 tics, the name given by Americans to the Jap two-engine bomber. This destroyer and another were on picket duty when the Japs made bombing and torpedo runs on the ships. Islands Much Alike.
 Sand and palm trees describe most of the Pacific islands, the Wayne seaman says. Occasionally the men went ashore. They did on Leyte in the Philippines and found a nice recreation center established by Americans. Filipino natives rowed out in dugout log boats to sell souvenirs. The seamen also stopped for swimming and baseball at the bases established on the north and south anchorages of Ulithi in the Ulithes in the islands. The natives were moved to one island so that service men might use the bases.

The south Pacific waters near the equator are exceptionally calm, almost like glass, a greater share of the time. The northern Pacific is a little rougher but it too is much smoother than the Atlantic.

Ruins are frequent in the south Pacific. Storms that are called squalls come up several times a day. Rain pours for about five minutes and then the skies clear. A couple of times the destroyer was caught in typhoons, which are lashing storms, but no damage was done to the vessel.

Mother: "Didn't I tell you not to go out with perfect strangers?"
 Daughter: "But, mother, he isn't so perfect!"

The relaxation of the dollar limits for certain construction jobs has not increased the supply of lumber one bit. If anything, lumber supplies are even tighter than before. However, there is a lot of coming through now and then which can be used for essential needs. If you are in any doubt as to what you are allowed to do, come in and ask us about it. We'll gladly furnish you all the information we can.

You are already making plans for much of the repair work you intend doing this fall, such as fencing, crib repairs, shingling the barn, and things like that.

NATION IS RUINED—
 left at 4 a. m. on 20 and 25-mile marches, carrying packs, and returned the same day. The routine was too heavy, the minister said. But the Nazi party grew from about 550,000 in 1933 to about 2,000,000 in 1937.

Nazi Effects Bad.
 Effects of the Nazi system were bad. Education was curtailed. Health was undermined and the health rate was lowered from 78 per cent in 1932 to 30 per cent in 1938. Courts had no power to enforce law except in conformity with the Nazi party rules. Agriculture was ruined as resources and labor were drained for war activity. Some 20,000 who opposed the Nazi disappeared.

In Germany and all Europe, Rev. Henn noted all effects. The birth rate decreased and crime rate increased. Industry was ruined. Food supply was depleted. The educational system became practically non-existent and will require at least two generations to reestablish. Social relationships were disrupted with widespread distrust even among Germans.

Outcome Is Question.
 What will become of Germany? The minister answered that he does not know. And he cannot guess how many of the territorial demands against Germany will be allowed. "As a power Germany is gone for a long time. The Nazi people feel a sense of guilt and they regard the occupying armies as enemies."

Rev. Henn was presented by Rev. O. B. Proett.

Army Men Speak.
 Lt. Col. Clifford Dier, brother of Milo Dier, who was with an infantry unit, told that he had been in France, Germany, Luxembourg, Czechoslovakia and Holland on his duty in the European theatre.

S. Sgt. Paul Harrington, who was a prisoner in Germany from March and April, told that food and clothing were the chief problems and that principal relief came from the Red Cross.

A note of appreciation from Mrs. J. H. Kemp of Stockton, Calif., for a telegram of condolence sent at the time of the death of Mr. Kemp, was read.

Glenn Gildersleeve of Dover, Del., and Prof. Russel Anderson led the singing of "Builders," "Sweet Genevieve" and "Levee Song."

How to make Salads that make meals
 A savory salad can make the day and the meal in this July weather. You might use a mouth-watering tender chicken base, or perhaps a bowl of rich fruit dressed with a piquant dressing is the palate-teaser you're looking for. Add hot rolls or sandwiches to any of these, maybe fruit cobbler or gingerbread for dessert, a beverage—and presto! you have a meal.

SALAD PLATE
 Attractively arrange mound or mold of chicken, meat or fish salad on lettuce or spinach leaves in center of plate. Surround with lettuce cups in which are placed half-peeled tomatoes topped with cucumber dressing (1 cup mayonnaise and 6 tablespoons shredded cucumber) stuffed eggs and ripe olives.

 Toss together in salad bowl, 3 cups shredded lettuce or greens, 2 cups sliced fresh peaches, 1 cup seedless grapes, 1/2 cup sliced celery and 1 1/2 cups shredded cheese with 1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing and French dressing to taste. Garnish with lettuce, fresh berries and peanuts. Serves 6.

PICNIC CLUB SALAD

Let us obey that injunction which says: "Six days shalt thou labor." May the Lord's day be kept holy by us in that we gladly hear the word of God and also be obedient doers of the word.

Complains CONGRESSMAN Albert J. Engel of Michigan, large expenditures of government funds in building army cantonments and in providing tanks and other war essentials. The congressman deplores the extravagant use of funds on the 905-mile highway from Mexico to Panama. He says the cost was figured at $14,714,000, but rose to $42,715,591 before the task was abandoned. He mentions that the war department spent $86,000,000 on the Pentagon building after congress had authorized $35,000,000, and he calls that project a "white elephant." He charges army leaders with great waste. Of course, costly leaks in financing a gigantic war undertaking are unavoidable, but they should be stopped as they are discovered. That is doubtless the intention of Congressman Engel.

We have a feeling that President Truman who, by experience, knows the need of economy, will be on the alert to save the taxpayer's money. He has already shown a determination to cut out useless bureaus and reduce costs. Time will be required with capable assistants, to cure all faults. It is the hope of taxpayers that as the end of the Pacific war draws to a close, no need will be found for many of the millions appropriated by congress, and that they may be turned back into the federal treasury to reduce the public debt and relieve the taxpayer's burden. We have an idea the president has that wholesome plan in mind.

Misrepresenting OFFICE of War in the Middle West

Information got into hot water over disparaging references to the middle west in the course of an article describing the United States and intended for circulation in Russia. The story told of long-continued droughts and lack of industry and raw materials. Not only was the middle west misrepresented but no mention was made of its large and vital contribution to the war. Omaha and Wichita roared dissent.

Elmer Davis head of the OWI, squirmed when the obviously unfair treatment was brought to his attention, and he immediately set about having a new article prepared in the Russian language, setting forth this area's advantages and seeking to overcome the damage done. A magazine report of the injustice says the offending writer has been fired.

Looking IN the restoration of peace-time endeavors, it must be borne in mind that the rebound from war restraints may often flout the peaceful order and add fuel to flames of discontent. Many think they are doing too much for too little. Strikes threaten. The Omaha World-Herald comments:

"There are signs that an industrial storm of perhaps unexampled ferocity is gathering in this country. Some of those who have been working together as partners under the compulsions of war—and performing such miracles as our industrial civilization never before had seen—are wearying of the relationship. They are beginning to chafe. White-hot arguments are blazing up at the slightest provocation. Wildcat strikes are being called. Slow-down strikes. "Bottleneck" strikes. Belligerent and often revolutionary labor, and belligerent and often reactionary management, are testing each other out."

The lower house in Washington adjourned Saturday for the longest vacation since 1938, and most members scattered for their respective homes. Some will take overseas trips to gain first-hand information on foreign problems and policies. The rest will circulate in this country, usually in home districts, and find out what the home front is thinking. Among other things, congressmen will no doubt learn that many persons are trying to carry on with far too little help and that the sooner soldiers, unnecessary in Europe, are returned and permitted to sift back into civilian employment, the sooner will home relief come, facilitating production and allowing needed periods of relaxation. During the war many civilians have worked long and hard without interruption to keep up essential output in the face of help shortage—something home-visiting congressmen will likely find out.

Paring down federal taxes so that business and industry can more easily function, make improvements and increase employment is urged by the United States Chamber of Commerce. It is plain that private enterprise must be able to go into the postwar period with enough cash surplus to expand and take care of enlarged demands. The Chamber comments: "Continuance of our system of democracy and free enterprise depends upon permitting taxpayers to retain sufficient income after taxes to reward incentive and risk-taking."

Sioux City will be 100 years old in 1949, and the Journal invites live wires to begin planning a suitable celebration. A century of steady growth from Indian trails to a metropolitan city would seem to justify a festive send-off on a big scale. And Sioux City knows exactly how to do that. We are reminded that Wayne observed the passing of its fiftieth birthday anniversary in 1931. Thus, next year the town will be sixty-five years old, and if the war is over, the occasion could be appropriately remembered by a few gala days.

A lot of mental endurance is required to stand the separations and losses of war. Elders assay whys and wherefores, but little fellows many of whom have never seen their fathers, cannot understand. They cannot realize what is happening, and how necessary is the ordeal to their future security. In coming years they will understand, and it is hoped their fathers will be with them to share in imparting the truth.

Complaints about too cool weather to grow corn were disposed of with dispatch last week-end, and as the mercury hovered around 100, people revived hope that a late fall would see proper maturity. Prolonged heat waves are not agreeable but they are necessary to full realization of our major crop.

Thomas Hewes who retired as assistant secretary of the U. S. treasury in 1933, says decentralization will be a force in preventing a third world war. He says centralization is "killing our traditional freedoms."

Failing to find or hold employment to his liking here, an elderly individual bitterly assailed Wayne as deficient in proper public spirit. He unwittingly overlooked fixing responsibility on himself.

Time-magazine thinks the way President Truman is discarding left-wingers there will be no new dealers in office for republicans to jump on by the time the 1946 election rolls around.

Permanent peace is the universal wish, and though the San Francisco charter may not be faultless, it is the only basis for an early start in the right direction.

UNCONDITIONAL.

In response to inquiries in congress, Under Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew reveals that Japan has made indirect peace feelers in the hope of easing defeat. The under secretary has prepared a statement to show what is meant by unconditional surrender, according to Time magazine, which explains: "Surrender must mean, unconditionally, the end of Jap militarism. But it will not mean enslavement of the people. They will still have the chance to earn their way in a peaceful world, when they have shown that they can be peaceful. The Japanese may have a government of their own choosing but thoroughly purged of militarists and founded on democratic principles. If the Japanese choose to keep the emperor, the throne must be so re modeled that it can never again become the keystone of a military structure. They may have religious freedom. The timing of the statement has not been set. In general, it is considered that it should coincide with a major military blow. Thus Jap militarists could not interpret the statement as a sign of U. S. weakening or war-weariness."

That seems like an enormous quantity of butter, but in pre-war days our country produced over 150 million pounds per month, practically all consumed here. That production now is scarcely 100 million pounds per month. But in most markets butter is so scarce that it cannot be obtained even by those who have the points. With milk production at 120 billions or more, the largest on record, there could be a lot more butter made but for subsidy and price differentials which make for less butter and more of other dairy products.

There have been so many reports of butter spoiling in storage that the house committee on food supplies is making a special investigation. It is claimed that some of the butter purchased for government purposes in 1942 remains in storage to the detriment of its quality. Like many other reports as to dairy products, it may be overdrawn, but the thousands of cases of canned milk which have spoiled from long storage afford some ground for criticism as to the handling of dairy products. The black markets of the big cities also have made their millions in butter and eggs as well as in meats and other commodities.

Sugar continues to be the hottest food topic, next to meat. Explanations flew from departmental scribbles, that our country needs eight million tons for its armies and civilians, while the total available is a bit more than five million tons. The shortage will become more acute when another 25 per cent is lopped off the rationing in the fall. The outcry against sending 60,000 tons to Spain stopped that program. Instead of 60,000 tons Spain will receive only 30,000 tons which will be furnished by Britain. That country produces no sugar but has more than a normal supply on hand.

The war industries of Europe practically are out of business and reconversion to production is proceeding rapidly, with plenty of manpower available. Our own industries are making the materials for the war on Japan, and reconversion is going slowly. There are said to be two million now unemployed, but skilled mechanics are in great demand in some centers, particularly in war-plane factories and shipyards.

Spain will not receive the 100,000 tons of steel which eastern foreign traders bargained for, as our state department interfered. Machinery in great quantities goes to all parts of the world, including farm tractors and other farm equipment, some of which seems to be going to Argentina since its Former Governor Sam McKelvie's "By the Way" ranch in Cherry county where Governor Dewey and news men were entertained a year ago, is to furnish the setting for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new movie, "Sea of Grass." Showing the former governor as a valuable Nebraska asset, the York Republican comments: "Sam McKelvie has been consistently making history and publicity for Nebraska ever since he, as a strapping, entered the legislature." He perhaps more than any one person, is responsible for Nebraska's world famed capitol building. It was launched during McKelvie's term as 'boy governor.' His farm journal, The Nebraska Farmer, has done and is doing a great work for Nebraska agriculture. 'By the Way' ranch is not only a show place, but it is supplying breeding stock of top Herefords for the ranges. For Nebraskans who respect the services to his state of Sam McKelvie the picture, 'Sea of Grass,' won't be complete unless somewhere in it the camera men slyly inject a wide brimmed hat of the ranch country, his biggest smile in place. For there is something about Sam himself that epitomizes the vision, energy and accomplishments of Nebraska agriculture."

SAM M'KELVIE.

belated declaration of war on Japan. At the same time an agreement has been reached which will enable Britain to receive direct, butter, eggs and meats to the extent which Argentina can supply them. Argentina has a trade balance with Britain in excess of $300 millions, to be paid off in manufactured goods, now that shipping is available.

The demand for new air-ports is rather swamping the C. A. A., which is endeavoring to outline a program for government aid for cities and towns. The senate over the McCarran bill has blocked action on any program. The demand for new air-ports does not come from smaller cities only. The air-ports of larger places, built before the big planes commenced coming off the lines, are too small for the traffic. St. Louis now has 18 air-ports, but claims that it must have at least 40 more to accommodate the rapidly growing traffic. There are now 369 big planes making daily flights in the civilian traffic, each averaging more than 1,800 miles per day. Freight service is coming into much importance. Air traffic over the world as well as our own country will be among the post-war marvels.

Washington, D. C. July 19, 1945. A resolution, adopted by the house, provides for adjournment of the house between the dates of July 21, 1945, and October 8, 1945, and consents to an adjournment of the senate at any time during the months of August or September. Since the house and the senate cannot now adjourn concurrently, it is necessary for each house to consent to the adjournment of the other for any period exceeding three days while one of the houses remains in session. The senate will need to remain in session for several weeks following July 21 to perform the exclusive function vested in it by the constitution touching the United Nations Charter.

The Farm Crops Processing Corporation of Omaha, is often referred to as the Omaha alcohol plant. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation is authority for the following information about the Farm Crops Processing Corporation of Omaha: The physical plant and site are owned by the United States government. The final estimated cost to the government of the property leased is around $6,700,000. The site, buildings and machinery are leased to Farm Crops Processing Corporation for a term that ends when the plant is no longer needed for the war effort but with a maximum term of seven years. The officers of the corporation are Geo. E. Johnson, president, Arthur J. Weaver, vice president, Frank L. Robinson, treasurer, and C. A. Sorensen, secretary and general counsel. The corporation began operations with a capital of about $100,000. The R. F. C. loaned the corporation, first, $7,500,000 working capital, then, an additional $20,000,000. Earnings from operation of the plant have enabled the corporation to repay the loans excepting about $1,260,000. The agreement of lease provides that it cannot be transferred without the consent of RFC, and contains, also, an option of purchase in favor of Farm Crops which permits that company, upon the termination, expiration or cancellation of the lease, to purchase all, but not part, of the site, buildings and machinery. According to recent rumor, the stock in the corporation was sold to Schenley Distillers corporation. RFC reports that a representative of the Schenley company says that the company has expressed interest in the operations at Omaha by Farm Crops because of the three-fold use of the facilities to produce industrial alcohol, high protein feeds and corn oil but has not acquired any of the stock or made any actual offer to purchase. However, a representative of Farm Crops says that Schenley has made a written proposition to purchase the stock of Farm Crops which is to be considered by the stockholders of Farm Crops at the July meeting of stockholders. No application has been made to RFC for consent to transfer the agreement of lease, and a change in stock ownership would not affect the question of transferring the lease since Farm Crops Processing corporation is a corporation duly organized and doing business under the laws of the state of Nebraska and there is nothing in the agreement which prevents the stockholders from selling their stock. Recently, Dr. William Hale, nationally known chemist and farm chemistry pioneer, with considerable knowledge about the Omaha alcohol plant, predicted that it would be expanded and that because of its special construction, its use for processing farm crops would be continued.

The house of representatives has been sensitive to defects in the servicemen's readjustment act of 1944 (G. I. bill of rights) that have developed in the first year of administration of the act and has passed the servicemen's readjustment act of 1945. The second measure retains all of the good features of the first act and liberalizes the conditions under which veterans of the Second World War may procure prompt and effective federal aid respecting loans and education. The senate has not yet acted upon the proposed servicemen's readjustment act of 1945.

The lowering of butter ration points from 24 to 18 points was big news for people who have gone without butter because of its high cost in points. The explanation is made that army requirements for butter were reduced by 10 million pounds for August, making that much more available for civilians.

Local Collection Is Being Planned

Scrap Paper and Tin Are Urgent War Needs, Says WPB Man Here.

A citywide collection of scrap paper and tin for war purposes will be made in Wayne within a couple of weeks, according to a WPB leader who was here last Wednesday to see P. L. March, salvage chairman.

The need for scrap paper and tin continues. Tin supplies, such as have been collected at the city school, will be picked up as soon as a carload can be assembled at some central place such as Norfolk. The WPB man urged homekeepers to continue to save their cans and flatten them for shipment.

Papers and magazines are also urgently needed in the war effort. It is asked that these be tied into bundles for easy handling. The freight shipping situation is difficult so often delay results in picking up salvaged goods. The military has 700,000 uses for paper.

Hoskins Feeders Get Good Prices

Many Cattle Are Marketed In Omaha by Three Veteran Stockmen.

Lighter cattle bought last fall at less cost than the heavy steers that were in popular demand did all right for him, said Albert Behmer, former of Hoskins. Forty-one head of Behmer's steers sold at $17.25, or near the top of the Omaha market recently. They were sold at $1.85, according to an article in the Omaha Journal Stockman.

"I don't like to sell them too soon," Mr. Behmer commented. "Some feeders prefer a three or four month feed, which is all right if you buy plainer kind of cattle. If the good ones are doing well, it nearly always pays to finish them." Mr. Behmer would like to get more steers as good as the ones he sold at a price similar to what they cost, but has given that up until a little later in the season. He has more cattle at home on feed. During the winter he bought corn and saved most of the crop from his own 70 acres for feeding during the summer.

Mr. Behmer explained that buying the corn served two purposes. Ordinarily, corn can be bought cheaper in the winter than the summer and by holding it, he is assured of a supply at a time when corn might be hard to get.

Most of the Hoskins man's farm is in pasture and hay, which is largely brome.

Mr. Behmer's father, E. O. Behmer, who accompanied him to Omaha, is a brome enthusiast as well. The older man told of re-seeding an old, weedy, native grass pasture to brome by merely disking it last fall and putting the seed on it with no further preparation. "It's a E. O. Behmer fairly good stand this year," he said, "and it could stand more cattle on it than we now have, but we're letting it get started this year."

The elder Mr. Behmer has "left the farm," he said, but gets lonesome in town and visits the farm about every day. Emil Marotz, father-in-law of the younger man, went to Omaha to see the cattle sell. He, too, is a veteran livestock finisher and evidenced considerable interest in the shipment. "I've always fed cattle," Mr. Marotz explained, "and still like the good ones. I've turned it over to younger men now. I live in town but manage to get out to the farm quite often."

Mr. Marotz was fairly optimistic of the corn crop prospects in that section. It is unseasonably late but "catching up." Most of the corn in which he is directly interested was planted in May, which was "not too late to make a crop if the weather is all right."

Safety of Farm Being Promoted

Second National Observance Aims at Protection of Life and Property.

National farm safety week, which was inaugurated last year by the National Safety council as part of the nationwide accident prevention campaign, has been proclaimed by President Harry Truman to be observed throughout the nation July 22 to 28. The aims of the program are to educate farm dwellers to act safely 52 weeks of the year, to teach them to recognize, guard against and eliminate as many hazards as possible, to stimulate a nationwide determination to stop the needless waste of irreparable farm manpower and property. The president asks that farm people everywhere observe the week by making a safety check in their homes and on their farms.

Proof that safety measures should be taken is shown by the fact that between 40 and 50 farm dwellers are killed by accidents each day, making an annual death toll of 15,000 to 17,000. In addition 125,000 are injured each month on farms. This averages about 1,500,000 injured each year. In urging the farm safety check-up, President Truman calls attention to the fact that "skill and labor of America's farmers are vital in winning the war."

The secretary of agriculture commended the farm safety movement. War Food Administrator Marvin Jones states that the movement to observe farm safety was so effective in minimizing losses last year, that its promotion is important.

Maynard H. Coe, director of the farm division of the National Safety council, suggests that individuals and organizations center their attack on falls, which occur in the farm home more frequently than any other type of accident, on burns, which usually rank about second in importance, and on educating farm workers in the proper handling for farm machinery, animals and firearms. Mr. Coe emphasizes the importance of safe driving to avoid accidents that take the lives of thousands of farm residents annually. "National farm safety week will pave the way for the elimination of hazards that in themselves are the greatest drain on farm manpower."

Library News
The last story hour of the summer series was held Tuesday afternoon. This was made a special party with ice cream cones for treats. The children discussed the books which had been their favorites this summer and special mention was given those who did the most reading and had had the most perfect attendance during the series.

We now have the Literary Guild book of the month which is "So Well Remembered," by James Hilton, who wrote Random Harvest and Goodbye Mr. Chips. This is another fine book and is the first by this author in four and one-half years. The story is of a plain man often had to become heroes in it, and George Boswell was just such a man. His mistakes, his idealism, his human frailties, his courage, his warm affections and his never-failing humor make him one of the most appealing characters Mr. Hilton has drawn. The period of the novel is both before and during the second World war; the scene is chiefly a small industrial town in the British midlands. Readers will take sides about the two main characters, George and Livia. If he was a hero in his way, she had courage of a kind he lacked. She was too utterly fearless to be reasonable; he was too reasonable to be utterly fearless. You will not soon forget them or their story.

The Law Also Applies

IF YOU fail to pay, within 60 days, any final judgment for bodily injury or death or for property damage, or if you are convicted of violation of certain provisions of the Motor Vehicle law, and fail to give proof of your financial responsibility for future accidents.

WILL YOU BE ABLE TO GIVE SECURITY AND PROVE YOUR FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY?

Security following an accident shall be an amount up to $11,000, and proof of financial responsibility must be $11,000.

The best, safest, and most economical way for you to meet the requirements of the new law is to carry the right kind of Automobile insurance in an insurance company licensed to do business in Nebraska!

HOW A TRAVELERS POLICY CAN HELP YOU

Within the limits of the amounts of insurance provided by the policy, Automobile insurance placed with The Travelers:

- Protects you against damage claims arising out of the death or injury of another person, or persons, or out of the damage caused to property of others by your automobile. The Travelers investigates the accident, determines who was to blame.

- Settles meritorious claims amicably, out of court, whenever possible. Acts in your defense if court action is necessary. Pays the award if one is rendered, the court costs and legal fees in addition.
- Protects everything you own against being seized, sold, or attached to satisfy a damage judgment arising from an automobile accident.

WHY INSURE IN THE TRAVELERS?

- Since 1898, The Travelers has protected more car owners than any other company. This experience is valuable to you.
- Many Travelers representatives who will help you in case of an automobile accident are located in Nebraska. There are many more in neighboring states.

ACT NOW TO PROTECT YOURSELF

See a Travelers agent as soon as possible. Find out which type of Automobile insurance will help you keep your driver's license and car registration. With this new law in effect, you can't afford to be without Automobile insurance.
