 12 years. Sam Davenport, born at Elgin, Neb., and now one of the experts in the government psychological warfare division, last week gave his sixth pint of blood to the Red Cross blood bank. Colonel H. Arnold Kano of Lyons, Neb., one of the country's outstanding map makers for our army air services, has been in Washington several days conferring with the experts at the war department. His headquarters are at St. Louis, Mo. Lt. (ig) Harry Anderson of Norfolk, Neb., and Mrs. Anderson have been in Washington several days

GREAT BRITAIN. Americans against communism and for free enterprise are hoping returns will show victory for the conservative party under the leadership of Prime Minister Churchill. He led bravely in the war for British survival, and he deserves the support of liberty-loving Englishmen. But consistent with Churchill's democratic policies should be granted greater freedom to India—perhaps absolute independence—and greater concessions to other possessions that want to be relieved of foreign domination. The United States had agreed to get out of the Philippines and would have done so if the war had not come. According to Leland Stowe's story of unhappy India, English rule in that country has not proved enough of a success to justify its maintenance. The very idea of individual liberties manifested by the Churchill philosophy should be consistently carried out in dealing with foreign subject peoples. Great Britain would no doubt be as relieved to get rid of responsibility of foreign government in the future as it was glad years afterward in reluctantly surrendering the American colonies.

enroute to Jacksonville, Fla., where he will instruct flight trainees in the landing of planes on carrier flight decks. While here, Lt. and Mrs. Anderson visited the parents of the late Lt. Hawkins who was killed in the Pacific while endeavoring to land on a carrier during action. Lt. Anderson and Lt. Hawkins were buddies. Lt. Hawkins was killed eight months ago.

Doris Duke Cromwell, the millionaire heiress, is in Italy. She is asking the state department to extend her passport six months. The state department says that she is in Europe irregularly and ought to come back home. She claims that she is now writing articles for American newspapers, but the record shows that she is not a bona fide news writer. She is endeavoring through influential friends to force the state department to supply her with a passport extension.

The man who represents the California Redwood Association in Washington sees very little relief in the lumber situation until more experienced men are brought into the forests to cut down the trees. His association is endeavoring to secure the discharge of soldiers who are experienced lumber men in order to get more lumber for the American public.

The southern democrats are in the saddle again. Most of the big government jobs are held by people rated as southerners. This includes the president, the speaker of the house, president pro tem of the senate, cabinet members and chairmen of important committees of the house and the senate.

Rye which rose from 65c to $1.67 a bushel is the topic of serious debate in congress. It is claimed that people in high places have made millions of dollars speculating in rye. Just who is responsible for cornering the rye market is not yet known, but certain names are being discussed "off the record." Members who have been fighting against profiteering in war are demanding that an early investigation be made and the public be given the full story.

On Saturday, June 20, a large number of federal offices closed because of the heat. Many of these offices are not air conditioned. Numerous heat prostrations have been reported in the District of Columbia area.

Dr. Wm. Hale of the Dow Chemical company informed the Third district office that in his opinion, the reported sale of the Omaha alcohol plant will not mean that the black-strap molasses trust will get control of the plant. He pre-

MILITARY TRAINING. Town Hall of the Air's discussion of compulsory military training Thursday night could satisfy both those for and against it. Speakers urging this form of preparedness brought to their support military leaders who believe it is essential to security. Opponents expressed the conviction that the training proposed would build a huge military machine like that in countries which we have been fighting. They think it would diffuse the military spirit, destroy initiative, and be a constant threat to peace. They would have due training in schools and colleges incidental to educational courses. This they think would preserve democratic institutions and avoid the dangers of militarism. All speakers were eager to build safe ground on which to base a superstructure of permanent peace. One side thought it could be done more effectually through enforced military training; the other side was just as insistent that it could be accomplished better through maintenance of free individualism. Boys who have learned to think for themselves are believed to make better soldiers in an emergency than those in countries where individuals are mere cogs in a great military machine.

dicts that the plant will be expanded and grain products used in the manufacture of alcohol. He also predicted that another alcohol plant using grain products will be constructed at yet unnamed place in Nebraska.

The senate chamber was crowded to the doors and galleries were packed when President Truman appeared to present to the senate the original copy of the "Charter of Nations" which he personally brought from the San Francisco conference. His address was short. He stated that the charter was signed by the representatives of 50 nations, that it was not perfect, but that it represented the careful deliberation of the conference and afforded a basis for peace between nations. He stated that it was the only charter which was possible, and that it would have to be ratified by the senate in its present form or there would be no pact of nations for avoiding war in the future. It alone will not insure peace, but it affords a basis or foundation for keeping nations out of war.

The senate committee on foreign relations is ready to open hearings on the charter. Unlike the "League of Nations" agreement submitted to the senate by President Wilson, 26 years ago, there seems to be no organized opposition to the ratification of the charter. Following senate committee hearings, debate will shift to the senate floor and vote in that body is expected by early August. Several months may elapse before the charter is passed upon by the other 49 nations to which it will be presented for acceptance.

For the first time in history, government spending passed the one-hundred-billion-dollar mark in the fiscal year just closed, exceeding that amount by $30 million. Revenues were also record breaking, $46 billion. The deficit for the year was covered by bond sales and other loans. The amount of $54 billion as the national debt soared to new levels.

The heavy spending included $50 billion for the army, $30 billion for the navy and $10 billion for the merchant marine, war shipping, etc., including Suez canal tolls, port charges abroad and other items running into millions, but relatively small as compared to the total, yet big enough to have been important. Lend-lease also came in for more than $10 billion. The building of merchant ships to add to our ocean fleet which even now is greater than the tonnage of all the rest of the world, will continue until 1946. The disposal of surplus merchant shipping after the war is already a serious problem between American ocean lines and those of foreign countries, all of which want big bargains at the expense of the American taxpayers.

Investigations are coming thick and fast, and for months to come, war contracts and expenditures will be probed. One complaint recently made public was that merchant vessels in government service were dumping surplus food supplies on their return trips to load up with fresh goods before starting out again. The extent of the practice remains to be determined.

There are five investigations, now in progress of the charges of graft and inefficiency in the building of portions of the Pan-American highway in Central America, a war project intended to provide a highway to the Panama canal. Both senate and house committees are busy with this investigation, while the war department, treasury and FBI are also busy. Some portions of the highway have been completed at reasonable cost, but there are gaps of hundreds of miles which make the project useless for war purposes. It is said that the contractors who failed miserably to build the roadway seem to have been paying their own coffers with government gold. Their fee for the work was supposed to have been $4 million, but by various schemes well-known to grafters, their profits may have been as much as $40 million. Their contracts were let by the war department which was supposed to have supervised their operations.

The Bretton Woods bill still is before congress, subject to amendments in the senate. Many will remember the enormous propaganda for the measure, which was started by government releases early in January, which constantly increased intensity until late in May. It was claimed to be a "must" measure which had to be passed "without amendment" before the San Francisco conference, as a guarantee of good faith to that conference and the world. It was passed out of the house banking and currency committee with perfecting amendments in May. The amendments were deemed right and proper when the house passed the bill by an almost unanimous vote. Then the bill went to a senate committee, and the propaganda almost stopped. The Charter of Nations was adopted and the San Francisco conference adjourned sine die. The senate still has the bill. Not a single nation of the 44 represented at the Bretton Woods conference has approved the measure. But the propaganda seems to have subsided completely.

Washington, D. C. June 28, 1945 The Washington national airport, the result of filling in an undated area of 690 acres by dredging the bed of the Potomac river, costing the taxpayers 17 million dollars, will fall within exclusive jurisdiction of the federal government if the senate approves the bill passed by the house recently. The bill settles the 150-year old District of Columbia-Virginia boundary line dispute. Virginians endeavored to get the airport ceded to Virginia. The Third district member led the fight to keep the title in the government of the United States.

The house plans to recess around July 20 and possibly until October 1.

Representative Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, who, following the first of July, will be secretary of agriculture, was influential in the house adoption of amendments to the resolution to extend the emergency price control act and with it, the office of price administration. His presence on the house floor when the resolution was being debated changed many democratic votes. If the senate goes along with the house on amendments which the house adopted, it is believed that much of the chaos and inefficiency of the OPA will be eliminated.

The sugar shortage in this country is serious. It is predicted that the situation will be worse next year. The reason is that we could use over 8 million tons of sugar of all kinds this year, but we can count on only a little more than 6 million tons. New deal planners are being blamed for this sugar shortage. Cuba is the biggest single cane sugar producer. The Cubans in 1943 wanted to plant at their own risk a cane acreage that would produce 5 million tons of sugar. That was capacity production. They wanted to store a lot of sugar for a time when we would need it because we are their best customers. It is charged now that the Washington planners wouldn't let the Cubans do that, so they planted only about 60 per cent of capacity acreage. There is a drought in Cuba and new planting is almost impossible. Now the housewife is going to have great difficulty in securing enough sugar to can fruits and vegetables.

The federal government has about 2,200 bureaus and commissions, many overlapping and duplicating. President Truman has asked congress for authorization to remodel and consolidate executive agencies for "a more business-like and efficient administration." Congress will undoubtedly give the president that power because there is a determination on the part of congress to curtail, reduce and consolidate government agencies in the interest of orderly, more efficient and more economical administration.

The house select committee on post-war military policy has reached that stage in its public hearings where the question of compulsory peace-time military training is under examination. Officials of the war, navy and state departments have appeared before the committee to advocate such training. Religious and educational organizations and the Parent-Teachers association are in opposition.

The house passed the bill to make appropriations for the military establishment in the war department for the fiscal year 1946. The amount carried in the bill exceeded $3 billion dollars, mostly for prosecution of the war against Japan.

The second deficiency appropriation bill for 1945 amounting to 3 billion 151 million dollars, was passed by the house and sent to the senate. This total of supplemental appropriations is distributed among many federal agencies. Additional funds for the rural electrification administration are provided in it.

The Nebraska delegation has joined the North Dakota delegation in a new campaign to get lumber into the middlewest. The delegation has called attention to the fact that millions of feet of lumber and fabricated houses are being sent to England. Although expressing sympathy for the Europeans whose homes have been destroyed during the war, the Nebraska delegation argues that while helping foreigners, our government should not forget the needs of our own people.

During the debate on the second deficiency bill, the southern block attempted to eliminate safeguards for the farmer who milks cows. The farm district members were able to defeat the anti-butter amendment. Over 99 million pounds of butter have been shipped to foreign countries via lend-lease. Russians have been demanding butter instead of oleo. Demands are being made to get more butter to the people of America. For many weeks it has been difficult to purchase butter in Washington. Hotels and restaurants do not serve it. Housewives here complain that they do not have enough points to buy both butter and meat.

It is expected that at least half a hundred members of congress will be in Europe during the next two or three months. The British have been inviting quite a few of the legislators to be their guests in Europe, and some of our government officials have announced that it is very important that members of the house and senate see the overseas results of the war.

About a thousand refugees were brought to this country about a year ago and placed in a camp in one of the New England states with the promise that when the war in Europe was over they would go back home. A bill has now been introduced to allow them to stay in the United States permanently.

Plan to Inspect Grain Test Plot

All Interested in Grain Varieties Are Invited To Gathje Farm.

Farmers, grain men and others interested are invited to the out-estate small grain test plot on the Ed. Gathje farm four miles south of Wayne Friday evening, July 13, at 7:30 when Dr. K. S. Quisenberry of the Nebraska experiment station, and J. C. Swinbank of the Nebraska Grain Improvement association, will be on hand to explain the outstanding points about various varieties. Samples of 1944 oats, submitted last spring by 100 farmers from Wayne, Cedar and Thurston counties, are growing in the plot. Dr. Quisenberry will explain how he has classified these. The oats are growing adjacent to 24 check varieties provided by the Nebraska experiment station for comparison.

The check varieties included in the plot are Credit, Boone, Tama, Marion, Rheinland, Victoria, Trojan, Alaska, Burt, Erban, Otis, Vanguard, Iogold, Nebraska 31, Gopher, Kanota, Fulton, Brunker, Vikota, Clinton, Ajax, Green Russian Rainbow, Green Russian Iogren and Albion. Each farmer who has submitted oats sample for the test plot can find a pure strain of his own variety in the check plot for comparison. Occasionally a farmer is found growing oats classified under the wrong name or he may have a mixture of varieties. County Agent W. R. Harder says that the test plot affords good opportunity to check his oats with those of neighbors and with pure samples properly identified.

Almost every precinct in Wayne county is represented by oats samples so that the plots will indicate pretty well the type commonly grown in all parts of Wayne county. The same is true of Cedar and Thurston county varieties.

Have Varieties in Plot

Wayne county farmers having oats varieties in the test plot are: Emil Luth, Fremont Lubberstedt, Ben Nassen, Ed. Grubb, Henry Claus, Albert Watson, Emil Barcliman, Shirley Sprague and Wm. E. VonSeggern of Wayne; Leland Waller, Fred Bright and T. P. Roberts of Winside; L. W. Street, Lloyd Morris, Rudolph Vlasak and David Rees of Carroll; Riley Isom of Sholes; Kling Brothers and Ernest Strate, Jr., of Hoskins; Mortenson Brothers and Carl Anderson of Wakefield.

Farmers from Cedar county include: Leslie Miller, John Hash, Nick Olson, Frank J. Becker, Mark Wieseler, Charles A. Carlson, Hugo Feilmeier, John Feilmeier, Raymond Blatchford, Anton, Schulte, Blaine Hummel, J. W. Christensen and Ed. J. Sudbeck of Hartington; G. B. Miner, Harold Hoogner and Curtis Crandall of Laurel; Joe Wieseler of Wynot; Harry A. McDonald and George Coulter of Randolph; Harry Griess, of Belden; Willie Hansen, LeRoy Lewon and Alfred Wilkerson of Coleridge.

Farmers from Thurston county are: R. C. Tremayne, Geo. Crom, R. G. Duffin, D. A. McQuistan, Ed. Murphy, Clarence Lindgren, H. H. Fuller, Fred Early, James D. Hance and Lloyd Ruge of Walthill; Siman Madison of Wannabago; Harvey Doggett, George Busselman and John Holmberg of Rosalie; Frank Sabucky, Sr., of Emerson; Wallace Malmberg, H. H. Clausen, Herman Rink, E. L. Coleman, Wallace Malmberg, Sam Larson and Wilbur Mayberry of Pender; Frank Sherwood of Macy; Clarence Pierce of Decatur; Otto Holman of Thurston.

Each farmer's own variety is identified by a number that he can secure from the county agent if he has not received his identification number by mail.

Encourage Best Types

The farmers' oats test plots are made available by the Nebraska Grain Improvement association and the state experiment station in order to encourage the growing of the most productive type and variety of oats in Nebraska.

In addition to the farmers' test

Independence Day Has Meaning Here

Dr. M. H. Hanawalt, in addressing students and faculty of the college at convocation Wednesday last week on the subject, "July Fourth," stated that "America, for the fourth consecutive time, observed the anniversary of her national independence while a major war is in progress. The tragedy of war has taken the spirit of celebration out of the hearts of many Americans."

Dr. Hanawalt stated that "some-day soon, that old Fourth will return, let us hope, without some of its less desirable aspects. But let us also hope that a touch of the seriousness, the soberness, the thoughtfulness of these war-time Fourth-of-July's will remain too."

Dr. Hanawalt went on to say that the real significance of Independence day came to him in 1937 when he spent the day in Scotland at a little hotel far up on the banks of Loch Lomond. "Unthinkingly I had vaguely expected the normal things such as fireworks, flags, picnics, celebrations, long-winded speakers. Then I realized I was in a part of the British empire, and you know, while we win our war of independence, England lost it. This meant, above all else, that because I was an American, the day had a deep and meaningful significance to me that it could never have to a citizen of any other country, especially to a citizen of Great Britain."

"The present war," continued Dr. Hanawalt, "has been pathetically conducive to shaking us out of the lethargy into which we had fallen in regard to the meaning of patriotism and of patriotic things. At least it has been for the boys who have fought for the preservation of our national values."

"All these things make us think that this is our native country, the land of the noble free, the land where a man is noble not because he is born in a family of the nobility, but because he is born in freedom."

LOCAL NEWS

Miss Mildred Ringer of Omaha, spent the week-end here.

Mrs. Chester Jensen, Sharon Kay and Gary of Lincoln, came Friday to spend 10 days in the Ivar Jensen home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nyberg of Yankton, plan to come next Sunday for their sons, Jimmie and David, who are spending this week with their grandmother, Mrs. Aug. Nyberg, and aunt, Mrs. E. R. Love.

The plot, the experiment station has a series of experimental barley and oat test plots on the Gathje farm. These are grown to furnish more detailed data on the various varieties of oats and barley that may be adaptable to northeast Nebraska. These samples are harvested to determine comparative yield and test weight of the grain over a period of years. Other data of experimental value is also collected on these plots. The oat varieties grown in the experimental plots this year are Kherson, Otoo, Cedar, Tama, Osage, Boone, Clinton, Marion, Vieland, Vikota, Gopher, Erban and Vanguard.

The barley varieties grown are Velvon, Velvon II, Spartan, Hybrid Composite 7114, Trebi, Ezond, Mars, Wisconsin 38, Tregal and S. D. 385. You will note that two of the barley varieties are new and have not been named as their production value has not been definitely determined to date.

Other Plots Are Here

Hybrid corn test plots are also planted this season on the Ed. Gathje farm south of Wayne and on the Herbert Perry farm at the southeast edge of town. A soybean variety test plot is located on the Perry farm. These plots will have very little observational value until late summer or fall.

The July passenger tire quota for 29 counties in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota has been increased by 1,694, according to M. E. Rawlings of the district OPA office in Sioux City. Surpass Quota In Seventh Loan

Wayne County Among First To Reach Goal Fixed In Recent Drive.

Nebraska went over the top in all sales categories of the 7th war loan Saturday, as "E" bond sales totaled $44,100,000, representing 102 per cent of the state's "E" quota.

Sales to individuals, including "E's," on Saturday totaled $79,200,000, or 122 per cent of Nebraska's individual quota.

Nebraskans purchased $177,900,000 of all types of securities during the 7th war loan, an all-time high for the state.

Forty of the 93 counties, including Wayne, exceeded their "E" quotas by Saturday, and 27 other counties were 95 per cent. When final drive figures are released, practically all counties will be over the top.

In recognition of the fact that Nebraska was among the first 10 states in the nation to reach its "E" bond quota, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., sent the following telegram Saturday to Dale Clark, chairman of the Nebraska war finance committee: "I wish to recognize with deep appreciation the outstanding record made by Nebraska in reaching its 'E' bond quota and all other 7th war loan quotas. You and your co-workers and all of the people of your state have fulfilled a covenant with our fighting men and reaffirmed your faith in America."

"Nebraska's victory is due to the fine support which the people of every section of the state have given to the 35,000 volunteer solicitors enrolled in the 93 individual county war finance committees," said State Chairman Clark. "Nebraska has shown again in a concrete way her desire to support our fighting men until the day when final victory is won."

The July 7 report of Chairman W. C. Coryell showed Wayne county with $299,122 in "E" bonds or 112 per cent of the quota and $592,622 in total individual sales or 125 per cent of the quota.

Dixon county had July 7 $227,945 in "E" bonds or 95 per cent of its quota and $297,545 in individual sales or 73 per cent.

Total sales in Wayne county July 7 were $730,291 or 148 per cent of the $492,000 quota. On the same day Dixon county had $417,499 or 102 per cent of its $409,500 quota.

Library News

Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, "Each age, it is found, must write its own books; or rather each generation for the next succeeding. The books of an older period will not fit this." Most thoughtful readers are bewildered by the type of fiction coming from our authors today. Many are saturated with books about the war and no longer care to read about it. The magazine stories seem like so much trash and usually are how much of all this tells the story of our generation for the generations to come? Perhaps the books about the war are the only ones which will really live and be read by the generations of the future because we are living in this age of war. While perhaps we would like to escape it if we could and so do not care to read about it, our ancestors will turn to these books for their history, romantic adventure and political guidance. They will want to read them just as we today read about the Civil war, the Revolution and the Spanish American war. The trivial fiction to which we turn today for escape, will be as dead in 50 years as Geo. Barr McCutcheon or Gene Stratton Porter. And that, we believe, will be a good thing.

Penhollow Brothers Have Long Sea Record

Murray and Jack Penhollow, both boatswains, the former with seven years of navy service and the latter nearly six years, sons of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Penhollow of Norfolk and formerly of Wayne, are now in command of their own vessels. Murray is somewhere in the Pacific and Jack is in charge of the largest tug attached to the supply depot at Oakland, Cal.

The brothers began as signalmen. Murray has been on sea duty almost constantly, having had only two leaves during the seven years. At the time of Pearl Harbor Murray was aboard the California, which was sunk. He was reported missing by the navy department but a month later he turned up. After his ship was lost, he volunteered to help on other ships and the navy thus lost track of him temporarily. Jack, who entered the navy on his 18th birthday, had requested duty in the California with his brother and he did serve on that ship two years. However, at the time of Pearl Harbor Jack had been transferred to another ship and was headed for China aboard the Pensacola. He was moved to the Maribeauc which was later brought back to the states for repairs.

When the Dutch ship, the Deruter, was badly in need of signalmen, Jack and three others volunteered and the Dutch vessel was sunk the following day in the Pacific. Jack was lost to the navy for about three months. He had been picked up by an American submarine, and the submarine crew asked that he remain with that crew, which he did for three years. Jack's ship is now the USS Arizaca of which he was recently given command. Both Murray and Jack are married. Murray's wife is a nurse and lives in Long Beach. Jack's wife and twin sons, Jimmie and Jackie, live in San Diego and expect to move to Oakland as soon as housing can be secured.

While serving with TCC, he was awarded the European-African-Middle East ribbon with six bronze battle stars and the distinguished unit badge with one oak leaf cluster. Because of its strategic location as an aerial cross-roads, Trinidad is playing an important role in the redeployment of military personnel from Europe to the United States. A-47 transports, stationed at Trinidad, will carry the fighting Yanks on the last leg of their homeward journey.

Failure to meet requirements will result in loss of your privilege to drive!

IGNORANCE OF THE LAW NO EXCUSE

HOW THE LAW AFFECTS YOU UNDER this new Nebraska law, you will lose your driver's license (and automobile registration if you are driving your own car) the first time you have an accident resulting in bodily injury to or death of another person or damage to the property of another of over $50.00.

UNLESS you can satisfy the Department of Roads and Irrigation that the liability resulting from such accident is insured, or IF NOT so insured, unless you can give security to the Department of Roads and Irrigation sufficient in the opinion of the department to satisfy any resulting judgments.

The Law Also Applies IF YOU fail to pay, within 60 days, any final judgment for bodily injury or death or for property damage, or if you are convicted of violation of certain provisions of the Motor Vehicle law, and fail to give proof of your financial responsibility for future accidents.

SECURITY AND FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY Security following an accident shall be an amount up to $11,000, and proof of financial responsibility must be for $11,000.

THE ECONOMICAL WAY TO PROTECT YOURSELF Don't take a chance, just because you may be driving less.

Just one accident can do the damage! So protect yourself. The safest and most economical way for you to meet the requirements of the new law is to carry the right kind of Automobile insurance in a company licensed to do business in Nebraska. The best company to get it from is The Travelers.

WHY INSURE IN THE TRAVELERS? 1. The Travelers since 1898 has protected more car owners than any other company. This experience is valuable to you. 2. Many Travelers representatives are located in Nebraska to help you in case of an automobile accident. There are many more in neighboring states. # Proposes Priority Given to Children

Unruly Boys Are Invited To Plan Services for Church in Ogden.

A bill to "encourage the raising of children instead of dogs" was introduced in the Missouri senate at Jefferson City by Senator H. R. Williams of Cassville, republican floor leader. Under the measure, landlords would have their licenses revoked if they barred children while allowing dogs on the premises. Any child could sue for $5,000 liquidated damages if his parents could show that a dog had priority over the child.

Traffic signs printed in Russian have appeared beneath English language signs on the ramps leading to a viaduct near Harbor Island, Seattle. City Traffic Engineer J. W. A. Bollong explained that sailors of Russian ships have been having trouble with American traffic.

Fifteen boys, 10 to 11, became zealous Latter Day Saints church workers at Ogden, Utah, after once describing themselves as "nuisances." As a reward for good behavior they were invited by church officials to prepare a Sunday service. The boys invited Geo. Albert Smith of Salt Lake City, president of the Mormon church, to speak at "their" church. He accepted.

TWA officials at Kansas City discovered a shortage of women when making arrangements to entertain Prince Abdil Iah, regent of Iraq, so they invited several of their best looking secretaries. The girls were coached on how to act before royalty. One of the girls, after waiting through a belated and very formal introduction, shot out a hand at the prince, and said, "Hi, Toots!" much to his delight.

Rev. James L. Dial, pastor of the Havana, Ill., Christian church, not only performed the wedding ceremony for Marine Pfc. Russell

Petty, 23, and Lois Marie Engelke, 18, but he made possible their wedding cake. When a check of relatives of the couple disclosed there was no sugar available to make the cake, Rev. M. Dial lent the newlyweds three pounds.

Capt. James R. Gardner of the army air corps batted 1,000 in guessing the date he would be home in Bloomington, Ill., from Europe. Several months ago he wrote his wife and told her he would be home to help her celebrate their 2nd wedding anniversary on June 26. He kept his date, arriving at 7 p. m., on the date promised, after 10 months overseas, his second trip.

One young Denver matron knows how to make every minute count. Homeward-bound on a crowded streetcar, she diligently shelled garden peas, putting the peas into a paper bag. The pods? Just tossed them on the floor.

At Los Angeles, Royal Zehner, 44, was glad to see the two policemen, even though they did arrest him on suspicion of burglary. Three women occupants caught him in a house, pulled off his coat, knocked him down and sat on him until the officers arrived. Gaspard Zehner to the police: "It was pretty awful until you came."

"It didn't seem possible that poles so far apart would carry wires," Jack Adams, 27, of Riverside, Cal., said when he emerged unscathed from a plane crash at Twin Falls, Idaho. He had been flying a few feet above the ground spreading insecticide over pea, bean and alfalfa fields when his plane struck a telephone line and was demolished.

An army air corps veteran at the launching of the troopship Ernest Pyle at Vancouver, Wash., didn't know why two bottles of champagne are always used. Shipbuilder Edgar Kaiser explained one is for the sponsor and one in case she misses. "But the sponsor didn't miss," the veteran said hopefully. Mr. Kaiser caught on and the airman got the bottle.

The Chicago bandit who held up the cashier at the Highway theatre on South Western avenue was a silent operator. A note he pushed into the ticket window to Mrs. Aileen Bishop read, "Hand over the money; don't talk." Mrs. Bishop handed him $125 and screamed after the gunman fled.

John Girard of Kansas, had ants in his house, "big, fat black ones." He lighted three sulphur candles in various parts of the house and left to watch a neighbor build a boat. Later, a passing motorist discovered the house afire. Firemen estimated the damage at $700. Everyone was smoked out but the ants.

From somewhere in the south Pacific Municipal Judge Louis W. Kaufman of Los Angeles received this letter from Navy Seaman Duncan D. Underhill: "I was fined $3 while on furlough in May, 1944, for a traffic violation. You gave me time to settle up. Enclosed find the money and interest." The "interest" was three Japanese bills.

Emiel Soldan's victory garden at Chicago is sprouting a widely known but timely message. Mr. Soldan, who is blind, has arranged the vegetables so that they spell out the words, "Buy Bonds."

Lee Kios, Spokane, Wash., electronics engineer, says priorities are holding up manufacture of his "pigeon whistle." Lack of one small part has prevented him from installing the device on the Spokane county court house to keep away pigeons. He says a church in Chicago, a court house in Chillicothe, O., and orchardists also want to buy it. The device is a high frequency oscillator resembling a small radio which lets out whistle that cannot be heard by human ears. Mr. Kios says it can be adjusted to disturb cats, rodents and dogs as well as pigeons.

TOWN AND FARM WOMEN BEATING CITY FOLKS AT FAT SAVING

Our government knows that city women have done an outstanding job saving used fats—but, now that you town and farm women have rolled up your sleeves, you are providing more used fats per kitchen than any other group in the U. S. Keep it up! 100,000,000 more pounds of used fats are needed this year to help make vital war supplies. Without your record savings, we'll never make that quota.

Save every drop! Remember, it's the small amounts that fill the pings, drippings, scrapings, and fat scraps melted down. Your butcher will give you 2 red points and up to 4 a pound. If you have any difficulty, call your Home Demonstration or County Agent. Approved by WPA and OPA. Paid for by industry.
