Last Thursday night's snow is the first we recall in September. However, others remember snowfall in that month with enough frost to blight tender vegetation.

For an early winter of record-breaking snowfall and all-around severity recollection lights on 1880 when snow came in October and kept the ground covered until next May.

Speakers Disagree. All speakers in the Town Meeting of the Air Thursday night agreed that the Japs are mostly savages, but did not agree on what to do with the imperial nut.

Code of Ethics. This is "National Newspaper Week," and we reproduce here with a "press code of ethics," as it appears in the Service Bulletin of the Nebraska Press association.

"We believe that journalism is an honorable profession, essential to the welfare of society in peace as in war."

"We believe that the success of democratic government depends upon sound public opinion and that the newspaper should aid in creating and maintaining sound public opinion by publishing significant news and editorial interpretation of news."

"We believe that newspaper writers and editors should be adequately prepared for the great responsibilities placed upon them."

"We believe that a newspaper should publish the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth concerning all matters of importance to readers as citizens of the community, state and the nation."

"We believe that a newspaper should publish nothing that cannot be read aloud in the family circle."

"We believe that news of crime, scandal, and vice should be presented in such a manner as to deter readers from attempting to imitate the criminal and the vicious."

"We believe that all persons and all organizations are entitled to fair play in the columns of the newspaper."

"We believe in the right of privacy of individuals in all matters not of public concern."

"We believe that no propaganda or publicity matter should be published unless it contains information to which readers are entitled and that whenever such material is printed, its source should be plainly indicated."

"We believe that editorials should present the truth as the writer sees it, uncolored by bias, prejudice, or partisanship."

"We believe that neither the business interests of a newspaper nor any outside influence should interfere with the publication of the news or news items."

"We believe that the purpose of newspaper advertising is to create a demand for commodities or services; to inform readers, not to mislead or defraud them."

"We believe that advertisements should be as clean and wholesome as news and editorials, and that such advertisements are essential to the development of our high standards of living."

"We believe that persons for subscriptions and advertisements should be sufficient to insure the publisher a fair profit."

"We believe that all statements of circulation should give the actual number of bona fide subscribers."

"We believe that only such newspapers as maintain the highest standards of truth, honesty and decency in news, editorials, and advertisements deserve the support of the community."

Poet's Big Work Is Epic of West

Writings of J. G. Neihardt Are 'Evaluated Monday' By Dr. R. P. Cuff.

A real epic of the west and its pioneering adventures is Dr. John G. Neihardt's most important contribution to literature, stated Dr. R. P. Cuff in speaking to Kiwanis Monday about the author's work and its value.

Dr. Neihardt, former Wayne student and Nebraska poet laureate, became interested in the west as a source of epic poetry when, at the age of 6, his father showed him the flooded Missouri river at Kansas City.

The poet began his five-volume epic in 1913 and completed the work in 1941. In their sequence as narratives the books are The Song of Hugh Glass, The Song of Jedd Smith, The Song of the Indian Wars and The Song of the Messiah.

The plan of Neihardt's western epic is large. The poet wished to preserve the heroic mood of the pioneers, Dr. Cuff explained. The general theme is the conquest of the Indians of western plains by the white pioneers as the frontier was pushed toward the Pacific.

"His subject matter seems suited to epic treatment and many of the lines of the poems have genuine beauty," Dr. Cuff commented. "The narrative poems may have too much description, philosophy, rhetorical finish and analysis of mental states."

"I can across the open space with the machine guns, rifles and everything firing at me. By sheer miracle I wasn't hit."

"When I reached the house, I alerted other officers and we broke out the arsenal. The Annamites besieged the house for about three hours until British troops arrived."

Program of Health Is Discussed Here

The first of a series of meetings for county superintendents was held at the college Tuesday when a health program was discussed.

Dr. Cuff explained that the Neihardt club and citizens of Wayne erected a monument to Neihardt in Bressler park August 19, 1925. A bust of the poet, made by his wife, who is a sculptor, was presented to the college by the poet's mother June 16, 1922.

In connection with the poet's life in Wayne, it might be of interest to know that he lived at five different sites here: In a house on Douglas south of First; in the house at 607 Main, then at 603 Main; at 609 Logan; at 208 East Fifth, near Mayor Herman Lundberg's present driveway; and at Seventh and Pearl.

A. V. Teed presented the Kiwanis button to C. C. Stirtz, new member and told of the history and ideals of the organization.

With Jean Boyd leader and Prof. Russel Anderson accompanist, the group sang "Kiwanis Lives," "Old Black Joe" and "Star Spangled Banner."

War Dads to Meet. War Dads will have a special meeting this Thursday evening at 8 in the Legion rooms to nominate officers and to elect delegates to the national convention in St. Louis. All are urged to attend.

MEMORIAL PARK IS WAYNE'S HOPE FOR FULL RECREATION

MANY live towns are stepping up plans for leisure-time recreation. New or enlarged and improved public parks are taking form. The town without a modern swimming pool will simply lose to communities with more foresight and more enterprise.

Wayne has attractive parks, an adequate flying field and suitable fair grounds, but it lacks what the 65-acre Memorial park north of town proposes to supply—swimming pool, room for golf and tennis and other recreational sports.

Rev. E. Gehrke, 78, pastor of Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran church northeast of Wayne, from 1910 until 1927, passed away at his home in Bancroft, Wednesday, September 26.

Rev. Gehrke suffered a stroke in 1938 and another later. He failed rapidly this summer.

Rev. Emil Gehrke was born June 11, 1867, in West Prussia, Germany. He studied theology in the University of Griefswald at Leipsig, relatives in Chicago induced him to come to this country and he arrived in New York December 22, 1891.

Rev. Gehrke married Miss Magdalena Singpiel of Bancroft, December 22, 1892. He leaves his wife and five children, Reinhard, Erwin and Mrs. Anna Oelrich of Omaha, Mrs. Sophie Hildebrandt of Duluth, Kan., and Hulda at Bancroft.

Major Herbert Bluechel Is Miraculously Saved in Indo-China Area.

Maj. Herbert Bluechel of San Francisco, formerly of Wayne, miraculously escaped death a few days ago when Lt. Col. A. Peter Dewey of Washington, D. C., was killed by Annamites in Saigon, Indo-China.

The two officers rode a jeep to an air field where Dewey intended to take a plane for Calcutta. The plane did not arrive so the two were returning in the jeep to OSS hotel when they passed through a partial double road block.

"I came to 350 yards of open area a golf course beyond which lay the OSS hotel, flying the American flag, and in which the Annamites knew the Americans were living."

"I can across the open space with the machine guns, rifles and everything firing at me. By sheer miracle I wasn't hit."

"When I reached the house, I alerted other officers and we broke out the arsenal. The Annamites besieged the house for about three hours until British troops arrived."

Marine Prisoner Of Wake Is Free

Pfc. Wilford Lindsay Will Be Returned to States From Jap Camp.

Wilford Lindsay

The word for which Mr. and Mrs. John Lindsay had been anxiously waiting nearly four years came Thursday morning when the commandant of marine headquarters in Washington, D. C., telegraphed them that their son, Pfc. Wilford Lindsay, 25, was liberated from a Jap prison camp where he had been held since the fall of Wake Island December 23, 1941.

"We are pleased to inform you of the liberation from Japanese custody of your son, Pfc. Wilford Lindsay, U. S. M. C., on September 16, 1945. He sends the following message: 'Dear Mother and Father, hope to be home soon. I'm okeh.'"

The latest word the Lindsays had had from Wilford was a note written November 28, 1944, and received here just a few weeks ago. This told that he was well.

The Lindsay youth enlisted in the marine corps November 16, 1939, and trained in California. He went to Pearl Harbor in February, 1941, and to Wake Island in November, 1941. About 378 marines and some civilian workers were on Wake December 23, 1941, when that outpost was taken by the Japs.

love and service. And because she smiling lived and smiling went away, the selfsame paths she trod have marked for us the starlit trail to God.

"They've passed into the silence of the unrecorded years. They've walked with us and talked with us and shared our hopes and fears. And sometime we shall greet once more these friends of ours who've gone before. May we bow our heads in silent reverence, and think of these friends who will live in our hearts and memories."

Mrs. Morgan lighted four white tapers and placed a white carnation in a vase as each name was read. The lights were put out after Mrs. R. M. Carhart, accompanied by Mrs. Webster, sang "My Task."

Mrs. Lutgen speaks. Mrs. A. Lutgen, poet laureate of the Nebraska federation, introduced by Mrs. L. F. Good, spoke on "Open Doors to Peace."

The club's three-fold purpose is social, intellectual and service. Each program challenges the individual. Mrs. Lutgen read her original poem on the topic of her talk:

"Peace cannot simply be decreed now war is done; it needs a broader way of life if goals be won. Unless within my heart I hold the zeal for peace, no brotherhood of man can live nor will strife cease. If I, myself, see lack and fault in home or friend, how can I hope to see the day when wars shall end? Peace is not born by mere decree but in the hearts of you and me."

Peace requires harmony, cooperation and teamwork. Lutgen continued. She told of a lad who put together the map of the world easily because the picture of a man was on the opposite side. It is the individual who is important, she mentioned.

God is knocking on men's hearts to achieve a peaceful world. What are club women doing to help? In the first World War half the men in service had a religious background and in this war only one-third. Mrs. Lutgen told of the painting, "The Light of the World" or "Behold I Stand at the Door and Knock," the work of Hollman Hunt. In this Christ stands before a closed door which has no knob. Salvation, hope, peace and eternal life are offered to those who open the door themselves.

Mrs. Lutgen urged that each help open the door to peace by giving the best in service.

Open New Year. Mrs. R. W. Casper, new president, officiated Friday. She extended a welcome to former and new members.

Mrs. Casper, Mrs. L. F. Good, Mrs. J. G. Miller and Mrs. Morgan were chosen delegates and Mrs. J. W. Jones, Mrs. F. S. Berry, Mrs. L. A. Fanske and Mrs. Howard Witt alternates to the state convention in Lincoln October 4 and 5.

Mrs. Good, program chairman, explained the new yearbooks. Mrs. Fanske, house chairman reported $31.10 taken in during the summer from rental of the room.

Mrs. C. P. Lapham, chairman of ways and means, told of plans to raise money for the club. She mentioned that Mrs. Lutgen has offered the club a percentage of the sales of her books and music.

Mrs. H. E. Lev, Mrs. A. J. Atkins, Mrs. J. O. Brideman, Mrs. C. M. Craven, Mrs. A. W. Ross, Mrs. W. C. Coryell, Mrs. E. L. Harvey, Mrs. J. G. Miller and Mrs. C. N. Olson served about 100.

The October 12 program will honor war wives and mothers and brownie scouts. Mrs. J. B. Plantenberg of Emerson, past department president of the Legion Auxiliary, will speak.

Radio Broadcasts. Mrs. Ernest Raasch of Norfolk has charge of radio broadcasts for Third district the first and third Tuesdays each month from 11.15 to 11.45. OUR PIANO WON'T STAY IN TUNE

People have been asking Voget why their pianos won't stay in tune. So, Voget will tell you why: First, if it is a new piano, it's due that the piano has not been tuned enough at the factory, and will have to be tuned two to four times. Maybe each tuning will have to be two to three weeks apart until it stays in tune.

Second, if it is a used piano, it's due that the pinblock is loose. Pinblock is worn out. Shows that the pins are loose in the block.

There have been used pianos sold in this territory that won't stay in tune. It's true some of these pianos will stay in tune, but only for a few years. Pinblock might be OK that is tight when you buy the piano, but will it stay tight for 20 or more years? A pinblock can get loose anytime. There is all the way from 130 to 170 pounds of pull on each string. 15 to 20 tons of pull on the whole piano, according to the size of the piano.

Voget rebuilds all his used pianos that also includes the pinblock, so that the pins will stay tight for 20 years or more. Then the piano will stay in tune like a new piano after each tuning and do so for 20 or more years. That's why Voget can give you a 20-year guarantee.

Voget sells rebuilt pianos at $80 and up. Ernest Voget, 414 east 5th street.

tasks without limiting hours of work or refusing to produce because prices are not always what they should be in values that count most in a free country, farmers and unioners are as far apart as the antipodes.

Time flies. Summer with comparative freedom from excessive heat seemed shorter than usual. Fruition is here. Results of the season's planting vary. Expectations were reached in some things and disappointed in others. The first touch of frost in September will be followed by intensified cold in October, and the green of the landscape will wither and perish. The month, just started, will bring a myriad of colors to dying leaves. October may be deeply somber in the course of the comforts it brings. Only three months to the first of a new year, and these will soon pass. Then as winter drags along, people will look forward anxiously to another springtime, another trial in the gamble of planting and growth.

Newspaper week reminds us that many weekly publications suspended during the war, usually on account of lack of help, and survivors found increased responsibility in serving the public. Weekly newspapers are no longer dependent on small Main street factions. The weekly publication must succeed and grow, win and hold the patronage of many individuals within a large circle. It must treat the public generously and fairly without regard to personal likes or dislikes. Nothing can take the place of the community weekly, and it must keep step with the demands of the time. We predict it will.

The house committee that turned down the administration's proposal to grant $25 per week to idlers stiffens the backbone of cherished individualism. It is palpably ill advised to encourage loafing and dependence on the government. Work and saving are good for the individual as they are good for national strength. And persons who have worked hard, long days, and practiced frugal habits to tide over non-productive years do not relish being taxed to support persons in preferred idleness.

Clocks were turned back one hour Saturday night, and people got up Sunday morning to find the old standard of time duly restored. We have heard of no difficulties in the way of making readjustments. Even meal time an hour later caused no uneasy appetites. The stomach seemed to understand and waited uncomplainingly. It is hoped Washington will hereafter leave the time standard alone.

Charge at the Harvard air base that high ranking officers are responsible for faults causing delay in the discharge system is disturbing to soldiers who, having met the task of war, are now anxious for release. It appears up to Washington to trim peace-time military authority and permit unnecessary soldier groups to return to civilian life.

General MacArthur's peremptory order to the Japanese government to quit controlling its newspapers expresses the practical working of democracy. The general proposes that the truth shall be told to the Japanese people. This will be a long stride in the direction of needed understanding.

Possibilities of the atomic bomb have encouraged industrialists to think about moving into thinly populated areas. In the distribution of manufacturing institutions, Wayne could no doubt be persuaded to take a few.

RATIONING.
Last week-end word came from Washington that rationing would be discontinued by the first of the year with the exception of sugar which may remain scarce until spring. Conserving enough points to supply needs has been an extra task for households. It has also multiplied burdens on dealers who had to keep track of points. Freeing automobile tires from restrictions will be a relief to motorists. Unlimited use of gasoline was hampered by poor running equipment including worn tires which often exploded and left drivers helpless. Getting away from restraints will facilitate all kinds of activities. In this connection, it is noted that some farm groups are asking for removal of subsidies with prices governed more by supply and demand and less by artificial means. Now if left-wingers would quit striking and unite in speeding up production, the economy of the country would soon grow in health and promise.

worth having it is worth going after, and that a prosperous newspaper can do more for its community than one that is ill-equipped, ill-housed and ill-supported.

"We believe in our state and its unlimited possibilities and will do all in our power to sell it to our people and the nation."

"We believe that world unity, progress and peace depend upon free access to all news sources and uncensored fair dissemination thereof."

"We believe that a free press is the torch of world peace."

ing war ships. We even spent a billion or more on repairing allied war and merchant ships. No matter what our high officials supposed, nor what the propaganda led people to believe, Admiral Land advised that Britain now has 27 million tons of new shipping ready to compete with our own merchant marine. It is understandable that the public did not know, as censorship was strict, but how did the facts escape the attention of our military and naval officers especially stationed abroad to learn what was going on?

The costs of war were heavy, but so will be the costs of peace, if our government "lends" all the money from our treasury to all the governments that are asking for it. The British commission has been here for weeks. It demands a gift of not less than $3 billions, possibly $6 billions. In lieu of that, the distinguished visitors suggest that a loan of as many billions without interest for 40 years would do. Terms of repayment are as indefinite as the rest of it. At the end of 40 years our taxpayers would still be holding the sack on which they had already paid out 100 per cent in interest. High financiers explain that as the interest would be paid to our people, they would not be out anything but the use of the money. High finance has wonderful ways in borrowing, but relatively poor success in paying Uncle Sam.

BUYING FARMS.

When to buy a farm is a question in the mind of anyone who has been inclined to do so, and who has thus far remained undecided. The Omaha Journal-Stockman suggests that government officials who give advice on the subject know less, due to lack of experience, than those engaged in farming or in proximity to farm operations. Sky-rocketing farm prices after World War I caused many and severe losses. But values have been kept fairly down in this postwar period, and there is little probability of a repetition of what happened 25 years ago. If one is able to pay all cash at prevailing prices, he is likely to pan out all right. The Journal-Stockman comments in conclusion: "The slump after the end of the last war didn't come for a couple of years, and if it doesn't this time, it might still be all right to buy a farm. And this time the farmer is presumed to have more price protection than before. At least that is the purpose of the administration. It is always risky to tell a young man what to do in the matter of investment. And always, the investment itself is secondary to such things as initiative, enterprise and just plain everyday hard work."

Against Subsidies
THE person who receives a subsidy, helps pay in taxes to support it. Besides, a subsidy bears restraints that are uncomfortable in a democracy, where people are accustomed to freedom of judgment and action, and are used to accepting responsibilities for mistakes. Of the wisdom of doing away with subsidies, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson says:

"I believe that with very few exceptions all hold-the-line subsidies could disappear by next June 30. The end of the war has made full scale continuation of these subsidies unnecessary. While we must continue to guard against inflation, we must recognize that many of the factors that made wartime subsidies necessary are rapidly disappearing. I am convinced that the time for action is now. If we wait until food supplies are so plentiful that demand weakens and retail prices are falling and then eliminate the subsidies, the whole burden of the price decline is likely to fall on farmers."

Breathing Hot and Cold
WE wish Washington administrators could maintain the practical judgment they appear to take with them into office. Before Secretary of Agriculture Anderson was installed he expressed belief in unlimited farm production, and with world scarcity of food, that seemed reasonable. Then lately he was quoted as advising farmers to reduce crops. Almost simultaneously, they are requested to maintain high pig production, and pigs will need the supplies farmers grow. Congressman Karl Stefan reports eggs selling for 50 cents apiece in Italy and 70 cents per dozen in Washington, and recently in Nebraska egg prices, tobogganed to 20 cents and struck the chicken business a stunning blow. Also reports from foreign lands say people are hungry and will suffer from lack of food. What's the matter? The average wayfarer cannot understand.

While the country is getting back to postwar production, unioners are striking for shorter working time and increased pay. They assume their demands do not presuppose higher commodity costs. They charge employers with sufficient earnings to stand an additional drain. Some may and others may not be able to do so. Anyway, the struggle between employers and employees is on, and authorities are taxing their nerves to find grounds for settlement. As unioners frequently kick out of the traces and disregard the pleas of reconstruction, farmers turn bravely to their

Congress
As Seen by Karl Stefan

Washington, D.C. September 27, 1945

Nearly all our war legislation reads "for the duration of the war and six months thereafter." The fighting has ended, but the war is not over. It will not be over officially until the president by proclamation or the congress by joint resolution declares the state of war at an end. The president has said he doesn't want his war powers ended yet, so congress will have to declare the war officially ended in order to start the clock ticking off the "six months thereafter," if it is unwilling to wait for the president.

Bills to terminate the state of war; to discharge servicemen that have served two years; to stop induction of 18 and 19 year-olds; to end the draft altogether, and many other bills dealing with demobilization, have been introduced but administration controlled committees have not allowed hearings on them.

Several thousand CIO lobbyists, mostly from New York City, have been in town demanding the passage of the "full employment" legislation. The house committee on ways and means has, for the time being at least, tabled the $25 a week for 26 weeks jobless pay bill for the reason that wide-spread strikes now make the volume of unemployment not very definitely ascertainable.

Farm state members are urging the government to discontinue rationing of meat and butter.

Soldiers returning from Italy say they paid as much as 50 cents apiece for eggs. In Washington, eggs bring as much as 70 cents a dozen now.

Claude Wickard, rural electrification administrator, was guest of the Nebraska delegation last week. He told the Nebraskans that the $5 million Nebraska REA quota for the current fiscal year, except $2 million, has been allocated and that he has applications for an additional $4 million worth of REA work in our state. There are 27 REA districts in Nebraska. Until additional lending power is given to REA many applications for REA extensions cannot be approved.

The Omaha alcohol plant, in addition to making alcohol from surplus potatoes and soft corn, may also make corn sugar to supplement the deficient supply of sweets. Filipinos say that the islands will export very little sugar for another year. There is plenty of sugar cane, but the Japanese either destroyed or removed sugar factory machinery.

Nebraska REA districts, with slight exceptions, are up to date in their loan obligations. Over the nation generally, REA borrowers are current in their payments.

Administrator Wickard told Nebraskans members that many farmers will eventually have freezer lockers and modern refrigeration on their farms. It will be about two years before all the electric appliances farmers need and will buy will be available.

Due to Senator Wherry's defense of General MacArthur in the senate, Nebraska got headlines in Washington papers last week.

Everett Winter of Walthill who is now connected with the Mississippi Valley association with headquarters in Omaha, has been in town in opposition to M.V.A. activities.

Major Jack Marquardt, who has been on many of the battle fronts in Africa and Europe during the past three years, is in Washington visiting friends. He expects to be released from the service during the next 30 days and plans to return to his home at Tekamah. In Europe, he met his brother, Army Lt. Bob Marquardt, also of Tekamah. The two officers are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Marquardt of Tekamah.

Chester Bowles, OPA administrator, has notified the Third district office that with the termination of most rationing due by the end of the year, OPA is planning to close 3,600 of its 5,600 war price and rationing boards. About 15 thousand positions carrying 27 million dollars in annual salaries will be abolished by this move.

Ed Robins of Fremont who is connected with the Civil aeronautics administration here has just completed an air trip into 35 states. His mission was to discuss with state aeronautics commissions and governors the development of post-war aviation.

Herbert Lehman, head of UNRRA, has recently returned from Europe. He tells the Third district member that there will be hunger and much suffering from cold in Europe this winter.

Senator Butler of Nebraska and members of the senate insular affairs committee plan to fly to the Philippines on October 15.

Admiral Land, chairman of the maritime commission, revealed facts that were not published during the war. He did this at a somewhat ticklish time while a British commission is here seeking a gift, not a loan, of from three billions to six billions of dollars from generous Uncle Sam. Admiral Land said that "we were led to believe that the British during the war were building only combatant types" of shipping. "But, that is not so." The British shipyards built merchant craft to the limit. Under the supposed agreement, our country expanded production of merchant ships enormously, with many new yards. We put billions of dollars in the shipyards and more billions into the ships, many of which went out under lend-lease. Britain was presumed to be build-

Wedding Service Held Here Sunday

Miss Irene Magdanz Bride Of Alvin Temme at Rites In Grace Church.

In a double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Walter Brackensick at Grace Lutheran church Sunday evening at 7, Miss Irene Magdanz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Magdanz of Carroll, became the bride of Alvin Temme, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Temme of Wayne.

Mrs. Elmer Meyer played organ melodies preceding the service. The aisle was lighted by tapers in candle stands made by the bridegroom and the archway at the altar, made by the bride's father, which were asters and pompons.

At either side of the archway were palms, baskets of chrysanthemums and asters and candelabras.

Miss Lois Temme, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Caroline Temme, cousin, lighted the tapers. They wore blue taffeta formal and rosebud corsages. Ushers, Roland Weyhrich of O'Neill, and Pvt. Edwin Vahlkamp of Winside, opened the gate to the arch and were followed by the two other ushers, Donald Vahlkamp of Winside.

Miss Leora Weyhrich of O'Neill, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid. She was gowned in blue formal with sweetheart neckline and gathered short sleeves.

Miss Henrietta Vahlkamp, maid of honor, wore blue dress with satin bodice, net skirt and long sleeves fastened with satin ribbons and rosebuds. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

Jimmy Brackensick carried the pillow, Wilma Temme, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore pink formal trimmed with blue ribbons and carried a white basket filled with rose petals which she scattered in the aisle.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white satin made with sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice, gathered skirt of net which fell into a long train. Her double illusion veil, with fine lace edging, fell from a tiara of seeded pearls. Her only jewelry was a gold cross, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible and an orchid tied with white streamers.

Mr. Temme and his attendants, Gordon Magdanz and Don Temme, brothers of the couple, wore dark suits and boutonnières.

Members of the couple wore dark dresses and gardenia corsages. The choir sang "O Perfect Love" and "Jesus Lead Thou On" after the ceremony.

Dinner was served in the church parlors to about 25, and a reception was held there after the ceremony for about 60 guests.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tier cake topped with miniature bridal couple. Miss Alma Temme, Miss Dorothy Brackensick, Miss Adella Haase and Miss Valores Victor, dressed in blue and with white aprons, served. Miss Opal Magdanz of Pierce, had the guest book. Mrs. Allen Koehler, Mrs. Melvin Schnoor, Mrs. Henry Rethwisch and Mrs. Geo. Stolz assisted in the kitchen.

I just came off two hours on the helm; followed the ships ahead in one long column."

"One thing we won't have to worry about is the heat. This weather is very much like Seattle's cold in the evening and morning and pleasant during the day. It's pretty rainy too. Three days ago everyone was running around half clothed and now sweat shirts, jerseys and jackets are used. This weather reminds me of corn picking time.

"What a day we had! We pulled through some locks and tied up to a concrete pier right in the heart of the city. We can't buy food up town because it's unfit to eat. The people are friendly. We were in a number of homes today. To get Korean money we sell cigarettes and gum. The gum is a real favorite for the kids and even old folks. They seem to live on nothing and there are lots of little ones. Not very many girls on the streets and they are very bashful. I saw one cute one, walked over to talk to her and she ran into her home and peaked out behind the curtains till she was sure we were gone.

Donald tells that a number of Jap soldiers are in the city and they are just like the movies picture them. Their trucks chug along; their gears growl and smoke.

The youth and a friend went aboard two captured Jap submarines. Americans have stripped them. "It's spooky to go down into those things where there's no light and everything smells."

Ponca Retains County Seat At Special Election Held There Early.

Early Days from the Wayne Herald for October 3, 1929:

Nebraska has 340,555 licensed automobiles and 115 licensed planes. Though air travel is gaining in popularity, the proportion of accidents in the air is somewhat larger. In a 16-week period the state had 110 deaths and 1,473 injuries in car mishaps. In the same period the airplane deaths were 12 and injuries 17. One-fourth of the planes are for mail so the record is for three-fourths of the ships.

Library News

If the news stand is sold out of the magazine Coronet you can now try the library. Our subscription started with the September issue. We are also very glad to report that we now have two copies of Mademoiselle. The one copy per month was not adequate to meet the many requests for this popular magazine but last year the company could not supply us with two copies on account of the paper shortage.

Prelude to Night, the novel by Dayton Stoddard, is the kind of a story which is not always pleasant reading but does give you many things to think about. If you like good character studies and the inside workings of finance and politics this will be your type.

An unusual new book is My Chinese Wife, by Karl Eskelund. This is a true tale of a Danish boy who, when he was only 17, signed up on a ship bound for Shanghai. He became a foreign correspondent for a Danish newspaper and one night in a library of the Yenching university he meets Fei Chi-yu (Beautiful Cloud) and falls in love. Personal opposition makes courtship long and turbulent. He has traveled all over the world, in and out of one international situation after another but always the biggest, most exciting part of his life has been his love for his wife. Here's a global adventure, suave and fashion with an international romance for background.
