

Midwest Against Misrepresentation—Needed in Civilian Pursuits—Overburdened Grocers—Point-free Meats—Eighth War Loan.

We have just received a copy of the Congressional Record of July 12 when Senator Kenneth S. Wherry read into the official record a defense of Nebraska and other mid-west states against unfavorable reflections on these so-called "plains states" contained in an article by the office of war information for distribution in Russia. It appears that in setting forth American resources, Nebraska and neighboring states were credited with contributing little of real value.

The article aroused a good deal of sharp resentment at the time among those who know and care. Circulation appears to have been restricted to Russia, but why the soviet union needed information concerning the United States at the expense of American taxpayers was not made clear.

S. Sgt. Marvin F. Barner, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Barner of Winside, reported missing in action over Germany March 31, 1945, gave his life that day, according to a telegram coming Saturday from the war department to his parents.

The message from Adjutant General Witsell read: "The secretary of war has asked me to express with deep regret that your son, S. Sgt. Marvin F. Barner, was killed in action in Germany March 31, 1945. He was previously reported missing in action. I regret that official reports received establish his death. A confirming letter will follow."

Word April 16 stated that the young man, a ball turret gunner, was missing. He had completed about 25 missions and had earned the air medal and three oak leaf clusters.

A letter written by Marvyn March 28 reached his parents April 9, and an Easter cable was received by his parents March 31, the day he was reported missing.

The Barner family had a letter from a young man by the name of Larson, tail gunner on the ship with their son, who is back at his home in Cadiz, Texas, after parachuting to safety and being held in a German prison camp 14 days before being liberated by Gen. Patton's forces.

Gunner Larson told that the plane ran into heavy enemy fire and one motor was out of commission and another was damaged. The pilot radioed for fighter protection which the ship got.

The officer reported that he was bound for friendly territory, presumably Russia, and the wind was in his favor. He thought he would make it. As far as the plane was seen it was under perfect control.

The tail gunner bailed out about 90 miles from the Russian border. He wrote the Barner that he saw their son, who was serving as waist gunner, put on his chute and look out the window to see what sort of enemy fire the plane had encountered.

The wife of the ship's pilot wrote to the American embassy in Russia and a check of prison camps revealed no whereabouts of the officer. She then asked that the matter be taken up with the U. S. mission in Germany. Since that time the Barner family heard word that their son was killed. They do not know whether families of other members of the crew received the same word.

The Wayne county youth served as turret gunner until the pilot of his crew was transferred to the lead plane of a squadron and that ship had no ball turret. Barner was then substitute gunner for a time. He put on considerable weight and was too large to occupy the turret comfortably so he was transferred to the position of waist gunner.

Enlists in Air Corps. S. Sgt. Barner enlisted in February, 1944, and first trained at Keesler Field, Biloxi, Miss. He took gunnery at Las Vegas, Nev., and earned his wings there June 10, 1944. He then spent a 21-day leave at home and reported at Lincoln June 30 for assignment with a crew. The fliers took crew training at Ardmore, Okla., finishing November 1, 1944. The crew returned to Lincoln before leaving the last of November for England to serve with the 8th air force.

S. Sgt. Marvin F. Barner, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Barner, was born December 11, 1925, near Winside high school in 1943 and helped on the farm until he enlisted. Deceased leaves his parents and six brothers and sisters, Leoma, Olinde, LeRoy, Lavonne, Shirley and Darrell Lee, all at home. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. B. Grone of Wayne, and Mrs. Minnie Barner of Herman, Mo.

INTERRUPTION OF PHONE SERVICE IS LITTLE FELT HERE

SUSPENSION of telephone service over the country Friday afternoon in varying degrees is reported to have been a demonstration of protest against action of the National Labor Relations Board in recommending dissolution of an independent telephone union at Kearny, N. J. Reason given was that the company dominated the union. If the former were too friendly and cooperative, then popular judgment is likely to be out of sympathy with the government's decision. M. A. Gross, Nebraska president of the Northwestern Union of Telephone Workers, explained that telephone workers want to "continue as an independent union without interference from either the CIO or AFL." Omaha operators voted to authorize a strike if necessary. The operators are reported to have no disagreement with the employing company and have no complaint to make at the public. They seem merely desirous of forcing union affiliation preference, which, it seems to a bystander, ought to be gained without hurting innocent victims. Little interruption of service was felt in Wayne.

Pop Plant Plans Announced Here

City To Enlarge Business Zone to Provide for Growth in Wayne.

Al Bahe has filed application with the city for permit to build a plant for making and bottling sweet sodas. Mr. Bahe has contracted for purchase of the site across the street north of Alfred Koplins garage on west First street. On approval of the application for building, Mr. Bahe plans to erect a modern fireproof stone structure for the pop factory.

On hearing this application and other proposals for expansion, the city council Tuesday evening decided to change the business zoning ordinance. The business zone is not now large enough to accommodate new industries. Officials believe that this zone must be expanded to provide for the industrial growth of the city.

It was reported to the council that the ground in the new Memorial park north of town is now being plowed in preparation for seeding in the spring.

Council set October 30 for hearing Wayne Berg's application for beer license.

The Dittmores will relieve the Morse family who have been in China nine years. The Morses have been of great service to the armed forces, rescuing many air men. They were rewarded by invaluable and unobtainable supplies which were dropped to them by parachute.

Mission Teacher Speaks of China

Miss Margaret Seeck Shows Need for Brotherhood As World Example.

"People of America are on trial before people of the world," stated Miss Margaret Seeck, missionary teacher home from China, in speaking to college faculty and students Tuesday. "The spirit of brotherhood among ourselves instead of class and racial feeling will determine what foreigners think of us."

Miss Seeck, who taught in China since 1917, told that 14 of 21 civilizations have already passed away. "Was it inevitable that this should occur? Did they lose their sense of spiritual values? Love is stronger than hate. It is constructive and creative and it must be practiced to have lasting peace."

A current Chinese saying is, "Under the heavens one family." Miss Seeck urges all to "use hands and wills to make all people under the heavens one family."

In the Victory loan drive, set for October 29 to December 8, Wayne county has been assigned a quota of $301,000 in sales to individuals. The E bond quota, part of the individual sales, is $162,000 for this county. Chairman W. C. Coryell announced.

"Every Nebraskan can feel proud of our state's war bond record in the seven war loan drives held to date," said Chairman Clark. "We have never failed to set a war loan quota. That of course is no more than we should have done. The story is not yet complete. We must finish the job. The Victory loan quota can and must be met."

All E, F and G bonds processed by the federal reserve bank between October 29 and December 31 will count on county and state quotas.

Nebraska's quota of individual sales is 40 million dollars and the state has been assigned an E bond quota of 25 million dollars.

Wayne Club Women Resume Meetings Following Recess

AFTER the usual summer's vacation women's clubs of the community have resumed regular meetings. It is probable Wayne has more clubs than any town of equal size in the world. If any group finds itself without club affiliation a new one is organized to meet the need. These organizations are not devoted merely to eating. Their programs are usually educational, and the social contacts afforded are mutually stimulating. Study and exchange of ideas keep members informed and alert. Club experience negates inertia and indifference. It insures sound and progressive thinking. It enlivens community life. Wayne clubs are helpful, and deserve to be encouraged.

State Fire Chief Speaks in Wayne

Lloyd D. Mengel Urges Help In Prevention of Loss Caused by Fire.

At least 85 per cent of all fires could be prevented, according to Lloyd D. Mengel of Lincoln, state fire marshal, who spoke to Kiwanians Monday.

Mr. Mengel, who was Saunders county sheriff 23 years and state sheriff nearly four years, explained the organization of the fire marshal's office, quoted statistics about fires and gave advice on how to prevent fires.

The state office, the speaker told, is made up of the fire marshal, three inspectors, an investigator, secretary and clerk. No tax is levied for this, as it is supported by stock and mutual insurance companies doing business in the state. Fire chiefs of cities file with the office three kinds of information, value of property burned, amount of insurance carried and amount of loss.

Nebraska annually loses in fires about 700 dwellings, 80 apartment houses, 18 factories, 13 warehouses besides garages, stores and other buildings. About 100 people give their lives each year in these fires.

In 1944 the fires reported in Nebraska totaled 1,686 with a property loss of $1,500,000.

The United States has greater destruction by fire than most nations, the speaker stated. The peacetime loss is about $4 per capita per year. In the nation 400,000 dwellings burn annually with a property loss of $450,000,000. In addition 10,000 people are killed and 17,000 injured annually in fires. The daily average is 1,500 fires and 28 persons killed. The loss per hour is $30,000.

In stressing that 85 per cent of all fires are caused by carelessness, Mr. Mengel said 15 per cent are started by lightning, floods and other unpreventable causes. Among leading causes for preventable fires are children's playing with matches, smoking, accumulated rubbish, use of unsafe heating appliances and defective chimneys.

All can help in fire prevention and information on this topic should be taught in schools, the speaker noted. Electrical appliances should be cut off when left. Oil mops and paint rags should not be stored in a small place because of the danger of combustion. Ashes should not be placed in cardboard or wooden boxes. No fire should ever be contained in cigarette cases. They should not be thrown away carelessly. Only 15-ampere fuses should be used in homes, and persons should not place pennies or other substitutes for fuses. Metal mops should be placed in dust containers. Matches should be kept away from children.

E. W. Huse, who presented the speaker, also introduced M. L. Ringer, who has served as Wayne fire chief for 29 years and who was previously mayor for 12 years.

Prof. Russel Anderson led the singing of "Builders" and "Darling Nellie Gray."

Besides 39 members, guests were Lt. Gordon Ebersole, S. Sgt. Robert Merchant, L. D. Mengel of Lincoln, and M. L. Ringer.

You can select any one of these designs with the assurance that your choice is best of its kind. Agricultural authorities and Weyerhaeuser engineers pooled their experience and skill to develop buildings that help reduce animal mortality, increase livestock production, protect crops and machinery, and save labor hours—in short, buildings that increase farm income.

See our Weyerhaeuser 4-Square Farm Building Service. See all the sections—See all designs. Study them. Make doubly sure you are going to have the kind of a building you want.

SAFeway BAKING DAYS ARE HERE. Cool weather meals call for hot biscuits, rolls and muffins, baked at home and served warm and crisp... just as they come from the oven. Naturally, success baking depends on top-quality ingredients... and that's exactly what you'll find at Safeway... priced to save you money, too!

Now hot breads can enhance your meals. Hot muffins and rolls give that extra flip to the meals you'd be serving these Fall days when there's just a hint of frost in the air. While dinner is in the making make full use of your oven heat by baking some of the old favorites listed below. Hamburger Muffins make a main dish in themselves. Brown 3/4 to 1 pound hamburger in frying pan, sprinkling lightly with poultry seasoning, salt and pepper. Add to your favorite muffin batter. Spoon into greased muffin pans, filling 3/4 full. Bake in moderately hot oven (425° F) 20 minutes or until done. Make gravy with meat drippings, and serve over muffins. Surprise Muffins are a treat for a special breakfast. Break them open for the surprise inside. Spoon muffin batter into well greased muffin pans; place 1/2 teaspoon jam or jelly on top. Bake in a moderate hot oven (425° F) 20 minutes. Makes 12 muffins. Tomato Biscuits give flavor and color to old standbys. Simply use tomato juice instead of milk in a standard baking powder biscuit recipe. A few caraway seeds sprinkled on top of the biscuits add flavor interest too. Supper Rolls—Place 1/4 cup shortening, 1 teaspoon salt and 2 table-spoons sugar into large bowl and add 1 1/4 cups lukewarm water; stir well. Stir in one beaten egg and one cake fresh yeast crumbled. Add 3 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour all at once and beat with fork to make a soft dough. Spoon batter into well-greased muffin pans, filling half full. Cover with a damp cloth and let rise about 1 hour, or until light. Bake in moderately hot oven (425° F) 20 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes 18 rolls. Byrnes' SECRETARY of State Byrnes' speech to the nation Friday night, explaining the late London conference, indicated lack of agreement on the part of Russia. It appeared to be a clash between promise and performance. Apparently Russia hesitated at steering around possible power. America pledged self-government to nations, big and small, and meant it.

An example: The United States is dishing out money and supplies to help Italy back on its feet. Russia is demanding reparations from that country, and if it were successful, the United States would indirectly do the paying which would be manifestly unfair.

Russia which fought a few days against Japan, now demands an equal hand in running that country. It seems bent on being the big boss in both Europe and the orient.

It is hoped Russia will learn the wisdom of dealing fairly with helpless nations, and in so doing join the United States wholeheartedly in a movement for permanent world peace. We are frequently reminded to consider the soviet union's worthy intentions. We would like to see more action to warrant such conclusions.

Belief is expressed in high circles that the London meeting was not a failure, and that the discussions that took place will clarify many points and facilitate plans for understanding and accord when the peace council meets.

Sinclair Lewis, Pulitzer and Nobel prize winner, whose books from Main Street on stressed human weaknesses, was featured in the current Time magazine. Main Street caricatured small-town characters, and subsequent books overlooked the good that predominates in most people's lives. Lewis will be remembered by readers for delivering his talents over to the unwholesome task of magnifying follies without giving deserved attention to many noble qualities possessed by inhabitants of innumerable Main streets. It is patent to persons of experience that fellow-sympathy in small towns and in the countryside far transcends in depth and sincerity that felt in motley metropolitan centers.

It would be reassuring if President Truman would take the bull by the horns, defy recalcitrant labor union groups and tell them the direction in which to head. If he could forget politics, disregard the union's voting strength and think only of the popular welfare he would be more likely to win majority favor than by petting and coaxing forces that are blocking reconstruction while serving rawly selfish ends. Coddling trouble-makers will most certainly react to the defeat of the administration when voters get a chance to express themselves.

Recent discovery by Omaha taxpayers that their school board had spent $60,000 last year in excess of what had been received from taxation leads us to suggest that compulsory publication of the proceedings of educational bodies, as proposed in the late legislative session, would have kept the public informed. It would not have been so suddenly awakened to belated and painful facts.

The city of Ord, in central Nebraska, is being asked to vote bonds to provide an air field and build a swimming pool. Wayne has the former, and is assured of the latter in connection with the new Memorial park. Live Nebraska communities are moving fast in the direction of more improvements. These are necessary to keep from slipping.

Too few dwellings to buy or rent constitute Wayne's most pressing problem at this time. When families that want to locate here, are forced to go elsewhere on account of lack of living quarters, we are deeply disappointed. Here is a golden opportunity for surplus capital. Least possible delay in satisfying the demand is vital.

Daniel J. Tobin, president of the international teamsters' union, issues a rallying cry to members to get behind a movement to vote control of congress next year. Thus, non-unioners should unite in a contrary movement. They should identify candidates who are linked to radical unionism, and then vote the other way.

The story of the delinquent tax list which appears during three weeks in every October, reminds one of the old days when many columns were required to accommodate its length. The list's brevity now emphasizes the fact that most people have been paying their taxes promptly.

The way Nebraska football fared in Lincoln Saturday leads one to wonder if it will long stay at the top in the state university's life. Its importance may drop down to a level with mathematics.

Teams Play Here To Scoreless Tie

Morningside and Wayne Are Evenly Matched in Game Friday Night.

Wayne and Morningside college football teams played to a scoreless tie here Friday evening in their first competition since suspension of football three years ago. The game was evenly played with punting the outstanding feature. O. Goodrich of Morningside, and Jim Anderson of Wayne, staged a quarterback punting duel. It was not until the last four minutes of play that either team threatened to score. Wayne reached the four and a half line and then lost the ball with about three minutes to play. Morningside came back with a sustained drive to the 6-yard line where the game ended. Morningside completed three out of five passes and Wayne two out of 10. Morningside made four first downs and suffered penalties of 15 yards while Wayne made seven first downs and had penalties of 20 yards.

For Wayne, the ends, Becker and Brady, were outstanding. Gatewood at halfback was good in the backfield.

The Polish lady, mother of a son and daughter 10, tells that Vernon and five comrades came to their place December 6, 1944, and the family did everything possible to make the American boys feel at home. "I with my husband and my children wept when they had to leave our apartment December 18, 1944," writes the woman. "Your son wished something for remembering the happy times in our home. I gave him a picture of my family. He also told us that if he comes back home he would write at once, whether he arrived there healthy. But now we got the sad news about his death. We are real sorry and we will always remember him and in our hearts he is immortal. I know how difficult it is for a mother's heart because the love of a mother of each nationality goes over the grave."

The lady asked that the family send a little photograph of Vernon. "We will keep it honorably," she adds.

The address of an Illinois boy who was with Vernon in the Polish home was sent to the Knudsens.

Beauty and Peace Of Cemetery Plot For Heroes Noted

The beauty and peacefulness of cemeteries in which Americans of World War II are buried appeal to SKIC Harold Preston, who writes from the Philippines September 23 about a visit to the principal cemetery in that region. Leaving Tacloban early Sunday the Wayne service man and two friends hitched a ride to different parts of the island. They reached Palo and went to an old mission about 200 years old. Ferns, moss and grass were growing out of broken spots in the walls and from the roof and bellfries. The church had two fowers or bellfries in front and must have been a black long. The walls and ceiling were in horrible state of repair. The men learned that the church was the head one for the province of Leyte. Since church was out rather early, the men hitched another ride to try to locate the national cemetery for the army forces. They did find it too after two or three transfers. "Must tell you about the last ride we hitched," writes Harold in the letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Preston. "It was a Red Cross ambulance. The driver stopped and I opened the back door to crawl in when I noticed a body lying on the floor in a stretcher. I sort of backed up, and the driver said, 'You're not afraid of a dead Jap, are you?' Well of course I wasn't but at the same time I'm not accustomed to riding in cars with dead people either, but we did crawl in with Mr. Dead Jap. The body was being taken to the cemetery exactly where we were wanting to go."

"The cemetery was certainly a beautiful spot. It was the first place I have seen out here where there were lawns, hedges and a white fence. The area covers many, many acres and is entirely enclosed with a white picket fence. There are thousands and thousands of white crosses. We found a man who could give us some information. This cemetery was to be the one cemetery for this area and bodies were being disinterred from other burial grounds, beaches, etc., and were being reburied here and recorded. Each white cross has the name and rate of the man. We saw a few that were marked 'unknown.' Apart from the big area where Americans are buried are two other sections, one for the allied forces and one for the enemy. Since many bodies are being brought in every day there were Filipino laborers digging graves, dozens of them it seemed. We arrived at the enemy section to see them bury our fellow passenger. They are not embalm in any way; neither are they put into a coffin or box; merely wrapped in canvas and buried in that fashion. Two burials, both Japs, were made while we were standing there. The enemy graves are marked with straight markers whereas ours are marked with crosses.

"Believe I read somewhere that some senator or congressman had initiated a bill permitting parents or relatives in the states to claim and ask for the return of the bodies of men killed in service. When I visited this cemetery I was struck with the folly of such a plan as to try to return fallen comrades to home burial grounds. Certainly they could never rest in more peaceful surroundings and in grounds receiving such care. The thought came to me that I hope someday to see or talk to parents, other relatives or friends of servicemen buried in the armed forces cemetery and to console them in the beauty and care given to the resting grounds of their sons, brothers and friends."

"The men caught a ride in a duck, a vehicle that travels either on the highway or in water, that took them right to Tacloban. A dinner of baked ham with pineapple sauce, sweet potatoes, peas, ice cream with chocolate sauce, cookies and lemonade concluded a perfect day.

Mrs. G. L. Rogers visited Thursday and Friday in Pender in the Walter Roger and Wm. Clover homes. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clover and Mrs. Robert Graham brought Mrs. Rogers to Wayne Friday evening and visited Mrs. Mino Mutz.

RETURN FROM TRIP TO CANADIAN POINTS

Canada has been dry and the wheat crop is short, according to Geo. Linn who, with Mrs. Linn and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Morris, arrived home last Wednesday after spending a month in that country. The four drove to Moosejaw, Saskatchewan to see Mrs. Linn's father, Sidney Price, and brother, Frank Price. They found gas and cigarettes especially high priced in Canada even though one gets $11 in Canadian money for $10 in American.

The Carroll folks drove 400 miles east to visit the city of Winnipeg which is unusually beautiful with many parks, parliament buildings, museums and menageries. Three rivers run into the city, and wide streets all radiate from a central point. One glass-enclosed building in a park contains trees from all parts of the world. The Carroll folks visited the Hudson Bay company plant which displays a wonderful array of furs. One floor of the building is devoted to a museum for Indian and Eskimo relics, and another large space is given over to a tea room.

Mission Teacher Home on Leave From China Field

Miss Margaret Seeck, sister of Dr. George Seeck of Wayne, arrived October 1 to serve her fourth furlough after doing missionary teaching in China since 1917. After her last furlough, Miss Seeck served in China the past six years.

She was granted a leave of absence from her mission work in 1935 to work with Madam Chiang Kai Shek on the "New Life Movement." During that time Miss Seeck lived in Nanking with Madam Chiang.

Miss Seeck had done missionary teaching in the Baldwin girls' school in a city of about 400,000 inhabitants, known as Nanchang. Nanchang is the capital and educational center of the province of Kiangsi.

Besides the Baldwin school in Nanchang, a boys' school known as the Nanchang academy, is also located there.

The school at Nanchang forms a sort of compound in which are included seven acres. Kindergarten, primary and middle schools form separate units but are all located under the one enclosure. Their middle school corresponds to high school here. Faculty members live on the campus. The boys' school is located a short distance from the school for girls, but much of the work of the two schools is co-ordinated. Sunday school and church work are combined. Field days, oratorical contests and glee clubs, are occasions in which both boys and girls participate. For instance, the boys' school sets up a physics laboratory while the girls' sets up a chemistry lab. In this way both schools saved and students interchanged for respective lab periods.

Miss Seeck taught physics and chemistry in the girls' school when she first went to China. At that time practically all courses were taught in English. After about 12 years, however, when more Chinese students graduated from colleges, the texts began to be translated into Chinese and now texts are mostly Chinese. Later Miss Seeck taught English, child care, child training and religious education.

Curriculum Crowded.
The curriculum of the mission school is much more crowded than that of the American school. Required courses in the high school include world history, Chinese history, world geography, Chinese geography, chemistry, physics, biology, algebra, higher algebra, trigonometry, plane geometry, solid geometry, analytical geometry and six years of a foreign language, usually English. The school has a strong music department with instruction in piano, organ and glee club, a home economics department including cooking, sewing, gardening, child care, and physical education.

Students must take a government junior high examination and a senior high examination upon completing the various classes. If a student fails in three or more subjects he must take the preceding year over, but if he fails in two subjects, he may go on to college by making up the work and passing a second examination. The purpose of the government examinations is to raise the level of all schools in China. The mission school in which Miss Seeck taught was an A-grade establishment.

China now has 13 Christian colleges. All of these are coeducational except two. A majority of the girls who graduate from the Baldwin school go to colleges in China to receive bachelor of arts degrees. Professions followed by the girls tend toward homemaking, teaching and nursing. Within the past 20 years, six graduates from Baldwin have come to the United States to get their master's degrees and two went to England for further study.

Move to Mountains.
"About six years ago the area around Nanchang was threatened by the Japanese so both schools moved into the mountainous section of south Kiangsi," said Miss Seeck. "The girls' school moved four times during those years. Finally it located in a large Buddhist temple just outside of the town of Yutu. The boys' school located about 40 miles away, farther back in the mountains. Combined activities were still continued regardless of the 40-mile distance which was usually covered by walking. The distance could be made on foot in about 15 hours."

Miss Seeck left Yutu in June, 1944. "At that same time the American teachers were urged to leave Yutu because Japs were again threatening the surrounding territory," stated Miss Seeck. In January, 1945, the Japs entered that section and the schools moved 15 miles back into the hills away from any route of travel.

Flown from Area.
Miss Seeck and a co-worker were flown out of that territory in an American army transport plane from Kansien to Kweilin. Right outside of Kweilin, the Americans had established a huge air base. They then traveled by train, army charted trucks and British military mission trucks to Chungking. This trip took three weeks. They arrived there July 7, 1944. Miss Seeck and her co-worker remained in western China about six months. All this time they kept in touch with co-workers in the mission schools in Kiangsi.

All Urged to Leave.
"In December, 1944, everyone who had a chance was urged to leave China because of the Japanese military and Chinese political situations," stated Miss Seeck. "Because my furlough was due, I decided to go home." Miss Seeck traveled by army transport from Chengtu in west China to Kuming. From there she was flown over the hump to Calcutta, India, arriving there January 10, 1945. The trip over took seven and a half hours.

At that particular time there were no boats out for women and children until July 3 when the Swedish ship, Gripsholm arrived. Miss Seeck boarded the Gripsholm along with 700 missionaries from India, Burma, Iran and China, 180 Chinese, mostly students, and 80 Indians, mostly students, who were going to the United States for technical education. Enroute home, the Gripsholm stopped in Athens where 365 Greek refugees, mostly American citizens, were taken aboard. The ship arrived in New York August 1, 1945.

Miss Seeck will be in America for about two years during which time she will study and speak of her work in China. She plans to go back to China in the summer of 1947.

"A post-war planning committee is now working to reorganize all mission work because so much damage has been done by invading armies in every country," states Miss Seeck.

The particular mission buildings in Nanchang had been occupied by the Jap militarists the past six years and had also received frequent bombings by the allied planes; therefore, much reconstruction will be necessary.

Library News

Have you ever heard of St. John's college, the college where classes and lectures have been abolished? Instead, the students simply read the great books of all time. Educators are hailing the idea as boys leave the school with well-rounded, well-developed minds and rich cultural backgrounds. You may have that same chance and never leave home, never pay a cent of tuition. Your library has the same books those boys read. Enroll at the Wayne public library, the people's university today. All you need is a free public library, and the greatest books of all time are yours.

We now have the Literary Guild book for October by Josephine Pickney called Three O'clock Dinner. Miss Pickney is described as a cosmopolitan Charlestonian and the scene of her novel is the city of Charleston of the present day. Two contrasting families figure in the story and they make an odd assortment when they gather at the 3 o'clock Sunday dinner at which the clans rally to celebrate a wedding which has brought the families together. The Charleston atmosphere casts its charming spell over the book, another distinguished contribution from the south to the literature of our day.

The Peace Book, "His Trail," by Alice Tisdale Hobart, which has been ordered for a long time, has finally come. This is a novel of international marriage, with the scene laid in Mexico. The author introduces three generations of a family of Mexico City, owners of great estates. There is a love story of course but this private drama is caught up into the larger struggle in which conservative land owners, the church and foreign business interests combine to oppose the government's liberal reforms aimed at improving the conditions of labor, widening the communal ownership of land, educating the peasants.

Congress

Mrs. Dorothea Rieger, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Peters, Norfolk, Nebraska, has just returned to the United States after serving 15 months in Kuming, China, and New Delhi, India, with the office of strategic services. She has resigned after 3 1/2 years in OSS and has not yet made definite plans for the future. First she will have a long vacation in Nebraska. Her husband is serving in the south Pacific in the navy.

Back from two years of fighting in Italy, France and other European countries, Sgt. Donald Zemanek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zemanek of Schuyler, Nebr., is at Fort Dix, N. J., with prospect of getting home within a short time. A "belly" gunner on a Liberator, Sergeant Zemanek is credited with more than thirty missions over enemy targets. During his service, his plane was hit many times. Some of his buddies made the supreme sacrifice. Sgt. Zemanek has numerous decorations for meritorious service.

Lt. Col. Val Peterson of Elgin, Nebr., who has been stationed at Calcutta, India, with army air forces, is expected home on leave during the next week. Col. Peterson's wife is at Omaha with Mrs. Peterson's family.

The chamber of the house of representatives, occupied since 1857, is to be modernized. A committee has recommended that the historic ceiling into which the state seals have been worked, be replaced. Nebraskans have united in opposition to the destruction of the historic features of the capitol.

War casualties rose to 1,071,266 according to reports received up to September 20. Army figures were: 205,569 killed, 571,698 wounded, 24,131 missing and 120,988 prisoners of war. Navy figures were: 54,068 killed, 80,236 wounded, 11,197 missing and 3,379 prisoners.

Filipinos will get complete independence in 1946. They want it, but they say they can't run their gress, to Churchill, Chiang Kai-shek and the King of Egypt. Queen Wilhelmina got a naval ship that cost a few millions. The president has told friends that we have a surplus of airplanes like the ones given away.

Federal tax reductions are coming. The house ways and means committee is now working on revenue legislation.

Major Herbert Bluechel who drove the jeep in Indo-China in which Colonel Peter Dewey was killed by rioting natives, was born and lived a long time in Nebraska. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bluechel, Sr., who now live in San Francisco. The family has lived in Wayne, Omaha, West Point and Norfolk. Major Bluechel escaped harm in the incident that took Dewey's life.

Belgian Foreign Minister Paul Henri Spaak is now seeking to collect 150 million dollars for rail transportation, food and port facilities used by American troops while driving the Nazis out of Belgium. Negotiations will be conducted with the Department of State and the Foreign Economic Administrator. Treasury advisers will also participate. J. Wilmer Sundelson, chief of the FEA North-west European division, bluntly said the mission seeks payments for bills incurred by the United States forces "incident to the liberation of Belgium." Scheduled for consideration in the negotiations will be 50 million dollars in lend-lease aid this country furnished Belgium.

The proposal to give the president power to streamline the executive branch of the government got off to a flying start when a committee of the house, by unanimous action, reported out legislation giving the president a free hand in reorganizing more than 100 federal agencies—the interstate commerce commission, the federal trade commission, and the securities and exchange commission being exempted. Over the years we have witnessed the creation of new bureaus and commissions to a point where some of them attained the importance of super-governments. Their directives and regulations had all the effect of law and they were immune from all supervision and restraint. With the passage of the reorganization bill, the first step will have been taken in returning the government to the people.

The house and senate have passed a concurrent resolution, finding as a fact, that the war emergency has been relieved to an extent that will justify proceeding with the highway construction program provided by the federal aid act of 1944. This is the signal for states to proceed with highway project planning and proposal. It means that a billion-dollar-a-year nation-wide highway building program for a period of three years is getting under way.

Washington is glutted with a lot of rancid butter. The army has released many million of pounds of butter, and other millions of pounds in storage are expected to be released soon. Bills to end rationing of butter, beef and pork have been introduced in the house.

There are plenty of French and English articles for sale in Washington stores, but fewer American-made articles. Some guess that foreign manufacturers are a jump ahead of American manufacturers.

Conway Coe, commissioner of patents for twelve years, has resigned to become vice president of RCA. He will have charge of RCA's patent division. He predicts rapid strides in television. Ball games broadcast from the Empire State building tower are televised and seen forty miles away.

Telephone Instruments Are Coming Off the Production Lines at an Increasing Rate

Telephone factories, which for several years were making war equipment, now are producing telephones for civilian use at an increasing rate from week to week. Just as fast as we receive them, they are being installed for those who have been waiting.

The big reason we have not been able to supply all those in this city who have placed orders with us for telephone service is that we haven't had enough telephone instruments. We have sufficient central office switching equipment and outside wire facilities here to take care of the installation of new service as fast as telephone instruments become available.

With the increased production rate, we will be able to fill, by early in 1946 or sooner, every order now delayed because of lack of telephone instruments.

If you are waiting for telephone service, we assure you that as soon as we know definitely when we can install your telephone, we shall get in touch with you. Thanks very much for your patience.

New Appliances.
Addition of an automatic type washer, an automatic clothes drier, both gas and electric, a gas range and an electric frozen food locker to the Maytag line of household appliances was revealed to H. W. Kugler, Maytag dealer, located at 106 Main, in a letter received today from President Fred Maytag II.

The announcement followed a series of conferences of Maytag branch managers and distributors held at the home office in Newton at which the new products were previewed. They will be added to the line of conventional type washers and ironers produced by the 50-year-old company, which manufactured and sold more than 4,000,000 washers before converting to war production in 1942.
The Maytag company recently purchased a minority interest in the Globe-American corporation of Kokomo, Ind., which will produce Dutch Oven gas ranges exclusively for Maytag. Fred Maytag II, and Maytag Vice Presidents George Umbreit and Roy A. Brudt have been elected to the Globe-American board of directors.

No date has been announced as to when the new products will be made available to the public, although President Maytag expressed an opinion that the gas range and the frozen food locker would be on the market about the first of the year. No date has been revealed when the automatic washers and driers will be ready for distribution.
Samples of postwar models of Maytag conventional type washers have just been released to each of the more than 7,000 dealers representing the company throughout the United States, and the arrival of the local display model is expected soon. An immediate start was made after V-J day on re-conversion and assembled machines were stock-piled until enough had accumulated for simultaneous shipment to all dealers. 0111144.

Up from the Meadows Rich with Corn

ONCE again the folks who feed the nation are harvesting one of the great crops of our history, and the record-breaking harvest of these war years has been produced by fewer people maintaining top production on more and more acres.

The progress that has been made in agriculture in recent years is almost unbelievable—corn yields of well over 100 bushels an acre, a rarity a few years ago, are now common; the production of ton-litters of hogs in less than 6 months after farrowing is no great problem now; hens that lay more than 200 eggs a year are not hard to find; and there are dairy cows with records of well over 30,000 pounds of milk and 1,000 pounds of butterfat annually.

All of these advances in the production of food have played an important part in the building of America to its present greatness and to victory in the war.

Back in the days of George Washington, one farm family was able to produce enough food for itself and one other family. Today each farm family in America can produce its own food and enough for 19 other families. This tells the story of the American harvest. And it is a story unique in world history.

We at Swift & Company salute our farmer and rancher friends for their great achievements and we are proud to have had a part in the preparation and distribution of the fruits of the harvest to Americans everywhere.

SOFT CORN INTO HARD CASH

Corn that gets "cooked" by frost before it matures is still valuable feed, especially for cattle. Here are several ways to turn soft corn into hard cash, listed in the order of their value to the feeder: (a) Make ear-corn cobs. (b) Feed ears with stalks, chopped or shredded. (c) Turn cattle and hogs into standing corn. (d) Leave in field and pick ears as needed rather than risk spoilage in storage.
Three main precautions in feeding soft corn are: (a) Change to soft corn ration gradually. (b) Feed a protein supplement. (c) Feed before freezing weather, if possible.
We'll be glad to tell you where to get detailed information on soft corn feeding. Write Swift & Company, Department 128, Chicago 9, Illinois.

THE EDITOR'S COLUMN

When the war began, Swift & Company adopted the following wartime policy:
"We will co-operate to the fullest extent with the U. S. Government to help win the war. We will do everything possible to safeguard the high quality of our products. Despite wartime difficulties, we will make every effort to distribute available civilian supplies to insure a fair share for all customers everywhere."
Under the present conditions, meat packers know that there is no profit advantage in shipping meat long distances as compared with selling it nearby. OPA regulations set prices, by zones and areas, that meat packers may charge for beef, lamb, veal and pork. The United States is divided into ten zones for beef, lamb and veal and five for pork. Each has its own base price for each kind of meat. Additions to the base price are allowed for transportation and local delivery. These allowances are the very minimum and in many instances do not cover the actual cost of transportation, icing, and shrinkage.

Consequently, meat packers are better off when they sell close to their producing plants. In general, the net money they receive is greater the closer to the plant the sale is made. But despite this, Swift & Company has voluntarily adhered to its wartime policy of fair distribution. Starting in July 1945, all meat packers were required by OPA regulations to distribute their meats to the same areas they did the first three months of 1944.

QUALITY FORAGE PROVIDES CAROTENE

Few feeds are as healthful and profitable for young stock, breeding stock and fattening stock as really leafy green hay and well-preserved silage. Not only are they good feeds in their own right but they enable your animals to make the most of corn, grains, and concentrates in the ration feed.
Carotene, the parent substance from which vitamin A is produced, is one of the important nutrients found in leafy green hay and other forages. It serves an essential life and health purpose in the bodies of animals. When animals are on lush pasture, or when fed leafy green roughage of any sort, they store carotene in the liver and other body tissues.
Even splendid feeds like corn and oil meals are short of carotene. It is also lacking in corn and sorghum fodder, straw, discolored hay and off-grade silage. Unfortunately, all too much hay and silage is of this kind. So, even though your animals get their fill of corn and oil meal, they may develop carotene deficiency symptoms which will retard full growth and development unless sufficient leafy roughages are fed.

EGGS IN HASH NEST

By Martha Logan
Combine 6 cups ground cooked beef or lamb, 3 cups mashed potatoes, 4 tablespoons minced onion, 1 1/2 cups top milk. Melt 3 tablespoons fat in skillet and cook hash until heated through. Season to taste. Shape hash in patties and place on greased shallow baking pan. Make a hollow in the center of each patty. Slip an egg into the hollow and season with salt and pepper. Bake in a moderately slow oven (325° F) for 20 minutes.

Blimp and Guitar Welcome Veterans

Japanese Turnip Renamed Atomic to Get Favor For Vegetable.

New ideas for the entertainment of returning service men are becoming a habit with the fairer sex at Hollywood. The latest ingenious bit has been added to the list by Dinah Shore. Dinah announces that when the next shipload of veterans arrives from overseas, she and a guitar player aboard a blimp will hover just above deck and welcome them home with song and music.

Detective Sgt. V. R. Penny of Los Angeles, parked his car to arrest two pickpocket suspects in a streetcar loading zone. When the prisoners were safely stowed away in the patrol wagon he returned to his car. A fellow policeman had tagged it for illegal parking.

"Atomic turnips" are being advertised by a seed and feed merchant at Jackson, Miss. "There's nothing explosive about them," the merchant says. "They are what we used to call Japanese turnips, and demand for them under the old name fell off."

Trouble doesn't come in small doses to Pat Shelby of Albany, Mo. With his left arm still in a sling after a fall from a trapeze which broke his collar bone, he walked in his sleep and his right hand was badly cut when it encountered an electric fan.

Early shoppers at Milwaukee had cleaned out L. W. Musch's meat counter when an elderly woman entered the market. "Have you any beef?" she asked. "No, I'm sorry." "Any pork?" "No, I'm sorry." "Any lamb?" "No, I'm sorry." "I just wanted to hear you say that," the woman said with a laugh. "I don't have any red points, either."

Geo. E. Hammond of Kiwanis Lake, O., filed suit for divorce, charging his wife, Blanche Brook Hammond, drove a spike through two tires on his automobile.

At Northampton, Mass., triplet boys born to Mr. and Mrs. Roy V. Bouchard were called A., B. and C. for hospital identification. Friday the parents chose their names, Tom, Dick and Harry.

"Please mail the rest of my clothes," Martin Tideman wrote the city jailer at Portland, Ore., from a general delivery address. Better come back and get them, police advised—and finish serving that 30-day sentence.

Oliver Fellers of Muncie, Ind., heard his hens raising cane and found a 5-foot black snake rolling an egg with its nose in his hen house. The snake saw Mr. Fellers coming and gulped the egg. Then it tried to crawl through a hole and found its greediness had been its undoing; it was too big to get through the opening. Mr. Fellers killed it.
