Noted Agriculture Authority to Speak

HOWARD J. GRAMLICH

Howard J. Gramlich, general agricultural agent Chicago and North Western Railway System, and noted agriculture authority, will address the Kiwanis club at Hotel Morrison, Wayne, on Tuesday, September 25, at noon.

Mr. Gramlich's topic will be: "A Look at Tomorrow."

He has a career of more than 30 years in the general agricultural and livestock fields and became associated with the North Western Railway company early in 1943. For four years preceding his present position he was secretary of the American Shorthorn Breeders association, and in 1934 and 1935 he served as government advisor on feeds for the agricultural adjustment administration in Washington. His work with the government was particularly important for it was during these years that the nation's farmers were suffering from the effects of a severe drought.

Prior to 1938 he was a member of the staff of the University of Nebraska's department of animal husbandry for 24 years, the last 22 of which he was chairman of the department. As a student of agriculture he has visited every state in the union as well as Mexico, Great Britain, Holland, France and Belgium. He is well-known in agricultural and livestock circles and is frequently called on to address agricultural and livestock conventions and meetings.

Football Season Getting Started

A schedule has been completed for the first team, and both Mr. Speece and Mr. Rickers express hope of lining up a light series of games for the 8th and 9th grades. GOLDEN WEDDING— (Continued from Page One) room and front room with bedrooms upstairs. About 30 guests assembled there for the September 18 wedding. The group was too large to be entertained in the house so they were seated in the yard east of the home. In the group were: Edward T. and Mrs. Roxa Rennie, May Prescott, Maria, Bessie, Will and Lillian Rennie, the bridegroom's immediate family; Harry and Mrs. Emma Prescott, brother of the bridegroom and sister of the bride, and their daughter, Edith; Cal and Mrs. Mary Ritchey, sister of the bride, and their son, Glenn; Mrs. Maria Wolf, sister of the bride, and daughters, Rose, Pearl and Florrie; Hudson Pingrey and Mrs. Lenette Pingrey, maternal grandparents of the bridegroom; Samuel Tidrick, uncle of the bride, and family; Geo. Tidrick, uncle of the bride, and family; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stonecker, uncle and aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Newton Stonecker, cousins of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. James White, Miss Charlotte White; Rev. W. W. Theobald, Baptist minister in Wayne, and Mrs. S. R. Theobald; and Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Theobald.

The Stonecker families drove up from Seward with team and buggy for the occasion. Other guests arrived in horse-drawn carriages and buggies early in the afternoon. They tied their horses to fences and assembled in the yard. It was warm, but the men have been fairly comfortable in their heavy "dress-up" clothes.

Perhaps many were thinking gratefully that crops were better than in 1894 which had been a year of severe drought. One would be wrong, however, if he assumed there was no cause for anxiety among farmers then for land was low priced and the market value of crops was low. America's great industrial and mechanical expansion had not begun. Farmers' products were plentiful and demand was sluggish. Some worried farmers were giving support to the populist movement which later supported the Bryan policies. Cleveland was president.

Farm labor in 1895 was largely hand labor. Farmers walked behind nearly every implement, and implements were small as compared with those of today. One furrow was plowed at a time, and one row of corn cultivated. Man's only power was that of his own body and his horses. Telephones, highways, rural free delivery of mail and electric power lines did not exist in the community 50 years ago.

Lack of modern conveniences did not affect the happy occasion. Capacity and ability to live fully and deeply may be less dependent on mechanization than one is inclined to think. The wedding, happiest of all events, was solemnized on the doorstep which was carpeted for the occasion. Turkey dinner was served. There were compliments, fun, tears. When the shadows began to lengthen, the guests drove away.

After visiting in Missouri with Louis and Mrs. Sue Kilburn, the latter a sister of Mrs. Prescott, the couple returned to this vicinity. In March, 1896, they established their home southwest of Wayne and have lived there since.

Children of the Prescotts are Dale and Edward of Wayne, Russell of Berkeley, Cal. Harry of El Paso, Tex., Florence Storey of Broadwater, Neb., Miriam Kay of Palos Park, Ill., Edyth and Truma McConnell of Wayne. The grandchildren are Jack and Jamie Prescott, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Prescott, Joyce, Carol, Harry, Jr., and Margaret Ann, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Prescott, John Thomas Storey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Storey, Rodger Chandler Kay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenz E. Kay, and Charles Prescott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie McConnell. Two grandchildren who passed away were James Storey and Sandra Prescott.

Former Residents Have Anniversary

Rev. Dr. and Mrs. E. Van Dyke Wight of Princeton, N. J., celebrated their golden wedding anniversary August 28. Rev. Wight was formerly Presbyterian minister in Wayne. From here the Wights went to Hastings where Rev. Wight was president of the college.

Mrs. A. A. Welch and Mrs. J. T. Bressler both wrote congratulatory notes to the Wights.

Rev. and Mrs. Wight have three children. Edward represents a New York firm in Europe and has been there most of the time since World War I. Edward has spent the last three years in Switzerland and plans to come to the states this fall to visit his parents. Elizabeth and William are both living near their folks. William has three children, the youngest almost 14.

Rev. Wight mentioned that the late Eob Cunningham was editing the Wayne Herald when the former was located here.

TO ELECT PRESIDENT OF STUDENT COUNCIL

Rites Conducted For Charles Spahr

Funeral services were held Wednesday, September 12, at the Peniel Presbyterian church in Castle Grove, Iowa, for Charles Edward Spahr, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austri Spahr, formerly of Wayne. The child was instantly killed on county road A west of Monticello, Iowa, Monday, September 10. Services were in charge of Rev. Hodgson of Cedar Rapids, and Rev. C. E. Burdine of Anamosa. Miss Helen McLaughlin sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Wilbur Cartano.

The child was accidentally struck by a car driven by a farmer near Castle Grove. A brother, Joseph, 5, suffered a four-inch scalp wound on the back of his head. He returned home Tuesday last week from a hospital where he received treatment.

Austin Spahr and his sons had gone to a field across the road to bring cattle home for milking and feeding when the accident occurred.

Charles Edward Spahr was born September 3, 1935, at Wayne. The family moved to Iowa in 1940. He was in the 5th grade and attended Peniel Sunday school and church.

Deceased is survived by his parents, two brothers, Robert and Joseph, and a sister, Ruth.

Active pall bearers were Delmar King, Paul Black, Charles Tuttle and Eugene Hall. Honorary pall bearers were Howard Hall, David Cartano, Wayne King, Glen King, Joseph Tuttle and Joseph Bayne.

Impractical As Usual
 LAST week Henry Wallace, nation's No. 1 dreamer, had an idea that particularly invites middle west attention. He would have the government put factories in rural areas. Henry knows the industrial trend from city to country, but he overlooks the fact that people would prefer to see private enterprise do the job rather than load it on an already overburdened government. Capitalist heads know how Federal bureaus merely understand how to spend tax money and increase the tax burden. Henry has a lot of ideas, but most of them are impractical. Touching Wallace vaguely, the Omaha World-Herald comments:

"It is true that industry is casting about for new plant sites. The partial decentralization that was brought about during the war was successful; it has spurred business men to thinking along such lines.

"It is true also that this and other under-industrialized sections need more industry to process the products of our farms. It is likely to the point of inevitability that such industrial development would raise purchasing power and standards of living.

"But there is a question as to how government fits into this picture. How far should it go in such planning?

"Certainly it should help in revising freight rates and making them more equitable. It should oversee and finance the development of our river resources.

"But this is not the kind of assistance that Mr. Wallace has in mind. His program would be an adjunct of full employment. He would throw the weight of government behind surveys of industrial possibilities; he would use the federal credit to make loans. He would be a big brother to interested business men and to the people of the under-developed areas. Government would not merely assist; it would think and plan for the people; it would assume risk and, backed by the treasury, rush in where private enterprise fears to tread.

"That is Mr. Wallace's idea of assistance. Others see in such plans a taking-over by government, a further encroachment on individual rights, a forerunner of socialization. At that price, assistance might come too high."

Uncle's Help
 WRITER Louis Bromfield thinks the United States cannot escape, if it would, giving needed help to indigent and helpless nations, but that it should make reasonably sure its help is not used in the future to the detriment of our own economic welfare. He says in conclusion:

"The problem, I repeat, is not whether or not we shall refinance the rest of the world but how it shall be done without losing, not only the money loaned, but world markets and world communications. It does not seem very good sense for a man, an institution or a nation to finance freely and generously without restrictions on sound business compensation, the establishment and growth of the machinery to destroy his own prosperity and existence. "In other words Uncle Sam is not the first generous fellow who stands in danger of being ruined by the very poor relations he has helped—poor relations who turn vindictive as they turn prosperous again."

Congressman A. L. Miller of Nebraska, has introduced a measure in the house to stop the draft immediately and end the president's special war powers March 1. The congressman proposes that the president's authority be stopped six months after hostilities ceased rather than six months after congress declares the emergency over. He also expresses the conviction that sufficient volunteers may be had to control conquered countries. The peacetime draft is not popular. Neither is it popular to hold in the service unnecessary numbers after they had helped prosecute and win the war.

Persons who have houses to rent, would welcome removal of ceilings on rents. Those who rent, pray for the maintenance of ceilings. Yes, people are a trifle selfish. They like ceilings as they apply to the other fellows. Some price ceilings are probably unfair and need to be readjusted or abolished. But removing all ceilings too soon would threaten the economic structure, cause wild inflation and start a race between cost of production and prices for finished products.

It is fortunate that the secret of the atomic bomb is restricted to nations that want peace, not war, and that are opposed to conquest or selfish injustice. How long it will remain in minds that may be safely trusted is a question. It is hoped indefinitely. Anyone can reason what would have happened if this terrible instrument of death had been invented and put into use ahead of the allies.

We notice one prize pig has been named B-29. "Atomic Bomb" is another powerful name so far passed up. It would exactly fit a pig we once owned. It would go through or climb fences, and march into gardens with evident intention to ruin and lay waste.

Reconversion has been frequently brought to a standstill the past week by strikes. Plans to absorb workers are defeated, and idleness increases. The condition is incongruous. It does not make sense.

The best one can do is not worth bragging about if it fails.

Inexorable Time.
 (Atlantic News-Telegraph)

Yesterday the light of day carried far into the hours of the night—today the evening fades almost before the day is done. Time, in its majestic surge, moves inexorably forward—in war, in peace—with measured tread, nor pausing to view the wreckage wrought by man or lifting its cadence by so much as a single step to avoid the horrors wrought by man's incredible mistakes. The fall closes in on this, the hour of victory, the winter throws a camouflage of white across the blood stained wastes of war and at the appointed hour the spring will bring new life to grace the rubble left by man's inhumanity to man. And as the seasons march they bring to earth a healing and a sense of the smallness of man—man whose knowledge has yet to set the seasons back a single moment or speed the cycle of the day by one iota. As the spring follows the dying fall and the dead winter with renewed life, so the passing seasons hold forth the hope to man that he, too, may some day bring the light of peace to the world deadened by war, and save the human race from the tragedy which its blunders would inflict upon it.

RUSSIA.
 It is believed we can get along peacefully with Russia if we do not interfere with its dictatorship, and if it does not try to butt into our system of free enterprise. Doubtless Russia has had enough war, as we have had, and it is evident that the power of America's democracy was indispensable to victory. The Saturday Evening Post mentions Russia's huge problem of industrial and agricultural production. By 1940 the government forced from 14,000,000 to 20,000,000 farmers off their lands and into industry. Russia's collectivized state does not consult anyone's wishes, but adopts a plan and compels observance of it. It expects to use war prisoners in rebuilding its country. The Poles and others suspect the labor union will not confine its soviet policy of force to prisoners. The Balkans have hoped for religious and other freedoms, and perhaps Russia will grant them in the course of agreements to be made around the peace table. The soviet union will need goods and services, and it may be persuaded to secure them through peaceful methods.

FAIRS.
 An editorial in the Nebraska City News-Press, republished in and endorsed by the Lincoln Journal, criticized this year's state fair as majoring in "race-track gambling and hula-hula-girls parading for a street carnival company." The editorial points out that the state fair has dropped far below the erstwhile status of a noble enterprise. Four-H club managers who made a good showing, are advised to refuse to participate, unless high standards are restored. Says the News-Press in one observation: "The 4-H club idea inculcates the natural virtues of youth, including freedom from contaminating influences. Certainly the men and women who are thoughtful patrons of the 4-H do not think gambling and hula-hula dancing enhance the cultural advantages of club membership." The late fair in Wayne and county fairs in other Nebraska towns show what the state board can do on a bigger scale in planning a fair according to old lines.

Serves on Ship Damaged by Japs
Cocksawin Raymond Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Murray, was on the USS Reno when it was badly damaged on November 3 in the Philippine sea near Formosa by a Jap torpedo. At that time 45 men lost their lives. Now repairs are almost completed on the light cruiser after being at the Charleston navy yard since March.

It was the Reno that rendered valuable assistance to the aircraft carrier Princeton before the Reno was forced to sink the carrier in order to keep the Japs from knowing the extent of American losses, and also to dispose of a ship dangerous to navigation. Battles in which the Reno participated include Wake, Marcus, the Marianas, the Pagan, Volvano and Bonin islands, including Iwo Jima, Palau, Formosa, Okinawa and the Philippines. Her crew also wears stars for the battle of the Philippine sea and the battle for Leyte Gulf.

Is with Cavalry Serving in Japan
Pfc. LeRoy Lundahl writes his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Lundahl of Wakefield, this month from somewhere in Japan. He is in the first cavalry division. Pfc. Lundahl tells that his division left the Philippines August 23. They were on their way to invade Japan when they heard the news that peace was declared. In describing the convoy, Pfc. Lundahl states that there were "thousands of airplanes over head, 15 boats with troops, 45 transports, 20 tankers and 30 or 40 battleships and destroyers. We ran into a typhoon but only lost one boat, a sub chaser. We landed in Yokohama September 2, five minutes after the peace treaty was signed. We go around there all polished up. We are here to set an example of a well disciplined army."

Pfc. Lundahl states that weather is just like that in California, cool, damp, rainy and foggy. Pfc. Lundahl's division moved to Tokyo September 9. There the men live in a university and conditions aren't too bad. "My duty is our job now. We do not fire at anyone unless fired upon. Everyone is supposed to be disarmed, but one can't trust the Japs."

The young man states he has been driving trucks recently to help in the transporting of supplies. It is not his regular job but he fills in when volunteers are asked. Many fellows who have 80 points are going home. All essential men and married men will go next.

Wayne Is Visited By Hollywood Lion

Hoisting of Special Flags Gives Storm Warnings in Early Period.

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for September 19, 1929: Leo, the lion, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's trademark which is said to be the best known in the world, visited Wayne in person in his gilded cage. The company arranged this expensive trip to thousands of towns on the firm belief that advertising pays well. A calloped and the lion's cage were paraded up and down the streets and were then stationed in front of the Gay theatre. Leo is 14 years old and weighs 734 pounds. He is leaner than most lions in captivity. Leo eats only once a day and has 25 pounds of raw beef. He is valued at $100,000.

Some 75 baby beeves fed by Wayne county 4-H members were taken to Sioux City for the annual show and sale. Frank Claycomb had the grand champion beef at the county fair.

Ed. Granquist suffered a broken leg when he fell from a horse in a relay race at the fair.

Mrs. Meade Johnston of Winside, underwent an operation in Wayne. Marvin West, 5, was injured when a race horse bolted at the fair and struck him.

Prof. Albert C. Carlson who was born on a farm south of Wayne, has come here to teach piano at the college. He spent 11 months with the A. E. F. in France and was with the army of occupation in Germany. Later he attended musicians' school at Gen. Pershing's headquarters at Chaumont, France. Ray Grant of Laurel, has patented a machine for loading manure.

Emil Hennickson sold his hotel at Emerson to Webb Kellogg.

Geo. Anderson is president of Wakefield's newly organized business men's club.

Wakefield's three rural mail routes were combined into two.

From Northern Nebraska Journal, Ponca, for September 12, 1884: Within two months the new system of hoisting special flags to warn residents of cold waves will be in operation.

The postmaster at each point will be responsible for hoisting the flag. The flags will be hauled down within 24 hours unless a second warning comes. It is thought the warning system will be of great value to farmers who have stock.

In one of its claims for being chosen Dixon county seat at the special election September 18, 1884, Martinsburg people state that it is proposed that a branch of the railroad will be extended there from Ponca, Emerson or Wakefield.

Recent changes in precincts in Wayne county put the finishing touches on La Porte, the first county seat, and that place no longer has even a voting name.

A company has organized to recover a vast treasure sunk off the coast of Spain. In six months 100,800 immigrants came from Germany.

Four reasons for voting to keep the Dixon county seat of government at Ponca are listed: Ponca already has a good court house; removal would require expenditure immediately of considerable money to build a suitable structure at Martinsburg; Martinsburg has no railroad and if the line did extend it would probably miss that town; Ponca is one of the best market points in north Nebraska.

OKINAWA ISLAND IS PRETTY PLACE
The 41st Mitchell Medium is the name of the four-page mimeographed paper issued for army men on Okinawa. Cpl. Dick D. Ellis sends a copy of the paper which carries world news of interest to the GI.

The Wayne soldier tells that Okinawa is a beautiful island with many trees and much underbrush, which are green. Natives are very small and oriental looking. It will take a long time to rebuild the homes and cities on Okinawa, Dick writes. Naha, for instance, is completely flattened. It was a modern city and one can see old street cars and tracks and the remains of large buildings.

On Unusual Craft.
R. C. Meyer, electrician's mate third class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Meyer, formerly of Wayne, and now of Ames, Ia., serves with the 104-m crew of the PCE(R) 853, a new type vessel whose function as a "country doctor" has taken her over most of the Pacific.

The PCE(R)'s were designed and built to provide quick medical aid for smaller ships which have no doctors aboard. The crew of the 853 has taken wounded off-flaming tankers when an explosion at any minute might have destroyed the entire craft. They have picked up hundreds of wounded sailors, blown overboard by bombs and bursting kamikaze planes. Even the larger ships - ships where the medical officers have been killed or wounded or their sick bays destroyed by fire - have not been beyond the scope of the "country doctors."

Helps Take Supplies To Russia Front
Sam Steele of Oakland, Cal., who was here last week and who has been discharged from the service two months, served five years in the army, 32 months of which were spent in Iran, or Persia. He was in the Persian gulf command which supplied materials to Russians. He told of registering bodies of civilians, merchant marines, air corps and navy personnel of the command which were buried in a beautiful cemetery in Iran which cost over one million dollars. Some of the time he supervised carpenters who packed supplies and he also did some driving of trucks.

Bandar Shalpur and Khorranshar were the main sea ports from which supplies for Russia were driven by truck to Kazvin. The last 500 miles to Russia was over rough cobblestone highways and through mountains. The last supplies for Russia left those ports December 1, 1944.

Mr. Steele says Persia has nine months of summer, the hottest being July, August and September. When he left the temperature was 168 degrees, so hot that even the flies died. In the southern part of the country no rain falls during these long summer months for which the people are grateful, for the rain makes it seem even hotter. In May snow can be seen in the mountains.

Large wheat ranches in northern Persia produce enough wheat for bread which constitutes 90 per cent of the people's food.

Russians and Americans have been helpful to the Persians in the development of resources. Due to their interests many oil fields have been made productive and new pipe lines are being built. The Russians also help protect the Persian people from the bandits who come down from the mountains to raid homes.

Milk and fresh vegetables were the two foods missed most by the Wayne soldier.

SELF REGULATION
-WHAT IS IT?
Self-Regulation, as practiced by the brewing industry in Nebraska, is the determined effort of the industry to insure sale of its product in a manner in keeping with the public interest.

The Nebraska brewing industry's Self-Regulation program is an action program. Field men regularly check on the places where beer is sold. Where necessary, the state director warns an operator concerning certain corrections that must be made. In such cases, most retailers respond quickly. As to those who do not respond, representations are made to enforcement and licensing officials.

Through such procedure and through meetings, bulletins and other means, retailers throughout the state are informed and kept on guard against improper conduct and those practices which are displeasing to all citizens—and harmful to the public interest.

Don't be grounded—keep rolling with EXPERT STUDEBAKER SERVICE

EVEN though the war is over, it's just simple arithmetic for anyone to figure out that most cars now in service must stay on the job a good while longer.

Remember, while unlimited production of new cars has been authorized by the government, it will take some time for the automobile industry to reach high levels of volume manufacture and many will have to continue driving their present cars.

Owner of Circus Is Praised Here For Her Service

Miss Nellie Dutton, owner and manager of the circus which furnished entertainment at Wayne county fair, presented her show in Wayne in 1931 when Wayne had its golden jubilee celebration at the fair grounds.

In behalf of the committee in charge of the celebration 14 years ago, credit was given Miss Dutton at the fair Friday afternoon for the performance of her circus at that time. Miss Dutton has presented her show in South America, Australia and New Zealand. Just recently she returned from a six-year tour in South Africa.

During the celebration in 1931, many will remember that the outstanding entertainment was furnished by a company of unusual merit and reputation. Rainy weather prevailed for the three days and thousands were denied the enjoyment of the circus. As a result the golden jubilee sponsors suffered a serious financial loss.

Miss Dutton, the owner and manager of the entertainment feature, made a most unusual proposition to the committee. She offered to repeat the entire series of outstanding entertainment for the crowd free of charge. Those who had attended the first three performances which were given in spite of rain were so enthusiastic in their praise and spread the word so widely by telephone and by word that a tremendous crowd appeared Sunday to enjoy the show and the receipts were ample to offset the loss of the first three days.

The members of the golden jubilee committee of 1931 again extended their appreciation to Miss Dutton for her kindness.

Mrs. Tim Collins and Miss Irene and Miss Winifred, the last of Laurel, spent Friday in the Chas. Collins home at Norfolk.

Winside Is First In Fair Display

Girl Athletes to Change Suit Color from Green To White Soon.

Winside high school took first place on its exhibit at Wayne county fair, having 208 points. School was dismissed Friday afternoon so that all might attend the festival.

"JUDY, PLEASE DON'T TALK SO LONG — OTHERS ON THE LINE MAY NEED TO CALL"

In these busy days when every farmer has so many essential calls to make, it is more important than ever for farm line users to keep conversations brief, answer promptly, not to make too many calls in succession, replace the receiver promptly after each call, and in every way to be thoughtful of others on the line.

FHA LOANS

For Home Buying

FHA Insured Mortgage Loans for purchasing homes already built are still available. Such loans may be secured in amounts up to 80% of FHA appraisal and for periods up to 20 years.

Low monthly payments and government-limited interest rate of 5%, including mortgage insurance premium, make these loans unusually attractive. FHA appraisal tends to protect homebuyers against possible inflated values of real estate in certain areas.

We recommend FHA financing under current market conditions.
