

Course Introduced in State Teachers College — To Serve Newspaper-Hungry Soldiers — Values in Individualism — Preventing Accidents — Bouquet to Middle West.

Launching the Smith-Hughes agriculture and home economics plan in the State Teachers college, as initiated at a late meeting of the state board, promises a practical solution of some vital educational problems. This especially presents a useful program for returned soldiers who have missed schooling in the war period. With practical ends, the training will doubtless be turned to large advantage.

The Smith-Hughes course satisfies any demand the city high school may have felt. While aiming at a proper objective in serving postwar demands, it will prove a source of economy to the local district. The plan will strengthen the college as it benefits northeast Nebraska. Wayne will be helped accordingly.

Newsletters Overseas. Immediately following the surrender of Germany, the Herald discontinued all copies sent to Wayne county armed forces overseas and published an announcement to that effect, urging wives and parents of men to dispatch copies of the paper by first class mail or clip what could be sent by air mail.

Changes of addresses and the frequent impossibility of reaching those addressed prompted the action. In the intervening time the postal department placed additional restrictions on use of the second class privilege. Subscriptions have to be initiated by written requests from recipients and have to be paid for with a complete record available for inspection by postal authorities. Even if this plan were followed, there would be no assurance that papers would ever reach their intended destinations.

Many relatives of boys abroad have agreed with us that the only way to serve them promptly is to take their copies and mail them first class. This costs 12 cents. Certainty and speed in delivery make this plan the only feasible one through the rest of the war period in view of multiplying changes and overloaded shipping.

Wherever boys are stationed, whether overseas or in this country, they should receive copies of the home paper if they desire it, and we are glad to be informed that relatives generally have adopted this practice made advisable by the government's revised regulations.

Herald copies are still going to Wayne county's boys in this country, but how long this service continues depends on any future changes in government regulations. Transportation is a problem, and use of first class mail to carry clippings of interest may be a coming solution.

Government Controls. What part the federal government should take in guaranteeing postwar employment was discussed by some of the country's ablest thinkers in the Town Meeting of the Air program Thursday night. How far the government should go in shouldering responsibilities that belong to individuals and that are essential to initiative and to the development of strongest human fiber was considered. Government paternalism suggests government dictatorship with individualism lost in the scramble for benefits without returned effort. Too many government subsidies and controls are reminiscent of weakening WPA leaf-making and the joyfully pursued road to ruin in some foreign countries.

In listening, we were partial to arguments supporting private enterprise and to rekindling the fires of individual independence. Speakers favoring an over-all federal rationing policy did not clearly differentiate between necessary and unnecessary government functions.

Farm Safety Week. We note that the week of July 22 to 28 has been set apart as "farm safety week," an evident endeavor to make workers with machinery more accident-conscious. With full realization of the dangers involved in running machines, with no intervals of suspended thinking, most accidents could be prevented. They are usually the result of careless disregard of what may happen. So, to arouse attention to the importance of unremitting care, a week has been designated to stress the farm accident subject.

Surpassing Middle West. Ward Reynolds, one of the top students in the Wayne State Teachers college a few years ago, said on his recent visit here that more he has seen in other parts of the world, the more highly he thinks of the middle west. He is an instructor in the navy, and his experience has brought him in contact with a diversity of peoples and conditions. In contrast, the simplicity and genuineness of the (Continued on Page Four)

Help Improve Grain Through Test Plots

Planting Shows Additional Revenue to Be Gained In Best Varieties

State test plots are proving to northeast Nebraskans the importance of growing high quality grains that are in demand for food and that bring greatest financial returns. Figures compiled at the test plot on the Ed. Gathje farm south of Wayne show that farmers of Cedar, Thurston and Wayne counties could have realized $865,000 more from their oats crop in 1944 if they had planted improved, adaptable varieties.

More than 200 gathered at the Gathje farm Friday evening for the demonstration conducted by the state extension service and the Nebraska Crop Growers' association in cooperation with Wayne Chamber of Commerce.

Wayne County Agent W. R. Harder, president, Dr. K. S. Quisenberry, U. S. D. A. plant breeder at the Lincoln experiment station, explained characteristics in the oats yield test and also graded the farmer samples. Oran Webster of the Nebraska experiment station, discussed barley variety yield test. G. T. Webster, in charge of Nebraska oat-state crop testing, explained tests being made in various regions of the state. The two Websters are brothers of Jason Webster of Wayne. J. C. Swinbank of the Nebraska Grain Improvement association, discussed the importance of using adapted varieties, eliminating barley mixtures and otherwise maintaining high quality grain for market.

The plot on the Gathje farm is one of 12 oat-state crops testing centers conducted by the experiment station. This planting has oats variety test, barley variety tests, corn, soybeans, all being compared for yield to see which perform best over a period of years in this area. Also at the plot are a number of strains of barley that are still in the experimental stage.

Wayne Gunner Among Six Saved from Damaged Ship

Four Fliers Lose Lives as Bomber Explodes Over Target Near Berlin.

Four lost their lives and six bailed to safety March 15 when the B-17 on which S. Sgt. Paul Harrington served as tail gunner was damaged by enemy flak on a mission to Oranienburg, a suburb about 18 miles northwest of Berlin. The pilot, co-pilot, navigator and bombardier were killed when the ship exploded in mid air after the plane was put out of commission by flak that disabled No. 3 engine. Six bailed to safety before the explosion, and the Wayne youth was one of these. Alfred Dick of Hooper, is the only one of the six who was injured. He was severely burned in an oxygen fire, but is now home and recovering nicely.

Members Invited To Judging School

A general livestock and dairy judging school for 4-H members in Wayne and adjacent counties will be held at Wayne, July 31. This school will be held from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. with William Derrick, extension animal husbandryman, and M. N. Lauritsen, extension dairyman and various county agents cooperating. Leaders and members of the various livestock clubs are urged to plan their work as far as possible so they can attend the school. The selection of livestock is a very important feature in livestock production.

OATS COME UP IN POPULAR RESPECT FOLLOWING TESTS

THE HUMBLE oat is receiving deservedly increased attention. It was one of the small grain varieties to which state test plots have been devoted on ground south of Wayne. The purpose of the tests is to prove adaptable kinds. Keeping barley from imposing on oats and mixing the crop is important. It is reliably reported that northeast Nebraska excels in oat production, and that Cedar, Knox and Wayne counties rank in the order named. It is found the selection of right kinds of seed is vital to larger yields and greater cash returns. Development of quality and quantity in oat crops might reasonably be an inducement to the Quaker Oats company to operate a branch factory in this largest producing area. That company could furnish a profitable outlet for a crop which has not been in the past a wonderful money maker. Testing for adaptability extends experience and leads to better values.

Passes Suddenly Early Thursday

Rites for George Kabisch Are Conducted Sunday At Local Church.

George W. Kabisch, nearly 47, passed away suddenly at his farm home southeast of Wayne at 2:45 Thursday morning. He had been ill with diabetes for some time, but had continued his farming operations even the day before his passing. It is found the selection of right kinds of seed is vital to larger yields and greater cash returns. Development of quality and quantity in oat crops might reasonably be an inducement to the Quaker Oats company to operate a branch factory in this largest producing area. That company could furnish a profitable outlet for a crop which has not been in the past a wonderful money maker. Testing for adaptability extends experience and leads to better values.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Methodist church with Dr. Victor West officiating. Prof. Russell Anderson sang "Abide with Me" and "Crossing the Bar." Mrs. John T. Bressler, Jr., was organist. Burial was in Greenwood cemetery with Beckenhauer mortuary in charge.

WAYNE BOY SCORES HIGH IN FIELD OF AMERICAN BANKING

CONGRATULATIONS to Joe Ringland, a former Wayne boy who has scored high in American banking circles. Step by step he rose to greater responsibilities until last week he was elected president of the Northwestern National Bank of Minneapolis. He is remembered as a rather serious-minded young fellow who was wholly free from pretense. He was not outstanding in football or other high school or college sports. He was deeply in earnest, and he made time count. His late father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Ringland, would be justly proud of him. Wayneites are pleased to note his steady rise to banking prominence — properly buoyed by reflected light originating here. Wayne boys who have gone out and attained important goals, are an inspiration to many others who have winning qualities and worthy ambition. Rural community products who have made good — and many have done so — testify to the excellent human values inherent in the wholesome hinterland.

Is Appreciating America After Prison Experience

Pfc. Howard Fleetwood of Wakefield, is more convinced than ever that America is a great country, for he is now enjoying a 30-day sick leave at home after seven months in a German war prison camp. The infantryman was a member of the 3rd division of the 7th army and was taken prisoner October 25, 1944, near LaFottli, France. He was on patrol duty when a Nazi rifle bullet penetrated his right groin. The young man was quite a distance from other members of the patrol and was taken prisoner before help could arrive. Pfc. Fleetwood's wife and baby son, who had made their home in Omaha during his absence, are with him in his parental Elmer Fleetwood home at Wakefield.

During the last weeks of internment in Germany, Pfc. Fleetwood helped distribute Red Cross parcels to other prison camps in that country. He was one of 50 Americans and 35 British volunteering to do this. International Red Cross headquarters were at Lubeck, Germany. American and Canadian trucks were used for delivery. The task was difficult for the men were subject to bombing and strafing by allied planes. The men were guarded at all times.

South Part of Wayne County And Elkhorn Valley Are Flooded for Time.

Torrential rains, which resulted in considerable washing, fell in this territory Monday afternoon. Heaviest amount was between 3 1/2 and 4 inches in Altona vicinity. Sharp lightning accompanied the rain. A haystack on the Ralph Beckenhauer farm 1/2 mile west of Wayne, a telephone pole about 1 1/2 miles north of Wayne, trees and other small articles were struck. Rainfall in Wayne Monday totaled 1.19 inches, according to the government gauge at the State National bank.

The storm began about 2:30 at Altona. The cloudburst struck the territory between Altona, West Point and Pilger. Omaha and Norfolk radio stations broadcast warnings to stock raisers in that area to move animals to higher ground. Cattle on the Diamond Kvoils farm 3 1/2 miles southeast of Altona, stood in deep water before they could be rescued. Earl Romberg, who farms near Altona, reported 4 inches of rain. At the Einung gravel pit 15 miles south of Wayne, 3 inches were recorded.

The beating rain downed and twisted fields of small grain, which will soon be ready to cut. A few fields of broom in this vicinity were also reported down. The moisture benefited the corn.

Star Is Awarded For Superior Duty

T5 Dale F. Meyer Member Of Battalion Making Unusual Record.

T5 Dale F. Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Meyer, is a member of Co. A of the 134th ordnance maintenance battalion which was recently awarded the star to the meritorious service unit plaque by the president. The citation accompanying the award stated it was made "for superior performance of duty and outstanding efficiency of operation in supporting the 12th armored division during the campaign in eastern France and western Germany."

The battalion was awarded the star for the period from December 1, 1944, to May 31, 1945, and was the first unit in the 12th armored division to receive such an award. The 134th was also the first unit in the 12th to be given the plaque.

The supreme test of the battalion came on March 18 when the division joined the 3rd army and plunged into the Saar region, and continued until May 5, when the division ended its campaign in central Europe with all enemy resistance at an end. The citation further states that "in all of this operation the battalion rendered such continuous and aggressive support that the division could make maximum progress, and its combat mission was materially enhanced."

THE KNOT-HOLE

Vol. 7 Wayne, Nebr., Thurs., July 19, 1945. No. 39

It is discovered that a school book in use in New York describes the Japs as "friendly, hearty, loving, alert, clean and intelligent people" - one of the longest typographical errors on record.

ent farms in Wayne, Thurston and Cedar counties are growing in the plot. These are being watched so that farmers may compare them. Each of the 100 samples was graded on its merits for seed purposes. In the grading the adaptability of the variety, its purity and freedom from barley mixtures were considered.

In Four Classes. The 100 samples were classified in four grades: A, varieties recommended for this area, free from barley and smut, including Cedar and Tama; B, varieties that are acceptable in this area, free from barley and including Boone, Marion, Vickland and Vikota; C, some of the older varieties that because of lower yields and susceptibility to oat rusts are not as desirable as those in other grades, in this class being Brunner, Trojan, Kanota, Gopher, Kherston, Columbia, Lo, gold and Nebraska 21; and D, those containing barley mixtures and unadapted varieties such as Erban, Legacy, Vanguard, Alaska and Cartier.

In the three-county test plot here, 8 per cent of the samples were of A grade, 35 per cent of B, 11 per cent of C and 46 per cent of D grade. In 35 per cent of the samples some barley was found. The other 11 in class D are varieties not adapted to this area.

Any of the A and B varieties are recommended as a good source of seed and are suitable for continuance. It is recommended that farmers having C and D grades change varieties or change seed.

Can Increase Revenue. In Cedar, Thurston and Wayne counties, represented at the test plot here, oats acreage in 1944 total 187,000. Tests in northeast Nebraska over a period of years have shown that improved varieties such as Cedar, Boone, Tama and Marion, have averaged seven bushels per acre more than the next highest varieties. On this basis, if the entire acreage had been planted to new, improved varieties, the extra production would have amounted to 1,300,000 bushels last year. At 66 cents per bushel, the revenue increase would have amounted to $865,000.

Last year 29 northeast counties had 1,232,000 acres of oats, which represents more than half of the entire state's acreage. Cedar county produces more oats than any other county with 96,500 acres. Knox is second with 86,470 and Wayne third with 56,740.

Improve in Year. This is the second year that oats tests have been conducted, though wheat plots have been planted for eight years. This phase is carried on by the Nebraska Crop Improvement association, and improvement is noted in one year's time. Last year, with tests on about the same number of samples, only 10 per cent of the samples were of improved varieties recommended for northeast Nebraska. This year 59 per cent are of the A and B grades, proving wonderful progress in a short time. Last year 50 per cent of the samples contained barley mixture and this year only 29 per cent did so.

The 200 samples in two test plots last year and this season prove that farmers are becoming variety conscious and are making definite improvement in oats quality. They are raising grain that is more acceptable for commercial buyers such as Quaker Oats and others.

The barley tests show that two varieties, Spartan and Velvon, are now recommended for this area. A new variety, Mars, is showing considerable promise but has not been tested long enough to make any definite recommendations. Plant breeders recognize the need for improved varieties of barley and are conducting an extensive program to find something better.

Democratic Type Of Training Wins

J. Arthur Nelson Credits Right Philosophy with Big Things Here.

A direct relationship exists between a standard of living and education and in this country enables Americans to accomplish big things. These are observations of J. Arthur Nelson of Omaha, principal of Central high school, president of the Nebraska State Educational association and Kiwanian, who spoke to Wayne Kiwanis club Monday.

Mr. Nelson, who was introduced by Dr. J. T. Anderson, stated that appreciation of the value of education has been increasing. The National Chamber of Commerce, in a study made about three years ago, arrived at these conclusions: First, a direct correlation exists between the standard of living and the number of years of education provided by the community; and second, more money can be spent wisely on education than in the past.

America has many complex problems to solve such as a large federal debt, the provision of 60 million jobs for post-war days, wastage of resources and juvenile delinquency. These should be solved by educated people, the speaker stated.

In England education was curtailed for a year during the war. Figures show that in that time, gangs and juvenile delinquency grew to such an extent that Prime Minister Winston Churchill told parliament that loss of schooling is one of the greatest costs of this war.

Mr. Nelson stressed that American public schools have done a fine job in pre-war training. In spite of a small amount of land and relatively small population, this nation took part in a two-front war, which is never desirable, and also carried on amphibious operations against foreign lands. Achievement has been remarkable and American schools are entitled to some credit for the success.

American youth are taught by the problem-solving method. In many instances during the war the place of an officer and has done so with great credit. "The American boy does not know the meaning of defeat." Education here opens the way for a person to occupy any position he is capable of filling.

Think Big and Do Big. "Americans think big and do big things," Mr. Nelson stated that this philosophy underlies both American and Russian armies, the two greatest of all times. Results are great because their philosophies are of big things. The chief difference between a Nazi and American, the speaker noted, is the difference in training. The Nazi is given the idea that he belongs to a master race. The American learns the principles of fair play. "Greater international understanding can result from education."

Former Nazi to Speak. Rev. Otto W. Henn of Osmond, Presbyterian minister, speaks to Kiwanis next Monday on "Germany after the War." Rev. Henn, a graduate of Heidelberg university, was formerly a Nazi storm trooper and is now a naturalized American citizen.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Griffith, jr., were in Sioux City Monday.

Fleetwood was moved by train to a hospital at Spremberg, Germany. He comments that medical care was fairly good. The infantryman was moved February 1, 1945, to a working camp with headquarters at III-B at Trottendorf, Germany. This camp was evacuated two weeks after Pfc. Fleetwood's arrival, as it was in the path of the advancing Russian armies.

March Long Distance. Transportation was not available when the working camp had to be evacuated, so Pfc. Fleetwood, along with 650 other prisoners, was forced to march 200 miles to Stalag VI-A, located near Ottendorf, Germany. The men marched about 20 miles each day, the journey taking three weeks. Nights were spent in barns or any other shelters along the route. The only food was bread, each loaf having to be divided among six men. Allied planes bombed the little band of foot travelers once, mistaking them for maois.

Volunteers to Help. The Wakefield man was in Stalag VI-A but a short time. Living conditions there were so bad that when volunteers to distribute Red Cross packages were sought, Pfc. Fleetwood decided he could fare no worse and offered his services. Pfc. Fleetwood made the trip from Stalag VI-A to Lubeck in a box car. Men were crowded into the cars. They received nothing but bread to eat on the week's journey. Each loaf had to be divided between six men. Allied air forces bombed and strafed the trains, not knowing allied prisoners were in the cars. The engine on the train on which Pfc. Fleetwood was traveling was knocked out and they had to wait a day while repairs were made.

Pfc. Fleetwood arrived at Lubeck the last week in March and began work with the International Red Cross headquarters. The men there received adequate food, for each of the helpers received a Red Cross package each four days. The young man did not witness any atrocities at any camps he visited, but hunger was evident among the internees. Red Cross packages are credited with saving many lives.

Uses Short Wave Radio. The larger German cities were badly destroyed by tons of bombs dumped on them. Lubeck was not destroyed, being declared an open city because of Red Cross headquarters. Pfc. Fleetwood was certain the German armies would have to surrender soon by the destruction he witnessed. He was able to keep abreast of the news by a short wave radio set he secured from German civilians by trading cigarettes.

After liberation May 2 by the British 2nd army, Pfc. Fleetwood was moved to Lüneburg, Germany. He was then flown to England. While in England he became ill with yellow jaundice and received hospital care. He was later moved to a hospital in Scotland. From there he was flown in a C-54 hospital plane to New York, the trip taking 26 hours. The young man was then flown to Winter general hospital at Topeka, Kan. After his 30-day sick leave, Pfc. Fleetwood will return to the hospital for further care. Since his liberation he has regained most of the 70 pounds lost while a prisoner.

The Wakefield man left for overseas duty in June, 1944. He landed at Naples, Italy, and was there till September 3, 1944, when he was moved to France. He wears the European theatre of operations ribbon, infantry combat badge and has been awarded the purple heart.

Another circular, "Converting Mowers Drawn Mowers into Power Mowers" can also be secured at the office.

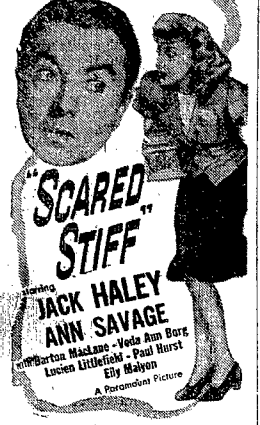

About 32,000 pounds of salvaged paper were shipped from West Point the week-end of July 7.

Richard Hunter Reported Lost

War Department Dispatch Says Officer Was on Jap Ship Sunk

Word from Washington war department to Mrs. Richard Grant Hunter of Chicago, tells that Lt. Col. Hunter was lost October 14, 1944, but the officer's mother, Mrs. W. A. Hunter, and other relatives here still believe that he is alive and that they will hear from him. The dispatch in the Chicago Tribune reads:

"Mrs. Richard Grant Hunter, 14 W. Elm street, has been notified from Washington, D. C., that her husband, Lt. Col. Hunter, artillery officer, went down October 14, 1944, when a Japanese ship with 1,775 U. S. prisoners of war aboard was sunk by an American submarine in the China sea 200 miles from the Chinese coast.

"The adjutant general's office wrote that the officer was not among five prisoners who escaped and four others picked up by the Japanese.

"Born December 1, 1886, in Wayne, Neb., Hunter became a regular army officer after World War I. From 1930 to 1936 he was a regular army instructor with the 124th field artillery in Chicago. In the Philippines Lt. Col. Hunter became a prisoner when Bataan fell. Mrs. Hunter said she received from him last January a card written in a Philippine prison camp in July, 1944. He asked that food be sent.

"Mrs. Hunter and son, Richard Grant, Jr., reside in Chicago.

Help for Harvest Will Be Placed

"Considerable harvest help for small grain harvest will be needed in Wayne county," states County Agent Walter R. Harder. The Wayne county war board composed of chairman, T. P. Roberts, triple A, Paul Evans, soil conservation service, Emil Dupsky, R.F.A., R. S. McGuire, farmer member, Walter R. Harder, county agent, recently suggested that various community and city groups in the county plan to assist with small grain harvest as far as their own work conditions will permit.

The county agent office will receive orders for farm help and will assist in placing work groups during the small grain harvest period. Farmers are urged to report their needs to the office at once. Leaders in charge of work groups are also urged to register at the county agent's office. An office assistant will be on duty from 8 until 5 to assist in placing the necessary harvest help.

T. S. Densel H. Moseman, son of Mrs. Dora J. Moseman of Emerson, has been awarded the bronze star for heroic achievement in action against the enemy June 6, 1944, in France. Although under fire he freed large trucks which had bogged down in the soft sands.

Troop 175 was represented by scouts from two patrols, the Flying Eagles and Beavers.

Several of the boys plan to attend Camp Cedars, the council camp, near Cedar Bluffs, July 29 to August 5, and some others from August 5 to 12. Lloyd A. DOWNPOUR MONDAY—highways were closed to travel Monday afternoon as the result of creeks overflowing. Sand creek overflowed northwest of Wisner and stopped travel on highway 275 for a time. Water spilled over the highway a mile east of Pilger for several hours and then subsided, leaving the pavement covered with debris. Plum Creek went on a rampage near Cresco and Bismarck and stopped traffic on highways 51 and 91 for at least 12 hours.

Rainfall at Carroll Monday afternoon was reported as 1.5 inches. The amount received six miles north of Carroll was very light. Creeks ran bank full Monday evening, but no flooding was reported. Some telephone service was interrupted.

Hartington reported no rain. The government gauge at Johnson's drug store in Wakefield, registered 1.10 inches of moisture Monday. The amount there as in other parts of the territory, fell in a short time.

The storm at Winside was similar to the one which struck Wakefield with about an inch of rain. Winsner reported 3.50 inches of rain between 2:70 and Pilger 1:85. The Reimer brothers south of West Point lost 400 turkeys due to the rain storm.

Nine head of cattle were killed Monday afternoon by lightning on the Jim Moles place south of Norfolk. A small tornado struck a farm six miles northeast of Platt Center. Hail damaged crops over a strip from Platt Center to a point two miles north of that town.

Other Rains Fall.

Rainfall in Wayne Friday evening was 20 inch according to the State bank gauge. A shower fell Sunday afternoon. Wakefield received .70 inch Friday evening. A railroad track washout occurred near Thurston early Tuesday morning. Flood waters caused this. The washout interrupted Emerson-Omaha train service.

Buses coming into Wayne Monday and Tuesday were not delayed by the storm. One bus was late because of engine trouble, but this was not attributed to the rain.

Diversion Terraces Being Used Here

Several farmers in Wayne county have started using field diversion terraces this year to make their contour farming more effective in reducing the loss of soil and water. The terraces were surveyed by the technicians of the soil conservation district and constructed by the farmers with plows or by Leslie Swinney with his road patrol.

Farmers who built their terraces with a plow are Richard McGuire, Walter Weseman and Art Westerhouse. Leslie Swinney constructed terraces for Elmer Harrison, Albert Watson, Cliff Penn, Roy Sundell, Don Podoll and Ernest Langenberg.

These terraces were very effective in reducing run-off this spring and summer when rain came too fast for contouring alone to handle. Elmer Harrison reported, "I would have lost a good many tons of soil this year if my corn had not been planted on the contour with a good terrace."

Albert Watson's terraces withstood a two-inch rain that fell in 45 minutes. Walter Weseman commented on his terraces by saying, "My contouring and terraces held so much water on my hills that springs started flowing at the base of the hills, where they had been dry for several years."

Nebraska now has 61 soil conservation districts and ranks third in the United States in number of districts organized, according to the agricultural extension service of the University of Nebraska.

Home Strains Best. Home strains of broom grass seed are the best, according to Dixon County Agent Howard Gillaspie. Chris Liebe of St. Louis couldn't be blamed if he had trouble keeping his street car on schedule. He made three unscheduled stops, killing a snake in his car each time. Then he killed a fourth at the end of his run.

Earl Murphy, secretary of the Idaho Chamber of Commerce at Boise, can't read his mail. It's not that he needs glasses. It's that foreign import and export companies are sending numerous requests in foreign languages for information on Idaho markets.

An apple tree in G. W. Wieneke's orchard is the apple of his eye. The tree is bearing eight varieties of apples, indicating success for Wieneke's experiment years ago. This is the first time the tree shows signs of producing eight kinds of apples: Gano, Jonathan, Willow Twig, Red Delicious, Golden Delicious, Roman Beauty, Winesap and Black Twig.

At Kansas City, two sisters sought the advice of a young friend when their "wanted to rent" ad in Sunday's paper failed to bring results. The girl told them their ad lacked punch and by way of assistance, produced this: "Two old hens need a place to roost; unfurnished, 2-3 bedrooms." No results. Next Sunday's ad will again read: "Employed ladies, A-1 reference."

When several days went by without action on his request for a furlough Mr. Sgt. Stoo Vanek of Berwyn, Ill., took the matter up with the personnel office of the Tonopah, Nev., army air field. "We tore that up," a clerk told the sergeant. Then noting his dismayed look the clerk added, "Your overseas service make you eligible for a discharge. Downtown Denver became an open range when Taxi Driver Jerry Scaglione bulldozed a black and white calf that fell from a truck and stirred up a traffic snarl. Mr. Scaglione put the calf in the back seat of a taxi where

In applying for a parole, Ted Bentz, a Jackson prison inmate and a former member of the notorious Baby Face Nelson gang, wrote the state parole board: "In Luke 11:10, Christ says, 'Every one that asketh receiveth and he that seeketh findeth, and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.' Suey Leong, 74-year-old operator of a laundry at Kansas City, was limping painfully about his tasks after fighting a losing battle with the machine age. Mr. Leong bought a mechanical washing machine a few days ago to bring his hand laundry a bit more abreast of times. As it was being unloaded from a truck the washer broke loose from its moorings and ran wild. Mr. Leong was pinned to the curb and sustained deep gashes on his feet and legs. Police applied tourniquets, took him to the hospital for further treatment, and Saturday he was doing his work by hand.

Drill, KP and other sundry tasks at his army camp near Greenville, N. C., kept Pfc. Paul Latshaw Miller, 22, from reading the Kansas City Star, his hometown paper. When the unread papers filled all available duffel bags and were stacked by his bed, inspection officers and his buddies began to complain. To ease the situation, he offered the papers to the Greenville public library, the Greenville county courthouse and a Greenville business concern. No luck. Finally, as a last resort, he offered them to the paper salvage drive and the offer was accepted. The papers weighed 400 pounds.

Stassen Speaks
 COMMANDER STASSEN of the U. S. N. R., who was a delegate to the San Francisco conference, suggested before leaving to resume his armed service, a basis for lasting peace after the defeat of Japan. He offered these twelve points, as reported by Time magazine:

- "Complete, decisive victory over Japan.
- "Ratification of the charter, and broad powers for the U. S. representative in the world organization.
- "U. S. mediation between contending viewpoints in the world.
- "That we consider the future welfare and peace of America as inseparably intertwined with (that) of the world."
- "Use of U. S. economic strength to advance living standards of other peoples.
- "Agreements to use U. S. armed forces to support world stability and security.
- "Stripping from World War II aggressors of the means to make another war.
- "Fostering of freedom of information throughout the world.
- "Acceptance of the new world court's jurisdiction over international questions affecting the U. S.
- "A helping hand to dependent peoples 'in their struggle for progress.'
- "Protection of U. S. democracy from outside efforts to undermine it.
- "That through it all we will constantly emphasize and recognize the basic dignity of and his inalienable right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Fords Act and Advise
 HENRY FORD plans a specially generous service in building cars for crippled veterans. Ford does more than make money from his huge industry, and his constructive activities are appreciated by all who are not just hatefully against big doers.

Another member of the Ford household, Henry second, looks hopefully to the future of American industry which is always a stimulating and steadying influence in the course of this country's economics. In an address at Minneapolis recently he closed with this encouraging observation:

"How effective industry will be, depends on how free industry will be. About that we know little as yet, but the prospect grows brighter as more and more men objectively study the matter. For myself I can say this: I think I observe a growing disposition to recognize the existence of economic realities, and to work with them instead of attempting to reverse them by statute. The air is clearing. American confidence is rising. The outlook for the future, though rugged, is invigorating in its challenge. And that is a condition under which Americans always do their best work."

Abuse of labor union privilege flared at Kansas City last week when milk hauled by nonunion truckers was refused by processing plants through fear of a union strike. A part of an estimated 25 thousand gallons refused was subsequently dumped on the ground and wasted. This latter action spells tragedy to persons who appreciate the plight of a world in need of more food products. The Kansas City trouble arose over the union command that no one could haul milk without belonging to the organization. It reminds us of an unhappy experience in northeast Nebraska soon after World War I when sharp differences led to dumping precious milk en route to the Sioux City market.

nor try to gain the plaudits of all elements regardless of shades of belief. He is daring, and what he dares to reveal makes people think and inquire. He has offered strong evidence of his aversion to communism, labor union racketeering and erstwhile new deal experiments, and in amplifying his bias in that direction, he draws unqualified approval from steadily growing elements. Those who encourage him, doubtless fully match those who kick.

A Lincoln report states that the State Barber Board is considering recommendations for increased prices. A suggested minimum outside metropolitan areas would be 65 cents for haircuts and 35 cents for shaves. Oldsters remember when haircuts were 25 cents and shaves 10 cents. They also remember when a laborer received $1 for a ten-hour work day—when sirloin was 12 1/2 cents per pound, round steak 10 cents per pound, butter three pounds for a quarter, and everything else in proportion. The more one receives, the more he has to pay.

Leland Stowe's book entitled "They Shall Not Sleep," quotes a conversation with a Russian general prior to the Normandy invasion, making critical reference to what he believed was America's unnecessary delay in setting up a second front. We are equally anxious now over Russia's failure so far to jump on Japan. Need of due preparedness was our reason. Perhaps Russia has a reason fully as sound. But we hope there will soon be an end to its delay, as there was to America's, and that results will prove just as satisfactory.

Farmers usually agree that the corn is growing fast enough, but that it would do better under the influence of warmer weather. The fear of soft corn and considerable waste despite large feeding operations, is in mind. But sufficient moisture and heat with prolonged freedom from frost would produce a good crop. Farm production is always a gamble—perhaps more so this season than usual—and everybody in a farm community is vitally interested in the outcome of the gamble.

Reducing the number of points required to buy butter, as authoritatively reported the first of the week, would appear consistent with supply. Edw. Seymour of the Wayne creamery, says he has an abundance of butter to supply any demand, but has been unable to do so on account of lack of points. It is hoped the new regulations will ease the butter situation, enabling plants amply stocked to sell to those who need it.

The administration in Washington is reported figuring on junking all food subsidy programs. This would lighten the burden on the government, and instead of being taxed for subsidies, taxpayers would pay more directly for purchases. Whether consumers would get more or producers would get more or less, is uncertain, though freedom from subsidies would be more business-like and less distasteful.

Improved recreation grounds and programs are gathering momentum in Omaha. Every live community aims in the same wholesome direction. It is believed the developing Memorial park north of Wayne will answer all recreative demands hereabouts. The ground is adequate in size, and it is advantageously located, and it may be made to serve every need.

The wheat harvest which has started in the southern part of the state, presents an acute labor problem. With less small grain, north sections are not so seriously handicapped by help shortage. It may be felt here in the late autumn if the corn crop proves what it should be.

A Missouri man and wife have just observed their seventy-fifth wedding anniversary. They have lived harmoniously, and have regarded an often disagreeing outside world with tolerance. They contrast sharply with some modern marriages, a la Hollywood.

Left-wingers are being gradually separated from the Washington administration by President Truman, and if the present eliminating movement is kept up, the new deal will soon cease to bear any of its old and familiar earmarks.

Italy's declaration of war on Japan is probably better late than never. The former enemy may make up in revised intentions what it lacks in sturdy fighting qualities.

EXPRESSES REGRET.
 An interview with Mussolini's surviving wife quotes her as expressing regret that the family had not moved to the United States before the household head became a ruling tyrant. The couple had seriously considered coming here. Thus, this country narrowly missed having in its midst another evil agitator. But if persons under foreign governments are eager for the protection and advantages of America, why do they often want to remake our system when they get here? It was on the policy of free enterprise and individual liberties that this country developed living standards commanding the respect and exciting the envy of the rest of the world. Why introduce poisonous alienisms and try to break down what has been accomplished by 150 years of courage and foresight? Those of the disturbing Mussolini type should be kept out.

Mr. Fuller of the state health department, showed films for the children at the library Thursday evening. The pictures were about the care of the common cold and safety in crossing streets, presented in a manner interesting to the children. Since the circus was in town last week the children requested permission to work out a circus theme in the sand box in the children's room. So far the past week interest has centered around that particular spot.

Several new books for the children were placed on the shelves during the past week and two new ones in the adult department. The Wayfarers, by Dan Wickenden, will now be found on the rental shelf. It is a story of a rather typical

SALES TAX.

The sales tax is mentioned in the Saturday Evening Post as Russia's principal source of income. It is inconsistent with the communist attitude in America where adherents to thatism are against it as a too heavy burden on wage-earners. The soviet union's sales tax runs as high as 62 per cent on potatoes, 67 per cent on meat, 73 per cent on sugar and 58 per cent on cotton cloth, as reported by the Post. Russia appears to soak the rich and poor with equal facility, and apparently takes a liberal proportion of the family income without batting an eye. True to dictatorship action is arbitrary and without explanation. The Post comments in conclusion: "What it all comes to is that in Russia taxes come out of the food the worker eats and the clothing he wears, and unlike some other peoples, the Russians do not fool themselves with painless alternatives. Furthermore, in the classless society, artisans pay more income tax than artists; high officials in government and state-operated industrial jobs pay less than 15 per cent. We do not undertake to point the moral, unless it is that, whether it's capitalism or communism, the members of the lodge do themselves as little damage as possible when it comes to paying taxes."

cal American family living in a medium-sized city in the middle west. This is the first novel we have had by this author. The writing is rather crude in spots but the story will hold the readers interest. The folks who look for all the new cartoon books will be delighted with the new one of G. I. Joe. The cartoonist who has drawn these pictures draws for the Stars and Stripes and they are very clever.

Stores in Washington close on Saturdays during the summer months. The heat has driven many people out of town. Voluntary secrecy about President Truman's movements is working as well as it did during the Roosevelt days. Most of all the newspapermen here knew that Truman and his party were embarking for Europe. No word of the plans leaked out prematurely. Independent packing houses have a friend in Clinton Anderson, the new secretary of agriculture. He has told friends that he wants more quotas for the small packers and believes much more meat will go to consumers if his plan is carried out. Anderson, in a conference with the Third district member, indicated that he will do his utmost to give producers and processors of food some real help. George Rees of Carroll, Neb., recently graduated from a high school near Washington, is en route to San Diego, Cal., to join his mother, Mrs. Owen Rees. His father, Commander Rees, is in active service with the navy in the Pacific.

The O.W.I. has sent to 20,000 key Russian readers a magazine entitled "America Illustrated" under the head of "Prairie States" this magazine tells the Russians: "This prairie land includes: Kansas, Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Wyoming, Montana, Colorado and Utah. The people in it are almost exclusively farmers. Live-stock raising is carried on only in the mountainous parts of Wyoming and Montana. Industry is almost nonexistent." The O. W. I. man who prepared this particular information for the magazine, worked a long time in London and was once head of the British division. The Nebraska delegation is replying to this misinformation. Russians should know that much of what they have to eat today came from Nebraska and other prairie states.

Millions of dollars in profit have been made by speculators in rye according to reports here. Who cornered the rye market and who got advance information about the impending rye price rises is a question being discussed in congress now. The attorney general is asking Wendell Berge, former Nebraskan in charge of anti-trust division of the department of justice, for a report on the matter. Thirty uncompleted airports in the country may be finished this year. Appropriations for their completion have been voted by congress. Labor and material may now be available and the war production board is allowing the work to start in some cases. Fremont and Beatrice airports are in the group. Bids for completion at Fremont may be opened early in August.

Archduke, Duke of Austria, is a prominent figure in Washington. He is invited to gatherings attended by government officials. He was at a party the other day along with the speaker of the house, secretary of the treasury, secretary of agriculture, the attorney general and some members of the White House staff. The Austrian has little hope that his eldest brother, Otto, will ever get control of Austria. He tells friends that the communists have control of Austria now. A number of members of the house and senate are urging that the United Nations get together and give the Japanese a definite statement of "Unconditional Surrender." They believe this would perhaps shorten the war and save lives. Ed. Rees, a member from Kansas, goes frequently to New York to confer with Mrs. Chiang Kai Shek. He reports that she has recovered her health and may soon go back to China. Reports are that she has been at odds with her husband who once disregarded the Soong family to which she belongs. The family has come back into the good graces of the generalissimo and Dr. Soong is now the number one man in Chiang's administration.

Lt. Dale Samuelson's Plane Forced to Land Due to Heavy Enemy Fire.

First Lt. Dale Samuelson is spending a well earned 30-day leave in his parental S. E. Samuelson home here after flying 35 sorties as pilot or co-pilot of a B-24 based in Italy. Oil fields in Germany, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Jugoslavia and other countries were main targets. The officer tells that these fields were heavily defended as oil was so vital to the Nazi war machine. The plane the Wayne man flew in was forced to land a number of times in Yugoslavia because of flak damage.

Lt. Samuelson spent a week at the rest camp on the Isle of Capri. This is beautiful and provides opportunity for sports, such as swimming, boating, deep-sea fishing, etc. The officer also visited many of the larger cities in Italy, among them Rome, Naples, Florence.

Lt. Samuelson left the states in August, 1944. He made the trip to England on a B-24, going by way of Newfoundland, Greenland and Iceland. After a short stop in England the men went to Italy, where the officer flew with the 48th bomb group. The young man made the trip home by air, going by way of north Africa, central Africa and South America, landing in Georgia.

The plane was forced down near the Bahama islands. The men spent a week on the islands while repairs were being made. The officer tells that the place is very scenic.

The air officer wears the European theatre of operations ribbon with seven battle stars and their air medal with three oak leaf clusters. The unit with which he served was awarded two presidential citations.

After his leave the air corps man will go to Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

E. J. Huntermer of Grand Island, was here from Tuesday to Friday last week on business.

Pfc. Leonard Strong Comes To Visit Family after Victorious Moves.

The 104th infantry (Timberwolf) division, with which Pfc. Leonard Strong of Wayne served, was the first to travel directly from the states to France. The division has now returned to the states and the men are home on furlough before leaving for training to prepare them for action in the Pacific against the Japs. Pfc. Strong arrived here Monday and is visiting his wife and children, Patty and Dickie. Mrs. Strong went to Omaha to meet him.

The 104th received a unit citation for meritorious service. The Wayne man wears two battle stars and the combat medical badge.

Little more than a month after landing, the Timberwolves went into the line and remained in continuous combat for over six months. After fighting with the 1st Canadian army in the successful Holland campaign which opened the port of Antwerp to allied shipping, the Timberwolves took their place in the 1st army line at Aachen. In a slashing campaign that was featured by night attacks the division drove through the industrial Eschweiler area, then assaulted the Roer, pushing ahead to take Cologne.

Once across the Rhine at the Remagen bridgehead, the division stabbed into the heartland of the Reich, taking part in the Ruhr encirclement. The final phase of the Timberwolf combat saw the men racing to the Meuse river where the last remnants of the Wehrmacht were crushed between the Russians and American 1st army, making that sector the first in Germany to be cleared and completely conquered.

The victorious 104th never gave one inch.

Strange Contrast
Noted in Mexico
By Wayne Traveler

Wealth and poverty, the modern and the primitive are in sharp contrast in Mexico, according to the observation of Miss Gertrude McEachen, University of Nebraska Spanish instructor, who arrived home Friday after a four-week trip south.

In general, farming operations are 100 years behind in Mexico. Small acreages are tilled by oxen and poor tools. Miss McEachen saw only one tractor. She visited a rich region at Cordoba in the tropics where bananas and pineapples are grown extensively. Each pineapple plant produces one fruit at the top of a central stalk about two feet off the ground.

The Mexican government is encouraging irrigation and other modern practices in farming. The fine arts hall contains exhibits and plans for such work.

Past habits of living have encouraged slow, careful attitude on the part of natives. The mid-day siesta has been responsible for much of the leisurely way of life. Now the government is endeavoring to increase production by discontinuing the siesta in Mexico City and surrounding territory which is designated a federal district.

On Leisurely Schedule.

Most trains and buses run on a leisurely schedule. No special effort is made to be on time. At each stop, barefooted women with babies strapped to their backs meet the trains to sell trinkets from trays. Beggars are always on hand.

A community lavatory furnishes washing facilities for each village. Miss McEachen saw one washing machine, this belonging to a former Boston woman who operates a hotel.

Taxco is one of the old cities that clings to the past. Streets are narrow and changes to modern ways are very slow.

A Mexican guide told the Wayne instructor he feels that Mexican natives cannot be modernized. But Miss McEachen believes that the change can be made though it will be very slow.

The mountain region south of Mexico City is scenic and the climate is ideal all day.

People Are Religious.

Mexicans are very religious and 90 per cent of the people are Catholics. At all times of day one may find people on their knees in prayer in the churches. In the province of Chulua are 365 churches. In one section five churches are within three blocks.

Inflation seems to have struck Mexico in the clothing line where prices are about 50 per cent higher. Food prices have not increased much. Meals range from 30 cents to $1. Wages are low as a rule. A woman works in a home for $6 a month and a young girl for $4 a month.

A bull fight is one of the main sports features in Mexico City. Miss McEachen attended one in late afternoon when seven bulls were killed.

The Xochimilco gardens near Mexico City, formerly floating and now stationary, are a beautiful sight. Musicians in small boats play and sing for coins tossed by sightseers. Women in boats sell beautiful flowers for very small fees.

Enroute home Miss McEachen spent a day in Omaha with her sister, Dr. Esther McEachen.

Will Receive Award.

Albin Olson of Cheyenne county, will receive the W. G. Skelly superior agricultural achievement award July 21. Olson produced 143,000 pounds of beef, 20,680 pounds of lamb, 427 tons of sugar beets, 5,440 bushels of potatoes besides navy beans, alfalfa, eggs, milk, corn and wool last year. He farms 1,070 acres.

T3 Harry McIntosh Picked
To Land on Leyte with Invasion Forces.

Assembling vital war equipment in the tropical heat, heavy rains and deep mud of New Guinea and landing with the convoy that liberated Leyte in the Philippines from Jap control are among the outstanding experiences of T3 H. J. McIntosh who arrived home Thursday after 22 months in the Pacific area. The Wayne engineer, who has been in service 27 months, together with four others from the maintenance company, arrived on the west coast June 6. T3 McIntosh visited at James McIntosh's and reported at Ft. Leavenworth July 17. After dental work and a minor operation he will receive an honorable discharge.

During the 12 months spent on New Guinea, the engineering company with which T3 McIntosh was assigned, assembled machinery parts and prepared equipment for freshment to forward areas. At his location heavy rains fell on an average of four or five days a week for five or six months of the year. Much of the work had to be done in mud which proved to be a real handicap. The engineers put machines together and filled them with gas so that when they were moved to the front they were all ready for action.

Realizing the need for numerous maintenance companies to service equipment in forward areas, officials selected about five from a company of 180 men to move to the Philippines. McIntosh was among those picked. The new company was assembled at Oray bay,
New Guinea. This group, well supplied with trucks, tools and equipment of all kinds to do the necessary work in the forward area, moved from Oray bay to Leyte last fall, joining the invasion convoy. The engineers followed the assault troops so as to be on hand to take care of equipment troubles immediately. They serviced tractors, power shovels and construction equipment. The Wayne engineer spent 10 months on Leyte.
Advancing troops always had new or rebuilt equipment. It was the duty of this maintenance unit to see that equipment was in good condition for units going to forward areas.

Force Invades Leyte.

The island invasion was a big operation. Troops met more opposition from the Japs about 15 days after the landing than at first. Appearance of Jap Zeros continued for two or three months but the Americans are good marksmen and got most of them, especially in the day time. T3 McIntosh says that the thrill of seeing a Zero shot out of the air is one that can never be forgotten by one who has seen it.

Japs were in complete control of Leyte and all parts of the Philippines. The Filipinos were thrilled at the arrival of the Americans.

The maintenance unit on Leyte was stationed near a native city of perhaps 20,000. The place was primitive with large families living in bamboo shacks. Only modern buildings were schools and administration halls put up by Americans before the Japs took over.

Training Is Valuable.

The engineer feels that many of the experiences of service are most valuable. Men in the engineering corps received instruction from skilled mechanics and this training is certain to be of benefit in post-war days, especially to younger persons who can continue in this line of work.

T3 McIntosh is also appreciative of the personal care given to men in service. He finds that doctors and others in charge give returning veterans the best possible health aids. An effort is also made to help place soldiers in advantageous positions to get a good start on their return to civilian life.

Pearson, for his heroic mission of coming 25 miles behind Jap lines and endangering his life to liberate us.

"I wish that I could do something for him to show how grateful we were for what he did. It was one of the most wonderful feelings that I have had in my experiences in the service to see the look of happiness on their faces after they got us back to the American lines out of the Jap reach. They did everything in their power to make us happy and make us realize that we were free American boys again. "I would like to express my feelings more clearly than I have, but I cannot find words appropriate. "Quoting their commanding officer 'God was with them on that mission,' and I am sure that He will be with them on each mission hereafter. "I would appreciate it if you would send me Pfc. WATCH YOUR STEP for SAFETY'S Sake!

National Farm Safety Week
July 22-28, 1945

At a time when shortages of manpower are restricting every agricultural, industrial and civilian activity supporting the war effort, the conservation of human resources becomes a matter of major importance.

No farm accident incident to the use of power equipment is necessary. All are preventable. Virtually every accident associated with the use of a tractor or machine occurs because of carelessness and the abandonment of ordinary precaution.

Manufacturers for years have been striving to build the maximum safety into their products. Unfortunately, however, nothing that the industry can do will guarantee safety to an operator who starts a tractor in gear, makes machinery adjustments without disengaging the clutch or stopping the engine.

We are making a special plea to all on the farms — to follow the simple safety rules and prevent accidents.

Recalls Cool Season

D. J. Davis, who came to Carroll many years ago, recalls that some of the best corn crops in this vicinity were grown when weather was unseasonably cool. One of the best crops was in a season when the thermometer never went over 90 and when nights were cold enough for covers.
