

Trotted Out for Consideration after Having Been Rather Loosely Used - Sioux City Editor Recipient of Special Honor - Limit on Overseas Mails.

A letter from Robert Beckenhauer of Answorth, formerly of the Wayne area, asks us what we mean by "Headed for Normalcy," used over one paragraph in the column two weeks ago. He recalls that following World War I, "Back to Normalcy" was frequently and carelessly employed by politicians, and he says "I have been wondering if we ever did get back to normalcy." That is a fair question, but one not easily or satisfactorily answered.

Normalcy is defined by Webster as a "state or condition, or fact of being normal," and normal has numerous definitions, among them: "According to constituting, or not deviating from, an established norm, rate or principle; standard; regular; natural." Another among other definitions: "Free from mental disorder; not insane or neurotic." If the last definition is accepted, one may reasonably conclude that society never has been and is never likely to be normal.

The way we used the caption, "Headed for Normalcy," was in connection with cancelling billions in war contracts and abolishing ration programs. Assuming that making munitions in vast quantities to defeat avowed enemies is not the regular order, we characterized the prospect as "normalcy."

Robert is properly critical of the facility with which the word was bandied around before the end of World War I. He thinks the decade from 1920 was "gilded," not "golden." Too many were money-mad, only to lose out in the collapse of 1929.

Robert remembers the decade of emergencies following 1930, doubtfully met by setting up new bureaus and creating more federal hand-outs. He thinks that period was not "normalcy." From 1898 to 1897 people blamed Grover Cleveland for 10-cent corn. For 10 years following the turn of the century, times were considered good, but not unduly inflationary.

When hogs reached the unprecedented $10 mark in about 1908, a wave of excitement swept the country. The period may or may not have been "normal." At least it was comforting. Since then we have had wars and numerous economic disturbances. If strikes are not "normal," then we have had a great deal of abnormality, and threats of more of it are in the offing.

When we refer to "normalcy" we have in mind orderly, self-governing processes, free from doles and free from unusual restraints. It is the breath of hope, not of despair, hope for individual initiative and fair reward for individual effort. Perhaps that kind of "normalcy" was in full bloom during the first decade of the century. People were not extremely rich nor extremely poor, but were contented with comparatively small means. We could get back to satisfactory "normalcy" without sacrificing standards of living if industry and labor unions would settle differences peacefully and without interrupting production, and if all contributors to the economic system would govern themselves by a long look into the future rather than by grabbing unfair advantages in quest of immediate gain.

We think many share Robert's bewilderment over this "normalcy" stuff. We know we have some hard tasks ahead, but as they are conquered, we prefer to believe we are nearer regularity, ie, normalcy. When, if, we arrive, is of course a question. We are hoping for the best.

Deserved Distinction. We are pleased to note that A. F. Allen, editor of the Sioux City Journal and Journal-Tribune, has been presented with an honorary life membership in the American Newspaper Guild. That is a union, but as explained by International President Milton M. Murray at the time of the presentation, it is designed to look after membership rights, while coordinating its forces with those of employing institutions.

Anyone who knows the many years of fine work done by Mr. Allen, knows he is eminently deserving of the distinguished honor which has come to few in the United States. He began at the bottom, and reached the top gradually but surely. We applaud his ability and respect his judgment.

To Foreign Lands. We do not accept paid subscriptions to persons overseas by the second class route because of no assurance that copies would ever arrive at intended destinations. The postal department advises use of the first class mailing privileges. This is the speedier and surer service. We urge to reach boys and girls in distant lands. Relatives should promptly mail their copies first class, and the cost of mailing is not great considering the value to recipients.

Slight Increase Is Revealed Here

Growth in Training School Is Expected at Least Ten Per Cent.

Attendance at Wayne State Teachers College will be about the same as last year or perhaps a little larger, according to early figures. Freshmen registered Monday and upper classmen Tuesday. Others are expected in later this week to increase the total.

The number of young men in school has increased substantially over last year. War veterans are among these.

Special features were arranged for freshmen. Y. W. C. A. held open house Monday afternoon and helped freshmen become acquainted with the campus. First year students met in the auditorium Monday evening when Dr. Ray Bryan, college dean, presided at a program which included talks by Dr. J. T. Anderson, Mrs. Maude Joseph Smith, acting dean of women, Prof. C. H. Lindahl, acting dean of men, Prof. Yale Kessler and L. F. Good, Prof. Russel Anderson led group songs. Services offered by the school were explained.

Training School Grows. Enrollment in high school and grades of the training school shows an increase of about 10 per cent over last year. The attendance is especially good in the 9th and 10th grades and it is thought that this is due to the Smith-Hughes courses offered for the first time.

Class work in the training school started Tuesday. Football practice got under way Monday.

Undergoes Operation. Fred Urwiler of Laurel, underwent an operation in a Wayne hospital Monday night.

Motor Is Shorted. Motor of a water pump in the S. J. Ickler residence burned out Tuesday when a short developed. Wayne firemen responded.

Offer Advantages To War Veterans

Wayne College Providing Special Training Under New GI Bill.

Wayne State Teachers college has the staff and facilities to offer special advantages to veterans who wish to continue their education under provisions of the GI bill of rights and to those who desire to take training under the rehabilitation act. These advantages were explained by L. F. Good, college registrar, to War Dads and service men who met in the Legion room Thursday evening.

Hospitalization, employment, unemployment pay, financed loans and education are among the provisions of the GI bill. In the education phase the government offers $50 a month for single veterans and $75 a month for married service men who wish to continue their training. It also furnishes up to $500 a year for tuition, books, fees, etc. In the rehabilitation phase for disabled veterans the allowance is $92 a month for unmarried veterans and $103.50 for married men.

Wayne college has been approved for offering training for veterans under the GI bill, law No. 346, and also under the rehabilitation bill, No. 16, Mr. Good explained. Several veterans took advantage of the work here last semester, and Mr. Good reports that a larger number expect to enroll this fall under the plan.

Refresher courses, accelerated pre-college courses, commercial and industrial arts work, teachers' training courses, pre-professional work and terminal courses of junior college level are among the educational advantages offered at Wayne college for returning veterans. Mr. Good explained that the local school offers special advantages for those starting to train for practically every line of endeavor.

For those interested in aviation the school provides ground courses and the Century Aviation company furnishes flight instruction. This work gives college credit and also leads to a private pilot's license.

Work completed at Wayne receives full recognition by state departments of education as well as by colleges and universities. This institution is fully accredited by the American Association of Teachers Colleges and by the North Central Association of Colleges.

Mr. Good told of the advantages of being located in a small city within easy access of larger centers. The beautiful campus of 51 acres with nine large, modern buildings is at the edge of Wayne.

Living expenses at Wayne college, Mr. Good stressed, are at a minimum both on and off campus. This is of special advantage for veterans who wish to attend school under the allowance of the GI bill.

COUNTY FAIRS ARE LARGELY ATTENDED WAYNE'S SHOW NEXT

NEIGHBORING county fairs thus far held, have attracted record-breaking crowds. We refer to those taking place the past few weeks at Concord, West Point and Hartington. Relieved from the war nightmare and released from gasoline restrictions, people took time off the regular grind to attend and relax. Next week comes the Wayne county fair which, mentioned frequently in these columns for some weeks, is highlighted in today's Herald. Farm production hereabouts and lively interest in 4-H club activities guarantee good exhibits. The program of entertainment has been secured at greater cost than customary and promises to equal highest expectations. Fair managers realized that more cash had to be paid to employ best attractions, and they acted accordingly, believing enlivened interest and increased patronage would justify the extra cost. The small grain harvest will be over, and farmers may be expected to take a well earned rest by enjoying the fair.

Colleges Helped By Law Makers

Senator W. A. Crossland Is Speaker for Kiwanis Meeting Monday.

Nebraska educational institutions do not yet receive the appropriations they had 20 years ago but the money being allotted to them is gradually being increased to meet their needs, stated Senator W. A. Crossland in speaking to Kiwanians Monday. The senator gave much credit to the legislature for making appropriations that come closer to being what they should be. At the same time the legislature cut its budget for the present biennium by $500,000 over the preceding two-year period.

In 1941, when Senator Crossland was first serving, appropriations for teachers colleges were increased by 2.33 per cent. In 1943 the raise was about 15 per cent, and this year the increase was about 15 per cent.

Educational institutions of the state get about 40 per cent of the state tax money, Senator Crossland explained. The state normal board received about $1,500,000 for the present biennium. Wayne college was apportioned about 28 per cent of the amount.

Though salaries of instructors were raised and appropriations increased for the teachers colleges in the past six years, they are still lower than they were before drastic cuts were made. About $230,000 more was appropriated than that now for the schools.

The senator told that he has attended about 130 hearings held by the appropriations committee which tries to learn the facts about needs of state institutions. The Wayne man is a member and secretary of this committee.

The speaker commended Wayne college educators for their study center work which has been a direct service to the educational needs of the people and which has helped give a better understanding of the services of the college.

Senator Crossland commended the loyal and diligent work of many citizens who are interested in the welfare of the Wayne school and who have provided valuable information to the law makers.

Rev. O. B. Proett introduced the speaker.

County Pioneer Dies in Omaha

Thomas C. Vroman Resided At LaPorte in Early Days of State.

Thomas C. Vroman, 87, one of Wayne county's pioneer residents, died Friday in an Omaha hospital. Funeral rites were conducted Tuesday at 2 at Glendale mortuary and burial was in Silver City, Ia.

Deceased operated a farm for many years before moving to Omaha in 1905. He leaves his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Nell Vroman of Omaha.

Mr. Vroman was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Vroman who came to northeast Nebraska in 1869 or 1870. When Wayne county was organized September 26, 1870, in the Geo. Scott home, W. G. Vroman presided as chairman and he became so excited over the proceedings that he tipped over in his chair and broke a rocker.

One son of the W. G. Vromans lost two fingers when his brother accidentally cut him while the two were getting willows for firewood.

W. G. Vroman served as Wayne county's first surveyor, from 1870-71. In March, 1871, the senior Mr. Vroman drafted a map of Wayne county which was bought by the commissioners for $25.

During the severe winter of 1880-81, when Marvin Root, 12, of the northwest part of the county, died at LaPorte, Mr. Vroman was one of the men in the party that finally reached the Marvin Root home to notify the family.

When the county seat was moved from LaPorte to Wayne, Wm. G. Vroman built a hotel near the present site of the depot and operated this until about 1884 when Chas. Wilkins took charge. One of the Vromans, Nordill, moved from LaPorte to Wayne, the residence which has been the Chas. Thompson home on south Main street.

Early county records show that Nordill Vroman married Abbie Durin, Daniel Vroman married Alice Durin and Catherine Vroman married Orrin Chaffee in the late 70's.

Miss Geraldine Frederick Becomes the Bride of Pvt. C. Stingley

Miss Geraldine Frederick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Frederick of San Gabriel, Calif., formerly of Wayne, and Pvt. Clayton Stingley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stingley of Dixon, were married at a pretty 6 o'clock candle light ceremony at Grace Lutheran church Sunday evening, September 2. Rev. Walter Brackensick performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of many relatives and friends.

The church was decorated with mixed bouquet and palms. Miss Nancy Mines, gowned in blue and wearing pink carnation corsage, sang "Because," before the service.

Library News

Here is a message for mothers. Now that the school year is beginning again, why not see that your children have the extra help which will encourage them to go to the library after school. Nothing can mean more to your boy or girl than the opportunity to enrich school life with books. Why not visit the librarians yourself and discuss your children's needs with them?

A booklet has been received at the library this week concerning the book by William L. White which was condensed in the Reader's Digest called Report on the Russians. The booklet contains facts by Quentin Reynolds, Edgar Snow, Eric Johnston, Henry Wallace, John Hersey, Joseph Davies and Wendell Wilkie as well as many others in which they take issue with White. They call it the Truth About the Book the Nazis Like.

A most interesting book of travel has come to the library this week. It is The Pan American Highway and is the story of the building of that highway from the Rio Grande to the canal zone by Herbert Lanks who wrote Highway to Alaska. The pictures alone make this book worth looking at and to read it makes one long for the days ahead when travel by car will be something more than just a dream.

Commodore Hornblower, by C. S. Forester, is now on the rental shelf. This author has become as popular as Nordhoff and Hall as a story teller of a rousing tale of the sea. Also on the same shelf is a new mystery by Eric Ambler, Cause for Alarm, which the New York Times described as "the best spy story that has come our way in a long time." "Dear Gertrude," by Wendell Ephet, is something unusual. At first glance it looks like a book of cartoons but upon further investigation you will find that they are real letters written from somewhere in India mailed who lives in Brooklyn. She thought to a girl by the name of Gertrude they were too good to keep to herself and showed them to Look magazine and they asked for permission to print them at once.

Dies in Flames.

Arthur August Bollinger, 57-year-old workman, died early Thursday in a fire that destroyed a bunkhouse in Hubbard. Flames in the house were discovered by Ray Tunney, Emerson truck driver, who happened to pass. Hubbard and Emerson fire departments came to the scene, and the body of Bollinger was found in the debris of the building after the flames were extinguished. Bollinger has two brothers and a sister.

Geo. Miller, 65, died last Wednesday at Stanton.

First Road Test Is Issued to Ford

First road test sanction by the American Automobile association contest board since before World War II was issued to W. B. He expects to reach his destination in about three weeks, planning to drive eight hours, making between 90 and 100 miles daily.

Peace Terms Are Signed

THE unconditional surrender of Japan was sealed in the formal signing of peace terms on the battleship Missouri in Tokyo bay Sunday, which was Saturday here. Gen. Mac Arthur, allied commander, presided on the momentous occasion, and made a speech in which he voiced the high purposes of the American government. President Truman spoke of Sunday, December 7, 1941, as the day of "despair," and of Sunday, September 2, 1945, as the day of "retribution"—a day of the "victory of liberty over tyranny." The president declared September 2 as V-J day.

The world is again free from war, and the price paid in lives and treasure to insure human freedom has been gigantic. Defeated enemies will be treated infinitely better than they would have treated vanquished peoples. If the Japs had the sense to understand they would see prospect for more advantages under allied control than they would have had if their crazy dreams of victory could have been realized.

The treachery of Pearl Harbor will never be forgotten. Bataan and Corregidor and the horrors of prison camps will spur the civilized world to be on guard. Gen. MacArthur and his men were properly wary of the Japanese until surrender had been made complete and overwhelming allied forces were on hand.

Stripped of means of exercising power, Japan is now out of the aggressor class, and it will be kept that way. With the titanic struggle over and enemy countries made helpless, it is hoped sufficient forces for maintenance of order in occupied areas may be had by volunteers with speeding of others to their homes and back into civilian channels.

Persons let out of war plants by the thousands will do best for themselves to accept less pay in other available jobs. Peace-time employers cannot pay more than their production will permit, and half a loaf is better than none. Many in defense plants spent earnings as fast as they were realized. Many others were forehanded and saved for the future. The latter will use surplus funds to advantage and be content with lowered wage scales. The former will kick, and return to work reluctantly if at all.

A contributor to the Omaha World-Herald's Public Pulse says he "despises" Westbrook Pegler, and asks that his column be discontinued. On the other hand, many like him because he reveals unpleasant facts that people have a right to know. There is abundance in the World-Herald to warrant the subscription cost without complaining over the comparatively small space occupied by Pegler. If one does not like his column, he may just lift his nasal appendage and go around it.

On his eighty-third birthday recently, Will Maupin, newspaper man, one time state railway commissioner and democrat of the old school, expressed the hope to live long enough to help reform and remodel the party of his life-long affiliation. His desire is strengthened by his aversion to the new deal which captured the machinery of the democratic party in recent years and left old-timers like himself looking in. And the longer Maupin looks, the madder he gets.

The story of Pearl Harbor convinces one that all military forces should be under one competent, responsible head. It also suggests that some Washington authorities were too slow in meeting an evident threat. But it is believed the Pearl Harbor report will not be complete without the court martial trial demanded by the two officers involved. This is subject to the order of congress, and it would seem that body could not reasonably do less.

In the current International Teamster, Daniel J. Tobin, editor and union bellwether, cracks the whip over industry and shouts defiance at private capital. He is pleased to believe socialism in England will be more radical than some optimistic and sensible Americans have hoped. And Tobin is well paid to serve as president of the Teamster union and to engender ill will and discord.

The National Safety Council warns automobile drivers not to grow dangerously fast with their old cars and worn tires as a result of cancelled gasoline rationing. The advice says the average age of passenger cars now in use is more than eight years—too old and feeble to be forced along at prewar speed. The council warns in behalf of safety and fewer tragedies.

Needed by comparatively small industries and businesses on which much employment depends: Lowered taxes and letting each employee handle and be responsible for his social security payments. Thus would ability to make improvements for enlarged employment be stepped up, and the burden of dealing with the government would be greatly reduced.

A writer in a current magazine tells the story of the small town in a way that makes inhabitants thereof glad they live in one. Friendships are closer and more sincere. Fellow-helpfulness is more evident. Living in a metropolitan center is cold business. It is a struggle for self exclusively, and no one cares a picayune about the other fellow.

Prospect that congress will soon change time back to the old standard especially encourages the middle west where the need of misnamed daylight saving never really existed. The many who did not follow the newfangled idea will keep their clocks where they are. The rest will merely join them.

With the war over, government agencies may be persuaded to cut down the flow of propaganda to newspapers. This literary outpouring causes waste in production and paper, and too often serves no end beyond filling waste baskets.

STEFAN. Congressman Miller of Nebraska's Fourth district, gave Congressman Karl Stefan a deserved send-off on the floor of the house recently. He mentioned the "distinguished and eminent service" rendered by our congressman during his six terms. The tribute was prompted by an honorary degree of doctor of laws conferred on him by the National university. Mr. Miller recalled that Stefan began at the bottom by serving as a messenger and check boy for the Western Union Telegraph company at Omaha, working nights to complete his education. He is a native of Bohemia. His experience includes service as telegraph operator, news reporter, editorial writer and radio commentator. He was a telegrapher in the Philippines in 1904-1906. He has traveled around the world and has been in most countries. He speaks several languages. In the late San Francisco conference he acted as one of the advisers. In congress Stefan works like a Trojan, and he takes the duties and responsibilities of his trust seriously. His constituents are glad to know he is making increasingly good.

CITY GROCERY

A REPORT

to You Who Are Waiting for TELEPHONES

Many persons are asking: "Can we now expect to have telephones installed soon?" Regretfully, we have to answer: "Just as soon as humanly possible . . . but it will be quite a while before everyone on the waiting list can get a telephone."

Those of you who have had your applications in for the longest period will, of course, be the first to get telephones, as instruments and facilities become available, and for some of you that may not be very long.

Telephone factories, which during the past several years have been producing almost exclusively for war, are being converted to meet the tremendous civilian telephone needs which have accumulated.

Gradually, and with increasing speed, new telephone service will be provided. Yet, in spite of everything, the complete job will take time.

Switchboards, wire, cable, and telephone instruments will be produced as rapidly as possible. And installation work will be rushed to the limit. Much telephone equipment is complex and the task of manufacturing and installing it is time-consuming. Therefore, a considerable period will be required to serve all who are waiting.

We're mighty sorry that we cannot set any definite date for everyone's new telephone.

For your patience and understanding, our warmest thanks.

Seaman Is Lucky On Flagship Boyd. SM1c Eugene O. Sabs, who is division commander's signalman on the flagship, USS Boyd, writes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Sabs, that he has been having some miserable days as he has experienced so many typhoons. He has been in the Pacific 19 months.

Of one of the typhoons he writes as follows: "I had a nice swim recently and I never even left the ship. I was helping another fellow sort out our laundry under one of our 40 m.m. when all of a sudden a big wave broke over us and about a 10-foot wall of water hit us. I had a good footing so I managed to stay upright, but the other fellow lost his footing and started toward the fantail along with the laundry and everything else. I managed to grab him before he got too far, but he got a nasty gash in the leg." SM1c Sabs sends the following news release which he thinks proves the USS Boyd is considered a lucky ship: "Sailors aboard this destroyer believe in miracles after an incident that occurred recently in the Pacific during a sustained night air attack by enemy suicide and torpedo bombers in which three destroyers were credited with two 'kills' and driving off numerous other Jap planes. "Silhouetted against one of the brightest full moons in months, the ship was patrolling a forward area in company with two other destroyers when the alert was sounded, warning of Jap planes approaching simultaneously from several different directions. "Using the almost daylight brightness to press home the attack, 10 or 12 single and twin engine planes tried numerous times to breach the heavy anti-aircraft barrage thrown up by the destroyers, which presented clearly outlined targets.

"During the peak of the attack, at which time the Jap planes were closing in on the destroyer group, bridge personnel heard one of the sky lookouts shout, 'moon eclipsing bearing 160 relative position, angle 45.' "The skipper commander, A. E. Teal, appraised the phenomenon and told the gunners to keep firing. A few minutes later two planes burst into flames and crashed into the sea.

"The eclipse developed into a total one shortly afterward, blanketing the entire area in darkness. Observing its contribution to the routing of the Jap attack, Cdr. Teal remarked that he felt like 'Mark Twain's Connecticut Yankee during the blackout.'"

DA-WEST (ALL-PURPOSE) GRINDER. EATS IT UP! If you want an all-purpose grinder, here it is. The DA-WEST grinds corn, ensilage, alfalfa, oats, barley or just any feed that will go into its large hungry mouth. The answer is that extra large, ball-bearing mounted ROTOR—the only moving part. This also means slower speeds and less power. This precision engineered GRINDER is vibrationless. It will out-perform other machines several times as heavy. It's compact enough to move through a barn door, yet large enough to grind 15,000 pounds of roughage or 12,000 pounds of shelled corn per hour. Every farmer or feeder wants this economical grinder. Soon pays for itself. IMMEDIATE DELIVERY! THE ENTHUSIASM OF OUR SATISFIED USERS SPEAKS FOR ITSELF. LOADERS: The DA-WEST hydraulic loader fits John Deere A or B, Farmall H or M, or Ford. It uses a fork, scoop or stacker sweep. It's as far ahead of the field in design and performance as is the grinder. Bickert Farm Service South Main Str. Wayne, Nebr.

Dwayne Green Hurt Second Time Within Year When Tractor Spills.

Dwayne Green, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Green, Hoskins, is recovering from bruises suffered Tuesday night, August 28, about 7:30, when the tractor he was driving upset and pinned him underneath. The accident occurred one-half mile north of the Stanton spur.

The youth was caught under the tractor for 30 minutes before members of a threshing crew released him. They had to remove the tractor seat with the youth Dwayne was hauling a load of oats at the time the accident took place.

The accident led to another mishap in which four automobiles were involved, according to Cpl. Harry Brit of the state safety patrol. Otto Wooman, Alvin Hankins and Henry Sydow, Stanton, parked their cars while helping rescue young Green.

When a call for help was made, Bert Barr, Stanton, answered the summons and took with him Jake Richardson and a man named Graber. Due to something going wrong with brakes on Barr's car, he lost control of it going down hill, and the machine hit the bumper on Sydow's automobile, which was knocked against the rear of Hankins' auto. Hankins' machine was knocked against the rear of Wooman's pickup truck. Cars of Barr and Hankins were damaged considerably.

When Barr lost control, he told his companions to jump. Both Graber and Richardson jumped, the latter suffering bruises. Graber was unhurt.

This is the second time this year that young Green has been injured. He suffered a broken leg in a head-on automobile crash in Norfolk's business section last January, and was hospitalized about three months.

Lt. McPherran has been in the navy nearly four years, serving in Bermuda eight months, and later in the Atlantic and Pacific areas on USS carrier Wake Island. He arrived in the states about two months ago.

Prices Are Cut On Ration Boards

War price and ration board office staffs are being reduced about 50 per cent. OPA Director M. E. Rawlings of Sioux City, announces. Removal of gasoline, fuel oil, oil stoves and processed foods from rationing reduced the work about half.

Mr. Rawlings says that price activity will be the most important job in the immediate future for boards. Most boards are forming three volunteer price panels, one for food, one for restaurants and services and one for consumer durable goods which include apparel.

The entire OPA program is shaped to insure returning veterans of 100 cents' purchasing power for their dollars. It also helps small business men embarking in new ventures to know what their costs will be so they may engage in business with less speculation.

New 1946 automobile plates will be white figures on red background. Two plates will be issued as metal is again available.

RECEIVES DISCHARGE AFTER LONG SERVICE

Merton Hilton, who had been in service since April, 1942, and who spent two years in Europe with the infantry, has received his honorable discharge, having 91 points. He arrived here last Friday to file his discharge papers and then went to Chancellor, S. D., where his wife lives. He expects to visit his mother in Portland before deciding on a location. The young man was employed with the Coryell garage here before leaving for the army. Merton earned the bronze star for meritorious service in the Ardennes, and he has the presidential unit citation. His overseas theatre ribbon bears four stars, these for the battles of Normandy, northern France, Ardennes and Rhineland.

The youth went as far into Germany as Nurnberg, a beautiful city in which national sports are featured.

The trip back was made on the Fateville, a new ship made in Boston and returning on its first mission. The vessel, which was launched in June, carried 1,900 men. Some of the largest ships carry 15,000 to 20,000 men.

"There's no place like Nebraska," Merton is convinced.

Pfc. Harrington, a truck driver with the 2nd armored division, participated in the Rhineland and central European campaigns since his arrival overseas in June, 1944.

Paris study center is operated as a part of the army education program. The two-month course is the first summer training ever instituted in the school founded by Robert de Sorbon in 1326 as a theology seminary.

Classes are taught by English-speaking French instructors for three hours each morning. Visits to museums, churches, art galleries and other places of interest in Paris and the neighboring area occupy the afternoons.

The program operates to allow soldiers to pursue their studies as much like civilians as possible. Contact with French people is encouraged to enlarge understanding of French life and customs.

DIRT EATER

When this specimen has a hunger that a corn and roots won't satisfy, he eats dirt. That's his hit-and-miss way of getting the minerals he needs.

For domesticated swine produced for a profit, it's better to make sure they get the minerals. That's one reason for adding Hog Special to the ration.

There are two more reasons for using Hog Special. One, tonics—tonics that stimulate appetite and promote better use of feed. Two, vitamin D that helps prevent rickets. We believe we have given you three profitable reasons for adding Hog Special to the ration.

Birthdays of Four Memorable Days

Gas Tanks Gives Way Under Strain of Carrying Capacity Load.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wald, Torrington, Conn., have no trouble remembering the birthdays of four of their children. Lena's is December 7, Pearl Harbor day; Ruth's, June 6, Normandy Day; Kenneth's, May 9, V-E Day; Franklin's, August 14, the day the Japs quit.

After strolling in and out of the office several times, a man pointed a pistol at Florence Raffon, commercial telegraph branch manager at Los Angeles, and politely asked, "Are you too busy to hand over the money?" Mrs. Raffon looked at the pistol and decided she wasn't too busy. He got $200.

A motorist drove into a filling station at Trinidad, Colo., and excitedly told an attendant to "fill 'er up." The attendant complied. As the motorist drove away, the full gas tank, struck to the strain, dropped to the pavement.

Somebody is carrying this reversion thing a little too far, one Dallas, Tex., citizen reported to police. Mr. and Mrs. Ezell Foster said a burglar, evidently feminine, left a complete wardrobe of work clothes, shirt, slacks and shoes, in their home Thursday night. She left with a white snapper outfit, a red and white dress, blouse and suede slippers.

At San Diego, Cal., a tall air-raft worker hummed "Deep in the Heart of Texas" while waiting for his last paycheck. At intervals he shouted, "Yes, I'm goin' home, Lordy, Lordy!" He admitted he liked San Diego, was treated well, had a comfortable place to live and had been paid well. Asked why he wished to return to Texas, he replied, "Have malt baby bawn in California? You must be crazy!"

The singing telegram is back. That is, it's back legally. But Western Union says it won't be ready for reconversion to this blessing of peace until the shortage of messengers, especially those able to render "Happy Birthday to You," is eased.

Jimmy Feld, 15, rates as good detective material around the Quincy, Ill., police station. Jimmy reported he had found in a second-hand store a bicycle stolen from him a year ago. An officer established the youth's ownership.

At a county board meeting at Harrisburg, Ill., one supervisor pre-faced a discussion with, "This is what I think about it and I don't care who knows it." Then without pausing he turned to a newspaper reporter and asked, "Would you please put down your note book while I talk?"

When Leo Fagan of Freeport, Ill., closed his food store for the V-J holidays, he knew people would want bread, so he placed several baskets outside with a sign telling patrons to serve themselves. They did, and left $33.20, or 20 cents more than the bread would have brought if sold over the counter.

Divorce of Priscilla Earle's parents and adoption of the 7-year-old by her grandparents gave her a thorough reshuffle of relatives at Minneapolis. She became a sister of her natural father and an aunt to twin brothers and two sisters.

At Salt Lake City after three straight nights of V-J celebrations, police were getting a little impatient. So 300 merrymakers who were dancing in the downtown streets were invited to take over the police gymnasium and gratefully complied.

"Open Fire" was the name of the newspaper printed aboard the destroyer, Norris, now in port at San Pedro, Cal., and edited by Ens. J. Richard Nokes, former Portland Oregonian reporter. When the paper came out after V-J day it had a new name, "Cease Fire."

Steve, the 5-month-old canine mascot of WAC company 58, Camp Carson, Colo., hospital center, is on the verge of losing his job. Steve likes the girls, but he chases all the men away. All competition is dealt with the same way, whether it's in the form of captains, lieutenants or just plain privates. The mascot's mistress, Etc. Minette Cowen, thinks "maybe Steve has neurosis but it's been just a headache to me."

At Idaho Falls, Idaho, Fred Keefer bought an acre of land from Bonneville county for $1, but later was informed the sale was illegal because the advertised description was wrong. The county then sent him a tax bill for 17 cents. Ponders Mr. Keefer: "If I don't own the land, why the taxes? If I pay the taxes, do I own the land?" The county commission will answer his question after consulting a lawyer.

The National bank of Tulsa found itself without money because of the misunderstanding over President Truman's recent two-day V-J holiday announcement. The bank, canceling the second holiday, opened as usual. Officials discovered, however, that the vault time lock had been set to open at 9 a. m., Friday. They borrowed enough money from the First National bank to conduct the day's business.

Two Chicago robbers bound and gagged Max Newman in his clothing shop and spent 90 minutes trying on his stock while he watched. After selecting the patterns they liked best in their sizes, they departed with five $50 suits and $40 in cash.

Practically everyone ate fried chicken in a certain section of Dallas, Tex., or at least everyone, except Lee Myers, the chicken man himself. Lee left his farm early in the morning with 180 chickens, bound for market. He sold them all. Then returning home with an appetite all his own for a dinner of fried chicken, he went to a coop to do a re-count on the 20 prize fryers he had stocked away for his own eating. But thieves had been to the Myers chicken ranch.

The hens themselves foiled a chicken thief at the home of Mrs. Lena Lund of Portland, Ore. They flew up into the branches of a tree and out of reach. The thief won't have anything to drink, either, for a while. He dropped his liquor permit on the floor of the pullet palace.

Acting County Judge William K. Powers, Tulsa, Okla., read a marriage ceremony before the same couple three times recently, but that is no record. The pair, Norma Wheaton and James B. Diggs, have said "I do" to each other, other attorneys and have been acting as stand-ins in proxy marriages between service men and brides who don't want to wait till the boys come home.

City Commissioner William D. Wood was chosen rodeo foreman of the pioneer day celebration at Ogden, Utah. Riding to the center of the arena to acknowledge his selection, he was thrown from his horse and broke his arm. He stayed to watch the pioneer day parade from a sitting position and with a red face!

Mrs. Leonard Everson, 29, of Stanton, died Tuesday last week.
