Marry at Service in Wayne Church

Miss Marie Kirwan, Bride Of John R. Alfus Here Saturday Morning.

Miss Marie Kirwan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kirwan of Wayne, and John R. Alfus, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Alfus of Chicago, were married Saturday morning, October 27, at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church in Wayne. Rev. Wm. Kearns conducted nuptial high mass in the presence of many relatives and friends of the couple.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore white satin formal gown with long train. Her fingertip veil fell from a seeping pearl tiara. She carried a prayer book with sweetpeas. Miss Catherine Kirwan of Ute, Ia., who served her sister as matron of honor, wore yellow taffeta and net gown. Miss Jean Ann Shaver and Miss Mary Ellen Nissen, bridesmaids, were gowned in blue. Each wore a head band of yellow and blue mums and each carried a colonial bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums and blue sweetpeas. Richard Kirwan, radio man third class, from Hutchinson, Kan., brother of the bride, served Mr. Alfus as best man. Willis Fleming of Wisner, and Ned Wade of Wayne, were ushers. The men wore black dress suits. Wedding breakfast was served at Hotel Morrison at noon to 44 guests. The wedding cake baked by Mrs. Wm. Sharer and flowers decorated the tables. Mr. and Mrs. Alfus left Saturday for a trip. The bride's travel outfit was of black gabardine with melon color hat and blouse. The couple will live in Chicago where both are employed with the Aetna Insurance company. Among out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Alfus and Mr. and Mrs. John Patulec of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Kirwan, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Kirwan and Barbara of Sioux City, and Lavonne Jennings of Van Meter, Ia.

WEED CONTROL PLOT NEARBY IS VISITED

County Agent Walter R. Harder, AAA Chairman Thomas P. Roberts and Jason Webster of the soil conservation district visited noon weed control demonstration plot on the Otto Dohm farm near Emerson Friday. Noel S. Hanson from the state experiment station, evaluated results of the various treatments including the 2-4 D weed killer. Mr. Hanson stated that the information available was not too positive in regard to the 2-4 D weed killers. However, he thinks that the results have been favorable in many cases. In many tests it will be necessary to repeat the treatments for adequate control.

CHOSEN REPORTER—

(Continued from Page One) camp, the place where many thousands of bodies were found. They visited the crematory which consists of six ovens, each with a capacity of six. Next to the crematory is a fake shower room into which were herded those whom Nazis wished to kill. Victims were given towel and soap and actually believed they were going to get a bath. After the doors were closed, cyanide gas was forced into the room and all were killed in about five minutes. The most impressive sight was the door to the gas chamber which bears many scratches of those unfortunate people who finally realized what was going to happen. Outside visitors saw bark worn off of tree limbs during hanging outrages. In another place the men saw an enclosure where victims were forced to lie down and were killed by a shot in the back of the head. Barracks built to accommodate 2000 actually housed 2000, the men sleeping three to the bed in tiers clear to the ceiling.

Appeal Is Made For Student Fund

The valuable work of the World Student Service Fund in helping students in all parts of the world was stressed by Miss Doris Greaves, traveling secretary for the southwest and Rocky mountain area, in speaking at college convocation Tuesday. This association, the only one supported wholly by students, furnishes books, provides rest for those held in concentration camps, rehabilitates young folks and provides relief for students who are ill, hungry and cold.

Miss Greaves, presented by Martha Crollin, president of Y. W. C. A., explained that WSSF, created in 1941 in America and affiliated with World Student Relief which has headquarters in Geneva, helps furnish student emergency funds distributed through European relief, British committee, American committee and national student relief committee.

Last year Wayne campus fund provided $200 for WSSF. $200 for national war fund and $50 for children's clothing fund. Miss Greaves appealed for a larger proportion this year for WSSF. It is asked that each student give the cost of one day's schooling. This varies over the nation from $2 to $8.

CALL TO EAST TO PLAN FUTURE

Miss Margaret Seck who had been visiting her brother, Dr. Geo. Seck and family here, received a telegram Friday from the mission board asking her to be in New York November 20 to attend the annual meeting of the board and help in making plans for postwar work over the world. Miss Seck left for New York Sunday after speaking at Laurel Methodist church in the morning. She will spend a week at Lohrville, Ia., with her brother, Albert Seck and family. Mrs. Albert Seck will have an operation while Miss Seck is there to help care for the Towla folks' 3-year-old daughter, Suzanne.

Miss Seck plans to return to Wayne in December and to attend a family reunion in the Dr. Seck home Christmas. She also hopes to be back in the spring to speak for the groups with which she had scheduled talks and was obliged to cancel at this time.

Looking to Governorship

LIEUT. Col. Val Peterson who recently returned from army service in India, is reported to enter the race for the republican gubernatorial nomination. Colonel Peterson owns a newspaper at Elgin. He was campaign manager for Senator Butler in 1940, and later he served as secretary in Governor Griswold's office. He resigned to enlist in the armed forces in 1942.

The assumption that Governor Griswold will not be a candidate for governor again, but rather will pit himself against Senator Butler in the republican primary for the latter's official shoes, has inspired a number to yearn for the place of the state's chief executive. Eight persons and four names are mentioned as follows: Rufe Howard, state director of agriculture; A. T. (Bert) Howard, chairman of the republican state central committee; C. Petrus Peterson, state legislator; Col. Val Peterson, William E. Johnson, former lieutenant governor; Alvin Johnson, Omaha bank president; Arthur J. Weaver, son of the late Gov. Arthur J. Weaver, and Arthur J. Weaver, member of the Lincoln city council. As provided by the legislature, a state convention will next spring reduce the number of candidates to two. This will boil down confusing names and simplify the task for voters.

Col. Peterson frowns on army service as the sole qualification for office. But all things being equal, red-blooded Americans are likely to warm up to the candidacy of a fellow who suffered the perils and hardships of front-line defense of free institutions. The colonel did that. Rightly, his army service will add weight to his fine balance of qualifications. The fact that the colonel's home town is in northeast Nebraska which, as we recall, has never had a governor, will, if or when he files, give his candidacy strong impetus hereabouts.

Defending MacArthur

GENERAL MacArthur's critics drew fire from the current Saturday Evening Post. The general is evidently doing what he thinks is best to tame the Japs and keep a minimum number of Americans on the job in the southwest Pacific. The Post says in conclusion:

"As time goes on and attitudes change, the occupation of Germany and Japan is sure to become more and more of a headache. The urge to bring the boys home, plus the normal crop of irritations with our Allies, will place greater strain on the determination to go on with this necessary job. That is why it is imperative that American purposes should be clearly stated and that those who have the unenviable task of carrying them out should not be asked to abandon reason and justice merely to gratify certain critics at home who think our occupying generals don't swagger enough. To disarm our late enemies and encourage the rebuilding of a peaceful economy is a large enough order without insisting that every German or Japanese shall be a democrat from the instant he picks himself up out of the rubble. The speed of his conversion will be regulated in part by the degree to which democracy's representatives make plain that it is democracy they are working for and not totalitarianism under new management."

Twelve Points

IN his navy day speech President Truman set forth twelve points as objectives in international relations, and no one could reasonably find fault with them. They reemphasized purposes of the war in achieving and guaranteeing human rights. Self-government of all nations was given approval. The united nations organization to chart ways of peace and enforce practical peace was deemed essential. The president would seem to have the correct idea on international policies, but will need to marshal proper forces to carry it out.

As mentioned by the executive, possession of the atomic bomb secret is no threat to other nations. The United States has never been disposed to take undue advantage of any other country. It has earned its right to be trusted. It is merely going to be prepared to defend liberty against any totalitarian tyrants that may reappear.

The necessity of compulsory military training for boys from 18 to 20—or those just out of high school—will have to be proved beyond doubt before the public will agree. Most parents want their boys to secure above-high school education and prepare themselves for civilian pursuits. They shrink from the plan of surcharging impressionable minds with ideas that breathe militarism. They hope for proper training without war-time military restraints.

Edw. Seymour has done a highly meritorious job in converting residence properties into apartment houses, thus affording many modern places for families to live. But the demand is still far from satisfied. The housing shortage is acute, and it will remain so until a hundred or more dwellings are put up here. More and more people want to locate in Wayne. Educational advantages are especially attractive.

City authorities should brook no delay in remedying whatever is lacking in zoning privileges, so that growth and expansion will not be unnecessarily put off. Groups and individuals will show the proper spirit of community enterprise by cooperating with everyone who wants to invest in new buildings or other improvements. It should be made as easy as possible to extend and enlarge Wayne.

The federal conciliation service in Washington consoled itself over the last weekend with the report of more strikes settled than started. General Motors asked CIO workers to accept longer hours to justify wage increases on the assumption that longer work periods are as important in meeting peace demands as they were in answering the call for maximum war production.

Secretary W. B. Hughes of the Nebraska Bankers Association reports that the November convention will consider ways to be of greater help to small business. An objective will be to finance small investments and thus stimulate improvements. The idea is to step up community service. The plan to keep business at home will create a healthy condition.

Former Governor Roy Cochran of Nebraska has recently returned from Europe and is now employed in the estimate division of the bureau of the budget.

PLENTY OF HOPE.

Writing for the Saturday Evening Post, Henry T. Gorrell, veteran war correspondent, who had harrowing experiences on many battle fronts, says soldiers who have suffered grueling ordeals, are often broken down by fatigue and need quiet and rest, but are not neurotic beyond repair. Like all soldiers in the thick of the fight, Gorrell got into numerous tough spots and shared all the agonies of war. He found recovery by getting away from scenes of conflict, and his nerves were hurt but not hopelessly impaired. After a lengthy recital of experiences, including a speech in which he says he nearly drew a mental blank, but which he was able to continue, he concluded with this paragraph: "The point of all this is simple—your soldier who comes back suffering from war neurosis really suffers. But don't think he's queer or that he is going insane. Let him have some quiet and understanding, and he'll grow out of it and will be able to face the future, no matter how tough it is."

states similar to the federal aid for highways. The house bill calls for an authorization of about $650 million of federal funds to be matched by local funds in a program to be carried on over a period of ten years.

The house committee on appropriations unanimously reported a bill reducing appropriations and contractual authorizations available for the fiscal year 1946 by more than $2 billion dollars. While the biggest cut is in unspent army and navy money, practically every agency of government will feel this cutback if the senate sustains the action of the house. Many government officials are carrying on a quiet but effective lobby on capital hill to induce members to be less drastic in these proposed cuts.

Few people know it, but one of the men who had much to do with the atomic bomb was Theodore Jorgensen, Jr., assistant professor of physics at the University of Nebraska. He has been on leave from the university during the two and a half years that he was associated with other scientists in the work of the bomb project and he actually handled some of the material that caused the damage at Hiroshima.

A beautiful yacht anchored in the Potomac river was destroyed by an explosion recently. The yacht was owned by Russell Stover, or who owns candy factories in Nebraska. Mr. Stover has been in Washington representing the nation's candy makers. He got his start with the Eskimo pie. Now he is considered the leading candy maker of our country.

Army surplus canned meat will feed hungry Europeans. However, there will be shortages of other foods and investigators just back from Europe report that many people will starve and many will die from cold. Fuel and transportation conditions are serious. Conditions will improve after the next European harvest.

The rift between the United States and Russia widened when the soviet government recalled its military representative from Gen. MacArthur's headquarters in Japan. The action came as the two countries were carrying on an acrimonious long-distance debate over which was responsible for the failure of the conference of foreign ministers at London.

No explanation was advanced for the recall of the soviet representative, Lt. Gen. Deryovanko. However, it was generally accepted here that the move was part of the soviet campaign for the removal of Gen. MacArthur.

It is recognized in congressional circles here that the Russians view Gen. MacArthur's program to install a true democratic spirit in Japan as the best means of combatting any future Japanese aggression, with deepest suspicion. The Reds, it is said, fear that Slashes in taxes and government expenditures are prospects reported by Washington. Reduction in income taxes will leave more for necessary individual improvements. Improvements will enlarge purchases and stimulate employment. At the same time it will remove 12 million low-income taxpayers from the rolls. The World-Herald mentions that among cuts in expenditures are large ones from the army and navy which, with the war over, have greatly diminished demands. Other reductions in bureaus and job holders would help keep costs within income and bring about a much desired balance. It is patent to careful observers that tax curtailment must be accompanied by a corresponding reduction in expenditures to create a healthy economic condition. Comments the World-Herald: "If the crushing burden of taxation is not to devour the substance of the people, congress, which holds the purse strings, will have to do much better than the exultant headlines proclaim."

MacArthur is attempting to set up Japan as a puppet state, which would be useful in any possible clash with Russia in the future. Russia has set up a cordon of such puppet states in Europe on the ground that her security demands friendly neighbors.

Possibly 40 per cent or more of the money cost of the war to our country is represented in surplus commodities now to be sold, and in grants of various kinds to our allied governments. Much more than the present national debt of $211 billions may be based on such expenditures.

Embraced in surplus property are nearly one hundred war industries now listed for sale, but which are being sold slowly. In foreign lands are billions of dollars worth of war supplies, including food. One army officer stated that 70 per cent of the war goods, including armament and ammunition in the European and Mediterranean fronts, might have become available for the war on the Japs, but the Japs surrendered long before much of the materials crossed the waters.

Lend-lease has cost $40 billions. The expenditures under lend-lease supposedly were closed in August under the president's proclamation, but there come reports of further lend-lease under commitments previously made. Congress is discussing the so-called loopholes under which money and goods are alleged to be going to some of the allied nations notwithstanding the order of the president ending the program. France is said to be one of the countries still drawing heavily toward a total of 1,600 millions.

Italy came under the wire in time for an allotment of $100 millions. So lend-lease, which was started to help keep us out of war, still seems to be operating on appropriations made in the last fiscal year.

Payment for lend-lease goods which will return even a part of the huge balance due to our country under the program is doubtful. Russia received over $4 billions, and promises to pay in full with interest at two and three-eighths per cent. China proposes payment for $64 millions of war goods on a similar basis. Offsets will be claimed by Britain, Australia and New Zealand. The possibility that much of the $40 billions eventually will be paid with "money on the barrel head" is remote.

UNRRA has spent $800 millions of funds for relief, mainly in the war devastated regions of Europe, and wants $550 millions more. But it has not been the only relief agency in Europe. Our army had about $500 million expended on relief in France, Italy and other countries, last year. It was spent liberally in newly conquered territory. It still is being expended, possibly $250 millions or better. Demands are made that the $100 millions of army food stores in Europe shall be turned over to relief purposes. Recently, UNRRA obtained 40,000 army trucks for distributing relief goods in the Balkan regions, including Greece. Our armed forces won the war. Without them there would have been no victory. Now they are coming home, but our treasury seems to keep right on marching on in the fields our boys were largely responsible for conquering.

3000 - CATTLE - 3000

AT AUCTION

Yankton, S. D.

Saturday, November 3

We sold over 3000 cattle at our sale last Saturday and at present it looks like even more for this week. We have listed one shipment from Montana of 246 steers most of which are two and three year olds. Another shipment from the same state of 165 very choice steer calves, some of which are choice enough for club calves. Still another shipment from Montana of 85 yearling heifers. In all, we know of 21 loads of Montana. From western South Dakota we will have 25 to 30 loads of very choice steers and heifers.

Corn picking is on in full swing and we were very short of buyers last week. Our market was 50 to 75 lower on the plainer cattle and 25 to 50 lower on the good ones. It might be a smart idea to let the corn stay in the field one more day and come up to Yankton this coming Saturday and get some of these nice cattle before all the other boys are ready for them. The selection will be the best of the season.

Cattle sale will get under way before one o'clock. Car lots will be selling shortly after one.

UNDERSTANDING IS

(Continued from Page One) standing is necessary in the readjustment. People should be most careful in what they say to these neurotics. Those who went through the stress of war are not responsible for the condition in which they are. "We are responsible and our ideals are the goal for which they sacrificed."

Failure to meet needs of the soldiers who fought in World War One resulted in World War Two, stated Mr. Samuelson. "We must not fall again."

Fathers and mothers of other countries would like to have the advantages offered in America. It is the sacrifices of these youths which establish the privileges of democracy that all here enjoy. Liberty-loving people have established and protected this heritage.

Boys who made the supreme sacrifice, those who have returned maimed for life and those who are trying to readjust to peacetime living deserve the profound appreciation and consideration of all. Boys coming back appreciate the quiet and security of home in contrast to the rough and tumble of battle. A new order of thinking has been set up. Mr. Samuelson appealed for understanding among all peoples.

R. S. McGuire, president of Wayne county War Dads, introduced the speaker.

Jean Boyd led in the singing of "America." Mrs. Jason Webster was accompanist.

Rev. O. B. Proett offered prayer.

A group of War Dads had dinner with Mr. Samuelson at Hotel Morrison Thursday evening.

The four will spend 18 days at home on a delay enroute to their new station at Camp Beale, Cal.

Will Go to Indiana. AS Bill Milder, who completed four months' course with the V-5 program of the navy air corps at Doane college, Crete, came here last week Wednesday to spend a week in his parental F. A. Milder home.

AS Bill Milder, who completed four months' course with the V-5 program of the navy air corps at Doane college, Crete, came here last week Wednesday to spend a week in his parental F. A. Milder home. Judge and Mrs. F. H. Pollock of Stanton, who went to Crete to get their son, Jim, who is in the same program, brought Bill home. The two young men, also one from Norfolk and another from Madison at South Bend, Ind., to take several months' course with the navy V-12 unit of NROTC, The F. A. Milder honored Bill Sunday with dinner for Mrs. Herman Milder, Mrs. Elsa Dawson and sons, Dick and Bob, and Ted Milder, the last four of Lincoln, and Mrs. Grace Anderson of West Point. The occasion was also Mrs. F. A. Milder's birthday. The Lincoln folks came Friday and remained over Sunday, and Mrs. Anderson came Thursday to spend several days here at Milder's. Dick Dawson is home on leave after finishing a navy air corps training program in Pensacola, Fla. He received his wings recently.

To Be Discharged. Ens. Geo. Berglund, whose wife is the former Margie Morgan, is to be honorably discharged this Thursday. All navy pilots with 20 points or more are to be released and Ens. Berglund has 34 points. Ens. and Mrs. Berglund, who had been at Apponaug, R. I., about five weeks, returned last week to Cape May base at Wildwood, N. J.

The two plan to visit the Jack Morgans in Phillipsburg, N. J., and the Lt. Don Simpson at Milwaukee and will be here about November 15 to see the F. S. Morgans.

Ens. Berglund was one of 1,100 navy pilots chosen to fly in formation over Washington in the recent salute to Admiral Nimitz.

Library News. Have you read in the papers that the Ernie Pyle memorial is to be a public library? We cannot erect a library for everyone we would like to honor but we can place a book in the library in their name. We would like to start a memorial shelf in the library here in Wayne where books could be placed in memory of, or in honor of someone. Maybe the person we would like to so honor has a hobby. A book or two about that hobby placed in the public library is one way that the whole community can share in that interest of his. What better memorial could there be than a book collection? That is a living memorial.

A new book which probably will have more appeal to men than women has been placed on the shelves this week. Any Number Can Play is the name of the book and the author is Edward Harris Heth. This is a story of a man and his son. The man is a gambler, "big time" and successful — whose "house" was his whole life — except for two people, his wife, and his son. This book is going to be made into a film and Charles Boyer is to play the leading role. Another new novel is The Woman in the House, by Robert Hichens, author of The Garden of Allah. There are three new mysteries, the most highly advertised of which has been The Yellow Room, by Mary Roberts Rinehart. The other two are The Silver Tombstone, by Frank Gruber, and The Girl with the Frightened Eyes, by Larion. A light novel for younger girls, by Grace Livingston Hill, called A Girl to Come Home To is sure to be popular.

The monthly meeting of the library board was held Tuesday evening.
